Bonn Calls On Partners To Abandon Support For Dollar

BRUSSELS (UPI)—West Germany and France blamed U.S. economic policies Saturday for the international monetary crisis. Bonn called for the six Common Market nations to abandon their support for the dollar and let supply and demand determine the exchange rate.

France disagreed with the West German proposal to "float" the currency but agreed in condemning the United States for policies that weakened the strength of its currency and caused a wave of speculative selling of U.S. dollars in Europe this week.

"Europe is having to pay for the U.S. policy of growth and full employment," French Finance Minister Valery Giscard D'estaing said, while rejecting the idea of floating the franc.

Germany's Central Bank stopped trading in the dollar last Wednesday after buying $1 billion in U.S. money in a 40 minute period. It said it would resume trading Monday.

Giscard D'estaing said France could not join in any concerted floating action because "internal problems in France are totally different from those in Germany. France would have to pay with unemployment."

The reported German intention to float alone if necessary threatened the basis of Common Market plans for economic and monetary union and a common currency by 1980.

14,000 Persons Join March Held In Washington

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A flag-waving, hymn-singing crowd of about 14,000 persons cheered a telephoned greeting from Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky of South Vietnam Saturday and roared approval of demands for a U.S. military victory in Southeast Asia.

Fundamentalist preacher Carl McIntire's "Patriots' March for Victory" down Pennsylvania Avenue ended at the Washington Monument where—in view of the White House—McIntire urged President Nixon to "reverse your policy to give the world the leadership it needs in confronting and defeating communism."

Undaunted by an earlier rain and what McIntire called "fear of the hippies," an estimated 2,500 persons, from hard hats to set out from the foot of the Capitol at noon. By the time the rally began at the monument the crowd had swelled to about 14,000, by estimate of the U.S. Park Police.

A cheer went up when a call came through from Saigon at 2:40 p.m. and Ky's voice was heard over the loudspeaker.

"Hello, how are you? This is Vice President Ky. Can you hear me?" he said, and then the connection was broken. Ky had cancelled plans to attend McIntire's last "Victory March" in Washington in October, citing threats of violence but denying political pressures.

Other scheduled callers were Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek of Nationalist China, Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama and Lt. Gov. Lester Maddox of Georgia, who said that "it's time for the American people to say they're tired of compromises and sellouts" in Vietnam.

"Let's stand up for honor and decency and for victory for America," McIntire told the chanting throng. "General MacArthur said there's no substitute for victory. We need a General MacArthur on the street today."

The orderly parade was led by a man on stilts dressed as Uncle Sam with hands in boxing gloves and bound by rope. He carried a sign reading "untie my hands in Vietnam."

The marchers included members of Veterans of Foreign Wars, elderly women carrying Bibles and crosses, middle-aged couples with children and one contingent of construction workers in combat fatigues carrying placards reading "This Is Hard Hat Country."

"The marchers shouted 'Victory Now!' and carried American flags and such signs as 'Bomb Hanoi,' 'Free Calley' and 'Stop Red China.' There were floats carrying hard hats re-enacting the flag raising on Iwo Jima and a portrayal of Betsy Ross sewing the American flag.

Rep. John R. Rarick, D-La., denounced national leaders for not seeking a total victory in Indochina and received prolonged applause at the mere mention of the name of Lt. William L. Calley Jr., convicted of at least 22 premeditated murders at My Lai.

"The leaders haven't the guts to end the war in the five or six weeks every military leader says it can be done," Rarick said. "All we hear of is trade with Red China, building bridges and ping pong games."

McIntire, who organized the Saturday march and rally, walked during the march behind a hand from his hometown of Collingswood, N.J., which played "Onward Christian Soldiers." He exhorted his followers over a microphone beaming his words to mobile loudspeakers.

One Pampa man is dead and another in critical condition in Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo as a result of a one-car accident which occurred south of Pampa Friday.

Dead is Richard R. Gordzelik, 31, driver of the car. In extremely critical condition in the Amarillo hospital is Gene Locke, 47, 324 Tignor.

Also injured in the wreck was Locke's wife, Stachia Goldsmith Locke, 47. Another passenger, Gordzelik's brother, Jerry Gordzelik, 35, White Deer, was treated and released from Highland General Hospital following the accident.

Mrs. Locke remains hospitalized in Pampa with extensive injuries.

Survivors include two sons, Richard and Brian Keith, both of Pampa; his mother, Mrs. Regina Gordzelik of White Deer; and two brothers, Jerry and Bill, both of White Deer.

HARMFUL TO HEALTH

'Love Beads' Found Containing Cadmium

The Food and Drug Administration warning against a nationally distributed brand of candy resulted in several area merchants pulling stocks of the candy "Love Beads" from the shelves and boxing it for shipment back to the wholesalers and import origins.

The warning came after 15 cases of reported poisonings were received involving the multi-colored beads which have been found to have contained high levels of toxic cadmium. FDA said that candy, distributed through the Ce De Candy Co., Union, N.Y., was produced in British Crown Colony in Hong Kong for the company.

The cadmium level is reportedly 2,000 times in excess of safety levels for metal in pottery. The FDA reported that 600,000 of the necklaces had been distributed. Cases of poisoning have been reported in California, Washington and Illinois. Symptoms include severe stomach pains, vomiting, lethargy and drowsiness. All of the victims have recovered within hours, the FDA said, but cadmium can be fatal if eaten in large quantities over an extended period of time an agency spokesman said.

Last fall Ce De Candy Co. was asked to recall another shipment of the candy because the beads were found contaminated with insect fragments, metal fragments and wood splinters.

Local merchants with beads still in stock said yesterday they had immediately taken the candy off the shelves when the FDA made the announcement late Friday. Two merchants in Lefors issued statements that the described candy had either been sold or had not been received. None was available in that city, according to reports given news media.

Russians Launch Eight Spaceships In Single Rocket

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union hurled eight unmanned sputniks high into earth orbit on a single rocket Friday in a record-equaling launch, the Tass news agency said Saturday.

The Cosmos sputniks soared far beyond the orbital track the Soviets have been using in the Soyuz-Salute space station project and popped into orbit about 900 miles up.

There they joined eight other sputniks, also launched aboard one rocket in April 1970, in what the Soviets describe only as "exploration of outer space."

The original cluster set the Soviet record for the number of sputniks boosted by one rocket.

Western scientific sources in Moscow said it appeared the 16 high-flying sputniks would be too far out in space to function efficiently as orbital weapons, which are designed to fire nuclear missiles on earth at an electronic signal.

They also said the angle of orbit to the equator was so sharp—74 degrees—that it put the sputniks on the margin of what is considered effective for spy satellites.

Mayor Carlson said: "I urge all citizens to join in honoring the dedicated and compassionate service of the Salvation Army and its representatives in Pampa."

WALKOUTS IN FOURTH DAY Wildcat Strikes Paralyze Rome

ROME (UPI)—An epidemic of strikes and shutdowns left Rome a city without marriages, funerals or parking tickets Saturday, and 1.3 million Romans went without water.

Much of the normal life of the Eternal City, now jammed with tourists, was paralyzed or disrupted by a continuing strike by 25,350 municipal workers seeking more money and reforms in the promotion system.

Workers now in their fourth day by grave diggers again prevented burial of the 60 to 70 persons who die every day in Rome. Marriages, tax collections and other official business requiring documents were suspended because of a city clerks strike.

Garbage was piled higher than cars in some streets because of a sanitation strike and motorists enjoyed a ticket free day because of a strike by 450 municipal police.

But perhaps most disrupting of all was a four-day water shutdown in one-half of the city beginning at 11 a.m. Officials closed water supplies to allow for connection of a new aqueduct from the Peschiera River to the central city reservoir. It is the longest such shutdown in Rome since World War II.

Stores reported record sales of bottle mineral water and throwaway paper plates and cups, and authorities sent tank trucks cruising the streets with emergency water supplies.

More strikes were scheduled to start Sunday by hotel workers in Rome and elsewhere, a particularly hard blow for tourists pouring into Rome for the summer season.

The strike, called over money and working hours, meant patrons of even such well known hotels as the Grand, Excelsior and Hilton, where U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers was staying, would go without room service or bellboys for the next 48 hours.

The strike also involved telephone operators, doormen and desk clerks.

Rome (UPI)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers, fresh from a meeting with Pope Paul VI, appealed Saturday for the transfer of American prisoners of war from North Vietnam to conference marking the end of humanity.

Rogers also told a news conference marking the end of his Middle East peace seeking mission he believes the prospects for a Mideast Peace have been improved.

Rogers opened the conference with a statement concerning the 1,700 U.S. military men who are reported missing or captured in Indochina.

act of humanity. We hope that North Vietnam will accept the proposal," Rogers said.

"The proposal is not conditional. The only obstacle now remains is Hanoi's failure to agree," he said. "It is heartless that North Vietnam has treated the U.S. prisoners of war as hostages."

Rogers warned it would be unwise to draw the conclusion that an agreement on reopening the Suez Canal was imminent, but he said he was encouraged, particularly by willingness he detected in Cairo and Jerusalem "to talk about specifics in a practical way."

Rogers also emphasized that the United States did not intend to act as a mediator in achieving an over-all Middle East peace settlement and said this broad goal should be accomplished under the auspices of U.N. special envoy Gunnar V. Jarring.

What the United States had accomplished by his trip, Rogers said, was "keeping the momentum going" for reaching a peace agreement.

"We believe such internment should be agreed upon as an

Rocket Trouble Halts Mariner 8 Bound For Mars

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI)—A Centaur rocket carrying a satellite bound for Mars tumbled out of control shortly after launch Saturday night and failed to propel its multi-million dollar spacecraft toward the Red Planet.

"We have lost the mission, no question about that," reported a space agency spokesman at the launch control center 20 minutes after the launching.

An identical Atlas-Centaur rocket and a twin Mariner spacecraft stood by on an adjacent launch pad, ready for launch May 18.

The precise nature of the rocket problem, and its cause, were not immediately determined. The fate of the 2,200-pound spacecraft also was not known.

Truman Observes His 87th Birthday

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (UPI)—Former President Harry S. Truman had a surprise visit on his 87th birthday Saturday from Minnesota Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who called Truman his "hero" and "one of the great men of all time."

Truman had planned to celebrate the day quietly at home when he walked a beaming Humphrey.

Mrs. Truman, a few close friends and newsmen knew Humphrey was coming. But nobody told Truman, the nation's 33rd president.

"I think the world of this man," Humphrey said after a 25-minute visit. "He's in my book one of the great men of all time."

"He's my hero and I like to see my heroes when they're up and going. We chatted about some memories, some things of the past and some things of tomorrow. The only politics we talked about was the good and well being of the country."

Humphrey brought with him a neatly wrapped birthday present. He said it was a book he had published in 1963.

"It's my propaganda book," Humphrey said. "The president said he would read it with great interest."

Humphrey said he found Truman in good spirits.

"He looked wonderful. He was sharp, pleasant, happy and joking," Humphrey said. Truman had his bodyguard, Lt. Mike Westwood, purchase the first 50 Missouri stamps when the Independence post office opened Saturday morning.

A new portrait of Truman by Missouri artist Thomas Hart Benton was unveiled in the Truman Library Saturday. Truman posed for the portrait over the past few months.

BONANZA! — Ralph Riggs, 902 E. Francis, was pleasantly surprised yesterday morning when the task of remodeling a portion of his home turned into a coin-collector's dream. Hidden between the walls was a cache of coins, which came to light when the handyman removed a window frame. Riggs has owned the home for eight years, not knowing that six silver dollars, nine Indian head pennies, one half-dime and a Canadian dime were hidden in the wall. No estimate of the value of the coins had been made yesterday, but maybe . . . it'll pay for the remodeling. (Staff Photo)

Pampan Heads Student Body At WSTU

Gary Blanscet, a junior student of West Texas State University, has been named President of the Student Association of the school as a result of a ruling by the West Texas State University Student Supreme Court ruling after a trial contesting the student leader election which named John Stark president.

The trial was the result of a protest of the certification of John Nathan Stark, Canyon, and Tom Rose, Amarillo as candidates and then officers of the student body.

David Davis, Muleshoe, defeated in the race for president by Stark brought the suit, stating that Stark and Rose were not eligible for the race because of lower grade averages than the qualifying 1.5, and failure of meeting resident student qualifications.

Blanscet was president pro-tem of the newly organized Student Senate before the court declared him Student Association president for the 1971-72 term.

The new Student Senate proxy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Blanscet, 2106 N. Zimmers, and is a 1968 high school graduate of Liberal, Kans.

Health Insurance Will Be Made Law Before Elections

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sen. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., D-Tex., predicted Saturday some form of national health insurance will be made law before the 1972 presidential elections.

The lawmaker told delegates to the 104th annual convention of the Texas Medical Association he feels the climate in Congress is right for enactment of a government health plan.

"I make this observation because I can sense a gathering momentum from all quarters toward the enactment of some kind of health insurance bill during this term of Congress," Bentsen said.

He said several groups are lobbying for various plans, but emphasized that differences do not involve whether to have a program but which method to sue to implement one.

Tricia's Will Be 16th White House Nuptials

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (UPI)—Backstairs at the White House: Like most of their generation Tricia Nixon and Edward Finch Cox want to add some special, personal touches to their own wedding ceremony.

When they say their vows at 4 p.m. June 12 in the White House Rose Garden—weather permitting—the special something they have chosen will have been made a part of the religious ceremony.

The president's 26-year-old daughter had a chat with Dr. Edward G. Latch, chaplain of the House of Representatives, in a preliminary way about the forthcoming nuptials.

But the Methodist minister still is awaiting word from Tricia and her fiancée on just what they would like included in the service. In fact Dr. Latch is becoming a bit anxious to prepare his role. He hopes to talk to the couple and to give them some advice on marriage before the wedding day.

The wedding of Tricia and Young Cox, a Harvard law student and a former member of Ralph Nader's Raiders, will be the 16th in a history of White House nuptials that goes back to 1812.

According to the National Geographic Society, on March 29 that year, when the White House was just 12 years old, Dolley Madison's sister, Lucy Paine Washington, became the first White House bride.

Widow of the first President's nephew, George Steptoe Washington, she married Judge Thomas Dodd, an associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court.

On March 9, 1820, Maria Hester Monroe became the first daughter of a President to be married in the White House.

President James Monroe spent $100 on candles, but not much else in the way of a show when Maria married Samuel Gouverneur, her cousin and secretary to her father. The publicity shy White House clamped down on the news and Washington's social circles had to be content with written accounts—two days later.

The only son of a President to be married in the White House was John Adams, son of John Quincy Adams, who wed his cousin Mary Catherine Hellen, on Feb. 25, 1823.

President Andrew Jackson spent $10,000 refurbishing the White House including 20 de luxe spittoons at $12.50 each, for the wedding of his niece, Mary Easton, to Lucius J. Polk of Tennessee, on April 10, 1832.

When Alice Roosevelt Longworth was married on Feb. 17, 1906, she received more than 700 wedding presents. After her marriage to Congressman Nicholas Longworth of Ohio, who was speaker of the House, the newlyweds climbed out of a White House window and slipped off on their honeymoon.

U.S. Removes All Restrictions On Dollar Deal With Red China

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The United States removed all restrictions on dollar transactions with Red China today as a first step to opening up trade between the two nations.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally issued a license allowing U.S. businessmen and banks to transact business with the Communist government and its citizens using dollars or dollar instruments. Previously there had been a complete prohibition against such transactions.

"This is the Treasury's first step in implementing President Nixon's decision on April 14 to relax financial and commercial controls with respect to mainland China," a Treasury statement said.

"Treasury is now consulting with the Departments of State and Commerce and other interested agencies on relaxing controls on imports of goods from China."

Treasury officials emphasized that Connally's order was limited to dollar transactions, and in itself did not remove prohibitions against exporting or importing goods to or from Communist China.

PEOPLE-TO-PEOPLE PROGRAM

Area To Provide Brief Homestay For Foreigners To Study In U.S.

Pampa has received applications to provide temporary homestay for part of 2,500 foreign experimenters who will arrive in this country this summer, said Mrs. Wm. J. Chambliss, area co-ordinator for this program.

Mrs. Chambliss said that a similar number of Americans will go to Europe, Latin America, the Middle East, Australia, Asia, and Africa on experiment homestay and study program.

The experiment, according to Mrs. Chambliss, arranges foreign students enrolled in American colleges and universities in individual homes for one month. The purpose is to help the students adjust to American life before they report to their campuses, she said.

Mrs. Chambliss said that most homestays start in late July or mid-August. There is no financial obligation to the host families other than the hospitality they offer, she said. The student is covered by health and accident insurance and is expected to have his own spending money, she added.

Unless he has a Fulbright or other travel grant, the student pays for his own transportation to the homestay and college.

For the students, the experience offers familiarity with American social customs and manners, faster acquisition of practical, idiomatic English, practical, idiomatic English, observation of American community living and understanding the way Americans think.

Insight and understanding plus the great gift of friendship have enriched the lives of many Pampa families and area residents who have hosted students from such countries as Japan, Brazil, France, Mexico, Taiwan, Nigeria, Panama Canal Zone, Colombia, Bolivia and India.

Host families have said they thought the experiment is a way to promote better understanding between countries by cementing the mutual bonds of friendship in our present day world of conflicting ideologies.

The Experiment in International Living has been engaged in international educational exchange since its founder, Dr. Donald B. Watt, first introduced a group of American youths to their French and German speaking counterparts in Switzerland in 1922.

It is now a world-wide organization with representatives in more than 50 countries, annually conducting the exchange of some 5,000 young men and women between the United States and some 100 nations.

Anyone interested in learning more about The Experiment in International Living Program may be addressed to 1908 Fir Street, Pampa, Texas.

Top O' Texas Racing Pigeon Club Will Sponsor Young Bird Auction

The Top of Texas Pigeon Club will sponsor a young bird auction during the monthly meeting at the home of Charles Miller, 637 N. Banks, at 7 p.m. May 11.

Each member has banded two young birds with bands from the St. Vincent Memorial Association. The association gives a scholarship annually to a girl to further her education in nurses' training.

Half of the proceeds from the sale will be sent to St. Vincent Fund and the remainder will be given to the Heart Fund here in Pampa. The public is invited to attend the meeting at Miller's home.

The club has flown four races in the Old Bird race schedule. The first race was from Frederick, Okla., a distance of 150 miles. The first pigeon checked was from the loft of A.J. Tipton of Borger. His pigeon flew the distance, averaging 45 mph. A total of 73 pigeons were sent to the race. In another race, A.P. Coombes pigeon won the race from Waurika, Okla., a distance of 200 miles at an average of 42 mph.

In the third race from Dallas, a distance of 300 miles Larry McPhillips and his father, Raymond McPhillips, of Pampa broke one out of the pack to take first place. It took the birds six hours and 10 minutes to negotiate the 300 miles.

The fourth race was from Houston, a distance of 523 miles. After being on the wing all day Saturday, the birds stopped near home, because Vernon Brantwein clocked the winner at 6:56 a.m. Sunday.

The club has increased its membership this year and named Mickey Lee and Mickey Sims as new members in the sport of racing pigeons. Youth and adults are eligible to join and participate in the club.

BAN ON BIKES
COLCHESTER, England (UPI) —Hospital officials have told employes at the Severalls Psychiatric Hospital not to ride their bicycles in the hallways — it is a hazard for patients.

Hospital Secretary John Watson said the cycling is usually done by employes who are running late in making their rounds.

"There are right-angle corners in the corridors and if a patient were suddenly to appear in a wheelchair, a nasty collision could occur," he said.

Your Horoscope

SUNDAY, MAY 9
YOUR BIRTHDAY TODAY: Long awaited changes develop, with better results than anticipated. This is a generally fortunate year with additional permanent resources indicated. Today's activities manage to engender additional talents in their maturity and usually rise far above their original economic level.

ARIES (March 21-April 20): Make full use of this Sunday for attending to CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20) - where other people, relatives are involved.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): If you take things as they are, with neither optimistic boldness nor undue pessimism, essentials can be worked out. It is enough to achieve small turns - in time the change of direction will make all the difference.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Home and neighborhood are worth standing by. Distraction, competition are probable - take it in stride.
CANCER (June 21-July 21): Open the day with a clear request for whatever you think you want, with reasons all ready in case anybody wants to know them.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Giving others the right to be different takes both courage and compassion, and always deserves the effort.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): There is much to share, both materially and spiritually. Community planning is subject to review and revision. Put in your opinion when you can be heard.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Unrest rises. Inner psychic changes break forth into tangible forms. Some people will require a complete escape from modes of daily living; others can do nothing but cling to old routines.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Neighborhood activities fill a productive Sunday. Do your share. Wind up the day with social or romantic pursuits is indicated as healthy and normal.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Whatever provocation you offer is probably intended to bring about serious involvements than you intend. Prepare for a fight or a frolic.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): In the rush of the last few days you may have missed fresh information - use the chance today to bring yourself up to date.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): What you do and what you say in the future, so a forthright declaration of constructive intent is quite in order. Prospects in general are favorable.
PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Important affairs of others may be kept your own finances completely separate and untouched in this Sunday's tendency to be a red sweeping promises and assessments.

MONDAY, MAY 10
YOUR BIRTHDAY MONDAY: This is a year of definition-direct wages of a year's worth of nation's limitations. Obstacles are numerous but serve to provoke effective personal drive. Reactions to your environment are more important than the details of the situation. Monday's natives show high talents for dancing or recreation involving dexterity and rhythm. Occasionally they learn social or political lessons.

ARIES (March 21-April 20): Pause before you speak and avoid finding fault. The "what-ifs" today are a warning to be alert. Develop a happy, philosophic approach.
TAURUS (April 20-May 20): No matter what the news you receive it is sharp, dramatic impression. Reflect before you react. Monday's natives are considered than appears on the surface.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Monday's challenge is to find way to go along with change rather than use up energy trying to block it. Adequately defined personal goals create circumstances which bring welcome support.
CANCER (June 21-July 21): Being other people into your plans, seek help from long-established resources, group funds, family resources if you see a clear need or effective way to use them. Persistence serves you well.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Put drastic financial actions off to a later date. New information or intuition arrive late and not a different light on your whole situation.
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Resist the temptation to plunge into new activities before you finish what you've started. Final details have a tendency to be not so final, and some even come undone overnight.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): For once, you are tempted to move without getting general agreement on what you are about to do - and we're very smooth. Give people overnight to digest the idea and try again Tuesday.
SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): What looks like a protective move at the moment becomes a restriction later, so be extra persuasive to persuade people to change your way is not a complete solution either.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Letting well enough alone is a rare and delicate aptitude. Your nation's impatience you'll see the whole pattern later.
CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 20): Selection is your key to achievement. Useful information is to be sorted out and put to immediate use; discount false and suspect factoids.
AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Expect to find your theories challenged and to learn something from the comments. Whatever happens, keep your sense of humor on the surface.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): If you have all the preparations and materials at hand, "waiting" for a "planned" move perhaps abandoned suddenly, comes within reach. Take full advantage of the opportunity.

Governor Smith Proclaims Soil Stewardship Week

The protection of our environment is the concern of every citizen of this State.

The citizens of this State recognize that the earth is the Lord's and we are His servants charged with caring for it to the best of our abilities.

Without adequate soil and water conservation our environment would be imperiled and the foundation of our economy endangered.

Soil and Water Conservation Districts have been dedicated to the improvement of our environment for over thirty years and are now sponsoring Soil Stewardship Week.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby designate the week of May 16-23, 1971 as: SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK in Texas.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 17th day of February, 1971.

Occupational Safety, Health Act Study Topic

Representatives of Panhandle business concerns are invited to register for the Safer 70's Seminar May 12 and 13 at the Holiday Inn West in Amarillo. The two day safety seminar is sponsored by the Panhandle Chapter of the American Society of Safety Engineers and the Seminar is open to the public.

The Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 is a topic of special interest. This new law went into effect on April 28, 1971 and will apply to almost any business with five or more employees. The law is not well-known but promises to have a tremendous impact on any business that falls within its wide coverage. All businesses face a long list of regulations that have teeth and will directly affect their operation. This is the opportunity to become aware of the law and avoid its enforcement base. A representative from the Department of Labor will discuss and answer questions on the new law.

Also on the agenda for the two-day seminar are discussions on loss of control, accident prevention, economics and safety, motivation and communication, traffic, narcotics in industry, construction safety, hospital safety and accident investigation prior to pre-hearing and trial, a spokesman said.

Leaders of the groups include Max Comer, safety supervisor for Southwestern Public Service Company of Amarillo; Hutchinson County Sheriff Hugh Anderson of Borger; Norman Lamontague, safety consultant for Johnson & Higgins Insurance Company of Boston, Massachusetts; H. P. Donohue, vice president, and Dick Andrews, safety engineer, both of Cabot Corporation in Pampa.

Others are Joe E. Milner, chief of traffic and law enforcement, Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin; Leon Feazell, safety investigator for the U. S. Department of Transportation Bureau of motor carrier safety of Lubbock; Tommy Chadwick, manager of the safety department of Brown & Root Construction Company of Houston, Miss Dorothy Blumer, assistant administrator at St. Anthony's Hospital of Amarillo; and Tom Morris, trial attorney from Amarillo.

Displays promoting the latest safety equipment are planned by many distributors during the seminar.

Registration for the entire conference is $23 with partial registrations available on request or at the door. Advance registrations for the full conference are available from Randy Giesler, Box 1101, Pampa, Texas 79065.

"We have 'Put It All Together,'" says Comer.

"Anyone interested in preventing injury and the resulting economics of safe employees can find answers and inspiration at the Safer 70's Seminar on May 12 or 13 at the Holiday Inn—West in Amarillo."

DOUBLE DUTY CLEANER

SHEFFIELD, England (UPI)—When housewife Betty Hoyland heard voices coming from her vacuum cleaner for the second day running she decided enough was enough, and she complained to the manufacturer.

The company's representatives hurried to inspect the device and explained that the machine had been acting like a radio receiver because of freak conditions and was picking up strong radio signals.

Ordinance Group To Hear Atomic Energy Official

An official from the Washington, D.C. headquarters of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission will be the speaker Wednesday evening, May 19, at a meeting of the American Ordinance Association in the Tascosa Country Club in Amarillo. The meeting will begin with a social hour at 7 p.m., followed by dinner at 8 p.m. All AOA members, their guests, and the general public are invited.

John S. Kelly, director of the AEC's Division of Peaceful Nuclear Explosives, will speak on "Nuclear Explosives and Natural Resources." Kelly is the first and only director of this nation's Plowshare program under the Atomic Energy Commission.

Associated with the Atomic Energy Commission for 15 years, Kelly started as a staff member in the Research and Development Branch of the Division of Military Applications. In that capacity, he took charge of the newly emerging Plowshare program, attaining his present position in 1961. Since that time, Mr. Kelly has shaped the direction and progress of the AEC's efforts to develop peaceful uses for the explosive power of the atom. He directed the "Gasbuggy" test at Farmington, N.M., in 1967, and the "Rullison" test at Rifle, Colo., in 1969. These two tests involved underground explosions using nuclear explosives to stimulate marginal gas field production.

Kelly's presentation should be of particular interest to everyone engaged in the oil and gas industry. Reservations to attend the dinner meeting may be made by contacting June Hall of the Cabot Corp. Pampa office at 665-9781, Ext. 205.

ELECTRICITY — IT DOES SO MUCH GOOD FOR SO MANY PEOPLE!

UIL's Iron Ribs Crack After Amateur Rulings

AUSTIN (UPI)—The University Interscholastic League overturned a 50-year-old rule allowing high school students to participate for money in athletic events not sponsored by the league while keeping their amateur standing.

The easing of the half century-old rule will permit boys to compete in professional rodeo, bowling, wrestling and similar events for pay or other cash award. But football, basketball, baseball, golf, softball, swimming and diving, tennis, track and volleyball still remains under the UIL domain.

Under old UIL rules, no boy or girl could, within a 12-month period, compete in any UIL-sponsored sport if they competed for money or prizes in such unrelated activities as rodeos or bowling, or for that matter if they umpired for pay in summer league baseball.

The league also voted today to delete the word "officiating" from the amateur rule which prohibits a boy from "officiating, teaching or playing for consideration."

The first major break in rock-ribbed armor of the UIL came at a morning breakfast during the state track and field meet.

The UIL's football rules were amended to allow fall practice starting dates in all classes except AAAA to begin no earlier than the third Monday prior to the first Thursday in September.

In Class AAAA fall practice may begin one week earlier. The new rules stipulate that the first four days of practice must be conducted without contact equipment. No interschool games may be played until the first Thursday in September.

The 27-member executive committee of the Texas High School Coaches Association voted overwhelmingly against it, saying it gave them too little time—just a little more than a week in some cases—to prepare for their first fall game.

The new scheduling will go into effect Sept. 1, 1972. In other action the UIL:

—Voted to permit students enrolled in special education courses to take part in athletic events—under certain safeguard conditions, the passing of three one-half credit courses or the equivalent in the preceding semester. These students, usually gifted academically or those needing specific study, are not now eligible.

—Rejected a proposal to permit the use of electric typewriters in the UIL typewriting contests.

Sid Abel Vows To Bring Stanley Cup To St. Louis Hockey Team

ST. LOUIS (UPI)—Sid Abel became coach of the St. Louis Blues Friday and vowed that he would be "the first coach to bring the Stanley Cup to St. Louis."

Abel steps into the Blues' job after quitting a 30-year association with the Detroit Red Wings. He left the Wings in January after a running disagreement with coach Ned Harkness. Abel had since been retained by the Los Angeles Kings for unspecified duties in the front office but he said, "I really didn't do anything."

Abel's appointment as coach came exactly one week after Scotty Bowman resigned as coach and general manager of the Blues. Bowman had been with the club since 1966, more than 15 months before it put a team on the ice.

Abel said, "I don't think there will be that much difference between me and Bowman in coaching. When the Blues lose the puck, they're already skating on defense, and I like that style of play." Abel's appointment was announced at an elaborate news conference held on the concrete skating surface of the St. Louis arena. While newsmen asked questions of eight Blues' officials seated at two tables, several hundred members of the Arena Club, an organization of season ticket-holders, and their wives, watched the proceedings from the arena's seats.

Abel's appointment was the main one of a series of appointments and reassignments announced by Sidney Salomon Jr., president of the Blues. Lynn Patrick, who has

Coody Slips Over Par Going To Final Round

By ED FITE UPI Sports Writer DALLAS (UPI)—Masters Champion Charles Coody slipped to a one-over-par 36 going out Saturday and found his two-stroke cushion over the Byron Nelson Golf Classic field cut in half as he posted a four-under-par 171 for 45 holes.

That left him one shot in front of garrulous Lee Trevino, who toured the front nine of the 7,031-yard, par 35-70 Preston Trail Golf Club course in 34 and was at three-under-par 172 with nine holes to play in the third round.

Tricky pin placements were taking their toll of cost of the other five challengers who started the hot day just two shots back of Coody's 135. Homero Blancas, who was four shots back at 139 starting the day, made the third round turn in 34 and was two shots back at 173.

Jerry McGee, who had led the first day with a 66 and was tied with four others at 137 after the 36-hole mark, went out in 37 and was in a five-way tie at one-under-par 174 at that point. The others were Bob Stone, Howie Johnson, Chi Rodriguez, Arnold Palmer and Gibby Gilbert.

Gilbert, who fired a 67 Saturday despite a double bogey on the par-3 11th when his drive hit a tree and he chipped his recovery shot, was the low man in the clubhouse with a three-round total of one-under-par 209. Gilbert had six birdies, ranging from a tap in when an eagle putt lipped the cup on the 590-yard third hole, to 20 feet.

SHAVING STROKES

by Frank Beard

By FRANK BEARD 5-Picking a Ball Ninety-nine per cent of all golfers should play with an 80-compression ball. Sure, I know that a lot of touring pros use a 100-compression ball—but that doesn't make it best for you. And you may not know that fellows like Lee Trevino use a women's ball in cold weather. The ball is harder in the cold.

You might not hit the low-compression ball quite as far as a high-compression ball, but you'll get a better feel. And that can be more important to low-compression ball will give you that nice, sweet click when you make good contact. A high-compression ball won't. That may sound like a small thing, and it is, but it can make a great deal of difference in your attitude.

Take the time to prove to yourself which ball is best for your game. On an 80-degree day take your driver and hit several 80-compression balls, several 90-compression balls and several 100-compression balls. See which of your good spots feels the best. Another thing—a harder ball, the ball of higher compression, tends to cut more readily if not struck cleanly. Also it is true that in hotter weather you should be able to use a higher-compression ball. It will belivever and your swing will be smoother.

But using an 80-compression ball all the time can't be a bad idea for the average player. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.) (Next: Watching the Ball.)

Washington Senators Trade Two To Athletics For Three Better

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Washington Senators trading first baseman Mike Epstein and reliever Darold Knowles to the Oakland Athletics for first baseman Don Mincher, catcher Frank Fernandez and reliever Paul Lindblad.

Epstein, a minor league home run terror who couldn't break into Baltimore's lineup, was traded to Washington in 1968 after much ballyhoo. He hit 50 home runs in the last two seasons for the Senators but was unhappy at being platooned by Manager Ted Williams. He was batting .250 with one home run this season.

"This makes it easier for us to get Frank Howard on first base," said Williams after the trade. Washington owner Bob Short said he had discussed trading Epstein with Detroit, New York, Kansas City and Milwaukee but was unable to reach agreement.

Knowles, one of the American League's top relievers two seasons ago, slumped badly last season, finishing with a 2-14 mark. He had been 9-2 the previous season.

Pampa Gridders Stronger And Bigger This Year

The Pampa Harvesters braved the elements in the name of football yesterday afternoon as they participated in a controlled scrimmage in Harvester Stadium.

The football team is progressing well with more speed and size in the backfield. In earlier practices head football coach "Suede" Lee said, "We look real good. The team should have a good season coming up if we can develop the bench into a reserve power supply. We should be able to withstand a few-bruised players without getting into any real trouble next season."

NBA-ABA Merger Agreed, Waiting For Court Ruling

NEW YORK (UPI)—The National and American Basketball Associations hope for a short period of engagement and that Congress would ultimately bless their marriage.

A reconciliation between the two leagues was finally effected Friday after merger talks had broken off last November, and plans were immediately formulated to present the case for consolidation before the nation's governing body.

"It may take two years before we can win congressional approval," said NBA Commissioner Walter Kennedy, "but at least we're on the right road."

Kennedy, who will continue as commissioner when a merger is finalized, said the NBA's board of governors and the ABA's board of trustees agreed to later-league exhibition games prior to the 1971-72 season.

"But, there cannot be a common draft of college players until the leagues receive congressional approval for consolidation," Kennedy cautioned.

He envisioned the leagues operating as a single entity beginning with the 1973-74 season, if all went well with the appeal for legislative immunity from anti-trust laws.

Amateur Golfers Enter National Golf Day Play

Amateur golfers in the Pampa area will have a chance to swing for charity from May 17 to June 14 during this year's National Golf Day program.

Co-sponsored nationally for the second year in a row by the PGA and Chevrolet Motor Division, National Golf Day has attracted more than 1.5 million men, women, and children and has raised approximately $2 million in charitable funds.

By donating $1 or more, every Pampa golfer will have an opportunity to participate in the event. Amateurs may register for the program through any local PGA professional, or at any participating Chevrolet dealership.

F.M. Culberson was the first area golfer to sign up with Pampa Country Club Pro Hart Warren. National Golf Day affords all amateur golfers an opportunity to compete against a top pro. Every golfer who enters will receive an attractive plastic bag tag, and those who beat the national "target score" will receive a key holder autographed by their champion.

The target scores are established during National Golf Day's annual challenge round, slated for May 31 at the Old Warson Country Club in St. Louis. In addition to featuring two top men professionals, the match has been expanded this year to include a pair of well-known women pros.

This year's "Round of Champions" will feature PGA king Jack Nicklaus, U.S. Open Champ Tony Jacklin, LPGA titleholder Shirley Englehorn and 1970 Womens Open winner Donna Caponi.

The low men's and women's scores fired that day, in relation to par, will represent the national target scores. Amateurs, using their handicaps or the Calloway Handicap System, will then match their round against the pros during the May 17-June 14 period. Proceeds from National Golf Day are earmarked for major scholarship and education programs and a variety of golf-related charities. Pampa golfers may register at the Pampa Country Club with Pro Hart Warren or at Culberson-Stowers Chevrolet dealership.

Nice to have Katherine Snell out playing golf. Congratulations to Doug White, a Pampa High School player, for his fine round of 68 Friday. The back nine is still smokin' from his 31. (five under par.)

There will be a pro-am tournament in Canyon Monday, at Hunsley Hills. You'll go! Due to conflicting dates UniRoyal has decided to set the UniRoyal Tournament back one week. JACK HAM SIGNED PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Linebacker Jack Ham, the Pittsburgh Steelers' second draft choice, was signed Friday for the 1971 National Football League season.

Ham starred at Penn State, where he played in only three losing games during his varsity career.

Joseph J. McGinnity, who played for Baltimore in the American League, holds the record for most double-headers pitched in one season in the major leagues. In 1901, he pitched five.

BIGGS FREE NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Jets' defensive end Verlon Biggs, who played the 1970 National Football League season without a contract, Tuesday came to terms with the Club after becoming a free agent May 1.

For the people who are dying to know who pitched the most games in a given season: Wayne Granger, with 90 games pitched in 1969, has the National League record.

Cazzie Russell Traded For Jerry Lucas By N. Y. Knicks

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The San Francisco Warriors today trade veteran forward Jerry Lucas to the New York Knickerbockers for Cazzie Russell, said Holzman. "But in order to get a player of Lucas' stature, you have to be ready to give up someone of equal ability."

"Cazzie is one of the finest shooters in the league and was instrumental in our club winning the championship last year and in our rise to a contender."

Attles figures the acquisition of Russell and Jim Barnett from the Portland Trail Blazer on April 1 will give the Warriors more speed.

Lucas has been one of the premier rebounders in the NBA, topping the 10,000 mark in career rebounds last season. He came to the Warriors for Jim King and Billy Turner after six seasons with Cincinnati when newly appointed Royals Coach Bob Cousy said Lucas wouldn't fit into the team's fast-break offense.

Lucas was the Royals' No. 1 draft choice while he was still in high school at Middletown, Ohio.

forward and to spell center Willis Reed. "We hated to give up anyone with the ability of Cazzie Russell," said Holzman. "But in order to get a player of Lucas' stature, you have to be ready to give up someone of equal ability."

Russell, who will be 27 next month, stands 6-5 1/2 and has averaged 13.3 points a game during five NBA seasons. He was the Knicks' No. 1 draft collegiate career at the University of Michigan.

Cazzie was the sixth man for the Knicks during their championship season of 1969-70. He broke a wrist midway through last season and was used only sparingly after he returned.

This upset the health foods faddist who loves to lift weights. He mentioned it a few times to Knicks Coach Red Holzman without avail.

Both Holzman and Warriors Coach Al Attles were pleased by the trade. Holzman said he would use Lucas, former All-American from Ohio State, at

On Tuesday, May 11, all wheat producers should vote on the Wheat Referendum. The issue you will be voting on states, "The proposition of wheat producers within a 34-county area of Texas to assess themselves not to exceed five mills per bushel to be collected at the point of first processing or sale to finance programs of research, disease and insect control, education and promotion." The place to vote is the meeting room at the Court House Annex, east of Pampa. Paul Appleton, formerly with the Soil Conservation Service, will be in charge of the election.

WTSU Sets Deadline For Fall Semester

CANYON, Tex. — A new admission requirement, effective with the 1971 fall semester, has been added at West Texas State University. Dr. Donald Cates, dean of admissions and registrar, said:

A deadline for submitting applications for admission and other documents necessary to admission is set by the new requirement.

Deadlines of Aug. 1 for the fall semester and Dec. 15 for the spring semester are stated in the requirement, which is printed in the 1971-72 university catalog.

Summer school deadlines were May 1 for the first term and June 20 for the second session.

Formerly, students were allowed to register without submitting any of the necessary documents.

"A student admitted in this manner is disadvantaged in several ways," Cates said.

"We are simply not able to render the services necessary to help a freshman begin his college career without proper records and a little time to process this information prior to the student's arrival on campus."

when the Canadian PCA was way down the list as far as volume loaned. At the present time they have close to thirty million dollars on loan. I can remember when their average loan balance was in the three million category. We think much of this credit for the big jump in loan volume can be credited to directors and administrative personnel that has a great deal of vision. They believe no loan is too large for them if it is a sound loan. They realize that loan volume is the only thing that can hold interest rate down and we will give you an example. Larry Albin, president of the Canadian PCA, gave the financial and operational report for the preceding year's business. His report revealed that the association operated at a cost of twenty-eight cents per one hundred dollars loaned. This was compared with thirty-three cents per one hundred dollars loaned in 1969 and fifty cents per one hundred dollars loaned in 1968. The twenty-eight cents per one hundred dollars loaned was the third lowest among the thirty-four Texas associations. This is what volume can do to hold down interest rates in times of high interest. The Board of Directors, in their April board meeting, voted to reduce the interest charged all borrowers to six and one-half per cent, effective May 1 of 1971.

PCA MEETING

Some very interesting figures were revealed at the annual stockholders meeting of the Canadian Production Credit Association held in Canadian on April 24.

Director Lawrence Elzey gave a very interesting report from the Board of Directors. His report revealed that the Canadian PCA is the second largest association in the state of Texas in amount of money loaned — seventy-one million, nine hundred and forty-two thousand dollars in the calendar year 1970. Considering the fact that there are thirty-four associations in Texas, this is no mean accomplishment. I can remember a few years ago

SORGHUM CLASSIFICATION

According to Ben Spears, Extension agronomist at College Station, there is a major change for the 1971 Feed Grain Program affecting classification of sorghum hybrids and varieties and their use on set-aside acreage. Generally speaking, anything that qualified for conserving acres in 1969 would qualify for 1971. In my opinion this would be very beneficial to area producers. For more information contact your local ASCS office. I have provided them with a copy of the Sorghum Classifications for 1971 Feed Grain Program.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Beginning this fall, there will be major, prime time sports attractions on the television networks for at least half of the Monday nights of the ensuing year.

It all starts with ABC-TV's second season of Monday night pro football games. There will be 13 of these telecasts.

After ABC-TV winds up the prime time pro football contests, it will then offer three more Monday night sports. The Liberty Bowl football game on Dec. 20, the North-South college gridiron contest Dec. 27 and the New York Knicks-Milwaukee Bucks pro basketball match of Jan. 3. All will begin at 9 p.m. EDT.

At this point, ABC-TV plans entertainment programming for the Monday nights that follow these sports broadcasts.

The network had been talking of weekly Monday night pro basketball games. But several factors apparently have been giving it second thoughts. One is that the Monday movies that succeeded the football games this past season did better than expected. Another in that the ratings for the recent pro basketball playoffs were only mediocre.

ABC-TV, however, is very flexible when it comes to sports scheduling, so we will see what we will see. The network's president, James Duffy, has been quite interested in the notion of Monday night, year-round sports programming.

At any rate, in addition to these 16 ABC-TV sports attractions for Mondays (plus the network's Olympics coverage next year), the competing NBC-TV organization says it will present 10 Monday night major league baseball games in 1972. In announcing a new four-year contract to televise baseball's weekly competition, NBC-TV said Thursday it will also offer nighttime broadcasts of the midweek World Series games (for the first time) and the All-Star contest.

NBC-TV's sports chief, Carl Lindemann says the telecasts of the "midweek World Series" competition at night will finally enable fans to stop scrambling between their jobs and video sets during the workday to see the contests.

Lindemann also said in an interview that NBC-TV expects to increase its number of yearly nighttime baseball telecasts in the season following 1972.

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Joanna Cameron is a sensuous little brunette in her early twenties who has hyped her way into her first movie leading role through huckstering television commercials.

Video-cuties selling cosmetics, soft drinks, detergents and airlines tickets have a notoriously poor track record in films and TV entertainment shows.

The most outstanding success of Mary Tyler Moore, who once performed as a dancing pixie for a Madison Avenue pitch.

Others have been Jo Ann Pflug, Sandy Duncan, Pamela Austin, Barbara Feldon and Andrea Dromm.

It's a back door to the big time, but Joanna is confident commercials are the best possible avenue to stardom.

"I made a small fortune in commercials last year," she said. "Right now I have more than two dozen on the air. I play an All American Girl type for soft drinks, smile products, cosmetics and airlines.

"The secret is not to do too many commercials—and to select the right ones, the kind that allow you to be yourself."

"A smart girl looks for commercials that are well produced and stand a chance of having a long run."

Canny Miss Cameron, a well-endowed beauty brimming with confidence, can be seen as one of the co-stars of "I Love You." Her next assignment is "Star Spangled Girl."

"A girl can earn $200 a day when commercial is filming," Joana said, "and when it runs in prime time she gets $75 to $100 every time the commercial is beamed.

"What a girl has to be careful of is becoming too closely identified with a particular product. That hurts."

"But as I see it commercials lead nowhere in show business. You have to leave them behind or you're stuck. They are good exposure because it is almost impossible for a young girl to go to New York or Hollywood and try to start an acting career. There are just too many of us."

Joanna's big break came when Steve Searn wrote and directed "B.S., I Love You."

He was the man who directed her first commercial.

Business Today

UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI)—Jane thought the $68 mattress was lovely and comfortable, but the salesman insisted a more widely advertised one at $80 was better. He finally convinced Jane and Bob.

What they didn't know was that the salesman collected a ten-dollar "spiff" from the manufacturers for switching them to the more expensive mattress.

Spiffs, or pus hmoney, are an old but little discussed story in American business. The Federal Trade Commission and trade associations and trade periodicals have been wrestling with it for at least 50 years.

In December of 1970, Consumers Union of Mount Vernon, N.Y., petitioned the FTC to outlaw spiffs on the grounds that they are inherently deceptive and harmful to the public interest. The FTC tried to ban spiffs in 1921, but the courts of that era refused to uphold the ban.

Consumers Union says its renewed petition to ban spiffing was stirred by articles in various trade periodicals in the last year or so complaining about spiffing in various industries.

Consumers Union says it found that even the prestigious Eastman Kodak Co. has engaged in spiffing to sell its thymeras—"and if Eastman did, you can bet some of its competitors did too."

A top Eastern chain of and discount stores introduced green spiffing new, a retail spiff to sell its house-men's suits.

Nearly all spiffing is done by manufacturers and, at present, is most prevalent in high-fidelity phonographs and similar big ticket appliances. The magazine High Fidelity Trade News studied spiffing two years ago, and Editor J. Bryan Stanton says things haven't changed much since. This article said the makers of the Japanese Sony and Panasonic and the British Wharfedale line of audio products, among others, were paying salesmen spiffs of $10 to $75.

High Fidelity Trade News talked to many retailers about spiffing and got many reactions. "We love it!" said most salesmen, noting that spiffs added substantially to their take home pay.

Their bosses reacted differently—"Spiffing is a Pandora's box of troubles," one firm said. "It's of no real value as a selling tool," said another. "It's like those games the gas stations used to run, only it's secret and dishonest," said one firm. Others said simply—"it should be done away with." A few dealers said they thought spiffing provided sales incentive.

So far, most trade periodicals and groups have stopped short of endorsing Consumers Union's appeal to the FTC to outlaw spiffing.

GRIM WEDDING NIGHT
WATFORD, England (UPI)—Mrs. Ellen Trotter, 25, got married Thursday and then spent her wedding night in a hospital.

It happened this way because two weeks ago she asked for a hospital appointment to have an operation on her wisdom teeth. Hospital officials gave her May 6, the only available date for some time.

Last weekend, she and her fiance Jim, 30, decided to get married at once. But the registrar told them on Monday that they would have to wait three days—until Thursday.

"So Thursday the sixth it had to be for our wedding and the visit to the hospital dentist," Mrs. Trotter said.

Germ Warfare Weapons In Arkansas To Be Destroyed

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The destruction will begin Monday of American supplies of germ warfare weapons at an arsenal in Arkansas, the Defense Department announced today.

The action is in accordance with an order issued by President Nixon Nov. 25, 1969, for total destruction of all U.S. offensive germ weapons.

When all biological and toxin agents have been destroyed, at Pine Bluff Arsenal in Arkansas, the facility will be turned over to the Food and Drug Administration for use as the national center for toxicological research, the Pentagon said.

All germ weapons for use against people are at Pine Bluff. Anticrop weapons are stored at Fort Detrick, Md., near Baltimore; at Rocky Mountain Arsenal, Denver, Colo., and at Beale Air Force Base, Marysville, Calif.

Last December the Army described the sophisticated methods and elaborate safety precautions it planned to use in destroying germ weapons.

Pressure inside buildings housing the agents will be kept deliberately lower than the outside pressure so that if there is any leakage it will be inside the buildings.

Flames with temperatures as high as 1,000 degrees, and sterilizing steam at 280 degrees will be used in destroying the weapons.

The waste material that remains will then be sterilized and re-sterilized, the Army said. It will be taken from the building and further treated in what is called a closed cycle waste facility, then discharged into a sealed evaporation bed to dry.

The dried residue will be collected and subsequently plowed into the ground in the area of the arsenal and seeded with grass.

The cost was estimated at $12 million to destroy all the germ weapons at the four posts. They have been made since 1943 at a cost of $726 million.

The policeman said the officers, who had not identified themselves to the proprietor, were on official business.

Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority Designates International Week

The first week of May has been designated by Epsilon Sigma Alpha International as ESA Week.

Kappa Alpha Chapter is having a Founders Day May 6 at the Flame Room with Mrs. Bob Yost giving the History of ESA, and the members' renewal of Pledge Vows.

Purposes are to search out and develop the best capacities of each member; to discover and use the opportunities for worth while recreation and entertainment; to develop ability to expression; to recognize leadership and to stimulate and encourage character building.

Invocation will be given by Mrs. Glenn McConnell. Benediction will be given by Mrs. Irvin Hungerford. Guests will be District X President Mrs. Bob Yost and District X Coordinator Mrs. Irvin Hungerford.

Installation of 1971-72 officers will follow with Mrs. Ray Woolridge, president; Mrs. Horace Henley, vice-president; Mrs. Milton Jones, treasurer; Mrs. Tommy Sells, educational director; Mrs. Vera Plunk, secretary; and Mrs. Joe Miller, parliamentarian, being installed.

ESA was started by 10 women who united to form a literary club in 1929 to develop the qualities of graciousness, self-expression and leadership. In October, 1948, the sorority became international with the establishment of a chapter in Voorburg, Holland. Kappa Alpha was chartered in 1950 in Pampa.

Kappa Alpha chapter members have spent 1,500 hours of service for others. They have donated $1,200 to different projects for others and have given $638.69 in donated goods in the past year.

In the past year they have had a party on each holiday for the Satellite School, worked on the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telathon, sponsored the Country Caravan Stage Show with the $276.19 proceeds going to MD.

Five members are captains for schools for the Rubella Innoculation. The theme of the convention "Fun in the Sun" was carried throughout the Region and State Meetings, April 25-28.

Highlights of the Regional Convention included an environmental improvement workshop conducted by Mrs. Howard S. Kittell, Fort Worth, national chairman and Mrs. Robert H. Dooley, Dallas, national-co-chairman of Civic Development.

They presented the new national project of National Council of State Garden Clubs Inc., "People and Their Environment," a series of eight teachers' curriculum guides which, when used in a comprehensive program where each teacher has the appropriate guide, provides both the method and the means to emphasize understanding and appreciation for America's natural, economic, and human resources.

All the material has been tested in actual classroom use by more than 2,000 teachers. It has been reviewed by departments of education in all 50 states, as well as by curriculum committees in India, Central America, Canada and Israel. This significant contribution to conservation is now available to schools and other organizations.

An Arrangement Demonstration, "Come West Young Man," was prepared and presented by Mrs. Charles Griggs of Sweetwater.

Pampa Garden Club was the Awards Banquet at which time Mrs. Prentiss Ellis of Paris, the state awards chairman, presented more than 600 awards to clubs all over the State of Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joel Bryon Hilbun, 1111 E. Frederic. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R.J. Schoenig of Lubbock.

The church was decorated with brass candelabras, holding yellow candles and salal foliage. Vases of yellow gladiolas were placed on columns. A spray of salal foliage was placed in the center with a white family Bible lying open on the communion table. A red rose was placed across the open pages. Yellow bows marked the pews.

BRIDE
Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pure silk de soie. The empire bodice of re-embroidered Alencon lace featured a scalloped neckline and long sheer sleeves with Alencon lace cuffs. A double scissor pleated chapel train with scattered Alencon lace motifs swept from the controlled paneled silhouette.

She wore a veil of tiered bridal illusion which was secured to a lace coronet with pearl flowers and crystal drops.

ATTENDANTS
Bridal attendants were Barbara Lynn Brown of Pampa as maid of honor, with Mrs. Montey Middleton of Amarillo as bride's matron. They wore formal yellow satin gowns with empire waists. Yellow bows or ribbon hung from the waistlines with long streamers. The full sleeves were of yellow organdy with daisy embroidery. Their headpieces were of yellow tulle, topped with yellow bows. They carried cascade bouquets of white marguerita daisies.

Pat Nesbitt of Lubbock was best man with Joe B. Turner of Lubbock as groomsman. Ushers were Michael D. Gray and Richard J. Neeley, both of Lubbock, and Carl L. Langham of Denver, Colo.

Miss Eloise Lane, organist, played traditional wedding selections and accompanied vocalist, Mrs. Robert E. Allen as she sang "One Hand, One Heart," "Whither Thou Goest," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother wore a lime green dress of shantung with iridescent sequins. The bridegroom's mother wore a yellow and white dress of double-knit with gold trim. Both wore corsages of yellow gladiolas.

RECEPTION
For the reception in church parlor, Miss Lane played background music as Mrs. Richard Neeley, the bride's cousin, served cake. Mrs. Joe Turner assisted at the punch service as Mrs. Jerry Blakemore of Pampa registered guests.

Others assisting were Mrs. Joe Wells, Mrs. John Phelps, Mrs. Carl Langham, of Denver, Colo. The serving table was covered with a green cloth under green net and centered with a five-branch candelabra and green candles with an arrangement of spider mums, large mums and pom pom mums.

The bride's serving tablecloth was made by the bride's grandmother and has been used for both of her grandparents' Golden wedding receptions.

The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with white love birds and yellow rosebuds and topped with the traditional bride and bridegroom.

For the wedding trip to Quartz Mountain Lodge in Oklahoma, the bride traveled in a lime green coat dress of double-knit and wore the yellow cymbidium orchids from her wedding bouquet. The couple's future address will be 2807 Ave. U, Lubbock.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Pampa High School, and a 1970 graduate of Commercial College of Lubbock and is employed by a life insurance company. The bridegroom is a 1966 graduate of Monterrey High School, attended Texas Technological University of Lubbock and operates an in-

Texas Ranger Speaks To Club

La Cultura Study Club members, meeting in Mrs. J. Don Huffaker's home, 1919 Chestnut, heard reports on the Federated Women's Club Convention held in Pampa recently, and set a date to install officers.

Officers will be installed at a salad luncheon at 11:30 a.m. May 11 at the home of Mrs. Ralph Dozier, 1909 Fir.

Mrs. Don Wilson introduced Bill Baten a Texas Ranger, who discussed the history of the first Rangers employed by Stephen F. Austin to protect members of the first colony he established in Texas.

In 1935 the Texas Rangers were officially under the government of Texas and have been in continual service since that time," Baten said. In 1878, the Rangers were organized under the law enforcement division of the state government instead of a unit as a military and city chief of police when called upon. In 1935 the Rangers became a division of the Department of Public Safety with headquarters in Austin, Texas has 80 Rangers currently serving," he said.

Those attending were Mmes. Lee Foxworthy, Charles Arledge, Mike Kuralt, Don Wilson, B.J. Pittman, Walter Jones, James Johnson, David Damron, Robert Elliott, Robert Dozier, Frank Small, John Ella,

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son is handsome, intelligent and could have married anyone he chose, but he married a fat, ugly slob who was pregnant at the time, and no telling whose child it was.

She walks all over him. He does exactly what she tells him to do like a child. She started him smoking, and everytime he tries to quit she pokes a cigarette in his mouth or gets him to light one for her. He is trying to finish college but he'll never make it because she keeps him up at all hours and he isn't able to get to school half the time, besides working a 3 to 11 o'clock shift. She doesn't work, and sleeps all day herself. She humiliates him in front of others, but he remains loyal to her and defends her. He thinks she is "wonderful." She is destroying his health and his future.

Can you tell me why my son puts up with this? Is there anything I can do to help him?

HIS MOTHER: DEAR MOTHER: It is entirely possible that because of your intense hatred for the girl, your son is trying all the harder to prove you wrong. The more you knock her, the more fiercely he will defend her. It's also possible that in his eyes she is indeed "wonderful." Save your energy, Mother. You can't help him because he doesn't feel that he needs any help.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 18-year-old girl with strict old-fashioned parents (especially my father). I am not allowed to accept a date with a fellow unless my father meets him first. But here's the catch: after he meets him, he asks a million questions, like what does he do for a living, and if he's going to college, which one, and does he live with his parents, etc.

Once my father suspected a boy was lying about his age, so he asked to see his driver's license. Abby, I could understand my father's asking all those questions if a fellow and I were getting serious about it each other, but on the first date, it's embarrassing. What do you suppose a guy thinks when he is put through a quiz like that?

PROTECTED: DEAR PROTECTED: I'm sure he thinks you are one girl who doesn't go out with every Tom, Dick and Harry, and he's right. And he also probably thinks that if he gets the third degree on the first date, what would happen with a proposal?

DEAR ABBY: Ten years ago, a four-year-old girl, the 10th in her family, was adopted by my niece and her husband. They provided this child (I'll call Pam) with love and a good home, and enrolled her in a public school when the time came. Pam didn't get along with the other children, fighting them on the school bus, etc., so they finally had to send her to a private school.

Now, at 14, Pam receives the lowest possible grades, makes no friends, lies constantly, has been caught stealing sizable amounts from her parents. She's even tried to set fire to the house. Tests showed that Pam has an I.Q. of 99. When asked why she doesn't attempt to get better grades, her stock answer is, "I don't care to."

My heart aches for my niece who teaches school daily, runs a competent house and is raising two well-behaved sons. I notice her nerves are ragged and she appears defeated.

Is there a school or some place where this child can be sent before it's too late? I would gladly help financially.

The idea is to make the handbags "kicky" and young, put together from unusual materials. The firm of Walberg, New York, for instance, uses jute, hemp and linen in shapes that range from soft, pouchy shoulder strappers to knapsacks, elongated envelopes and saddlebags. One linen bag is a pretty good copy of the mailman's pouch, done in linen and with long, long shoulder strap.

Hospital Priest Addresses Highland General Auxiliary

Highland General Hospital Auxiliary sponsored its annual May Awards luncheon in the Terrace Room of the Coronado Inn recently with the Rev. Joseph T. Tash, chaplain of St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo, as guest speaker.

Father Tash is also chairman of Amarillo's Operations Drug Alert and chairman of Amarillo's Drug Crises. He has spoken to more than 50,000 people in the Panhandle area, youths and teenagers, to make them more aware of the current drug problems.

In explaining the types of drugs and their dangers, he said 50 per cent of high school students are experimenting with marijuana. Three out of five use it regularly, and 60 per cent of the servicemen smoke it.

He warned against the affects of acid drugs like LSD which can cause chromosome defects and can result in flashbacks up to two years after the final dose.

"Communication is a two-way street, so listen to your kids,"

Father Tash said. "Don't talk to your kids, but talk with them. If children can't get understanding from their parents, they turn to their peers, who will show them a way to escape, often through drugs."

"We must educate ourselves about drugs. We must learn their terminology before we can communicate with our teenagers. We can give, give to our children because giving money and material things are easier than giving love, understanding, and affection," he said.

After his address, Lola Mae Alvey presented awards for service hours and received special honors for her 1,000 hours of service.

Susan Dunigan and Bernice Goodlett won honors for their 800 hours. Those honored for 700 hours were Charlotte Kennedy and Louise Sewell. For 600 hours of service were Laura Fatheree, Fern Hogsett, Edna Windsor, Mae Hatcher, Ann McAnelly, Virgie Matejowsky and Babs White.

Those recognized for 500 hours were Jan Crippen, Mattie

Duncan, Addie Lea Hopkins, Mary Johnson and Katy Key. POLLY'S POINTERS Adjust Thermostat To Save Fuel Bill

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—Mrs. B.B. wanted to know where to set the thermostat on her gas furnace for the most efficient and economical use. Our plumber advised us to keep the thermostat at 70 or 72 degrees and we could save as much as 15 per cent. Summer and winter our thermostat is set at 72 as a lower temperature is more healthful.

—MRS. C.L.

DEAR READERS—The gas company I consulted suggested 68 to 70 degrees rather than 70 to 72. Of course, in bitter cold weather this might have to be changed. Also I was told the pilot light should be left on during the summer with the thermostat turned to its lowest point which is usually 55 degrees.

—POLLY

Polly's Problem DEAR POLLY—I knit everything from mittens to fine lacy suits for myself but have never known how to block them at home. Could some of the readers give me pointers on doing this?

—CORA

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is the size of the envelopes many firms include with their bills that are to be used for the return check. Many of these are too short so the check and bill have to be folded. Why can't they send envelopes that are the right size for an unfolded check — say 7 or 7 1/2 inches?

—IDA

DEAR POLLY—If someone in your home has been ill but is able to sit up, use a table leaf laid across the arms of the patient's chair as a good substitute for a lap tray. This makes a very good, solid table for eating, writing or playing games.

—CLARA

DEAR POLLY—After getting the mail each day the children are always disappointed that there is none for them, when receiving so-called "junk mail." I just hand it over to them and they enjoy opening their letters and carry them about the entire day. This may make a little more mess to clean up but is well worth it.

Who Needs Mother?

Could it be that 1971 will mark the last Mother's Day? Oh, not because, as frequently predicted, the world might be completely shattered by bomb blast, but as a follow-up of 1970 trends.

Mother is the old gal who tried from Sonny or Sister's baby days to inspire them to be interested in life. She urged them to care about their health and be clean in mind and body, to be honest in their relationships, to make the wisest, most peaceful decisions they can, knowing that wrong decisions—those which interfere with the rights of others—are wrong and expensive. In short, the right kind of mother wants her children to grow up to be strong men and women, enjoying the world and contributing to it and loving their fellow men.

The past year has not been pretty. She has seen the increase in drugs and disease, slipshod relationships resulting sometimes in unwanted children and crime; she has seen covered-with-earth kids walking around in attention getting garb; she has witnessed flagrant disrespect and dishonest relationships in transgressions of others' property; rioting; war.

And what with abortion and taking family limitation to its extreme, we may not have Mothers at all. "Mother, who needs her?" seems to be an all-too-popular attitude.

At the risk of being considered a square and reactionary, we'll say that now more than ever there is a need for Mother—the good old-fashioned kind.

H. L. Hunt Writes

GOP AND FOREIGN POLICY

The leadership of the Republican party is finding itself at the crossroads of foreign policy much as the Democrats did when their leader was President in the 1950's. The attention of the electorate was focused then on Southeast Asia where we were bogged down in a war that we refused to win and declined to lose. So persuasive and obstinate were the criticisms leveled at President Lyndon Johnson that he withdrew from public life, his own political fortunes having gone up in the smoke of Vietnam.

Now Nixon is confronted with almost the same dilemma, except that his may be worse since he does not have control of either house of Congress. He was elected on a platform of getting us out of the war but he must realize that high ability and great integrity will be required to accomplish this feat. Assistants with unimpeachable national loyalty are required.

The Republicans have a golden opportunity to lead a still mighty nation. But the present leadership is not doing that. This Republic has only one external foe—communism. It is high time this was recognized by both parties. If the GOP can win control of Congress in the next election, one or more strong men will emerge and show us the light, tell us that our job is checking communism with all its threats to our social, economic and religious way of life. Like any reasonable people we expect honest and strong leadership.

New, constructive views ought to be taken by the Republicans toward Europe, Asia, and Africa in the field of diplomacy and arms. We must be superior in the latter field so that we can live securely when threatened by Communism. Our Republic must have some international friends, but foreign aid will not buy them.

Clearing House

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their minds. So, in the public interest, let's get it off your chest.

Editor:

After hearing about the "Singing Pampans Put Down Demonstrators" I had to sit down and tell someone how very proud I am of the youths of our community.

All we ever hear of is the wrong-doings of our youngsters—very seldom do we hear of the good things they do. There is always a small minority of kids that give our other youngsters a bad name, but speaking from my heart, I think that the youngsters of our town are youngsters that we should be very proud of.

I, being a mother myself, worry about what my children are up against this day and age, the drug problem etc., but after hearing about our young people while they were at the State Capitol, I couldn't wish for my children to grow up in a better community.

Looking around I see our youths, and 9 out of 10 are a credit to our community. Not only the Harvester Band, and the Harvester Choir is the "Pride of Pampa," all of our youths are. I only wish that more adults of our city would give more credit and faith to our young people instead of trying to find fault with them. Every grownup has gotten into some form of meanness in their younger days, but they seem to forget that. They don't stop to realize that it is just a part of growing up.

I only hope that when my children get into high school, that some adult will look at them and feel the pride and admiration such as I feel for the youths of Pampa. I give them all a cheer and wish to say "Kids—I'm proud of you."

The Rearview Mirror

By TEX DEWESE
Editor

AS ONE of the security guards said, it was one of the greatest putdowns in State Capitol history.

The reference is to the Pampa High School Concert Choir which routed a group of singing, chanting demonstrators from the Capitol rotunda in Austin last Monday.

The choir members had been given permission to sing in the rotunda during the noon hour, but when they arrived the hooded and gowned demonstrators, labeled the Armadillo May Day Tribe, had begun their chanting.

The choir formed and began singing, too. They started with the religious anthem, "Joy So Delights My Heart," followed by "The Eyes of Texas."

The demonstrators soon were drowned out by the Pampa choir which had been joined by state senators, representatives and House and Senate employees.

It all wound up with the Pampa group taking over and the demonstrators taking out. It was a clear-cut victory for the high school choir.

The Austin stop was one of several the choir made during a tour of South Texas cities. The musical battle, however, was unscheduled and unplanned. It was something that burst into full bloom when the Pampa teenagers decided they had something better to offer than the demonstrators.

The ovation they got at the conclusion of their performance proved they were right.

AS A result of the unusual happening, the Pampa Concert Choir and Stage Band received nationwide coverage, picture and newswise, on Associated Press wire service out of Austin.

The choir and stage band stopped in Waco and Brownwood on its way home and was pleasantly surprised with a hometown welcome and reception—upon arrival back in Pampa Tuesday night.

Homebodies turned out on the High School campus and paid tribute to them in the school music building.

Which all goes to attest that Pampa has some pretty fine teenagers of whom the community can be justly proud—not only when they are at home, but when they are away from home as well.

Their appearance in the Capitol rotunda at Austin was arranged by Rep. Phil Cates of LeFors who introduced a resolution asking that the Pampa choir and Stage Band be given official recognition by the Legislature. One suspects the state representative is proud of them, too.

THE PAMPA NEWS is happy to announce the start of a new feature, the "Worry Clinic," by Dr. George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D., on this page tomorrow.

We feel certain readers will find it is something to which they will turn every day to learn latest facts by which average Pampans can avoid social pitfalls and maladjustments that produce unhappiness.

Your Health

By Dr. Lawrence Lamb

Spasms Can Cause Neck Pain

Dear Dr. Lamb—What causes me to have tightness and soreness in the back of my neck at the base of my head. At times I give a quick jerk with my head and it makes a popping noise and it relieves the pressure for a short while. I am inclined to be very nervous. It comes on me more if I am upset over anything. When I was 20, I received a hard blow on my chin, and the trouble came on shortly afterwards. I am 48 now and wonder if that could have been the start. Could you tell me what I should do to relieve the condition and what doctor I should see for some help? At my age it will be bothering me more.

Dear Reader—As you describe your pain, it is probably due to muscle spasm. The muscles in the neck contract and cause limitation of motion and give rise to pain. When you move your head and stretch the muscle sufficiently, the spasm or cramp is relieved and the pain may disappear. This is similar to stretching the calf muscle if you have a cramp in the leg.

It is true that individuals with repeated episodes of muscle spasms are more apt to have them when they are experiencing tension. There are a lot of things, however, which can contribute to the problem, and apparently you have been having difficulties for almost 28 years.

Posture can be a contributing factor, if you have one leg which is considerably shorter than the other, the entire skeleton will be out of line and will change the pull on the various muscles along the spine all the way to the neck.

Such an underlying postural defect can constantly irritate the muscles and make them more susceptible to spasms or cramping. Disorders of this sort can be corrected, or helped, with a heel lift (a pad under the heel or increasing the thickness of the heel of the shoe) in many cases.

You should see a specialist in physical medicine. Your family doctor, county or state medical society can give you the name of a reputable specialist in physical medicine near your home. Underlying disorders, like postural defects, usually can be corrected.

AND FOR a winder-upper on this Mother's Day—how many of you remember that the Earth was born 4.5 billion years ago? Whether at that time it already carried the seeds of life, or just the chemicals from which life would some day spring, is not known. Scientists tell us it may never be known just when, in the next billion years, life made its appearance on earth.

By the way, where were you four and a half billion years ago?

Soviet Topping U. S. Research On Weapons by $3 Billion

WASHINGTON — The Pentagon's research chief is telling Congress that it will take several years to find out what new weapons Russia is developing "under the roof."

That is the phrase used by Dr. John S. Foster Jr. to stress that such developmental programs get no publicity in a closed society. He notes, however, that the Kremlin is spending more and more on research and development.

In 1955, according to Foster's closed-door testimony, the United States was spending about three times the Russian outlay for military research and development. However, Russia has been increasing its expenditures by about 10 per cent a year.

Now, Foster says, the Soviet Union's expenditures for military research and development, figured in terms of 1968 dollars, is about $3 billion larger than the U. S. outlay.

In 1968, according to Foster, Pentagon experts think they were about three years ahead of Russian technology with respect to strategic offense. For strategic defense the margin was one or two years and in the tactical area the technology was about even, according to Foster.

What has happened in the years since 1968? That, says Foster, is what is "under the roof" and won't be known until the fruits of Russia's research programs become apparent several years hence.

EROSION TO CONTINUE — Like the recent disclosure of a deployment by Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Foster's comments are designed to highlight Russia's military gains—an annual occurrence at budget time. Foster contends, however, that the nearly $3 billion he is requesting for research and development cannot stop the erosion in the U. S. technological lead.

We are advised that one of Foster's recent budget presentations provoked some sharply critical congressional response. Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., a former Air Force secretary, led the critical parade.

Symington began by stating that the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, had given senators what Symington described as the most depressing defense briefing he had ever heard—bar none—in all his years in government.

The senator complained that vast sums spent on research and development don't seem to culminate in enough real production. He mentioned, specifically, delays in developing a new air force fighter plane and in resolving conflicting requirements for speed and silence in the design of new submarines.

Foster agreed that the current intelligence picture is very depressing. He said, however, that the production of weapons isn't his job as director of defense research and engineering.

Symington also suggested that preoccupation with Vietnam has favored military development programs here which are oriented to wars of a Vietnam sort, while Russia has been free to key its programs to the possibility of a war against its potential enemies, the United States and China.

ALL NEW ICBM — Foster has told congressional committees that the new Russian ICBM silos, recently discussed by Secretary Laird, are apparently designed for a new missile and not just an upgraded version of the giant SS-9 intercontinental missile.

He estimates that research and development outlays on such a new ICBM system would not account for a fraction of the $3 billion differential between U. S. and Russian research outlays—perhaps one eighth to one fifth of the difference.

Foster is telling Congress he thinks the U. S. still has a technological lead in offensive missileery, with the Minuteman III and the submarine-fired Poseidon missile. He adds, however, that Russia has a lead in missile payloads.

For a more detailed appraisal of U. S. vs. U.S.S.R. Foster's answer is the same, we will have to wait for a couple of years and see.

Note: From other sources we have learned that the disposition of the new Russian ICBM silos, as well as their size, is a matter of concern to the experts, who are trying to determine what Kremlin leaders are up to.

The new silo configurations are said to have been discovered on Soviet missile sites hundreds of miles apart. It is, therefore, assumed that a full scale deployment of some 40 or 50 ICBMs is planned and not just a small experimental program.

Peking Has Good Reason To Be Afraid Of Moscow

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA)—Some time back, a British friend visited the office of the Peoples Republic of China in London. Though the Chinese indicated strongly they would like to talk at length, they explained they did not have time. They were making preparations to defend themselves against a joint Soviet, Japanese and American invasion of the Chinese mainland.

However incredible this may seem to Americans, contacts in Asia affirm there is strong confirmation that one of the great fears in Peking is that Russia and the United States will combine against them.

The fear of Russia is very real. Whatever has been said publicly, prevailing opinion in China for more than three decades has been that Moscow could not be trusted.

In 1944 in Yanan, Mao Tse-tung in private talks made it clear to his listeners that even though he was a strong Communist and although Russia was Communist, he did not like the Russian government or the Russians.

Gradually, over the years all those top Chinese this reporter knew to be pro-Russian have been purged.

Leave out ideology. Think only of old-fashioned, national interests. As Mao's people see it, here is the history of Russo-Chinese relations.

Great areas of Soviet Asia were once Chinese. Taking advantage of Peking's weakness over the decades, Russia took over these lands, including Vladivostok.

China, making it one of their satellites. After the war with Japan, Moscow stripped Manchuria bare of every factory, piece of equipment and other resource which could be shipped to Russia. The Russians took away $658 million in food, machine tools, power generators and other equipment and destroyed $2 billion in economic resources in the process.

At another time, it is believed, the Russians attempted to bribe the top Chinese general in Sinkiang province to declare that major area independent of China.

Over the years, Moscow has repeatedly attempted to build up a Soviet faction within the Peking hierarchy and has given covert support to these men against the controlling majority. Peking regards this as an attempt to convert all China into a puppet state controlled by Moscow on the East European models.

The Korean war was a joint Moscow-Peking effort. But the Soviet Union charged Communist China for all the military arms it supplied the Red Chinese forces in that fighting. As a result, military expenses took up to 48 per cent of Peking's budget and brought on severe economic dislocation.

Peking is understood to believe the Soviet moves to establish a naval force in the Indian Ocean are designed to enable Moscow to surround China militarily.

Russian aid to Peking, when given, was not a gift, but loans, which the Chinese had to pay back with heavy shipments of agricultural products and raw materials.

For Rent: House On Wheels

For $333, you can have one of those 23-foot motorized homes that you see moving along the highways with increasing frequency.

Of course, you don't get to keep it forever. The $333 is the projected rental price for one week. You are to pay 12 cents a mile in addition, plus you buy your own gas.

That's in the marketing plans for this year, according to Barron's, the national financial weekly. Manufacturing and sales companies already have put the package together.

The rental price will be regarded as steep by many families, perhaps most, at this stage. But, if you had to buy the rig, it would set you back by about $30,000. So the weekly rental puts the house-on-wheels within the reach of a vastly greater number. That effort to reach the greatest number of people with any product is a feature of the marketplace economy most frequently overlooked.

The zeal to seek out buyers in descending income brackets doesn't arise from any particular charitable instance on the part of the manufacturer. He may in fact be a very warm-hearted guy, but—whether he is or is not—the profit motive is the driving force.

Once a manufacturer gets his plant set up and hires and trains the help, he can use this combination of tools and labor with greater efficiency by hitting a fast production pace. He can hold the pace only if he can find buyers. To find the buyers, he has to get the price down to a level where most of the incomes are.

Sometimes, the manufacturer succeeds in attaining high volume by lowering the price per unit at the outset. Sometimes, as in the case of traveling homes, he has to take an intermediate step by subdividing the product; that is, he subdivides the time in which the buyer enjoys the use of the product.

If you figure a travel home can be kept busy 26 weeks out of the year and was to be driven an average of 1,000 miles a week, the yearly gross would be $11,778. In three years' time, the thing would pay out, even to the upkeep.

Apart from the lower price, the renter of a travel home enjoys some convenience that the outright owner does not. He doesn't have to buy tires or repairs, and he doesn't have to park the monster when he's not using it.

By dividing a product among a potential 78 part-time owners (renters), enterprise savvy may have overcome another marketing problem, making jobs for working people and happier vacations for thousands. If it works out, you are likely to see the rental price drop.

A Diamond For The VOA

During 1971, the Volunteers of America, which annually serves more than two million needy Americans of all races, creeds and colors, is celebrating its 75th anniversary.

It was in 1896 that a pair of young evangelists from England, Maud and Ballington Booth, founded one of America's best-known religious social welfare organizations.

Beginning with three bare rooms in Manhattan's Bowery, where packing cases were used for desks and grocery boxes for files, the Volunteers now maintains over 600 service centers across the nation.

In homes for the aged, in halfway houses and maternity homes, in prisons and nonprofit housing projects, in a dozen other ways, the organization gives material and spiritual aid to young and old, to all who are in need.

"Your 75th anniversary is a very special milestone not just for you but for the country that has so immeasurably benefited from your efforts," wrote President Nixon in congratulations to the Volunteers.

Your "can-do" spirit and ever-present willingness to devote time and energy to worthy causes have strengthened the moral fiber as well as the material well-being of our society."

In the popular phrase of the day, that says it all.

Tax Credit For College Gifts

More priority legislation: Congressman John B. Anderson of Illinois has introduced two bills to amend the Internal Revenue Code of 1954 to allow income tax credits for gifts or contributions made to any institution of higher education.

Anderson introduced two identical bills because there were 41 co-sponsors and only 25 may co-sponsor one bill. The idea of granting tax credits for those who finance colleges and universities seems to be gaining wider bi-partisan support. This seems, as Rockford College's John Howard, president of the American Association of Independent Colleges and Universities, remarked, an idea whose time has come.

The idea, actually, has been around for some time; nevertheless, the troubles of the American campuses call for a switch to this type of financing. If the classic notion is correct that education, thinking, is something an individual does and not something done to him—it applies also to financing of schools by individuals.

The Congress directed the Corps of Engineers to study the Canadian River Basin in Texas and Oklahoma for the purposes of irrigation, flood control and allied water uses several years ago; but did not provide funds to make the studies until 1971.

Panhandle Water

poor drainage, mineralized ground water, pollution, and inadequate water supply — these meetings will give an opportunity to exchange information about water solutions. We also want information about ecological and environmental conditions and problems.

The Department of the Army, Tulsa District Corps of Engineers has lost no time in beginning the studies. A series of Public Hearings have been scheduled in the Canadian River Basin and its tributaries in the Texas Panhandle. Other Public Hearings will be held in Oklahoma for the convenience of Oklahoma residents.

The first Public Hearing and Workshop in the Texas Panhandle was held at Dalhart on May 5. The Public Hearing was held under the direction of Lt. Colonel Eddy L. Morris, Deputy District Engineer for the Tulsa District. Colonel Vernon W. Pinkey is the District Engineer for the Tulsa District. The Canadian River Basin and the North Fork of the Red River in Texas are both under the jurisdiction of the Tulsa District of the United States Army Corps of Engineers. The northeast corner of New Mexico is also in the Tulsa District.

Lt. Colonel Morris conducting the Hearing for Colonel Pinkey opened the Hearing with a statement on the status of the survey study. The Public Hearing was one of the most important meetings ever held in the Texas Panhandle. A large number of people representing Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico were in attendance. Included in attendance were representatives of the Governor, Texas Water Development Board, Texas Water Rights Commission, Congressman Bob Price, the three Water Conservation Districts of West Texas, Chambers of Commerce from the entire Panhandle area, County and City Officials, Soil Conservation Districts, Federal Agencies, and private individuals. The meeting was closed with a question and answer session.

Lt. Colonel Morris in speaking to those in attendance stated, "While we know some of the water resource problems and needs, flooding, bank caving,

SCS Has New Conservation Information

A new booklet outlining broad phases of conservation work underway in Texas is now available from the Soil Conservation Service, according to Mickey Black, District Conservationist.

Black, who is with the Pampa Soil Conservation Service office, said the new booklet "Soil and Water Conservation in Texas" tells how SCS programs are helping Texans conserve, develop, and protect the state's soil, water, plant and wildlife resources.

"The booklet is a must for the conservation teacher, urban consumer, agricultural leader or businessman honestly interested in the conservation trust being made in Texas," Black said. It is a concise, simply written, profusely illustrated booklet which tells the conservation story as it is — a non-spectacular, continuous, difficult job of trying to intelligently manage our state's renewable natural resources.

The publication describes SCS soil surveys and tells how they are used by cities, planners, farmers, contractors. It tells how conservation reduces pollution and enhances environmental quality. It also describes resource planning help available from SCS. Other programs explained include the search for improved conservation plants for livestock and wildlife; the Great Plains Conservation Program; efforts to help multi-county areas speed up resource programs; and upstream watershed protection projects.

Black said conservation work is coordinated through local soil and water conservation districts. In the Pampa area, farmers, contractors. It tells the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District is the action group through which conservation work is directed. Curtis Schaffer, Tony Smitherman, Milton Carpenter, Sam Bowers and Robert Sailor make up the district board.

The booklet points out, however, that cooperation of state and federal agencies, cities, conservation organizations, civic groups and others is the key to getting the job done. Black said that in the Stabilization and Conservation Service, the Extension Service, Farmers Home Administration and the Gray County Commissioners Court have been helpful in getting conservation work done in the Gray County Soil and Water Conservation District.

SEATTLE—Leslie Bacon, 19, an antiwar activist who has been testifying before a federal grand jury investigating the bombing of the U.S. Capitol on March 1:
"At this point, I've had enough. Not knowing how far they will go to implicate me—to force me at least to face a charge and perhaps a trial, even though never a conviction—I have decided to assert my rights under the First, Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Ninth Amendments to the Constitution."
