Help For County Farmers On The Way

Area, Local Bank Deposits, Loans Up

Local Officials Voice Approval

Totals from eight area banks at the close of business on June 30, 1982, reflected an increase over $14.5 million in June 82 deposits. Loans at that same period of time also were up to an even greater extent than the same time last year with a figure of $19,647,314 over 1981.

Deposits from the eight area banks surveyed showed a total of $181,861,709 in June, 1982; up some $14,567,687 from the same time last year of $167,294,023. Loan totals for the end of June period totaled $98,122,843, up $19,647,314 from the $78,448,529 of June in 1981.

For the two Muleshoe banks, deposits for June, 1982 reached $57,563,698. Loan totals for the two banks showed $37,985,980 disbursed as of June, 1982. While the two banks reflected a total substantial loan increase, the First National Bank was down in deposits by $5,730,163, from the June 1981 bank condition statements.

Deposits in the First National Bank in June, 1982 were $22,526,698. Loan totals reflected $17,080,980 for June, 1982, as compared to the $16,223,537 for June, 1981.

In the Muleshoe State Bank, deposits for June, 1982 reached a total of $35,037,000 as compared to the 1981 total of $32,249,000; an increase of $2,788,000 for the year's total. Loans for the Muleshoe State reflect $20,905,000 as compared to the 1981 total loans of $15,347,000; an increase of $5,558,000 for the June reporting period.

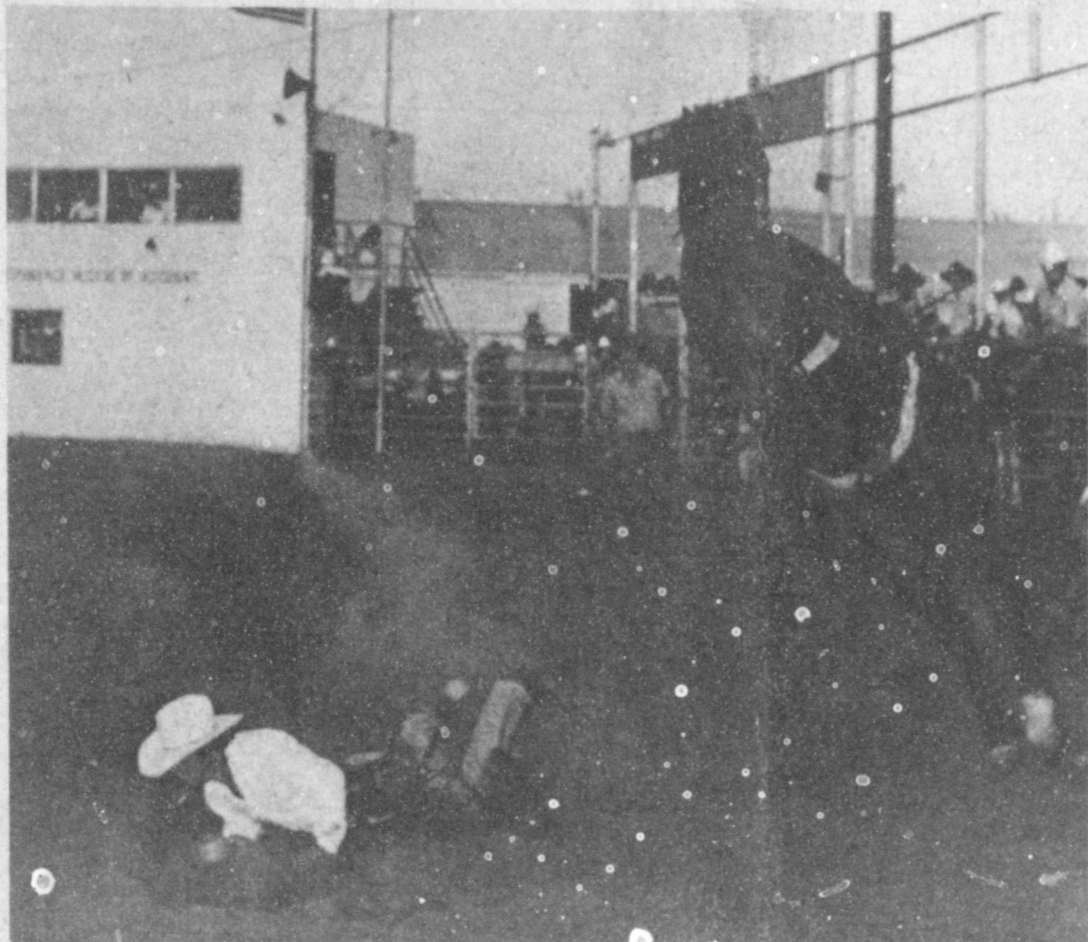

The First State Bank of Morton reported total June, 1982 deposits in the amount of $24,383,698, up $1,994,914 from the 1981 total of $22,388,784. Loans at the Morton bank show $4,397,683, up $116,678 over the 1981 total of $4,281,005.

June 1982 deposit totals at the Security State Bank in Farwell reached to $26,741,710. This shows an increase of $8,274,710 over the $18,467,000 in June deposits the same time last year. Loan totals at Security State were also up by $7,653,391. Total for 1981 loans were $5,291,000 as compared to $12,944,391 in 1982. This figure was most likely the largest upward trend in loans of the eight banks called.

The Citizen's State Bank of Earth reported $10,830,271 in June, 1982 deposits. This was an increase of $1,055,229 over the $9,775,042 reported in June, Cont. Page 8, Col. 3

Sorghum Farmers Deliver Crop Into Buyers Market

Harvest is in full swing in the grain sorghum fields of South Texas. Farmers who were not signed up in the Feed Grains Reduced Acreage Program are selling their grain at an average price of $3.90 per hundredweight, eighty cents below the government loan. Participation of South Texas farmers in the Reduced Acreage Program (RAP) was very low, due partially to its late announcement by USDA, according to Elbert Harp, Executive Director of Grain Sorghum Producers Association.

"Grain prices are not expected to exceed the loan level plus carrying charges in the next year unless the grain surplus is greatly reduced," according to Harp. "Significant participation in the RAP and maximum sales of grain are the only hope for reduced stocks and higher prices." Most sorghum farmers have until August 1 to certify their compliance with the 10 percent diversion required for the RAP.

DPS Trooper Is Assigned To Muleshoe

Richard R. Fernandez of San Angelo has been commissioned as a Trooper with the Texas Department of Public Safety. Trooper Fernandez, 22, has been assigned to the Highway Patrol Service and will be stationed at Muleshoe.

The new Trooper officially assumed his duties Friday night in Muleshoe.

Fernandez received his commission as a State of Texas law enforcement officer from Colonel Jim Adams, DPS director, in a graduation ceremony at the DPS headquarters in Austin.

Fernandez completed a challenging 18-week training program at the DPS academy. The intensive course, recognized as one of the best programs of its kind in the U.S., included instruction in traffic law enforcement, accident investigation, the Texas Code of Criminal Procedure, firearm training, first aid, narcotics identification and other subjects related to law enforcement.

cent diversion required for the RAP.

A study of carryover stocks and their effect on grain market prices shows that any time these stocks have exceeded a two month supply the market price remains at, or below, the level of the government loan plus carrying charge.

The study, researched by Grain Sorghum Producers Association, shows that the only time prices equal the cost of production (based on USDA estimates) is Cont. Page 8, Col. 4

Offenses Keep Local Officers 'On The Run'

City police have reported a variety of offenses over the past few days, as well as Bailey County Sheriff's officers and Department of Public Safety Troopers.

On July 5, R. L. Scott reported to city police a criminal mischief when someone had thrown rocks through three of his windows. Rocks were found inside the residence, substantiating the report. Value of the loss was estimated at about $100.

On July 11, King Grain reported an attempted theft when it was discovered that someone had tried to open the gas pump damaging it. A dusting for fingerprints revealed some partials, but police had no suspects at this time.

Also on July 11, police arrested Jesse Garcia in the 300 block of East 6th on a charge of public intoxication. He was later released.

On July 9, Bernardo Olivas was arrested on a DWI charge. He was also armed with a knife. He was jailed after creating a disturbance and was released later on a $265 cash bond.

On July 8, Linda Gregory reported a bicycle missing from her residence on West 6th Street. The bike had apparently been taken sometime within the past three weeks, since she had been out of town during that time. Value of the bike was approximately $150, and was described as a red, women's three speed bike.

Bailey County Sheriff's officers and DPS personnel made several arrests over the past week. On July 7, Max Bachicha was arrested and charged with burglary.

Also on July 7, several Randall County men were arrested on warrants and Cont. Page 8, Col. 5

Bailey County ASCS Executive Director Rusty Williamson expressed his opinion that "there is no doubt that the disaster relief will help our county." He was, however, somewhat disappointed in the corn and grain sorghum rates. Williamson stated that more information as to the handling of these funds would be forthcoming after State Committee Meetings next week.

Williamson stressed the fact that cotton yield figures that producers now have in hand will be changed and that new cotton yields will be issued in about ten days time. The new ones will be figured on the relief basis. "What we need most now from farmers is cooperation. It will take us awhile to get the guidelines for these payments set in motion, and the entire paperwork will be done in our office here in Bailey County. Probably no checks will be issued before August 1, since that is the final certification date. However, if the State Committee directs the disaster payments to take priority, that is the way the situation will be handled."

"We are just thankful that the farmers have been able to receive the help they have," Williamson said.

The Journal was in contact with local FmHA Director Clinton Kennedy late Friday as to directives that he might have received. Kennedy stated that he had as yet had no official word on counties that had been declared as eligible for disaster loans. Kennedy did say, however, that he assumed from Block's statement that all the counties named will be eligible for the named disaster relief.

Miller Bonner, in Congressman Kent Hance's Washington office did, however, confirm the fact that the counties named for disaster relief would be eligible for all of the help, including the low interest rate loans from FmHA. Bonner stated that the USDA would have a more complete outline of guidelines by next week.

"Congressman Hance is extremely pleased that disaster payments were authorized," said Don Richards of the Congressman's Lubbock office on Friday morning. "But, he would like to emphasize that this 'shot in the arm' will just help the farmer get over the spring weather disaster, and does nothing to change farm economy. We still need to get higher prices for the farmer's products, and the disaster payment will do nothing for that."

Richards was commenting to The Journal on Friday, following a Thursday announcement that President Reagan and Agriculture Secretary John Block had authorized up to $400 million to be sent to farmers to help compensate for the wiped out crops from rain, hail and wind.

"The disaster payments will do nothing to raise the price of cotton and small grains," reminded Richards who added, "Congressman Hance will be working to Cont. Page 8, Col. 1

Sudan Vehicle Stolen, Found In New Mexico

It was reported and confirmed that the family car of Mr. and Mrs. James Withrow was stolen from their home while they were attending church services on Sunday morning. After checking with Mrs. Withrow, she stated that some snack foods were also taken from the house which is located some three miles to the west of Sudan.

But they were in luck. As the Withrow's minister, George Schuster and other relatives were enroute to Colorado early this week, they spotted the automobile between Ft. Sumner and Melrose, N.M. abandoned beside the highway after apparently having run out of fuel. No damage was reported done to the vehicle. The thief or thieves were not apprehended.

Around Muleshoe

The Muleshoe Square Dance Club will hold their graduation dance at the Civic Center Thursday, July 22 at 8 p.m. Door prizes will be given.

There will be western and round dancing between square dancing tips. The dance will be open to the public, anyone may go out and watch or participate in the western dancing.

The doubles team of Wade King and Mike Holt captured a second place trophy in the Floydada Tennis Tournament held on July 14th in Floydada.

King and Holt also reached the semi-finals in the singles division.

Also playing in the tournament from Muleshoe were Casey King, Jana Brown, Deborah Nieman, and Stacey Smith. Accompanying the tennis players were Melba King, Sue Holt and George Nieman.

In the results of the 10,000 meter run in the women's division, Rickey Kelly was incorrectly named as the winner of this event. The actual winner was Anita Booth.

The Cowboys for Christ will hold a meeting on Tuesday, July 20, at the Muleshoe Livestock Auction. Members and prospective members are urged to attend.

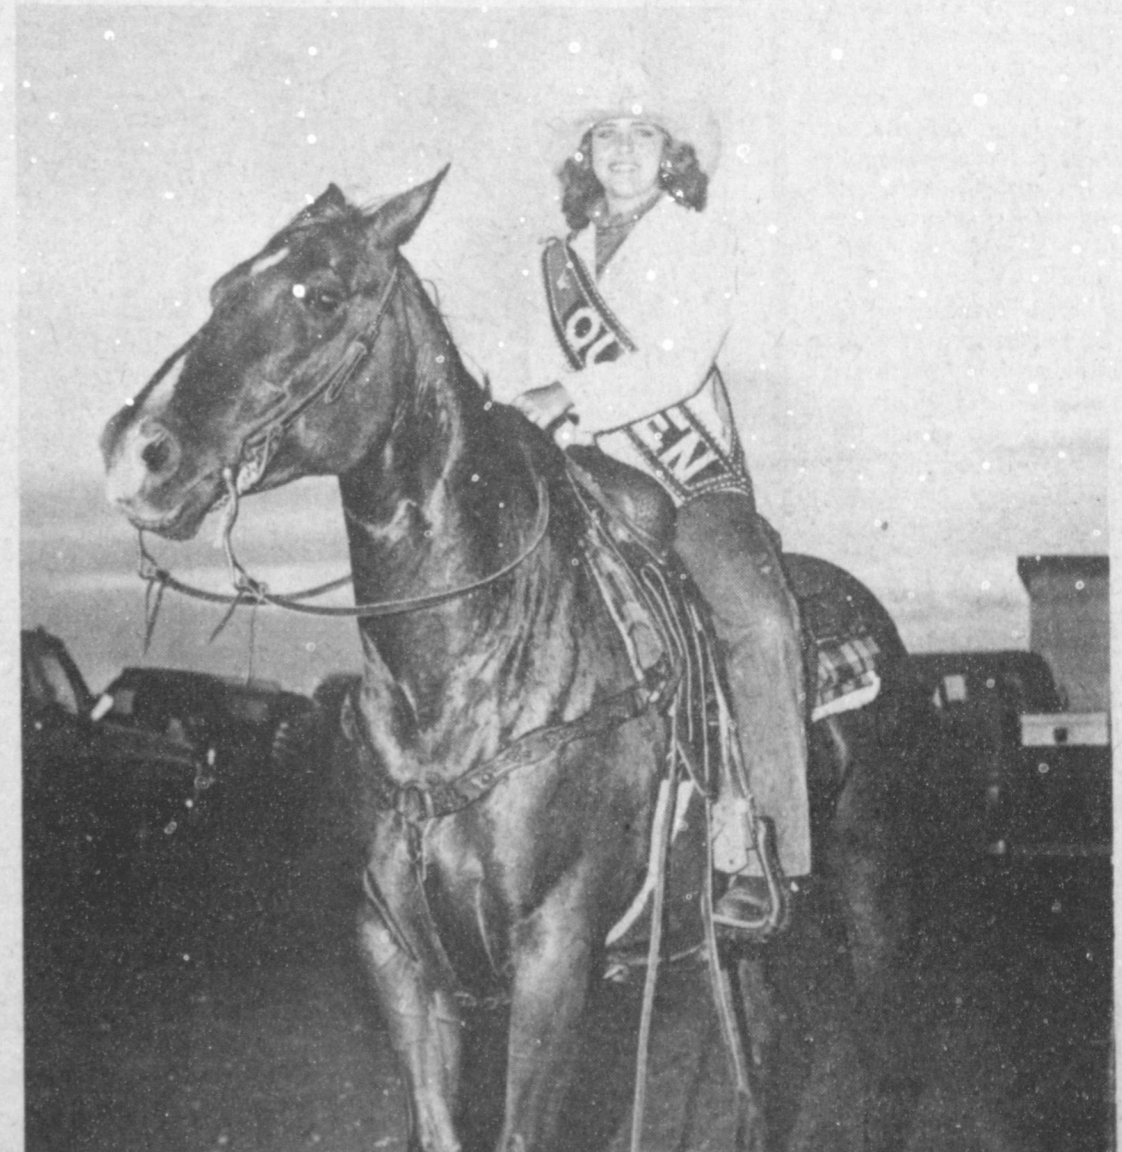

There will be a regular City Council meeting on Tuesday, July 20, at 8:30 a.m. in the City Hall.

Several items are up for consideration, including the appointment of a new city council member.

Myrtle Creamer and Cassandra Cargile are in Nebraska this week visiting relatives.

RABIES CLINIC-"It only hurts for a little while," seems to be what Dr. Barry Cowart, local veterinarian, is saying. Several Muleshoe residents took the advantage of the opportunity to have the pets vaccinated against rabies and other pet diseases, at the local clinic held in the Muleshoe Fire Station.

1982 EARTH ROPING CLUB QUEEN-Darcy Randolph was crowned as the new Roping Club Queen at opening ceremonies of the Earth Rodeo Thursday night. First runner up was Connie Shelton and second runner-up was Shaundi Geissler. Darcy was also named as winner of the horsemanship division of the contest.

Central Plains M.H.M.R. Receives Additional Grant

This community is about to join others in a nine-county area which receive the services of a home-bound teacher provided by Central Plains MHMR for children from birth to three years of age.

Central Plains MHMR recently received additional grant money for its Rural Infant Education Program (RIEP) and is able to reach new towns in the region it serves (Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Motley, Parmer and Swisher). The grant money is available through Senate Bill 630 for Early Childhood Intervention.

The children who are the special concern of the Rural Infant Education Program are those who need education and habilitation because they are physically and/or mentally handicapped or because they are high risk infants. They must be in the age range of newborn to three years of age and live in one of the nine counties served to receive help.

The program itself is geared to teach parents and their children in the following areas: daily living skills (such as dressing, feeding and toilet training); gross motor skills (physical abilities, like sitting alone, crawling, walking, etc.); fine motor skills (grasping and releasing objects, use of small muscles to manipulate objects); language (beginning with the development of cooing and babbling and learning to speak in sentences); cognitive skills (developing thinking skills and problem-solving skills); sensory training (training in developing the five senses); and many other areas, according to the child's needs.

Ms. Desiree Isom, the homebound teacher who will serve this area, explained the services also include a transdisciplinary assessment by a team of professionals working with the parents. Ms. Isom said the team includes a speech pathologist, physical and occupational therapists, a physician, a social worker, a psychologist and an education specialist.

Annual Mare-Foal Clinic July 30

The third annual South Central Texas Mare - Foal Clinic at Brenham on July 30 will focus on foal management.

Discussions will center around examining foals for structural problems at birth, feeding and health programs to maximize growth rates, "preschool" training and weaning systems to produce a top quality foal from every mare each year.

The daylong program will begin at 9:30 a.m. at the Washington County Fairgrounds, announces Bill Thane, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University System.

Dr. Joerg Auer of Texas A&M's College of Veterinary Medicine will discuss limb and structural problems in newborn foals and treatments to prevent irreparable damage to their leg bones.

Dr. Jack Kreider with A & M's Department of Animal Science and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station will talk about the effect of anabolic steroids (body building hormones) on growing horses, including size and muscle development.

Supplemental feeding programs for young horses will be discussed by Dr. Gary Potter, also with A&M's Department of Animal Science and the Experiment Station. Supplemental feeding is needed to make up the difference between a horse's nutrient requirements and declining nutrients in the mare's milk.

Dr. Mike Martin of A&M College of Veterinary Medicine will review the necessary health programs for maximum development of foals, including internal parasite control and immunization schedules.

Extension horse specialist

In explaining the focus of the program, Ms. Isom said a high risk infant was one "born as a result of a problem or high risk pregnancy." Often the mother is under 17 years of age or over 35.

"Sometimes, too, there are problems with diabetes or high blood pressure in the mother, or a family history of inherited disorders. In some instances," the teacher continued, "there might have been a structural problem in the mother's pelvis, or the mother might have been very underweight or overweight. And, sometimes a mother and child do not have the same RH blood factor and there are severe problems at birth. Then, of course, there are infections, addiction or consumption of drugs, a history of previous miscarriages or stillbirths or unwanted pregnancies -- all of these are high risk factors."

Those are the problems in a pregnancy that may bring a child to RIEP. Others are present at the birth itself.

"If a child is premature or has a very low birthweight," continued Ms. Isom, "there may be a slower than normal maturing process. We can help to stimulate the child to achieve his or her best. Sometimes, at birth, a child doesn't breathe at once and the deficiency of oxygen can injure him. Other conditions include breech births, the unusually large size of an infant or even an extremely long labor. Cesarean sections often mean some complications in the health of the infant."

Ms. Isom also said that, during the first four weeks of life, a child may become one designated "high risk" because of serum bilirubin over 20 mg 100 ml or an exchange transfusion, a toxemic mother, maternal diabetes, sucking or swallowing difficulties, failure to thrive, convulsions, cyanotic attacks or severe apneic spells (babies sometimes "forget" to breathe), PKU, abnormal neurological signs and severe illnesses and injuries.

Ms. Isom noted that during the postnatal period, a single parent or a very young mother (under 17 years of age) may have special problems with a newborn. Additionally, the premature child or a sick newborn who has had a long hospital stay, a child from a large family or from low socio-economic class, or one who suffers from physical or emotional abuse -- all may benefit from the specialized educational techniques offered by the program.

"Sometimes neighbors or relatives see poor mother-child interaction, know of a history of psychiatric illness in one or both parents or see a child with injuries or severe illnesses. Sometimes they just note the peculiar appearance of a child and think, 'Isn't that too bad. I wish there was something I could do,'" Ms. Isom said. "That's why the Rural Infant Education Program was begun. We can come and help families get adequate medical care or counseling and training for that very special child who is important to all of us."

Ms. Isom urges anyone interested in the program to contact the Mental Health Office nearest his home (Muleshoe - 272-4433) or write to the Rural Infant Education Program at 214 W. 11th St., Plainview, Texas 79072.

Tanning Takes Toll On Skin

Our skin takes a beating. We scrape it, scratch it, cut it and bruise it accidentally but regularly. And worse yet, some of us even try to bake it.

The main problem with trying to get the perfect tan is that the sun damages the skin, according to the Texas Medical Association.

Some damage may be immediate -- burning, blistering, skin rashes or eruptions, and eye injury. Later damage can include skin that sags and wrinkles prematurely. Finally, excessive exposure to the sun increases a person's chances of developing skin cancer.

The sun affects each person's skin differently. The main factor is the amount of melanin -- a naturally occurring skin pigment -- that the individual's system produces. Darker skin indicates larger amounts of melanin. These people tan quicker and easier than those with fair skin.

Most dermatologists believe the risk of developing skin cancer from ultraviolet radiation -- from the sun, sunlamps or tanning salons -- exists whether one is sunburned or suntanned. But people who freckle or sunburn easily are particularly susceptible.

Still, not more than two percent of all types of skin cancer are fatal. Although skin cancer seldom develops in people under 20, its incidence increases gradually with age and peaks at about 75.

Simple precautions will limit the sun's potentially harmful effects:

----Avoid sunbathing around noon. The sun is strongest and most harmful from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

----Use a sunscreen regularly. Some of the most effective ones contain para-aminobenzoic acid (PABA).

In Fashion
This summer polka dots are much bolder in cool whites. Black polka-dotted white silk is used in party dresses and soft jumpsuits. Other garments feature polka dots in clusters of various sizes.

Other effective sunscreen ingredients include titanium dioxide and benzophenone. Re-apply the lotion every two hours or after swimming or perspiring heavily.

MRS. DAVID BRADLEY BELL

Miss Ray, Bell United In Doubling Ceremony

Miss Tanya Jerene Ray of Sudan and David Bradley Bell of Lamesa were united in marriage Saturday, July 10th at 10:30 in the morning in the Sudan Church of Christ. Officiating at the double ring ceremony was Cecil Hutson of Angleton, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ray of Sudan. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bell of Lamesa.

The church was centered with a large brass candle-tree decorated with huckleberry foliage, assorted summer blust and rose flowers and baby's breath, flanked by two matching brass candelabras with matching decorations.

The pews of the church were decorated with grape ivy and baby's breath, below votive candles.

Special music was presented by the "Mountain Top Singers" of Lubbock. The house party and sisters of the bride and groom were seated as they sang, "Follow Me," "Lady, Annie's Song," were sung while the grandparents and mothers were seated.

"Whither Thou Goest," "Lord Bless and Keep You" and recessional songs were sung by the chorus. Cecil Hutson, minister, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a wedding gown by Joille of white organza, Venise and Schiffler lace, with a queen anne neckline, trimmed with Schiffler lace, cap sleeves, bodice trimmed in lace sprinkled with tiny seed pearls.

Her chapel train of Schiffler embroidery edged in Venise lace extended around the skirt and bordered the chapel length train.

In keeping with tradition, the bride wore a blue garter that her mother had worn at her wedding. As something new she wore her wedding dress and as something borrowed she wore a pearl necklace belonging to her sister, Phyllis Lynn. Something blue was a garter. A penny minted in the years of the couple's birth was worn in her shoe.

get the Farm Crisis Act before the House in the next few months. It takes nearly 70 cents for cotton 'just to break even' and the price of cotton right now is below 45 cents."

A total of 76 counties in Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma were declared a disaster area, and will be eligible for all of the disaster relief plans. "It is not as much as we would like to have (disaster payment) but will help the farmer hang in there," added Richards.

It is expected that within a few weeks, farmers will start getting their portion of the estimated $400 million designated to relieve the situation caused by the spring storms.

According to Secretary Block, the disaster plan contains four parts:

- Disaster assistance through grants
- Inclusion of federal crop insurance policy owners in both the disaster program and the FCIC claims.
- Emergency disaster loans through the Farmers Home Administration.
- Emergency conservation funds to meet erosion problems.

Disaster payments are the focal point, according to the Secretary. The disaster payments will include:

- Cotton, 20.5 cents per pound for crop losses in excess of 25 percent of the crop.
- Wheat, $1.75 per bushel for wheat losses in excess of 40 percent of the crop.
- Feedgrains, 15 cents per bushel for corn, 18 cents per bushel for grain sorghum and 15 cents per bushel for barley for any losses that exceed 40 percent of each of those three crops.

It has been projected that the losses to crops has been the most widespread in history due to hail, rain and wind in this area, and the disaster payments were authorized just nine working days after a special Task Force toured the area and returned to Washington with a report on the devastation they saw in this part of the country.

"We are making disaster assistance available in this region because our revised and expanded FCIC insurance program is still in a transitional phase," Block pointed out. "We continue to support the principle and the mandate from Congress that the expanded crop insurance program will replace disaster payments.

"The heavy losses created by the storm damage in this three-state region dramatically demonstrate the necessity for farmers here, and nationwide, to take advantage of the protection offered by FCIC," Block said.

Area counties included in the disaster area include: In Texas, Andrews, Armstrong, Bailey, Briscoe, Carson, Castro, Childress, Cochran, Cottle, Crosby, Dawson, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Donley, Floyd, Foard, Gaines, Garza, Hale, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hockley, King, Knox, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Moore, Motley, Oldham, Parmer, Potter, Randall, Scurry, Swisher, Terry, Yoakum and others.

Counties designated as disaster areas in New Mexico are Curry, Lea, Quay and Roosevelt.

Beaver, Cimarron, Harper and Texas Counties were designated in Oklahoma.

when the carryover supply is at, or below, a one month supply. Ironically, it is at this level that consumers become alarmed at the prospect of declining food supplies and pressures mount for export restriction and other controls.

The carryover supply of corn and grain sorghum on October 1, 1981, was 2.3 billion bushels -- three and one half months supply. Current prospects are that the 1982 crop will exceed consumption, adding to the surplus stocks.

This situation will not be relieved unless there is maximum participation in the RAP coupled with the Administration's lifting of trade sanctions against the Soviet Union and a strong push by government and farmers to expand overseas grain sales. The only other solution is one no one wishes -- a widespread crop disaster.

"This leaves a depressing outlook for grain prices in the foreseeable future," Harp said. "RAP participation appears to be low and the Reagan Administration is slow to approve maximum trade with Russia and an adequate price support program."

Harp stated, "Grain sorghum Producers Association will continue to press for all components of improved farm income."

Dust Provides 'Fuel' For Explosions

Within the past three years, 43 grain elevators have exploded, causing 85 deaths, many serious injuries and hundreds of millions of dollars in property damage and production losses.

"While grain dust explosions are complicated, they can be prevented," says Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Grain dust explosions are the result of a rapidly burning fire inside an enclosure," he explains.

Social Security Cards Will Be Marked

"Social Security numbers for work purposes can only be issued to U. S. citizens, permanent resident immigrants, and temporary aliens who have been granted permission to work by the Immigration and Naturalization Service," Laura Purcell, District Manager of the Lubbock district said recently.

"Even so," Purcell said, "legal aliens who do not have permission to work may need a number for purposes other than work, such as banking, school, or driver's license. In such cases, a social security number will be issued, but the card will be marked to show that it is not valid for employment. A prospective employer will know at once that the holder of such a card is not legally permitted to work."

"Social Security cards cannot legally be issued to illegal aliens for any purpose."

Anyone applying for social security card must furnish evidence of age, identity and citizenship or alien status. In addition, anyone age 18 or older must apply in person.

Any applicant for a social security card who furnishes false documents or false information about age, identity, citizenship or alien status is subject to a fine of $5000 and five years in jail.

"Fuel, air, an ignition source and a closed container are the necessary ingredients for an explosion."

Eliminating any one of the four ingredients can prevent an explosion, says Nelson, while eliminating fuel, air or an ignition source can prevent a flash fire.

"Since grain dust provides the 'fuel' that can lead to a flash fire or elevator explosion, dust control can be a key factor in preventing such fires or explosion" points out the engineer.

Precleaning grain before it enters the elevator should be considered to help control dust, says Nelson.

Other steps that would help control dust include transferring grain throughout the elevator as gently as possible to avoid creating additional dust, using exhaust ventilation systems at transfer points and other locations to remove airborne dust, and sweeping, mopping, vacuuming or otherwise removing grain dust that has not been removed by ventilation systems.

"If precautionary measures fail and an explosion does occur, two things can minimize damage," Nelson says. "These are explosion suppression and explosion venting."

Explosion suppression involves advanced technology where pressure-sensitive electronic equipment detects the beginning of an explosion and releases extinguishing chemicals, all in about 60/1,000 of a second -- less time than an eyeblink. These systems should be considered for key locations, advised the engineer.

Vents at key positions also help minimize explosion damage by acting as safety valves to prevent the buildup of high, destructive pressures.

Nelson also advocates a systems approach to designing new elevators and altering existing structures to reduce the risk of explosions. This calls for continued research to determine which preventive measures will reduce the explosion potential to a minimum level at minimum cost.

Research is needed regarding the development of ventilation system designs, he adds. Current guidelines are either lacking or too general to be useful.

International confab on food and water planned at Texas A&M

COLLEGE STATION — A major international conference dealing with global strategies for combating current and projected shortages of food and water is being planned at Texas A&M University.

Texas A&M President Frank E. Vandiver, who envisions the conference as representing a first step in implementing his concept of a network of "world universities," said the proposed magnitude of the meeting dictates a lead time of at least 18 months, meaning the session will probably be held in early 1984. A top-level campus group is already at work planning the scope and other aspects of the conference.

The conference could provide a basis for Texas A&M eventually serving as a global "clearing house" for food and water problems and strategies, Dr. Vandiver noted.

Dr. Vandiver proposes establishment of a network of approximately 20 "world universities" to tackle "Four Horsemen" problems, particularly famine and pestilence, on a global scale.

Senator Bill Sarpalius Reports

JOB MARKET REALISM

AUSTIN — One of the agencies under review by the Sunset Commission right now is the Advisory Council for Technical-Vocational Education in Texas. The Council, known as ACTVE, is an advisory body to the State Board of Vocational Education on technical/vocational education.

ACTVE also advises the Board on policy formation, coordination and implementation, and also advises on legislative matters that deal with technical/vocational education.

ACTVE serves an important role in planning for the future needs of technical/vocational education. Planning for the future needs of this type of education is vital because businesses are demanding more training in technical fields than ever before.

For example, 55 percent of technical/vocational schools responding to a recent survey reported having to turn away students. This was caused by enrollment's outgrowing the schools' facilities. Particularly popular were office/computer and health occupation programs.

In our district, one of the most well-known technical/vocational education centers is Texas State Technical Institute, or TSTI. TSTI is an example of the high standards and the success rates of modern vocational education.

For example, in these times of high unemployment, TSTI averages three job offers for every student enrolled. Before graduation, 85 to 90 percent of TSTI students have a job. There are 75 different programs at TSTI, from high technology fields like nuclear and laser technology to more traditional jobs like meat packing. Training programs range from three months to two years.

Last fall there were 911 students enrolled at Amarillo TSTI. Statewide, TSTI had 7,475. This probably will approach 16,000 by 1995, which is only 13 years away.

The administration of this many students requires good counsel and proper planning. We believe ACTVE has done a good job, but it is our task as members of the Sunset Commission to find even better ways for ACTVE to accomplish its goals. We hope you will help us in that task. We know many of you have had experience in technical/vocational education, either as students or teachers. We hope you will share that experience and your ideas with us. Please write Senator Bill Sarpalius, P. O. Box 12068, Austin, Texas 78711.

TRU-TEST PAINTS
PAINTING HELP SPOKEN HERE.

BY Bonnie Blaire
TRU-TEST COLOR CONSULTANT

Dear Bonnie:
We have just completed restoring a Victorian house. Now I am planning an outdoor living room on a wide porch. Having spent most of our money on the house, we must do it on the proverbial "shoestring." Will paint and color help?

Signed, Out of Pocket

Dear Out:
You're on the right track! Paint color is always the least expensive and more effective way to decorate. For the coolest effect use lots of white with blue and green accents. Paint your ceiling with the wonderful sky blue color that Victorians painted on their porch ceilings. They called it, "fleyspeck blue" because it was thought that flies wouldn't light on it. It seemed to work.

Search your attic or used furniture stores for wicker, rattan, reed, cane or bamboo furniture. Unify your finds with a coat of white paint. Add some small occasional tables, some plain chairs, shelves or chests as needed. Paint these with accent colors; "fleyspeck blue" and lime. Add tie-on blue and green pillows to your seating pieces and hang lots of trailing plants.

"Fleyspeck Blue" #7505 and "Lime" #7374 are custom colors appearing in Tru-Test Custom Color System.

Research Proving Water Is Available

Availability of water in the not-to-distant future is certainly a key issue on the High Plains. Not only is water a concern of politicians right now, but it has been and remains, vital to the West Texas and Panhandle farmer, whose prosperity affects the total economy.

Recent studies conducted at Washington State University and the University of Arkansas concerning petiole (leaf joint) nitrate monitoring of potato and cotton crops bears a certain relevancy and timeliness to the West Texas farmer in his growing dilemma. A&L Plains Agriculture Lab, a Lubbock based firm, has taken the germ of the Washington State and University of Arkansas research, adapted the theories, and conducted their own studies in petiole nitrate monitoring of High Plains cotton and potatoes. Art Carnrick, managing director of A&L Labs and chief force behind the Lubbock studies, has indicated that use of the petiole nitrate monitoring system can actually cut the farmer's water bill.

"Properly utilized, this program allows the cotton farmer to water his fields a maximum of three times over the year." Not only does this system help the farmer economize on water, but petiole nitrate monitoring and the ensuing foliar applications of certain chemicals can be used to manipulate the plant to do what the grower wants.

"By measuring levels of nitrates, plant growth and such things as adequate moisture, good fruiting, drought stress, potential insect damage, fruit loss, or square shed can be predicted with a good degree of accuracy," says Carnrick. "These techniques have been used for years in California, Arizona, Arkansas and Mississippi where long season cottons are grown. Plants have been forced to mature quickly and the risk of excessive stalk growth has been reduced. The wise use of this program has often significantly increased yields in those areas."

According to Carnrick, due to shorter growing seasons and a great deal of short season or determinant cottons being grown, petiole nitrate monitoring was ignored on the Texas High Plains. Using petiole nitrate monitoring, "yield increases of 10-20 percent are not uncommon on the High Plains."

If the weather is too dry or the plant needs more fertilizer, a chemical analysis of the petiole or leaf joint will determine what type of foliar spray will stimulate the plant to grow correctly. Likewise, analysis can determine if the cotton plant has received too much N fertilizer, moisture, or if insect build-up is eminent.

The petiole or leaf joint bridges the roots to the growing tip. If too much nitrogen is flowing across the leaf joint, cotton will begin succulent growth to attract insects and it starts putting on too many leaves

Firefighters In Action

Twenty one firemen attended training meeting on the last training night. J. O. Parker, training officer, showed a training film on BLEVE "Boiling Liquid Escaping Vapor Explosions." This pertains to transporting, handling and storage of LP gases, which we have these situations in our community. These LP fires can be very dangerous and the citizenry of our community should be aware that they should not be a spectator to such fire.

Wednesday, July 27, the training will be on smoke-filled structure fires using the Scott AirPacks.

We want to thank the citizens for their viewing and participation in the 4th of July fireworks. We wish there were more to display, but we enjoy doing this for you.

and no bolls. A foliar spray of growth regulators, boron foliar fertilizer with micro-nutrients, or even sugar can stop it. If the nutrients are not getting to cotton for top yields, a foliar spray can also change this, he added.

Carnrick advises that the High Plains cotton farmer make sure that his field representative is staying up with the weather as well as the watering schedule and soil fertility. Often, withholding water can lower nitrogen without the use of boron or sugar.

"Make sure each treatment provides the least cost, maximum benefit and greatest return," added the specialist. "Many of the specific needs for the High Plains have been worked out. Already many potatoes, tomatoes, cucumbers and sugar beets are grown by this method. It is my personal feeling that this will be the farming method of the future."

TTI studies ways to make highways safer for road repair crews

COLLEGE STATION — Engineers with the Texas Transportation Institute, a research agency at Texas A&M University, have begun a 22-month study for the Federal Highway Administration of ways to improve traffic control on roads where construction or repair is taking place.

"Researchers will examine different methods for controlling speeds at construction sites," said project director Dr. Conrad Dudek.

Examples of speed control methods to be evaluated include changeable message signs, rumble strips and selective use of police officers.

Worker safety will also be addressed by the transportation study.

LUBBOCK, Friday, July 9, 1982

All time highs were set in 1981 for cotton acreage planted, acres harvested and bales produced in the 25 counties represented by Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. But low prices blocked benefits that producers might otherwise have enjoyed.

In 1982 records of another kind are toppling. The largest acreage destroyed by a single hail storm occurred on Friday, June 18, when something like 500,000 acres were battered almost beyond recognition and certainly beyond recovery. Losses before and after that debacle, the result of other hail storms, wind, disease and flooding, have now brought the area's total loss to another single-year record of perhaps 2.5 million acres or more. That's over 62 percent of the estimated four million acres planted, and the previous record acreage abandonment for an entire season on the Plains was 17.3 percent in 1974.

And without a drastic change in weather patterns and substantial outside financial help, at least two other records are in danger of falling this year.

The estimated 1.5 million cotton acres left standing will have to yield an average of almost 320 pounds per acre if the High Plains is to gin one million bales of cotton this fall, a figure the area has not failed to exceed since 1950, before the full development of irrigation on the Plains. And a 320 pound yield from a crop already two to four weeks behind schedule and none too healthy, without a quick reversal in Mother Nature's lack of cooperation, is far from certain. "In fact," notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "some experienced crop observers are talking in terms of around 250 pounds per acre."

But the saddest part of all, Johnson notes, is that unless Washington intervenes quickly and dramatically, a record number of farmers in 1983 will be seeking another means to sustain their families.

"We are doing all we know to do to convince the Secretary of Agriculture that implementation of the emergency disaster provisions of the 1981 farm law is an absolute must; that payment of existing FmHA loans should not be demanded until producers have a chance to recover from this crisis; that new, low interest emergency loans should be made available, and that every other avenue to providing assistance should be explored and utilized to the fullest."

Even with all this help, spokesmen for financial institutions say many farmers will be unable to continue next year. But without help some say almost half may be out of business.

Andrei Gromyko, Soviet Foreign Minister, on strategic weapons testing:

"The tests are carried out by both the United States and ourselves and they will go on being carried out as long as there is no agreement to ban them."

George P. Shultz, Secretary of State-designate:

"The job is an opportunity to do what I can to advance the cause of peace, freedom and justice in a world so troubled..."

Bank Loans To Poland Paid Off

Commodity Credit Corporation official Lester LeCompte reports that the Agriculture Department has received claims from American banks for an additional $52 million of reimbursement for federally guaranteed farm commodity loans to Community Poland now overdue.

The $52 million in claims divided among 10 banks and the Continental Grain Company, bring to $190 million the total claimed since February when the Reagan Administration decided not to declare the Warsaw regime in default on these loans.

A total of $177 million has already been paid to the banks by the CCC, says LeCompte, but Poland still owes private banks another $664 million that is guaranteed by the Commodity Credit Corporation.
