More Turmoil Seen In Store For Jordan

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — More turmoil was predicted today for Jordan following the assassination of Prime Minister Wasfi Tell by vengeful Palestinians.

Tell, unrelenting 51-year-old foe of the Palestinian guerrillas, was shot Sunday at the entrance to the Sheraton Hotel in Cairo. Jordan's foreign minister, Abdullah Salah, was grazed in the leg, and an Egyptian security officer and one of the gunmen also were wounded.

Tell was in Cairo for a meeting of the Arab League Defense Council called to plan joint strategy against Israel. The Middle East News Agency gave this account of the shooting:

As Tell stepped from his car in front of the hotel in midafternoon, a bullet hit him in the arm. He stumbled inside the hotel, trying to draw his own gun but fell to the floor inside the entrance as bullets were pumped into his body.

A Jordanian major fired at the gunmen, hitting one in the leg. The major fled through the lobby and was captured at the back door. A second gunman was also caught at the hotel, and the third was seized at a nearby apartment building.

The major, Fayez el Louzy, said one gunman was firing from outside the hotel and two from inside.

Tell's wife, Saida, was inside the hotel.

The three gunmen were identified as Ezzet Abdul Fatah, Gawad Baghdady and Monzie Khalifa. A fourth Palestinian with a Syrian passport, Zeyad Mahmoud Badran, was arrested later, and Egyptian police also were reported questioning three girls found with him.

The four men were in their 20s and each was carrying a Gold Star automatic pistol equipped with a 14-round magazine, the Egyptian agency said.

Tell's body was flown back to Amman today for a state funeral and a hero's burial in the royal cemetery, the first commoner to be interred there. King Hussein and his wife went to the airport to meet the plane and console the widow. The palace ordered all schools and offices closed today and Tuesday to begin 40 days of national mourning. Flags were lowered to half staff.

The Arab League Defense Council met for 90 minutes Sunday night, and Palestinian as well as other Arab leaders denounced the assassination. Sadat telegraphed Hussein that "all those guilty will receive due punishment."

But Tell, who had served four times previously as prime minister, was never popular with Egyptian officials. He cracked down on leftists in Jordan when with Egyptian backing they tried to overthrow the monarchy. Hussein had to call off a visit to Cairo early this year after the Egyptians registered their disapproval of Tell's fifth appointment as prime minister.

President To Consult With Allies On Trips

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon, expected to announce a date for his China trip within 48 hours, is described as eager to ease East-West tensions—but not at the expense of old friendships.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said a desire to have meaningful consultations with major allies prior to journeys to Peking and Moscow was a key reason for Nixon's announced intentions to meet during the next five weeks with leaders of Britain, France, West Germany, Japan and Canada.

Talking to a group of newsmen aboard Air Force One as the President flew here Sunday night from California, Ziegler said:

"The purpose of the consultations is to inform our allies about our views of the world and to inform them about what the President intends to accomplish. The President wants to hear their views, and he's going to give his."

Another White House official, who declined to be identified, said Nixon was bound for Peking and Moscow "to relax tensions but not to sacrifice allied unity."

This source said the allied leaders would not be granted "an absolute veto" over any initiatives Nixon may take in the Communist capitals.

"But," he added, "if there are grave concerns, they will be taken into consideration."

Ignoring reports that hitches have developed, Ziegler continued to promise that a date for the President's Peking trip will be announced within 48 hours.

There have been several published, and broadcast reports suggesting the historic mission might be postponed or canceled.

Ziegler confirmed during the flight that Nixon will meet here in December with Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau.

Before leaving California, Ziegler announced the chief executive and West German Chancellor Willy Brandt will confer Dec. 28-29 at the Florida White House in Key Biscayne.

Earlier the White House had unveiled plans for Nixon meetings with:

—President Georges Pompidou of France in the Azores Dec. 13-14.

—British Prime Minister Edward Heath in Bermuda Dec. 20-21.

—Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato at the Western White House in San Clemente, Calif., Jan. 6-7.

Board Seeks Solution On Mobile Home

The City Planning and Zoning Board, along with officials of the city engineering department is studying the problem of where mobile homes can be located in Pampa.

The growth of mobile home sales has currently brought the question to the forefront, according to City Manager Mack Wofford.

Pampa has an ordinance which presently restricts mobile homes to commercial zones or outlying districts.

The planning and zoning board, headed by Bill Harris, is to meet soon for a study session in the mobile home problem.

Jerry Harris, city engineer, said today his department is working with the board and they hope to come up with a feasible solution to the matter.

"It is planned to revise the city ordinance and reach a decision that will result in improvement to certain areas, rather than a detriment," the city engineer said.

India Launches New Offensive

ASSOCIATED PRESS
Pakistan's army said heavy fighting is under way in the western sector around Jessore today following a new sweep into East Pakistan by an Indian brigade and supporting armor.

A spokesman in Dacca said the attack was directed at Jibannagar. A later dispatch from Rawalpindi said the government in West Pakistan had acknowledged the loss of that village, which controls a 165-square-mile triangle of land pointing into India's West Bengal.

An army spokesman in Rawalpindi said casualties at Jibannagar were substantial.

The Pakistanis said the Indians had launched offensives on four fronts around East Pakistan's border Sunday. India admitted only one crossing and claimed this was in self-defense.

The Rawalpindi dispatch said the Pakistanis claimed they had killed another 400 Indians in the continuing clashes.

In Dacca, the Pakistani army said Indian troops used Soviet-made tanks in an attack on Pachagarh in the northern sector but were repulsed with "heavy losses."

A Pakistani army spokesman said fighting also continued in the east near Comilla.

Shopping Season Bringing Festive Mood To Pampans

Pampa moved today from the short Thanksgiving holiday period into the long Christmas holiday season.

City, county, state and federal employees returned to their posts after a 4-day weekend.

The yule shopping season, which opened officially Friday, shifted into second gear for the long pull with 22 more shopping days until Christmas.

Pampa and Gray County passed through the Thanksgiving holidays without major traffic accidents and police reported a relatively quiet four days and nights.

Preparations were in the final stages today for Pampa's big Santa Day parade scheduled for 3 p.m. Thursday.

There will be floats, four parade divisions with prizes for each, bands and the highlight of the day — the appearance of Santa Claus both downtown and in the shopping center to greet the children and distribute gifts of candy at both places.

Pampans also found a plentiful supply of Christmas trees on sale at various lots and stores throughout the city.

Successor Of Tell Named

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — King Hussein named Ahmed Lozi today as Jordan's prime minister to succeed assassinated Wasfi Tell.

A royal decree said Lozi, 46, would rule under the same mandate that Tell received when he was named by the king to head the Cabinet a little more than a year ago.

Tell, slain in Cairo Sunday, was an unrelenting foe of the Palestinian guerrillas who opposed Jordan's monarchy.

AMA Action Criticized By Agnew

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Vice President Spiro Agnew says he expects Democrats to use "doomsday rhetoric" about pollution, but he's sorry to see the American Medical Association do the same thing.

The vice president's criticism of the AMA came in a Sunday night speech before the American Medical Political Action Committee, meeting here in conjunction with an AMA convention.

Agnew referred to an AMA advertisement in a national magazine last month which said diseases caused by pollution cost some $38 billion a year. It carried the heading: "If America Dies, Where Will We Bury It?"

"The environment is the ripest field of all for doomsday rhetoric, even though the administration is moving positively and aggressively to correct years of neglect, and I'm sorry to say that even the AMA has been caught up in it," Agnew said.

Agnew centered much of his talk on Sen. Edward (Teddy) Kennedy, D-Mass., who has been pushing a proposed national health plan far more reaching than the administration's proposal.

"If that senator hopes to ride to the presidency on a charge that Americans are getting poor medical care, and that the whole system should be replaced with nationalized medicine, he's riding a mighty frail horse," Agnew said.

Kennedy has asserted he is not a presidential candidate.

Big Chopper With 33 GIs Disappears

SAIGON (AP) — A big U.S. helicopter disappeared during a thunderstorm along the northern coast of South Vietnam, and 33 American troops were reported missing today.

The pilot radioed he had an emergency, then contact was lost.

A spokesman for the U.S. Command, Maj. Richard Gardner, said the destroyer Epperson was leading an extensive air and sea search.

Gardner said the CH-47 Chinook helicopter carried a crew of five and 28 passengers, all from the U.S. 101st Airborne Division, which is now being withdrawn from the Vietnam war.

It was on a flight Sunday afternoon from Da Nang to Phu Bai, the headquarters of the division 50 miles north of Da Nang, Gardner said that 30 minutes after taking off, the pilot radioed he had an emergency.

The helicopter was believed to have taken a route over the South China sea instead of flying over land, Gardner said. At the time there were thunderstorms and low visibility, the command said.

Watch Those Answers On Santa Claus

City Manager Mack Wofford says he has learned parents have to be quick on the trigger with answers to questions about Santa Claus from their youngsters. For instance the Wofford's three-year-old daughter, Julia, wanted to know how Santa was going to find her, inasmuch as the Woffords will be visiting Julia's grandparents downstate this Christmas.

When she popped the question to her dad, the city manager came up with the answer immediately:

"We'll just leave him a note here telling him you are visiting with grandma."

Julia accepted the answer as being entirely satisfactory.

Senate Opens Debate On Wage-Price Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate opens debate today on a bill giving President Nixon an extra year to continue wage-price controls but also allowing most pay hikes stopped by the Aug. 15-Nov. 14 freeze.

Senate leaders said they hoped to complete action on the measure tomorrow. It was uncertain whether the Nixon administration would try to knock out the retroactive pay feature which it opposes.

This feature is specifically designed to give pay raises to teachers and others who were denied them because of the date selected for the freeze.

Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., chairman of the Senate House Economic Committee, announced in advance he planned to vote against the bill unless it is drastically revised on the Senate floor.

The administration's Phase 2 program "is so complex, unworkable and unenforceable that it is bound to engender hostility by consumers and workers alike throughout the country, and the serious economic confusion is likely to slow the economy and aggravate unemployment," Proxmire asserted.

George Shultz, director of the Office of Management and the Budget argued for passage of the extension "so we don't have this uncertainty created all over again next spring."

Shultz made his remarks on the ABC radio-TV program "Issues and Answers" Sunday.

As approved by the Senate Banking Committee, the bill gives Nixon the essential power he seeks to continue wage, price and rent controls through April 30, 1973.

Organized Crime Is Linked To Violence In Texas Cities

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Reports published here indicate organized crime is linked to recent violence in three widely separated Texas cities—Fort Worth, San Antonio and Laredo.

In two copyrighted stories over the weekend, the San Antonio Express and News reported details of court records and investigations involving alleged Mafia-style activities in Texas.

The Express and News reported a Fort Worth crime fighter feels Texas faces a "growing threat" from organized crime.

Rep. Henry González, D-Tex., told the newspaper he will seek out congressional sources to aid in a probe here of possible gangland activities.

The newspaper also said it learned that a Texas insurance firm will be eyed by a congressional committee.

Edwin Phillips, general counsel of the Tarrant County Crime Commission, told the Express and News that two recent murders in the Fort Worth area "are likely related to underworld executions."

Phillips, a former president of the National Association of Citizens' Crime Commissions, also told the newspaper in a copyrighted story Sunday:

"In the judgment of most law enforcement officers, the problem in Texas today is an evergrowing threat that organized crime will not simply infiltrate in our state but that it threatens to become active from a base that has become quietly established."

The Express and News also reported Sunday that Gonzalez feels a recent slaying in San Antonio is connected with the outbreak of a "narcotics war" in the Laredo area.

Police reported finding packets in the victim's clothing and near his body that were believed to contain heroin.

"They've got some guys in Nuevo Laredo who think they can organize a Mafia structure there," Gonzalez said, referring to Laredo's sister city across the Rio Grande.

The San Antonio Democrat said he will meet with Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., chairman of the House Select Committee on Crime, to discuss investigations its staff has made in Texas recently.

A Texas insurance firm will come under scrutiny by the committee, the Express and News said. The company was not identified. The paper said it is not based in San Antonio.

In a copyrighted story Saturday, the Express and News said a county grand jury in Laredo reportedly has "looked into mob infiltration of Laredo."

Gap Between Rich And Poor Seen As A Major Disaster In Mexican Economy

EDITOR'S NOTE—South of the border there's a saying: "Poor Mexico—so far from God and so near the United States!" Yankee money has built up the economy of our neighbor, but Mexico is full of anomalies—and poverty. The breadth of this situation is detailed in this and two subsequent articles showing the problems the Mexican government is trying to deal with.

By CHARLES GREEN
 Associated Press Writer
 MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria, entering his second year as leader of the Mexican people, is beset on all sides by problems so huge they forecast basic structural changes in every phase of life.

Many of the problems the 49-year-old president faces are natural in any rapidly developing nation. Some are especially Mexican, these are giving him the most trouble. If Echeverria can find solutions to even half those problems before his six-year term ends he will become one of the greatest leaders in Mexican history. Otherwise his countrymen will write him off as another politician who made a lot of fancy talk.

The problems enter all phases of Mexican life. They include high unemployment and a widening gap between the wealth of few and the poverty of many, as well as corruption, fear and oppression.

The president, who finishes his first year Tuesday, brought some of his difficulties on himself by facing things previous presidents ignored or fostered. He has created enemies within his own party, alienated some businessmen, scared foreign investors and increased distrust from extremists while moving the Mexican government steadily to the left of center.

As many see it, the president has a solid foundation on which to stand while he tries to push Mexico toward the social, political and economic balance he seeks. For almost half a century this foundation has made Mexico look like a stable, growing beacon for the underdeveloped world. The growth of its gross national product over the past four decades has been surpassed by only two or three nations in the world.

U.S. investment has poured into the country. The Bank of Mexico estimates there is $2.04 billion in direct, private U.S. investment in Mexico. The U.S. Embassy believes 75,000 Americans live in the country. Millions more cross the 2,013-mile border each year to sample the taste and culture of Mexico.

First-time tourists are surprised to find Mexico City a metropolis of almost eight million people. They see hundreds of thousands of cars jamming the capital's wide boulevards and narrow 17th century streets. They sleep in luxurious hotels and dine in restaurants which can hold their own with almost any in the world.

But there is a different Mexico, where poverty is a way of life. It is a Mexico where 40 per cent of the homes have one room.

The gap between rich and poor has become a major disaster in the Mexican economy.

Echeverria is dedicating much of his energy and efforts to this problem. And these efforts are creating problems for him among those who have controlled the nation's wealth.

As Mexico emphasized its industrial growth the government gave special advantage to the captains of commerce. Low taxes, protectionism, low wages and tame unions produced high profits and heavy investment.

While holding the door open for business, and thereby creating an upper-class elite, Mexico did less for those on the bottom of the pile than many other major Latin-American countries.

To force a redistribution of the country's resources, Echeverria has started measures the business community views as overly drastic. He reworked the tax law to increase revenue from corporations, pushed through a 10 per cent luxury tax, started taxing all capital gains, reduced depreciation writeoffs and put more teeth in laws governing personal income tax.

 The collage-effect is still popular with tiny knit vests in a rainbow of colors and patterns. The vest is layered on top of a colored sweater or shirt with contrasting color for the pants or skirt.

Mini-Towns, U.S.A.

"Zero population growth" has already been achieved in the United States — on a modest scale.

Five incorporated towns — Bay City, Alaska; Ironton, Colo.; Ridotto, Iowa; Westfall Ore.; and Parker, Tex. — show up in the 1970 Census of Population and Housing with a population of zero.

Three of them — Westfall, Ridotto and Ironton — lost their entire populations between 1960 and 1970, plummeting from 8, 6 and 1 respectively.

All five are still listed as towns, however, since in most cases it requires legislative action to terminate corporate status. This may not take place until long after the last person has gone.

It's also possible that a town may be incorporated even before the first resident moves in. Two of the zero-population towns — Bay City and Parker — did not exist in 1960 and still showed no inhabitants in 1970. Presumably, they were incorporated for some special reason, says the Census Bureau.

Elsewhere, reflecting the continuing exodus from rural areas, the number of very small towns is growing.

Census Bureau information shows there were 116 incorporated towns with populations of 25 or less in 1970, compared with 79 in 1960. This was an increase of nearly 47 per cent.

Although the 116 are scattered through 27 states, 53 of them are in the belt ranging from the Dakotas to Texas. Of these 53, 43 showed a loss of population between 1960 and 1970.

All told, 72 of the nation's 116 very small towns registered a loss of population over the decade, with 51 dropping to 25 or fewer residents for the first time.

Image Of Doc Welby

There's such a thing as too good an image.

It seems that having watched Doc Welby's bedside manner on television, his intense empathy with his patients — yes, his willingness to make house calls even — a lot of people are beginning to expect the same sort of impractical behavior from their own doctors. They didn't get away with that stuff when surly Ben Casey was around.

In the meantime, as the 23rd annual convention of the American Academy of General Practice got under way in Miami Beach, one of the first orders of business was to vote on a proposed amendment to change the name to The American Academy of Family Physicians.

And guess whose picture is on the cover of the official AAGP program, hands professionally draped in the pockets of his white coat, stethoscope around his neck?

Marcus Welby, of course.

What Price, Ghost?

Nothing a classified ad in a New Jersey newspaper — "For Sale, country estate with one ghost" — Psychic magazine investigated.

The owner, a Dr. Stephen Mason, explained that on several occasions he and his wife had heard a woman's voice from an upstairs bedroom and about twice a month they heard the sounds of furniture being moved about.

Did the ghost affect the price?

"No, the ghost is free," said Dr. Mason. "But we are asking more for the house because of the dishwasher."

Psychic also reports that the Denver (Colo.) Free University requires a $10.90 surcharge for its course on "Theory and Practice of Witchcraft."

The extra fee is to cover the costs of candles, bats, blood and other items needed for the practice part of the class.

"Free universities, in case you haven't heard, have sprung up near a number of campuses in recent years to offer students 'relevant' studies that aren't available in the traditional oppressive curriculums.

Paul Anderson, an American Olympic heavyweight champion, lifted the greatest weight ever hoisted by a man, at Toccoa, Ga., June 12, 1957. The World Almanac notes that the 364-pound weightlifter raised 6,270 pounds in a back lift, in which he elevated the weight from trestles.

Save The Cities

By ANTHONY HARRIGAN

A report by the District Committee of the U.S. House of Representatives is notable for an exceptionally candid and truthful assessment of an urban problem. The report expressed proper concern about the swarm of intruders in the District of Columbia. "It is not the Congress or the federal establishment which is the interlooper here — as some District spokesmen maintain," the report said, "but rather the thousands of persons who have swarmed here, most of whom add little or nothing to the day-by-day operations of the federal government, who are local in character and needs, who are the intruders and who are not vital to the federal government's operations."

U.S. Rep. John McMillan, chairman of the District committee, and the other committee members deserve public thanks for authorizing such a forthright statement. Unless American cities obtain some form of influx control, urban problems will remain out of hand.

The nation's capital is a prime example of the difficulties America's big cities face. It is loaded with "intruders" who are responsible for high crime rates and appalling welfare loads. America's capital city is one of the most unsafe cities in the world. It is less dangerous to walk the streets of Saigon at night than to walk a few blocks from the White House after dark.

Unfortunately, the federal courts persist in denying cities and states the authority to restrict the flow of newcomers seeking welfare. For example, a three-judge federal court in Providence, R.I., recently ruled that Rhode Island's one-year residency requirement for welfare recipients is unconstitutional. A requirement of this sort is essential if the welfare population is to be checked.

Scant attention is being paid to the flood of immigrants — many of them illegal immigrants — from the Caribbean area. The New York Times recently reported that there are more than 200,000 Dominicans in the metropolis. Many of them travel from the Dominican Republic to Puerto Rico and then "pass" as Puerto Ricans. Under existing law, Puerto Ricans can move to the continental United States without entry formalities. New York City also is gaining a big population of Haitians and other Caribbean islanders. Many of these people bring to the United States crime, superstition and a penchant for idleness.

Unfortunately, middle-class Cubans who have come to this country as refugees from Castro's tyranny — and worked hard — are disliked by Puerto Ricans and Dominicans and other Caribbean peoples who drift into crime and welfareism. While one can sympathize with the economic plight of the Caribbean peoples, it is imperative that the influx of unskilled newcomers be stopped. The United States cannot continue to absorb the proletarian populations of the Caribbean.

The Caribbean newcomers are only one part of the urban problem. Central cities are decaying because white collar and blue collar working people are fleeing to the suburbs. The reason the productive people are moving to the suburbs is because the inner cities are dangerous, public schools have been turned into centers of sociological experimentation, and the enfranchisement of independent people has created political regimes that cater to the ignorant, unpropertied and lawless.

Tragically, the federal government refuses to acknowledge these realities. Instead, liberals in the Congress and agencies such as HEW and HUD are determined to engage in block-busting on a big scale. They want to force suburban communities to accept federally-subsidized low-rent projects that the suburbanites know will become clusters of crime and dissolute behavior. News magazines such as Newsweek and Time endeavor to make suburbanites appear as bigots whereas the suburbanites simply want to maintain decent communities values and a safe environment for a rising generation.

It is time that responsible Americans do some hard thinking about the future of the cities and propose bold solutions. One of the basic needs is to curb every type of welfare and force dependent people to take jobs which are available. Working people also must acquire a new civic discipline. They must turn out to vote against politicians who cater to the dependent and lawless.

Beyond that, the time has come to revise the structure of municipalities in the hands of the dependent, lawless elements. States give charters to cities, and states can take away or amend such charters. It seems likely that the long-range answer to the problem of a city such as New York lies in the area of increasing state control over municipal functions.

The ideal solution would be restoration of educational and property requirements for voting. Until that is politically feasible, constructive efforts will have to focus on exercise of state over municipal authority and tightening of welfare laws. Hopefully, a more conservative Supreme Court will give the police greater latitude in arresting on suspicion and in dealing with various forms of disorderly conduct.

In summary, the immediate needs are protection for the suburbs and a crackdown on dependent elements in the inner cities. These are the initial steps toward a decent standard of life and public order in metropolitan areas.

Your Health

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have been reading about the B vitamins and how effective they are in promoting a sound nervous system. I decided to try the B complex, as I have been under considerable pressure in my work.

It may be my imagination, but I found they seemed to help calm my nerves some. As I do not want to even take a mild tranquilizer, I was wondering whether B vitamins really do any good or harm if taken for a long period of time. How about the one-a-day supplementary vitamins that contain all vitamins and minerals and also include the B complex? Would it be harmful taking the B complex vitamin I already have plus the one-a-day? I would like some information on this before I decide to continue to take any kind of vitamin.

Dear Reader — If a person is eating a balanced diet with all the essential food components, he is not likely to need supplemental vitamins. With so many refined foods, such as sugar, that contain no appreciable amounts of vitamins or minerals, and the need many people have to diet, especially if they are not active physically, it is easy to have a deficient diet. Older people, who live alone, are prone to eat an inadequate diet. Under these circumstances, added vitamins are helpful.

Unless taken in really huge doses, there is no evidence that taking vitamins, even if you don't need them, will cause any harm — except vitamins A and D. All other vitamins you take in usual excess amounts are simply eliminated by the body. Thus, taking the B complex vitamins you already have plus a one-a-day brand won't hurt you but it won't help you either.

In plain language, take one or the other or you will just be throwing your money away.

Now you say you feel better after taking vitamins. That is fine, but don't be so sure it is the vitamins. Doctors have known for centuries that giving a patient any medicine, even pink water, often makes a patient feel better. This is especially true if the patient has nervous symptoms. The confidence the patient has in the pink water and the doctor lifts his spirits out of the doldrums, he regains his energies and feels better. A lot of feeling bad is outlook. A person can truly be "worried sick."

You might be shocked that a doctor would give his patient pink water. Fifty years ago, without antibiotics, and many of the medicines we have today, the doctor had little else to give some of his patients except hope, and hope came in a little bottle full of pink water. Phenobarb was the only tranquilizer he had and when pink water worked, it was wonderful. Moreover, it didn't cause any complications, like dependence upon drugs. Pink water, spiritual music, health spas, copper bracelets and other devices have brought relief to millions. The human mind is a strange and wonderful mechanism.

Industry Sopping Up 'Good Life' In Japan

BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

TOKYO (NEA) — Japan is at the greatest turning in its history since its modern age began a century ago. It is trying to puzzle its way through the massive consequences of its sudden leap to third place among the world's industrial powers.

I seldom have heard so much self-criticism from a nation's leaders in government, business and journalism as they press the search for new ways of doing, at home and abroad. The Japanese establishment is in the mood for candor and is letting the rough spots show.

What is all adds to is this: Japan, they say, has ignored the impact on other peoples of its dizzying economic climb and, at home, its single-minded focus on producing things has left the country crudely underdeveloped in housing, roads, sewage and other facilities, schools, hospitals.

On the home scene, success is smothering the Japanese in pollution and congestion. Warns editor-in-chief Yasuo Takeyama of the weekly Japan Economic Journal: "It (Japan) must, above all, end the simple-minded thinking and behavior that allows it to produce both goods and environmental hazards at the same time."

Busy thrusting up new factories on land laid down in shallow coastal waters, the Japanese say they have grossly neglected their housing. In cities of one million people or more, official figures indicate 45 per cent of households are in substandard or unsatisfactory condition. Not too long ago, some 630,000 Tokyo families were said to be living in quarters with an area of about 100 square feet per family.

One high official told me: "Walk around and you'll see ugly wooden huts everywhere."

Your eyes do indeed tell you. Here and in other teeming Japanese cities, low, tile-roofed, stucco houses are nudged together in a wall-to-wall jumble that often leaves no room for trees or even tiny gardens.

In the great belt of the "new Japan" from Tokyo 325 miles southwesterly to Osaka (the whole band soon to be one vast linear urban conglomerate), there is very little man-made beauty "in the large."

Houses are often hard by factories, warehouses or repair shops. Land for farming is so scarce that rice fields edge right into town and soak up the urban "green space." Physical growth seems without plan.

Today several hundred miles of expressway entwine Tokyo and thread into the countryside. Plans call for more than 2,000 added miles soon.

Yet, as in Los Angeles, even the superroads are often badly clogged. And the lesser highways and streets are nearly hopeless. One automobile company official told me that one in 10 Japanese has a car and that it will soon be one in four. Where will they be able to drive?

In my days here, I have looked out of my high hotel room window every morning, but only twice have I seen the great Mt. Fuji in full glory. The rest of the time smog has blotted it out. And Tokyo's Sumida river is said to carry a daily burden of 1.3 million tons of waste products and filth cast off by factories and residents.

No one of influence in Japan today is blinking these painful facts and many others having to do with such matters as higher education for too few people, a pathetically slender Social Security system. In my more than 40 interviews with leading Japanese, the self-criticism against the "infra-structure" (houses, roads, etc.) was nearly universal.

Japan is increasingly powerful in its capacity to produce goods. But it is, by its own word, woefully poor in the things that make a good setting for full, tension-free, healthy living.

Question Box

QUESTION: — When the Federal Reserve decides to buy government bonds in the "open market," which is selected and "authorized" by the government, where do they get the "money" for it? Could this source be considered unlimited and why?

ANSWER: William F. Rickenbacker writes: "When the Federal Reserve buys securities from dealers, the dealers receive in payment checks drawn on the Reserve bank. When the dealers deposit these checks, the total deposits in commercial banks are increased. When the banks send these checks to the Federal Reserve for collection, the Federal Reserve credits their reserve account. The result of an open-market purchase by the Federal Reserve, then, is increased in commercial bank deposits and commercial bank reserves."

In other words, there is no real money involved. A check is drawn to pay for the bonds. The bonds become part of the reserves of the banks against which they can issue more credit. When the checks are deposited to the dealer's account, his bank reserve is increased. Thus more and more credit is available to be issued.

It would appear that this source or purchasing medium is unlimited, since each transaction adds to the available credit under the fractional reserve system.

WRONG BUS

If we could repeal the Eighteenth Amendment, why not the Sixteenth? They say you can't turn the clock back, but we do every last Sunday in October. True, you can't reverse solar or biological time, but you can correct many old mistakes. You can get off the wrong bus, or parachute out of a burning plane — Medford Evans, "American Opinion."

Your Horoscope

By Jeane Dixon

TUESDAY, NOV. 30
 Your birthday today: All progress this year tends to come in small, short steps—but many of them, and each one of great intrinsic importance. Today's natives deal with material problems with an almost automatic natural skill, needing little reflective thought.
Aries [March 21-April 19]: Results depend altogether on how hard you've worked out preparations, how well you've persuaded your associates and neighbors to go along with you.
Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Now is the time for all well-intentioned souls to seek communication with brethren, friends, neighbors, relatives.
Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Prefer the straightforward, simple deals; avoid complex arrangements and combined errands.
Cancer [June 21-July 21]: Settle for the near-at-hand arrangements you can watch closely. Some plans fall thru anyhow, so have an alternate course set.
Leo [July 23-Aug. 22]: You draw public attention in any case, so you may as well be all set for it. Creative efforts show vividly but are apt to be incomplete.
Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Put your best foot forward; somebody is betting on you, somebody else is hoping to follow a good example. Have faith in yourself.
Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Prospects for the future ought to occupy your attention. Ask questions, advice from people in far places.
Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Everybody else reveals an urgency to tell their stories in great detail. Their discrepancies should tell you much.
Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Clear off any misunderstandings; pursue emotional fulfillment, romantic attachments. It's a long and intense day.
Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Considerable gratification awaits those willing to share their activities and hobbies, take newcomers into their groups freely. The achievements are interesting, challenging.
Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Seek acceptance of life as it is and yourself as you are. Peace and luck are then within your view and all goes well.
Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Conservative methods, traditional customs gracefully produce the dependable results required.

Dear Abby

Veterans Day date change is blasted

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am really teed off! All my life I have celebrated Veterans Day on Nov. 11. Now, all of a sudden it has been changed to Oct. 25.
 I realize that when a holiday falls on Friday or a Monday it gives the working people an extra bonus of a three-day weekend, but to actually change the date of a national holiday in order to make it come out that way is absolutely stupid!
 Nobody flew their flags on Veterans Day this year. And who could blame them! It just didn't seem like Veterans Day. Next thing you know, they'll be changing Christmas and the Fourth of July. Sign me:

DISGUSTED IN CHICAGO

DEAR DISGUSTED: If it will make you feel any better, you are not alone. I have heard from other readers who are disgusted all over. I think it all started when F. D. R. changed Thanksgiving.

DEAR ABBY: I am 15 years old and am 6 ft. 6, but that's not a problem because I have always been tall for my age.

My problem is what to answer people who ask me: "How's the weather up there?" TALL BOY

DEAR TALL: Don't bother. They don't expect a reply. [They're in the same class with those who ask, "Is it hot enough for ya?" [Or "cold enough?"]]

DEAR ABBY: Re "Mad in Maine"—the parents who were mad because an uncle took their children out of camp for an evening without their permission: The camp was badly at fault for releasing the children to anyone, even tho he claimed to be their uncle, without express approval from the parents. And the uncle was at fault for not making his arrangements thru the parents.

Sorry, I had to disagree with you when you said the parents were needlessly overexercised. I am an old-timer, and both a parent and former headmaster in a boys' boarding school. E. A., BOCA RATON, FLA.

DEAR E. A.: Mea culpa! Ten whacks with a ruler, or whatever you headmasters used to whack the boys with when they needed it.

DEAR ABBY: Do you remember the Greenlease kidnapping of 18 to 20 years ago?

A couple arrived at a private school here in Kansas City, said they were Bobby's aunt and uncle, and walked out with the boy. He was later found—murdered.

Today, we do not let a child out of school in this town, even to his parents without some positive identification. I would wonder about a camp that would release a child to anyone without the permission of the parents or guardian who placed them there.

Abby, please don't encourage any more uncles.

White Deer Meets Albany

The mighty White Deer Bucks will be traveling to Vernon Saturday night to enter their bid for the Quarterfinal trophy.

The Bucks will be bounding from a 34 to 13 second half defeat of the New Deal Lions Saturday night in Dick Bivins Stadium.

The Lions surprised White Deer fans by capitalizing on five early Buck misques and a 13 to nothing lead in Saturday's action.

The Bucks seemed awed by the Lions until Rick Hoskins connected with Jerry Urbanczyk for a 63 yard score in the bottom of the second quarter.

In the second half of play the White Deer team lived up to their reputation as being a tough, aggressive ball club by holding the Lions to a mere 68 yards rushing.

Two interceptions in the second half gave the Bucks the big score as Pat Hudgins brought one back 34 yards into the Lion end zone and Mike Trantham set Hoskins up for a 5 yard scoring sweep with his interception.

The Bucks will be meeting Albany at 7:30 p.m. in Vernon. Both teams have had an undefeated season and both are looking for the top notch in state competition.

The Bucks suffered several slowing injuries, in the New Deal game but none are expected to slow down their winning.

SATURDAY CAGE DANCE—Looking like a chorus line the players in the Saturday night 71-63 stomping of Arlington Heights by Pampa seem to line up and watch the Fort Worth ace shoot. The Harvesters meet Dumas tonight at 8 p.m. in Dumas. (STAFF PHOTO)

Pampa To Dumas

The Hustling Harvesters will attempt to extend their winning ways against Dumas tonight at 8 p.m. in Dumas after having dumped Fort Worth Arlington Heights 71 to 63 Saturday night in Harvester Fieldhouse.

Mike Edgar led the Harvesters scoring against the Yellow Jackets with 26 points. The Arlington Heights team was picked, like Pampa, in pre-season polls to capture their district crowns.

The Harvesters opened their season with double wins against south Texas teams. South Garland fell 55 to 54 and Breckenridge fell 101 to 69.

Game time for tonights tilt 8 p.m. in Dumas. The Pampa team has shown alot of high quality players returning most of the District 3 AAAA champion team with the exception of coach Robert Faulkner.

Johnny Bench of Cincinnati hit only 238 in 1971 after winning the 1970 most valuable player award with a 293 mark.

McPherson. "We look better now than we did at the end of the season last year. Our goal is to meet Plainview in Bi-District action again this year only this time take the Bi-District crown home."

"The overall strength of the team is built around teamwork. We have several players who are capable of running up impressive scoring records but thanks to teamwork our overall picture looks strong."

McPherson continues. "Donnie Cain is playing his best since I've started coaching him and Mike Edgar is playing a real fine ball game. Richard Bunton has had some foul difficulties this year but I am hoping this will improve as the season ages."

"Freddy Wilbon is another fine player. He was one of the key figures in last years Shocker team."

Warriors Advance To Regional Tilt

The Miami Warriors are running up alot of firsts this year. They have a first year coach, their first District championship, and their first Bi-District championship in eleven years.

The Warriors are impressive to say the least when you look at their 34 to 22 stomping of the Goree Wildcats Friday night in Childress.

The Warriors play 8 man football in a state dominated by 11 man teams. This in itself makes the action seem faster and harder hitting as the field is actually smaller.

In Friday action the Goree Wildcats opened the scoring with the six yard run. The Warriors were quick to end the Cat victory bid with a tying five yard run by David Faulkner.

Faulkner is one of the better quarterbacks in the Texas Panhandle and truly a blue-chipper. Another blue-chip player on the Miami team can be found in Craig Bailey.

Bailey plays both ways, starting on the offensive and defensive unit and is one of Faulkner's favorite targets on big pass plays.

Bailey caught a 10 yard pass to ice the victory for the Warriors in Friday's action.

College Roundup

Coach Bryant is a great coach and a good friend of mine. Nebraska's Bob Devaney was saying last Thursday following the Cornhuskers' 35-21 victory over Oklahoma, "but he's given me a lot of trouble on the ball field."

We can start thinking about Nebraska now. Bear Bryant said Saturday after Alabama's 31-7 trouncing of previously unbeaten Auburn.

Devaney and Bryant will meet in a bowl game for the third time on the night of Jan. 1 in the Orange Bowl and the winner is likely to be college football's national champion, a position held by Nebraska since a 17-12 Orange Bowl triumph over Louisiana State last January.

Last week, Nebraska was ranked first and Alabama third in The Associated Press poll, but the Crimson Tide undoubtedly will move up to second, with Oklahoma slipping a bit. Alabama and Bryant defeated Nebraska 34-20, Devaney 39-28 in the 1966 Orange Bowl and 34-7 in the 1967 Sugar Bowl.

Devaney watched the Alabama wrecking crew demolish Auburn on television and said the Tide looked "very powerful," adding:

"I think the pressure on this Orange Bowl will be very similar to the Oklahoma buildup. Like Oklahoma, Alabama runs from a Wishbone offense and Devaney said: "They're very similar, but I think the Alabama offensive line is a little bigger than Oklahoma. Alabama is a real well-balanced team."

Alabama's walloping of Auburn was the featured attraction of college football's final big weekend, although five games remain to be played next Saturday—Nebraska at Hawaii, Oklahoma at Oklahoma State, Penn State at Tennessee, Syracuse at Miami, Fla. and North Texas State at San Diego State.

Among the winners were four bowl rivals. Ninth-ranked Arizona State blanked Arizona 21-0 and the Sun Devils' Fiesta Bowl opponent, Florida State, trounced Pitt 31-13. Louisiana State, No. 10, whipped Tulane 36-7 while Iowa State, which Kentucky Coach Joe Mullaney is looking for answers the rest of the American Basketball Association better hope he doesn't find.

"We don't have all the answers for everything (defenses) that's being thrown at us," Mullaney said Sunday night after the Colonels beat the New York Nets 108-106 in overtime.

Dallas topped the Floridians 106-98 in the only other Sunday ABA action.

Mullaney was referring to the fact that his club has been winning easily but it has been winning, and the Colonels' 15-8 record is good enough for a 2 1/2 game lead over runnerup Virginia in the East Division.

"I think it's the best game we've played in a long time," said Nets' Coach Lou Carnesecca of his team's fourth straight loss for a 9-13 record. "We showed signs of coming out of the slump."

Dan Issel, who led Kentucky with 28 points, put in a rebound with 1.59 left in overtime for the victory.

Kentucky's Jim O'Brien with three seconds remaining in regulation time had sent the game into the extra period at 101-101.

Artis Gilmore added 23 points for Kentucky and added 24 rebounds. Bill Paulitz, who fouled out with 3:06 left in overtime, led the Nets with 25. John Roche added 20 and Rick Barry 19 for New York. Barry fouled out in the last minute of regulation play.

Dallas rode over the Floridians behind Simmie Hill, who scored 24 points, and Joe Hamilton, who scored 23. Warren Jaball, formerly known as Warren Armstrong, led the Floridians with 22.

ABA Roundup

Jerry West was held scoreless in the first period and Jim McMillian, Los Angeles' third leading scorer, did not play. So the Lakers won their 14th straight National Basketball Association game.

Pat Riley, subbing for McMillian who had the flu, scored 12 points in the first quarter and then West broke loose for 19 in the second as the Lakers blasted Seattle 138-121 Sunday night to close out their November schedule with a 14-0 record. The 14th straight also tied a record set by the club when it was in Minneapolis.

Los Angeles, 20-3 and 5 1/2 games ahead of Golden State in the Pacific Division, built a 73:59 halftime lead and led by 33 points early in the fourth quarter.

West, who now has seen the Lakers win all 18 games in which he has played this season, finished with 25. Wilt Chamberlain added 21 and Riley 20. Spencer Haywood notched 29 for Seattle.

Cleveland set a club record by winning its fourth straight, 124-120 over Philadelphia. Boston ripped Atlanta 130-107 and Phoenix topped Houston 116-110 in the only other ABA action Sunday.

Rookie Austin Carr scored 16 of his 31 points in the third quarter and Bobby Smith, with 10, and Dave Sorenson, with six, scored all of Cleveland's points in the last six minutes in the Cavaliers' victory over Philadelphia.

Smith finished with 27 points. Bill Bridges scored 25 and Billy Cunningham 23 for Philadelphia.

Boston moved into sole possession of first place, a half game ahead of the idle New York Knicks, in the Atlantic Division as Jo Jo White scored 25 points. John Havlicek 22 and Dave Cowens 21 in the rout of Atlanta. Lou Hudson and Walt Bellamy topped Atlanta with 15 points each.

Phoenix hit on 68 per cent of its shots from the field in the first quarter and built a 35-19 lead in beating Houston. Dennis Layton scored 25 points and Neal Walk 23 for Phoenix. Elvin Hayes led Houston with 30.

Indian Joe Baseball Star Dies

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Joseph "Indian Joe" Guyon, professional football and baseball player and teammate of the famous Jim Thorpe at Carlisle, Pa. Academy is dead at the age of 79.

Guyon, a full-blooded Chippewa, died here Saturday in retirement.

His athletic career, following college football days at Georgia Tech under coach John Heisman, included stints with the Canton, Ohio Bulldogs and the New York Giants.

He helped the Louisville Colonels win two American Association pennants during a subsequent try at baseball, but his career was cut short by a crash into a wall at a ball park in Indianapolis.

In 1966, Guyon was elected to the professional football hall of fame and last March he was inducted into the National Football Foundation's College Hall of Fame.

Schoolboy Roundup

By The Associated Press

Defending champions take the spotlight as the Texas Schoolboy Football playoffs roll into quarterfinal play this weekend.

Austin Reagan, the defending Class AAAA titleist, hosts San Antonio Lee Saturday afternoon in Austin.

In Class AAA, still quivering from a narrow 7-6 Thanksgiving Day victory over Lubbock Estacado, meets Andrews in San Angelo Saturday afternoon. Andrews made it to the quarterfinals with a 4-3 edge in penetrations after a 21-21 tie with Canyon.

The top game in Class AA pits Hondo against Refugio Friday in San Antonio while defending Class A king Sonora meets Crowley.

Things went about expected in the regionals with both Austin Reagan and Wichita Falls having a harder time than predicted in winning efforts. Austin Reagan topped Alice 21-14 and Wichita Falls almost blew a 28-0 lead before downing Arlington 28-24 in one of the wildest playoff games in years.

Wichita Falls, which has won more state championships than any other team, should know better but it decided the game was in the sack with 7:28 left and leading 28-0.

But Arlington struck back to make it 28-22. A Wichita Falls player fumbled the ball trying to give Arlington a safety with two minutes to play but luckily for the Coyotes the ball trickled out of the end zone before Colt players could fall on it.

Heritage Winner One-Time Gridder

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP)—"Winning is everything. That's what athletics is all about."

Young Hale Irwin was holding forth Sunday after scoring his first pro victory. He had just beaten a stellar field that included Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer and Lee Trevino to take the Heritage Golf Classic.

"If a person hasn't tasted victory and defeat, or maybe I should say defeat and victory in that order, they just don't know what it's all about."

"I've been close enough to win before and didn't, so I know."

Irwin, a one-time football star at Colorado and a former national collegiate golf champion, admitted that the memory of an 18th-hole collapse at the Los Angeles Open almost two years ago haunted him as he came to the final hole on the tough Harbour Town Golf Links with a one stroke lead. He bogeyed the 18th at Los Angeles to fall into a tie with Billy Casper and lost in a playoff.

"I told myself if I ever got in that position again, I wouldn't do the same thing again—and I didn't."

Irwin, made a crucial par on the 458-yard par four hole and preserved a one-stroke margin over Bob Lunn for the $22,000 first prize.

Irwin, a 26-year-old, 6-foot, 170 pounder with a soft and thoughtful manner of speaking, finished with one-under-par 70 and a tournament record 279.

Lunn was next with a 70-280, with Nicklaus and Frank Beard tied for third at 281. Nicklaus, in position to win until he bogeyed the 17th hole when a gust of wind caught the ball in the air and caused him to miss the green, had a 70. Beard scored the best round of the cool, sunny day with a solid, four-under-par 67.

Palmer, just three strokes off the pace going into the final round, took a double bogey six on the first hole and finished with a 74 and fifth place at 286. Trevino, the season's leading money winner and player of the year, had a final 69 for 290.

Trevino retained the top money spot with a record $229,553.

Red China Clashes With Soviet Union For Second Time In U.N.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Red China has clashed with the Soviet Union for the second time in the United Nations and wound up alongside the United States in rejecting a Kremlin call for a world disarmament conference.
 The future of the conference is so uncertain that, when the 131-nation General Assembly finished debate on it Friday night, no immediate agreement was reached on when to vote on the proposal.
 U.S. Ambassador Christopher H. Phillips, asked that the voting be postponed to permit consultations toward a new resolution that would forward the issue to the assembly's fall 1972 session. Chinese delegate Chiao Kuanhua, following up his earlier proposal that the resolution not be put to the vote, said that, if it was, China would not participate in it.

 Despite this, Soviet Ambassador Jacob A. Malik announced acceptance of some suggestions for amendment of the resolution and expressed hope that it would be "supported and approved by the General Assembly."
 Making his windup speech for the resolution, Malik said anybody who claimed it was not clear—as Chiao had done Wednesday—"is trying to delay or complicate the convening of the conference." In an allusion to Chiao's blast Wednesday at the 1963 Moscow partial nuclear-test-ban treaty, Malik said those who criticize it "do not themselves cease their nuclear tests and do not propose any positive grounds for the solution of this problem."

 Returning to his earlier theme of a "Sino-American duet" against the conference, the Soviet minister said, "We are against negativism as to this conference regardless of whether this negativism is evinced in a solo or as a duet."
 Chiao retorted that words about a "Sino-American duet of negativism" were "cheap and demagogic remarks which are not worth refuting." The Soviet Union has rocket forces in Mongolia, north of China; and the United States has nuclear bases in Japan, east of China, he said, and in other parts of the world. "The Soviet leadership considers that the final say rests only with an agreement between the Soviet Union and the United States."

 "Is this not a duet?" he asked.
 Chiao said Malik's "Sino-American duet" speech was that of a superpower "which lords it over, and orders, other countries about." He considers the Soviet Union of "great power chauvinism," "social-imperialism" and "crude behavior" toward other countries and said China needed no lecture from Malik on how to speak and act in the United Nations.

 Chiao challenged Malik to come to the rostrum and declare that the Soviet Union would withdraw all its nuclear weapons from abroad and never be the first to use them.
 Malik went to the rostrum but charged that China's "thesis of two superpowers" was "an act of class betrayal," aimed "to cast doubt on the peace-loving foreign policy of the Soviet Union" and "to confront the Soviet Union with another great power of the capitalist camp."

He held that China was saying it would never become a superpower and was posing as "the best defender of the smaller countries... to cover up its own hegemonical aspirations" and "to use the Third World as a springboard and to become immediately a super-superpower."
