SIX WEEKS OLD

Dock Strike Cited As 'National Emergency'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The six-week-old strike by West Coast longshoremen "is a national emergency" that warrants use of the Taft Hartley Act, says Sen. Alan Cranston, D-Calif.

"It's a national emergency because it has tied up an enormous number of American as well as foreign ships and has cost farmers and exporters untold millions in foreign exports that may not be recovered," Cranston told newsmen Wednesday.

He argued against Labor Secretary James D. Hodgson's Tuesday statement that President Nixon did not consider the coastwise walkout a national emergency and would probably not use the Taft Hartley Act to bring a halt.

Strike generated business losses are beginning to devalue the dollar, Cranston said. "And the last thing President Nixon wants is to devalue our dollar."

The Council of California Growers reported California farmers have lost $4.5 million since the strike closed 24 ports from San Diego to Seattle July 1.

More than $2.3 million worth of tallow and $1.5 million in alfalfa intended for Pacific buyers is stranded in ports, said I. W. Fillerup, council executive vice president.

A Seattle, Wash., meat packing official reported a backup of meat waste products will cause an "insufferable stench" soon unless it is removed by tallow plants.

Some tallow facilities are threatened with closure because the strike has stopped shipments to Asian ports where it is used in soap plastics and animal food.

Harry Bridges, president of the striking International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union has set a meeting of his coastwide bargaining committees in about a week in hope of scheduling a date for renewed negotiations with the 120-member Pacific Maritime Association.

The union demands a $1.60 raise in hourly wages that now average $4.29, plus fringe benefit and pension improvements and a guaranteed 40-hour week.

The PMA contends it has offered $1.35 an hour, a guaranteed 35-hour week for Class A longshoremen and a $90 hike in the basic monthly pension.

Fighting In Belfast Slacks Off; Terrorists Kill 23 In Five Days

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP)—Religious rioting raged through Londonderry early today as Protestants celebrated a victory over Roman Catholics three centuries ago, but Belfast had its quietest night since Catholic republicans turned the city into a battleground on Monday.

Five more persons were killed in Belfast Wednesday before British soldiers restored an uneasy peace, shattered only by a 90-minute gun battle between troops and snipers at dawn today. The killings Wednesday raised the toll to 23 in Northern Ireland this week.

Hundreds of others have been injured, an estimated 7,000 persons have fled from their homes, and hundreds of buildings have been destroyed by fire in the violence triggered by the interment of more than 300 persons suspected of belonging to the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The commander of the 12,500 British troops in the province, Lt. Gen. Sir Harry Tuzo, said the situation appeared to be "going in our favor now and in the proper direction."

He predicted that the violence would continue until the weekend and possibly longer, "but trings will begin to improve soon, of that I am certain." The IRA, spearheaded of the republican fight, was reported running short of arms and ammunition.

In Londonderry, the province's second city, Catholic fury exploded during the night as Protestants lit bonfires to commemorate the Aug. 12 anniversary of the breaking of the Catholic siege of Londonderry in 1689.

More than 400 Catholic women and children marched out of the Bogside enclave to protest the interment of suspected terrorists, chanting: "If you shoot a British soldier clap your hands."

When they dispersed, Catholic men took to the streets with bombs, bottles and a scattering of automatic rifles. The army estimated 500 gasoline bombs were thrown, and at least 21 shots cracked from sniper posts in the Bogside in less than five minutes.

Troops drove a wedge between rock-throwing Bogside and dancing, singing Protestants in the central fountain area. They lit the district with flares and fired repeated volleys of tear gas into the Catholic mobs.

A mob of Protestants with nightsticks as it tried to reach the Catholics.

The undeclared armistice in Belfast was broken just before dawn when British troops moved into the Falls Road area, a republican enclave, to remove barricades thrown across the streets by rioters. Snipers opened up, and the soldiers dived for cover and returned the fire.

One woman was wounded in the crossfire. After 90 minutes of continuous shooting, the area fell quiet again and army bulldozers removed the barricades.

Officials in the Irish Republic to the south estimate that 5,000 Catholic refugees have crossed the frontier since the violence began, severely taxing relief facilities.

Chinese Communists Kill Over 34 Million Persons

Floods Threaten Southwest Area

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A 22-foot wall of water swept down Spring Creek into Mertzon before dawn today, flooding some homes in low areas.

The town of 500 persons 32 miles southwest of San Angelo was one of several places where flash floods occurred or were expected.

There were no immediate reports of deaths or injuries.

Other flash flood warnings were issued for Bexar County (San Antonio) and west and north of there in Medina, Kendall, Bandera and Kerr counties.

Christoval, not far from Mertzon, braced for a 22- to 25-foot crest on the South Concho River.

The Mertzon crest began pinging during the morning.

The San Angelo Emergency Corps was called at 3:30 a.m. to help Mertzon residents.

U.S. 67 was closed for about five miles on each side of Mertzon for about four hours and was reopened at 5:30 a.m.

Foster Park, a picnic spot at Tankersley between San Angelo and Mertzon, was washed—picnic tables floating and the bridge leading to it under water.

San Angelo residents, their gigantic Twin Buttes Reservoir low on water, looked expectantly to the floods to help raise the level.

The unofficial rainfall total at Mertzon was seven inches or more in 24 hours.

Helicopters could not reach Mertzon because of cloud and rain problems.

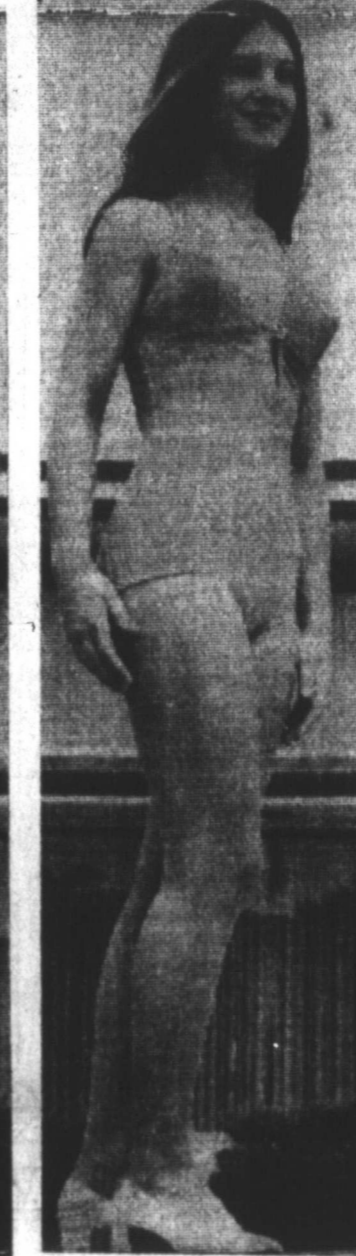

Included in a Weather Service flash flood warning for Irion County (Mertzon) was one for western Tom Green county (San Angelo).

Forecast was for additional heavy rains in the San Angelo-Mertzon region—the very center of the drought of late spring and early summer.

The Weather Service said rains in excess of five inches fell in the area north and west of San Antonio, and that flash flooding could be expected until 4 p.m.

PAGEANT REHEARSAL TONIGHT

Personality Spotlight Of Miss To T Hopefuls

The parade of beauties entered in the 1971 "Miss Top O' Texas" Beauty Pageant concludes today with introduction of three aspirants sponsored by local merchants.

Contestants will take part in the only full dress rehearsal tonight at 8 p.m. at Robert E. Lee Junior High School, according to Doug Coon coordinator.

Beauties in line for introduction today include Thelma Moultrie, 17, daughter of Mrs. Artie Mae Moultrie, 906 S. Wilcox. Thelma is a member of Truteans at the National Honor Society at Pampa High School where she is a student.

Thelma was a cheerleader, a member of pep squad and a pep squad captain. Favorite activities include softball, tennis, singing and dancing.

The five foot-three inch beauty weighs 109 pounds, and is being sponsored in the pageant by Tom Gray's Fina station.

Shannon Hills, sponsored by the House of Venus, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F.N. Hills. She is 16-year-old student of Pampa High School. She will be a varsity cheerleader in the Fall. Shannon served on the Student council while a student at the Robert Lee Junior High and was named "Miss Howdy."

She loves outdoor activities and works at Kentucky Fried chicken. Working with the mentally retarded is considered a rewarding experience by the sophomore student. Shannon is five feet-eight inches tall and weighs 125 pounds.

Beth Watson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Watson, 2320 Aspen. The 19-year-old Pampa graduate is a student at West Texas State University where she is a member of Chi Omega Social Sorority and secretary-treasurer of the Mary

Four Envoys Near Accord On Berlin

BERLIN (AP)—The Big Four ambassadors to divided Germany concluded today an unprecedented three day meeting in three days amid lively speculation they are nearing an agreement on Berlin matters.

The Soviet ambassador to East Germany, Pyotr Abramov, told waiting newsmen the four envoys would meet again in West Berlin Monday.

The American ambassador to West Germany, Kenneth Rush, said there is a news blackout on the talks.

'Survey Covers Period From 1921 To Present

WASHINGTON (AP)—A study published today by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee estimates Chinese Communism has cost at least 34 million lives and possibly as many as 63 million in the past 50 years.

The author of the study, Richard L. Walker, director of the Institute of International Studies at the University of South Carolina, said: "A reasonable estimate would be that the figure approaches 50 million Chinese."

The study, titled "The Human Cost of Communism in China," was ordered printed by the subcommittee July 27, after announcement of President Nixon's forthcoming visit to Peking in what Nixon has called a journey for peace.

Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., subcommittee chairman, said in an introduction to the study its publication "comes at a particularly opportune moment."

He said "there is nothing new historically about accommodations or alliances of convenience between basically hostile powers," adding that in certain situations "such arrangements are not only desirable but well-nigh unavoidable."

"But if we are to have relations with Red China," Eastland said, "Let us do so with our eyes open."

He described Walker as "widely recognized as one of this country's foremost China scholars" and said he was requested by the subcommittee last fall, on the initiative of the late Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Corn., to prepare the study.

Eastland said the great merit of the study was that "while it does not deny the Communists credit for certain important economic and social accomplishments," it paints the picture whole by assessing and bringing to life the terrible human cost at which these accomplishments were achieved.

Walker's study begins with the founding of the Chinese Communist Party in 1921 and traces its rise to rule mainland China under Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai.

End To Secret War In Red China Urged

WASHINGTON (AP)—For 20 years the United States has sponsored a secret war of espionage, sabotage and guerrilla activities on mainland China waged by Nationalist Chinese forces, two professional China watchers have told Congress.

Dr. Allen S. Whiting of the University of Michigan's Center for Chinese Studies and Jerome A. Cohen, professor of East Asian Legal Studies at Harvard Law School said such activities must end permanently or President Nixon will fail in his "journey for peace" to Peking.

They were joined by Dr. John K. Fairbank, director of Harvard's East Asian Research Center, who contended China has remained essentially non-expansive over 2,000 years. He also downgraded China's ability to threaten its neighbors.

"Their standard of living is still low and they have many prior demands on their resources," Fairbank said.

"The American public, if it has 30 million handguns and other firearms for hunting and sport, may have as much firepower as the whole Chinese army today... The Chinese are never going to threaten this country."

The three men testified before the Joint Congressional Economic Committee headed by Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., which is studying proposed cuts in the $80-billion U.S. defense budget.

"The United States has frequently violated international law in its relations with China," Cohen said.

"It will be important to determine," he said, "whether the recent cancellation of illegal overflights and ground penetrations of China represents merely a temporary gesture to facilitate President Nixon's trip or a new American policy of dealing with China..."

American public and official opinion would be outraged if Chinese aircraft were repeatedly violating airspace on spy missions, Cohen said.

"Yet somehow it seems right to Americans—that China, North Vietnam, North Korea and other Communist states should abide by the rules of the world community while tolerating our failure to do so..."

Whiting gave details of a number of covert missions he said the United States conducted. (See END TO, Page 2)

John Lindsay's Switch Draws Varied Reaction From Both Parties

NEW YORK (AP)—Leading Democrats have generally welcomed New York Mayor John V. Lindsay to their party but there was little upper echelon enthusiasm over his potential as a possible presidential candidate in 1972.

Republican reaction to the long-anticipated Lindsay switch Wednesday ranged from the view that it was overdue to expressions of loss by some liberal members. The White House had no comment.

In his announcement, Lindsay scored the Nixon administration and said his shift "represents a renewed decision to fight for new national leadership... Whether this means I will run for president I do not know."

"I welcome John Lindsay to the Democratic party," said Democratic National Chairman Lawrence F. O'Brien in an eight-word statement.

A welcome was also extended by Sen. Henry M. Jackson of Washington, one of a number of Democrats already eyeing the presidency. Of the mayor's presidential possibilities, Jackson has said: "If you joined the church one Sunday, you cannot expect to be chairman of the board of deacons the next Sunday."

Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota, an announced candidate for the Democratic nomination, commented, "The only thing I can say about the conversion is 'Amen.'"

"But I did not come to New York to convince another candidate to run for president," he continued, and suggested that Lindsay might want to nominate "George McGovern for president."

Lindsay's criticism of the Nixon administration was echoed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1968 and a possible contender in 1972.

He said the switch "undoubtedly reflects the views of many hundreds of thousands of voters who supported the Nixon-Agnew ticket in 1968 and have now come to realize they made a mistake."

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, considered the front runner for the Democratic nomination, welcomed Lindsay and said his shift was a sign "he can no longer accept Republican politics especially as they affect our urban areas."

Asked if Lindsay might make a strong Democratic candidate for the presidency, Muskie said he had "no firm judgment" on the matter.

In Indiana, home state of Sen. Birch Bayh, another Democrat weighing a bid for the nomination, Gordon St. Angelo, state Democratic chairman said, "The addition of people like Mayor Lindsay in the ranks of the Democratic party only substantiates and strengthens this move away from the destructive and unimaginative policies of the Nixon administration."

Republican National Chairman, Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas, said the shift came as no surprise adding, "I assume that he will soon be joining the ranks of Democratic presidential hopefuls."

"I'm not so certain the switch is bad news for Republicans because I think for some time John Lindsay has been backed by the Democrats," Dole said.

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey Jr. of California, who plans to challenge Nixon's renomination in several primaries, said, "I regret that another good Republican has been driven out of the party."

Sen. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon commented, "I feel the Republican party can ill afford to lose anyone at a time when registrations are running so badly against us, John Lindsay's switch is a major loss to our party."

Some of the most enthusiastic responses came from some of his fellow mayors. In Chicago,

Mayor Richard Daley said, "I'm delighted to see the mayor of the great city of New York has finally seen the light."

"Democrats are always pleased to welcome lost sheep into the fold," declared Detroit's Mayor Roman Gribbs. "He will be a great addition to the party... He is an effective and articulate spokesman for the needs of the people of America's core cities."

And Wes Uhlman of Seattle, a liberal Democrat, volunteered that, like those already in the race, Lindsay "would make an outstanding presidential candidate."

Texas Sells $25 Million In Bonds For Municipal Sewage Cleanup

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas sold $25 million in bonds Wednesday to get money for a massive clean-up of municipal sewage. There's been lots of talk about the water pollution that starts when you empty a bathtub or flush a toilet. Now the money's available for a start on doing something about it. Voters authorized $100 million in sewage treatment bonds at a special May 18 constitutional amendments election. About a dozen cities, water districts and other local governments have applied to the Texas Water Quality Board for loans under the new program. By Oct. 1, the board expects to have about 40 or 50 applications. The board plans to act on the first loan applications to build or upgrade sewage systems at its Sept. 16-17 meeting. Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., and Associates, a Chicago investment firm, was the low bidder on the 15-year bonds, with an effective interest rate of 4.95333 per cent. Four other bids were received. Local water and sewer plant users, who will bear the cost of the bonds, will pay $11.145.00 in interest on the $25 million in bonds between now and 1986. The Texas Water Development Board, already experienced in selling water bonds, was designated to handle the bond sale. "I had hoped for a lower interest rate but in view of the dollar crisis we are facing, we may have been lucky," said WDB Chairman W. E. Tinsley of Austin. "If we had waited until our Aug. 24 regular meeting, the rate might have been 5.25 per cent." Interest on the bonds is exempt from federal income taxes. A city, river authority or water district can borrow 25 per cent of the cost of a sewage treatment project from the state. State participation means a local government can obtain 50 to 55 per cent of the cost of a project from the federal government. Without state participation, the federal government would pay only 30 to 33 per cent. Bob Fleming, the Water Quality Board man in charge of the loan program, said the cities whose sewage is in the sorriest condition will have first priority for the loans.

How long does he think the $100 million authorized for the program will last? "Three, maybe four, years," Fleming replied.

Aerial Spraying In Battle Against VEE Completed

HOUSTON (AP) — Aerial spraying along the Texas coast to combat Venezuelan equine encephalomyelitis (VEE) has been completed.

A U.S. Department of Agriculture spokesman said weather conditions will require another day or two for completion of the spraying in Louisiana's Calcasieu and Cameron parishes.

The spokesman said, "When the job is completed, a little more than nine million acres will have been sprayed by air and another 2½ million acres will have been sprayed on the ground by local mosquito control districts."

Two more VEE cases were confirmed in Cameron County Wednesday, bringing the confirmed to 12 Texas counties. A total of 1,438,985 horses in nine states now have been inoculated against the disease.

State Health Department officials Wednesday confirmed another human VEE case, bringing the total in humans to 61. Suspected cases of VEE in humans now stands at 298.

Dallas School Board Adopts Busing Plan

DALLAS (AP) — The Dallas School Board has adopted a plan to bus 7,000 black pupils to predominantly white secondary schools in North and East Dallas.

The board's only Negro trustee, Dr. Emmett Conrad, cast the lone dissenting vote Wednesday, saying "it's one way busing of blacks as usual."

The blacks would go to six predominantly white high schools under the board's new plan but there would be no whites attending a Negro high school as a federal court has ordered.

U. S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor is expected to review the board's plan Thursday and if he approves, it will become a part of his court-ordered desegregation plan.

Taylor earlier rescinded part of his order which would have some secondary pupils bused up to 12 miles.

The board's plan also states that all ninth and 12th grade pupils may attend the same schools they did last year, provided they are not one of the four high schools closed by the court order.

The order notes that no transportation will be provided. During an earlier board session trustee Eugene Smith asked the board to consider adopting a proposal for the Dallas board to lead a nationwide campaign in obtaining a constitutional amendment preserving the neighborhood school and autonomy of local school boards.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The autos of several members of the national Fraternal Order of Police were ticketed while parked near the hotel where the Order's holding its annual convention.

Pampan Awarded Diamond Pin For 35-Year Service. Joe L. Wells, branch manager for C-E NATCO, formerly National Tank Company, has been awarded a diamond pin depicting 35 years of service with the company. He has been branch manager here for 31 years.

The award represents continuous service. However, Wells actually started to work with National Tank 40 years ago as a high school student, working part time while in college at Oklahoma A and M.

The award was presented by J.D. Lowrie, Oklahoma City, District Manager. Wells was first employed as a shopworker, then as a welder and casting inspector in the Tulsa shops. In 1939, he was transferred to Odessa as a serviceman. He came to Pampa as branch manager in 1940.

An avid league bowler, Wells also takes part in First United Methodist Church activities and is a 30-year member of the Downtown Kiwanis Club. Wells and his wife, Margaret, reside at 951 N. Gray and are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Rick (Marilyn) Bruno, Chicago; and Mrs. Ed (Nora Ruth) Clevenger, Lawton, Okla.

Justice Department Drops Probe Of Gov. Wallace's Administration

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department has junked its investigation into alleged corruption in Gov. George C. Wallace's state administration in Alabama.

Sources said a confidential report inside the Justice Department decided the investigation failed to find enough evidence to warrant prosecution.

A federal grand jury is scheduled to reconvene Sept. 7 in Montgomery, Ala., to close out the probe.

A source inside the Justice Department said tax indictments might be returned at this grand jury session or a future one, even though the attorney general's office investigation has ended.

The tax probe has touched on a $5,000 swimming pool built for Wallace's former top aide, Seymour Trammell, and $25,000 in campaign donations listed as expenses by a textbook firm that supplies public schools in Alabama, government sources said.

A broader probe that began 1½ years ago failed to uncover sufficient evidence of asphalt and highway kickbacks, state dock payoffs and bank favors for state officials, the source said.

In Montgomery, Gov. Wallace declined any comment on the investigation.

Wallace, who carried five states in his third-party White House race in 1968, has never been directly involved in the grand jury investigation, which has subpoenaed a number of officials from his state administration.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Will R. Wilson, head of the Criminal Division, met here Tuesday with government tax lawyers, campaign investigator and a federal prosecutor from Montgomery in connection with the long investigation.

Government sources said the Justice Department probe had touched on a $110,000 loan by a Birmingham bank for Wallace's 1968 presidential race, false advertising invoices issued to disguise political donations to a 1966 state campaign, and possible payoffs for state contracts.

However, sources say the confidential report found in each case either insufficient evidence or lack of any federal law violation.

The pending tax case centers on Trammell, a former state finance director who was Wallace's top campaign aide until a split during the 1968 presidential race.

A Justice Department official confirmed the grand jury was told false advertising invoices were issued for $25,000 in contributions by EBSCO Industries, a Birmingham firm supplying school textbooks, to the 1966 governor's race by Wallace's late wife, Lurleen. A Mobile advertising executive, Charles O. Dittmars, testified he made out various invoices at Trammell's request. It is illegal to deduct campaign donations as business expenses.

A government source also said the grand jury heard testimony that Trammell got a $5,000 swimming pool built at his farm outside Montgomery. Warner Mathis, head of a firm that supplied doors and window frames for state construction jobs, testified he had the pool installed at Trammell's request. Sources quoted Mathis as testifying that a college building contractor paid the bill for the pool.

Representatives from area towns of the Texas Panhandle met at the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce office yesterday and started initial plans to organize a regional approach to tourist development for the area.

The new concept will involve active participation of all towns in the Panhandle to provide necessary financing for brochures, signboards, vacation shows, and other similar type promotional programs.

Enthusiasm for the proposed program was high, according to Pampa chamber president Kay Fancher. A committee was appointed to set up guidelines and a proposed plan of action to bring back to the group at a future meeting. Jim Lindsey of Hereford was appointed chairman of the committee.

The meeting was called by the Tourist Development Department of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, George Lokey, Chairman. Attending from Pampa were Chamber President Fancher, W.B. "Red" Smith, chairman of the Tourist Development committee, and Chamber Manager E.O. Wedgeworth.

He set bond at $50,000 for Rios and $75,000 for Avina, who said he is a second-year medical student at Tamaulipas State College in Tampico.

Their arrest came, officers said, as they prepared to sell the drugs to a long-haired, hippie-type narcotics agent. They said the heroin was found in a bag under the back seat of the men's car.

Investigators set the total value of the two heroin seizures at $775,000, which they said was among the largest hauls ever in Cameron County.

Texas Custom Agents Smash Heroin Ring

BROWNSVILLE, Tex (AP)—Customs agents say they have confiscated heroin worth an estimated $775,000 in the underworld drug market with the arrest of two men.

Authorities said Wednesday they had charged a Mexican local student and a Houston bricklayer with "knowingly and intentionally distributing approximately 45 ounces of heroin."

Held under unusually high bonds were Carlos Torres Avina, 27, of Matamoros, Mexico, and Baldemar Rios, 26, of Houston. They were arrested by federal agents Tuesday on a downtown Brownsville street.

U.S. Magistrate William Mallett said the pair figured in an earlier seizure that involved 34 ounces of heroin. He said the previous incident occurred at nearby Harlingen but he gave no details.

School Prayers To Be Subject Of House Debate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tense waiting game is being played in the House over the issue of prayers in the public schools. The outcome is likely to be decided shortly after Congress reconvenes next month.

Supporters of a proposed constitutional amendment permitting school prayers are trying to sign up enough members to force action on it, and Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee, is waiting to see if they can.

When Congress adjourned for its summer recess last week there were 191 signatures on a petition to take the amendment away from the Judiciary Committee and send it to the House floor. It will take 219 to do it.

Celler, the 83-year-old dean of the House, has been through the battle before. In 1964 after a discharge petition gathered 167 signatures Celler yielded and held hearings on a prayer amendment.

For nearly six weeks a parade of witnesses including church officials, educators, legal scholars and representatives of dozens of private organizations testified for and against the amendment. When the hearings ended the committee found itself unable to agree and laid the amendment aside.

The hearings disclosed widespread opposition among religious leaders to any amendment that would weaken the constitutional barrier between church and state.

Awaiting similar statements of opposition this time, Celler has printed in the Congressional Record a letter from the American Baptist Convention praising him for waging "a valiant fight against efforts to legislate religion," and one from the Unitarian Universalist Association urging him to stand fast.

There is a credible case that overt and covert U.S.-Nationalist activities have aroused the Chinese Communist security concerns...

Establishment of diplomatic relations with Peking must take place before relations between the two nations are normalized, Cohen said.

"This may require us not only to recognize it as the only legitimate government of China," he said, "but also to acknowledge... that Taiwan is Chinese territory and that the United States, at some point of not immediately, will cease its intervention in the Chinese civil war."

every hour," said an Irish army officer. One refugee camp, designed to hold 100 people, held 1,600 Wednesday night.

More than 2,000 Protestants have left their homes for the safety of schools and churches in Northern Ireland.

Gen. Tuoz said the security forces had rounded up 70 per cent of the men believed most dangerous. He predicted the rest would be netted within a few weeks.

Army searches in Belfast Wednesday produced 600 gasoline bombs, flares, bullets and fuses. An IRA leader who arrived in Dublin Wednesday night said his men were running short of arms and ammunition and would not have enough "if we have to continue to fight the British army."

Sources in Dublin estimate the IRA had 1,000 men under arms in the North for its campaign to reunite the six Protestant-dominated counties with the Catholic republic.

Ireland's Foreign Minister Patrick Hillery conferred with British officials in London Wednesday and informed sources said he told the British his government is prepared to take part in round-table talks with London and Belfast provided the North's 500,000 Catholics—one-third of the population—are represented.

Professional Golfer Involved In Stock Case

HOUSTON (AP) — Professional golfer Doug Sanders got caught up in the financial game here Wednesday in a Federal Deposit Insurance Corp. suit seeking $170,000 in connection with National Bankers Life stock.

The suit was filed as Frank W. Sharp continued to give depositions to Securities and Exchange Commission attorneys in its probe of the collapse of the Sharpstown State Bank.

The bank closed in January after the SEC named Sharp and 77 others as defendants in a Dallas civil injunction suit alleging stock manipulation.

SEC records with the Dallas suit list Sanders among those who made profits on purchases of National Bankers stock.

The suit against Sanders alleges Sanders borrowed the $170,000 on Aug. 24, 1970, with a 9½ per cent interest rate until its maturity date on Nov. 22, 1970, and 10 per cent thereafter.

The suit claims Sanders has not made repayment and has ignored repeated notices to pay off the loan.

SEC records show that Sanders bought 10,000 shares of National Bankers Life stock on July 11, 1969, at $9.75 per share and purchased 4,000 more shares three days later. The SEC record said Sanders sold 8,000 shares at $19.50 on Oct. 8, 1969, for an overall profit of $14,000 and still held 6,000 shares.

Sharp's attorney, Morton L. Susman, said Wednesday he expected Sharp to testify under subpoena before the Texas House General Investigating Committee. Rep. Menton J. Murray of Harlingen has indicated he would like Sharp to be the committee's first witness.

Susman said Sharp advised Murray in writing he would cooperate with the committee "when he can work it into his schedule."

Sharp already has testified before the grand jury in Houston and next week is expected to testify before a Travis County grand jury which started an investigation in Austin after Texas Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin turned over his finding of his probe of the case.

Rep Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth testified before the grand jury here Wednesday. Attorney for several defendants, as well as several defendants, have been listening to depositions Sharp has been giving SEC attorneys since Monday. There has been indication some of the defense attorneys will begin cross-examination today.

A spokesman for the club said Lee planned to outline prospect of the Harvesters' football season as compared to other district teams.

Pampan Awarded Diamond Pin For 35-Year Service

Joe L. Wells, branch manager for C-E NATCO, formerly National Tank Company, has been awarded a diamond pin depicting 35 years of service with the company. He has been branch manager here for 31 years.

The award represents continuous service. However, Wells actually started to work with National Tank 40 years ago as a high school student, working part time while in college at Oklahoma A and M.

The award was presented by J.D. Lowrie, Oklahoma City, District Manager. Wells was first employed as a shopworker, then as a welder and casting inspector in the Tulsa shops. In 1939, he was transferred to Odessa as a serviceman. He came to Pampa as branch manager in 1940.

An avid league bowler, Wells also takes part in First United Methodist Church activities and is a 30-year member of the Downtown Kiwanis Club. Wells and his wife, Margaret, reside at 951 N. Gray and are the parents of two daughters, Mrs. Rick (Marilyn) Bruno, Chicago; and Mrs. Ed (Nora Ruth) Clevenger, Lawton, Okla.

U.S. Dist. Judge William M. Taylor is expected to review the board's plan Thursday and if he approves, it will become a part of his court-ordered desegregation plan.

Taylor earlier rescinded part of his order which would have some secondary pupils bused up to 12 miles.

The board's plan also states that all ninth and 12th grade pupils may attend the same schools they did last year, provided they are not one of the four high schools closed by the court order.

The blacks would go to six predominantly white high schools under the board's new plan but there would be no whites attending a Negro high school as a federal court has ordered.

Light Rolls, Buns, Brighten Meals All Day

APPETITE PLEASERS ANYTIME
... warm buns, morning, noon or night

Just a little imagination is needed to see many ways in which hot dog rolls and hamburger buns can be used — other than the way they got their names.

For people on the go a "breakfast on a bun," served buffet style on the porch or patio, includes orange juice, scrambled eggs and bacon on frankfurter rolls and sausage patties and scrambled eggs on hamburger buns, milk and hot coffee. It's easy to fix, fun to eat and the sandwiches can be toted along to be eaten on the way to work or play if desired.

For lunch those extra buns and rolls can be turned into attractive "boats" or "shells" for a variety of uses. For a buffet supper the round hamburger bun can quickly be turned into a miniature pizza or the hot dog roll into a delightful baked delicacy.

FOR BREAKFAST
The menu can be varied in many ways: corned beef burgers may be used instead of the sausage and eggs; link sausages, beef patties, Canadian bacon, ham, bologna, deviled ham, minute beef steaks, dried (chipped) beef, fish burgers or any kind of canned or deli-luncheon meats may be served on a bun, with or without the scrambled eggs.

SCRAMBLED EGGS
Break eggs into a bowl, allowing 1 tablespoon per egg of milk or coffee cream, add salt and pepper to taste; beat slightly with a fork (for white and gold effect do not blend completely). Heat butter or margarine in skillet over medium heat; add egg mixture; reduce heat to low and stir cooked portions gently with spatula from bottom and sides of pan; do NOT overcook (eggs should be moist and glossy when done). Spoon onto split buns that have been buttered and toasted lightly; add sausage patties to other half of hamburger rolls, bacon to the long buns; serve at once. (Allow 2 eggs per serving for each bun-wich.)

NOTE: For creamy scrambled eggs, cook above mixture in top of double broiler over simmering, not hot water, stirring occasionally until eggs are thick and creamy.

VARIATIONS
To egg mixture add chopped fresh herbs — chives, parsley, tarragon, chervil or basil; or add a dash of curry; or substitute sour cream and add a dash of lemon-parsley salt. Sauté fresh or canned mushrooms (1 or 2 tablespoons per egg) and a dash of seasoned salt; combine leftover ham-scraps with scrambled eggs, or sautéed pieces of dried (chipped) beef; add a tablespoon grated cheddar cheese per egg, or 2 tablespoons creamed cottage cheese with a dash of Angostura bitters.

SAUSAGE PATTIES
Shape sausage meat between palms of hands (wet hands to keep from sticking); place sausage in cold skillet and cook over low heat until lightly browned, about 12 to 15 minutes. Turn with spatula, pouring off fat as it gathers. Or bake sausage cakes in 375 oven in open pan until done, turning once to brown. Never prick sausage with fork, drain on paper towels.

BACON
To pan fry: separate pieces, place in cold skillet and cook over low heat, turning occasionally. Drain on paper towels.

To bake: place separated pieces of bacon on wire rack on broiler pan or lay on crumpled aluminum foil; bake in 400 oven until crisp and lightly browned, about 10 minutes. (better set the timer.) Bacon cooked on crumpled foil in oven will have a wavy, pretty effect.

FOR LUNCH
Remove tops from round and long buns; hollow out centers leaving firm sides and bottoms (freezing the rolls makes hollowing them out easier. Let thaw, brush with melted butter and toast until delicately browned in hot oven.)

HAM AND ASPARAGUS BUNS
Roll well drained spear of canned asparagus in thin slice of ham; place 2 or 3 ham-asparagus rolls in each hollowed out long roll; sprinkle with buttered crumbs; dot with mustard-mayonnaise; top with grated sharp cheese and place under broiler until browned.

CHICKEN SALAD IN A BUN
Fill hollowed out and toasted round buns with chicken salad; top each with a tablespoon of chutney; serve with tomato aspic on lettuce leaves.

FOR SUPPER
For a soup and sandwich supper, serve tomato soup topped with dollops of dairy sour cream and miniature pizzas.

PIZZA-BURGERS
On a greased cookie sheet place split hamburger rolls, flatten into thin circles with back of tablespoon; pinch up small rim; spread with softened butter or margarine and cover with tomato sauce; top with thin slice of cheese.

Remove toothpicks when ready to serve and tuck a sprig of watercress in both ends; or dip ends of rolled sandwiches in mayonnaise and ground peanuts or minced parsley for garnish.

PUNCH FOR THE PARTY
Almost any kind of punch goes well with canapés indoors or out, but for a garden party or a June bride, or any summer party, a bowl of sparkling punch is popular.

CHAMPAGNE PUNCH
1 bottle (four-fifths qt.) sauterne, well chilled
2 bottles champagne (four fifths quart each) well chilled

1 bottle (1 qt.) sparkling water, Washed, stemmed strawberries for garnish or a fruited ice ring.

Combine sauterne, champagne and soda in well chilled punch bowl; add ice ring or fresh strawberries. Makes about 20 punch-cup (6 oz.) servings. NOTE: For a more potent punch, a bottle of golden rum may be added; for a less potent one, use more sparkling water (soda) and less champagne.

FESTIVE PUNCH

3 cans (46 oz. each) orange grapefruit juice
3 cans (46 oz. each) pineapple juice
3 cans (12 oz. each) apricot nectar
3 quarts gingerale
3 quarts lemon or lime sherbet

Combine fruit juices in punch bowl, add gingerale and lemon or lime sherbet just before serving. Makes about 3 gallons or 120 punch cup servings. NOTE: Punch may be made in thirds as needed.

Mexican Casserole Makes Hearty Meal

When it comes to pleasing that man in your life at mealtime, hearty, flavorful and meaty dishes are certain to do the trick. Steak is always popular, but not from a budget viewpoint. Chili-Rice Bake fills all requirements, and it's economical, too. Rice is added to stretch a pound of ground beef to serve six generously.

The combination of ingredients for the casserole is borrowed from our neighbors South of the Border. Rice, ground beef, sauteed onions and green peppers, tomato paste, chili powder and garlic salt—all combined and baked with a topping of cheese. The blend of flavors is very Mexican and the aroma while baking is better than a dinner bell for getting everyone to the table on time!

Just a few hints about preparing the rice: it's best to follow package directions exactly. And that means steaming it in just the right amount of water. Remember, no rinsing before or after cooking — that just throws valuable vitamins and minerals down the drain, some of the older "gourmet" recipes do suggest rinsing, but that isn't necessary now that rice, in America, is planted, harvested and packaged under such fully automated and sanitary conditions.

So, for a man-pleasing meal, try serving Chili-Rice Bake with crisp tortillas. The hearty combination may become one of your most popular meals.

CHILI-RICE BAKE
1 pound lean ground beef
1 cup each chopped onions and green peppers
2 cups beef broth
1 can (16oz.)

tomato paste
1 teaspoon garlic salt
2 tablespoons chili powder
3 cups cooked rice
1 cup grated

Cheddar cheese
Sauté ground beef, onions, and green peppers until meat is almost done, blend in broth, tomato paste, and seasonings. Add rice. Spoon into a shallow 2-quart casserole. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 for 20 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

RICE—TRICKS, HINTS
Nutritionists say it's important to eat foods from the "Basic," every day. From the "Bread-Cereal" group, you need 4 servings a day. A bowl of cereal for breakfast, two slices of bread in a sandwich for lunch, and a serving of rice with dinner fulfills the requirements in this important category.

On a diet? Remember that rice is not a high calorie food. It contains only 90 calories per half-cup serving.

For an extra special meal, serve Saffron Rice. Easy to make, it has a most attractive, golden yellow color. Just cook a cup of rice in 2 cups chicken broth, 1/4 teaspoon powdered saffron, salt and butter. It's a gourmet trick guaranteed to impress family and guests alike.

In a quandry about whether to buy long grain, medium grain, or short grain rice? It's really a matter of preference. The short and medium grain rices are plump grains which cook tender and moist, with the grains tending to cling together. The longer grains cook up more fluffy and separate. Try all and see what your family prefers.

For a different way to serve rice... spoon hot cooked rice into individual molds and then unmold immediately onto plates. The rice keeps the shape of the mold and looks most attractive.

Nation's Power Plant Growth Poses Threat To Environment

By DICK BARNES
Associated Press Writer
FARMINGTON, N.M. (AP) — From the lush green Tennessee Valley, where fly ash doesn't fly so thick anymore, to the starkly beautiful Southwest, where a pollution explosion hangs on the horizon, the federal government is involved as agent and operator in dirtying the air.

The culprits are mammoth which churn out in ever-increasing volumes electricity to run everything from steel mills to electric toothbrushes.

The symptoms include billowing plumes of fly ash and soot that cloudy the air, invisible sulfur oxides that can harm life, and environmental degradation wrought by the mining of coal to fuel the plants.

The solutions lie in laboratory test tubes for scientifically unsolved difficulties, in money for curing those problems for which there are answers, and in decisions about how much progress is worth its cost to society and the environment.

Through its various regulatory arms, the federal government has a link to the pollution problems of any power generating enterprise. But in the Tennessee Valley Authority and a projected complex of six power plants in the Southwest, the government is far more intimately involved in various roles as owner, operator, agent and trustee.

TWA illustrates the problems and progress in trying to clean up coal-burning plants that have been operating for as long as 20 years.

The Southwest case, with only the first two of the six plants in operation, raises questions about the dangers of power plant growth and power requirements versus protecting the environment.

Doctors Believe 'PG's' Will Be New Multi-Purpose Medicines

NEW YORK (AP) — "PG's" promise to be tomorrow's astounding new medicines, with many uses, such as:

- A perfectly safe, once-a-month birth control tablet.
- Or if pregnancy had occurred, a safe drug to bring about abortion.
- Or a drug to shorten the time a woman is in normal labor.
- A potent medicine to reduce high blood pressure, to boost dangerously low pressure, to pull people out of shock, or to save them from congestive heart failure.
- A drug to cure or prevent stomach ulcers.
- A drug to combat the pains and swellings of arthritis.
- And perhaps some yet unpredictable roles in human health.

"PG's" mean prostaglandins, hormone-like chemicals that occur naturally in most cells of the body. The largest amounts occur in human semen, and they became named prostaglandins because at first the male prostate gland was thought to be their source.

There are at least six primary PG's, producing different effects.

They are so potent that one billionth of one gram—one gram is 1,000,000,000 of an ounce—can produce a physiological effect.

They were discovered in 1934 by Dr. Ulf S. von Euler of the Karolinska Institute in Stockholm, a Nobel Prize winner in medicine and physiology in 1970.

Dr. von Euler back then isolated a factor from the seminal vesicles of sheep that acted to lower blood pressure, and that also produced contractions in the smooth muscle lining the uterus or womb. He coined the name prostaglandins.

Progress toward application had to await mainly some brilliant work by chemists to purify PG's from animal material—a ton of sheep glands yielded only one 500th of an ounce of PG—in order to identify it, then to make it synthetically, then to sort out and synthesize the major prostaglandins in pure form.

And this was done, by such researchers as Dr. Sune Bergstrom and associates of the Karolinska Institute; Drs. John C. Babcock and Philip B. Beal, and Frank H. Lincoln of the Upjohn Company in Kalamazoo, Mich., by Dr. Elias J. Corey and associates at Harvard University.

Closest perhaps to general use are PG's in birth control, thanks in main part to pioneering work by Dr. Sultan M.M. Karim of Makerere University School of Medicine in Uganda, and Drs. Marc Bygdeman and Nils Wigqvist of the Karolinska Institute.

They first used prostaglandin to induce labor, near a woman's term. Then they used PG to induce abortions, as late as five months in pregnancy, by infusing the drug into a vein. The PG's worked in both cases by bringing about contractions of the uterus or womb, a normal event during childbirth.

PG's apparently can also be used to prevent a fertilized egg from becoming implanted in the wall of the uterus, or from being maintained there.

Dr. Karim reports initial success in using PG's for contraception with tablets of PG inserted into the vagina at the expected time of menstruation.

If a woman had already conceived, the PG would induce a very early abortion, Dr. Karim explains. If she had not conceived, normal menstruation would occur. He suggests the tablets could be used only in months when a woman's period became late, raising the suspicion she had become pregnant.

Dr. Bygdeman has induced abortions by instilling PG in liquid form into the uterus, finding this method permits lower dosage, and hence less chance for side effects such as nausea, compared with infusion into the bloodstream.

How soon may arrive the PG contraceptive tablet, or safe method of abortion? Clinical research first has to be done to establish that PG's are safe. It is thought they would be because they are naturally occurring substances in both men and women.

Through stepping up or calming down blood pressure, other PG's show promise of becoming agents to control shock—when blood pressure drops dangerously—congestive heart failure, and perhaps even coronary artery disease, say recent reports to the American Heart Association.

401 In Summer Graduate Class At West Texas

CANYON — Four hundred-one degrees will be awarded tonight at Summer Convocation for West Texas State University in the Amarillo Civic Center Coliseum.

Graduates were to rehearse at 3 p.m. with actual commencement exercises beginning at 8 p.m.

Summer commencement will honor Cecil Briggs, 65, retiring associate professor of mathematics.

Briggs, a native of Maypearl, came to the University in 1941. He has taught in Potosi, Tex., and in Happy, Tex. From 1932 through 1941, he was principal for the Happy Elementary School.

He holds a bachelor's degree from West Texas State University and a master's from Texas Tech University.

Undergraduates will take final examinations Friday. School will then close until Aug. 22, when entering freshmen are expected to arrive on campus.

Freshmen orientation will be held Aug. 23-25.

Seniors and freshmen will register for fall Aug. 26, with sophomores, juniors and graduates registering Aug. 27.

Students enrolling for only night classes and students who arrived late will register Aug. 28. Class instruction will begin Aug. 30.

Housing Patterns Upset Plans To Desegregate In Atlanta

WASHINGTON (AP) — A little-noted ruling by a federal court in Atlanta indicates that because of housing patterns the long effort to desegregate Southern schools has come full circle and is leading to resegregation.

In rejecting massive busing as a means of further integrating Atlanta's schools, the court said the city is on the brink of becoming all-black and would be pushed over the brink if busing were ordered.

Holding there now is no difference between the segregation remaining in Atlanta and that in large Northern cities, the court dismissed the case, which has been fought for 13 years.

"On the facts alone," wrote U.S. Dist. Court Judge Sidney O. Smith Jr. and Albert J. Henderson Jr., "the court concludes that wholesale busing is neither reasonable, feasible nor workable."

The July 28 ruling has been appealed by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

The Atlanta decision was brought to the attention of Congress last week by Rep. Roman C. Pucinski, D-Ill., a foe of busing, who called the ruling "significant and historic."

He inserted it in the Congressional Record and said he hopes members read it before the House considers the administration's $1.5-billion school desegregation-aid bill when it returns from summer recess.

Judge Smith and Henderson said the Atlanta school board has acted promptly and responsibly in carrying out every desegregation order and has voluntarily taken other steps to speed the process, only to see the goal continually slip away.

When the suit was begun in 1958, they said, Atlanta had a pupil ratio of 70 per cent white and 30 per cent black with a predominantly white faculty. Today it is the reverse, 70 per cent black and 30 per cent white, with 60 per cent of the faculty black.

During the period enrollment dropped from 115,000 to 100,000 as whites moved out at an accelerating pace, the court noted. Last year, it said, 7,000 whites left the system and 1,000 blacks entered.

As a result, the court said, every effort by the school board to achieve racial balance in the schools has been undermined in short order by shifting neighborhood racial patterns. New schools placed specifically to increase integration are all-black by the time they are ready for use, it said.

"The cause of such frustrating results lies in factors completely beyond the control of school authorities," the judges said. "Segregated housing... remains the unconquerable foe of the racial ideal of integrated public schools in the cities."

Creative Trend Back In Swing With Dramatists

By WILLIAM GLOVER
AP Drama Writer

WATERFORD, Conn. (AP) — Less cussin' and more fussin'. That's the creative trend discernible among apprentice dramatists now at the Eugene O'Neill Memorial Theater Center.

"All the permissiveness that developed during the past five years is beginning to be used instead of abused," says George C. White, founder of the annual playwrights' conference, which can be regarded as a barometer of crosscountry thespian ambition.

His opinion is shared by Lloyd Richards, the artistic director.

"They are using the ultracandid words more for valid idiomatic or rhythmic reason, instead of just shock," he reports. "And nudity is no real problem."

During the four-week conference just ended the work of 14 fledgling authors was performed, dissected and evaluated with informal but intensive enthusiasm by a highly diversified assortment of theater professionals, including such notables as Pulitzer prize winner Edward Albee and critic Martin Esslin.

"Our purpose," stresses Richards, "is to assist and develop the total writer, not just focus on one particular play."

Since being founded in 1965, the conference has turned up such subsequently successful dramatists as Ron Cowen, Frank Gagliano, John Guare, Israel Horowitz and Lanford Wilson.

This semester's complement ranged from a youth of 25 who last year ran errands here through a 41-year-old advertising veteran and a 76-year-old woman.

Since stimulus is the aim rather than appraisal, the O'Neill staff hazards no guess as to which of them might emerge as a stage comer.

"That an awful lot of people have a dramatic yen is attested by the fact that the chosen 14—each of whom received $150 cash plus room and board—were selected from among 800 applicants, each armed with a manuscript."

A panel of readers screened the lot down to 8.

"There was no trend in sub-matter," says Richards. "There were three plays about Tolstoy this year, but there were three about Gandhi last year. Nor was there any stylistic trend like four years ago when so many were writing memory plays about parents."

Nham Arrested For Supporting Jailed Candidate

SAIGON (AP) — Police have arrested Tran Tuan Nham, a candidate for the lower house in the Aug. 29 elections, after he staged a protest in support of another candidate jailed by the government, a Saigon news paper reported today.

The Vietnam Guardian said Nham carried a poster cartoon showing President Nixon with a Hitler-style mustache and with an X drawn over the picture. The caption read: "Oppose the U.S. Save our country."

Nham was protesting the recent arrest of Nguyen Xuan Lap on a charge of distributing antigovernment leaflets. Supporters of Lap, who leads a Buddhist student group, have been fasting outside the militant An Quang pagoda in Saigon for the past three days.

In a related development, the government announced the confiscation of three opposition newspapers for cartoons and articles "which might harm the national security."

One of the papers, Tin Sang, published by opposition Deputy Ngo Cong Duc, was cited for three articles questioning President Nguyen Van Thieu's support in the armed forces, charging that summer military training is a new form of "jail" for university students, and accusing U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker of being a "specialist in rigged elections."

The editors of the confiscated papers are to be prosecuted by the Interior Ministry before a civilian court. In such cases the papers are generally given heavy fines.

Low Pollution Cars Possible In '76

BOSTON (AP) — "You could get your face right next to the exhaust and not see or smell anything," a government inspector said of low-pollution cars being put into use by the General Services Administration.

"These cars are about 95 per cent emission-free," added Robert W. Kelly, an automotive inspector for the GSA.

Eleven of the vehicles powered by liquid natural gas—were put into service this week by the GSA and long-range plans call for the agency to convert all of its 49,500 vehicles across the country within the next five years. Eighty-nine more are expected to be ready here within a few months.

The fuel system, however, still is—at best—some distance from the public market.

Under the Clean Air Act of 1970, manufacturers are required to produce a virtually pollution-free auto by 1976. But automakers have said it will be impossible to mass produce a substitute for the internal combustion engine in that time.

"Detroit is watching this experiment closely," said Robert L. Kunzig, GSA administrator. "Perhaps Detroit will come up with something similar, or better."

The government cars have their liquid natural gas stored at 259 degrees below zero—in an insulated 20 gallon tank in the trunk. The gas cost the government about 16 cents a gallon, the same price it pays—tax free—for regular gasoline. The gas is purchased from a local company and stored in a fuel truck at the GSA center.

Mileage is about the same as regular gasoline, but there is no lead in the fuel and less wear on the engine.

Important Device

REHOBOT, Israel (AP)—An Israeli scientist has invented a device for measuring the heartbeat under battle field conditions.

The apparatus is intended to solve a problem which has long vexed doctors and medics: determining which of a number of seriously injured accident victims to treat first.

Prof. David Danon calls his invention the "toy" because of its small size, but it is known officially as the Heart Potential Detector (HPD).

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Boy, it was really thick there," says Highway Patrolman Ken Mazzanti, called to investigate how 51,000 gallons of wine were spilled onto the San Bernardino Freeway.

"I'm afraid I'm going to have a heck of a headache."

The wine evaporating under a hot sun Tuesday could be smelled a quarter-mile away. The driver of the trailer truck carrying the wine said he lost control and the vehicle jack-knifed.

Opium Trade In Orient Century Old

By PETER ARNETT and BERNARD GAVZER
Associated Press Writers

SAIGON (AP)—America's GI heroin users are at the Vietnam end of an intricately organized dope pipeline. It begins in the poppy fields of the Himalayas and is tolerated and sometimes aided by government officials and soldiers of three nations on its journey to the streets of Saigon.

Alarmed by widespread use of drugs among American servicemen, the United States is putting on vast pressure to curb the traffic, but finds itself bucking a way life that has endured for a century.

An Associated Press investigation of how drugs move through Southeast Asia produces these major findings:

—A Chinese "Mafia" dominates the drug traffic. It operates a complex family-style network out of a dozen Asian cities, paying off all the way to the military rebels whose caravans gather the opium gum grown by Meo farmers, to the Lao soldiers who guarded the secluded heroin refineries along mountain streams, through customs checkpoints and roadblocks in Thailand; to fishing boat owners and truck drivers in Indochinese villages, and finally to some South Vietnamese generals who allow the traffic to continue right under their noses in Saigon.

—Though the opium trade in the Orient is a hundred years old, U.S. attention has been centered on it only in the past year because of the spreading use of heroin among young soldiers in Vietnam. American officials in the three nations involved—Laos, South Vietnam and Thailand—can point to paper advances in suppression but in interviews many despair of making a serious dent in the business soon because it is one thing to know the system and quite another to break through the layers of protection and obtain names and evidence.

Soldier's Threat Gets His Money

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—A soldier who said he would blow up the bank if it didn't lend him $20 to send flowers to his hospitalized wife at La Grange, Ill., got his money.

Later he turned himself in to authorities, but the bank said it will not prosecute and the U.S. district attorney's office said it will not bring charges.

A spokesman for Banker's Trust said a soldier identifying himself as Pvt. Robert E. Key, a basic trainee at Ft. Jackson, came into the city Tuesday to send some flowers.

A florist's shop refused credit so he went to the bank, where he was advised it didn't make such small loans.

A bank spokesman said Key told them he would blow up the bank if he didn't get his loan.

"Our slogan is 'Let The Sun Shine In,'" the spokesman said, "so our official filled out loan papers and let him have the $20."

Key had the flowers sent, then turned himself in.

There apparently will be no Army prosecution, with no one to bring charges.

MALAGA, Spain (AP) — The Hotel Riviere in Torremolinos, on Spain's south coast, collapsed today, and police said several persons were trapped in the wreckage.

An undetermined number of other persons were injured. Firemen, troops and others were working to retrieve the victims.

Police said they could not give the reason for the collapse yet.

THE AMERICAN SOLDIER — This red white and blue van, an exhibit from the U.S. Army Exhibit Unit is now centered in Pampa at Coronado Center. The display will be open from 12 p.m.-8 p.m. daily through Saturday, according to SSG Louis Kidd, U.S. Army Recruiter, 115 N. Cuyler, Pampa. SSG Kidd may be contacted by calling 665-2022. The van houses exhibits depicting a soldier's duties.

WTSU To Teach Course On Real Estate Appraisal

CANYON—A course in appraising real property will be offered for the first time this fall by the School of Business at West Texas State University.

The school is one of five in the country selected to offer the course by the Society of Real Estate Appraisers in Chicago. The only other place in Texas where it is offered is the University of Houston.

Joe L. Martin of the First Federal Savings and Loan of Amarillo, a senior residential appraiser (SRA), will teach the course at WTSU.

Dr. Zeke Marchant, head of the Department of Business Administration, said the course is open to anyone. No prerequisites are required.

The course, listed as B.A. 276-3 will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesdays in room 104 of the University Complex South, Marchant said.

He said the course was especially designed for persons working toward the SRA. It will be taught on the undergraduate level, he added.

Before offering the course, West Texas State had to be approved by the Society of Real Estate Appraisers in Chicago.

"We have been trying for several years to get the approval to teach this course," Marchant said. "Before approving us, the society wanted to make sure we met their standards."

Students registering for the course should do so Aug. 28, registration day for evening students. The cost is $124.25, Marchant said.

He said a second course in the series required for the SRA would be offered next summer.

Radio & TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Each year, changes occur in returning television series.

It's been well publicized that Milburn Stone, "Doc" in CBS' "Gunsmoke" the last 16 seasons, is convalescing from open-heart surgery and will be temporarily replaced by Pat Hingle.

But there are other changes in the fall lineup, too.

For instance:

Blonde Barbara Anderson, who has played lady cop Eve Whitfield, has left NBC's "Ironside" series and will be replaced by brunette Elizabeth Baur.

CBS' "Mission: Impossible" survives nicely with a new girl in its adventurous team each season. This year it will be Lynda Day George, succeeding Lesley Warren.

Titles, series makers believe, are important to a show's success. Thus Dick Van Dyke's forthcoming series will be called "The New Dick Van Dyke Show"—hopefully to distinguish it from the old "Dick Van Dyke Show" which is around in reruns.

"The New CBS Friday Night Movies"—a series of 90-minute made-for-TV dramas—is a title carefully designed to separate it from the network's Thursday and Sunday night movies, which are old feature films already shown in theaters. ABC calls its Saturday night series of 90-minute dramas "Movie of the Weekend," because it had such success with its Tuesday night "Movie of the Week," and hopes the audience will embrace the new addition.

Rod Taylor's pilot film was called "Powderkeg." When CBS decided to turn the concept into a series, it was "The Big Wheels." Now it has been changed to "Bearcats." It is an action show set in the south-west about 60 years ago.

NBC, moving "First Tuesday" this season, originally decided to call it "Fourth Friday," but recently changed the title to "Chronolog," which looks like a typographical error.

Twin knits are fashion winners this fall. You can't lose on a sure thing so you knitters get busy and place your bet on this patterned pair. Directions for these handknit sweaters are available in sizes 12 to 18 through your local paper.

Fall Starts Season For Knit Sweaters

This Fall is going to be open season on sweaters —there's been nothing close to this season's sweater fixation since Lana Turner set a pace many years ago. Sweaters you'll see this fall are less bulky, they fit with out scrimping, often are patterned and in general the look that's real fashion news is the handknit look. So rally round, girls, and get your needles going. It's going to be the best season for sweaters you knitters have enjoyed for years.

Here's a pair of fashion winners that will set you a head this fall. One is a great-looking pullover, worked with a handsome wide-chevron pattern that's a series of KI PI sts worked on the right side. You use size 10½ needles, so you know how quickly this will go.

The partner is an identical chevron-patterned cardigan, also worked on 10½ needles. This is a seven-button front style, with easy set-in sleeves and a high, round neckline, shaped to fit on No. 8 needles. You'll need four packs of knitting worsted for each (4 ounce packs). And here's more good news. Instructions, including a chart to help you follow the K and P pattern, are available for sizes 12 to 18. Either sweater can be worn by your big girls with comfort and confidence that fashion hasn't passed you by this season.

So move along —order directions from your local paper today. Instructions for both the chevron-patterned pullover and matching cardigan to knit, sizes 12 to 18, are yours simply by sending 50 cents to Stitchin' Time, C—O Pampa News, Radio City Station, Box 503, New York, N.Y. 10021. Ask for Stitchin' Time leaflet S323. Be sure to include your name, address and zip code.

KNIT KNOCKS

To all you ladies who have been asking about the method for weaving stockinette stitch, it's time we answered your questions. It's not as complicated as it seems.

Just thread a tapestry needle and bring your pieces to be joined close together. Now draw up the yarn in your first st on upper piece, inserting needle from wrong side. Next insert needle from right side in first st on lower piece and bring up through the next st from the wrong side —draw up your yarn. Insert your needle from the right side in the same st as before on upper piece and then bring up through next st from the wrong side — again draw up your yarn. Insert needle from the right side in the same st as before on the lower piece and bring up through the next st — draw up your yarn. Now repeat from until all the sts are joined, and simply fasten yarn well before breaking off.

The asterisk indicates that the instructions immediately following are to be repeated the given number of times in addition to the original.
Happy knitting, ladies!

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am ready to go out of my mind! I have a 12-year-old boy who still wets the bed. Not occasionally, but every night. I have punished him, offered him bribes, shamed him and taken him to doctors. A pediatrician, a urologist and even a psychiatrist all told me there is nothing wrong with him! I even took him to a hypnotist and that didn't work. I've used every home remedy I've ever heard of and sent for contraptions I've seen advertised in magazines, but nothing has helped. Can this continue until he is married?

My poor child has never been able to stay overnight with a friend or go to camp, and I won't even mention the laundry I have to do every day. Please, Abby, any suggestions you or anyone else has will be a Godsend if it works. Just sign me.

—MISSOURI MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Bed wetting is caused by either a physical or emotional disturbance. If you have investigated the possibilities of both (and apparently you have) you have done all you can do. Don't scold, shame, punish or bribe the boy any more. Simply wash the sheets and say no more about it. No man ever went on a honeymoon in a diaper.

DEAR ABBY: I was an unwed mother, but for the past six years I have been happily married to a wonderful man who married me and adopted my son when he was only a few months old. We have since had another son and a daughter. Do you think we should tell my first son that the man he calls "Father" is not his real father? I think we should, but my husband is dead set against telling him now, but says maybe we will tell him when he's older.

I am concerned about this because I am afraid the boy will find out before we tell him and he will be hurt. This possibility exists as there are a few people who know about it. My husband says if we do tell the boy the truth he doesn't want the other children to know about it. I would like your opinion.

—TO TELL OR NOT TO TELL
DEAR TO TELL: The truth may "hurt," but in this case, a lie could hurt much more. Try to persuade your husband to tell it like it is, and the sonner the better. And if you do tell the boy, I doubt if you can keep it from his brother and sister.

DEAR ABBY: We are two married couples who are living together in a spacious three bedroom, two bath apartment. The reaction of our friends to this arrangement has been strange. The first thing they say is, "I didn't know you were swingers and swappers."

We aren't. We just like each other and find it economically beneficial to share one large apartment.
The reaction of our friends doesn't bother us, but we were surprised by it, and are interested in yours. We are not Bob, Carol, Ted and Alice: We are —JOHN MARY, DICK AND JANE
DEAR J. M., D. AND J.: Would you believe it would not have occurred to me to question your sleeping arrangements?

POLLY'S POINTERS Women Offer Pointers For Window Coverings

Polly's Problem
DEAR POLLY—I would like to know how to remove layers of old paint from an old iron baby bed before I repaint it. When it is refinished, I am going to use this bed as a love seat, make big pillows for the ends and one side and drop the other side down low.

—DIANA
DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is that every time I think of something I hope will make the column somebody else beats me to it. An example is the one about using newspaper under the paper towel for draining bacon. I have been doing that for years and was just ready to send it in when there it was in the paper.
—MRS. M.M.C.

DEAR POLLY—Like Marie I, too, have a window over my bathtub. She needs the window and should not remove it but should use it. Keep it open just a wee bit at all times to take care of the ventilation and only close it when taking a bath. Remove that Venetian blind and the plastic window curtain, then give the window a good soap-and-water washing. Put up only the sheerest of curtains and apply adhesivebacked paper in frosted glass pattern to the window panes for privacy. Mine is done that way and looks so clean, is private and, best of all, the light comes in, in, too.

ANTOINETTE
DEAR POLLY—Having the same mildew problem as Marie I scrubbed the frame to the window over my tub with a fairly strong solution of bleach and water to remove the mold. Weekly applications of a spray disinfectant and proper ventilation help to keep it under control. In summer, I leave the window open a few inches and the bathroom door closed from the rest of our air-conditioned house. In winter, I leave the door open a few inches most of the time and particularly after the tub has been used. I replaced my Venetian blind with draw curtains made from a striped sheet so laundering is easy. If the shower water hits the window, Marie should install an attachment to the shower head that will direct the water lower and more to the center of the tub. She could

Leather Is Latest Style Game

NEW YORK (NEA)— Hide and chic is not a new game for adults. Rather it implies what you wear and how you will look in it. Hide, naturally, refers to leather skins — buckskin, suede, pig-skin and the like. Chic is the result.

Animals are in fashion in every sense from colorful plastic pop pins in the shape of elephants and fish and similar pendants to ecology flavored animal prints. Leathers and skins of all kinds have rocketed in popularity and now buckskin is the newest face used importantly for outerwear as well as for boots and a myriad of accessories.

The newest skin game combines buckskin and Sherpa into a winning outerwear team. It often acts as an accessory for a jacket or coat, giving just the light touch it requires.

Many styles have quilted linings which take them through the cold months, hipsters inch their way into unusual places, belts wrap and buckle neatly around, and hoods serve a practical purpose in addition to being a strong fashion trend.

Buckskin outerwear takes off in more directions than one can imagine. No longer is it limited to a country atmosphere. It is not unusual even for an ankle length buckskin coat to be worn over an evening gown. It might be trimmed with beads or broderie or medieval braid to dress it up. At the other exreme, short-cropped buckskin jackets are gaining so in popularity that many people feel they need at least one new one each season. Pantsuits and skirt suits get skin.

Buck up in a mid-length, single-breasted buckskin coat (left), with Sherpa cuffs and hood lining. Seaming and a yoked bodice bring the coat snug to the body. Hide out in full vision in the body-clinging, short buckskin jacket that zips in hip spots and sports a plethora of pockets (right). It is trimmed in white Sherpa. These designs are by Nat Hirsch for Junior Gallery.

Plants Add Vitality To Home Decorations

Use living plants as decorative aids in your home. Plants with rich coloring and textures often makes the difference between an attractive room and an outstanding one. Certainly, growing plants create an air of vitality, and give a feeling of care to any room in which they are used. But more than that, they can also be used to emphasize or soften certain things about a room.

If choosing the right plants for the right situations has you puzzled, here are some suggestions:
North windows: Dieffenbachia, Peperomia or Philodendron. These plants do best away from direct sunlight.
South windows: Ageratum, coleus, Lillies, Cacti. Full light is the main requisite for these plants.
East and west windows: Caladium, Dracaena, Ferns, Fuchsia.

If your particular decorating situation will impose poor conditions of temperature, light or moisture, here are some of the more rugged varieties to try: Coleus, Dieffenbachia, Dracaena, Philodendron or Palms.

The gardenia, a perennial corsage favorite, makes up into a dramatic and handsome centerpiece, according to floral designers. Other popular arrangements which go for table to shoulder in an interesting double-play include th spectacular carnation in all its brilliant shades, and th delicate yet commanding red rose.

The chrysanthemum, "first flower of Fall," is probably the most popular "double-duty." Available in a wide variety of colors and varieties from the huge "football" mums to the perky pompoms, the flower dresses a table in autumnal brilliance and a lady in rich warm color.

GREEN RIDGE, Mo. (AP) — A man treated four years ago for a severe reaction to a wasp sting died Tuesday while on the way to a hospital after being stung a second time.

Frederick J. Shenk, 52, a retired farmer, was stung Tuesday while sitting outside his home. He died in a car on the way to a Sedalia, Mo., hospital, 12 miles away.

Sheets Decorate Bathroom Scene

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer
The lady of the house might match her refurbishing skills to those of the family do-it-yourselfer.
For example, she can rejuvenate a bathroom in a day using her seamstress skills, bed sheets and tape. There is nothing to saw, hammer or drill. Sheets go on windows, walls, ceilings, shower and basin area and they might even hide some wall blemishes. Best of all, they can be removed easily, washed and put back in place.
Here's how one bathroom was designed using permanent press cotton sheets. A lively pink, red, violet and green on a bright white background was used with a sheet pattern in a stripe of a contrasting color for a charming effect. Here's how:
Walls and ceilings: Cut off the solid color hems of three queen size sheets (90 by 115). Measure wall and ceiling dimensions and cut sheet allowing one and ¼ inches to fold under raw edges. If sheets need to be sewed together, match the pattern carefully. You can turn in the ¼-inch hem and hem it to 1-¾ or 2-inch heavy duty double-face tape (that will stick to the wall.) Some people may prefer to press tape to the wall or ceiling and then press the sheet to the jtape. Follow directions given with the tape used. Hemming the sheet provides a firm hold and sharp edges at corners.

Shower curtain: Use a queenize sheet of the floral pattern. Put a hem at the bottom of the sheet. You can make holes for the curtain rings by using a grommet kit that may be purchased at local hardware stores. Hang the curtain over the plastic liner.
Window shade: Use a single sheet (72 inches by 90 inches) and a laminating kit that will provide easy-does-it directions. Basin skirts: Use material left over from the shower curtain sheet for an underskirt for the basin counter top. Measure perimeter of the basin. Hem floral sheet to fit it. A striped sheet might be fitted over it and then cut into panels that may be seamed. The two skirts are then sewed together and each striped panel is tied. Victorian style. You can vary this idea as you wish.
Accessories: Scraps left from both sheet patterns can be used to cover cleansing tissue box, mirror frames and waste basket rims. A band of the fabric at the top and bottom of a waste basket can be very attractive.

HERE'S WHERE YOU GET CLIPPED.

Right in the newspapers. Or magazine.
 Men will clip you. Women will clip you. Kids, too. And if your dollar volume begins to swell, swell.
 But first, you've got to set yourself up for it. Putting coupons in print media is the best way. Print lets people clip and save your message. Or file it. Or compare it. Or pass it to a friend. Or mail it back to you.
 And that's not all. Print shows your product off to its very best advantage. It flashes its color. Struts its style. Displays its beauty. Shows its uses.
 Print can do lots of things for you. Even get you clipped.

WHEN THINGS ARE going the way they have for the Pittsburgh Pirates this season, life in the bullpen is less than tension-packed, as these Pirate pitchers show during another Pittsburgh romp.

Vida Blue Could Be Labeled Mr. Excitement From Oakland

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Label Oakland's Vida Blue Mr. Excitement. Things are never dull when he's working.

A crowd of more than 30,000 waited out a two-hour rain delay in Boston Wednesday night to see him pitch and they weren't disappointed. Blue gave them a good show that included his 21st victory of the season. Exciting, it was. Easy, it wasn't.

Blue's roommate, Tommy Davis, provided the early muscle, and Reggie Jackson supplied the late offense for the 5-3 victory that took 10 innings.

Elsewhere in the American League Wednesday, Baltimore belted Minnesota 9-6, Detroit shaded Milwaukee 2-1, Cleveland nipped Chicago 3-2 in 12 innings and Kansas City shut out Washington 1-0 in a game halted by rain after five innings. The second game of the KC-Washington doubleheader and California's game at New York were rained out.

In the National League, Atlanta ripped St. Louis 9-3, Pittsburgh topped Chicago, 3-2, Cincinnati defeated Houston 5-1, Montreal blanked San Francisco 5-0, San Diego trimmed New York 1-0 in 12 innings and Los Angeles defeated Philadelphia 4-1.

Davis ripped a two-run homer in the first inning and single home Blue, who had beat out a bunt, in the third as Oakland built an early 3-0 lead against the Red Sox.

Blue was coasting on a three-hitter and had retired 17 consecutive batters when he walked pinch hitter Phil Gagliano with one out in the eighth inning. Doug Griffin followed with his third major league homer, cutting Boston's deficit to a single run.

In the ninth, Rico Petrocelli hammered his 21st home run of the year, tying the score. Billy Conigliaro ripped a two-out double but Blue escaped the jam.

Bert Campaneris singled with one out in Oakland's 10th and moved up on a wild pitch. After Joe Rudi walked, Jackson doubled for one run. A fielder's choice and a wild pitch produced another and that seemed to seal it. But Griffin and Luis Aparicio opened the bottom of the 10th with consecutive singled home runs, but Blue escaped the jam.

Football Roundup

The Pampa Harvesters should be a strong team on the playing field and we will be fielding just as tough a team as any other school in our district," were comments from Pampa Athletic Director, Robert E. "Swede" Lee.

"Our team has presently got a depth problem but we expect to have this solved before the season is out. We will be facing many good teams in our district this year as last year was more of a 'laying of foundations' for this year's teams.

"Amongst our tougher opponents will be Amarillo High and Tascosa. Both schools have excellent backfields and the big depth needed for winning games," Lee added.

"I'm not worrying about the Harvesters if we can keep everyone healthy and prevent the painful little injuries that hurt timing more than physically."

"As for size we will have boys just as big as the other schools and we have a good first string team working out with our secondary teams to hone our game to a razor edge," Lee said.

According to Lee Pampa's first game will be played Sept. 10 against Hereford in Harvesters Stadium.

Frank Tarkenton says he wants "to be reasonable."

Duane Thomas said he wants "to be treated like a man."

But in the meantime, both remain on the sidelines as pro football's preseason training continues.

Tarkenton, the New York Giants' exhibition opener against Houston Monday night in a contract dispute with owner Wellington T. Mara, made gestures towards a reconciliation Wednesday, but Mara responded with what appears to be a hard line.

"I'd be very happy to receive a call saying they want to talk," Tarkenton said. "I'm open, I want to be reasonable."

Mara:

"I've said all I have to say on the matter," the Giants' owner declared. "I will not negotiate with a man who's not in a camp." Since Tarkenton has already said he will not return to the Giants without a new contract, that situation is at something of an impasse.

Thomas, the star running back who refused to report to the Cowboys, was traded to New England, left the Patriots because he felt he was not wanted there, and finally saw the trade nullified, now says he will play for any National Football League club which will treat him "like a man."

One possible home for Thomas is Washington, where George Allen expressed an interest in the talented runner from West Texas state. "If you guys can arrange a trade," Allen told reporters, "we will go after Thomas."

Meanwhile, the Giants had another workout on their hands. Punter Bill Johnson disappointed with his performance in the team's 35-6 exhibition loss to Houston Monday night, left camp Wednesday.

Johnson averaged 39.5 yards per kick as the Giants' regular punter last season, but punted four times for a 31-yard average against the Oilers.

Tackle Francis Peay, who stormed out of the Green Bay Packers' training camp Monday after being angered at criticism by an assistant coach, said he will be back in camp Friday, after talking with Coach Dan Devine.

Jerry LeVias, the mini-receiver who failed to come to terms with San Diego after being dealt by Houston to the Chargers two weeks ago, reportedly and signed with the NFL club.

In a trade of fourth-round draft choices, Houston sent offensive tackle Larron Jackson to Denver for cornerback Cleophus Johnson. Denver will also get an undisclosed future draft choice.

Texas Stadium Opening Is Delayed By Rain And Work

DALLAS (AP) — Rains and construction delays have forced Texas Stadium officials to postpone openings by the Dallas Cowboys and North Texas Eagles, it was announced Wednesday.

North Texas was to have played the first football game in the Irving stadium Sept. 10 against Brigham Young. The Cowboys were slated to meet Kansas City in a National Football League exhibition game the next night.

Instead, the Cowboys will play Kansas City in the Cotton Bowl and North Texas will play Brigham Young at Fouts Field in Denton.

The Cowboys hope to have the stadium ready for their NFL home opener with Washington Oct. 3.

Cowboy officials said: —Texas Stadium seat option holders will be refunded their Kansas City game ticket money.

—Advance Texas Stadium parking fees will be refunded.

—Last year's Cotton Bowl season ticket holders will be mailed their ticket options for the Kansas City game.

—Texas Stadium seat option holders who are not Cotton Bowl season ticket holders will be given priority to purchase their seats immediately after the Cotton Bowl options have been filled.

Sam Snead Picked In Massachusetts Golf

SUTTON, Mass. (AP) — The $33,000 top prize in the $165,000 Massachusetts Classic went up for grabs today with old-timer Slammin' Sam Snead rated a top contender in the absence of golfing giants Lee Trevino, Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Gary Player.

Snead, now 59 and making his first appearance at Pleasant Valley Country Club since 1965, warmed up for the 72-hole tournament with a one-over par 73 Wednesday in a pro-amateur event interrupted by rain on the 7,212-yard course.

"Now we'll see if the old dawgs can take it for a few more days," Snead drawled before he went back on the course for more practice.

One of golf's all-time greats, Snead is the PGA Seniors champion, but he's been winless on the pro tour for several years.

He's still a tough competitor, though.

In the Westchester Classic, Snead shot an 11-under-par 277, good for a fourth-place tie and $11,000.

"We have 44 of the top 50 money winners this year and anything can happen," Cosmos Mingolia, the club board chairman, said.

"A couple of years ago we had some virtual unknowns at the time as the leaders, Tom Shaw won and look how well he has done since. The big thing now is a break in the weather."

Other top contenders in the starting field of 150 were Masters champion Charles Coody, Shaw, Miller Barber, Bruce Crampton and Jerry Heard, who posted his first pro tour victory last weekend in the American Golf Classic.

Ken "Hawk" Harrelson, who recently quit baseball to try to make a living as a golfer, also is entered.

Trevino Planning On Playing Even Better Golf Since Operation

TRUTH JOR CONSEQUENCES, N.M. (AP) — Golf star Lee Trevino figures he'll play even better golf without his appendix.

"Can you imagine what kind of golf I can play without the hurt?" he said Wednesday, one day after an emergency appendectomy at St. Anne's Hospital in Truth or Consequences, N.M.

He said he'd been plagued with pains in his side for the past two years.

"He's got all the nuns and nurses in stitches," said a visitor to his room. The visitor described him as an "entertaining patient."

Trevino said the hospital stay was cutting into his training program. He runs daily.

Trevino's appendectomy may be one of the most expensive appendectomies in history.

It knocked him out of at least two tournaments.

A spokesman for Trevino Enterprises in El Paso, Tex., said Trevino is missing the Philadelphia Golf Classic and the National Match Play Championship of the Tournament Players Division of the PGA next week.

Trevino is the pro-tour's leading money winner with $197,219 so far this year.

Giants Win Game For Little Boy Who Will Never Know

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "My son turned around and told me, 'Mommy, I am very happy today.'"

"That made me cry. 'I said 'Why Otto?'"

"He said, 'Because Tito came.'"

"Otto died the next morning at about 7 o'clock."

The Giants played Atlanta that afternoon, July 28, but Fuentes managed a lengthy morning visit at San Francisco General Hospital.

"Otto looked up from his bed and smiled," said Mrs. Christo. "I said, 'Who is that Otto?'"

"Tito gave him a baseball signed by all the Giants."

When Tito left for the ballpark, he told Otto: "We're going to win this game for you, Otto."

Nolan Retires 21 of 22 Cincinnati Wins On Errors

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati pitcher Gary Nolan, who turns in outstanding performances and still can't seem to win, was showered with luck for a change Wednesday night.

Nolan retired the last 21 of 22 men he faced but it still took four Houston errors to help the Reds score a 5-1 victory. The Reds scored four unearned runs and were not credited with a run batted in on any of the five tallies.

"It's about time that Gary got a few breaks with the luck he's had," Cincinnati Manager Sparky Anderson said. "We're finally glad to get some help from the other team."

Nolan fired a three hitter and allowed only a harmless single in the eighth inning after he had yielded a base hit in the first inning and a run-scoring double by Jack Hiatt in the second.

Nolan retired 16 straight batters from the second to the eighth when Denis Menke led off with a single.

"It was a little tough in early innings," Nolan said. "I made some bad pitches, but later in the game I was throwing real good pitches and I was moving the ball real well—keeping the ball down."

"The main thing tonight was my fast ball and I had good control over it."

bet I do. I lost 2-1 2-0 and 3-2." In other words, the Reds had scored three runs in the three games for Nolan.

"You need a few breaks and I certainly did get a few tonight," Nolan continued.

The Reds scored three runs in the sixth with the aid of two errors and two more in the seventh with two miscues. Nolan led off the sixth with a single, moved to second when Pete Rose singled, and then both crossed the plate when Hal McKrae bunted and Houston first baseman Bob Watson threw into the outfield in an attempt to cut down Nolan at third.

The only run batted in of the game was credited to Hiatt in the second and actually Rose, in rightfield said he lost the ball in the lights.

"I lost Hiatt's ball in the light," Rose said. "It certainly feels funny running after a ball you can't see. I don't know whether I could have caught it or not but if I couldn't have held Hiatt to a single, the run would not have scored."

Houston Manager Harry Walker said, "Nolan did a great job. But he certainly has to be considered one of the best right-handers in the league."

Regarding his club's fielding, Walker said, "This has to be one of our worst games in a long time."

Medal-Hogging United States Has Stubbed Toes Against Cuban Rock

By JERRY LISKA
Associated Press Sports Writer
CALI, Colombia (AP) — Typical of the entire, incident-spiced Latin athletic carnival, the Sixth Pan American Games faded into a desultory finish today after medal-hogging United States again stubbed its all-conquering toe against crusty, surprising Cuba in the suddenly significant sport of volleyball.

The 13-day tropical tournament of some 20 sports virtually ended with the USA volleyball team, upset last night by Cuba, having its heralded trip to Fidel Castro's communist island Friday upstage a smashing American swimming conquest.

Uncle Sam's mermen also wound up last night with brilliant Frank Heckl of Southern California harvesting an unprecedented crop of six gold medals, pacing the USA's capture of 14 of 15 swim titles and both diving crowns.

Volleyball, and water polo in which the USA submerged Cuba, 6-4, for the gold medal, were spotlighted last night mainly because of a Monday night fracas over a flag stealiny at the Pan Am Village.

During the hassle, irate Cuban athletes roughed up a U.S. male gymnast they mistakenly thought stole a Cuban flag in a traditional hunt for souvenirs to take home.

Surprisingly, neither the USA-Cuba volleyball or water polo game produced expected reactionary fireworks.

The American volleyball team, defeated by Cuba, 15-6, 15-13, 15-10, departed today on its State Department-sanctioned trip to Cuba for regional trials which will qualify one team for the 1972 Munich Olympics.

Meanwhile, the USA had just about buttoned up its quadrennial big bag of Pan Am medals, with 104 gold medals, 72 silver and 40 bronze for a total of 216. That compared with 120 golds and 225 overall hunks of meritorious hardware gained in the last games at Winnipeg in 1967.

It's Tides Of Hurricanes That Most People Fear

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

It's been a year now since Hurricane Celia. So we dropped down to talk to Jay Barr about what has happened since.

Jay, a muscular, youngish fellow with iron-grey hair, refused to flee Aug. 3 a year ago. Barr is not one of these surly, stubborn oldtimers who has to prove something to himself and the world by staying and getting himself drowned.

Barr knew what he was doing and had the facilities to do it with.

He is, if anyone can be singled out, a chief booster of Port Aransas.

If you will take down the map and look at Port Aransas, you find it is sticking out into the Gulf of Mexico as if it is daring hurricanes to come and try their luck.

The town is on Mustang Island and stands there as a sort of outpost, defending Corpus Christi from disasters to its last breath.

Hurricane wise reporters' first question as a blow passes over is, "What's happened at Port Aransas?"

They don't find out, sometimes for a few days, for the ferries are awash or something and you can't get over the causeway because of high tides. Telephone lines go down first.

Barr is very proud of how well Port Aransas rode out Hurricane Celia.

Oh, there was damage, all right. And a lot of structures built with the expectation that they might be lost were lost.

Now, a year later, says Barr, the town is not only back to where it was but actually is better.

He does speak somewhat sadly of the street sign situation. Port Aransas had just put in the signs when Hurricane Celia struck.

Now, if you want to find your way around, you must stop and ask directions of some salty-looking character. Most of the signs went the way of Celia.

This is not as great an inconvenience as you may think, for the direction giver may be a true resident of the town and it is possible to get a warm glow just talking to such friendly persons. Not many of that kind of people left anywhere.

Barr, taking a quiet satisfaction in his town's survival ability, noted that tides were higher in Corpus Christi Bay than at Port Aransas.

And it is the tides created by hurricanes that most persons fear. It was this storm-built tide situation that killed most of the 6,000 to 8,000 victims at Galveston in 1900.

The winds in Celia, however, were nothing to take lightly, causing more damage, probably than the tides, which proves you can't predict what hurricanes will do.

The winds blew at 200 miles an hour or more and at one point seemed to suck the water out of vast Corpus Christi Bay just behind Mustang Island. Boats were grounded and the floor of the bay exploded.

Port Aransas did not escape without harm. Barr says he believes the winds were higher in his area, two or three miles from the downtown area, but the tides were lower than in the main business section which abuts a channel crowded with marinas.

Here and there you can see, if you look hard enough, structures so severely damaged that they probably will not be rebuilt at least not by their present owners.

There are other buildings where you can note new lumber patching up the damage.

There are a number of new structures, too.

Jay Barr is head of a management group for a pair of swank condominiums on the Port Aransas beach front. Actually, he built them and sold the apartments on the condominium principle whereby each apartment is privately owned but is rented to vacationers when the owner isn't using it.

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Black activist Angela Y. Davis has received permission to survey some 240 nominees to the Marin County grand jury to try to support her claim that the poor, the young and blacks are systematically excluded.

Superior Court Judge Richard Arnason refused Tuesday, however, to allow the subpoena of grand jury nominees to testify at a pretrial hearing for the former UCLA philosophy instructor, indicted by the grand jury on charges of murder, kidnap and conspiracy in connection with an Aug. 7, 1970, shootout where four men died. The defense is seeking dismissal of the indictment.

Arnason said he would permit the defense to mail questionnaires to nominees since 1962 seeking information on race, age, income and special activities. But the judge said he would not require the nominees to answer the questions.

KALAMAZOO, Mich. (AP) — Police Chief Dean Fox instituted a new department policy last week allowing longer hair and mustaches—and he's in the hair-raising van guard.

"Just keeping up with the social trends," explained Fox, about 45, who has let his sideburns drop below his ears and has the makings of a mustache.

"We have a lot of young officers and this will help them relate to their peers."

A police lieutenant said about 2 per cent of the 148-man force are sprouting mustaches.

LISBON, Portugal (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York and his wife are vacationing in Portugal.

They arrived Tuesday for a week's vacation and will stay at the house of a friend. The couple and an unidentified friend arrived by private aircraft.

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — Former astronaut Walter Schirra arrived from New York on Tuesday for a two-week tour of South Africa.

During the visit he will meet Prime Minister John Vorster and dine with golfer Gary Player.

Schirra, who became the fifth American in space in October 1962, told newsmen at the airport. "The flight from New York took 18 hours. In the old days it took 45 minutes."

He added that he had come to see what this country looked like from the ground.

MT. HOPE, Kan. (AP) — Stunt pilot Frank Tallman has survived several hundred planned crashes in motion pictures, but he encountered one Tuesday that wasn't in the script.

Tallman and his passenger, actress Bernadette Peters, escaped injury when a sudden gust of wind caught his 54-year-old biplane, nosing it into a field 10 miles west of here.

Tallman was flying Miss Peters for a scene in "Ace Eli

Conquest Of Cancer

Dr. Solomon Garb of the American Medical Center at Denver writes to seek readers support of the Conquest of Cancer Bill. Dr. Garb states, "I am confident that the passage of this bill will speed the day when cancer is conquered" but he adds "No one can predict when that will be."

The Bill he refers to is S. 1828. It was passed by the Senate 79-1 and now is pending in the house. As described by Dr. Garb, the bill provides for the acceleration of cancer research, and includes all reasonable compromises that were suggested during extensive hearings and debates. He implores readers to contact Congressman John G. Schmitz, asking him to vote for the bill without any amendments and without any delay.

Almost every person we have talked to has had some experience with cancer in his own family or among close relatives. There is no question as to the magnitude of the problem. Progress toward a solution has been dreadfully slow. Millions of dollars have been spent in studies, and millions more are being spent, so we are not sure that speeding up the rate of expenditure will accelerate research, as Dr. Garb claims. The problem with bringing political government into a greater involvement with cancer research is that a bureau is thereby created which has a vested interest in its own survival. So often, as the record shows, such survival is hitched

Coercing The Young

The idea that we have a free society is only about half true. The popular concept of freedom stems from the wonderful product of our forefathers, the U.S. Constitution. It once provided us with a minimum of government and a maximum of independent action and choice.

But, while the wording of the Constitution remains the same it actually has become what the U.S. Supreme Court says it is. Interpretation of our fundamental law is changing to conform with ideas each generation accepts.

For instance when grandparents of today were children the young people found work on farms and in services and factories at wages and under conditions not specified by government. Now, however, there are minimum wages and working conditions, as well as hours to be considered. Nobody under the age of 18 may touch certain types of machinery of work; and in most instances, no young person under the age of 16 can legally hold a job.

Reasons for these restrictions are threefold:

1. Our people have been sold on the thought that the young must be protected, sometimes

Abolish Those Certificates

The theft of stock and bond certificates in Wall street brokerage houses now amounts to many millions of dollars. At least some of the large pilferage is laid to organized crime. This development over such a wide area of investment firms is new and highly disturbing. A theft-proof system of certifying owners of stocks and bonds is now being sought.

One method that has been suggested is the abolition of certificates. That makes a great

CAPITOL EYE

Okay, Let's Head For Sugar Bowl

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON (NEA) — A very considerable number of Americans are remarkably adept at hiding from themselves, to be blunt about it, they are highly self-centered and downright greedy.

There really isn't anything new in this. A kind of goldrush grabbing for every nugget has marked this country from the frontier days. It's just that the phenomenon has immense force today because there are so many more Americans around.

Travel the land and you'll hear and see the signs in abundance.

A dentist told a woman the other day:
"You'd be astonished at how many people with dying relatives come to me and ask whether I can extract the gold fillings from their teeth after they die."

Drop into an antique shop and listen to the proprietor:
"Young married women whose mothers are either dying or are infirm and no longer alert come to me with valuable objects they have stolen, unobserved, from their mothers' homes. They want quick cash. If they get it, they often are back soon with more things to sell."

These are small but shocking examples of the "I want all I can get" syndrome deeply rooted in this nation.

Those who study the rampant thievery of the affluent put some of it down to thrill-seeking, and ascribe a lot more to simple greed. Many people are trying to steal their way into a very nice standard of living.

The incredible double plague of shoplifting and thefts by employees has the same root cause, the governing motive seems to be: "I am entitled to live as well as the next fellow."

Greed has, of course, a great array of quite legal outlets. Some corporations milk their customers badly. Not too much of that comes to light, unless the customer happens to be the U.S. Government. Overcharges on defense contracts are a story known to us all.

Labor unions, having found power at last in the 1930s, are not free of greedy impulse. They have their share of grasping highbinders, though these types usually present their demands as mere efforts to "catch up" with the rest of the economy.

If anyone imagines this is strictly an industrial big city phenomenon, he ought to roam the countryside awhile. Want your trees pruned? Better set a money limit on what the pruner can do. Otherwise you may be looking at some pretty giddy figures. I know a fellow who gave the pruner free rein. He got a lot of firewood and a bill for $1,700.

The thing grades easily into "I want something for nothing." Don't leave anything lying about, out of your sight and control. It won't be long. That goes for your yard, your office desk, anywhere.

A small matter, but quite symbolic: America's newsstands and magazine racks are besieged by poachers. The noble purchaser, with cash in hand, can hardly break through the strong forward wall of free readers "asserting their rights" at rack-side.

Somewhat more unsettling is the news from federal authorities that many students who have obtained U.S. loans to help finance their education are breaking faith and stopping repayment of the money the moment their schooling ends.

And then there are those chaps who get a free education at West Point or Annapolis, only to resign from the service before giving their country a day's worth of return.

O.K., men, let's head on down to the Sugar Bowl and catch up on our reading. Leave your wallets at home. You won't need them.

If Only We Could Get Rid Of Israel —

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

When Fred Lowe of the New York Journal American passed away, I was asked to fly there to preach his funeral sermon before a vast gathering of his close newspaper friends. For I had known Fred 20 years, even when he was at the Detroit FREE PRESS, where he suggested a "mod" format for "Worry Clinic."

At dinner, one night in Detroit, Fred suggested I might change the format of this daily column.

"Dr. Crane," he began, "wouldn't it be better if you just used the Question-and-Answer layout that Ann Landers and her twin sister, Abby, employ? You go into a deeper analysis of how sex problems arise and dissect them as a psychiatrist. You offer a richer explanation of the subject, by far, but maybe the public would prefer just short, snappy answers."

Newspaper "Scoops" Many newspaper executives of the "old school" are steeped in abnormal worship of "scoops." They crave news flash items, and the "mod." Within reason, that's desirable. But when the Packard Company quit making its ritzy automobile and tried to imitate later modernistic designs, you readers know what happened.

The company went bankrupt! For people who bought Packards wanted Packards and not a car that was an imitation of a dozen other makes.

"Fred," I replied, "your idea is good and I might follow it if you show me that the 'Worry Clinic' runs 2nd or 3rd to any other advice column. Since you say the FREE PRESS just spent $25,000 for a scientific reader poll, what were its highest rated columns?"

Fred dug up the data and showed me that Ann Landers and this "Worry Clinic" topped all other syndicated print features.

"Which rated first place?" I asked, and Fred sheepishly admitted that it was this "Worry Clinic."

"Fred," I added, "when you were also with the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette you told me this same thing happened, didn't you?" and he assented. Then I suggested that a second valid test of feature popularity would be the mail pull.

"How does the 'Worry Clinic' rate in its letter input to the 'Free Press'?" I inquired.

write to editors demanding that your column be cancelled."

That's true. But these irate females apparently continue as my most avid readers! So I'll let you try to diagnose this paradoxical result!

Beware about being a blind slave to the idea of mere newness or novelty. Remember, despite all the exotic breakfast foods now being advertised, the standard American breakfast is still eggs and toast!

Double beds are also again replacing the "mod" Hollywood fad of twin beds, as per hotel managers!

So basic "Human Interest" appeal beats sheer novelty or even news flash "scoops."

(Always write Dr. Crane in care of The Pampa Daily News, enclosing a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

How To Make A Riot

A chemist knows that if he drops a block of sodium into water, it will explode. An engineer knows that if he buries dynamite in proper quantities and patterns and detonates it he can dig an irrigation ditch. And a communist leader knows that if he chooses proper slogans, gathers a crowd and agitates, he can create a riot.

The techniques of starting a riot are simple, scientific and systematic. The managed riot is a deadly weapon carried by the enemies of Freedom to poison alliances, topple governments; humiliate leaders and crush the prestige of Republic USA. It is an effective weapon. Despite our diplomatic efforts our missile strength and our military might, these riots could well defeat us in the world struggle if we don't soon learn how to cope with them.

The communists have studied and taught mob manipulation for over 60 years. Today, from a worldwide collection of data, the stages of Red-manipulated violence can be fully revealed. These stages include such activities as: infiltration of red agents into strategic organizations and mass media softening the people with symbols and slogans, constructing a mob nucleus, agitating the crowd and even manufacturing martyrs.

Free men can fight back in many ways, such as: support of increased public education about communists' methods and tactics of planned violence; organizing specific forces to wreck the wreckers before their organizations are deployed for action; and where prevention fails, complete support of civil authorities, police and sheriffs in maintaining order.

The lesson of the Red-led violence is one of the oldest lessons of history and of great importance in the Freedom fight: eternal vigilance is the price for liberty!

Clearing House

Got something you would like to "get off your chest"? That's what the "Clearing House" is for. It has been suggested there should be more letters to the Editor, that people should speak their mind. So, in the public interest, write to the Editor and "get it off your chest."

EDITOR: It will appear that I will deviate from my hoped-for subject. Eventually, I intend to cast some bricks and roses toward the scientific world.

At the age of 66, one can look back to having helped raise a few children, and approximate some kind of education for them. Science can be thanked for penicillin, and many wonder drugs that kept them alive during their tender years, and even now.

During the trying years we looked forward to the time when, in spite of radio and television, we could have a breakfast of old fashioned oatmeal a strip of bacon an egg or two, and feel well fed.

During the time the children were coming up what did we have? Why we had Fruity Tooties, sugary to the utmost degree, "Pasty Wasties," "Cartoonie loonies" and more. It was all called breakfast food.

Now the children are married, and can we have the good old time breakfast, we had dreamed of? You bet your sweet clavicle we can't. Why? Well because the GRAND CHILDREN will be over for the weekend, or during the week, and what stock does the grocery buyer lay in for breakfast?

You have guessed it. It is Fruity tooties, Sugar Woogeries, Carttoon Wartoonies. No good old oatmeal, bacon, eggs, and a few Mama Made biscuits.

One swipe at the scientific world. They can give you a new heart, perform surgery on and restore an old, defective one, take off a tumor, remove and replace a kidney and you cheat Father Time out of a few more additional years.

BUT—can they come up with a hospital gown that will cover a man's posterior as he walks down the hall? Apparently not, it makes an old Social Security card carrier long for the old-fashioned cotton picking sack, which he could cut arm holes in and have him a gown that would cover his physique — at least the part that is supposed to be kept from public display.

Panama: Coup Against Torrijos Held Likely

WASHINGTON—Tiny but crucially strategic Panama, with a long history of turbulence and military power seizures, appears headed for the unenviable role of being the next country to witness a coup attempt.

General Omar Torrijos, bombastic dictator since 1968, is in serious trouble. Deep festering economic, political and social grievances and discontent are widespread among the 1.5 million Panamanians, and menacing rumbles of revolt and violence are rampant.

It's a toss-up how long Torrijos' Communist-tinged strong-man rule can weather the seething storm of mismanagement, corruption and iron-handed suppression of personal and other rights. Elections had been promised for 1970, but there isn't the slightest evidence they will ever be held.

Torrijos' increasingly precarious predicament explains the frequency and virulence of his anti-U.S. fulminations and diatribes. His latest hostile yawn was a bald blackmail threat—to recognize Fidel Castro if the U.S. does not bow to various grandstanding demands, foremost among them giving Panama complete sovereignty over the Canal Zone and the famed waterway.

Washington has ignored this dire-sounding ploy. It's letting the tough-talking strutter stew in his own grease.

In 1903, Panama granted the U.S. unreserved occupation and control of the Canal Zone and the U.S.-built waterway. In 1967, after extended negotiations, the U.S. agreed to a new treaty setting up a joint U.S.-Panama authority to govern and operate the canal; also to construct an additional waterway, and to provide military security for both.

In 1970, this pact was truculently junked by Torrijos as "unacceptable"—to divert public outrage over his flagrant ditching of the pledge to hold elections.

Stridently yowling "Yankee go home" is a time-worn demagogic dodge in Panama—and many other countries. Torrijos has blatantly resorted to it for all it's worth.

Young People Coming To

By PAUL HARVEY
"Who wants to die for President Thieu?" That and similar rallying cries tore our campuses apart during the Sixties, stained some with blood.

But the angry young of the Sixties are less young and less angry now.

As a recently graduated coed said, "It was quite a party, a real binge; it left quite a hangover. Now the time has come to straighten up and do the dishes."

In the audiences of Billy Graham's recent stateside crusades young people are more in evidence than ever before. The most recent, the Oakland, Calif., crusade, attracted a record percentage of young people.

Busloads from the Berkeley campus included some who admittedly went with intent to disrupt but remained to pledge allegiance to Christ.

Symptomatic of the significant transition is the new peace on that Berkeley campus where the revolt of the Sixties was born.

The number one troublemaker of 1964, fiery agitator Mario Savio, now a husband and father of two, is out of politics, quietly seeking a graduate degree in biology, a steady job.

The powerful 30-member student body senate now includes 14 professing Christians. Radical leadership has been diluted by drugs and disillusion while religion becomes an increasingly dynamic and effective force.

Attorney William Kunstler, who defended many of the antiwar activists, says there is an "unmistakable mood of moderation" among young people.

Yale's president, Kingman Brewster, calls it "a mood of eerie tranquility." U.S. News and World Report

He's still trying to use this gimmick to save both his dictatorship and his neck. Sound the Alarm. It got no public notice but the U.S. Congress has been bluntly warned about the ominous situation in the Panama Canal area.

This highly significant alarm was sounded by Congress's leading authority on this vital strategic waterway—Rep. Daniel Flood, D-Pa., chairman of a House Appropriations Subcommittee.

In a special report which should have been widely publicized but wasn't, Flood called attention to the "hate-infected campaign now being waged by the military dictatorship of Panama against the U.S." and starkly charged "everything that government does seems to be aimed at advancing Soviet designs to gain control of the Panama Canal."

Going even further, Flood, whose exceptional sources of information regarding Panama are widely recognized as reliable and extensive, flatly charged Torrijos is planning anti-U.S. riots and disorders.

"From mounting evidence it is clear," declared Flood, "that preparations are being made for the perpetration of violence of the magnitude of that of Jan. 9-12, 1964, when Red-led Panamanian mobs attacked the Canal Zone and overpowered the zone police, requiring canal officials to call upon the U.S. Army to protect the lives of our citizens and the canal itself."

"I cannot too strongly stress that the position of the United States is in the gravest jeopardy, and our authorities must be fully alert to what is transpiring. Panamanian radicals, many of them outright Red revolutionaries, are planning widespread upheavals and sabotage. It is extremely urgent that our government take a proper stand in defense of our justly acquired, treaty-based rights, power and authority over the Canal zone and the Panama Canal."

For that purpose, Flood vigorously urged prompt House enactment of the Panama Canal sovereignty repudiation sponsored by around 100 Congressmen and pending in the Foreign Affairs Committee.

says young people, "having sampled the bitter fruits of drugs, sexual freedom, and 'doing your own thing' are now 'turning on to old-fashioned religion.' The 'Jesus people' accept scriptural salvation with less quivocance than did many of their elders.

Some of us tried to make a religion of John 3:16 which says, "...whosoever believeth... shall have everlasting life..."

While denying John 13:14 which says, "if you love Me, keep My commandments."

The new morality is a strict morality.

Utopian dreams of the Sixties were shattered by combat fatigue, by gunfire in Ohio and a bomb blast in Wisconsin which killed, by commune murders, by venereal disease, deaths from overdose and when the "peace and love" grass pushers began to party guns.

Another thing Mass communications has famed the radical revolt, publishers and novelty industries had profited from it, rock musicians became vulgar rich —until freedom-seeking school-agers began to realize that they were not the victors but the victims.

We've not seen the last of dissent on campuses but yesterday's young agitators are today's young adults, seeking better jobs, better living standards, but with less dogmatism, less hypocrisy, less self-righteousness than that which characterized their parent.

Listen to the manner in which many are revitalizing the marriage vows with original and innovative and realistic promises of their own. What's the younger generation coming to? It's coming to.

The first turbine-generator on Southwestern Public Service Company's system, pictured left, had a capability of 500 kilowatts and was installed at Roswell, New Mexico. As Southwestern celebrates its 50th anniversary this year, it has nearly 2,000,000 kilowatts of generating capability and the turbine room floor at Plant X, near Earls, Texas, pictured above, is nearly as long as two football fields and houses four turbine-generators with a combined capability of 487,500 kilowatts.

Southwestern Public Service Co. To Celebrate Golden Anniversary

How does a company decide when it is going to celebrate its 50th anniversary year?

In the case of Southwestern Public Service Company, the decision was made late last year by the simple expedient of impressing the corporate seal on a piece of plain white paper.

When the resulting impression read, "Incorporated, 1921," 1971 became the electric company's golden anniversary year.

Up until that decision making moment, five different years could make some kind of a case for being the birth year, with one of them going all the way back to 1894, the others were 1904, 1925 and 1942, and the winner, 1921.

1921 won the battle because, in addition to being the year that came up on the seal, it was also the year of organization of the company which, 4 years later, took on the name of Southwestern Public Service Company.

The 1921 company which became today's Southwestern, was the Roswell Public Service Company. Among its incorporators was H. Dow, well-known New Mexico pioneer and a director and general counsel for Southwestern Public Service Company until his death in 1969.

The name change to Southwestern Public Service Company came in 1925, which was also the year that expansion began with the purchase of electric systems in Artesia and Carlsbad.

That was also the year the company first began operations in Texas, with the purchase of the electric systems here in Pampa and also in Amarillo and Panhandle.

The 1920's are the most interesting years in the electrical development of this area of the Panhandle.

The region was then, basically, a cluster of small towns, each of which had its own inadequate, and usually antiquated, electric supplier. There were few, if any interconnections, with other communities or electric systems. Most of the towns were only large enough to be served by a single circuit, and if something happened the whole town was out of power until it was repaired.

This was an era which also brought some communities electric service for the first time. In late 1926, for example, Southwestern built a transmission line from Amarillo to Pampa and brought electric service to White Deer, Texas for the first time on Christmas Eve.

There was still considerable fragmentation insofar as electric service was concerned and parts of seven companies, each of them a subsidiary of at least one holding company, were serving throughout the area.

It was apparent, then, that the electric service needs of the area could be met even more efficiently and economically if it were served by a single, independent, operating company, devoid of holding company ties, locally managed and immediately responsible to area needs.

In short, the region, which had fairly common agricultural and business bonds, lent itself to integration in the electrical sense of that word.

The Public Utility Holding Company Act of 1935 and cooperation between government and business made this integration possible.

The holding company subsidiaries which had been serving the region were merged into a single entity, Southwestern Public Service Company, an independent, integrated operating company. It was the first such company, incidentally, to result from the application of the Holding Company Act.

Thus it was, as the area embarked on the most rapid period of its growth immediately following World War II, it was served by a single electric supplier prepared to meet the electric service needs that growth brought on.

Southwestern serves a 45,000 square mile area which starts in the southwest corner of Kansas, crosses the Oklahoma and Texas Panhandles, moves down onto the South Plains of the Lone Star State and then moves westward to include the Pecos Valley and Clovis-Portales regions of New Mexico.

There haven't been any power shortages in this area in the past and the folks at Southwestern don't envision any in the future. To make their visions become reality, the company is adding to its investment at an average annual rate of $20-million. The total investment will pass the 500-million dollar mark in the early 70's. Incidentally, it was 30-million dollars, the total investment, that is, when the company took its present form in 1942.

The ecological and environmental problems that have haunted some utilities have not yet interfered with Southwestern's progress, and, assuming a reasonable approach to the environment and ecology, they shouldn't in the future, either.

Insofar as air pollution is concerned, sulfur dioxide, in particular, the least efficient plant on Southwestern's system is discharging into the atmosphere only one-tenth of the sulfur dioxide that is accepted as o.k.

Southwestern doesn't make much of a contribution to thermal pollution of water, either, inasmuch as it uses cooling towers rather than discharging hot water into rivers or streams. There's one exception to that broad statement at the Carlsbad, New Mexico, power plant where the condensing water is discharged into the Pecos River, but the temperature increase is within the limits of the state law. The Carlsbad residents who use the beach or fish close to the plant location seem to feel that the warmer water improves rather than hurts their recreational activities.

Baylor Reduces Tuition Fee For Texas Residents

HOUSTON—Baylor College of Medicine, the state's only private medical school, will reduce tuition charged medical students who are Texas residents from $700 to $100 per quarter, L.F. McCollum, board chairman announced.

The rate reduction will become effective upon execution of a contract between the college and The Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, after the beginning of the state's fiscal year this September, probably in the second quarter of Baylor's 1971-72 academic year. It will not be retroactive.

The new tuition charge, approved at the board's annual meeting, is the same amount currently charged Texas residents by the state medical schools.

The tuition reduction for the 1971-72 academic year is made possible by a $2.5 million appropriation from the 62nd session of the Texas Legislature. Baylor is also expanding its student body and will increase the number of Texas residents attending the college. Of 144 freshmen admitted in July, 67 are Texans.

Ag Center Field Day Highlights Revealed

LUBBOCK—This year's field day and open house at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at Lubbock will offer several unique features, according to Dr. Jerry Johnson, chairman for the event which is slated for Tuesday, September 14 beginning at 1 p.m. Johnson conducts grain sorghum research at the Center.

Detailed discussions will be presented on grain sorghum varieties, weed control, narrow-row cotton and verticillium wilt control. These will be presented on special tours to particular field locations throughout the afternoon. Visitors may select any one or all of these tours.

Also featured will be exhibits in various phases of a culture who will be available for individual consultation. So, agricultural producers, homeowners and gardeners are encouraged to bring their questions on insect, disease and weed control, fertilizer use, irrigation or whatever for the "experts." Johnson also encourages them to bring any plant specimens they may have. A mainstay at the annual event will be general tours to the various field research plots on the Center's 300 acres, adds the chairman. This tour will give visitors a bird's-eye view of the many phases of agricultural research being conducted.

Displays and exhibits will also be featured for public viewing. These will include plant diseases, vegetable production, soil testing, plant physiology and herbicide use. Other attractions will include a large machinery exhibit and the cotton ginning research laboratory.

The theme of this year's field day and open house will be "Research for Progress." Johnson invited everyone interested in agriculture in the West Texas area to make plans now to attend the field day and to spend a profitable afternoon. The Center is located about seven and one-half miles north of Lubbock on U.S. 87.
