28 PCT. INCREASE PROPOSED

County Taxpayers Voice Opinion On Hike In Tax

By ALETHA DAVIS
Staff Writer

Gray County taxpayers who would be affected by a proposed county tax rate increase appeared before the Gray County Commissioners yesterday and voiced their opinions on the plan and probable effects on those who pay the bills.

Agri-businessmen, urban business representatives, gas and oil industry and utility company representatives were present when Ray Wilson, county auditor, told the group that in his estimation, a 28 percent county tax hike across the board, would be necessary to pull Gray County out of its deficit financial condition.

Wilson's proposal was based on an extensive study of the money situation at the county level.

Spending in 1970 left Gray County $98,000 overdrawn Dec. 31, 1970. The 1971 budget approved by the Court in December in the amount of $1,341,370.86 is up $20,808.18 from the 1970 budget.

In a January meeting, county tax-assessor Jack Eack stated the collection rate through December was approximately 68 percent against a 90 percent figure usually recorded by the end of the year.

The slower collection rate and increased budget added to problems facing the county government.

In the meeting yesterday, former mayor E. C. Sidwell asked the county to provide a chart plotting the trend of spending in the county during the past ten years. In addition to this chart, he asked that a chart showing population decrease during the same period be constructed.

Sidwell stated that ten years ago, the city of Pampa paid $35,000 for a "growing report from a group in Austin" that stated Pampa would be a city of 33,000 or 34,000 by 1970, but in reality the population had dropped 14 percent by 1970. He urged the county to consider the effect of tax hikes, stating that a patch job in the financial picture would not be lasting. He stated that he was speaking as a taxpayer with oil interests and as a farmer with 12,000 acres.

Pete Gillis, tax consultant for Phillips Petroleum Co., again asked the court that an equalization effort be made before the county approves an across-the-board raise in taxes. He stated the gap between agriculture interests and oil and gas industry is already, in industry's eyes, too great.

Another spokesman before the court was John Spearman, rancher east of Pampa and former Pampa school board member. He said he would like to commend the court for its effort to curb spending, adding that he hoped the court would consider that the "growing reports of agri-business success in the county" were based largely on the operation of feedlots and not the land itself, which also will be affected by a tax hike.

Curtis Shaeffer, farmer and Soil Conservation director, pointed out that taxes and obligations must be met by the farmer even in the event of crop failure, while industry could plan profits for a year. He stated the only insurance a farmer had was the weather, be it good or bad.

Shaeffer added that he believed everything should be done to protect the farmer's interest, stating that high taxes forced farmers off the land or necessitated formation of co-ops which could well lead to government control of the land.

Gray County's present rate of taxation is $1.25 per $100 valuation based on a valuation of $6 million dollars for the county. The court said in 1970 the county needed a valuation of $76 million to operate.

Gray County Judge Don Cain stated, in adjourning the meeting, that every effort would be made to return the county to sound economy, and that the effect on every taxpayer would be considered. He added that the Commissioners Joe Clarke, Jimmy McCracken, Mary Dwyer, and Don Hinton were eager to attend a special session of the County Judges and Commissioners Conference Thursday in College Station.

A special portion of the program will be devoted to the theme, "Countywide Appraisal," directed by G. B. Jordan, tax assessor-collector of Liberty County. Liberty County has recently undergone a new appraisal program. Judge Cain said the court feels much information applicable to Gray County will be obtained from the session.

The commissioners will convene again Feb. 15.

Rainstorms Halt U.S. Air Support Of S. Viet Drive

SAIGON (UPI)—Monsoon fog and clouds today halted all American helicopter support of the South Vietnamese drive against the Ho Chi Minh Trail in Laos, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky urged caution lest his troops get "bogged down" in a long Laotian military campaign.

UPI correspondent Kenneth Craddock reported from the northern base of Quang Tri that U.S. helicopters were soaked in by bad weather at Khe Sanh, 12 miles east of the Laotian border. He quoted military sources as saying ground convoys were also halted because there was no air cover.

The sources said the farthest South Vietnamese combat support bases inside Laos were five miles beyond the border with troops a few miles farther. The troops moved into Laos Monday morning in a limited action to further cut Communist supply lines along the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

U.S. sources reported sporadic contact with Viet Cong and North Vietnamese units but said U.S. helicopter missions late Monday night encountered heavy groundfire in some areas.

Military sources said the bad weather from the monsoon could halt helicopter activities for another 72 hours. Ground links to at least some South Vietnamese units in Laos were open, the sources said.

Military spokesmen said at least four GIs and 10 South Vietnamese were killed in the first hours of the thrust into Laos on Monday. Helicopters encountered particularly heavily anti-aircraft fire.

"Experiences in Cambodia have shown us that it is not easy to withdraw from that country after a short operation for a few days, Ky said a few hours after the start of the cross-border operation.

"We must be very careful," Ky said. "Otherwise, we will come into a bogged down situation in Laos."

Observers saw political overtones in Ky's speech at a dinner for pilots who flew with him on a bombing raid over North Vietnam Aug. 2, 1965.

State Senate Okays Voting Age Proposal

Action Would Allow 18-Year-Olds To Vote

AUSTIN (UPI)—The Texas Senate voted Monday to alter the state constitution to allow 18-year-olds to vote, do away with annual voter registration and permit annual legislative sessions.

To become law all three measures must pass the House and then be approved by voters in the November, 1972, general election.

Senators approved 2315 the 18-year-old voting rights proposal submitted by Sen. Joe Bernal, D-San Antonio. Dissenting votes came from Sens. A. M. Aikin Jr., D-Paris; Wayne Connally, D-Floresville; Henry Grover, R-Houston; William T. Moore, D-Bryan, and J. P. Word, D-Meridian.

Bernal pointed out that Congress has already lowered the voting age for federal elections from 21 to 18. He argued if 18-year-olds can vote for President they should be able to vote for state and local officials too.

Separate Ballots Possible

He said unless the teens are allowed to vote in state and local elections separate ballots will have to be printed for younger and older voters.

Sen. Mike McKool, D-Dallas, won approval of the proposal to permit semipermanent voter registration on a 28-3 vote, Republican Sens. O. H. Harris of Dallas and Grover of Houston joined Connally in voting "No."

The voting age change and registration repeal were acted on in a matter of minutes, but the senators squabbled for nearly 20 minutes over the proposal to permit annual sessions of the legislature.

Sen. Jim Bates, D-Edinburg, pointed out voters turned down such an amendment just two years ago.

Bates Raps Plan

"I think submitting it now is a sad mistake," Bates said. "We're going to turn the Texas legislature into a totally full-time political venture."

Bates said requiring lawmakers to meet every year instead of every two years would eliminate "working lawyers" from its membership.

"Annual sessions are going to change rapidly the makeup of this legislature if the people are ever silly enough to vote for it," Bates said.

McKool, sponsor of the proposal, said annual sessions would give lawmakers more time to deal with the state's problems and permit more accurate financial assessments.

Many Laws Repealed

"If we spend half our time repealing laws instead of passing them people would probably be better off," Bates retorted.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes took exception to one critic's comment that it costs $200,000 to submit constitutional amendment proposals to voters. Barnes said the figure is closer to $18,000.

Barnes, a longtime proponent of yearly sessions, also said the last vote by the people on the question was in a special election where only about half a million ballots were cast.

Bates was one of eight senators who voted against the proposal. Others were Sens. H. J. Blanchard, D-Lubbock; Tom Creighton, D-Mineral Wells; Grover; Barbara Jordan, D-Houston; Moore; William N. Patman, D-Ganado; and David Ratliff, D-Stamford.

Allied Operation May Help Nixon To Beat His Plan

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird predicted today that the allied operation in Laos would enable President Nixon to "meet or beat" his plan to withdraw 50,000 more ground combat troops from Vietnam by May 1.

Republican congressional leaders merged from a two-hour meeting with Nixon and said the operation would lower U.S. casualties and drastically reduce the Communists' capability.

Laird talked to newsmen before he briefed the Senate Armed Services Committee on South Vietnam's move into Laotian border sanctuaries with U.S. air support.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers arrived later for a briefing with the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Laird said 50,000 more troops must be withdrawn by May 1 to meet Nixon's deadline for a 284,000 troop ceiling.

"We will meet or beat that troop ceiling and we will go forward with our withdrawal program," Laird said.

Laird said 10,000 U.S. ground forces were engaged in "back-up responsibilities" in South Vietnam for the Saigon troops' thrusts into Cambodia and Laos.

He said the Laos operation was "going according to schedule" and its objective was "to destroy and uproot the sanctuary areas in Laos."

He said South Vietnamese troops "will not win every battle" but said they are strong enough now to win most of them.

Israel Rejects Cairo's Proposal

JERUSALEM (UPI)—Premier Golda Meir rejected today Egyptian proposals to reopen the Suez Canal in exchange for an Israeli troop withdrawal from the east bank of the canal. But she offered to discuss a separate deal for reopening the long closed waterway.

In a policy speech to the Israeli Parliament, Mrs. Meir said the canal offer by President Anwar Sadat of Egypt was aimed merely at giving Egypt a strategic advantage without making any real progress toward peace.

Sadat made his proposal last Thursday, calling for an Israeli troop withdrawal from the canal in return for reopening of the waterway which has been closed since the Six Day War in June, 1967.

Mrs. Meir said today Sadat's proposal left more unsaid than said and gave no guarantee it would lead to the signing of a peace treaty and end the Middle East confrontation.

NEW FOCUS in the Southeast Asia conflict is southern Laos where portions of the Ho Chi Minh trail and other reported Communist points were targets for an allied incursion from South Vietnam yesterday.

BIGGER THAN LONG BEACH TREMOR Three People Killed, Many Hurt As Major Quake Hits California

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A major earthquake rocked Southern California today, causing widespread structural damage, taking at least three lives and injuring scores of persons.

The tremor began at 6 a.m. as a rolling tremor lasting more than a minute, causing taller buildings to sway and shattering plate glass windows. Aftershocks still were causing structures to tremble two hours later.

Dr. Charles Richter of the Cal Tech seismological laboratory in nearby Pasadena said he was awakened by the quake and, "I realized that we had a pretty strong shock on our hands."

"It is about the same magnitude of the Long Beach quake in 1933," Richter said.

"It was strong enough to throw things around in my house."

The Long Beach quake was measured at 6.3 and claimed

Mrs. Robert Fish, daughter of L.P. Fort of Pampa, telephoned her father today that the quake rocked their home in Reseda, 15 miles from downtown Los Angeles, and damaged dishes and furniture, as well as sweeping most of the water from a swimming pool. No one was injured.

120 lives, causing millions of dollars in damage. In 1952 a tremor measuring 7.7 centered on the Tehachapi Mountains northwest of here.

A Caltech spokesman said today's tremor "is actually bigger than the Long Beach quake." But the laboratory seismograph needles were knocked off graphs by the tremor and scientists were without an immediate reading.

However, seismographs across the nation reported recording the tremor as measuring between 6 and 7 on the open-end Richter scale.

Residents below the Van Norman and Maclay dams in the San Fernando Valley were routed temporarily from their homes as precautionary measure. Police said the Maclay Dam developed a small crack and water was trickling out but said neither structure was in danger of collapsing.

The quake centered near Newhall, 40 miles north of the Civic Center, and caused widespread blackouts of power, disrupted gas and water mains and started many fires in residences. Looting was widespread and extra officers began patrolling debris-filled streets.

All Los Angeles city and county schools were closed pending assessment of damage. Other suburban communities were alerted for possible closure.

Numerous structures at the edge of the Civic Center, one and two story brick structures, collapsed. One man was killed when a mission for homeless men collapsed but 208 others escaped.

A mental health building at the Olive View Sanitarium in the San Fernando Valley collapsed and took two lives. Other patients were evacuated by helicopter.

Hospitals in the San Fernando Valley, Hollywood and the downtown area admitted scores of persons for treatment but none was seriously injured. Police reported some victims suffered heart attacks.

Apollo 14 Timetable

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The time table for the final day of the flight of Apollo 14.

3:35 p.m.—Command module separates from service module.

3:47 p.m.—Command Module hits earth's atmosphere.

3:50 p.m.—Radio communications blacked out.

3:53 p.m.—Blackout ends.

3:58.16 p.m.—Command module's first parachutes deployed.

3:59.03 p.m.—Main parachutes deployed.

4:04 p.m.—Apollo 14 splashes down in the Pacific.

JUVENILES SUSPECTED

DENVER (UPI)—Burglars who broke into the Hammond Candy Co. made away with 25 pounds of gumdrops, three pounds of chocolate chunks, 10 pounds of taffy chews, a case of licorice and 150 pennies.

Fa'rem'on Robert Mosier, who made out the burglar report, said he suspects the burglars were juveniles.

SPLASHES DOWN AT 4:04 P.M. IN PACIFIC

Moonvoyage Of Apollo 14 Cited As A Smashing Success

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Apollo 14's astronauts raced down the imaginary space corridor leading to a landing in the South Pacific today, carrying 96 pounds of the moon and "a wealth of information" to keep lunar scientists busy for years.

"Getting closer all the time," said commander Alan B. Shepard, who called the mission "a smashing success" as the earth pulled Apollo 14 faster and faster to its 25,000 mile per hour meteoric entry into the atmosphere.

The helicopter carrier New Orleans was waiting in warm, four to six foot seas 900 miles south of Samoa to retrieve Shepard, 47; Stuart A. Roosa, 37; and Edgar D. Mitchell, 40; minutes after their 4:04 p.m. EST splashdown.

On the $400 million, 1.2 million mile voyage the astronauts spent a record 3 1/2 hours on the moon and walked longer and farther than their four predecessors. Their mission was scientifically more rewarding than Apollo 11 and 12 landings in 1969.

Final Assessment to Come

But Shepard said during a 30-minute, televised question and answer session with newsmen Monday night that he would withhold final assessment on the mission until after Apollo 14 plowed its way into the atmosphere and descended softly by parachute into the sea.

"I think the big emotion for me is yet to come—that is getting both feet on the deck of the carrier," he said during the long-distance news conference 21 hours before re-entry.

They went to sleep for the last time during the nine-day mission at midnight after Shepard told flight director Gerald Griffin "It's been a hell of a thrill for us to have worked with you, Ge."

The astronauts are scheduled to fly by helicopter to Samoa Thursday morning, switch to a big jet transport and fly directly to Houston, arriving here at 12:30 a.m. Friday.

Crew Faces Quarantine

Like the two moon landing crews before them, Apollo 14's astronauts face 17 days of quarantine to make certain they didn't pick up moon organisms during their two hikes up and down the hills at Fra Mauro Valley.

Shepard and Mitchell were the first men to explore the moon's uplands. They left behind a geophysical observatory powered by a nuclear generator, a plaque saying they were there and more than two miles of footprints winding up a steep ridge and through a forest of boulders as high as houses.

Besides their 96 pounds of lunar samples, including a rock one foot wide, the astronauts returned with hundreds of valuable photographs, a legacy of excellence, and proof that man is invaluable in exploring an unknown land.

"All the major objectives that we went after were accomplished, or certainly at least were all backed up," said Mitchell, a test-pilot who holds a doctor's degree in astronautics.

A Resounding Success

Shepard, first American in space 19 years ago, said it was too early to determine the results of the mission, "but I can intuitively tell from what we have done and what we have seen on the surface that we are bringing back a wealth of information photographically and geologically.

"It has been a resounding success...a smashing success."

There are three more missions left in the $24 billion Apollo project. The next, Apollo 15, set for launch July 25, will be far more ambitious than Apollo 14.

David R. Scott and James B. Irwin will land between a gorge and the base of steep mountains. They will stay there 66 hours, conduct three seven-hour surface excursions and use an electric car to explore 25 miles of the terrain.

Apollo 16 is targeted for launch in March, 1972 with the final mission, Apollo 17, set for launch in December, 1972.

16 Largest Cities Urge Congress To Pass Emergency Legislation

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Mayors of the nation's 16 largest cities urged Congress Monday to pass emergency legislation to permit them to hire the unemployed in public service jobs.

Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York led the testimony at a Senate hearing as chairman of the U.S. Conference of Mayors' legislative committee.

"No problem is more damaging to our cities than unemployment," he said. "Unemployment destroys our tax base, increases welfare rolls, and cripples retail sales. In each of our cities rising unemployment levels have begun a disastrous spiral of economic decline."

The mayors endorsed a bill by Sens. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., and Jacob J. Javits, R-N.Y.

The bill would earmark annual appropriations of $750 million for each year when the national unemployment rate was 4.5 per cent.

The rate as of January was 6 per cent, the Labor Department announced Friday, with 5.4 million out of work.

Appropriations under the Nelson-Javits bill would increase by $100 million each time the national unemployment rate increased by a half percentage point above 4.5 per cent.

The bill was drafted so that the public service jobs would be temporary in nature to counter an objection of President Nixon when he vetoed a similar bill last year.

Mayor James H. J. Tate of Philadelphia, president of the U.S. Conference of Mayors, told Nelson and the Senate subcommittee on Employment, Manpower and Poverty, that the jobless situation was "not as bad as it was in 1933, but it is bleak, it is worsening each day."

Mayor Wesley C. Uhlman of Seattle testified unemployment was the result of "conscious shifting of national priorities and policies aimed at reducing the rate of inflation."

"Unfortunately, for many of us, the cures are worse than the disease," Uhlman said. "These policies have made thousands of Americans jobless for the first time in their lives."

These figures were cited at the hearing:

Baltimore—Unemployment at 7 per cent with inner city joblessness approaching 40 per cent.

Cleveland—Inner city pockets of unemployment between 15 and 20 per cent.

Philadelphia—Unemployment in excess of 30 per cent for inner city youth.

San Francisco—Unemployment "defining vital talent and in some of the city's Chinese, Spanish and black neighborhoods, there are as many as 35 per cent unemployment."

Wichita, Kan.—16,800 people out of work.

Seattle—75,000 unemployed.

Portland, Ore.—16,000 jobless.

U.S. Will Cooperate With Britain In Exploring Jet Engine Project

LONDON (UPI)—President Nixon has told Prime Minister Edward Heath he will cooperate with the British government and the U.S. Lockheed Aircraft Corporation in exploring the future of the RB211 jet engine project, Chancellor of the Exchequer Anthony Barber said Monday.

Barber told Parliament "urgent discussions" now are taking place on the future of the engine threatened by the bankruptcy of Britain's Rolls-Royce Company.

Rolls-Royce was to have built the engines for Lockheed's 250-seater Tristar jet transport.

Barber made his announcement to the House of Commons after the government handed it a short bill providing for nationalization of any part of the bankrupt company it wishes.

Commons gave the bill a formal first reading. The second reading debate was scheduled Thursday.

The bill did not spell out the terms of nationalization nor the assets the government plans to take over, but the government said last week it will nationalize the defense, international aviation and marine engine sections. It specifically ruled out the plants which are producing the RB211 engine.

Speaking in a Commons emergency debate on the Rolls-Royce crash, Barber stressed the government's view that it has no liability for the contract between Rolls-Royce and Lockheed.

"If the project is to continue," Barber said, "there must be a completely new arrangement."

It was in this connection he said "urgent discussions" between the two governments and Lockheed now are taking place.

Waggoner Carr Denies His Part In Stock Suit At Court Hearing

By EDWARD A. FULTON DALLAS (UPI)—Former Texas Attorney General Waggoner Carr denied under oath today he had a part in stock dealings involving top state officials which have undermined the public's confidence in their governor and legislature.

Carr, defendant in a Securities and Exchanges Commission stock manipulation suit, was the first person to testify in the suit's initial public airing in the court of U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes.

Before Carr took the stand Houston financier Frank W. Sharp, three other persons and eight organizations decided not to fight the SEC's suit and agreed to federal restrictions on their stock dealings.

Carr and six other persons, however, said they were guilty of no wrongdoing and said they would battle the SEC's attempts to limit their stock transactions.

"It has been alleged that there are dealings between Sharp and some public officials including the governor," Carr's attorney Charles Storey told the former attorney general as he took the witness stand.

"Were you aware of these dealings?" Storey asked.

"I did not know anything about it all," Carr said. He said he had only seen Sharp three times, and the last time was in 1967.

The suit charges Carr was involved in conspiracy to violate the Securities Act in buying and selling unregistered stock.

"Have you ever done that?" Storey asked Carr.

"No, sir," Carr replied.

Carr was the first witness in the first hearing of a suit which touched off a scandal involving stock purchases of Gov. Preston Smith and other state officials, caused one bank to fold, sent two insurance companies into the hands of the state insurance board and put one man in jail under a perjury indictment.

Reams of Testimony

Robert F. Watson of the SEC appeared before U.S. District Judge Sarah T. Hughes with reams of testimony and depositions taken during the SEC's investigation that led to the filing of the suit Jan. 18.

He introduced the testimony into evidence, said he would call no witnesses in asking for the permanent injunction and made a brief statement.

"We plan to show that the defendants participated in a scheme to violate the security laws... in connection with the transfer of securities of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., Olympic Life Insurance Co., Master Control Inc., and Rick International Industries," Watson said.

Sharp, three other persons and eight organizations decided not to argue.

Youth Center Wrapup & Schedule

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT—The annual Top O' Texas Independent basketball tournament will be held this year during Feb. 22-Mar. 4. Games will be played on Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights. Any team whether church, independent, industrial, etc. is invited to enter this tournament for this is an open tourney.

Entry fee is $30. per team and entry fees must be turned into the Center office no later than noon, Feb. 17. At this time brackets will be drawn to determine pairings. Teams traveling from outside of town will be given preference for the late games each night. Entry fees should be mailed to P.O. Box 1164, Pampa, Texas to reach the office by the deadline. This will be a consolation type tourney with each team guaranteed to play two games.

SWIM LESSONS—Enrollment is now going on for the swim lessons to be given in Feb. and March. Parents should check the list of classes below and sign up early.

Classes will meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meeting dates with the classes lasting one hour. We are closed on Tuesdays during the school year. All classes will be taught by Ruth Carter, our resident water safety instructor. Enrollment is free to Center members and $4 for non-members.

WOMEN'S EXERCISE CLASS—The Center sponsors an exercise class just for women on Monday and Fridays each week during the school year. This class exercises from 9:30 a.m. till 10:00 a.m. and then those that want to swim do so until 11:00 a.m. Exercises are led by Mary Nell Phillips or Judy Everett and guidance is through a series of records. To participate you need only be a Center member. This costs only $5 for six months or $8 per year.

SWIM CLUB—The Dolphin swim club is working out each day now from 6-7 p.m. in conditioning drills preparing for their next meet. Any boy or girl 8 years of age or older is invited to join the club and participate.

The Dolphin swim coach is Everett Gray of Pampa and he would encourage anyone who knows how to swim to come and enter in. There is approximately one swim meet each month during the school year and several during the summer months. The meets are on Sat. and Sun. now. Come by and meet our coach and talk to him about joining the club.

MEMBERSHIPS—Our method of operation financial wise is through a membership plan. The Center is not tax supported in any way and must sustain its own operation by means of a charge for membership and use of the facilities. The cost for memberships though are so economical that everyone can afford them.

The Center offers two types of memberships for those interested, the limited and unlimited. The limited membership is for those who like to play in the gym, swim, or use the recreation hall, but does not want to use the health facilities. This membership is $5 for six months or $8 per year for an individual. For a family the cost is $12 for six months or $20 per year.

The unlimited membership gives you the same privileges as the limited, but in addition allows you full use of the new health facility. The health facility has all the exercise equipment, 2 handball courts and a sauna room. The cost for an individual is $65 for six months or $118 per year. For a husband-wife combination the cost is only $90 for six months or $160.00 per year.

BASKETBALL LEAGUE: High point men and scores: First Baptist Church 68; George Smith 24 pts. Coca-Cola Bottling Co. 65; Bill Rapp 22 pts. First National Bank 67; Merle Terrell 20 pts. Stinnett 58; James Thibodeaux 28 pts. Borger 84 Nealy Simpson and David Douglas 20 pts. Celanese 60; Bill Cornman 23 pts.

Pollution Causes Chronic Ills

NEW YORK (UPI)—It's time to link the rise in chronic illness to pollution, says Dr. John J. Hanlon, assistant surgeon general of the Public Health Service.

"It is frustrating to hear sometimes from fellow professionals that the predominant illnesses of the day—malignancies, cardiovascular diseases, chronic respiratory diseases, and the like—are more prevalent because people live longer and have time to acquire these conditions," he said at the 1970 clinical meeting of the American Medical Association.

"This is a gross oversimplification. Chronic and degenerative physical and mental ailments have increased, probably in large part because of environmental changes which have resulted from extensive and ever-increasing industrialization and urbanization."

Explosives Required To Be Licensed After February 12

DALLAS, Tex.—After Feb. 12 any person engaging in the manufacturing, importing or dealing in explosives is required to be licensed under the Explosives Control Act of 1970, Bill L. Gaunt, Southwest Asst. Regional Commissioner of IRS Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Division cautioned today.

Gaunt also pointed out that any person who intends to acquire explosives from a licensee in a state other than his state of residence or from a foreign country, or who intends to transport explosives in interstate or foreign commerce must have a Federal permit after Feb. 12.

"All those businesses engaged in the manufacturing, importing or dealing in explosive materials on or before Oct. 15, 1970, will be allowed to continue in the business after Feb. 12, provided they have made application for the new license by that date.

To apply for a license, Gaunt said, explosives manufacturers, importers, and dealers must file a Form 4705, in duplicate, with the Service Center Director for the IRS District in which the applicant is to do business. Forms 4705 are available from the Dallas office of the IRS Assistant Regional Commissioner (Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms) or from any IRS office.

The applications should include the appropriate cash, money order or check, Gaunt said. The license fees are: manufacturer—$50, manufacturer-limited (non-renewable)—$5, importer—$50, and dealer—$20.

CAN'T SHAVE EITHER

WEYMOUTH, England (UPI)—Jim Marner is having difficulty getting rid of his flowing nylon beard. He wore the false whiskers to a ball Saturday night but was unable to get them off when he got home.

This Week In Review

By C. W. ORR
United Press International
Apollo 14 astronauts landed on the moon last week in the first manned lunar mission primarily devoted to scientific exploration.

Alan B. Shepard and Edgar D. Mitchell landed on a slope in the Fra Mauro valley which scientists believe may hold some of the secrets of how the moon was created and how long ago. They were to make two moonwalks to pick up rocks that may be as old as five-billion years.

While Shepard and Mitchell were on the moon in the Antares lunar module, Stuart A. Roosa circled it photographing potential landing sites for next year's Apollo 16 mission.

On the way to the moon, the Apollo 14 astronauts encountered trouble with the latches used to dock Antares and the moon orbiter, Kitty Hawk, and with a battery on the lander. But those were overcome and the decision for the landing was made.

Also last week Allied officials finally broke silence and disclosed that nearly 9,000 troops, including 9,000 Americans, were poised in Northeast South Vietnam for a possible attack into Laos. The United States said no GIs would move into Laos.

The United Arab Republic agreed to extend its truce with Israel for another month. It had been due to expire Friday.

Telephone service was established between West Berlin and East Berlin for the first time in 19 years.

President Nixon sent Congress his annual economic message. He set goals of reducing unemployment and easing the inflation rate.

The U.S. Postal Service proposed increases in postal rates to keep the mails on a paying basis. First-class letters, now six cents, would go to eight cents, airmail to 11 cents from 10 cents and a postcard up from a nickel to seven cents.

The National Institute of Mental Health reported that nearly one-third of U.S. college students have tried marijuana.

The Federal Trade Commission asked Congress to require health warnings in cigarette advertising and to move the warning on cigarette packages to the front and make it stronger.

The Food and Drug Administration announced its program to remove tainted tuna from groceries was completed and all stocks remaining were below the danger level for mercury. But it said it has found most swordfish sampled is above its guidelines for an acceptable amount of mercury.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced that Negro players kept out of the major leagues during segregation days will be eligible for baseball's Hall of Fame. A special committee will meet each year to pick players from the Negro leagues.

Twenty-five persons were killed when a munitions plant at Brunswick, Ga., was destroyed by an explosion and fire and eight persons were killed in gas main explosions in Lambertville, N.J.

Duplicate Bridge

By LILLIAN JORDAN
Monday night seven tables played a Mitchell movement in the Coronado Inn. Winners were: North and South—Vella Hamilton and Lois Maguire first; Mary Smith and Jim Philpott second; Ruby Morrow and Mary Stafford third. East and West—Theresa McKinney and Warren Mayo first; Lillian Jordan and Fred Richmond second; Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Dobkins third.

Sunday afternoon a Champagne Bridge tournament for Open Pairs was held in the Coronado Inn, honoring Mrs. Jim Philpott, a new Life Master, with sixteen tables in play. An American Contract Bridge League gold card, lapel and certificate were presented to Mrs. Philpott in recognition of this honor, which is the highest award given by the American Contract Bridge League.

Lois Roach directed this tournament, and winners were: North and South—Petty Dunbar and Vella Hamilton first; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Nation second; Ruth Goodwyn and Betty Garren third; Aline Mundy and Janet Warner fourth; Mr. and Mrs. Quentaine Williams fifth; Marguerite Philpott and Frances Hampton sixth. East and West—Audrey Campbell and Ethel Clay first and first overall; Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Smith second; Alice Smith and Theresa McKinney third; Thelma Clark and Gladys Forsha fourth; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Casey fifth; Grace Anisman and Lillian Jordan sixth.

Friday afternoon eight tables played a Mitchell movement in the Pampa Country Club. Winners were: North and South—Carmel Hagaman and Theresa McKinney first; Jessie Mayo and Betty Garren second; Vella Baker and Gladys Forsha third. East and West—Ethel Clay and Alice Smith first; Betty Hodges and Icie Harrah second; Barbara Wells and Betty Dunbar third. This club will hold its annual Valentine Open Pairs Tournament on Friday afternoon, February 12, at 2 p.m. and dinner will be served to members and guests following the bridge game.

A Howell movement was played Saturday night in the Coronado Inn. Winners were: Mr. and Mrs. Jim Philpott first; Ted for second and third—Marie Jameson and Mary McKnight

George Philpott is now a Certified Bridge Director, which makes a total of ten Certified Directors for the Pampa clubs. The Shamrock Duplicate Club will hold an Open Pairs Club Championship game on Tuesday night, February 9, and all players are invited to this game.

World's Largest Livestock Show Will Be Held In Houston Feb. 24

Hank Jordan, Gray County 4-H Club member has entered one Poland China and one Hampshire Barrow in the 1971 Houston Livestock Show, Feb. 24 through March 7, to be held in the 16-acre Houston Livestock Show Exposition Building, adjacent to the domed stadium. The Houston show is the largest livestock show in the world, and this year, entry figures and premium money are expected to exceed all previous years. Last year's 17,756 livestock entries set a record. Classes are provided for nine beef breeds, four dairy breeds, five swine breeds, 11 sheep breeds, five horse breeds, five rabbit breeds, 22 poultry breeds and Angora goats.

Among other programs benefiting youth on a statewide basis are the scholarship and research programs. The Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo annually presents scholarships to outstanding FFA and 4-H Club members in the amount of $4,000 each. More than 40 students are currently attending college on scholarships provided by this non-profit civic event.

The research program was established in 1970 by the show to be conducted in nine Texas agricultural colleges. Much of the work is done by students, thus providing jobs for those college students who need work. The knowledge shared through this $100,000 research program directly benefits Texas agri-business.

Dates for the 1971 Houston Show are Feb. 24 through March 7, with the first two days set aside solely for livestock judging and sales.

The rodeo will open on Feb. 26 with Johnny Cash headlining matinee and evening performances on Feb. 26, 27, and 28. B.J. Thomas will appear at evening performances on March 1, 2, 3 and 4. Glen Campbell stars at the evening performance March 5 and the matinee and evening performances March 6 and 7.

Tickets may be obtained by writing the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, P.O. Box 20070, Houston, Texas 77025.

GIRLS EMBARRASSED
CHORLEY WOOD, England (UPI)—Village officials have decided to put a fence around the town's common because of protests about courting couples using the area. The protest came from the head of the Girl Guide group whose headquarters border on the green. She said the couples embarrassed her girls.

Hollywood In Review

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Charlton Heston has starred in 35 movies, only five of which included contemporary wardrobe.

"All the rest were costumes of one sort or another," said the man with the face of an ancient Mediterranean noble or perhaps a biblical prophet.

In his pictures, which include Shakespeare, science fiction, Westerns and sports stories, Chuck finds himself garbed in almost everything but a shirt and tie.

His new picture, "I Am Legend," requires him to dress in contemporary clothes. That is, a suit, necktie and shoes.

"I felt uneasy in that wardrobe," the big guy said. At the time he was wearing a turtle-neck sports shirt, jacket and slacks.

Some Feel Uneasy
"A good many actors feel uneasy in costumes. Steve McQueen, Paul Newman and James Garner, for instance. Even when they're in Western outfits, they play modern men.

"I like a distinctive wardrobe for a role. It helps me."

While doing "The Ten Commandments" Heston remained in the robes of Moses all day. He ate lunch alone in his dressing room to hold the image in his mind.

"The longer I remained in the football uniform for 'Number One,'" he said, "the more I convinced myself I was a quarterback."

"During the making of one picture in a 900-year-old Mexican town I stayed on a horse for hours at a time. The heat, dirt and sweat of Chili Fandango gave me the feeling of a horse soldier."

More than anything he wears on his back, Heston's face is responsible for the fact that only one-seventh of his roles have been contemporary.

"His face fits a toga, sandals and laurel wreath."

"It's true," Heston agreed. "Some actors—Paul Newman, for example—have a modern face. I can't picture him playing an ancient Greek or Roman."

"But it's more than an actor's face and his wardrobe that helps him fill out a character. In my new picture there is a curious evocation of reality in driving a car down empty streets and tearing down an abandoned freeway at 70 miles per hour."

"It is that sort of atmosphere and special-effects that place an actor in his character, too. Even if he's wearing a necktie."

THAT GIVENCHY TOUCH

NEW YORK (ED) — "This year, I'm committed to an elegant total look. It doesn't matter if a woman's clothes are made by the finest couturier, if her make-up doesn't compliment her then the look fails." Those are the words of Hubert de Givenchy. Delivered authoritatively by the tall (six foot, six inches) handsome, Gallic designer, they're words to be heeded. When it comes to fashion, Givenchy is used to being heard and obeyed. Rising from a beginning job at Jacques Fath to his own salon, Givenchy has dressed some of the most elegant women in the world—from Jacqueline the way the intelligent woman feels about beauty in relation to herself. Givenchy, himself, has designed a cosmetic line that's simple and effective so every woman can look her best. With this philosophy in mind, Givenchy has created several new eye shadows and lipsticks designed for the most natural look possible. His Glace Eye Shadows, cool, lively, barely there take a clear-eyed look at autumn in Lime Glace, Plum Glace and Strawberry. All brush naturally. His new elegantly-packaged lipsticks are named after two of his favorite mannequins. They're Mona, a dusting of soft strawberry and Erika, pale, peachy, nearly nude. Givenchy's cosmetics are right in style. Coupled with the emergence of simple beauty in fashion, they spell the return of the naturally elegant woman.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I see where the fellows of the 8th Security Police Squadron (Combat) want a pinup picture of you, and you agree to favor them with only a "head" shot. While I was doing free-lance news photography, I had the pleasure of meeting you a couple of years ago, and while you have taken some "rather pointed" shots at bachelors (and I am one), you are a real good looking gal with a cute (but tiny) figure, and with what you have to offer as a photographic subject, the boys of that Police Squadron rate a photo that is a little more inclusive than just a "head" shot. I'm not suggesting something suitable for Playboy magazine, but a photo in keeping with your image and station in life. I would even volunteer to do one free for nuttin', if it wouldn't antagonize your husband.

JAMES A. BERRIGAN
SCOTIA, N.Y.
DEAR MR. B.: Thanks for your generous offer, but I just asked my husband if you could take my picture, and he gave me a quick negative.

DEAR ABBY: Twenty-two years ago we bought this crib which we placed next to our bed. We had seven children, and each one slept in that crib. The youngest is now seven and the crib has been empty for more than four years, but my husband refuses to let me take it away. Whenever I suggest moving the crib out, he gets real angry and says I can move it out when he's dead and not until. (He hangs a lot of shirts on it that he has worn only once and doesn't want washed yet.)

It's an eyesore and a nuisance. I want to take that crib away but I'm afraid to cross him. Please tell me what to do.

HATFIELD, PA.
DEAR HATFIELD: I am not about to advise a woman who is "afraid to cross" her husband to cross him anyway, and risk having her bridgework rearranged. Unless he agrees to let you replace the crib with a clothes rack, skip it.

DEAR ABBY: A wife signed "Jealous" wondered what to do when her husband announced that he was going to a nude girle show, and you made the shocking reply that after she had indicated her disapproval and he went anyway, there was nothing she could do.

Really, Abby! Surely you can do better than that. I know, I can. Besides raising hell—if he gets out of line, I would go on a strike. No cooking, no cleaning, no laundry, no nothing. In other words, I would let him know what a rotten wife I can be if he wants to be a rotten husband.

TRAINED HIM
DEAR TRAINED: And what about the wife who goes on a strike and finds that her husband can hire someone to do all the household services she withholds? The eye for an eye theory doesn't work, here. Two moves apiece and you're both blind.

CONFIDENTIAL to the many who wrote to blast me for my refusal to put down the homosexual: The most burdensome problem the homosexual must bear is the stigma placed upon him by an unenlightened and intolerant society. Their sexual bent is as natural and normal for them as ours is for us. They are neither "sick" nor degenerate. They are simply "different." Mine is a plea for compassion and understanding for these misunderstood and mistreated souls. They, too, are God's children.

B-151 with Photo-Guide is in New Sizes, 8-18 (Bust 31½-40). Size 10, 32½ bust... 27½ yards of 45-inch material for dress and scarf as shown, sleeveless version.

Send $1 for this pattern to: YOUNG ORIGINALS (Pampa Daily News), P.O. Box 438A, Midtown Station, New York, N.Y. 10018. Print name, address, with zip code, pattern number and size Add 25 cents for first-class handling.

NEW WAY TO BE SUDDENLY SLIM

Los Angeles—Are you a woman whose figure is on the good side but might look perfect? You'll be thrilled by the new easy way science has discovered for you to become Suddenly Slim and yet completely comfortable. If you're more than 15 pounds overweight, or your waistline is larger than 32 inches, then this idea is not for you. If your weight problem falls within this range, then you can realize a new, smoother figure today, without diet or exercise. Suddenly Slim is an all-new kind of 4-oz. girdle constructed of science fibers: One startling innovation is the sheer nylon front panel. This is permanently stiffened by a science process and cannot give or sag. It's surrounded by a slimming action border. A featherstitched panel down each side of this girdle will contour your hips if they are a problem.

The girdle itself is of a "wonder" Lycra spandex blend. It's a new power net consisting of nylon, acetate and spandex. It is so comfortable, but has such slimming strength, it gives your figure everything that's possible with a foundation. "Suddenly Slim," in both girdle and panty versions, is the peak achievement of the California designer-genius, Olga. They are available at

POLLY'S POINTERS

Seamstress Creates Afghans From Upholstery

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—My Pointer is particularly for the reader who had a lot of upholstery samples she wanted to use. I cannot knit but wanted an afghan. I had a lot of corduroy pieces that I cut into six-inch squares, sewed them together until I had the desired size and backed it all with a piece of cotton in a solid color. I zigzag-stitched over every other seam. If larger squares were used they could be stitched through the center instead of over the seams. I have made several of these gifts and matching pillows.

DEAR POLLY—Try this on a sample of the fabric first to see the effect of the polish. Even if it shows through a bit and forms a shadowy line around the design it may be preferable to a raveling edge.

DEAR POLLY—We keep a piece of nylon net in our bathroom and find it quickly removes the ring in either the washbasin or the tub without any abrasive action.

DEAR POLLY—I use a pastry brush AND a small plastic bottle full of oil to grease the top of a freshly baked bread and small pans, such as muffin tins. This way I always get the right amount and never have any waste.

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I wish someone would please tell me how to melt soap. I have many small pieces I would like to melt to make large bars. A double-boiler does not work as someone suggested to me. Also, does the soap have to be cut into very small pieces?

DEAR POLLY—Now that blinds are the "in" thing for the windows many of us are applying flowers or other appliques cut from drapery fabric to them. I point the reverse side of the material where it is to be cut with colorless nail polish and this keeps the edges from raveling, saves a lot of sewing and makes a neater finish.

Mobeetie Group Meets For Crafts

MOBEETIE (Spl)—The Mobeetie Arts and Craft Club met in the home of Mrs. Novlene Simpson to work on pillowcases and barefoot sandals. Refreshments were served to members, Meses. Bessie Galmor, Charlotte Coward, Goldie Gordon, Claudia Quarles and Novlene Simpson. The next meeting will be Feb. 10 at the home of Mrs. Goldie Gordon.

Mason Presents Program For OES

MOBEETIE (Spl)—The Mobeetie Order of Eastern Star No. 554, met Feb. 2 in the Masonic Lodge Bldg. with Mrs. Jess Patterson, worthy matron, in charge of the meeting. Clyde Hodges of Miami, a Masonic ambassador, presented a talk from the Masonic Lodge to the Eastern Star.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Beulah Grimes and Mrs. Bessie Galmor to Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Dodson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hodges, Mr. and Mrs. Williamson and Mrs. Alice Hardin, all of Miami, and members Mr. and Mrs. Jess Patterson, Mr. and Mrs. E.E. Car Accident Sparks Riot In Belfast

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI)—A British army scout car accidentally ran over and killed a five-year-old girl in Belfast. There were reports of extremists paying children money to spearhead bomb and rock-throwing surges against the troops.

Army spokesmen said a British army patrol car ran over the child near the predominantly Roman Catholic New Lodge area. The girl was dead on arrival at a local hospital. Spokesmen said she fell under the wheels of the car which was driving at about five miles an hour.

The incident sparked a riot by several hundred stone and bottle throwing Roman Catholics and the army had to rush reinforcements to the area. After a 40-minute confrontation, the crowd had been reduced.

Brig. Gen. Marston Tickell said Monday that the extremists had resorted to new tactics by placing women and children in front of snipers and rock throwers thereby forcing the troops to hold fire.

An even stronger statement came from Robin Chichester-Clark, a member of the British Parliament and brother of James Chichester-Clark, northern Ireland's premier.

Chichester-Clark told Parliament in London Monday that "groups of IRA (Irish Republican Army) men are paying between 15 shillings ($1.80) and two pounds ($4.80) to small children to go out and pelt soldiers with missiles." He said the rioters then sheltered behind the children with their automatic weapons.

The death count from the violence which started last Wednesday, stood at four—one soldier and three civilians. Army spokesmen said the civilian toll could be higher because some of their casualties had been dragged away by other rioters.

On Belfast's Ballyhill Road, troops found the body of a man shot through the mouth, his pockets stuffed with tiny Irish Republican flags. An army spokesman said it was a traditional method of execution by the outlawed IRA which advocates the use of force, if necessary, to unite the north and south of Ireland. The dead man was believed to be an informer, the spokesman said.

New Books On Shelves

AMBER, A VERY PERSONAL CAT—Gladys Taber; gives sound and simple advice to cat owners about diet, house-breaking, ailments and discipline. The real heart of the book is the relationship between Amber and her owner.

HIJACKED—David Harper; Flight 901 has been hijacked, but neither the passengers nor the crew have any idea which of them is the hijacker.

BEHOLD, THE DRUID WEEPS—Marion Rippon; two Canadian women living in France learn their own secret fears as their strange cook follows the rituals of the ancient Druids.

THE SUPERMARKET TRAP—Jennifer Cross; in a time of sharply rising living costs, the author seeks to provide useful information about food producers and supermarkets, and how they operate, and to suggest ways in which shoppers may save money by making intelligent use of this information.

THE AMISTAD AFFAIR—Christopher Martin; a dramatic account of the Amistad affair of the 1840's when fifty Liberian slaves captured the ship that was taking them to the U.S., killed the captain and some of the crew, and tried to sail back to Africa.

ISLANDS IN THE STREAM—Ernest Hemingway; the reader will come to know the inner life of a complex and interesting man, and will experience the unique combination of sympathy and understanding that a work of literature is able to produce.

THE WITCH AND THE PRIEST—Hilda Lewis; a novel based on the true story of Joan Flower, the infamous 17th Century witch.

Debt of Honor: Despite all the talk, Japan may never open diplomatic discussions with Communist China so long as President Chiang Kai-shek, 83, lives. The Japanese owe a personal debt to Chiang which makes it difficult for them to go against the Nationalist Chinese ruler. Although Japan fought most of World War II in China, the Chinese Nationalists voluntarily waived war damage claims against Japan, one of the few Asian nations who do so.

Testing the Water: More ships flying the red and gold flag of Communist China will be seen in foreign ports. Shipyards on the Chinese mainland are turning out more cargo ships. Others are on order from foreign countries, including Poland. Peking's government-controlled sea transport company says its goal is to have half of China's foreign trade carried in her own ships "as soon as possible." That's bad news for Japanese shipping companies. Because of China's small merchant marine, Japanese shippers have won the lions share of the cargo business in the $820 million-a-year two-way trade between the two nations.

Kremlin Excuse: The SALT talks are not the only place where the Soviets are using Indochina as an excuse for footdragging. Qualified diplomats in London say the harder Moscow line on American involvement in Southeast Asia is intended first of all to undercut Red China's influence in Hanoi. Next it is being used to justify Kremlin delaying tactics on attempts to ease tension over Berlin. It also affects Moscow's stand on a proposed European security conference soon. For months this has been a favorite Soviet Gloomy Outlook: The United States and Soviet Union are scheduled to resume their Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) on March 15. Prospects for forward progress are not considered good. In the first round last year, the Soviets came close to agreeing to curb their giant SS9 missiles. Now that possibility is waning. At the same time the Russians are hinting that U.S. activities in Indochina and attacks on Soviet diplomats in America could torpedo the talks altogether.

Smoked Rite Bacon: The study of Hollywood in the 1930s now has been rescheduled to Feb. 18. And this coming Thursday, "NET Playhouse" will present the 1932 film "Once In A Lifetime," a spoof of the foibles and excesses of Hollywood, based on the George S. Kaufman-Moss Hart play, and featuring Jack Oakie as "a zany supervisor who brings something less than foresight and expertise to a motion picture studio trying to adjust to the advent of talking pictures."

Indication of the growth: Interest in college basketball video: Saturday night's game between UCLA and the University of Southern California not only was shown across the nation on a syndicate basis, but was seen live on television here in Los Angeles, site of the contest—and then rerun here twice the same night, once shortly after the game, the second time in the wee hours on a station that shows all night movies.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
 HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Watching the two televised Apollo 14 moonwalks that ended during the weekend, one couldn't help thinking what a blasé nation we are. Although there have been only a handful of these lunar walks, there seemed little word-of-mouth excitement except for the matter-of-fact comments about how wonderful it all was. It was more than wonderful, of course. And yet, from a television point of view, the coverage problem was that, aside from the viewer having to bring his or her personal interest to the event, there was little new visually to provoke fascination among the more blasé members of the citizenry. Well, there was color, of course—for the first time. And that was really something, generating a whole new reaction to our first images of the moon in black-and-white. But, alas, our senses are pounded with promises of the new and the spectacular so much every day here at home on earth, that we find it difficult to be thrilled very long with almost anything. At any rate, for those still capable of feeling excitement, the splashdown of Apollo 14 is scheduled for Tuesday afternoon, and video watchers will be able to see the story, as it happens, on the networks.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI) — For years the United Nations has sponsored programs of technical assistance for the underdeveloped areas of the world. Let us hope it now will do something to help the overdeveloped areas.

The worsening plight of overdeveloped areas was pointed up last week by the power shortages that occurred throughout the Northeast section of the United States. As is typical of an overdeveloped area, Northeastern America has a splendid power network that meets all of its electrical needs—except in winter and summer. Unfortunately, those two seasons happen to comprise a substantial part of the year. In an underdeveloped area, power shortages can be overcome by expanding the generating capacity. But in an overdeveloped area, there is little or no space for expansion. So the only alternative is to use less electricity. Which doesn't work either. The trouble is that inhabitants of the region are totally dependent on electric appliances. Without such implements as electric carving knives, shavers, fingernail files, can openers, blenders and eyebrow pencils, they couldn't survive 24 hours. This is where the United Nations could perform an important role. What I have in mind is a U.N. program under which technical advisers from underdeveloped areas would be sent into overdeveloped areas to help the natives learn to make do with less electricity. For example, a team of skilled rug-beaters from Afghanistan might be sent to New York City to teach housewives how to dust carpets without an electric vacuum cleaner. Idealistic young bongo players from Guatemala could be recruited to tour the American Northeast showing home owners and apartment dwellers how to rap on doors, thus enabling them to disconnect their electric door chimes. Citrus experts from the Malay Archipelago undoubtedly would volunteer to give instructions in squeezing oranges by hand, thereby reducing reliance on electric juicers. Opportunities for de-electricification assistance of this sort are virtually unlimited. And I feel certain that those who participate in the program will find the experience deeply rewarding. For they will have the satisfaction of helping electric gadget addicts learn to live unplugged.

MAN SENTENCED
 MANILLA (UPI)—When Soronio Molito was brought before the court this weekend for setting off a stick of dynamite because he had an argument with his wife, the judge asked him how long it would take to come down. "Sometimes two months," Sir... replied Molito, a fisherman. The judge promptly sentenced him to two months in jail.

JEANE DIXON

Your Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, FEB. 10, 1971
YOUR BIRTHDAY WEDNESDAY: An exciting year begins of newness for a more direct expression of your potentials. Abrupt changes may involve some sacrifices. Wednesday's natives have great energy, often take one extreme or the other.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): With the best intentions in the world, friends can offer bad advice. Your goal should be to keep life simple. Younger people appeal to your emotions.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The fine art of making yourself and your work known without making a spectacle becomes an issue. Handling of money is favored. A coincidence results in saving.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Good-naturedly share a wild story with friends. Amidst the evening's diversions is a serious thought or communication, if you want it.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Wednesday's promises endless discussions, complications to be explained. A full schedule of work must be done as well. An agreeable disposition helps.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 21): Negotiate Wednesday morning. The initiative is in your hands. Bring home a cheerful surprise for your loved ones Wednesday evening.

VIRGO (Aug. 22-Sept. 21): Attend to formal applications, bids, significant business proposals. Friends are new, expansive and may abruptly widen a social circle with new people.

LIBRA (Sept. 22-Oct. 21): Competence finally emerges as the key factor in your success. Consultation among friends brings wider perspective. Enjoy an evening with quiet people.

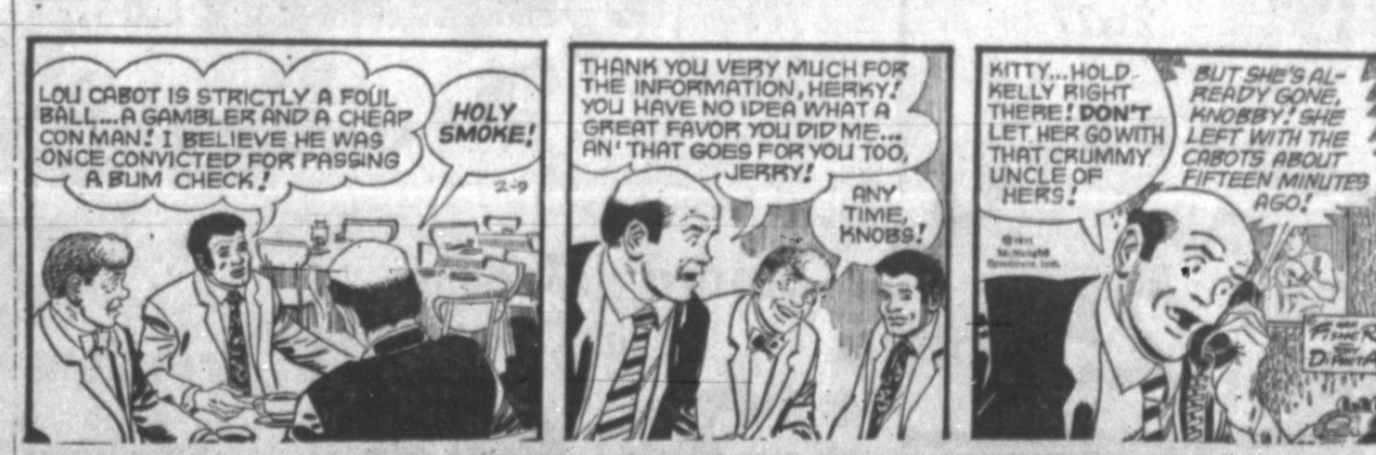

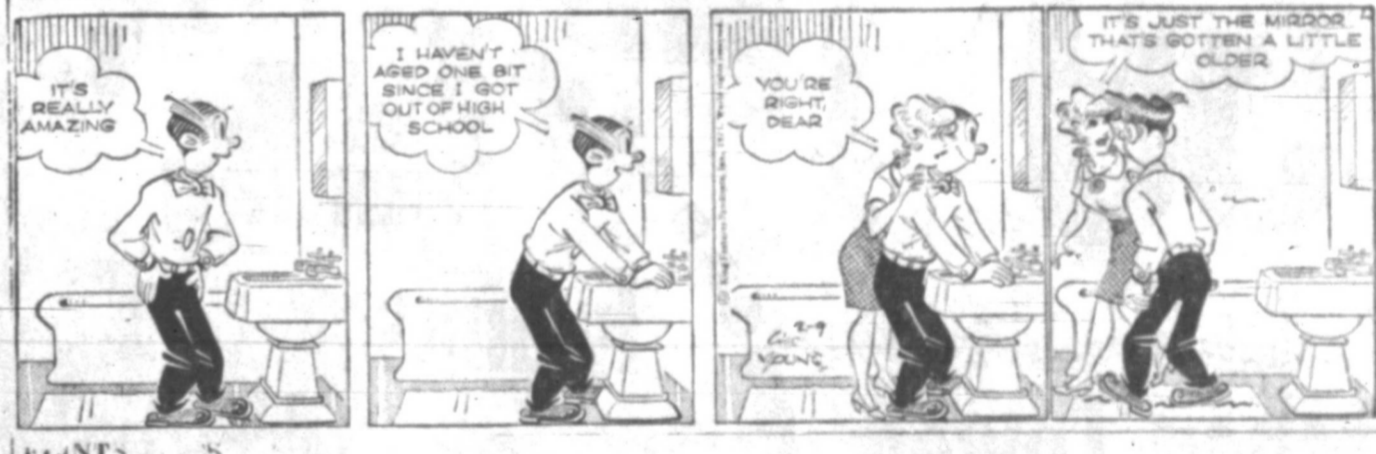

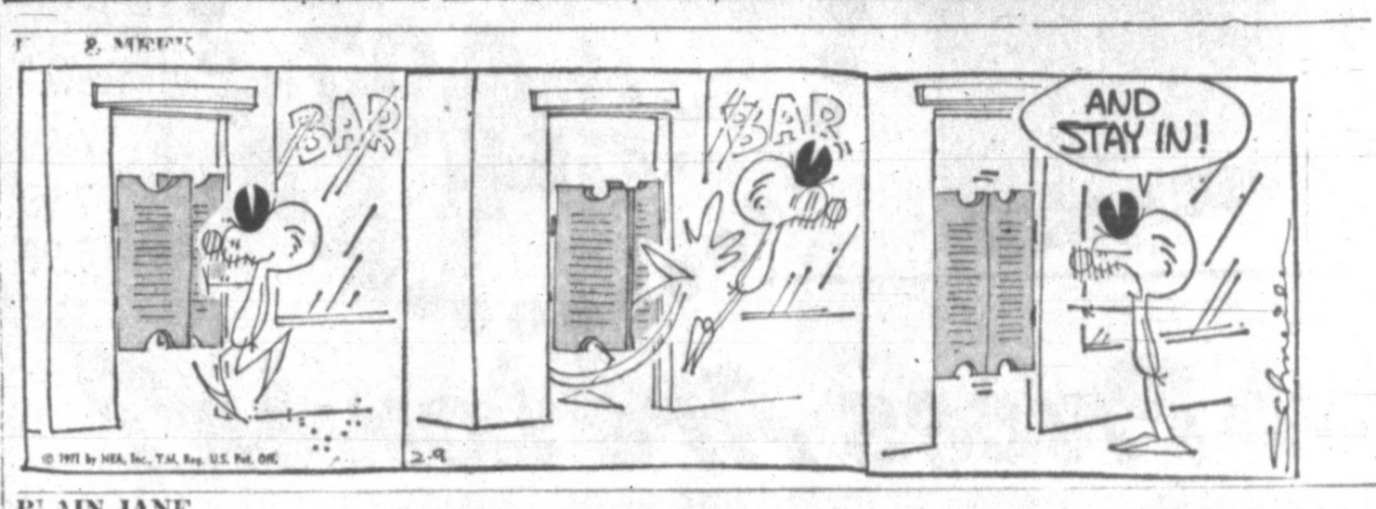

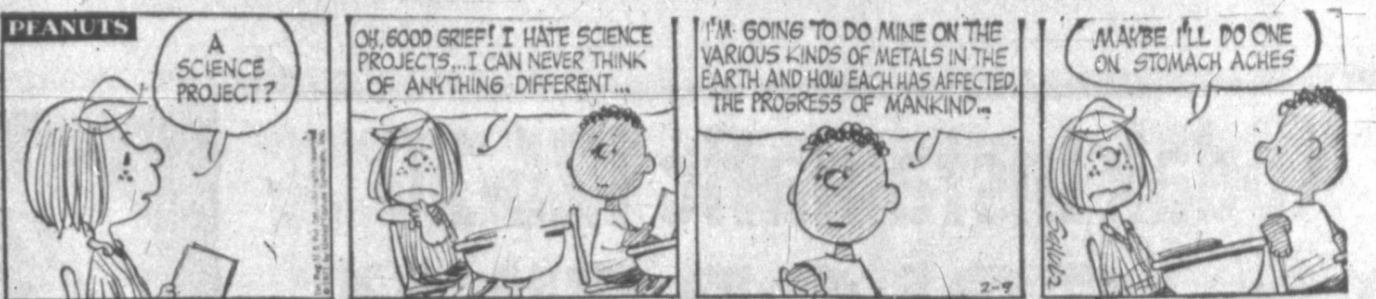

SCORPIO (Oct. 22-Nov. 21): Know the situation before you force justice. Friends are sensitive about being mixed into promotion schemes--leave them out. Get other opinions on any property you are contemplating. It may not be so urgent.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Get your regular work done in reasonable time, the more the better. Catch up on news; pass along constructive stories.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): You can enter a partnership or both, but make change constructive in your life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): This may be remembered as the day your contracts and changes in work conditions Wednesday morning. Be optimistic for a sounder relationship afterward.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Postpone career decisions. If you can take time off, do so. Rest, meditate. Your loved ones are not fooled by alibis or stories.

Montgomery Ward offers a wide and varied selection of quality merchandise from its large retail store located here in Coronado Center. Should the item in which you are interested not be in regular stock, do not forget to check with the catalog counter which is located in the center of the large store, just behind the radio and television department.

Montgomery Ward's 1971 spring and summer catalog is introducing ecological products such as three models of air purifiers for home use, a new no-phosphate detergent and a compost mill that grinds leaves and garden waste into rich fertilizer.

"These and other new products have been developed to help reduce environmental pollution," according to Sanford W. Alfred, vice president of Ward's catalog merchandising.

The catalog indicates 1971 will be a year when all skirt lengths and all pant styles will be "in," Alfred said, pointing out that "all our styles are based on the advice of Ward's council of internationally famous fashion designers."

Many new products have been designed to lighten work loads or to make living easier and more fun.

One such item is an automobile speed control that, with a push of a button, will hold an automobile at the driver's desired speed. The driver need not keep his foot on the accelerator and he can disengage the control by touching the brake pedal.

Another educational innovation is an at-home speed reading program that also improves comprehension. In kit form, it contains a guidebook, an eye-span trainer with three speed settings, short story collections, worksheets and other materials.

Women who like to sew are offered a lightweight zig-zag sewing machine weighing only 20 pounds, half the weight of an ordinary machine. It has three-way built-in buttonholer, an automatic blind stitcher and a sewing light.

More than six million copies of the 1,220-page catalog are now being distributed.

Alfred points out that the new catalog offers "many significant savings, including hundreds of price cuts and more than a hundred "special value" offerings.

These special values are quality merchandise procured at a special price by Wards with the saving passed to the customer. They are identified in the catalog by a "preferred buy" label.

Other new offerings in the Ward catalog are:

- An electronic calculator that features constant multiplication and division as well as chain multiplication and division.
- A movie projector that uses film cartridges, shuts off when the film runs out and rewinds at the touch of a switch.
- Seamless, sturdy molded plastic furniture in new contours and vivid colors.
- A heavy-duty fiberglass row boat with a hand-laid hull.
- A psychedelic black light that adds an exciting color change to room furnishings, clothing, pictures or posters.
- An air impact cutter for removing mufflers and tailpipes and other work that delivers up

NEW YORK (UPI)—It is hard for us cynics in the financial community to appreciate the shock effect of the President's catechumen Keynesian zealotry on those stolid middle American minds that are still glorying in our return to economic normalcy.

Bradbury K. Thurlow of Hopkin, Watson & Co. says. The company believes the administration is "engaging in manipulation of economic mass psychology on a scale never before attempted" and adds any attempt to "fine tune stockmarket forecasts in such an environment may be just as pointless as the government's attempts to fine tune the economy."

Olen's Tune-Up Offers February Special - Free

During the big February special at Olen's Tune-Up, Olen Anderson is ready and waiting to welcome back his old customers and also ready to greet the new. If your car needs a front end inspection, now is the time for you to take advantage of the February special at Olen's. Olen, along with Jimmy Gillam and Roy Hunter, will inspect the front end of your car absolutely free.

This offer includes shocks, ball joints, tie-rod ends, alignment, and wheel balance. Olen will then offer to align the front end, criss-cross all four tires, and balance them for the low price of $19.50.

Old shock absorbers cause a rough ride. They are very dangerous. On bumpy roads, it is easy to lose control of your car. Worn shocks allow undue strain on the chassis by not cushioning the weight of passengers or loads. At Olen's Tune-Up, you can get shock
