$50,000 Fire Loss Estimated In Downtown McLean Flames Eat Through Main Street Block

By TEX DEWEESE
Staff Writer

McLEAN — Firemen today still were keeping an eye on smoldering ruins of a Sunday night fire that hit downtown McLean causing damage estimated at from $40,000 to $50,000.

Three businesses were described as almost a total loss and two others sustained smoke and water damage as the fire swept through the 100-block of Main St.

Two firemen, one from Shamrock and one from Lefors were slightly cut by glass as windows were broken to direct water into the fire zone.

The fire is believed to have started shortly before 6 p.m. in the J. W. Hambright cabinet shop, but firemen said the exact origin was unknown.

Totally destroyed was the McLean Cafe, owned by Bob Massey, Mrs. Pearl Mercer and her three grandchildren who resided in an apartment above the cafe escaped uninjured.

Ted R. Robinson who had living quarters in a section of the Massey Bldg. formerly occupied by a recreation parlor, also sustained loss of household goods and personal belongings when a roof collapsed.

All equipment and records were removed from the income tax office operated by Mrs. Tony Smitherman. The Jerry Smith tax office next to the McLean Cafe also was damaged.

Equipment was removed from the office of the McLean News, weekly newspaper which suffered heavy smoke damage. E. M. Bailey is editor and publisher of the newspaper.

Lefors and Shamrock fire departments sent trucks to help fight the blaze. Volunteer firemen under the direction of McLean Fire Chief Jim McDonald had the fire well under control around 9 p.m. but remained on the job all night.

A new upsurge of flames occurred at 5 a.m. when ceilings fell into the smoldering fire below.

Shamrock sent 15 men to the scene and Lefors sent ten. The three fire departments also had the assistance of members of the Strategic Air Command headquarters stationed at McLean for bomb-run tests.

The men from the Air Force aided in fighting the fire under the command of SAC Col. Fred Davidson.

Fourteen hose lines played streams of water on the fire when it was at its height.

Boyd Meador, McLean rancher, and one of the volunteer fire fighters, said this forenoon the fire ruins still were smoking and probably would continue for another day or two.

Fire Chief McDonald said while there was extensive damage to all buildings, exact figures on the total loss probably would not be known until late today. It was only partially covered by insurance.

The fire attracted several hundred spectators to the scene. Law enforcement officers from Shamrock and Lefors along with state highway patrolmen aided in directing traffic and keeping crowds away from the buildings.

McLEAN HIT BY FIRE — This is the scene last night as firemen poured water into the McLean Cafe, totally destroyed in a fire that swept through three downtown business places. Flames can be seen shooting from the roof of the two-story structure. It was from a second floor apartment in this building that Mrs. Pearl Mercer and her three grandchildren escaped uninjured. Air Strike Is Termed Accidental; Six Die

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. warplanes accidentally bombed the headquarters of a "clandestine army" organized by the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) in northern Laos, American sources said today. They said six Laotians were killed and one American was wounded.

Several clusters of anti-personnel bombs were dropped on the base at Long Cheng, about 80 miles north of Vientiane, on Sunday by U.S. Air Force Phantom jets which accidentally released the bombs too early while trying to hit communists gathered in the surrounding area.

The air strikes were being flown a few hours after North Vietnamese troops attacked the base, headquarters for the guerrilla army commanded by Meo Hill tribe leader Maj. Gen. Vang Pao and sponsored by the CIA. All six men killed were Meo tribesmen and the wounded American was reported to be one of the CIA advisers to the Meos. In addition to the advisers, U.S. Air Force personnel and Americans who supervise U.S. military assistance also operate at the base.

After the Communist attack on the base, American sources said, the Meo tribesmen retook positions on the skyline ridge overlooking it, the site of an American communications station and air navigation transmitter.

In another development, U.S. spokesman in Saigon said a U.S. Air Force F105 Wild Weasel launched a "protective reaction" strike against a Communist missile site in North Vietnam. The plane was protecting U.S. B52s bombing the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos. It was the eighth "protective reaction" strike against North Vietnamese missile sites this year.

Spokesmen also reported the loss of a U.S. UH1 Huey helicopter supporting the campaign by 16,000 South Vietnamese troops to cut the Ho Chi Minh Trail farther to the south. It was the 15th U.S. helicopter reported destroyed in Laos since the South Vietnamese campaign to cut the Communist supply route started. Others have been forced down after being hit but later recovered.

MP Patrol Opens Fire On 5 AWOLs In S. Viet

BOSTON (UPI) — A military police patrol in Vietnam opened fire on five Marines who said they would not return to their outfits, killing one and wounding another, the Boston Globe said today.

The report was based on a stipulation of facts accepted by both the prosecution and defense at the court-martial in Da Nang of Pvt. Michael D. Maynard of Jordan, Utah. Maynard, who has a Vietnamese wife, went AWOL in August, 1968, the record shows. He was arrested and sentenced to a year in jail for desertion and started serving his sentence in Da Nang in January, 1969.

He escaped in April with another prisoner, Ronald Rouse, and went to Hao Phat where his wife lived, the Globe said. There they hid with two other escaped soldiers, Patrick Burns and David Leibold, and another soldier Maynard did not name. They were discovered in April, 1969, the Globe said.

"The MPs were setting up ambushes just waiting for AWOLs... they would set up in the night with guns and everything," Maynard said. "Whenever a n y b o d y would come out they would shoot. And I know they killed two Americans that I am sure of."

The AWOL soldier, in the same unit as the sergeant, handed over his M16 and a hat. Maynard said. Then the patrol leader said "Ok, you can go."

"So we turned around and took off," said Maynard. "Not running, you know what I mean, kind of jogging. Because you know we thought we were free. They let us go. We got about 20 yards away and they opened up."

The Globe said he said they were recognized as AWOL and were asked to give themselves up on April 29, 1969. They talked for about 30 minutes in a tense situation where both the patrol and the Marines put their M16s off safety and ready to fire.

"Then somebody said something," Maynard said. "I think it was Burns who said 'we don't want to fire fight you' but we're not going back."

They said "allright," Maynard continued. "They put their guns on safety and we put ours back on safety."

Then, Maynard said, the sergeant leading the patrol said, "Well, ok, we'll let you go. There's no problem, you know. But this assistance patrol is coming, so why don't you give us something so we can show them we apprehended you... and we'll just say you escaped."

The AWOL soldier, in the same unit as the sergeant, handed over his M16 and a hat. Maynard said. Then the patrol leader said "Ok, you can go."

Israel Turns Down Jarring's Proposals

By United Press International Prime Minister Golda Meir's cabinet issued a statement after a meeting in Jerusalem Sunday saying Israel would continue talks only in line with its own proposals. It made no reference to Jarring's suggestions.

The statement appeared to reaffirm Israel's stand that Jarring is authorized to act only as a go-between and not as a mediator presenting proposals.

But Joseph J. Sisco, U.S. assistant secretary of state, said in Washington Sunday both sides in the Middle East conflict "are committed to abide by whatever procedures Ambassador Jarring decides to pursue, and no procedure is barred."

Political sources in Cairo believed Egypt would accept the Jarring proposal calling for a statement of intention to comply with the 1967 U.N. Security Council resolution on the Middle East.

The resolution calls for Israeli withdrawal from occupied Arab territories, and Israeli newspapers interpreted Jarring's proposal as an effort to put pressure on Israel to withdraw.

Yugoslav President Tito, who is urging Big Four pressure on Israel to achieve a settlement, met with Egyptian President Anwar Sadat in Cairo today. Sadat explained details of Egypt's proposal for a "partial" Israeli pullback from the Suez Canal and a reopening of the canal in an interview with Newsweek.

Sadat said by "partial" withdrawal, he meant a pullback to a line behind El Arish, 90 miles from the canal. He said his proposal included free passage in the Suez Canal and Strait of Tiran for Israeli ships, with an international force to be stationed at the fortress of Sharm El-Sheikh overlooking the Strait.

The U.S. State Department protested to the Soviets and issued passports for the Riggermans. Riggerman applied through Soviet channels for permission to leave, with eventual success.

Riggerman, a computer programmer, said he had lived relatively well in the Soviet Union in terms of material things—food, education and income.

"I would call it an incompatibility with the spirit of this country," he said in an interview in the two room apartment he shared with his mother. "Here, I don't fit in."

The bearded, bespectacled Riggerman said "my father was an idealist and one of many persons influenced by Communist ideas in the 1920s and 30s. But my mother misses her family deeply and... I see a duty now to correct my father's mistake and take her home."

Mrs. Riggerman said "Thank God, I am going home to my family again."

The Riggermans, Muscovite Jews, learned Friday from Soviet officials they would be permitted to leave this week for New York. The announcement ended months of campaigning by Riggerman for exit visas. They will leave Wednesday for New York and Los Angeles.

"Leonya made himself so obnoxious (to the authorities)," Mrs. Esther Riggerman, 61, said Sunday, beaming at her son. "He was so obnoxious. That's why we're getting off."

Riggerman, 30, was picked up three times by security police last November and December as he attempted to visit the U.S. embassy to establish his claim to American citizenship based upon that of his mother.

He was jailed once for seven days and warned that persistence could bring "serious consequences," he said.

Texan Kidnaped By Four Turks Near Ankara

ANKARA (UPI)—Four Turks overpowered and kidnaped a U.S. Air Force sergeant in suburban Ankara today, police and American authorities said.

They said Sgt. James Finley, 25, of Fort Worth, Tex., fought his abductors but was subdued and taken away.

Turkish security officials said the kidnapers probably are extremist leftwing students who have been attacking and threatening the American community in Ankara recently.

The security men said the four Turks jumped Finley as he sat in a U.S. military pickup truck, doing patrol outside an American warehouse in the capital's Dikmen district.

Police found the truck at the bottom of a cliff nearby. It was damaged badly and apparently had been shoved over, they said.

Police said their investigation shows Finley apparently tried to fire his weapon—he was armed for his guard duty—but was overpowered too quickly to pull the trigger.

Finley was a law enforcement specialist with detachment 30 of Tuslog, the U.S. military group handling supplies and transport for American service units in Turkey.

U.S. Ambassador William J. Handley, upon hearing of the abduction, asked the Turkish foreign office to track down the kidnapers and return the sergeant.

By midmorning police were swarming through the city, checking sources and searching for Finley.

Handley asked the Turkish government Friday to supply special security measures to protect the lives of U.S. citizens in Ankara.

Jewish Mother And Son Win Permission To Leave Russia

MOSCOW (UPI)—Leonid Riggerman remembers "papa" as an idealist who brought his American bride to the young Soviet state in the late 1930s. Today Riggerman led his widowed mother on the road back.

The Riggermans, Muscovite Jews, learned Friday from Soviet officials they would be permitted to leave this week for New York. The announcement ended months of campaigning by Riggerman for exit visas. They will leave Wednesday for New York and Los Angeles.

Nixon Winds Up Low-Key Weekend In Chilly Florida

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon winds up a low-key holiday weekend in chilly Florida today and flies back to Washington for a busy week ahead.

With Secretary of State William P. Rogers and National Security Affairs Adviser Henry A. Kissinger on hand for huddles, Nixon has concentrated on the final draft of his forthcoming "State of the World" report.

The document, to be delivered to Congress Feb. 25, runs 65,000 words. "Too long," Rogers admits.

Yet, the message may contain the first definitive statement by Nixon on the U.S. air supported South Vietnamese invasion of Laos.

He has yet to make a public pronouncement on the border crossing, in contrast to his televised address the night the Cambodian incursion began last April 30. He has not had a press conference since Dec. 10.

It was learned that the loss of some 20 American helicopters in the war zone over the past several days has caused concern among White House national security advisers.

The AFL-CIO executive council is meeting at the American Hotel in nearby Miami Beach, but presidential aides said Nixon had no plans to address the labor leaders before departing Florida.

Their statements so far have been critical of the President's economic policies.

Nixon presented heartshaped boxes of chocolates to his wife, Pat, daughter, Tricia, 24 on Valentine's Day Sunday.

In the afternoon, he took a 45-minute drive around Key Biscayne with his close companion and neighbor, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

REX GETS HOUNDED
SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—Actor Rex Harrison, 63, has been sued for divorce by his fourth wife, Rachel Roberts, 43, to end their nearly four-year marriage.

Miss Roberts said she was satisfied with a property settlement the couple had reached but was upset because she did not get custody of the couple's basket hound, Homer.

Borger Resident Killed By Auto Near Skellytown

The 57-year old owner of The Trading Post in Borger, Granville D. Bowling, 57, was killed at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in a car-pedestrian accident three miles west of Skellytown on Highway 152.

Bowling was apparently walking down the middle of the highway when he was struck down by a car driven by Raymond Dee Neff, 27, 700 E. 14th, Pampa, according to Texas Department of Public Safety officers investigating the accident.

Bowling was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace W. G. "Dutch" Grant of Skellytown.

Neff was not injured in the accident.

Funeral services for Granville D. (Dude) Bowling, are pending with Minton Mortuary in Borger.

Mr. Bowling was born Jan. 4, 1914, and had lived in Borger since 1944. He owned and operated the Trading Post and was a retired Phillips employee.

He is survived by his widow, Opal, two brothers, Jay of Ivanhoe, Calif., and Earl of Stockton, Calif.

State Recurring Welfare Trouble Eased Temporarily By Lawmakers

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas' recurring welfare and headache is apparently being temporarily eased by a bit of money juggled by legislators. But it promises to come back as a real migraine on May 1.

On that date, welfare officials say, state payments under the Aid-to-Families-with-Dependent-Children (AFDC) program will have to be cut and there is no way the legislature can do to avoid it.

The officials estimate by May 1, the state will be bumping the $90 million a year constitutional ceiling on welfare payments, and in order to be able to continue any payments for the remainder of the fiscal year they'll have to cut them by a third on May 1.

The only way the payments can be restored after May 1 is for Texas voters on May 18 to approve a constitutional amendment changing the welfare ceilings and allowing the state to spend more on welfare.

But persons close to the welfare problem are worried the May 1 cut in payments will cause widespread protests by welfare mothers and such demonstrations will cause a backlash that could defeat the constitutional amendment.

"It's going to be a problem and I don't know how we're going to handle it," one welfare spokesman said. "If we get a bunch of demonstrations, the voters are liable to just balk and refuse to give another penny on welfare."

The May 18 election will be the third time in recent years the welfare ceiling question has been presented to voters. In the first election three years ago, voters turned down an attempt to raise the ceiling from $60 to $75 million. A year later, they approved another amendment setting the current $90 million ceiling.

To avoid offering the voters an even higher money figure in this year's election, the legislators took three of the four assistance categories out from under the $90 million ceiling, and lowered the ceiling to $55 million. However, the $55 million ceiling would cover only AFDC payments and not the aid to blind, disabled and the aged.

To get the welfare agency through the current fiscal year, lawmakers are in the process of enacting legislation to move the welfare fund ahead of the teacher retirement fund in the line of agencies getting money from the state's omnibus tax clearance fund. That will give welfare $35 million it needs to operate until Aug. 31, and will delay the effective date of AFDC cuts. Without the fund transfer, the AFDC cuts will have to be made May 1.

The growing AFDC rolls—expanded by federal court decisions liberalizing welfare qualifications—will likely continue to cause funding problems in years to come unless the federal government decides to take over the welfare program as Gov. Preston Smith has proposed. Welfare officials say the proposed $55 million on AFDC spending will be sufficient.

through fiscal 1973 at present rates. But after that, another constitutional amendment raising the ceiling will be required if the rolls continued to increase at present rates.

James Henry Sells, 22, Pampa, was charged Saturday with driving while intoxicated, excessive noise and speeding after being arrested by Police Lt. Gene Aufleger at 1:10 a.m. Saturday south of Pampa.

Lt. Aufleger said that he observed an automobile leaving a Frederic street restaurant, southbound on Tignor, at a high rate of speed. He chased the car at speeds up to 100 miles per hour before Sells' car spun out of control and stopped.

A passenger in the Sells car, Bobby Wayne Hardy, 22, 725 E. Brunow, was arrested on a charge of intoxication and jailed by police.

Property owners were then instructed to hold the check pending a reply from the State Highway Department.

Other business before the court included authorization of old furnishings owned by the county which cannot be used in the new Annex. Foster Whaley, County Agriculture agent, advised the commission that the items, doors, shelving and cabinets would be of no value to the county and would bring a nominal amount at auction if offered for sale during the Junior Livestock Show.

Commissioners also granted permission for the Farmers Union to hold a consignment sale of machinery March 27 in front of the Community Building at Recreation Park. Bills were paid and departmental reports were approved by the court, which also authorized the County Judge to sign instruments on Disaster Application which have heretofore been filed under Public Law 81-875. These are payments to contractors on costs incurred in rebuilding the Courthouse Annex which was heavily damaged during last April's 1970 tornado.

Appetite For Ice Cream May Have Prompted Theft

An unseasonal urge for an ice cream bar may have prompted a break-in at the Top O' Texas Drive-In Saturday night.

A thief went through a long and rather difficult procedure to gain entrance to the concession stand and manager, Orville Hayes, told Pampa Police all that he can determine missing is one ice cream bar.

Officers found a print of a tennis shoe at the scene and continue investigating the scene for latent fingerprints. The thief crawled through a small window in the projection booth, ripped a chair loose from a nailed position on the wall, and knocked a hole through the partition to gain entrance to the concession stand.

Then the subject, or subjects, stole a lone ice cream bar.

Police Arrest Sightseers In Quake Area

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—So many weekend sightseers poured into the most devastated areas of the Los Angeles earthquake during the weekend police issued orders to arrest anyone who didn't live or work in the area as damage was still being toiled in the aftermath of the massive tremor.

Police established a perimeter control around the communities of Sylmar and San Fernando and posted no trespassing signs in attempts to keep out the thousands of sightseers who wanted to view the rubble where 62 persons died in Tuesday's quake.

Traffic Sunday at San Fernando-Veterans Hospital—where 44 persons died—was so heavy officers erected barriers. "You should see the people trying to get in," said Frank Caringella, a Southern California Gas Co. official who was manning a hospital command post.

"I don't know about these people. They go to church and Sunday breakfast and decide, 'hey let's take the kids up and see where all the people died.'" Two residents in the immediate area whose homes were damaged put up their own signs. One read, "sightseers please go away. You cannot get within 200 yards of the tragedy even after a 1.4 mile hike uphill."

The second sign was more blunt: "Sightseers keep out. Violators will be shot. Survivors will be prosecuted."

The Red Cross reported to the Federal Office of Emergency Preparedness that preliminary surveys indicated about 80,000 families suffered some type of loss in Tuesday's quake. Preliminary estimates totaled $300 million but county officials said they could top the billion-dollar mark.

Eighty-four homes were destroyed and 750 others severely damaged, with 1,280 sustaining minor damage. Eighty-four businesses were destroyed, 177 sustained major damage and 20 others had minor damage, affecting 516 families. Minor damage was reported to 1,740 mobile homes, major damage to 50 others and two trailers were destroyed.

Railroad Union, Carriers Reach Tentative Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The third of four unions which had been threatening a nationwide railroad-strike March 1 has reached a tentative contract agreement, and the Nixon administration said it hoped for a quick settlement of the one remaining dispute.

The latest agreement, reached early Sunday, was between the carriers and the 180,000-member Brotherhood of Railway and Airline Clerks, the largest of the four unions.

Still unresolved is a contract settlement involving the United Transportation Union, which represents 90,000 workers. Settlements were previously reached with unions representing 60,000 maintenance of way employees and 3,000 dining car workers.

The four unions staged a one-day strike last Dec. 10, ended by an act of Congress which imposed a 13.5 per cent wage increase on an interim basis. That law expires Feb. 28 and the unions had planned to strike March 1.

Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson said "this demonstrated ability to reach agreement in the case of these three unions gives us every reason to expect that agreement should be achieved with the fourth union."

Terms of the settlement with the clerks will not be made public until after the proposal is submitted to the union's membership for ratification. The dispute involving the clerks and the other unions has revolved around wage increases plus changes the railroads wanted to make in work rules.

ON BANKING LAW

Carr Believed To Be Unregistered Lobbyist

AUSTIN (UPI) — As former Attorney General Waggoner Carr tells it, he was just "an average citizen" talking to his representative in the legislature. Others feel Carr may have been an unregistered lobbyist.

Carr says this is foolishness. "I did not register with the legislature as a lobbyist because in my opinion I was not required to do so," Carr said Saturday.

The flap concerns Carr's urging the legislature pass a banking law. This banking law is also involved in the stock scandal and the civil suit filed recently by the federal Securities and Exchange Commission. Carr is one of the defendants in the suit.

Travis County Attorney Ned Granger has started an investigation into what he calls Carr's "alleged 1969 lobbying activities." Granger said his investigation will "determine whether there may have been a violation" of state law.

The Texas lobby registration law says three types of individuals must register as lobbyists: Any person receiving compensation for lobbying, any person lobbying for the benefit of another and any person who spends more than $50 while lobbying in his own behalf.

Carr said he violated none of these provisions. "I was no more obligated to register than former Gov. (Allan) Shivers and others were required to register in contacting Gov. Preston Smith regarding the veto of that bill," Carr said. "I am sure Gov. Shivers made his contact because of his personal interest and investment for the same reason."

Carr said the state's lobbying registration law is "not designed to cut off an average citizen from contacting his legislator." Carr did say he accompanied John Osorio to the state capitol in the summer of 1969 when the bill was being introduced. Osorio is another one of the 28 defendants in the SEC's suit. He is also a former law partner of Carr.

"I went to the capitol because Mr. Osorio asked me to do so and because I felt that the bill had merit that would affect my personal investment," Carr said.

Carr said he and Osorio talked "for about an hour or less briefly with two or three senators."

"It was my opinion that the bill was a good piece of legislation that would benefit me personally because of my investment in City Bank and Trust in Dallas," Carr said. "I still think the state needs this type of legislation and hope the legislature passes a law of this kind some day."

The law would have permitted state banks to insure deposits with private insurance companies instead of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. It would have also removed these banks from federal scrutiny.

Dear Abby

By August Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: While addressing Christmas cards, my husband and I were stumped when we faced this situation:

We have known and loved a young man since he was an infant. (His parents are dear friends of ours.) The young man has a female companion living with him. He is 26 and she is 25. We've met her and we like her, although we don't exactly approve of unmarried couples living together, which may be beside the point.

This young couple do not pretend to be married and they don't hide their arrangement. Neither do they broadcast it.

We sent the young man a Christmas card and wanted to send her one, too, but we didn't know how to address it.

To address one card to "Mr. and Mrs." was out because they aren't married. To address one card to "Mr. John Doe and Miss So and So" seemed wrong, too. But that was also impossible because we didn't know her last name.

We didn't want to ignore the young woman, yet we honestly didn't know what else to do. How would you have handled this awkward situation?

"OUT OF IT" DEAR "OUT": I'd have sent him a card, and on it I'd have added a handwritten "hi" to her. (Had I known her last name, I'd have sent her a card at her address, which just happened to be his address.)

DEAR ABBY: I am ready to scream! This year we received six Christmas cards from "unknowns." One was signed "Gladys and Bud." The postmark was Boulder, Colo. (We don't know anybody in Boulder.) Another was signed, "Bill and Anne." Another was from "Pat and Mary." Neither my husband nor I could figure out who these people were. Worse yet we received a lovely gift from a store in Boston. (We live in Greenwich, Conn.) There was no card enclosed so we wrote to the store. They couldn't help us. Now we don't know whom to thank.

Abby, will you please do a lot of people a favor and tell them that next Christmas they should please put their full names and addresses on the envelopes. And when sending a gift, to be sure their names are inside the gift and their return addresses are on the outside wrapping, too. Thank you.

GOING MAD DEAR GOING: Consider it done.

DEAR ABBY: Our church had a Christmas tree sale to pay for the church bus. The preacher and another man (I will call him Mr. Jones) were in charge of this sale.

They asked our 16-year-old son to help out, so the kid took a tent and sleeping bag and stayed on that tree lot working for a whole week, night and day.

Mr. Jones asked our son to deliver a Christmas tree, and he gave him his car to use. Well, our son backed out of a driveway and hit a mailbox and cracked the windshield of Mr. Jones's car. Mr. Jones thinks we ought to pay for the damages on his car. What do you think?

HURT DEAR HURT: Under the circumstances I would say that Mr. Jones's Christian spirit isn't very deep. And buying a church bus won't deepen it.

Fashion Press Faces Crossroads With Youthful Style Revolution

NEW YORK (NEA)—The major fashion magazines come into the homes of three million women each year. That's the approximate combined circulation.

On newsstand sales alone Vogue claims 182,129 and Harper's Bazaar, 122,460, with Mademoiselle and Town & Country close at their heels. And don't take Cosmopolitan lightly even though it is not primarily a fashion book.

Each magazine appeals to a different audience. Mademoiselle says it hits the career girl market. Cosmopolitan claims to have a sexy. Town & Country is said to capture 112,000 readers, mainly far above us all, don't-touch-mes. And then there is Rags, the new pulp fashion magazine. Its aim is to sway the kids who shop in Army-Navy stores and the hippies who look attics for body coverings.

As for Vogue, it has prepared a profile of its reader. It says that Vogue families have unusually high incomes and buying power. They are interested in travel; they read; they decorate; they entertain and they go to the theater. And you can't hardly beat that for class. Harper's Bazaar aims at the same audience but according to Vogue, they don't do it nearly as well.

Anyone who thinks that a fashion magazine simply reports what's new just isn't getting the message. Magazine publishers know that influence is the most important factor in the evaluation of the book as an advertising medium. And therein lies the money. Its powers of persuasion dictate the final effectiveness of the magazine. It must influence a meaningful segment of the population to stay in business.

Now, when the doors of many Seventh Avenue couture houses are closing because of a sick economy and consumer resistance to the dictates of designers, it would seem these magazines will have to develop a new approach to their readers. Even designers are jumping off the band wagon.

Rudi Gernreich says, "Fashion is dead." Stan Herman, whose designs have always influenced the fashion-conscious, is purposely sloughing off and living in hippie communes. He is turned out of the establishment because sales figures are down "and the business stinks."

"The young are killing fashion in the traditional sense," he said. Vincent MonteSano, president of the New York Couture Business Council, whose own firm has closed, says the fashion industry is in a state of crisis marked by confusion, distrust and misguidance.

Is this consumer resistance and designer despair influencing "the influencers?"

Well, you decide. Chic Vogue has now featured a demure lass in denim on its cover — a far cry from the expected twisted, tortuous figure in slinky satin, feathered eyes and an overload of dramatic expensive bangles. Harper's Bazaar has sent out a questionnaire to subscribers (25 cents included for replies) asking in effect what they would like to see in the magazine.

The boatload of influencers is in rocky waters at the moment. The attitude of the kids for the do-your-own-thing fashion philosophy has affected even the affluent woman. She has found she can have fun putting herself together and at much smaller cost. The rich don't mind saving money any more than the working girl does.

Fashion may be touted as a game. But in reality it is big business, hot a toy at all. The industry has changed. It has grown into bigger firms. Most of them are public and must answer to their stockholders. And major retailers know that fashion cannot any longer be dictated to the masses as it can to that small, select group of Beautiful People. If suburbanites and career girls alike are happy in their polyester pantsuits, Amen. They are the bulk of the buying power.

Will the fashion magazines still try to play the role of innovator? Will they continue to try to impose new trends on the consumer? Probably. But to a much lesser extent.

The "class market" will still be represented by a few designers. But the mass market is the giant to be reckoned with.

Those grotesquely posed gals, wearing weird headresses, war paint and sandals laced to their twisted knees will still crop up between the pages of the books. But it's the separates, doubleknits, shirtheists and jeans that will keep the garment industry alive.

There should be a lot more of that kind of fashion visible in living color in our fashion magazines if the rag business stands a prayer of surviving.

If this comes to pass, the magazines will relate to life on this planet and will seem less like comic books for adults.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise. Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers. One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation.

"Suddenly Slim," in both girly and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at

Chief Of Police Claims Jury 'Convicts An Innocent Man'

GARLAND, Tex. (UPI)—Robert T. Wade, police chief of this Dallas suburb, feels a six-man jury has convicted an innocent man—himself.

Wade was found guilty Friday of driving while intoxicated. His 90-day jail sentence was probated, and he was ordered to pay all court costs.

"My wife and children and many friends who have sat in this trial for five days and listened to the evidence all know I am innocent," Wade said after the verdict was returned. "I have served the police profession well. I do not feel I owe anyone an apology. They have convicted an innocent man."

Wade was charged with driving while intoxicated after he was involved in a collision on a Dallas freeway last month in which both cars were demolished. No one was seriously injured in the wreck.

The prosecution presented witnesses to the accident who testified Wade had staggered from the car and appeared drunk. The defense, however, presented witnesses who told an exactly opposite story.

Wade was temporarily suspended from his job as head of the police force in this city of 31,000 persons at the time of the accident.

Following his conviction Wade said he did not think the city would make his suspension permanent.

After Wade was found guilty

his attorney, Charles Tessmer, argued for a probated sentence. "Your verdict has destroyed the usefulness of this man as a police officer," Tessmer said. "This man has been convicted and a reasonable deduction is that he can no longer function as police chief of Garland."

Tessmer urged the jury not to put Wade in jail with men he has arrested because his safety would be in danger.

RESUBMITS BILL

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Louis C. Wyman, R-N.H., Saturday reintroduced legislation to protect American jobs threatened by the flood of foreign shoe imports. Wyman said at least three more New England shoe factories have closed down since Jan. 1. "With shoe imports rising by more than 27 per cent during 1970, the U.S. shoe industry is way past the peril point," he said. The Wyman bill would establish quotas based on the average level of imports for 1967 through 1969.

KENTUCKY JAYCEES TOLD

Ecuador Will Continue To Seize U.S. Boats Within 200-Mile Limit

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI)—Ecuador's ambassador to the United States said Saturday that his country has and will continue to seize U.S. tuna boats that lack a license to fish within its 200 miles territorial limit.

Ambassador Carlos Mantilla told the Kentucky Jaycees International Relations Forum that the licensing was based on a 1945 declaration by President Harry S. Truman and a 1952 Santiago conference involving Ecuador, Chile and Peru to preserve the tuna fishing industry in the area.

Mantilla said Truman felt it was the duty of the South American nations "to insure the conservation and protection of their natural resources and to regulate the use, thereof, to the best possible advantage."

The ambassador also said the only boats seized were ones, mostly from California, that did not have licenses. He said that tuna fishing vessels caught within the 200 mile limit are directed to port and kept there only until the fine is paid.

A license for an average fishing vessel of 300 to 500 tons is $5,000 to $6,000 per fishing trip and the average fine for being caught without a license within the 200 mile limit is about $40,000.

"Up to about 40 to 45 years ago, tuna was rich off the coast of California," the ambassador said. "After a course of several years, the tuna nearly disappeared because there was no control in the fishing."

He said the California fishermen then went south off the coast of Mexico until the tuna there almost disappeared because there was no control in the fishing. "And now the fishermen from California fish in our waters."

"This was the ambassador's first appearance before a state group since Ecuador began the practice of seizing American tuna boats which entered its 200 mile territorial limit.

The United States suspended further military aid shipments to Ecuador last month after the South American nation's navy seized U.S. tuna boats fishing within the 200 mile limit

Install gas air conditioning now?

You should be so foxy

Installing GAS air conditioning now means you'll beat the rush that always comes with the first hot or dusty spring day. While everyone else is waiting for the overworked installers you'll be cool, calm, and collected.

GAS air conditioning cools your whole house quietly and efficiently. You'll save on repairs, too, because there is no compressor to break down or wear out. And, GAS air conditioning cools your whole house for what you might have been paying to cool just two or three rooms before.

So, be foxy. Call Pioneer and tell them you'd like to find out more about installing GAS air conditioning in the winter. A representative will tell you what it will take to include it in your present forced air heating system. You may be able to use the same ductwork for heating and cooling. It costs nothing to get a complete survey of your home or business.

Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, FEB. 16, 1971
YOUR BIRTHDAY: TUESDAY: Intellectual insight and spiritual development are open frontiers in your life this coming year. Socially, your success depends on tact and self-restraint. Tuesday's passive personality must rather narrow on special goals, then drive very hard to achieve them.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Be open for the unexpected in personalities and opportunities. A bright idea pays off. If you have a white elephant on hand, be alert for a buyer.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): People listen to you Tuesday—be positive in your comments. There is a better way of getting your work done, perhaps a short cut (and it's yours).

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): You attract and involve others in all areas of enterprise now. If you put forth the needed effort, look ahead, see where you are going.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Unorthodox approaches to your work turn out better than expected. People are off-schedule, well-intentioned, full of surprises. Simplify home arrangements.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): A momentary crisis is in the offing Tuesday morning. Keep an open mind about whatever happens. You have to let go. Later hours bring good news.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Communication is the key to your progress. Windfalls, returns of money, resources, property are quite possible, or twisted payments.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Experiments are natural Tuesday. Distinct goals are the most important factor. Routines and personal habits must change.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Follow intuition away from conventional approaches. Other people start in new directions—let them go. Be ready for a shift in your own lanes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Cautious, reactive talk from somebody is startling—avoid comment until you've thought about it. A career opportunity opens.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Credit for initiative is in for your course Tuesday. Family, close associates seem realistic. Check on their spendthrift attitude.

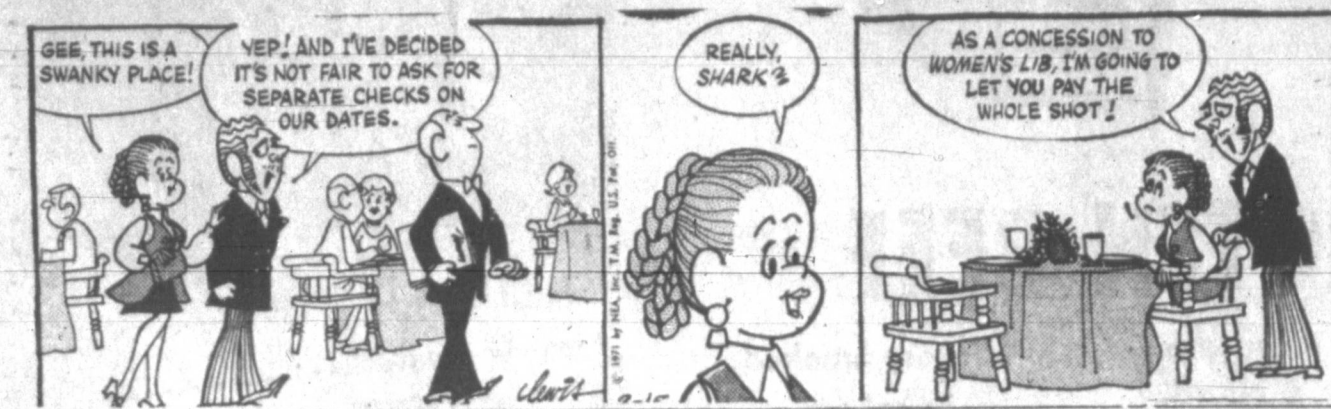

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Distant news brought to your attention from strangers—pushes you into some decision. Be consistent with your convictions. Do not let go.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Close deals make agreements, clear your schedule of obligations, business. Collect or recover whatever is yours.

NO EXPLANATION
POPPELTON, England (UPI)—The local vicar, Rev. Arthur West, will have a part tonight when the church's annual play goes on stage. His role: Satan. He said, "I think it's a good part for me." He didn't explain why.

ENCOUNTER PROBLEM
LONDON (UPI)—Britain's sexiest soccer team, 11 top London models, have a problem: They can't find a man to coach them. The Rovers plan to play a charity match against models—but admit they need a little help on how to play the game. "But we just can't find anyone to coach us," said one Rover. "Most men we've approached mutter something about their wives maybe not approving, and that's that."

LIBBERS FINED
LONDON (UPI)—A court fined four women $24 each Saturday for creating a disturbance and for insulting behavior during the Miss World contest last November. Two of them were fined $24 apiece more for having thrown stench bombs. The women, all members of the Women's Liberation movement, said the contest made "mere sex objects" of women.

LONDON (UPI)—Police Saturday charged Robert Leonard Prescott, a 26-year-old decorator, with having set off a bomb last month that damaged the home of Employment Minister Robert Carr. Another unidentified man was being held for questioning, they said.

Pampa's Steve Williams Is Tech's Key Playmaker

By United Press International
The Southwest Conference basketball race heads down the final six-game stretch this week with four teams breathing down front-running Texas Christian's neck.

And, those four can pass along a lot of credit to Texas Tech's little red-haired playmaker, Steve Williams, for the fact they're still in there with hopes high.

For, it was some sterling play by "Red," as Red Raider Coach Gerald Myers calls him, that handed TCU its second loss of the week, 72-65, Saturday night and opened the door for Tech, Baylor, Southern Methodist and defending champion Rice.

The loss to Tech, coupled with an 89-63 setback at Houston to Rice early in the week, left TCU with only a 6-2 league mark compared with 5-3 records for the four contenders.

"It was a real tightrope," Myers said of the Tech victory. "At the end, Red (Williams) got some big buckets."

Actually, the 6-1 senior from Pampa got six of Tech's last 10 points and 12 of his overall 14 in the second half after picking up three personals early in the game and riding the bench for a spell.

TCU Coach Johnny Swaim credited the fiery little playmaker with what may have been the key play in the late going.

With 4:24 left, TCU trailed by two after a Eugene Kennedy field goal and Tech's David Johnson missed a shot. TCU's Snake Williams, no relation, rebounded and started a fast break that left him and Jim Ferguson on a 2-on-1 position on Tech's Williams.

As TCU's Williams bounced the ball toward Ferguson, Tech's Williams sagged into the baseline area, stole the pass and fired it to Gene Knolle, who scored.

"That would have given us a tie if we had scored," Swaim moaned. "Instead, they got the bucket and led by four."

TCU out-rebounded Tech 60-43 with Kennedy pulling down 22 and Simpson Degrate 16, but the Frogs were too cold at their shooting, hitting only 34 per cent to Tech's 48 per cent.

"What amazed me," said Swaim, was that at the half (Tech led 37-34), we were shooting so poorly and were still in the game."

While TCU was losing the pair, SMU, Rice and Baylor were winning a pair. SMU best Tech 93-91 to drop the Raiders out of sole possession of second place and then walloped Arkansas 112-99 as Gene Phillips' 29 points gave him a conference career scoring total of 1,755 points.

Rice, after beating TCU, edged Texas A&M 73-71, and Baylor beat Arkansas 92-91 and Texas 88-67.

Things get sticky this week. TCU is at home twice, to Arkansas Tuesday and Rice Saturday afternoon. Baylor is at Rice Tuesday and at home to SMU Saturday night. SMU is at home to Texas A&M Tuesday and Tech plays at Texas Tuesday and entertains the Aggies Saturday on daytime television.

Civic Center Hosts District AA Clashes

Claude and Stratford, two big names in Class AA basketball will face off tonight in Amarillo's Civic Center at 7 p.m. to decide a bi-district championship. The Elkettes pulled behind the Claude Mustangettes as their season 24-while impressive isn't quite as impressive as Claude's 30-1 mark. Another reason for selecting the Mustangettes as the pick team is the winter defeat of Stratford 61 to 51.

The Mustangettes will be led by Janice Irby, an all regional selection and Diane Campbell. Irby (6'2") is hitting the nets for a 26 per game average and Campbell is averaging 22.5 mark.

Stratford, state champs two years ago, will not be without their strengths, however, as two of the Elkettes losses were to powerhouse Spearman. Stratford's Shirley Hawkins (5'8") is nearing the 1,400 point mark and could cross the barrier in tonight's conflict.

The Claude-Stratford tilt will be followed by the Spearman-Shamrock clash at about 8:45 p.m. Spearman has 31-1 season and has won 65 out of their past 67 games.

Third Daytona Victory Makes NASCAR History

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI)—Richard Petty, a drawing North Carolinian, carved another niche into the NASCAR record book Sunday with an unprecedented third victory in the Daytona 500 despite having only the "second fastest" car in the race.

"A.J. Foyt probably had the fastest car and I probably had the second fastest," said Petty after posting a record 120th victory on the NASCAR circuit.

Petty pushed his blue Plymouth into the lead 100 miles from the finish when the pole-sitter A.J. Foyt ran out of gas, and then staved off a late challenge by teammate Buddy Baker to grab the top prize of $48,000 in the premier stock car event.

Foyt nursed his Mercury into the pits for refueling but was never able to make up the lost time.

Baker, who joined the Petty team this year, picked up $17,000 for his second place finish, one half mile behind Petty. Foyt, who finished nearly a lap behind, earned $19,000, including $5,000 for winning the pole.

David Pearson, runner-up last year, finished fourth in a 1969 Mercury with Fred Lorenzen fifth in a 1971 Plymouth sponsored by Andy Granatelli's STP Corp.

"It got a little hairy out there sometimes," said Petty. "I can't remember when one car would be leading and three or four would pass him on a lap."

Baker admitted his decision to "second guess" the Petty enterprises' pit crew and changed the suspension setup on his car late in the race hurt his bid to catch Petty at the finish.

"I won't second guess my pit crew any more," said Baker, who joined the factory-backed Petty team this year. "I was the one who made the decision to take some weight out of the car on the final pit stop," continued Baker. "After that, the car didn't handle as well in the turns."

Petty dispelled any notion the two teammates might not have been fighting it out at the finish. "You can bet we'd have been battling each other for the checkered flag if Buddy's car had been handling as good as mine," he said.

Stock car driver Maynard Troyer, whose red Ford went out of control in a high-banked turn and bounced end-over-end during the opening laps of the Daytona 500, "seems to be holding on" in Halifax Hospital.

The 32-year-old mechanic from Spencerport, N.Y., the only man seriously hurt in the nip-and-tuck Sunday race, suffered a skull fracture, broken hand and other injuries in the spectacular accident.

Mrs. Troyer said her husband was in the intensive care ward at the Daytona Beach hospital. "He seems to be holding on," she said. "The doctors say he will have to be watched for about 24 hours, mainly because of the head injury. But he is still conscious."

It was on the second turn in the 10th lap of the 200-lap race that Troyer's car skidded, hit the inside rail, and rolled over several times, scattering wreckage over the track.

Lane At 74 Is Baseball's Old 'Young Radical' On Regulations

By MILTON RICHMAN
UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—Frank Lane, that young radical, has a revolutionary idea he thinks would pump new life into baseball.

"Give a batter a walk on three balls instead of four," he says. "It would cut down a lot of waste time and make the game much more exciting."

The Milwaukee Brewers' new director of baseball operations, who at 74 can give a lot of 24's lessons in departments they haven't even dreamed of, is a rules innovator from way back.

He helped put a number of the current ones in the book but this proposal of three balls take-your-base is something he tried pushing—more than a decade ago.

"I suggested it a dozen years ago but you know how it was then, some baseball people said 'there goes Loudmouth Lane popping off again,'" he says. "Well, times change. I see where Charlie Finley is all for changing the rule to three balls now and anytime you get Lane and Finley agreeing on anything that's a story in itself, isn't it?"

Gentlemen's Agreement
About the only think these two ever agreed on before was that New Year's generally falls on January 1st and left alone long enough they might even work up a fairly good argument about that.

Lane once had an arrangement where he was supposed to work eight years for Finley as Kansas City general manager. After eight months the two wound up in court with Finley having to pay the balance of Lane's contract.

Now they see eye-to-eye.

Pampa Harvesters Host Tie Breaker

District tie breakers are always heart breakers and Pampa is faced with the possibility of hurting some Palo Duro fans feelings tomorrow night in Harvester Fieldhouse at 8 p.m.

Riding along on the backwash of district upsets the Dons are clinging to a strong hold in the midst of the Pampa homestead. The Harvesters, looking better with every game, have high hopes of being the undisputed District leaders in 3-AAAA as the Harvesters tromped the Dons on their own court early in the season.

Coach McPherson is confident of a win if the team will continue to work together and keep their fouls under control.

Pampa defeated the Tascosa Rebels 60 to 58 Friday night in a thriller on Marsh Gambin's 22 foot shot with 5 seconds left to play.

The Harvesters had trailed the second half and were forced to play catch up basketball to gain the win. Utilizing the full court press which no one has been able to cope with during our district season the Harvesters cut a 47 to 40 margin down to a 47 to 46 lead.

The stands will be full tomorrow night so everyone should make plans to attend the Shocker game starting at 6 p.m. and guarantee themselves a seat for the Harvesters game. At Tascosa fans were sitting four deep along the edge of the court for lack of seating in the grandstands.

Louisiana Stadium Reality As Bidding Opens Tuesday

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—The Louisiana Stadium and Exposition District Commission plans to open construction bids Tuesday for the Louisiana Superdome.

The downtown New Orleans stadium is expected to cost $83.5 million. It will be financed by a bond issue.

The stadium commission, a state-chartered agency, expects to bid opening to last four or five hours. Contractors can submit proposals on the entire project or include only portions of it in their bids.

Despite the planned bid opening, opponents of the stadium are still engaged in a legal battle to block construction.

They argue the estimated cost of the structure has more than doubled since Louisiana voters approved it in a 1966 amendment to the state constitution. Figures in the neighborhood of $35 million were most often mentioned when the amendment was proposed.

Charles J. Eagan Jr., council president in suburban Jefferson Parish (county), said Jefferson will appeal a recent court decision which struck down a parish ordinance to withhold revenues intended to retire stadium bonds from the commission.

Jefferson has ordered hotel-occupancy taxes collected within its jurisdiction be turned over to the parish council rather than the commission. However, State District Judge Nestor Currault ruled Feb. 1, the constitutional amendment stipulated the tax revenues would go directly to the state.

Other court pleas against the stadium, the commission says the 14 in all, have also been rejected.

A 55-acre site for the stadium has been cleared of aging warehouses and office. New Orleans' City Hall bounds it on one side and a federal office building is on the other.

Matson Sets Meet Record In Oakland

OAKLAND, Calif.—Tall Texan Randy Matson, set a meet record with a 66-11 toss to edge Matson by three inches in San Francisco January 22.

Matson's winning toss beat the coliseum record 67' 1 1/2" held by Oregon's Neal Steinhauer. After Matson with his winning 66-4 toss, on his fifth try, Feuerbach followed with his fifth throw of the night at 67' 1 1/2".

Matson had three other tosses over 67 feet at 67' 1 1/2", 67' 3/4", 67' 4 1/2" on his final effort.

John Newcombe Upsets Fellow Aussie, Rod Laver

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—John Newcombe won the $10,000 top prize in the Philadelphia Indoor Tennis Championship Sunday when he upset fellow Australian and defending title holder Rod Laver, 7-6, 7-6, 6-4.

Laver overhauled a backhand return of service over the baseline and third-seeded Newcombe ended the contest on the fifth match point in the final game.

"Naturally I am disappointed, but you can't win them all," Laver said.

"I don't think it will affect my game for this Wednesday's match," against Denni Ralston in the Tennis Champions Classic at Madison Square Garden, he said. Laver has won $95,000 this year, counting his $5,000 second place money here.

Laver beat Newcombe recently in five sets in the $200,000 tennis champions classic series. Newcombe's victory was only his third in 13 matches with Laver.

Newcombe broke Laver's service in the first game of the third set and held service himself for five straight games. He double faulted twice in the sixth game, but at break point, he forced Laver into three straight errors.

Second seeded Rosemary Casals of San Francisco defeated fourth-seeded Francoise Durr of France, 6-2, 3-6, 6-2 to win the women's championship.

Miss Casals controlled play throughout the first and third sets in the uneven women's final, but Miss Durr, playing chiefly from deep court and relying on long placements, dominated the second set.

Tarnished Crown Returns To Golfing Great Arnold Palmer

By JOE SARGIS
UPI Sports Writer
PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (UPI)—For one bright moment at least Arnold Palmer again is the king of golf.

At age 41, the man who was king of all he could survey in the 60s finally has won a tournament in the 70s. How long he can keep it up no one knows but the moment is beautiful and Arnie, the one man responsible for making golf the big spectator sport it is today, plans to make the most of it.

He ended 14 months of bitter frustration Sunday with a pressure packed 25-foot birdie putt on the first hole of a sudden death playoff with 28-year-old Ray Floyd to win the $140,000 Bob Hope Desert Classic.

Playing in an area where being 60 and retired is beautiful, Palmer was the big attraction all week long as he plodded up one course and down another in the 90-hole marathon Hope Classic. Wherever he went the crowds were there and to achieve his long sought victory Palmer shot a five under 67 at La Quinta, a one under 71 at Tamarisk, a six under 66 at Indian Wells and 68-70 at Bermuda Dunes in the final two rounds.

When it was all over Sunday Palmer waved to an appreciative audience, collected his $28,000 winner's check, and headed to the press tent to tell how he did it.

"I was willing to do anything to get a victory again," said Palmer, who ended the longest drought of his career when he won the Hope Classic, a tourney he had taken three times in 11 previous years.

Now that he finally has won one, Palmer said he plans to let up a little. He should because he has played in six tourneys since January.

Sunday's victory gave Palmer a total of 57 triumphs on the U.S. tour since he turned pro in 1955. No one ever has won that many but one of the elusive ones for Palmer has been the PGA.

On the extra hole with Floyd Sunday, Palmer stood over the ball a long time and said later a lot of things crossed his mind.

"I thought about how long it had been since I won anything," he said. "I also thought of all the chances I had this year, the playoffs I had lost. Maybe I psyched myself because I hit a real good putt, maybe as good as I could possibly make."

Floyd, who last won when he took the 1969 PGA title, took home a check for $16,000 for his trouble. He didn't seem too upset.

"I thought I got off a good putt on the extra hole," said Floyd, "but I'm glad Arnie won it. He's some guy."

Lost in the shuffle of the Palmer-Floyd duel was what happened to the rest of the field. Bert Yancey wound up at 14 under 346. Billy Casper, the 1970 player of the year, was at 348 and Jim Wiechers and Bob Rosburg tied at 349.

Tom Shaw, winner of the Crosby and Hawaiian Open, finished down the list at 352.

Surprised Communists:

Asian diplomats whose countries have embassies in Laos say Peking and Soviet Russia apparently have been caught off base by the South Vietnamese military drive into Laos and that indications were they would not supply more weapons or money to the Pathet Lao the Pathet Lao movement itself apparently does not count on more than loud Moscow and Peking protests and that it will not pull out its mission from Vietnam, Laotian capital, so that it can be in steady contact with neutralist Premier Souvanna Phouma.

Diligent Arms Salesmen:

French government sources say a number of military sales missions will leave Paris soon on another scouting trip to Asia, the Near East and Latin America to keep French sales expanding even beyond last year's record total of $1.2 billion, placing France second only to the United States in arms sales. Sources say special targets as prospective buyers are Indonesia, Venezuela and Pakistan.

Worried West Berliners:

Opponents of West German Chancellor Willy Brandt predict the March 14 West Berlin municipal elections will be a setback for Brandt's Eastern policy. They expect the ruling Social Democratic party to fall far short of the 56.9 per cent of the vote it won in 1967, although they also expect that the Socialists, with the aid of the Free Democratic party, their coalition partners, to hold their majority in the house of representatives. They believe the loss will come as result of widespread fears that Brandt's policy of reconciliation with the Communist East could endanger West Berlin.

Once Burned Twice Shy:

It seems unlikely that Japan will take an active role in calling a conference of Asian nations to solve the Indochina war as proposed by U.S. Sen. George D. Aiken. Japan might work behind the scenes to encourage such non-committed nations as Indonesia or Malaysia to convene an Asian peace conference. But Japan, despite its economic power, remains reluctant to force itself on its neighbors in political disputes because of bad memories associated with Japan's military-political aggression in the 1930's and 40's. Asia needs a respected independent statesman to help restore order along its many troubled borders. But Japan has no candidate for the role.

Philippine Educators Fear

Philippine educators fear that student agitators could force suspension of classes for an entire school year in support of their demands for reforms in government and society. Plans quietly are being made to set up unofficial seminars and home classes. The dean of one ranking Roman Catholic School said arrangements could be made for his 2,000 students but he foresaw much more difficulty for the bigger campuses where student populations number more than 30,000.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI)—The 22nd annual San Antonio Stock Show got underway Saturday. Gov. Preston Smith and Mayor W.W. McAllister helped open the show Friday, leading a two-hour parade downtown that drew 100,000 spectators.

TEXAN IS KILLED

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department Friday said Army Spec. 4 Milfred R. Green of San Antonio has been killed in the Indochina War. Green was formerly on a list of missing. Officials said he died not as a result of hostile action.

ISRAELI SENTENCED

HOUSTON (UPI)—An Israeli seaman began 10 years' probation Friday on conviction of hashish. He was ordered not to return to Harris County during the 10-year term. Yaacov Cohen, 28, was arrested after authorities said he tried to sell the illegal substance for $1,300.

LTV TO COMBINE

DALLAS (UPI)—LTV Electronics plans to combine its automatic controls department at Arlington, Tex., with its Montek operation at Salt Lake City, Utah, this summer. LTV announced the change Friday and said it was because of declining volume.
