FINDINGS SHOW

Eight Hostages Shot To Death

ATTICA, N.Y. (AP) — State Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald has confirmed a medical examiner's finding that eight hostages who lost their lives during an inmate uprising at Attica State Prison died of gunshot wounds.

The autopsy reports contradicted earlier official reports that inmates had slit the throats of hostages as police began an assault on the rebelled areas of the maximum-security facility Monday.

But Hollis Chase, president of a union local that represents correction officers at prison, insisted that the original story was correct and that the hostages' throats had been slit. He said officials had photographs showing the bodies with cut throats.

The rebellion, which started last Thursday, took 41 lives. Ten of the dead were prison employes and 31 were inmates.

In a statement to newsmen late Tuesday, Oswald said one question was how any of the hostages could have been killed by gunfire.

"The most important and obvious answer is the fact that the inmates had dressed all hostages in prison garb to insure difficulty of identification between inmate and hostage," he said.

"Additionally, hostages could very well have been used as shields or forced forward into gunfire . . ."

He released a list of weapons found in the prison after the rebellious inmates were routed. The list included gasoline bombs, sharpened spears, metal pipes, straight razors and spiked baseball bats—but no guns.

He declined to answer questions from newsmen.

The commissioner's statement came several hours after disclosure by Dr. John F. Edland, Monroe County medical examiner, that the hostages all died of gunshot wounds and that none had had his throat slashed.

"There were no cut throats or any kind of mutilation," Edland said after examining eight bodies of hostages. "All eight cases died of gunshot wounds."

A ninth hostage killed during the assault had previously been established as a gunshot victim.

Oswald maintained that "there have been two misstatements of facts" concerning what happened to the hostages. He said the first was that all the hostages had cut throats and the second was that none had a slashed throat.

Nutritionist Says American Diet National Disaster

CHICAGO (AP)—A University of California nutritionist says the American diet is a "national disaster."

Dr. George M. Briggs, chairman of the university's department of nutritional sciences, said malnutrition is a fact in the United States and shows up as physical deficiencies, mental problems, work loss, obesity, heart disease, dental decay and alcoholism.

He spoke Tuesday at a seminar for editors and writers sponsored by the Vitamin Information Bureau of New York City.

The cost of malnutrition, he said, is greater than the cost of crime or automobile accidents or narcotics addiction.

Briggs estimated the cost in California at $3 billion a year, and said the total for the nation might be $30 billion, since California has a tenth of the population.

He attributed malnutrition to poverty, negative social and cultural practices such as vegetarianism and macrobiotic diets, the failure of the food industry to fortify foods adequately, lack of education, lack of motivation and the lack of nutrition education.

"The American public is eating a strange diet," Briggs said, adding that Americans eat more sugar, pure fat and wheat flour than their entire intake of other foods.

He said the American diet annually includes 102 pounds of sugar per capita, 53 pounds of fats such as salad oil, 100 pounds of white flour, 14 pounds of corn sugar and 7 pounds of white rice—a total of 276 pounds.

He said the dry weights of other foods consumed annually includes 74 pounds of red meat, 18 pounds of poultry and fish, 14 pounds of eggs, 34 pounds of milk, 7 pounds of cheese, 5 pounds of ice cream, 25 pounds of potatoes, 24 pounds of other vegetables, 18 pounds of fruit, 21 pounds of whole cereal and 19 pounds of beans, peanuts and other legumes—total 259 pounds.

Storm Edith Expected To Whip Texas Coast

'HANGING' JUDGE HONORED — Peace Justice Ed Anderson was surprised with an informal party this morning on the eve of his seventy-fifth birthday. When he entered the Coney Island Cafe (inofficial secondary seat county government's a capacity crowd of friends sang "Happy Birthday" and shared cake and coffee. The judge and Mrs. Anderson posed before an appropriate sign then he opened his gift—a brand new rope fashioned in a hangman's noose. (Staff Photo)

Gale Developing Into Hurricane

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. (AP) — Tropical Storm Edith kept the entire Texas coast in a state of suspense today without enough pressure from any direction for forecasters to pinpoint a landing. She grew stronger.

At 9 a.m. CDT the center of tropical storm Edith was near Latitude 25.3 North and Longitude 96.9 West, or about 50 miles southeast of Brownsville. It was moving north-northeast 8 to 10 m.p.h.

Gales are expected along the extreme Lower Texas Coast this morning and tides should reach about 3 feet in that area.

Maximum sustained winds are estimated at 65 m.p.h. near the center. Gales extend outward 60 miles from the center. Central pressure was reported 29.97 inches.

Conditions are favorable for gradual strengthening today and Edith will likely reach hurricane force later today. A movement toward the north or north-northeast at 8 to 10 m.p.h. is indicated today.

Small craft along the Texas and Western Louisiana coasts should remain in port. Small craft along the Northeastern Mexico Coast should remain in port until seas and winds subside.

As fresh trouble threatened, a government official reported 6,500 homes and 1,000 business places in a 50-mile radius around Corpus Christi alone suffered $20 million to $25 million damage from Fern's floods last weekend. Texas Gov. Preston Smith will be advised to seek a federal disaster designation for the area, one of his aides said.

GOP Governors Back New Economic Policy

SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Warming up for a campaign year, Republican governors have accused Democrats of fostering unseemly partisanship at the 63rd National Governors Conference.

For their part, the Republicans unanimously endorsed President Nixon's new economic policy, and prepared to defend it today against a proposed Democratic resolution that complains of inequity and advocates restraints on profits along with wages and prices.

Since it would take a three-fourths conference to vote to approve the measure, the GOP governors seemed certain to succeed in blocking it.

"We simply deplore that the Democratic governors seek to use this bipartisan conference as a forum for what we believe is a narrow and partisan approach," said Gov. John A. Love of Colorado.

Love said partisanship was fueled, too, by the featured role of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine at Tuesday night's formal state dinner.

Muskie told the governors the killing of more than 40 convicts and hostages in a four-day uprising at New York's Attica prison "is more stark proof that something is terribly wrong in America . . ."

"The system has not failed—but some of us have failed the system," the senator told the black-tie banquet, "and both political parties and most recent administrations can claim some share of the blame."

Love questioned the propriety of according Muskie, a leading candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, the conference stage. "This should not be a forum for partisan politics," he said.

Belfast Situation Deteriorating As 2 Soldiers Killed

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — Terrorists shot and killed two British soldiers and seriously wounded five others during the night in different parts of Northern Ireland.

At the same time, bombings and outbreaks of shooting at British army patrols and observation posts were reported in Belfast, Londonderry and Dungannon.

One civilian seen aiming a rifle at an army post in Londonderry was shot by troops. A military spokesman said the man fell and was dragged away by sympathizers from the Roman Catholic districts of Creggan and Bogside.

The two soldiers were killed in Belfast and the market town of Dungiven. The other soldiers were wounded in Londonderry. The deaths brought to 104 the number killed in two years in Northern Ireland. Twenty-two soldiers have been killed this year.

Security authorities expressed concern that the wave of attacks could mark the beginning of a new offensive by the outlawed Irish Republican Army.

The IRA, seeking to force the British out of the northern province ruled by Protestants for the past century, had threatened to start an offensive last week.

It gave Prime Minister Brian Faulkner's government until midnight Sept. 8 to give up effective power—or face an upsurge in violence.

The deadline passed without any apparently concerted offensive by the gunmen.

U.S. Under Pressure To Devalue Dollar, End 10% Import Surcharge

LONDON (AP) — The United States was under increased pressure to devalue the dollar as 10 of the major industrial nations gathered today for monetary talks.

America's leading trading partners also were virtually united to urge an early end of the 10 per cent import surcharge imposed by President Nixon as part of his new economic policy.

The Nixon administration has resisted pressure to devalue U.S. currency but sources said a compromise agreement between the United States and the "Group of 10" still was possible. Treasury Secretary John B. Connally is representing the United States at the two-day meeting.

Britain added its support Tuesday to a call by the six-nation European Common Market for devaluation of the dollar. The development also had the informal backing of Japan and Canada, sources said.

Finance ministers and bankers attending today's meeting are seeking a way out of the global monetary and trade crisis triggered Aug. 15 when President Nixon imposed the import surcharge and cut the dollar's tie to gold.

The Common Market countries are committed to seeking both an end to the surcharge and a dollar devaluation as part of a general realignment of the world's leading currencies.

Washington alone in its approach to the crisis categorically opposes devaluing the dollar. Keystone of its economic recovery program is, instead, a demand that major foreign currencies revalue upwards.

President Asks To Scrap School-Lunch Regulations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Forty-four senators today asked President Nixon to scrap proposed new school-lunch regulations they said will cost states millions of dollars and force many schools out of the program.

Signers of a letter to the President include Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo., chairman of the Senate Agriculture appropriations subcommittee, and Democratic whip Robert Byrd of West Virginia. Ten of the signers are Republicans.

The letter said that under the proposed new regulations, announced by the Agriculture Department just three weeks before most schools began to open, states will be denied millions of federal dollars that would have helped school districts pay for lunches under the old regulations.

As examples, the letter said, Missouri will lose $4 million, California $9 million, Massachusetts $3.24 million, Ohio $5.56 million, Georgia $4.1 million, West Virginia $2.66 million, and Florida $6.91 million.

"The states cannot make up this loss from state or local funds and will have no alternative but to reduce planned participation to stay within the limitations of available funds," the letter said.

"Therefore, many needy and eligible children will go without school lunches," it said. "Certainly this was not the intent of Congress when it passed the school lunch law, nor your intent when signing it into law May 14, 1970."

Aides to Sens. Philip Hart, D-Mich.; George McGovern, D-S.D.; and Marlow Cook, R-Ky., circulated the letter after attending a Senate hearing last week where several state school-lunch directors testified the new regulations would reduce the scope of the program—not increase it as the Agriculture Department claimed.

Agriculture Department officials said at the time they announced the new regulations Aug. 4 that "we must have discipline if we're going to live within our budgets."

Three days later, 33 state school-lunch directors signed a protest accusing USDA of bringing school-lunch programs to "a screeching halt" by cutting the amount of money available to help the school districts pay for each lunch served.

Nursing Home Fire Claims Six Lives And Injuring Five

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — A fire swept through a nursing home early today and officials reported six persons killed and 11 injured.

Police said 13 persons were in the Lil Haven nursing home when the blaze broke out on the second floor of the 2½-story brick and wood building. All but one of the 12 survivors was hospitalized.

Their conditions were not known.

The fire was put out in 30 minutes. City Fire Marshal Ben Andrus said an investigation of the cause would begin today.

"I went through yelling, 'Fire, fire,' but some of them wouldn't get out," said the nursing home manager, Monte Waldron.

Neighbors said some of the patients couldn't speak English.

Widely-Used Pesticides Linked To Cancer In Animals By FDA

WASHINGTON (AP) — A family of pesticides widely used on fruits and vegetables has been linked to cancer in animals by the Food and Drug Administration.

Spurred by the FDA findings, the Environmental Protection Agency is considering whether a ban, or lesser restrictions, should be imposed on some or all of these fungicides known as carbamates.

No decision has been reached, according to Dr. William M. Upholt, EPA's deputy assistant administrator for pesticides programs. He said there appears to be "no clear-cut evidence of imminent hazard to man" from the carbamates.

Dr. Virgil O. Wodicka, director of the FDA's Bureau of Foods, wrote Upholt Aug. 23 that agency scientists had confirmed the chemical ethylene thiourea (ETU) causes cancer of the thyroid gland when fed to rats. A copy of the letter, which was not made public, was obtained by The Associated Press.

ETU is one of the chemicals that carbamates split into naturally after being sprayed on fruits, vegetables, grass, flowers, bushes and trees.

Traces of carbamate, and presumably ETU, remain on treated fruits and vegetables purchased at food stores, Wodicka said, although the extent is unknown.

"The whole thing is too new" to evaluate the risk, Wodicka said in an interview. "If we find it a problem, we will speak in a louder voice."

Meanwhile, two scientists reported that chemicals used to make bug-killers work better may extend their effect to humans.

In a report prepared for a meeting of the American Chemical Society, R.M. Philpot of the National Institute of Environmental Health Sciences at Research Triangle Park, N.C., and Ernest Hodgson of North Carolina State University, cautioned against using so-called "synergists."

It has been found, they said, that synergists render inactive a substance called cytochrome P-450, which helps destroy many foreign compounds.

Several GIs Injured As Club Bombed

SAIGON (AP) — An explosion wrecked the busy Tu Do night club tonight, and several persons were carried from the wreckage.

Apparently a large bomb had gone off.

The blast shook downtown Saigon and set fire to cars in Tu Do Street, a principal thoroughfare.

The explosion climaxed three days of fire-bomb attacks aimed at American military vehicles.

U.S. and South Vietnamese police sealed off the area.

The blast occurred one block from the Caravelle Hotel where Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota was staying.

The night club has been frequented by Americans as well as Vietnamese and several Americans were among the injured.

Other GIs, their clothes covered with blood, joined Vietnamese police in helping take victims from the devastated club.

Price Introduces Bill To Promote Study Of Cancer

The rapid conquest of cancer is the goal of legislation which has been introduced by Congressman Bob Price of Pampa. The Texas representative called "disheartening" the estimates that one of every four Americans living today will someday develop cancer in one form or another. "This tragic state of affairs can be remedied only if the American people, speaking through their elected officials, commit the resources of the Nation in sufficient amount to conquer cancer," Price said.

The Price bill would establish a cancer-cure program within the National Institutes of Health. The director of the program would be given authority to establish, operate, and maintain cancer centers, laboratories, and other facilities related to the study and cure of cancer. He would also be authorized to provide for the production and distribution of special drugs, materials, or other therapeutic substances for cancer research. The bill also provides for establishment of a Cancer-Cure Advisory Commission to assist in policy formulation and action program implementation.

Police Discover Marijuana, Look For Stolen Truck

City police activity for the past 24 hours included discovery of suspected marijuana, search for a stolen vehicle and the usual rash of "DWI" and routine complaints. The suspected quantity of marijuana was taken from the purse of a Pampa teenage girl after police, acting on a tip, contacted her mother and received permission to make a search.

A 1963 Econoline van belonging to Bob Clements was taken from the parking lot at Harvester Bowl sometime between 8:15 and 11:15 p.m. Tuesday. The vehicle, a former company delivery, is gray in color with the sign painted out. The search continues for the truck.

GSA Officials To Meet Area Businessmen

Representatives of the General Services Administration, the central buying agency of the Federal Government, will be in Amarillo tomorrow to discuss with interested businessmen how they can sell their products and services to the Government.

GSA spends over 2 billion dollars each year procuring from commercial sources a wide variety of numerous common-use items and services required by the various Federal agencies in their day-to-day operations.

GSA is the multibillion dollar business manager of the Federal Government. As such it is the Government's landlord; manager of properties, both real and personal; builder and operator of public buildings; buyer of needed products and services; seller of Government-owned surplus real and personal properties; keeper of the nation's permanently valuable records; and operator of the Federal Telecommunications System and the Government's Intergovernmental Motor Pool System.

One reason the United States wants a reevaluation of other currencies is that imports from America's commercial rivals would become more costly. This would in time help America's balance of payments deficit and strengthen the dollar. If this happened, other nations' trade balances would dwindle, and that would be deflationary for them as well as expensive politically at home.

Stock Scandal Trial Nears End; Judge Promises Quick Decision

By GODFREY ANDERSON
Associated Press Writer
DALLAS (AP)—The great Texas stock trial, once expected to last six weeks or more, neared its end today with U.S. District Court Sarah T. Hughes promising quick judgment. Defense testimony was being heard today. Then the government will be allotted an hour and the defense lawyers 15 minutes each to present their final arguments.

"In all probability I will have my mind pretty well made up by the time of the argument," Judge Hughes said before recessing the trial Tuesday evening. "As you all know I am not going to wait until the argument to work on the case. . . I hope to announce my decision immediately at the end of the argument."

There was no indication that any of the major figures would call witnesses today. However, Charles P. Storey, representing former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr, said he wanted to read some of Carr's deposition into the court record.

Bob Spurlock, of Institutional Equities, was being called to testify for Audy Byram, a defendant who was formerly president of RIC International Industries, one of the defendant companies. Tom Max Thomas, a defendant, and his law partner Jarrell B. Ormsand, who is not, were expected to return to the stand.

The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission alleges that 28 defendants, both individuals and corporations, joined in a scheme to manipulate stocks so as to enrich politicians and influence legislation at the state Capitol.

The disclosure that top politicians like Gov. Preston Smith and House Speaker Gus Mutscher Jr. were among those making profits on stock bought with loans from promoter Frank W. Sharp's Sharpstown State Bank caused a furor in Austin. However, none of the politicians is a defendant in the present trial.

The case brought by the SEC is a civil suit whose only result can be permanent injunctions prohibiting further stock deals such as those named in the suit by any of the defendants.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I are in our mid-thirties, so don't get the idea we are a pair of old fogies when you read this.

Our problem is another couple with whom we go out at least once a week. The man has been our good friend for many years. His wife died two years ago and now he is going with a woman who seems to have changed him. He used to act like a perfect gentleman, but not any more. He carries on in public with this girl—kissing, hugging, smooching and what not. This they do in front of children, in restaurants, in the bowling alley, at the beach. Anywhere at all. They act as if they are all alone.

I suppose you could say, "They're in love," but Abby, that's no excuse for bad manners. We have hinted, but it hasn't worked. We would hate to end our friendship with this wonderful guy, but his behavior is just too embarrassing. What do you suggest?

GOOD FRIENDS
DEAR FRIENDS: Quit hinting and tell loverboy to knock off the love scenes in public. And if he doesn't, simply put the friendship in cold storage for a while. P.S. He'll be back. This affair is too hot not to cool down.

DEAR ABBY: I have an 11-year-old son and a 10-year-old daughter. Last week I came home from the store and found the boy dressed in his sister's clothes. I was so mad I made him sit on the porch so everyone could see him. After about an hour I called him in and asked him why he did it. He said because he wanted to see how he would look dressed as a girl.

Abby, now my daughter tells me her brother has been after her to let him wear her clothes. She has told him no, but she knows he has worn them anyway while she wasn't around. Now my daughter is setting his hair and he likes it. I am getting confused because he makes a prettier girl than his sister, but I don't think he should be encouraged in this, do you? Will he outgrow it in time? Please help me. He has no daddy.

TROUBLED MOTHER
DEAR MOTHER: Get in touch with your local mental health clinic and make an appointment for your son. Boys should be boys and girls should be girls, and the tendencies to be otherwise are rarely outgrown.

DEAR ABBY: Our son is married to a woman who is obsessed with the belief her family is superior to ours because her ancestors supposedly came over on the Mayflower.

This claim has been pounded into our grandchildren, and they have been taught to look down on us because we are foreign-born and speak with accent. It is ironic that due to hard work and thrift we own our own home and have helped our son and his snobbish wife buy theirs, while her supposedly aristocratic parents have never achieved anything for themselves, nor have they helped their children financially.

We are sick of hearing about their pure American heritage. Abby, please set some people straight about who the real Americans are.

AMERICAN, BUT FOREIGN BORN

DEAR AMERICAN: I thought everyone knew technically the only real Americans were the American Indians. And if you want to read an authoritative, well-documented book on American history from the Indian point of view, get "Bury My Heart at Wounded Knee," by Dee Brown.

Costume Event Set By VFW Auxiliary

The Ladies Auxiliary to Pampa Post No. 1657, Veterans of Foreign Wars, met recently in the V.F.W. hall, with Mrs. Jack Boyd, junior vice-president, in charge.

The meeting opened with the chaplains prayer led by Mrs. J.W. Dart. The patriotic instructor, Mrs. Harley Smith, led the pledge to the flag. Reports from the recent convention held in Amarillo were given by Mrs. Tony Smith and Mrs. A. L. Walling.

A report was made concerning a fund-raising project to be held Oct. 30 at the V.F.W. hall for members of the V.F.W. post, family, and friends. Booths will be operated by members of the auxiliary, and prizes will be awarded to the best costumed man and woman.

Next meeting will be a social Sept. 21, 7:30 p.m. in the V.F.W. hall. Members present were Mmes. Jack Boyd, J.W. Crisler, J.W. Dart, Anna Eckroat, Leon Hinton, Edith Norris, Harley Smith, Tony Smith, A.L. Walling and Mack Taylor.

"We had been led to believe that things had changed for the better, but we were struck by how incredibly little had changed... so many of the shows had people hitting each other over the head"—Evelyn Sarson, president of Action for Children's Television, commenting on a survey which showed a high incidence of violence on children's television.

Cadette Girl Scout Troop Delegates Meet To Plan For Annual Camporee

Delegates from Cadette troops throughout the Quivira Girl Scout Council's 10-county area met Saturday in the Pampa Little House to make plans for the Cadette Camporee, slated for Oct. 1, 2 and 3. About 140 girls and their leaders are expected to attend the event which will be held at the council's new campsite, Camp Cibola, near Clarendon.

During the meeting, led by Mrs. Jean Duke of Borger, district director, assisted by Mrs. T.M. Whiteley of Pampa, also a district director, the girls decided to work on special ecology projects during the camporee. These will include mapping out nature trails, determining and classifying the kinds of birds, fruits and vegetables to be found on the campsite and to make and place stepping stones.

It was decided by the group, also, that troops may arrive at camp either Friday evening or by 9 a.m. Saturday. Camp will close at noon Sunday. A two-hour swimming period was set for Saturday afternoon. Saturday evening will be highlighted by a campfire program at which each troop will be expected to present a skit and to place a friendship log on the fire. Special assignments made were: morning flag ceremony, Troop 3 of Pampa; evening flag ceremony, Troop 75 of Pampa; building campfire, Troop 141 of Borger; fire ceremony, the newly-formed Pampa troop; and church, Troop 124 of Borger.

Delegates attending from Pampa included Carol Craig, Troop 61; Amy McMullan and Peggy Wilson, newly-formed troop; Karen Hampton and Donna Coufal, Troop 3; Erin O'Conner and Ssanne Walsh, Troop 75; Deborah Lawley and Mollie Jackson, Troop 41. Delegates from Borger included Lorie Zollars, Debbie Robertson, Cathy Wright, Esther Aquilar, Kay Clark, Kerry Duke and Cindy Liggett, all of Troop 124; and Coleen Krug and Patricia Hooks, both of Troop 141.

"Personal and private reasons" were cited by Jacqueline Kennedy Onassis for not attending the opening of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts in Washington. "The pill has been put into women's hands by men because they are so extraordinarily afraid to experiment with their own bodies"—Margaret Meade, anthropologist, in Switzerland. "This emphasizes our point that buses are for animals, not for children"—Irene McCabe, who protested busing school children in Pontiac, Mich., by delivering two guinea pigs in a toy bus to the city school superintendent.

Your Horoscope

THURSDAY, SEPT. 16

Your birthday today: Life for you this coming year must pass a testing screen. What you accept or permit must either conform to exacting personal standards or be of superior precision and quality on its own. There seems little chance of moderation or compromise this year. Today's natives work hard for purify personal goals.

ARIES (March 21-April 19): It's not yet time to wind up confusing details left over from last night. See the end of the week as a three day circus with faith that all comes out well by and by.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): The more ardent you flail, the less likely you'll be to collect. The severe, costumed approach gives you a special observation post from which to view human drama.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): An early start alleviates potential tension. To let well enough alone is a fine art now.

CANCER (June 21-July 21): Drift along with the tide of routine events until you're sure what you want done and a definite way to get it. Today's ditions lend themselves to expedients.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22): Carry on boldly and keep your actual needs simple and no greater than a necessary minimum. Permanent clarifications.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Personal affairs are certain to bring abrupt stress or surprise. Your temporary adjustments turn out later to have involved some permanent clarifications.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Life grows quiet and you formulate a clearer picture of how you can improve gently. There are many little things to do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Spice your routines with good humor. Romantic interest sparks amongst the crosscurrents of people coming and going.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Check up on recent comments; revise what you believed at even seeing before, without undue fuss or protest.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Emotional ties tend to stress and sharing; so that new relations are born, old ones deepen.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Small gains and progress mark the day and are to be accepted as sufficient. More of the same are coming so don't rush matters.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Stabilize your position in seeking harmony with others. Just giving things away is no help unless they're white elephants finding new homes where they function appropriately.

"I really don't have any complaints about the work at all. My only real problem has been the pedestrians at lunch hour. I haven't given any pedestrian tickets yet, but I'm going to"—Iva Denny, new Dallas traffic cop.

Anti-Busing Groups Shut Down GM Plant In Pontiac

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Chanting "we will not be bused" and "power to the people," opponents of school busing for integration shut down the General Motors Fisher Body plant in Pontiac today.

Several hundred pickets, many of them representing the antibusing National Action Group—NAG—paraded in front of plant gates as the 4,100-worker facility was due to open.

Many workers congregated on sidewalks across the street from the plant but few entered.

The demonstration had been called by NAG to show its "clout" in a running battle to undo court-ordered busing to achieve racial balance in schools in this suburban Detroit city of 85,000.

NAG was unsuccessful last week in attempts to prevent buses beginning their rounds for the opening of schools Tuesday and in demonstrations aimed at shutting them down after they were opened. Disturbances resulted in 48 arrests.

Despite threats of discipline from the United Auto Workers and General Motors, the company said more than 60 per cent of the day shift failed to report for work.

"I knew it would work," said a jubilant Irene McCabe, chief spokeswoman for NAG.

She promised her group would be back in the afternoon to attempt to prevent the second shift from reporting for work.

Several workers who crossed the picket line to report said they did so "because I have to earn a living."

Charles Warren of Pontiac, a black Fisher Body worker, said the picketing "is something you can't do anything about. I accept it."

Al F. Platt, Fisher Body plant manager, declined comment on what action he might take to end plant-shutting demonstrations, but there were reports a court injunction against them might be sought.

Several black Fisher Body workers said they believed predominantly white NAG picketed their plant because it has fewer black workers than most in the area. Platt said there were approximately 15 per cent blacks.

Gas Consumers To Face Shortage Of Heating Fuel

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House Interstate Sub-Committee heard Tuesday that thousands of natural gas consumers face a critical shortage of home-heating and cooking fuel during the coming months.

The statement was made by Rep. John W. Murphy, D-N.Y., as the panel started hearings on his bill to give the Federal Power Commission more flexibility to encourage gas producers to find and develop potential reserve supplies.

Murphy said known reserves have sharply declined in recent years but potential reserves are sufficient to meet the nation's needs for years to come.

"The development of natural gas," Murphy said, "has been retarded because of ill-conceived government policy."

Others who spoke of a shortage and expressed support for the bill included J. P. Hammond, assistant general counsel of Standard Oil Co. of Indiana; Robert Bieritz, representing a group of organized gas utility workers; and Joseph D'Este, national legislative director of International Union of District 50, Allied and Technical Workers of the U.S. and Canada.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Charles Manson, cult leader sentenced to die for the Tate-LaBianca killings, has lost his visiting privilege for 10 days because he set fire to the bedding in his cell, authorities say.

Manson, 36, currently on trial for the murders of musician Gary Hinman and stuntman Donald "Shorty" Shea, set fire to a towel and blankets Monday before going to court, authorities said.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Ernest Borgnine, who won an Oscar for the film "Marty" and later starred in the "McHale's Navy" television series, has been sued for divorce by his fourth wife.

Donna Anna Borgnine, 38, asked Superior Court Monday for division of community property and support of their children, Cristofer, 5 and Sharon 6. The Borgnines married in 1965.

Texas State Government To Set Up Branch Office In Mexico City

By GARTH JONES
Associated Press Writer

After the official opening of the Mexico City office on Oct. 1, the Texas governor will hold an official reception for Mexican businessmen and manufacturers.

From then on an official paid employee of the State of Texas will be in charge of the Mexico City office to help solve the problems of both Mexican and Texas businessmen.

The Nov. 28-Dec. 4 travel trade mission trip of about 50 Texas businessmen is officially sponsored by the Texas Tourist Development Agency, leaving from and returning to San Antonio. It will include representatives of Texas tourist attractions, transportation companies, hotel and motel industry, food and beverage purveyors, chambers of commerce and visitors bureaus in principal Texas cities.

In each of Mexico's three principal cities there will be receptions in honor of Mexican government officials, local news media and people involved in tourism in Mexico.

"The purpose of the mission is to promote Texas as a tourist destination to the large numbers of Mexican citizens interested in visiting the state," said Frank Hildebrand, executive director of the Tourist Development Agency. "Mexico's awareness of Texas as a vacation site has increased sharply in recent years."

On Oct. 1, Gov. Preston Smith and a delegation of Texans will open Texas' second out-of-state branch office—the Texas Industrial Commission's office in Mexico City.

And on Nov. 28, Texas will send a special travel trade mission to Mexico City, with side-trips to Guadalajara and Monterrey, Mexico's next largest cities.

"This is a golden opportunity for Texas," says James H. Harvey, head of the export development division of the State Industrial Commission. "Texas exports about $1.5 billion in products worldwide, but only $300,000 or $400,000 to Mexico...at least $1 billion comes through Texas from the Northeast and Midwest. There is no reason in the world that Texas can't increase our share of the Mexico market."

Boyle's Column Tell A Person's Character By His Taste In Flowers

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Jumping to conclusions: You can tell a person's character by his taste in flowers. For example, if his favorite flower is the rose, he probably is stodgy, conventional, prosaic and hides his money in a mattress or a hole in the back yard. On the other hand, if his favorite flower is the dandelion, he probably is adventurous, romantic, imaginative, chivalrous and hasn't saved any money at all.

It's all in how you say a thing. Few men like to be praised for their prejudices, but all like to be admired for the strength of their convictions.

Science, which has plumbed many of the mysteries of bacteria and stellar space, still can't tell us why a woman stifled a yawn with the back of her hand, a man with his palm.

If I could do only one thing to improve the lot of mankind, what I'd like to be able to do most is to find a new pleasure that people over 40 could enjoy—and still not lose a good night's sleep.

People grumble that most of our modern gadgets, from automobiles to television sets, wear out before they should. But at least two of man's tools have resisted this trend toward planned obsolescence and last about as long as they ever did. They are the toothpick and the old-fashioned fly swatter.

A woman is vexed if she gets a run in one of her stockings, but somehow to the average man this only makes her look unexpectedly exciting, accessible and vulnerable. But if she usually has a run in her stockings, he reacts the other way and dismisses her as sloppy.

You're bound to live a longer and more cheerful life if you make it a policy never to accept any invitations you get by telephone after midnight.

A bread and butter note is what you write to a hostess for a dinner at which nothing else on the table was worth eating.

The happiest people are those whose ladder of success has one final rung just beyond their reach. They never get bored.

An old-timer is a man who can remember clearly—when you could go to the grocery store and buy a fresh tomato that tasted like a fresh tomato.

Laird Predicts 'Military Decline' If Draft Measure Is Not Renewed

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird said Tuesday readiness of the Armed Forces will "decline to levels totally unacceptable...to the American people" if Congress fails to renew the draft.

Laird's comment, issued by a Pentagon spokesman, signaled the start of an intensified Defense Department campaign to push for the renewal of the Selective Service Act, tied up in Congress over various amendments.

Jerry W. Friedheim, a Defense Department spokesman, said the three civilian service secretaries and the heads of the military services were scheduled to meet later in the day at the Capitol with Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee, and Sen. Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, the senior Republican member.

In a statement issued by Friedheim, Laird was quoted as being deeply concerned about the dangerous national security situation which will arise by early next year "if Congress fails to act now."

Friedheim said that voluntary enlistments, now running above expectations, will decline as much as 40 to 60 per cent without the draft. He attributed the increase in enlistments during the summer months as being mostly draft-induced even though induction authority expired with the old draft law June 30.

The Senate took up the law again Monday but it continued to remain stalled amid threats from several antiwar senators to filibuster against deletion from the bill of an amendment calling for total withdrawal of American troops from Vietnam.

Friedheim hinted that the Pentagon's now lobbying blitz was prompted by indications that the draft bill was now in serious trouble.

"In the absence of induction authority, the readiness of the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marine Corps—and importantly also the National Guard and the reserve forces—would in Mr. Laird's view decline to levels totally unacceptable to him as secretary of defense and, he feels, totally unacceptable to the American people," Friedheim said.

People In The News

WASHINGTON (AP) — Bethesda Naval Hospital officials and spokesmen for Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black's office refuse to issue any information about his condition or the reason he is under medical care.

The hospital confirmed Sept. 2 that Black was a patient, but all other questions were referred to Black's office. Inquiries have gone unanswered.

Black, at least unofficially, is expected to be on hand when the court reconvenes Oct. 4.

ABERDEEN, S.D. (AP) — The Fischer quintuplets, born to a $100-a-week stock clerk and his wife, celebrate their eighth birthday Tuesday.

The quint—Mary Ann, Cathy, Margie, Maggie and Jerry—are second graders at a Roman Catholic School in this city of 27,000.

Their father, Andrew Fischer, now owns and operates an 800-acre farm purchased with funds from contracts with a magazine, publishing company, national dairy foods firm and from other sources after the birth of the quint.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Georgia Jackson, mother of slain San Quentin convict George Jackson, says she will ask the United Nations to probe the death of her son at the California prison Aug. 21.

One of the so-called Soledad Brothers, Jackson was shot to death in what prison officials have called an abortive escape attempt. Two other convicts and three guards were also killed.

Solons Postpone Underground Test Of Atomic Bomb

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate-House conferees agreed today to a bill provision that would postpone a scheduled five-megaton nuclear warhead underground explosion in Alaska unless President Nixon gave his direct approval.

In approving a compromise public works appropriation bill, the conferees accepted a Senate provision to forbid the explosion before May 31, 1972, "unless the President gives his direct approval."

The Atomic Energy Commission has planned the Cannikin experiment in the Aleutian Islands of Alaska for some time next month. The experiment is designed to test the warhead of the Spartan missile, a part of the Safeguard Antiballistic Missile System.

Some senators had said the blast, a mile underground and equivalent to 5 million tons of TNT at Amchitka Island, might touch off earthquakes and tidal waves and conservationists have opposed it.

Liquor-By-Drink Turns Out To Be A $1 Million-A-Month Tax Raiser

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN (AP)—Liquor by the drink has turned out to be a $1 million-a-month tax raiser with no significant increase in the number of bars—at least for now—and few law enforcement problems.

That's the assessment of O. N. Humphreys Jr., Alcoholic Beverage Commission administrator, after the state's first three months of legalized mixed drinks.

"So far we haven't had anything—only two administrative cases that I can recall. I think both of them were breach of the peace. One was a shooting. The other was a pretty bad fight," Humphreys said when asked about enforcement problems in newly licensed bars.

Texas voters approved legalizing public sale of mixed drinks last November, and the legislature wrote the details of how liquor by the drink would work in a bill that was passed April 21. Local option elections were held in several dozen cities, towns and counties May 18, and the first mixed beverage permit was issued shortly afterward.

So far, 1,106 permits have been issued. About 700 private clubs renewed their licenses Sept. 1.

Last year, at this time, only private clubs could sell mixed drinks across the bar, and 1,730 had active licenses as of Aug. 31, 1970.

The fact that the number of public bars and private clubs now licensed is about the same as the total of private clubs a year ago "would indicate that your outlets are not going to vary too much," Humphreys said.

Legislators also repealed the nicker a drink private club tax and imposed a 10 per cent "gross receipts tax" on sales of mixed drinks.

The tax raised $1,018,298 in July, the first full month in which the tax was collected. That means more than $10 million worth of drinks were sold.

He said bars and restaurants private club tax yielded $358,263. The tax collections indicate most drinking still is done in private clubs, which collected $504,414 from the tax in July.

Humphreys said the majority of mixed beverage permits were issued to former private clubs, with the bulk of the remainder going to restaurants and dinner clubs.

Opponents of liquor by the drink contended it would increase drinking.

"I don't think we have seen any appreciable decline or increase. Overall, I don't think it has affected consumption. But we really haven't had it long enough to make any kind of comparison. It will take a year before we can tell whether it's increased," Humphreys said.

One point used by liquor by the drink advocates was that mixed drinks would increase the state's tourist business.

Frank Hildebrand, director of the Texas Tourist Development Agency, said his office has no evidence one way or another in this regard.

But W. Price, director of the Texas Restaurant Association, which led lobbying efforts for the bill, said "the results have been tremendous."

"For restaurants, he said, "Tourist business increased 5 to 10 per cent, not only in liquor sales but in food sales."

Price predicted liquor by the drink permits will total 2,000 by March or April, Humphreys said. His commission is processing 8 to 10 permit applications per day.

Humphreys' agents are devoting a good part of their time to investigating mixed beverage permit applicants. He says they are "bogged down" with applications, although the situation should ease when the 30 new agents authorized by the legislature are hired and put to work.

Liquor board agents also are cracking down—although Humphreys avoids the phrase—on private clubs that openly sell drinks to anybody with the money to buy them.

Agents made 47 cases of sales to non-members by clubs in Dallas, San Antonio and Houston the weekend of July 23.

"We don't call it a crackdown, but we are working these clubs and we are going to continue to work them," Humphreys said. "We plan to continue this type of operation. It will not be done in any systematic way. We'll do it a weekend, then maybe skip a weekend, and hit them during the week."

"We want to let these people know that if they are going to run a private club, they must adhere to the private club law," He said there's no excuse for running an open bar under the guise of a private club since the law allows clubs to issue $2 temporary membership cards to non-members who want to buy drinks.

"It would be grossly unfair to a man who paid $2,000 for a (first-year) mixed beverage permit and operates within the law to allow a person across the street with a $500 (permit fee) private club to operate illegally," Humphreys said. "I don't think it's right."

Humphreys says one thing his agency doesn't get into is drink prices—the law leaves that up to competition and what the traffic will bear.

A spot check of several Austin bars and restaurants indicated quite a variation.

A bar that charges a membership fee and features topless dancers charges $1.50 for all drinks, including tax. A seafood restaurant has a range of 90 cents to $2.50, plus tax, with a scotch and water and a bourbon old-fashioned costing $1 each. A popular Mexican restaurant charges $1 for a scotch and water and $1.25 for an old-fashioned, plus tax.

Private clubs tend to be about the same, or perhaps a little cheaper. One well-known club charges 90 cents each for a old-fashioned and a Scotch and water. Another charges $1 for the same drinks.

"As a general rule, in the plush places, they are paying $1.25 to $1.50 for a drink and getting a full measure of alcohol... In the Valley, there is a spread of 65 cents to $1.10 because of competition with Mexico," Price said.

In July 1970, the nicker a drink make a net profit of 10 to 15 per cent on the price of a drink.

The legislature and the control board made it clear they didn't want any of that money going to criminals, organized or otherwise. And they outlawed bar ownership by liquor store proprietors or hidden financial backers.

Applications for mixed beverage permits must fill out a six-page questionnaire and a two-page personal history sheet.

They ask such blunt questions as:

"Have you ever used narcotics in any form?"

TV And Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—Tuesday night on the television networks promises to be a hotly contested battleground. NBC and CBS have moved some heavy entertainment artillery against ABC's most popular lineup of last season.

Will "Marcus Welby, M.D.," that gentle general practitioner, lose some of his faithful patients to "Cannon," CBS' tough private eye? And more to NBC's woman-oriented "Funny Side" with its light-hearted musical comedy look at everybody's basic problems?

Probably. And it is just as likely that NBC's top cop, "Ironside," will be more of a threat to the "Mod Squad" kids than any bad guys.

ABC's "Movie of the Week," once in charge of its time period, has acquired some formidable competition with the arrival on Tuesday nights of CBS' popular "Hawaii Five-O," and another action-adventure series, "Sarge," launched by NBC.

Among the new series, "Cannon" seems to be the greatest threat. It is a slick, fast-moving show reminiscent of those old Dashiell Hammett and Raymond Chandler books. William Conrad's character, Frank Cannon, is gravel voiced and gimlet-eyed and takes a lot of punishment. He is fat and 50. The premiere started with a robbery massacre and through about half the show, our hero was dragging around with a bullet through the knee, the hunter pursued by the hunted. It was a highly charged hour.

NBC, scheming to pull the early evening "Ironside" audience along to its new "Sarge" series, turned out what was billed as two shows but which played as one and combined the two leading characters.

Sarge, the policeman turned priest, joined Ironside in an investigation of the killing of three priests.

The pilot unfortunately contained only about enough action to pull through one hour net two. The result was that neither series took off for a fast start on the new season.

Calvin Hill Forgetting Last Year's Nightmares

DALLAS (AP) — Dallas Cowboy running back Calvin Hill has about forgotten the nightmare of the 1970 season in which he didn't play a down in the Super Bowl.

"I've been down the road now," Hill says. "I'm certainly aware of the slim line of demarcation between failure and success."

Hill, a 230-pound Yale graduate, was the toast of the National Football League in 1969. He was Rookie of the Year, sparking the Dallas Cowboys by rushing, passing and receiving for a total of 1,311 yards and 10 touchdowns.

Then came 1970 and with it injuries and another rookie named Duane Thomas. Calvin wound up with 794 yards total offense and four touchdowns. Not a bad year, but not the kind of year people expected of Hill.

"You have to fight for what you get in this world," said

Hill's father when it was all over.

Hill fought back this summer. In the NFL's pre-season wars he emerged as the top rusher (391 yards, a 5.5 average) and touchdown producer—six.

"He's just so big and agile," said Dallas coach Tom Landry. "He's tackled and he still falls for four or five yards."

Hill had his top pre-season performance against Cleveland. He carried 21 times for 167 yards, caught two passes for 36 and scored a touchdown in a 16-15 victory.

The touchdown came on an 89-yard gallop in the first quarter.

"I never ran that far for a touchdown before," Calvin said afterwards. "Not in high school, college, anywhere."

"We have a tremendous line," he says. "If I had known as a rookie what I know now, I'd have had even a better year."

But I don't forget. I know our line gets me wherever I go." Hill's lone personal goal is to avoid injuries and play in every game this year, beginning with the regular season opener at Buffalo Sunday. Otherwise, he would rather talk about the team, which finished 6-0 for its best pre-season record ever.

"We're not letting little things bother us," he says. "That's a carryover from last year. We know we'll make mistakes. We're not infallible."

"The big thing is that early last year the team was very defensive. When you play defensively, you're on edge. We were playing not to lose then. I think the team was concerned with being excellent, not making mistakes."

Broyles Warns Fans About No Miracles

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles had warned Razorback fans not to expect miracles from quarterback Joe Ferguson.

Late Saturday night, in the Arkansas dressing room, Broyles admitted that Ferguson had indeed worked a few miracles.

Ferguson, a whip-arm junior starting his first college varsity game, completed 16 of 27 passes for 228 yards and two touchdowns and scored once as the Razorbacks blasted California 51-20.

For his performance, Ferguson was named Offensive Player of the Week in the Southwest Conference by The Associated Press.

Rice's Rodrigo Barnes was named Defensive Player of the Week for his job in the Owls' 23-21 loss to Houston.

"To go out and start your first ball game and be named is a tribute to the whole team," Ferguson said. "I was really nervous. After we fumbled the ball at first it really scared me. Then after we got into the game and settled down it was all right."

pect miracles, even though he performed several Saturday night.

Ferguson's two-yard touchdown run was the first of his college career and only his third since junior high school.

"It was an option play and I just went down the line," Ferguson said. "(Fullback) Skipper DeBorde put me in with a great block."

Ferguson threw deep four times against California and three times he was on target. One went to Jim Hodge for a 47-yard touchdown; another was flicked away at the last instant by Clarence Duren and a third was mishandled by Mike Reppond.

"I was really impressed with Ferguson," Duren said. "He has such a quick release. You can't turn your back on him for a second, or he'll throw the ball right past you before you know it."

Ali Himself Again After Signing To Fight Mac Foster

NEW YORK (AP) — Muhammad Ali was his old, talkative, irrepressible self Tuesday at a press conference called to announce his fight against Mac Foster of Fresno, Calif. Nov. 1 in Tokyo.

After promoter Yoshio Kuo revealed the details—Ali would get $500,000, Foster $150,000, tickets would be priced at $25 or $30 in the 14,000-seat arena and he is asking $2.5 million for the world-wide television rights—Ali took the spotlight.

"He's not the champion, he got whupped," he shouted, referring to his recent defeat at the hands of heavyweight champion Joe Frazier. "You can't brainwash me—he got whupped."

For Foster, who has won 27 of his 28 pro fights by knockout—the exception being a knockout defeat by Jerry Quarry—Ali said he has a new weapon, a "lingerer."

"It doesn't knock you out," the ex-champ explained. "It just dazes you—and you linger."

Football Roundup

By ALEX SACHARE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Outspoken Alex Karras, who harassed opposing National Football League quarterbacks and running backs as a defensive tackle with the Detroit Lions since 1958, lashed out at the Detroit management Tuesday after the Lions placed him on waivers.

Karras was the most familiar name on the waiver lists as NFL teams trimmed their rosters to the 40-man maximum decreed by the league.

He was promptly claimed by George Allen of the Washington Redskins. Karras said he would let Allen know whether or not he would report to Washington today.

"I cannot believe that the Lions' decision to place me on waivers is based on a fair assessment of my performance on the field," the 36-year-old Karras contended. "There are no room for an athlete who has an opinion on anything except his own sport," Karras said, before being claimed by Washington.

"I have opinions. I think I am entitled to the same considerations as other human beings. That includes having the right to express myself on something other than playing defensive tackle," the 6-foot-2, 250-pounder declared.

Karras, suspended for the 1963 season by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for allegedly betting on football games, was out for much of last year with a knee injury, but says he is now 100 per cent.

He is the latest in a long line of veterans obtained by Allen in his efforts to bolster the Redskins.

Another familiar name on the waiver lists was Tom Dempsey, the New Orleans Saints place kicker who booted the longest field goal in NFL history last season, a 63-yarder to defeat the Detroit Lions on the final play of the game.

Dempsey, born without a right hand and with only half a left foot, said he would try to catch on with another NFL club.

"Sore, I'm discouraged and I'm hurt," he declared. "But I've gotten back up. I know I can kick in this league and I'm going to."

Other veterans to be trimmed included running backs Ernie Koy and Les Shy, guard Larry Wagner and defensive back Otto Erown, by the New York Giants; running back Rocky Bleier, by the Pittsburgh Steelers; kicker Mark Moseley and defensive end Don Brumm, by the Philadelphia Eagles; defensive tackle Dan Goich and line-backer Marty Schottenheimer, by the Baltimore Colts, and tight end Pat Richter, by the Dallas Cowboys.

Ryder Cup Favorites Are Trevino-Casper

ST. LOUIS (AP) — America's tour-toughened veterans—even with Lee Trevino and Billy Casper scheduled only for part-time performances—ranked as solid favorites to best Britain's best in the biennial Ryder Cup matches that begin a three-day run Thursday.

Britain, spearheaded by Tony Jacklin and Peter Butler, scored a major upset in 1969, when it tied the United States 16-16 in Southport, England.

That was the first time the U.S. had failed to win since 1957. The dozen pros who make up the American team are determined it won't happen again.

The American squad is headed by Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Trevino. Trevino, still weak from a recent appendectomy, and Casper, who has an injured foot, will play only once a day.

"I won't play either one of them more than 18 holes a day," Jay Hebert, the non-playing captain of the American team, said today. "Trevino just isn't ready to play more than that and Casper can't go more than that foot."

The format calls for Scotch foursome matches on Thursday, four-ball matches Friday and singles matches Saturday.

American Hopes Dead In U.S. Open Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Jan Kodes, the clay court sharpshooter, zeroed in on a big gun of grass, Arthur Ashe, killing the hopes of an all American U.S. Open title match today.

Kodes, the 5-year-old Czechoslovakian darkhorse of this $160,000 classic, upset the third-seeded player from Richmond, Va., 7-6, 3-6, 4-6, 6-3, 6-4 in a light drizzle Tuesday for the right to meet Stan Smith in the rain-delayed finale today.

Ashe's bid for his second Open title—he also won in 1968—went down the drain when referee Vic Seixas declined to suspend the match, already delayed by three days of downpours.

One Game Separates Top Two In National League

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

... And then there was one.

One game separates them—and from now on, it'll be up to the rest of the National League West to decide whether the Los Angeles Dodgers or San Francisco Giants wear the crown.

Or maybe they'll still have to work it out themselves. They've had to do it before—twice in 20 years—and in each case the Giants have come out on top.

But when these two teams collide, it's not just another game.

"It was like a World Series game," Los Angeles Manager Walter Alton said after his scrambling, clawing Dodgers won their eighth in a row and 13th in 15 games, stunning the Giants 6-5 in each case the Giants have come out on top.

But when these two teams collide, it's not just another game.

the San Francisco lead built on Bobby Bonds' second home run of the game, a three-run blast in the seventh inning coming only minutes after Chris Speier had hit a solo shot which started the rally.

In other National League games, Pittsburgh beat the Chicago Cubs 4-3 to open a 7½-game East lead over St. Louis, which lost 5-4 to Philadelphia, Atlanta rode Hank Aaron's two home runs to a 5-2 victory over Cincinnati, Montreal split a doubleheader with the New York Mets, winning the opener 12-1 before losing 6-3, and San Diego topped Houston 5-2.

"We threw everything we had at them," a downcast Giants Manager Charlie Fox muttered. "We got five runs—you'd think we could get three outs in the ninth." They got them—one double and three runs too late.

"Six inches lower and we might have had a triple play," he said of Mota's liner. Then his gaze turned to a defiant glare, he added: "We're still one game ahead with 14 left to play. We're not going to pack up and quit!"

"Now we can start worrying about the Cards," Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh said after his Bucs beat the Cubs on Richie Hebner's triple and a passed ball in the sixth inning, tagging 21-game winner Ferguson Jenkins with his 13th loss.

"We've got five big games against St. Louis in the next eight," Murtaugh said, "and that's the way it should be—the two contenders going against each other."

Rick Wise of the Phils helped win his own game at the plate, driving in two runs with a single in the five-run second inning that flipped the Cards. — Aaron's five runs batted in with his 42nd and 43rd home of the season moved him past Stan Musial into fourth place on the all-time RBI list with 1,953, just one behind the late T. Cobb.

He hit a three-run job in the first inning following singles by Felix Millan and Ralph Garr, then unloaded in the fifth after winning pitcher Ron Reed bunted his way on base. It was the 53rd time Aaron has hit two or more homers in a game and gave him 635 career round trippers.

The Pampa Harvesters will be meeting Odessa Saturday night in Odessa instead of Friday, Sept. 17 as originally scheduled.

The change to Sept. 18 came after Odessa informed head coach Robert E. "Swede" Lee that all Odessa schools had previously scheduled games for Friday night.

Kick off time for SATURDAY'S game will be 8 p.m. at Odessa High School.

Study The Record

Three out of four American workers do not belong to a labor union. One out of four does. Precisely, union members today comprise 23.0 per cent of the work force, a drop of 0.6 per cent from ten years ago. In spite of the leveling off of percentage membership, however, the union is a powerful component of the American society. Gross membership in 1971 stood at 18 million. Financially the union long ago dropped its "poor boy" status. By the mid 1960's, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission reported that private pension funds, predominantly controlled by unions, had a market value of $63 billion.

Today the union is not merely a representative at the bargaining table. It is a potent force in elections. It is a big investor. It is, in fact, a big employer.

Labor Day, historically, is a day that belongs to the union. It was pioneered by Knights of Labor parades in New York City in 1882, 1883, and 1884. At the urging of the American Federation of Labor, Congress declared it a national holiday in 1894.

The American labor union, as we know it today, had its beginning in the cigar factories of New York City. These were the sanctuaries of the European socialists. Here the young Samuel Gompers, with only four years schooling in Jewish classes, undertook the study of the revolutionary writers, Marx, Engels, Lasalle. He read to the others as they worked.

Gompers had the type of a mind that put every theory to the test of experience. He saw the union cooperatives fail. He came to the settled conclusion that the union never could displace the capitalist in the management of business. He discerned the essence of political parties, he understood that they are not—as so many still naively suppose—organizations of citizens based on principles of public welfare, but rather institutions of professionals competing for control through government.

Although not totally consistent, Gompers in general advised unionists simply to bargain for immunity from interference by legislatures, courts and political executives so that they could win their objectives by moral and economic power. Some of the advice that Gompers gave has stood the test of time. With rare discernment, he foresaw the natural alignment between the socialists who wish to control everything through the state and the total capitalists who wish to own everything through the state.

"Socialism holds nothing but unhappiness for the human race," he declared. "It destroys personal initiative, wipes out national pride, and even plays into the hands of the autocrats." At another time, he said: "Socialism is the end of fanatics, the sophistry of the so-called intelligentsia, and it has no place in the hearts of those who would fight for freedom and preserve democracy." In yet another statement, he asserted: "There is no more demoralizing theory than that which imputes all human evils to capitalism or any other single agency."

Gompers probably said a thousand other things which we would not agree. Under his leadership, for instance, the American Federation of Labor advocated such coercive measures as immigration restriction, unduly restrictive child labor laws, and compulsory schooling. The first has been the cause of war, the second the cause of much crime, and the last provided the hotbed for the violent revolution that Gompers struggled so hard to avert.

The best suggestion we can make to the diehard unionist of today would be merely to repeat the Gompers formula. Submit every theory to the test of experience. Look at what the multiple ownership of capital has produced, contrasted with the limited out-pat of socialist monopoly. Study the record.

Sensing The News

BERLIN SLL-OUT
During a visit last month to cities along the Rhine River, I was impressed anew by the West Germany economic miracle. The capitalist economic policies established by the Christian Democrats in the postwar years have borne rich fruit for the German people. The cities are booming. The countryside is lush and productive. The future seems bright indeed.

It is necessary to recall, however, the "other" Germany—East Germany and the master state behind it, the Soviet Union. The Soviets and their puppets haven't relaxed their efforts to neutralize, humiliate or seize West Germany. What the Soviets did in Czechoslovakia in 1968, they would like to repeat in free Germany. And always the Soviets regard West Berlin as the initial target, the opening to domination of West Germany.

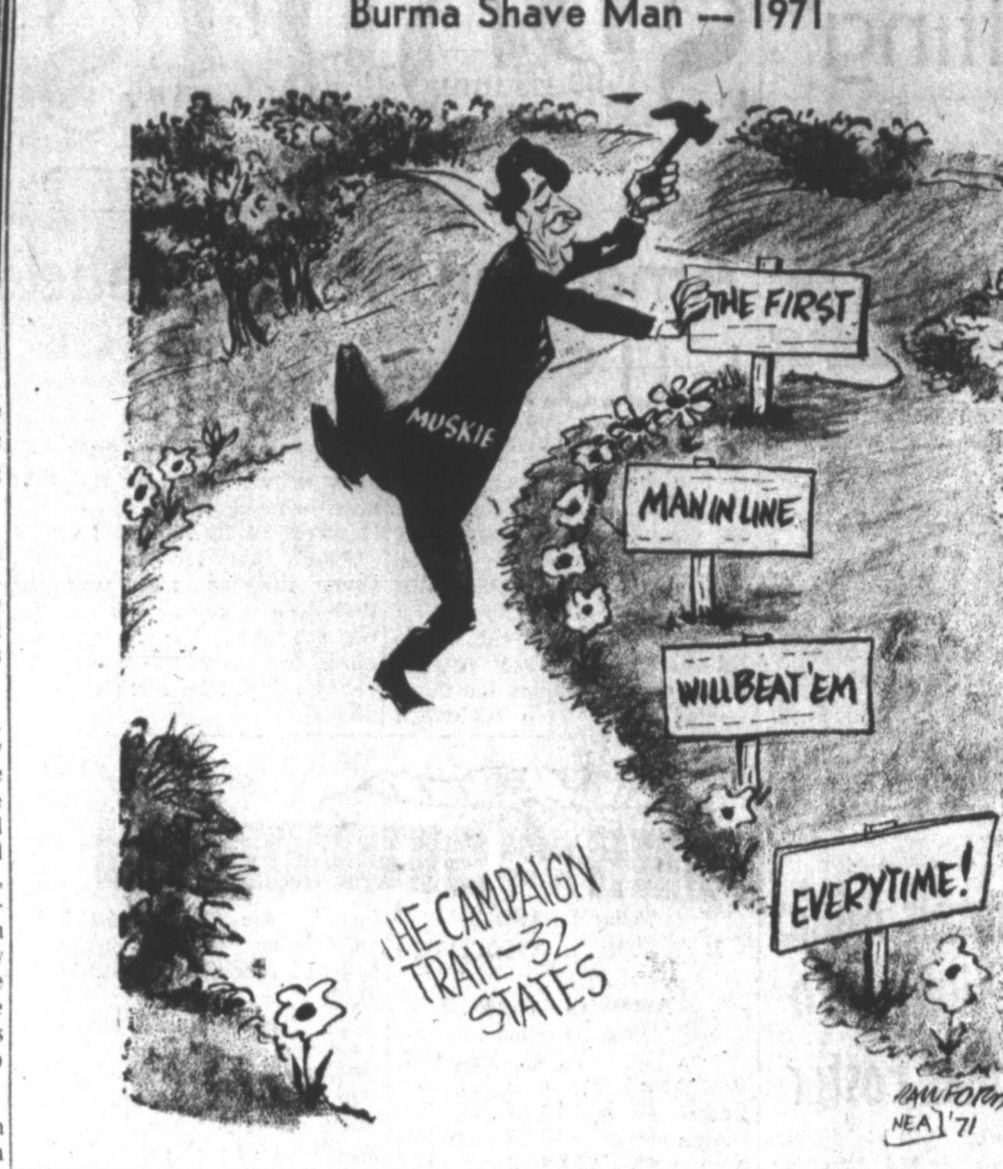

For that reason, the American people, who are partners with the West Germans in the NATO alliance, have good cause to fear any weakening of the Western position on the Berlin question.

From 1945 to 1971, successive U.S. administrations firmly resisted Soviet pressures and deals with regard to West Berlin. But the new Berlin pact, signed Sept. 3, indicates that the U.S. has agreed to Soviet promises in exchange for generous concessions to the USSR. The agreement, negotiated by the Nixon administration, is likely to seriously erode the Western position in West Berlin and, in the long run, endanger the security of West Germany—America's strongest and most reliable ally on the continent.

In exchange for a Soviet promise for easier access to West Berlin, the Western signers—led by the United States—have made the political concessions that the USSR has sought for more than two decades. The agreement bars West Berlin from becoming a state of the Federal German Republic and limits West German political activity in the beleaguered city. In effect, the agreement makes West Berlin into a third Germany—no longer a part of West Germany.

The Soviets also won the right to open a consulate general in West Berlin. The consul general would be responsible to the Soviet ambassador in Bonn, however. Instead, he will report directly to Moscow. This arrangement underscores the Russian line that West Berlin isn't part of the German nation in the West. The consulate general, one can be sure, will be a center of Soviet political activity and subversion inside West Berlin.

The very language of the agreement, governing access to West Berlin, is the language insisted upon by the Soviets. The communists wanted to make the point that travelers from West Germany to West Berlin will be moving from one part of a country to another.

The Worry Clinic

By DR. GEORGE W. CRANE

Discuss Lola's dilemma in high school classes and also at the meetings of your church Young People's Society. For all this loose talk about "Women's Liberation" and such fads as smoking "pot" are a sign of the "herd reaction." Smart people use their heads and don't stampede like sheep!

CASE R - 563: Lola M., aged 18, is a tearful college coed. "Dr. Crane," her college physician began, "Lola came from a good home where moral principles were stressed. But she got into a sociology class where the professor encouraged discussion of the 'pill.' He even openly advocated its use by the coeds.

"So some of Lola's sorority sisters decided they could become promiscuous on their dates, since they felt free from fear of unwed pregnancy."

"And they fast-talked Lola into their new 'Women's Liberation' outlook. But in their ignorance, they didn't realize that venereal diseases are spreading like wildfire on our campuses.

"So Lola contracted gonorrhea, which caused such inflammation of her Fallopian tubes, that they now seem permanently closed. Thus, Lola will be a sterile wife, if she ever does marry. And two more of her sorority sisters have contracted syphilis from their carefree flaunting of moral rules."

Fear VS. Logic
With ignorant people, you must scare them into lawful behavior. Those who have normal intelligence may be persuaded by logical arguments.

A generation ago, we showed soldiers the horrendous pictures of venereal infection in men, women and children, thereby trying to scare them into reasonable adherence to moral codes. Nowadays, we probably need some more of this "of this 'scare psychology' especially with sheep-like teen-agers of high school and college age.

But all such youth should also be indoctrinated by the terse medical facts about illicit sexual affairs, to wit:

(1) Pre-marital sexual affairs can lead to infection with syphilis and gonorrhea or both at the same time!

For many a young person has these two dangerous diseases simultaneously. Despite our modern antibiotics, venereal diseases still can cause permanent sterility in both women as well as men, plus damage to the heart and brain, even to the extent of insanity.

And a syphilitic pregnant woman can infect her child before its birth, unless she has been treated regularly by physicians.

(2) The "pill" may stave off pregnancy but does not protect its victims from venereal disease, plus guilty consciences and often later unhappiness if they marry.

For a devoted husband who adores his wife, often disdains her when he learns of her former affairs with casual boy friends, some of whom may now be his employees and drunkenly boast of her sexy episodes with them.

(3) Unless closely observed by her physician, the woman who uses the "pill" may develop inflammation of veins (phlebitis) and die from a floating blood clot in the brain or in her heart's coronary arteries.

Even when normally intelligent young folks are fully taught the hazards of illicit sexual affairs, if they start drinking highballs at a party, they drop down to a temporary feeble-minded level.

Then they may indulge in sexual affairs that lead to the same dire results that now make Lola grief-stricken and permanently sterile.

Inside Washington

Soviet Chrome Shipments To U.S. from Rhodesia?

By ROBERT ALLEN

WASHINGTON — U.S. Customs authorities are being asked to investigate substantial reports that quantities of chromium ore sold this country by Russia at record high cost actually come from Rhodesia.

The demand for a thorough study of these charges is being made by bipartisan members of Congress pressing legislation to end the ban against Rhodesian chromium.

Leaders in this fight are Sen. Harry Byrd (Ind.-Va.), and Rep. James Collins (R.-Tex.). Both legislators are sponsoring bills specifying that strategic materials can be imported from free world countries if similar materials from Communist countries are allowed entry.

Both measures have a number of bipartisan co-sponsors; 43 House members have signed Collins' bill.

U.S. producers of specialty steels, large users of chromium, are chiefly behind the claim that some of the chromium ore obtained from the Soviet is of Rhodesian origin. Tests made by the Crucible Steel division of Colt-Industries, Inc., reputedly disclosed that.

The State Department, characteristically pro-United Nations, which imposed trade sanctions against Rhodesia in 1966, has denied these allegations.

But they were firmly reiterated by Blair Bolles, Colt Industries vice president, in testimony before a Senate subcommittee. He vigorously insisted the company's tests, involving electron microscope analyses of minute traces of titanium in the chromium ore, "certainly suggest the possibility that the ore originated in Rhodesia."

"These tests raise the question," continued Bolles, "of whether the United States is obtaining Rhodesian ore without being aware that it is doing so. If that is the case, it is ridiculous that the U.S. should continue to refrain from importing Rhodesian ore directly. It is time for the government to face up to that fact."

That's what Sen. Byrd, Rep. Collins and more than 50 other bipartisan legislators are forcefully contending.

They not only want a thorough Customs Bureau investigation of the Russian chromium, but also elimination of the ban under which Rhodesian ore is barred while chromium from a Communist country is permitted entry.

UN-Imposed Monopoly
In pressing the Byrd-Collins bills, their bipartisan sponsors are vigorously stressing three points:

(1) That the U.S., by adhering to the UN sanctions against Rhodesia, imposed by a bloc of Communist, black African and Arab states, is giving Russia an increasing monopoly of a strategically crucial material. Chrome ore is essential in the production of jet aircraft, missiles, nuclear submarines and stainless steel. Prior to the UN embargo, Rhodesia was this country's principal supplier of chromium. Now it is Russia.

Those who know what the score is have better inside information than we've ever been able to latch onto.

Rep. Collins notes that neither Russia nor Rhodesia is singled out in his bill. "My measure does not specify any foreign country," he states. "It deals with critical strategic material that is essential to the protection and defense of the U.S. It provides our country with the right to buy critical materials from any free country if at the same time we are buying strategic materials from a Communist country."

Those who know what the score is have better inside information than we've ever been able to latch onto.

Question Box

QUESTION: Under the graduated personal income tax, which tax bracket produces the greatest amount of revenue?

ANSWER: When you talk about tax rate brackets, you don't get much of an answer because most returns have a tax base taxed at more than rate. For example, a married couple's taxable income of $3,000 would be taxed at 14 per cent on the first thousand, at 15 per cent on the second thousand, and at 16 per cent on the third thousand.

If you ask the question, which taxable income bracket produces the most revenue, you can get useful answers. A 1971 study by Tax Foundation, Inc. of all 1968 returns shows:

1. The American people filed a total of 61.8 million personal income tax returns.

2. The total tax yield was $72.3 billion.

3. Taxable incomes below $10,000 yielded $57.6 billion, or 80 per cent of the total.

4. Taxable incomes in the $10,000-to-$20,000 group yielded $6.1 billion or 8.5 per cent of the total.

5. Taxable incomes $20,000 to $32,000 yielded $5.6 billion or 7.9 per cent.

6. Taxable incomes in the $32,000 to $50,000 yielded $1.4 billion or 0.9 per cent.

7. Taxable incomes greater than $50,000 yielded $1.5 billion or 2.1 per cent.

As a postscript—the bracket $2,000 to $4,000 yielded $17 billion, or 23 per cent of all
