City Sets Up Major Disaster Plan

Canadian Inmates Release Hostages; One Prisoner Dies

KINGSTON, Ont. (UPI)—One prisoner was killed and 11 were injured, one seriously, but five prison guards being held hostage since Wednesday were released safe and unharmed Sunday by inmates occupying the central block of the Kingston Penitentiary.

Before hurrying back to Ottawa where he was expected to tell the Commons today what happened, Solicitor-General Jean-Pierre Goyer ended a day of complete silence early Sunday evening, announcing the release of the hostages and saying the situation at the prison was stable, with authorities in complete control.

No explanation was offered as to how the prisoners were injured but official sources said, "none were injured by the authorities."

Six hostages were taken by the inmates Wednesday. One had been released Friday as a sign of good faith in mediation efforts with authorities.

Specific details on the demands have never been made public. They were presented to Goyer in Ottawa Friday by a five-man committee of prominent citizens formed at the request of the prisoners.

At the time of the takeover, the prisoners complained of several things—brutality by guards, snoring devices they said had been installed at new prisons to which they were about to be transferred and excessive surveillance by guards which they said gave them little time for work or recreation.

County Included In Request Made To White House

Representative Phil Cates, Lefors, early today advised County Judge Don Cain that Gray County had been included in a request made by Governor Smith to President Nixon that 87 Texas Counties be declared disaster areas due to drought conditions. The counties would be eligible for any forthcoming programs designed to alleviate hardships caused by the dry conditions.

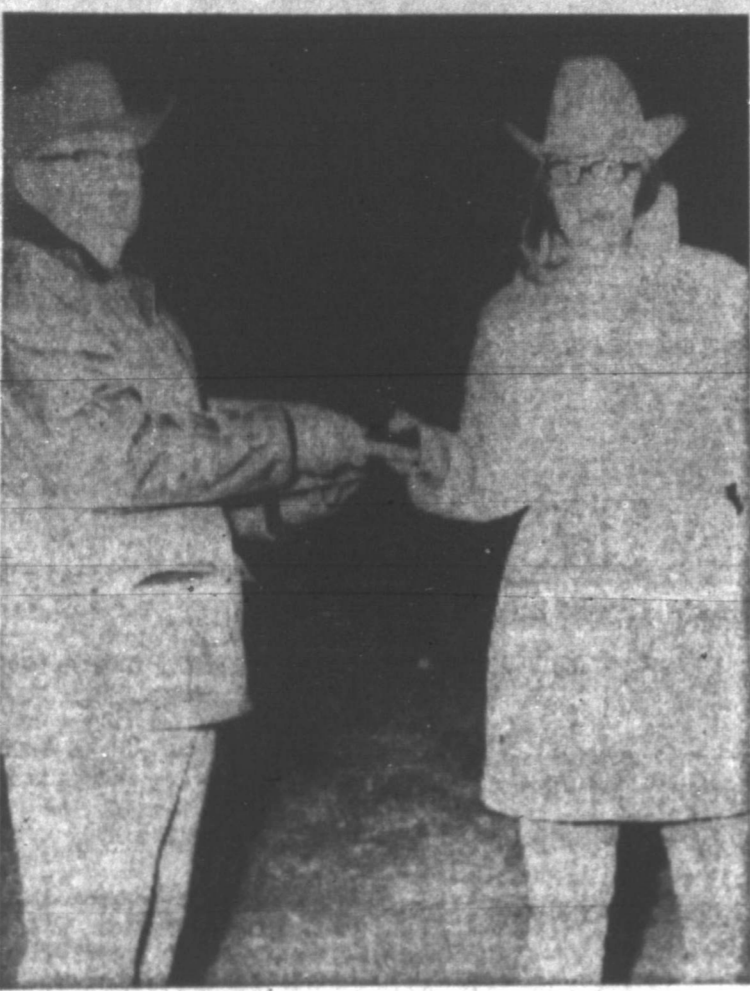

Cates had communicated last week with the judge to determine if any word had been received concerning the status of the county since the governor had been notified April 1 of the commissioners court decision to recommend the inclusion of Gray County in the area affected by drought.

Judge Cain advised him that the governor's office had acknowledged receipt of the information and request, but no word had been received here concerning action on the matter. Judge Cain requested Cates to check into the matter.

Cates' call—this morning verified that he had contacted the governor's office and was advised today that Gray County had been included in the request.

Judge Cain had forwarded copies of Gray County correspondence with the governor to Congressman Bob Price and Senator Max Sherman as well as Cates, on Friday in order to bring the situation up-to-date and to the attention of the lawmakers.

Gray County is now eligible for any relief measures which may be instituted in view of the drought conditions in the area, Cain said.

President Proclaims Wednesday Earth Day

Spring Fever view with concern for the environment Sunday as "Earth Week" got into full swing around the nation.

By presidential proclamation, with seconding by many governors, this week is Earth Week, with Wednesday officially "Earth Day."

In Philadelphia, 50,000 people, mostly young, sat on the grass of Fairmount Park and listened to a four-hour rock concert. The only obvious tie with Earth Week was an automobile ban in the 50-acre tract.

And then, some overzealous environment buffs parked their cars on a superhighway leading to the park, causing a traffic jam.

Three "Environmental Fairs" opened Sunday in New York. One, at Cobble Hill Park in Brooklyn, required a piece of

Soviet Launches Orbital Station

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union today launched an orbital scientific space station, apparently the beginning of a major space spectacular. The announcement by the Tass news agency did not say whether the station was manned.

Tass said all systems on board the station were "functioning normally" and a coordination-computing center on the ground was processing incoming information from the station.

The station was orbiting the earth at a maximum distance of 140 miles and a minimum of 125 miles.

Scientific sources in Moscow have been predicting a major space effort by the Russians for some days. They said the space station would be manned by two or more cosmonauts.

The TASS report of the launch of the Salute Sputnik without reporting details of its mission. Its orbit was exactly the same as that used in previous Soviet manned Soyuz flights.

Western space experts said they did not believe there were men on board and the TASS report did not specify. But the experts considered it likely Salute will be followed by one or more manned vehicles which will rendezvous and attempt construction of a space station.

Scientific sources in the Soviet capital previously had said a manned space spectacular was imminent.

The TASS report of the launch called the Sputnik a "station," suggesting it had a purpose different from previous unmanned shots usually called "sputniks," or "Scientific Satellites."

The Salute orbital parameters included an angle of inclination of 51.6 degrees, period of revolution of 88.5 minutes, maximum distance from the surface of the earth to 133 miles.

Tornado Hits Hereford, Causing Numerous Injuries, Heavy Damage

HEREFORD, Tex. (UPI)—A tornado from a violent weather system which prowled northern Texas slashed across Hereford early today, causing extensive damage, numerous injuries but no deaths.

Hereford City Commissioner H. A. Caviness said 30 to 40 persons were injured and five were hospitalized, none seriously.

The Hereford twister was one of six reported after midnight in the farmland of northern Texas. Others were sighted near Lubbock, Dalhart, Umlar, Amarillo and Dimmitt.

The Dimmitt tornado ripped the roof off a barn, but caused no other damage and no injuries.

Rain, hail and even snow fell from the storm system.

Called A Miracle
"It was just a miracle," said Herman Gonzales, 18, who rode out the Hereford twister with his mother in their house trailer. "It was just like lightning. We had no warning. We heard sirens blowing after it was over. We couldn't tell how high it carried us and we didn't bother to look out and see. We were afraid we would faint."

The tornado struck the industrial district on the southwest side of Hereford first. It moved northeastward for a few blocks, lifted off the ground to miss the downtown section and Deaf Smith County Hospital, then landed again, destroying the city bus station, a vocational school and several business before moving into a residential section and the trailer park where Gonzales lived.

Hospital Treats 20
Phyllis Cornelius, assistant director of nursing at Deaf Smith Hospital, said 20 persons were treated for injuries ranging from cuts and bruises to broken bones. Five persons were admitted for observation, two of them with heart attacks and three in shock.

Mrs. Gonzales said she watched the weather report on television late Sunday, then went to bed and slept until the tornado hit.

"I didn't see the tornado. I didn't know what was going on. I just felt it. We felt the trailer lift up the trailer, then drop it back down. After it was over we couldn't see any damage. It looked like it landed in the same place," she said.

Cool Front Reported
The weather system was produced by a cold front which moved slowly across western Texas.

The cold air hitting warm air kicked up the twister, dust, wind, rain, hail and for a brief period, snow.

The National Weather Service said a rain and snow mixture fell at the El Paso airport early today. Snow was also reported in the Franklin Mountains just west of El Paso.

A tornado watch was in effect for 37 northern Texas counties through the morning. Thunderstorm warnings were posted during the early hours.

Hail fell at Dalhart and throughout the northwest corner of the Panhandle. Pea size hail was reported at Lubbock.

The NWS said showers and thundershowers would spread eastward through Texas today with movement of the cold front. It was expected to cover the western half of the state today.

Strong southerly winds were expected to sweep the state ahead of the front, keeping temperatures high and skies clear.

The staff at Deaf Smith County Hospital had drilled like firemen and was more than ready when

Nixon Calls Welfare Plan A Big Failure

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI)—President Nixon said today the nation can no longer afford a welfare system "under which working people can be made to feel like fools by those who will not work."

The President called the present welfare system a "monumental failure" and said welfare reform was "White House priority No. 1."

Nixon said it is time to reverse the attitude that some jobs are demeaning. He said there is as much dignity in "scrubbing floors or emptying bed pans" as there is in any other job including the presidency.

"If a job puts bread on the table and gives you the satisfaction of providing for your children and lets you look everyone else in the eye, I do not think that is menial," he said.

Nixon made his comments among his toughest to date on the welfare system, in a speech prepared for the Republican Governors Association.

Nixon commended GOP governors—Ronald Reagan of California and Nelson Rockefeller of New York, for getting tough with welfare recipients.

Weathermen Forecast Heavy Showers Today

A cold front moving across the Panhandle early Sunday, set off storms from the south plains through the Panhandle, causing situations which prompted that National Weather Service to issue severe weather and tornado watches across the area most of the night. Pampa came under alert shortly after midnight, with a watch in effect until 4 a.m.

Few residents were aware of the alert which was prompted after tornado activity was determined present in the line of thunderstorms which progressed across the area in an easterly direction through most of the night.

Measurable precipitation was recorded at .02 with forecasters calling for thundershowers today, tonight and tomorrow.

Foster Whaley, Gray County Agricultural Agent stated this morning, "This country has the ability to start from nothing and be in top shape in three weeks with favorable weather." He added that the rain during the past four days has been beneficial to the point that some dryland wheat could still mature, and that grasslands are peaking up.

He further stated that this is the ideal time for rain to fall, building up soil moisture in preparation for May and June head grain planting.

An estimated half of dryland wheat is gone, or thinned out to the point of nearly 100 percent loss in the area.

Personnel Organized To Move Into Action

An emergency operations plan designed to reduce confusion to a minimum in event Pampa is hit by a major disaster is scheduled to be placed in operation tomorrow, it was announced this forenoon by City Manager Mack Wofford.

The plan, formulated by Public Works Director R.E. Cooke and heads of the street, sanitation, parks, health, shop, warehouse, plumbing and electrical departments, was due to get the city manager's approval following a conference with the public works director today. Wofford said the plan would become effective tomorrow.

Cooperating agencies include the city fire and police departments, Gray County Sheriff's department, Texas Department of Public Safety, Civil Defense Office and Pampa utilities department.

An Emergency Operations Manual has been drawn up with specific instructions of what is to be done in the event of a tornado or any other disaster. All city department heads, employees and other agencies involved will be provided with copies of the manual and its detailed instructions.

"The plan has been devised," City Manager Wofford said, "so everyone will know exactly what to do in the event of a disaster."

The introduction to the manual says:

It being the responsibility of the Public Works Department to clear streets, alleys and city-owned property of debris in the event of a major emergency, this Emergency Operations Plan has been prepared and points out its operation in case of such a major emergency.

The procedures outlined shall be in effect when the city manager or, in his absence, the mayor or City Commission declares that Pampa is confronted with a condition in the category of a major emergency and when the situation is beyond normal operations of the public works department.

The manual sets up an organizational plan to be followed during work week or daytime hours and one for night time and weekend procedures.

The plan provides for lookout stations to be manned by Cooke, and public works department heads Carl Wright, Allan Vickery and Bob Bonsal in disaster strikes. These stations will be at McCullough and Farley, Albert and Tignor.

GOP Chairman Says Sen. Muskie Trying To Destroy FBI Credibility

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI)—GOP National Chairman Robert J. Dole of Kansas said today Sen. Edmund S. Muskie appears to be involved in a conscious effort to destroy the credibility of the FBI.

Dole's attack on the Maine senator was part of a double-barrelled blast at the front running Democratic Presidential contender, an attack leveled as the nation's Republican governors gathered for their semi-annual meeting.

Dole's attack, contained in a speech prepared for today's session of the meeting, was concurrent with a second attack on Muskie delivered in "Monday," an official weekly publication of the Republican National Committee.

Today's edition of the newsletter said Muskie was no longer as far out in front as he once was—because his recent foreign trip was a political mine and because his Vietnam stand has become known as the "Muskie waffle" or "downeast shuffle."

"...it is now apparent that Muskie has not been able to maintain the low key approach featuring a gradually rising profile of statesmanlike words expected to attend."

Harvester and Jupiter and Perryton Pkwy. and 25th St.

The manual further states that after department heads have gone to the lookout stations, all personnel is to proceed to the City Warehouse, and all personnel operating vehicles with two-way radios will stand by for instructions and keep off the air unless they are being called.

"If a tornado is spotted," the manual states, the person who spots the funnel first will call "This is an Emergency Call when others with radios receive this call they will keep off the air and the person who announced this is an Emergency Call will proceed in giving the location of the cloud and describe the direction it is going."

"When the storm has passed from the area of the City, All Hands including the Department Heads will go to the Warehouse."

"Each Department Head will assign his people to certain vehicles and work crews and they will automatically go to their vehicle and await instructions."

A cautionary word at the bottom of the manual says: "No one will take it upon himself to do anything or take any action involving the City of Pampa in any way whatsoever without first obtaining instructions from his Department Head, or the Departmental Director or the City Manager, or the Mayor and City Commission."

City Manager Wofford said the City also is hoping to get cooperative action from the county and school district on

House Expected To Give Okay Today To Liquor-By-The-Drink Bill

AMSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—The House returns today to put its approval to a senate-passed liquor by the drink bill which could bring public sale of mixed drinks to Texas by the end of May if enough representatives vote for it.

Speaker Gus Mutscher said Mutscher voted several times Friday during the six-hour debate when the vote was very close on some amendments offered by "drys." The speaker normally does not vote on legislation being debated, but he has the same right to vote as any other member since he also is representing his hometown district.

day, hailed the action as a move "to take Texas out of the area of hypocrisy in Alcoholic beverage laws."

One hundred representatives voted to vote for the mixed drink bill when it came up late today in order for it to go into immediate effect so wet areas can vote on the local option issue May 18.

Rep. Dewitt Hale, D-Corpus Christi, ushered the mixed drink bill through the House. The Senate author is Sen. Joe Christie, D-El Paso.

The Senate approved its budget bill Friday. It calls for $7 billion total spending over the next two years to finance state government, a figure that will require nearly $700 billion in new state taxes.

Gov. Ben Barnes said if the House gave the necessary two-thirds approval, he will try to get the Senate to adopt House changes in the proposal by the same margin so it can go to the governor for his signature.

Should the proposal fall short of two-thirds majority approval in both Houses, it would not become law until next Sept. 1, putting off the opening of any mixed drink places for public sale until the fall months.

However, it has funds only for one year of the biennium for state welfare, assuring a special legislative session in 1972. Gov. Preston Smith asked for the one-year welfare funding in hopes the federal government will take over much of the cost by 1972.

But House leaders were not too sure even today if they could get the needed 100 votes for the proposal.

But whether it comes in May or October, Texas is destined to see the return of public saloons to areas which traditionally vote wet this year for the first time since 1919.

President Nixon Feels Media Incapable To Reflect Motives

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
NEW YORK (UPI)—Eugene V. Risher, United Press International's White House correspondent, told members of the American Newspaper Publishers Association (ANPA) today that President Nixon feels the adversary relationship with the press more deeply than most of his predecessors, although he is much more cooperative than President Johnson.

wers, who wrote a prize-winning account with UPI reporter Lucinda Franks, said only an accumulation of detail could provide a sense of proceeding, step by step, through her entire life.

can be no doubt Mr. Nixon feels the adversary relationship with the press more deeply than most of his predecessors. And he is an admirable adversary.

Speaking at the annual UPI breakfast at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel which preceded the first session of the ANPA's 85th convention, Risher said Nixon—and top White House aides—feel the press is "either incapable or unwilling to accurately reflect his motives and his personality."

The four-day convention spotlights the role of the daily newspaper in a period of social unrest and change and technical advancement. Among the personalities scheduled to appear at convention-associated events are Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, astronaut Alan B. Shepard Jr., Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Edward Miller, chairman of the National Labor Relations Board and Sen. John V. Tunney, D-Calif.

However, Nixon is keenly aware of the role newsmen play in the overall system although he rarely is casual with the press, Risher pointed out. He respects that system and "in many respects is much more cooperative than his predecessor," he said, adding that it is unfortunate that so few newsmen know at first hand Nixon's considerable charm.

Another UPI reporter, Thomas Powers of the New York Bureau, spoke on the difficulties of tracing Diana Oughton's development from a wealthy girl with a social conscience to a revolutionary who died in a Greenwich Village "bomb factory."

Risher said since the Nixon administration took over newsmen have had an additional obligation "to cut through the flackery portion and intelligently analyze the issues." He said Nixon had elevated to a science the apparatus of advertising and public relations talents which monitor and influence what is written about him.

In addition to monitoring huge numbers of broadcasts, wire service news reports, newspapers, magazines, foreign press reports and columnists, the White House staff "makes periodic analyses of individual newsmen and organizations to determine if they are—by White House standards—fair-minded or biased, sympathetic or unsympathetic."

His defense attorney, Chauncey Eskridge, and the government were each allotted a half hour to present their case centering on Ali's claim he was entitled to draft exempt status on religious grounds as an adherent of the Black Muslims. A written opinion by the nation's highest court will be forthcoming before the current session adjourns in mid-June. It will determine whether Ali, who changed his name from Cassius Clay, must serve a five-year prison sentence and pay a $10,000 fine for deliberately refusing to be inducted into the Army April 28, 1967.

Delegate At 5-Day Youth Meeting Urges President Nixon To Resign

ESTES PARK, Colo. (UPI)—A young delegate to the White House conference on youth called for President Nixon's resignation Sunday night as the five-day conference opened.

Even before the conference opened, there were threats the gathering would prove to be embarrassing for the President who earlier ordered the site of the conference shifted from Washington. The orderly decor of the opening session developed into a confrontation between the conference chairman, Stephen Hess, and delegates demanding to be heard during the general session, not just the task force meetings.

By August Van Saren

DEAR ABBY: I would like to know your thoughts on entertaining the "boss." Is this still being done as a means of advancement? I have never been able to issue such invitations, and my husband agrees that we shouldn't. (Of course, we never "advanced" very far, either.)

We would reciprocate an invitation should we receive one from someone higher up in my husband's organization, but is it our place to make the first move? Does a boss expect this? Or would he consider it an attempt at making "brownie points"?

Ours is a common problem, yet I have never seen it discussed in your column.

DEAR QUANDARY: The first move should be made by the one higher up in the pecking order. Entertaining the boss is still used by some who hope it will help them at the office. But if a mediocre man is destined to meet his Waterloo, even his wife's Best Wellington won't save him.

DEAR ABBY: I've got nothing but trouble. I married a man who is very mean when he drinks and he drinks a lot. Last year he bought a new car. He made the first payment and after that he told me if I wanted

Legion Auxiliary Attends Supper

The Kerley Crossman unit of the American Legion Auxiliary met at Furr's Cafeteria for a dutch supper Thursday with six members present.

The president, Mrs. Ruth Sewell, opened the meeting with the Pledge of Allegiance to flag and the Preamble of the American Legion Auxiliary. The group voted to send $10 from the auxiliary for the decorations of the National Convention which will be held in Houston, during August and September of this year.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell reporting on the Nominating Committee for another year announced officers are president, Mrs. Ruth Sewell; vice president, Mrs. Molly Butts; Secretary, Mrs. Estelle Wheeler; Treasurer, Mrs. Gladys Turner; Chaplain, Mrs. Lee Harrah. The officers were elected by acclamation and will be installed at the next regular meeting.

Plans for the Poppy sale were made with Mrs. Butts volunteering to make tray favors for Highland General Hospital this year. Poppy sale plans will be completed at the next meeting.

to keep the car I could take over the payments, otherwise the car could go back. Well, I took over the payments, but the car stayed in my husband's name, and he had it most of the time.

We fought all the time, and I got tired of his mean moods so I moved out on him. I was staying with friends when this wild man busted in on us all boozed up and started shooting over the place. He got me in the hip. The landlord heard the commotion and ran up to help me and he got shot in the head. (The landlord died three days later.)

They locked up my husband, but he is out on bond now and I haven't seen him since the court hearing three months ago. My problem is this. Should I keep up the payments on the car? He has it, and it's still in his name. Yours truly,

—GLADIOLA

DEAR GLADIOLA: See a lawyer about transferring ownership of the car to you. And in view of your husband's criminal antics, if you don't get the car why not sue him to recover the payments you've already made, and whatever else the trigger-happy boozier has? (I have an idea he isn't going to be needing any of it for a while.)

DEAR ABBY: I am a 23-year-old unwed mother. I kept my little boy. He's nearly 2 now, and I plan to return to work soon. I know I'll be meeting lots of guys, and I'm not sure what to tell them. Should I say I'm divorced? Or should I say my husband was killed in Vietnam? Or would it be all right to tell them the truth?

Do you think they would look down on me if they knew I was an unwed mother? I'm sure other unwed mothers have the same problem. Can you help me?

—WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: First give a fellow a chance to know you before you pour out the story of your life. But when he time comes, tell the truth. The right kind of man will not hold it against you. If there's a man out there who has married an unwed mother, I'd like to have his point of view.

Episcopalian Group Schedules Review

The Women of St. Matthews will present Mary Ann Smith of Dallas as she reviews the play "Butterflies are Free." It will be held Saturday, May 1, at 10:30 a.m. in the Parish Hall, 727 West Browning. Lunch will be served following the review and a door prize will be given. "Butterflies are Free" by Leonard Gershe is a play that first appeared on Broadway in the Fall of 1969. The play begins by accidentally bringing together a 30 year old boy, Don Baker, who happens to be blind and a 19-year-old girl, Jill Tanner, who, like the butterflies of the title, prefers to make love and fly away. Don's over protective mother is the third character in the play, Mrs. Katherine Reeves said.

"Mary Ann Smith has a distinguished background in the realms of drama, music, and civic activities in Dallas," Mrs. Reeves said. "After winning the State Declamation Silver Cup Award while in high school, she graduated from the Coker School of Drama, and afterwards attended the University of Texas, where she was a member of The Curtain Club and winner of the Samuel French Award of acting." She is a holder of a B.B. degree in Speech and Drama from Southern Methodist University. Here, as a member of the Arden Club, she wrote "The Night, The Day," a one act play, which was chosen by the faculty to be produced by the Arden Club. While attending the Hockaday Institute of Music, she studied the harp for six years. She has performed leading roles with the University Summer Stock Players, the former Courtyard Playhouse, and the Dallas Little Theater.

A former Dallas debutante, she is a member of the Junior League and has performed with the League's Children's Theater. She is a board member of the Dallas Symphony Orchestra League, Women's Committee of the Dallas Theater Center, president Summer Musicals Guild, and the Highland Park Presbyterian Church. She was chosen by the Dallas Times Herald as the Dallas Woman of 1963.

Since her marriage to Eugene Bragg Smith, Jr., she has become the mother of two daughters and a son, and has turned her acting talents to bringing Broadway to clubs in Texas and surrounding states in the form of "one woman presentations."

A favorite highlight from her recent European trip was attending a Royal Command performance for the Queen and Prince Philip in Edinburgh, and receiving a note from the Queen wishing her success in her forthcoming presentation of Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland."

The Business and Professional Womens Club met in the City Club Room Tuesday for the annual reports and election of new officers. Elected were Lois Teel president; Ruth McQueary, first vice-president; Stella Airington, second vice-president; Ruth Sewell, recording secretary; Noel Thompson, corresponding secretary and Lora Dunn, Treasurer.

The new officers are to be installed May 25th at Furr's Cafeteria with Flossie Anderson in charge of installation. Plans were made for a rummage sale to be held May 5-6th. Plans were also made for the club's Mothers day breakfast to be held at the Coronado Inn May 2nd with Nell Tinsin and Maxine Etheridge directing the breakfast.

Junior Camporee Planned In April

Just having completed a very successful Cookie Sale, Girl Scouts and their Council are turning their thoughts towards the annual Junior Camporee, to be held at Camp Mel Davis near Lefors, April 23-25.

Mrs. Jack Duke of Borger is once more director of the Camporee. She is being assisted by Mrs. Joe Ray of Phillips, while Mrs. D. B. McDaniel of Borger and Cadette Troop 141 will take care of program arrangements.

The value and popularity of the Junior Camporee is proved by the steadily increasing number of participants. One hundred and fifty from five area towns took part in the first Camporee. Last year that number had grown to 350 girls, representing eight towns.

After campers have settled in on Friday night, there will be a get-acquainted campfire. The activities planned for Saturday offer a wide scope, to satisfy every individual's fancy. Troops can compete in the following contest areas: compass, first

Spring Fashions Star With Cotton

Cotton fabrics are playing a leading role in this spring's fashions, reports Miss Jimmie Lou Wainscott, Gray County home demonstration agent.

The natural fiber, which Texas ranks first in producing, is in the spotlight not only as a part of the "return to nature" ecology movement, but also because of its great versatility, Miss Wainscott explains. The cotton fabrics, which dye beautifully, are splashed with clear bright colors, as well as with soft, dusty shades, this spring. Designs range from plain and homespun to striped and patterned jacquards.

Cotton knits, hottest item in the spring market, provide fashion at moderate prices. Cotton knits come in a wide range of textures, including boucle, raschel, rib, mesh, jacquard and jersey knits.

When selecting a cotton knit, always check labels and hangtags for care instructions. If the labels say "mercerized" and "wrinkle-resistant," the fabric is less likely to shrink and stretch. Shrinkage-resistance is important for all cottons, but beware of shrinkage controlled or preshrunk claims that do not state the percentage of shrinkage. Such cottons may shrink up to 5 per cent, possibly making the garment too small to wear.

Most cotton knits are washable — some by machine and others by hand. If knits are labeled as "hand washable" yet percentage of shrinkage is not included, it is best to wash them in cool water with little agitation to prevent distortion of the garment's construction.

Hollywood In Review

UPI Hollywood Correspondent — Female motion picture producers are among the true minorities in Hollywood.

Only Harriet Parsons ("Enchanted Cottage" and "Susan Slept Here") and Gail Patrick, who produced "Perry Mason" for television come to mind.

Enter Paula Stewart, actress-singer, former wife of Burt Bacharach and Jack Carter, who has completed her first film as a producer. Title "Dinah East."

Paula is blonde, leggy and constructed along the lines of Raquel Welch.

This show she defines a producer: "A producer is a person who knows where to get money."

Friends Contribute — Paula began with a script brought to her by co-producer Gene Nash. Then, learning as she went, Paula called on friends and acquaintances raising the wherewithal.

"It helps to put a budget together, recognize talent, having taste and ability to combine all these talents," Miss Stewart said. "It also takes a strong stomach to handle performers," the actress-producer added. "They're all temperamental and always feel-sighted."

"I've been on Broadway in 'Wildcat,' 'What Makes Sammy Run' and 'Let It Ride.' So I know what actors think and feel."

From her vantage as a producer Paula understands performers but apparently has little compassion for them.

Paula expected resentment from male members of the cast and crew who had to take orders from a female. She found the reverse to be the case.

"I was nervous about how the men would react," she said. "But they were cooperative and helpful in every way."

Women Get Upright — "The women were just the opposite. They like to take orders from men, not from another female. I would say the same things to a man and woman in the company. The man would accept the situation, but the females would get emotional and uptight."

Paula said her picture deals with a glamor girl who is a composite of Mae West, Lana Turner, Ava Gardner, Joan Crawford and Doris Day—no woman composite in itself—who dies. After her death it is learned the star was, in fact, a man.

"Wild, huh?" Paula asked. "It has an 'X' rating, but I'm already thinking about my next production. It will be a comedy with a 'GP' rating."

Paula said some of her friends were flabbergasted that "Dinah East" has received praise from some critics.

"I think it's a good picture," she said.

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
 WASHINGTON (UPI)—I was reading the paper at the breakfast table the other morning when suddenly the blood drained from my face almost as if someone had threatened my jugular vein with a rot-rooter.

Whatever has come over you," my wife inquired, spying me in full bloom. "You're as white as a corpse."

"It says here," I gasped, "that the FBI had many of last year's 'Earth Day' observances under surveillance."

"Why should that make you turn pale?"

"Because I was one of the most active leaders in the Earth Day movement. If you'll recall, I organized a campaign to celebrate Earth Day by taking a honeybee to lunch."

"And you think the FBI was spying on you for that?"

"FBI Must Have Bugged It."

"I'm almost certain of it," I said. "Now that I think back on it, the honeybee I took to lunch kept making a funny buzzing noise. I'm pretty sure the FBI had it bugged."

"Well, even if they did there is nothing subversive about having lunch with a honeybee," my wife pointed out.

"Yeah, but it doesn't look good in a dossier."

"Suppose the President wanted to appoint me to some position that required security clearance. He would send for my file and first thing he'd see would be the FBI report on my Earth Day activities."

"What's so bad about that?"

"In my Earth Day remarks, I observed that America had created the most complex, highly advanced technology in history. Yet we are almost totally dependent on a measly little flying insect.

Civilization Might Collapse

"If anything happened to the honeybee, many of our most important plants would disappear and our entire civilization likely would collapse."

"Already some areas have been forced to import bees this spring to keep their flowers, crops and orchards producing. Which shows how tenuous the threads of our survival really are."

"Nevertheless, hardly anything has been done to develop a backup pollination system for the honeybee."

"If I explained this to the President personally, I'm sure he would understand. But reading it in a security dossier could give him the wrong impression."

My wife said, "I don't think you have a thing to worry about."

"Maybe not," I said, "but if no presidential appointment is forthcoming, I'm blaming the FBI."

East Pakistani Rebels Issue Declaration Of Independence

NEW DELHI (UPI)—East Pakistani rebels issued a formal declaration of independence today in a ceremony in a mango grove near the Indian border.

The Press Trust of India, reporting from Kusthia in East Pakistan, said the acting president of the Provincial Bangla Desh (Bengal Land) government, Nazrul Islam, read a proclamation to rebel officials and newsmen in the grove at Baidyanathala, 120 miles northeast of Calcutta.

Nazrul told the group that Bengal lost its freedom to the British in a Mango grove in 1957 and it was fitting that the free government of Bangla Desh should be established in another grove in the same district.

Acting President
 Nazrul is acting president of the rebel government in the absence of Sheikh Mujibur Rahman, the East Pakistani leader believed arrested by Pakistan authorities shortly after civil war broke out March 25.

The rebels had announced their independence March 26 but said the ceremonies today made the establishment of the

Your Horoscope

TUESDAY, APRIL 20
YOUR BIRTHDAY, TUESDAY — The Sun moves from Aries to Taurus Tuesday at 12:34 p.m. EST. In other years the hour is different; this may occur much earlier or much later, depending on the year. Both Aries and Taurus bring responsibility and improving skills. Fairly early in the year a challenge comes in the form of a temporary block or standstill.

ARIES (March 21-April 20) — Work with your friends and neighbors to improve conditions where you live. Important matters must be discussed in the search for agreement.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Decision comes upon you; you've made at least one without much time spent considering it, and no option for changes appears.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — Your ideas turn out to be feasible; make the best of them while the time is ripe.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) — For every fact, there are nine nice to naughty stories floating about you now. Remember who it was that brought you an incomplete story before, and be wary.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) — Reconsideration brings unsuspected applications of your ideas and long-term studies. Have no hesitation in announcing your skills and record of achievement.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — The greater your achievement, the more likely a critical comment. In writing or printing, some thought requires an answer, perhaps a revision of your work.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Find the cause of gloom and dispel it. Stir up the scene with fresh stimuli, a good story, or even a mild practical joke.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Join forces with your own people; find new social contacts and group advantages to pursue.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Share your perspective with those helping you. Knowing why you are doing specific things always makes the job easier.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — You've organized personal affairs and your work so well that now they are apt to run a collision course. See if you can figure out a fair division.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Odd or freakish conditions hang just beyond visibility; may punch through into reality in your personal environment.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Relationships shift Tuesday; in different intensity levels, presumably stronger. Promises become more probable, easier to make and fulfill.

The Week In Review

By C. W. ORR

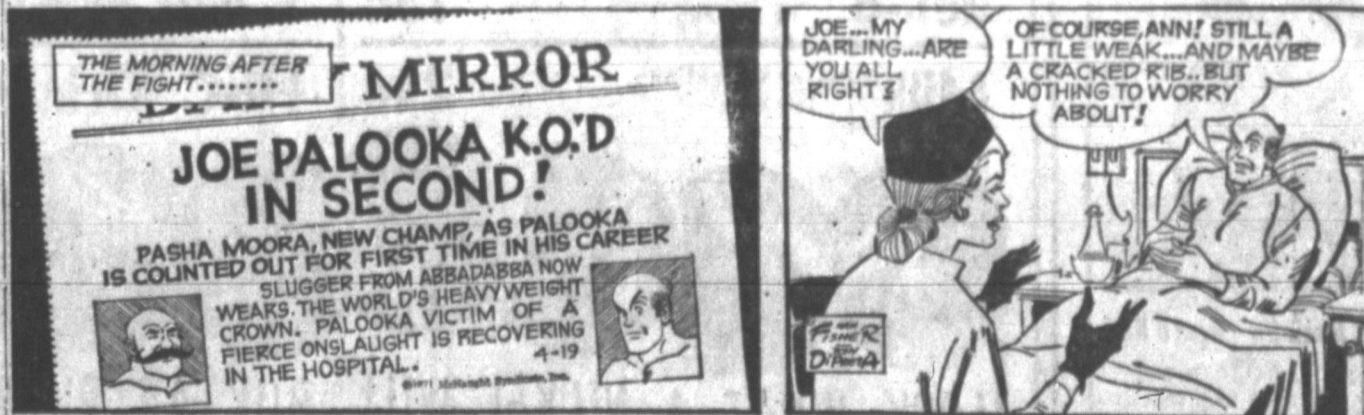

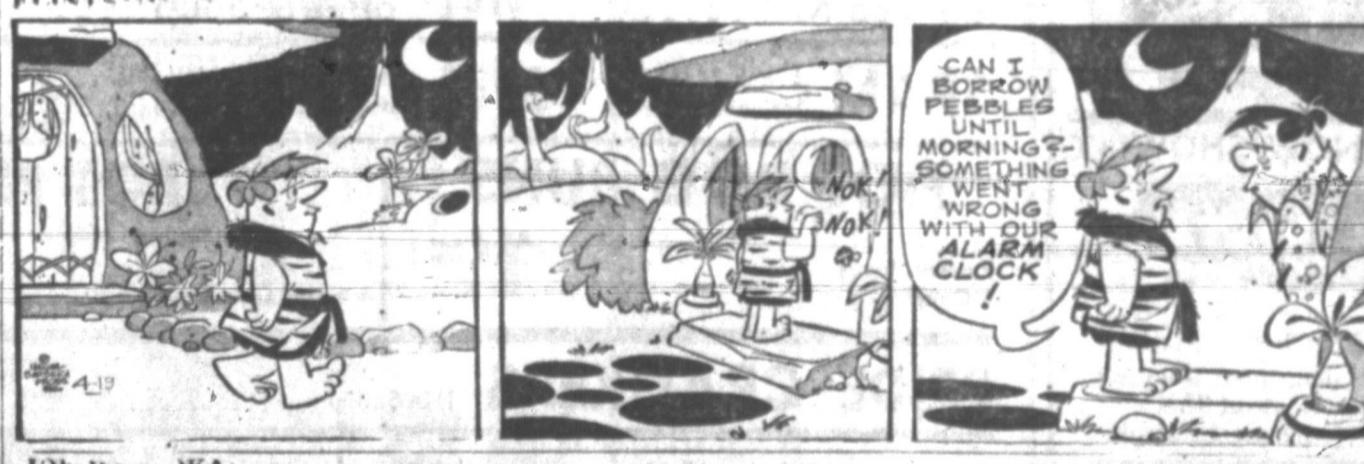

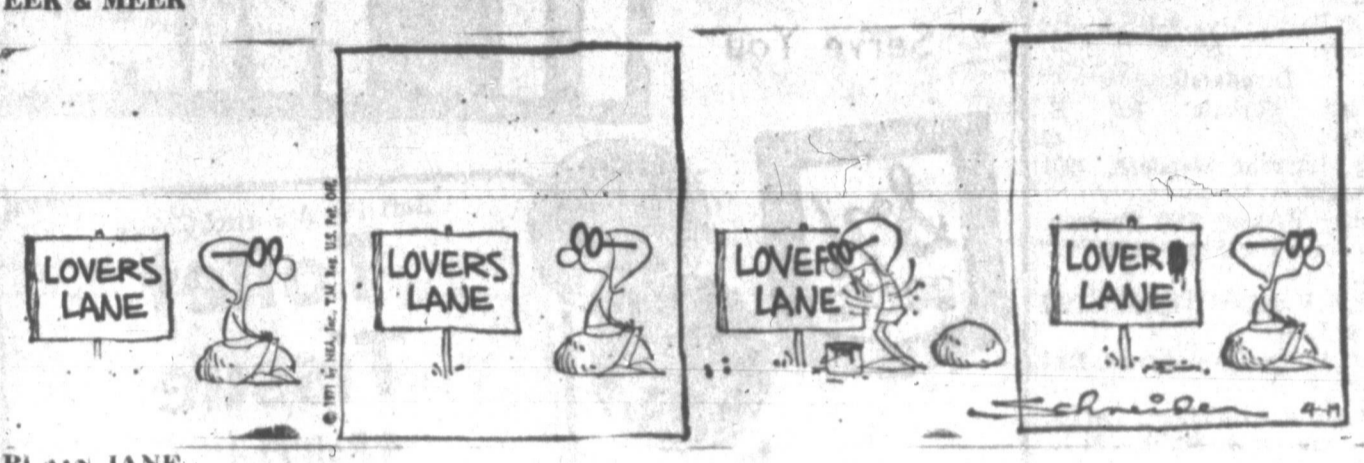

United Press International Communist China, a nation that takes the game of table tennis seriously, allowed a 15-member American team into the country for a series of exhibition matches.

Premier Chou En-lai, met with the U.S. players in Peking and indicated he believed better relations between America and Red China are ahead.

President Nixon then announced that U.S. restrictions on trade with Red China are being eased. Except for strategic goods, the 20-year-old ban on American exports is ended. Nixon announced that the United States will now issue visas so visitors from Mainland China can visit the United States.

The White House said none of the moves was meant to embarrass the Soviet Union.

The national debate over the FBI and its director, J. Edgar Hoover, continued as Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, said the FBI had monitored last year's Earth Day rallies. "If antipollution rallies are a subject on intelligence concern, is anything immune?" Muskie asked. Attorney General John Mitchell admitted that the FBI kept watch on a Washington rally that Muskie addressed; but only to prevent violence.

Montreal Captures First In Hockey And Baseball

By ITO STELLINO
UPI Sports Writer
MONTREAL, Can. (UPI)—Montreal is No. 1 today—but not just in hockey.
The Montreal Expos, usually second in the hearts of the Montreal fans to their beloved Canadiens, came up with a surprise Sunday that was almost as stunning as the Canadiens' upset victory over the Bruins.
Sweeping a doubleheader from the defending National League Champion Cincinnati Reds by 3-2 and 5-3 scores, the Expos—who were in fourth place Saturday with a 3-3 mark—jumped into first place in the Eastern Division for the first time in their three-year history. The Expos have a .625 percentage to 583 for St. Louis and Pittsburgh.

"Hey, we're No. 1," several of the Expo players yelled in the dressing room as they seemed almost as surprised by the sudden turn of events as their fans. The Expos, who were 1.8 and six games out of first place last April 18, had never even been over .500 season.
Mauch Praises Team
Manager Gene Mauch took the lofty position calmly and said, "It's too early to think about first place." But he added, "The thing I like is that they're playing excellent ball."
Playing some of the best ball are veterans Rusty Staub and Bobby Wine, who combined for nine hits. Staub the NL batting leader with a .448 mark, drove in three runs in the second game with a two-run homer and a double. Clyde Mashore hit the key blow of the first game, tagging Don Gillet for two-run, bases-loaded single in the seventh inning.

In other NL games, San Francisco swept a doubleheader from Chicago 5-1 and 8-1, New York beat Pittsburgh, 5-2 but lost the second game 2-1. Houston topped Los Angeles 8-6. Atlanta nipped Philadelphia 5-4 in 10 innings and St. Louis beat San Diego 4-2.
In the American League, Oakland beat Chicago twice 11-2 and 6-1. California topped Minnesota 5-4. Kansas City beat Milwaukee 2-1 but lost the second game in 13 innings, 3-2. Washington blanked Cleveland 4-0 but lost the second game 1-0. Baltimore outslugged New York 11-6 and Boston beat Detroit, 1-0.

Milwaukee Planning On Going All The Way To The NBA Top

UPI Sports Writer
In a series where the home court has meant a difference of 29 points a game so far, the New York Knicks would appear to be strong favorites to roll over Baltimore tonight and qualify for the National Basketball Association final playoff against the Milwaukee Bucks.
Baltimore deadlocked the best-of-seven semi-final at three games each by ripping the Knicks, 113-96, on its home court Sunday afternoon, but the series shifts to New York tonight for the seventh and deciding game. The Knicks eliminated the Bullets from the playoffs in each of the last two years, going on to their first NBA championship last season after being extended to seven games by Baltimore.
The winner of tonight's game earns a ticket to Milwaukee and a Wednesday night meeting with the Bucks, who completed a routine 4-1 triumph over the Los Angeles Lakers, 118-98, Sunday in the Western Division finals.
Baltimore, although it has had as many as two first-stringers unavailable for a game because of injuries, has clearly been the superior team in the series. But the Bullets have been unable to win at New York, losing the three games there by one, 19 and five points. However, they've humiliated the Knicks in three games at Baltimore, winning by 26, 21 and 17 points.

Thus the Knicks have won by an average of eight points at average of 21 points at Baltimore, accounting for the 29-point difference home courts home and the Bullets by an average of 17 points.
Teammate John Tresvant, who contributed 20 points to Sunday's victory, said the difference "isn't mental. We anticipate certain things up there, such as the reaction of the fans and referees and Walt Frazier's ability to control the ball. We don't do anything different strategy-wise. I think we should have won the first game there (New York won, 112-111), because we knew we had to win at least once in New York. I think we blew it because of mental letdowns and turnovers, and we should be ready to play better up there than we ever have on Monday."
The Bullets, bolstered by the return Sunday of forward Gus Johnson to the lineup for the first time in the series, ran away to an early lead and were ahead by 20 points, 70-50, with 8:29 left in the third period. The Knicks were suffering meanwhile as team captain Willis Reed, the man who must be effective if they are to win, couldn't overcome his knee and shoulder miseries and was held to three points and four rebounds in 26 minutes.

Earl Monroe of Baltimore led all scorers with 27 points and Dave DeBusschere had 24 points for New York with Frazier adding 22.
Milwaukee had little trouble in its finale with the Lakers after being held to a 55-49 halftime lead. Los Angeles hit a cold spell in the third quarter, scoring only 17 points, and the Bucks took a 15-point lead into the final period.
Greg Smith led Milwaukee with 22 points and Lew Alcindor and Bob Dandridge added 20 each. Happy Hairston scored 27 points and Wilt Chamberlain 23 for the Lakers, who were crippled by the losses of Jerry West, Elgin Baylor and Keith Erickson.
Chamberlain, who received a standing ovation from the Milwaukee crowd when he left the game with 1:54 to play, summed up the feeling of many of those who have seen the Bucks perform in the playoffs when he said, "Man, Milwaukee's going all the way. They're going all the way."

Rookie Goaltender Stops Boston Bruins

A rookie goaltender who felt no more nervous in Stanley Cup play than he did as an amateur has helped put a shockingly short end to a budding Boston Bruin dynasty in the National Hockey League.
Ken Dryden, who played in only six games for Montreal at the tail-end of the season, turned aside 46 Boston shots Sunday afternoon as the Canadiens buried the Bruins, 4-2, in the seventh and final game of their Stanley Cup quarter-final series. Montreal, which had been able to win only one of six regular season games from the Bruins, now returns home for the start of its semi-final series against the Minnesota North Stars Tuesday night.

The other semi-final series got underway Sunday night at Chicago and the New York Rangers installed themselves as nominal favorites to win their first Stanley Cup in 31 years by nipping the Black Hawks, 2-1, on an overtime goal by Pete Stemkowski. It was the second consecutive overtime victory for the Rangers.

Littler Wins Monsanto On Way To The Masters

By DAVID MOFFIT
UPI Sports Writer
PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Gene Littler will be a commuter in the Tournament of Champions this week, thanks to a little side trip he took on his way home from the Masters.
Littler, who lives in La Jolla, Calif., won the $150,000 Monsanto Open Sunday and, since that's the first tournament he's won in two years, that earned him a berth in the Tof C, which just happens to be played this year at Ransho La Costa, Calif.
"That's just 30 or 35 minutes from my house," Littler beamed. "I really hadn't expected to play in it, just be a spectator. It couldn't have worked out better."

Littler, a lithe, 40-year-old veteran of 17 years on the pro tour who is known for his smooth swing and his cool demeanor, hadn't played here in 12 years but decided to "drop in on my way home from the Masters because it was en route."
After his 8-under-par 276 win his $30,000 and that Tournament of Champions' berth, Littler quipped, "I can't wait to get back next year and now I'm sorry I didn't come before this."

Monsanto was the 22nd professional victory for Littler who won the U.S. Amateur back in 1953 and the U.S. Open in 1961. The money he won here raised his career earnings past the three quarters of a million mark.
Littler's final round 4-under-par 67 vaulted him from a five-way tie for second, a stroke off the lead, to a two-stroke victory over runnersup George Arcler and Pete Brown.

Five Mile Warmup Run Before Setting Record

LAWRENCE, Kan. (UPI)—Frank Shorter likes to run. The former Yale runner warmed up for the three-mile run in the Kansas Relays with an 18-mile jog around Lawrence Friday, Saturday morning Shorter ran five more miles.
Then, he ran the three-mile run in 15 minutes, 8.8 seconds, that equaled the 12th fastest three-mile ever run and broke the Kansas Relays record by 30 seconds.
"If I had really pointed-for the race, I think I could have run under 13," Shorter said.
To prove his point, he took off on a six-mile jog around Lawrence after the race.
"I just wanted to see what I could do by running a race during hard training," he said. "In the long run, it might pay off. I'm really a six-mile runner. I'm just more capable at that distance. I didn't lose a race at six miles last year, but I lost a couple at three miles."

Shorter, who attends law school at the University of Florida, competed as a member of the Florida Track Club.
His was one of 13 records set and two equaled in the Friday-Saturday meet.
A crowd of 22,000 paid to see Saturday's show, including a 3:55.8 mile by Jim Ryun. It was the fastest mile Ryun has run since he set the world record of 3:51.1 in June, 1967, and was the fastest run in the world since Kip Keino of Kenya ran 3:55.5 in August, 1968.

R What Is A Misocapnist?

You probably know a great many people who are misocapnists. No doubt several relatives are, as well as some very close friends. These days most people who are misocapnists do not hesitate to let you know about it. And with the zeal of a missionary they will try to convert you to their way of thinking. For a misocapnist is a person who hates tobacco!

If you are a smoker but want to get started on a misocapnist career, we can give you some help. There are products available to get you over the first withdrawal hurdles. Of course, to be a true believer you also need some will power. But remember a misocapnist stands a better chance of living longer than a cigarette smoker.

An American Ping Pong Player's Wife Recalls Visit To Red China

By GERALDINE RESEK
Written for United Press International
First Day
China

Saturday, April 10—Entering China is an uncertain pleasure. Sort of almost fearful. You don't know what to expect but you're so excited. The difference between Hong Kong and China is the cleanliness. Hong Kong is very dirty. As we crossed the border I see the landscaping around the station house is immaculate. The customs officials do not check our baggage. In the custom's building the first thing we see, of course is the statue of Mao Tse-tung.

of me and in front of me and I am sort of enveloped in a sea of faces. Especially children. The children are most friendly. A woman lets me touch her child. We find out that they have no schooling on sex. They just let their children find out for themselves. They don't freeze up on any subject. The Chinese talk to us freely about everything. I think it's marvelous, the relationship between the parents and the children. I haven't seen any parent having to correct his child, as I often do in the states. Everyone seems on the street so happy.

Back at the hotel we have dinner. Then the doctor visits quite a few of us. Tummy trouble. Went shopping. The store is supposed to close at 8:30 p.m. but they keep it open especially for us. Fourth Day Tuesday, April 13—John Tannehill gets sick. He's being taken to a hospital for tests. But he's okay and goes back to the hotel to rest. We play our first public games. Some of the team are nervous performing before so many people—18,000 seats and all are filled. The play is really an exhibition and not a match. The Chinese are obviously superior. These are called friendly matches, and that's exactly what they are. I think the Chinese sometimes let us win. The audience was composed entirely of army and navy personnel. No children. The Chinese never show emotion when they miss a shot or lose a point. Fifth Day Wednesday, April 14—the big day. We meet Chou En-lai, the premier, at 2:30 p.m. He greets us immediately on entry room in the Great Hall of the People. His appearance is very impressive. He wears the typical Mao Tse-tung high-collared uniform, but this is obviously of a very expensive material. We sit in a circle with delegates from four other countries and Chou talks to each group. He speaks through an interpreter but he speaks English well. When his interpreter uses a wrong word, he holds up his hand and she corrects herself. The premier asks if there are any questions. Glen Cowan asks what he thinks of the hippie movement. The premier gives an answer which, in effect, says you learn only by talking about problems, that you must listen and not only talk. Sixth Day Thursday, April 15—We leave for Shanghai. The plane is sort of primitive. The stewardesses dress sort of like the peasants. I notice immediately that the clothes on the people in Shanghai are more colorful than those on people in Peking. Even the room at the hotel is much larger and nicer. The city is more residential than Peking. There was literature in the rooms in Peking, but I notice there is none in the Shagnah hotel rooms, only in the lobby. Towels in Shanghai are thicker and newer. Even the toilet paper is softer, and pink too! Another huge meal, at the Shanghai Industrial exhibition.

One of the girls mistakes a duck egg for a boiled potato. Is she surprised! I notice one woman in Shanghai with makeup on. Not much, just lipstick. But this is the only time I've seen any woman wearing makeup. Her hair is in braids but it's teased a little too. You never see couples holding hands. Seventh Day Friday, April 16—Visit Shanghai Industrial exhibition, which is permanent. Most impressed by cars, which look like Mercedes Benz but are made in China. Trip to a farming commune called Ma Lo. This of our whole trip we appreciate the most. A commune is like a village. I always thought that they lived in a dormitory but they actually live in houses. Family invites us to see their home. Noticed they store the extra rice and oats in the parents' bedroom. Interpreter says this is average family. We go directly from the commune to the airport and the flight to Canton. Again we are given a warm send-off. Canton We are rushed immediately from the airport to see a ballet performance. We hadn't expected to see so much culture in China. We all hope to go back to the hotel and get some sleep. But after the theater they tell us it's another banquet, and it's 11 p.m. Eighth day Saturday, April 17—We rise early to catch a train back to Hong Kong. At the railway station we say farewell to our Canton hosts. We reached the border, and as I cross onto the bridge leading to Hong Kong I look back and see the interpreter who was the first person I had seen when entering China and who has become my friend. I can't help it. I have to cry.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

The expression "to pull the wool over one's eyes" was originated during the era when gentlemen wore white wigs, generally made of wool. The World Almanac notes that when highwaymen committed a robbery they would pull their victim's wig down over his eyes before taking his valuables.

300 Western Businessmen Attend Semiannual Trade Fair In Cotton

CANTON (UPI)—Approximately 300 businessmen from Western nations are attending the semiannual trade fair in this city of Southern China. Many of the Western visitors including a group of Canadians, were at opening day Thursday and more were expected before the fair closes May 13. The trade fair, which is held each year in the spring and fall, was first organized in 1957. As Communist China has the potential to develop a major world economy, businessmen from all over the world attend the event. Normally the fair closes on Saturday afternoon, a time for "political study," and Sunday is a day off. But a late morning phone call informing fair officials that American newsmen were here for only a few days brought an invitation to come over for a tour. The fair is in an enormous 10-story building. The guide, Song Shen-law, a girl of 27, said the building houses several hundred thousand products on display. The building sits on the edge of the Pearl River. Across the river there are two smaller auxiliary buildings which house light industry products, arts and crafts and carpets. In the auxiliary building housing the carpet exhibition, there is a "Friendship Garden" where one can buy such exotic birds as cranes. But the center of the fair is the huge main building that holds everything from hydroelectric power equipment to foodstuffs. On the ground floor, hydroelectric power equipment exhibits and electronic equipment are featured. Moving through the building, one can inspect such items as both Western and Chinese chemicals and medicines, textiles, foodstuffs and garments, and aquatic products. The foodstuffs come in frozen and canned form. Each exhibit floor has small rooms where would-be purchasers negotiate terms with Chinese trade personnel. Miss Song said Japan, which has the largest delegation of businessmen here, is the biggest buyer of Chinese beer. She added that the rising number of businessmen from the West at the fair was due to China's developing trade relations. Miss Song said self-reliance is the key to building the country, but China needs to learn what is necessary from more technically advanced countries.

Oh my goodness the difference in the trains in China and Hong Kong. The one in Hong Kong is like the Year One compared to this one in China. The train has big bay windows and very comfortable chairs in compartments and I think it is air conditioned. Things are backwards with the meals. In America we have nuts with cocktails before we eat. But here we are served the nuts on the third course and the last. And then followed by soup, which we eat first! The soup and the nuts at the end of the meal. This meal we had at the border. On the train we are served tea or juice or beer and of course we have the music interspersed with sayings of Mao Tse-tung. On the train we talk with the interpreters. They talk very freely and haven't shunned any subject. I learn that they encourage their youths to marry late in life because of the burden of responsibility. One thing I have observed is that I haven't yet seen any young girls with babies. The Chinese do practice birth control, but it's not because of the number of the people. They want more people, because there is so much to do. As soon as we meet the people in Canton, from the top people to those who serve us tea, they are gracious. They keep telling us they want us to enjoy ourselves. As soon as I start speaking to them all my fears disappear. I have an interesting conversation with one of the interpreters. The feeling I get is that Mao Tse-tung is not only their physical leader but their spiritual leader as well—all in one. We haven't yet discussed politics. But little phrases are put in the conversation. One of them says they want peace but they are not afraid to fight. They welcome us as American people. They want us to know that China has always been friendly with American people. Maybe not with American government, but certainly with American people. After a short while in Canton we leave for Peking. We arrive in Peking after the flight on a four-engine propeller plane from Canton. Peking is not colorful. The streets, at least those we've been on, are very wide. The city itself does not seem residential. More people seem to live on the outskirts. There are huge buildings of the different branches of government, different museums and things like that. The hotel when we walk in is very dark and there are only lights where they are necessary and the wattage is low too. Our room has the necessities only. Second Day Sunday, April 11—After breakfast Errol (Mrs. Resek's husband) and other players and I go to this square of Heavenly Peace. This square reminds me of Washington, D.C., where you have all the main buildings together and you can go sightseeing from one monument to another or one building to another. At the Gate of Heavenly Peace, there are four of us, and we all get separated. I turn around and realize there are 200 people following me. And pretty soon they are on the side

DEPARTURE UNEXPLAINED Soviet Diplomats' Dependents In Ceylon Evacuated To Moscow

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—Dependents of Soviet diplomats in Ceylon returned by plane to Moscow Saturday as the rebel war against the Socialist government of Prime Minister Mrs. Sirimova Bandaranaike was reported to be winding down. An official of the Soviet Aeroflot airlines office said the women and children who boarded the scheduled flight for Moscow were from the Soviet Embassy here. Several Russian men left with them, but neither the airline nor the embassy would confirm they were diplomats. The Soviet dependents left less than 24 hours after the departure Friday night of the entire North Korean Embassy staff, which was expelled by the government. The government accused the North Koreans of fomenting the rebel movement, but no such charge was made against the Soviets whose departure was unexplained. Government spokesmen said Saturday troops had re-established order throughout most of the country although there still were a few raids in the south and the northwest by the rebels, most of them unemployed youths who call themselves "Che Guevarists." They have charged the government has not fulfilled its Socialist promises. The government spokesmen said most of the rebel raids now are directed against food stores and civilians, who are looted.

President Visits GOP Governors At Williamsburg

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. (UPI)—President Nixon pays his first visit to the Republican Governors Association Monday since his legislative proposals to overhaul federal aid to the states ran into deep trouble in the Democratic-controlled Congress. Nixon will fly by helicopter at midday to the semi-annual meeting of the GOP governors at Williamsburg, Va., to make a pitch for support of his revenue-sharing plan.
