CUBAN WAR CHIEF DENOUNCES OPPOSITION OF AMERICAN GROUP

SITUATION HAS BECOME TENSE UNDER MARTIN

WELLES IN HOT WATER AS CROWDS BOO UNCLE SAM

BY EDMUND A. CHESTER. Associated Press Staff Writer. Copyright, 1933. By The Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—With the administration expecting a crisis in the Cuban situation within 48 hours that would swing conditions in the island to better or worse, members of the general staff of the army disclosed tonight that preparatory measures had been taken for a quick dispatch of troops should they be needed.

HAVANA, Sept. 16 (AP)—While thousands in a rage in Havana's streets late today shouting against the United States government and its ambassador, Sumner Welles, the secretary of war and interior in the Grau San Martin cabinet accused American business interests here of seeking the new government's overthrow.

The secretary, Antonio Gutierrez, charged American and foreign business interests "are reducing wages, turning workmen loose and provoking them to strike," in a statement urging the "working masses" to back the new administration.

"Workers induced by American employers are unwisely lending themselves to the overthrow of the government," Gutierrez' statement said. Business to Close. Representatives of Cuba's most important business interests met in another quarter of the city and agreed in a late session to close their doors for 24 hours Tuesday as a protest against "acts of violence by the working classes."

They called upon the president to give way to "a government of concentration of all the revolutionary sectors," and declared themselves opposed to intervention.

"Propaganda of enmity toward the government of the United States which now goes beyond that and is interpreted as an attack on the American people." (See CUBAN, Page 2)

Great Tenor Moves Audience to Tears As Daughter Weds LONDON, Sept. 16 (AP)—After witnessing the marriage of his only daughter, Gwendolyn, in the ancient Extonpton oratory today, John McCormack, world renowned tenor, sang the Ave Maria so beautifully it brought tears to the eyes of many of his listeners.

The daughter, who was married to Edward Pyke, a Liverpool business man, stood at her husband's side with shining eyes as her father's voice floated through the building. She wore an old Irish lace veil belonging to her mother. Her gown was of satin in a deep ivory shade.

E. Bachus of LePors was in the city yesterday afternoon.

Two Types of Relief Projects To Be Launched

Because of the great value of accurate statistics on unemployment in making claims for relief-work projects such as road paving, registration of every jobless man in Gray county will start Wednesday at the relief office here. Later, registering will start in other places in the county. It is emphasized that "jobless" does not necessarily imply that a man or woman has applied for relief. There is an important distinction. Those on the relief rolls will get the first work as jobs are made available. Then work will, it is expected, be made available to registered unemployed not on the relief rolls.

BRYAN GIRLS SEEK RIGHT TO BECOME AGS

Legal Action Begun To Force Admission Of Coeds

BRYAN, Sept. 16 (AP)—A petition for a writ of mandamus to compel the board of directors of Texas A. & M. college to permit daughters of Bryan residents to enroll in the college was filed today with District Judge W. S. Davis by J. E. Stanford, secretary of the Bryan chamber of commerce, and others. Judge Davis set the hearing of the petition for September 26.

The petition stated that 12 Bryan girls presented a petition September 13 to Dr. T. O. Walton, president of A. & M., asking permission to register as students at the opening of the academic year Monday, September 18. No action was taken on the petition. It was alleged, and the court action taken today resulted.

Stanton To Try For Second Trial

TULIA, Sept. 16 (AP)—District Judge Charles Clements today set Ed "Perchmouth" Stanton's hearing for a new trial in connection with the slaying of Sheriff John C. Moseley for September 21. Stanton late yesterday was convicted of murder for shooting the Swisher county officer the night of last January 22. He was sentenced to death.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE IS FORMING NEW JERSEY BRANCH

NEW YORK, Sept. 16 (AP)—First steps to transfer Wall Street's stock trading to New Jersey to escape the proposed emergency municipal taxes were taken today by a group of brokers who arranged the incorporation of "the national stock exchange" to be established in Newark. "It's a new Boston tea party," said Col. William Freiday, Wall Street broker and prominent in democratic politics in New Jersey, who is president of the newly incorporated organization.

DIFFICULTIES IN NEW PLAN BEING FOUGHT

FORCE TO BE LARGER WHEN EQUIPMENT OBTAINED

SOMEWHAT uncertainly but encouragingly to men long jobless, construction work on Gray county highways started Saturday morning. Twenty picked men from the relief rolls earned $2.10 each, working 6 hours at 35 cents an hour on highway 33 in southeast Pampa. The men furnished their own shovels yesterday, but the highway department which is supervising the grading is attempting to obtain local dump trucks and teams. The hand laborers, truckers, and teamsters must be taken from and relief records and, since they may not work more than 5 days per week and likely will work less, the labor turnover is such as to make efficiency difficult. However, the aim of the road program is to relieve the unemployed and this end will be attained. Under a compromise agreement between the highway department and the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission at Austin, the highway department will select the projects and supervise the work, and the relief offices will select the men and pay them their wages. The highway department will name and pay its own foremen and will reserve the right to reject relief workers who are physically unfit or are unwilling to follow orders.

Scientists Risk Lives in Search

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 16 (AP)—Scientists who have struggled with animal experiments for weeks in an effort to solve the mystery of "sleeping sickness" finally have dedicated their very lives to the study. The United States public health service at Washington announced today three unidentified scientists had submitted to bites from mosquitoes which previously had bitten "sleeping sickness" or encephalitis victims. Experts have given prominence to a theory that the disease is transmitted by insects.

"Machine Gun" Kelly Offers To Give Self Up

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept. 16 (AP)—An offer for the surrender of George (machine gun) Kelly, widely hunted for the $200,000 Charles F. Urschel kidnaping, if members of the Shannon family of Paradise, Tex., are released, was made here tonight by John V. Roberts, veteran Enid, Okla., attorney. Kelly, the attorney said, "will surrender if the federal government will dismiss charges against R. G. Shannon, Mrs. Ora Shannon and Armon Shannon." District Attorney Herbert Khyde replied immediately slowly "the government will never consent to any such agreement."

Oil Nominations Excessive

Market Demand in Texas Is 204,631 Barrels Beyond Federal Daily Allocation. AUSTIN, Sept. 16 (AP)—Oil purchase nominations submitted to the Texas railroad commission today totaled 1,179,831 barrels daily, which was 204,631 barrels in excess of the daily allowable of 975,200 set by Secretary of the Interior Ickes as Texas' equitable share of the nation's petroleum production. Harris Toler, commission accountant who tabulated the nominations, said approximately 50,000 barrels of duplications in the nominations had been eliminated. Toler said it was possible there were additional duplications, but estimated the total would not exceed 25,000 barrels. The commission on September 8 ordered Texas production reduced to the figure recommended by Ickes. Ernest O. Thompson, commissioner, said the commission had not determined what its attitude would be in view of the nominations in excess of the allowable set by the federal government. "It presents an interesting problem," Thompson said. He added that he regarded the nominations as bona fide and said he believed did not contain any "water."

MAYOR AND NRA CHIEF SET SEPT. 25 AS RECOVERY DAY

"Buy Now And Save" Is Slogan Keyed With Patriotic Motives

TO THE CITIZENS OF Pampa and the Panhandle: President Franklin D. Roosevelt asked the employers of Pampa to increase their number of employees and their payrolls in an effort to bring back normal times and end the depression. Pampa merchants responded magnificently, considering their own problems, by giving work to several hundred new employees, with greatly increased payrolls. This contribution is an outright gift by the Pampa merchants. It has been made at a great sacrifice. It cannot be continued indefinitely as a gift. New business must follow. Merchants of Pampa have designated Monday, September 25 as Pampa National Recovery day. It is to be celebrated by offering special and unusual merchandise bargains of all kinds for Pampans and visitors on that day. It is time for consumers to do their parts in the battle against our common enemy, depression. You can defend your country by buying now the things you need or desire. Buying merchandise will help restore prosperity for all. Therefore, I urge that you participate in Pampa National Recovery day, September 25. W. A. BRATTON, Mayor of Pampa.

LAMSON JURY DECIDES THAT HE IS GUILTY

Seven Men, 5 Women Decreed Fate of Collegian

SAN JOSE, Calif., Sept. 16 (AP)—Davis A. Lamson was convicted tonight on a charge of murdering his wife, Allene Thorpe Lamson, in their Stanford university campus home last Memorial day by a jury that recommended the death penalty. At 11:21 a. m. the court finished the instructions and four minutes later the jury retired under the guard of a bailiff and matron to begin deliberations. The two alternate jurors were ordered kept in their hotel, apart from the regular panel and in charge of another matron pending the final outcome. A little pale but attentive, Lamson listened while Judge Syer read the instructions slowly. A large photograph of the body of his wife, taken as it was found hanging over the edge of the bath tub in their Stanford campus home last May, 30, remained in the court room until the last minute, a gruesome reminder of the tragedy.

Says Relief Work Overhead Is Low

AUSTIN, Sept. 16 (AP)—Lawrence Westbrook, director of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission, said today that the cost of administering the distribution of federal unemployment relief funds in July was approximately $72,000, or about five per cent of the $1,438,390 allotted to this state. Westbrook said that the cost of maintaining the state organization was approximately one per cent of the amount of money sent to Texas for relief purposes and the remaining four per cent was spent on "distribution" within the various counties. Administrative expenses for August have not yet been compiled, Westbrook said. Both branches of the legislature this week adopted resolutions requesting Westbrook to furnish detailed information concerning the cost of handling the relief money. Mrs. H. A. Talley of Miami shopped here yesterday.

Former Standard Officers Accused

CHICAGO, Sept. 16 (AP)—Financial machinations whereby they allegedly harvested several million dollars of stockholders' money were charged today against 17 present or former officers and directors of the Standard Oil company of Indiana. The accusation was made in a suit for an accounting and recovery of between six and eight million dollars filed in U. S. district court by Harrison E. Fryberger of New York and Erwin Seago, of Chicago, counsel for Frederick W. Wilhelms of Duluth, Minnesota, holder of 25 shares of Standard oil stock. Herbert Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Davis, will leave today for Texas A. & M. College Station.

SLATON CHILD IS IN DANGER AFTER SWALLOWING SEED

LUBBOCK, Sept. 16 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Austin of Slaton tonight were en route to Philadelphia where they hope to have a watermelon seed removed from the left lung of their young daughter, Jane. The child, nearly two years old, inhaled the seed about a month ago. Treatment in a sanitarium here failed to remove the foreign body, and the lung began to close up. As a precaution, a serum to prevent pneumonia was given. On the advice of her doctor here, the Austins went to Amarillo Friday night and took a plane for Philadelphia. Because of storm conditions, they left the plane tonight and continued by train from Pittsburgh. The child's life was not in danger when the trio left Lubbock, the doctor said. Mr. Austin is a Slaton city employe.

SAN ANTONIO GETS VICTORY IN GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—Fabian Kowalik, San Antonio's great money pitcher, hurled his way to a 2 to 1 victory over the Galveston Buccaneers in the crucial fifth game of the Texas league championship series here tonight. The victory left the Buccaneers' hopes for a pennant slim for they have to beat the Missions in order to finish on top. The Missions won the toss for the seventh game here tonight. Kowalik scored a heartbreaking victory over Hank Thormahe, veteran lefthander, who hurled six-hit ball. An error by English with the bases full let two unearned runs score and thus lost the ball game for him. The Buccaneers scored their lone run off Kowalik in the fifth on a walk, two successive singles and an infield out before a great play by Cille Bejma retired the side. San Antonio's fielding again featured the game, which was witnessed by 5,972 fans. Score by Innings: R H E San Antonio . . . 002 000 000-2 6 0 Galveston . . . 000 010 000-1 5 1

EYE-WITNESS TELLS CORONER THAT JOE BROWN FEARED GIRL AND ASKED POLICE SUMMONS

CONVERSATION IN LOW TONES FOLLOWED BY TRAGEDY

A CORONER'S verdict of death by gunshot wounds at the hands of Ruby Hilliard, 22, and her death by the same means, self-inflicted, was found at an inquest conducted by Justice W. S. Baxter into the double shooting at the Singer Sewing Machine firm here yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, in which Joe B. Brown, 26, the proprietor, was the other victim. An eye-witness, Miss Della Dean, short-time employe of the firm, said that she had summoned the police at Brown's direction during his low-toned conversation with Miss Hilliard a few minutes before the shooting. Chief John V. Andrews was less than half a block from the building when the tragedy occurred. Nearly all local peace officers, District Attorney Lewis M. Goodrich, and County Attorney Sherman White immediately joined in the investigation. It was quickly apparent, however, that Brown had been killed with a pistol pressed against the back of his head, and that the girl had died from the effects of a bullet fired point-blank into her right temple. Both were lying in pools of blood in the middle of the floor. The .32 caliber pistol was a few inches from the girl's hand. Two empty cartridges were on the floor. On the small sewing machine under which Miss Hilliard's head had fallen was her open handbag, from which she had evidently taken the pistol. Threatens Miss Dean. Miss Dean, the only witness to the shooting, said that after Brown and Miss Hilliard had their conversation, they left the store, but a few minutes later Brown returned. Miss Hilliard was close behind him. When he reached the middle of the store, the girl drew a pistol and fired. Brown slumped to the floor and Miss Hilliard pointed her gun at Miss Dean and said, "Don't move or I'll kill you."

THE ROYAL LAW: If ye fulfill the royal law according to the Scripture, thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself, ye do well; but if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin and are convicted of the law as transgressors.—James 2:8,9.

Philosophy of Relief One cannot read far in the Bible without being convinced that the doctrine of Christianity, as to daily living, is one of social welfare. The Bible is filled with exhortations to do good—

Ray Back the Loans

Federal loans have been made to numerous farmers in Gray county. There is every reason to believe that that government expects these to be repaid as soon as possible.

We cannot emphasize too strongly the desirability for repaying the short-term loans as soon as the borrower is able. The Panhandle farmers had excellent records when the loans were made; indeed, this record resulted in hastening the loans and obtaining special considerations.

The next case will be in the records and the farmers by their actions will have spoken eloquently. Obviously, therefore, it is vital to maintain a good record so that, if another need arises, the records will justify liberality.

We recognize that not all farmers can repay at once, but all should do so at the first opportunity. The government rightly expects to be repaid. The loan business is separate from relief and should not be confused with it.

On Carrying Firearms

English peace officers do not carry guns. They use clubs instead. The English have a theory that violence begets violence. They think that, if the officers carry guns, the thugs will also arm themselves and much slaughter will result.

Up until recently, the argument seemed plausible. Now, the Associated Press tells us, London business men are being led to doubt the theory. Increasingly, robbers are escaping in motor cars. Policemen armed with guns could stop many fleeing offenders. Now their most potent gesture is to fling a club.

Americanization of English crime, or rather westernization of it, will soon show that an officer less perfectly armed than the criminal is nearly helpless. In this country, the question is how to keep officers as well as desperate criminals.

Stubborn Financing

Opinions about the new securities act are varied enough to make one doubt the oft-heard claim that the act tends to prevent needed financing. Whatever changes are made should be made without destroying the laudable intent of the law.

The securities act was based on no new need. It is no temporary measure. Billions had been fleeced from persons who least afford to lose their savings. It is a deplorable fact that the more frugal many persons are the more easily they are led into fraudulent schemes.

Other countries have long had laws no more drastic than the securities act. The law is based on the belief that investors should be told the truth about their proposed investment. They then can be the judge of competing shares. There is no other safe guide.

American business has too long feared publication of facts. Publicly and privately, we have operated on the theory that figures are not good for the masses. The public has been fed lies, evasions, innuendos, exaggerations, and has not known the truth about the management of the enterprises in which it has invested.

The "new deal" presumes that if a business cannot exist without duping and oppressing the people it should not exist at all. The securities act has a parallel application.

In the opinion of most husbands, the man who "tells his wife all he knows" doesn't know very much.

The American Brewer says beer is getting stronger. Good! Just when everybody feared it was going to die of pernicious anemia.

Just because you're in the red these days is no reason to have the blues.

Notice that Clark Gable had his appendix removed the other day out on the coast. Another big Hollywood opening.

Chicago man died of a heart attack as he was parking his auto. Probably the shock of finding a parking space within four blocks of his destination.

Los Angeles man suffers a neurotic complaint that causes violent throbbing and convulsive pain whenever the radio plays. If they don't soft-pedal the crooners, that's liable to become epidemic.

ROADS

L. A. White, local resident engineer, is supervising the highway 33 project with one assistant. The work is on a 2-mile gap occasioned by a long delay in obtaining the 100-foot right-of-way through the city. The type of hard-surfacing has not yet been announced by the state, which will bear the cost. No increase in the number of men employed is likely tomorrow, but the force will be increased as rapidly as teams, trucks, and tools can be found.

The state highway department and C. E. Swain, representative of the federal bureau of roads, are expected to designate other Gray county roads for immediate construction. Eligible projects are highways 152, a gap in 66, 88, and possibly the Pampa-McLean highway. Unavoidable complications arise as the contract system used by the state is superseded by the supervision of relief workers. However, it is likely that the state will continue to contract for most topping work.

RECOVERY

Pampa employers have generally assumed new financial responsibilities by shortening hours and adding new employees. A spirit of good sportsmanship should prompt us to match their courage and support them through purchasing to the full extent of our ability. If we, as consumers, will add our part to that of employers and the government, there can be no doubt as to the ultimate success of the president's re-employment campaign.

Pampa National Recovery day, September 25, will offer consumers an opportunity to do their part in this great campaign by supporting the merchants who are operating under the blue eagle.

C. H. WALKER, Chairman, Pampa NRA. CROWDS TO THROG PAMPA SEPT. 25 National Recovery day in Pampa September 25—a week from tomorrow—will be a huge success if the consumers cooperate with the same enthusiasm and patriotism evidenced by Pampa merchants.

CUBAN

Meantime shouts of "Down With Sumner Welles," "Down With American Intervention," and "Down With Yankee Imperialism," were resounding at Havana's malecon as 8,000 Cubans paraded in tribute to Mexico's recognition of the Grau San Martin regime.

This demonstration was staged in front of the Hotel Presidente, where Mr. Welles has resided since moving from the Hotel Nacional, in which several hundred former army officers had assembled to back their demand that President Grau San Martin resign.

Welles Not Present. The ambassador was not in the hotel at the time. Gutierrez issued his statement just before leaving the interior department for the Mexican embassy. He warned Cuba's national confederation of labor that it would be responsible in history for the backward step in working masses would take in their battle if America is duplicated. "Buy Now to Save" is a slogan which is particularly timely. National Recovery day should be an event of lasting importance and patriotic significance. Similar events will be held all over the nation to stimulate buying, start new production, and whip the depression.

given the pretext to declare intervention in Cuba. He urged workers to collaborate with the new regime "so as not to be an instrument in the service of imperialist enterprises." His statement was the first of an official nature directly charging American interests with working against the government.

Meanwhile, many Americans in Cuba took added precautions in the face of continued unsettled conditions as the government of President Grau San Martin finished its first full week, harassed by labor conditions and demands for its abdication. Speculation was rife as to the new regime's stability or the lack of it. The seriousness of the strike situation throughout the island in which a number of Americans were concerned, occupied official attention.

Reports from the interior were not encouraging. At Santiago, where conditions have been disturbed for some time, American women left the city and took refuge across the bay at Puerto del Sol.

The situation at Cristo, where 12 Americans were held virtual prisoners of striking manganese miners for several days, still was reported tense. Cristo is a few miles from Santiago.

WHEAT NEARS DOLLAR

CHICAGO, Sept. 16. (AP)—A big buying movement in every kind of grain suddenly developed late today, and wheat jumped almost 4 cents, reaching virtually $1.00 a bushel.

Buoyancy followed advances in securities as well as in free gold, silver futures and British exchange, together with news of N. R. A. code agreement by soft coal operators.

A further notable stimulus came from authoritative reports that the United States, instead of possessing a huge export surplus of 161,000,000 bushels of wheat, has only enough wheat in fact for national good safety needs until the end of the present crop season next June.

Wheat closed strong at the day's peak prices, the highest figures in about a month, 3 3/4-3 7/8 above yesterday's finish, corn 2 3/4 cents up, ates 1/4-1/2 advanced, and provisions showing a rise of 7 to 20 cents.

Wheat trading proceeded at a furious pace as the day approached an end. Speculators who had been selling, rushed to reverse their market position, and there was every evidence that the general public was again in the market buying on a tremendous scale.

Contributing to the upward swing of values were advices that wheat export purchasing yesterday in Canada had totaled as much as 4,000,000 bushels, and that 32 hours of heavy unrelenting rains in the prairie provinces were causing serious threshing delay and damaging the quality of grain.

Surprisingly small arrivals of wheat at all domestic winter drop centers attracted special attention. Notice was also taken of reported plans for extending United States credit to Russia. Assertions were that a loan of between $50,000,000 and $75,000,000 would be made to Russia by the reconstruction finance corporation, the purpose being to furnish funds for export commodity purchases in this country.

Frost possibilities tonight in the Dakotas and Nebraska helped to put corn and oats prices higher. Provisions advanced as a result of enlarged shipping demand.

MINING SHARES LEAD

NEW YORK, Sept. 16. (AP)—Mining shares put new life into the stock market today and prices snapped back emphatically after Friday's shakeout.

The dollar reached new lows against foreign gold currencies and the treasury's gold quotation of metal again advanced. Equities, particularly producing companies, came quickly into the gold group, and their strength eventually inspired other divisions. Net gains ran 1 to 4 points for numerous favorites; Homestake soared 26 to a record high at 352 while U. S. Smelting jumped 8 1/2 to 10.

COTTON CLOSES FIRM

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 16. (AP)—After ruling quiet most of today's quiet session, cotton developed considerable activity in the last half hour of trading, moving up smartly to close firm at net advance of 14 to 16 points.

The opening was steady owing to firmer Liverpool cables than due. After ruling comparatively quiet for a time the market became active and firmer owing to a sharp upturn in stocks which induced shorts to cover freely for over the week-end. Prices advanced sharply October trading as high as 9.53 and December at 9.77, or 15 to 19 points above the early lows. October closed at 9.52 and December at 9.75 or 14 points net higher on the former and 16 points net higher for the latter month.

Samuel F. Pendleton, pianist and teacher, received his musical education from one of Texas best known universities, Baylor, where he studies intensively under Robert Morkham. MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 16. (AP)—U. S. D. A.—Cattle trade at midwestern markets this week was featured by an increased movement of grass cattle while there was a noticeable let-up in shipments of grain fed steers and yearlings. Most all killing classes of cattle were under pressure the first two days of the week, but after Tuesday there was a reaction with early loss partially or more than recovered. It was a buyer's market this week on stocker and feeder steers shipped out of Kansas City dropped down to 3.31 as compared with 4.26 last week. Light weight stockers and stock steer calves are selling upwards to 5.50, but majority of replacement steers cash from 3.00-4.50. Aggregate receipts at nine markets totaled around 196,500 as compared with 173,891 last week and 204,886 the corresponding period a year ago.

Et. Louis had a late box top of 4.35 on 170-230 lb. averages. Fat lamb yearlings and sheep ruled steady to slightly lower. Fat lambs early in the week at Chicago scored 7.85, while on the close nothing sold above 7.50.

Mrs. J. T. Black of Borger was a shopper in the city yesterday.

SHOOTING

Miss Dean, noticing that Miss Hilliard was reloading the gun, jumped across Brown's body to grapple with her, but as she reached her, Miss Hilliard placed the muzzle to her head and fired. She knocked Miss Dean over as she fell.

The pistol, a .32 caliber automatic, contained only one shell but Miss Hilliard apparently held an extra shell in her hand, not knowing how to fill the clip. Officers have been unable to learn where she obtained the gun.

Girl Was Crying

J. T. Lyons was seated in a car in front of the shop at the time of the shooting. He said that he saw Brown enter the shop and that a minute later Miss Hilliard passed beside his car and also went inside. He stated that he went into a nearby cafe and afterward returned to his car as Brown and Miss Hilliard came from the shop. Miss Hilliard was crying, he said, as she started to get into the car with Brown. But he re-entered the store instead of driving away. Miss Hilliard followed and a few seconds later two shots were heard. Lyons had just entered the store when Chief Andrews arrived. Miss Dean left in a highly nervous condition.

Officers recalled a "triangular quarrel" earlier in the week. Both Mrs. Brown and Miss Hilliard paid fines in city court for affray Thursday morning. It was learned by officers that Miss Hilliard had waited in a beauty parlor across the street from the Slinger shop for some time yesterday morning and that she appeared to be exceedingly agitated.

Miss Hilliard attended high school here and was working in a local store when her parents moved to Houston. Brown had been manager of the Slinger agency here for more than a year.

Funeral Not Set

After Justice W. S. Baxter had made a preliminary examination, the bodies were removed to the G. C. Malone Funeral home. Mr. Brown, a resident of Pampa for the last six years, is survived by his wife and three small children, Dorothy, Oleta, and Joe Ben. Other survivors are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brown of Amarillo, five sisters, Mrs. D. S. Nash of Amarillo, Mrs. Bruce Clark of Muskogee, Okla., Mrs. Charles Blackwell of Los Angeles.

WITH THE HARVESTERS

By HARRY E. HOARE

TO JERRY MALIN, Sports Mogul, Amarillo—Tut, tut, Jerry. Do you think for a minute you are pulling the wool over the eyes of your football fans of this city with your usual stories about the Sandy football prospects? "My, oh, my, our football team is so light that it is pitiful. The line will not have a boy in it that weighs more than 163 pounds," writes Jerry. If that be true, Jerry, those boys sure have shrunk a lot since last year, because many of them are known in Pampa.

The fact is, fans, that the Sandies look mighty good at the present time. I played a "sneak" out to Butler field the other afternoon and looked them over before the gates were closed. There are some mighty husky boys in uniform and if some of them don't go near the 200-pound mark, I miss my guess. Captain J. R. Corbett and Mahuran look like worldbeaters lugging the mail, according to reliable information I have received from a friend in Amarillo. He is going to keep me informed as the season progresses.

The Harvesters are not falling for any of the bunk coming from Amarillo. They know that Amarillo always has a good team and their one lesson of a few years ago was enough to teach them a permanent lesson. Where the Harvesters have one man out for practice, the Sandies have three. Lubbock is in the same position and Coach Weldon Chapman is not putting anything "out." Lubbock plays Big Spring on the night of September 22 and then goes against Ranger September 29 in an afternoon game.

Coach Ralph Dorsey, A. & M., has 50 candidates out for the Plainview team and eight of them are lettermen. He has a veteran backfield and two letterman ends, one weighing 190 pounds and the other 160. Captain Ray Farmer will be back at center again and Pampa fans remember him.

Three Killed in Truck Collision

ARAB, Ala., Sept. 16. (AP)—A holiday outing was converted into tragedy near here today as one truck attempting to pass another loaded with 30 persons, sideswiped it, and brought death to three, possibly fatal injuries to two others and serious hurts to three more persons.

The dead were: Mrs. Eva Aldredge of Blountsville, Ala.; Miss Willie Mae Denny, of Rock Springs, Ala.; The more seriously injured are Miss Lydia Nations, 19, and Mrs. Bessie McAdee.

and unless my guess is wrong AGAIN, Borger will be heard from this season. The Borger coach took his Olney Class B team to the finals and defeated McLean for the state title. He has several lettermen around which to build a team.

THE ANNUAL NATIONAL CAMPAIGN JOINED BY GROUP

CAMP FIRE GIRLS launched their annual membership campaign Friday when they made plans to join in "Big Hop" with 200,000 other Camp Fire Girls.

"They have their fuel on, the engine has been looked over, each pilot is ready to go and return not later than midnight, December 1. The sky is the limit!" leaders said.

Nine girls of the local group have received their membership cards. The 1933 charter and guardians certificate were received in August.

The girls have had an enjoyable and inspiring summer, and have done creditable work. All will be ready for the first rank of "Wood Gatherer" which will be bestowed on them at next council meeting.

Girls Finance Club. The girls have financed the club by their own efforts and worked independently. They have made plans for a full happy year following.

Explaining the aims of the organization and the "Big Hop", local leaders said, "Camp Fire is recognized as a constructive force in character building and education. It is a national and international organization planned and supervised by educators. The best plans and ideas on recreation are available to each member. Training courses are conducted for leaders and field workers are sent throughout the country to help and advise them.

"Any girl ten years of age or older may become a Camp Fire Girl. Groups are formed of from 6 to 20 girls under the leadership of a friend who must be eighteen or older. The dues are one dollar a year and most Camp Fire Girls earn the money for their dues, camping and other expenses.

Different Group Types. "Groups may be independent or sponsored by clubs, churches or schools. There are enough girls of Camp Fire ages in Pampa and Gray county to have several groups and eventually form a local council and guardians association.

"How best to use growing leisure hours in an individual problem in which each has a large stake. Americans have but scanty traditional equipment for amusing themselves gracefully and wholesomely. As has been frequently pointed out, men work fewer hours per day and per week and the home tasks of women are less time consuming; child labor has been greatly reduced and though school time has been extended, children may share in growing leisure no less than parents.

Girls Employ Leisure. "The Camp Fire is deeply concerned with problems presented by increasing leisure and hopes to give girls experiences with a type of recreation that is truly satisfying and enriching, appreciation of nature and out of doors, skill in crafts, pleasure in music and other arts, personal participation in social activities that benefit others as well as themselves. This experience we hope will give them a lasting desire for leisure time activities of this type. Only 10 per cent of adolescent boys and girls are reached by recreational organizations, such as ours, but we might count at least the other 90 per cent know what membership means to them.

"Parents and girls who are interested in Camp Fire organization or membership with the Tatapochon group under leadership of Mrs. Bo Barrett and Mrs. Nolan Harris are asked to confer with the girls or the guardians.

"Girls of ages from 10 to 18 are invited to meet with group at the city park, Thursday evening at 4 o'clock, at which time the girls will work on their different projects."

A party at the Skellytown home of Mrs. Bill Loving was attended by a number of Pampa women Thursday afternoon.

Autumn flowers made a colorful setting for five tables of bridge. Mrs. Clarence Barrett received high score prize, Mrs. LeRoy Miller second high, and Mrs. D. L. Cochrane high cut.

A salad course, tea and cookies were served after the games.

The guest list included Mesdames Bert Curry, P. O. Sanders, W. T. Fraser, Julian Barrett, Hightson, H. H. Hicks, Otto Studer, J. M. Lybrand, LeRoy Miller, Arthur Swanson, H. H. Hahn, Clarence Barrett, Edward Dapton, Lynn Boyd, Elyard Low, Bill Smith, Clyde Fathene, Don Conley, Smith, and Cochrane.

Other outstanding speakers are: Mrs. S. M. N. Marrs, Austin, national chairman of budget; Mrs. E. L. Caruthers, Dallas, national chairman of thrift; Mrs. Noy Darling Smith, Austin, national chairman of citizenship; Hon. Nat. B. Washer, San Antonio, president state board of education; Miss Marian Telford, New York City, national chairman of safety; Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent of public instruction; Miss Evelyn Eastman, Dallas, parent education specialist; H. W. Stilwell, Teakarkia, president Texas State Teachers association; Dr. Edythe P. Hershey, Dallas, director of school health work; Dr. E. M. Perry, Dallas; Elmer Scott, Dallas; Miss Virginia Kelly, Louisville; Dr. N. R. Crozier, superintendent Dallas city schools; E. A. Miller, Sherman, superintendent Gray county; and H. F. Alves, Austin, state department of education.

New Features Added. Several new features are being planned for this convention. Informal "sit-downs" are to be held daily so that ample opportunity for the delegates to meet state leaders for consultation and informal conferences, will be given. From the selection of the theme to the closing ceremony, great care has been taken to make this convention of practical help for every delegate in carrying on the work of his local unit.

Other innovations are special features such as radio listening group, home study course, a typical Parent-Teacher association meeting, presented by the Dallas city council, Houston city council, and San Antonio city council. Fort Worth Polytechnic high school orchestra will render several numbers. Sherman artists will contribute many unusual entertaining numbers.

The exhibits will present a visual answer to the question, "What are the services of the state and national congress to parent-teacher associations and individual members?" Congress units will participate thru publicity record-books and program.

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General topic: Solomon, a King Worshipping God. Scripture Lesson: 1 Kings 2:1-11.

1. Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the princes of the fathers' houses of the children of Israel, unto king Solomon in Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of Jehovah out of the city of David, which is Zion.

2. And all the men of Israel themselves unto king Solomon at the feast, in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month.

3. And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark.

4. And they brought up the ark of Jehovah, and the tent of meeting, and all the holy vessels that were in the Tent; even these did the priests and the Levites bring up.

5. And king Solomon and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen, that could not be counted nor numbered for multitude.

6. And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of Jehovah unto its place, into the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubim.

7. For the cherubim spread forth their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim covered the ark and the staves thereof above.

8. And the staves were so long that the ends of the staves were seen from the holy place before the ark; but they were not seen without; and there they are unto this day.

9. There was nothing in the ark save the two tables of stone which Moses put there at Horeb, when Jehovah made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

10. And it came to pass, when the priests were come out of the holy place, that the cloud filled the house of Jehovah.

11. So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud; for the glory of Jehovah filled the house of Jehovah.

Place.—Jerusalem. INTRODUCTION

The two books of Kings relate the history of Israel from the close of David's reign to the Babylonian captivity. The Greek translation (the Septuagint) counts the two Books of Samuel and the two Books of Kings as one work, with or the life of his enemies, he would bestow upon him the wisdom for which he had asked, and exceeding great riches and honor in addition, and also, if he should walk in God's way, his life should be prolonged. This choice of Solomon has ever since stood before the youth of the world, like the fabled choice of Hercules, as a model of what a young man should seek at the outset of his life.

The Wisdom of Solomon

We are at once given a specimen of Solomon's wisdom, in the judgment of cases, the famous plea of the two women both claiming the same babe; whereupon the king ordered the child cut in two and half given to each, and the true mother was discerned to be the one who was horrified and begged the king to give the child to the false claimant rather than kill it. Later (1 Kings 4:29-34) we are told that Solomon was the wisest of all men, so that pilgrims came from distant lands to consult him and hear him. He is said to have spoken three thousand proverbs (we have many of them in the Book of Proverbs) and written a thousand and five songs (among them Ecclesiastes and the Song of Solomon); also Ps. 72 is attributed to him.

Solomon's Temple

It was David's earnest desire to build a great temple to Jehovah, to take the place of the Tent which through so many centuries, mended over and over, had served as the presence-chamber of the Most High. But this honorable ambition of his was denied by the Lord because he was a man of war, and God's house should be built by a man of peace; but he was consoled by the divine promise that his successor should be allowed to erect the sacred edifice. Accordingly, Solomon made the building of the temple one of his chief aims. The temple he built was accounted one of the seven wonders of the ancient world. In building it he had

Ford Motor Company Dearborn, Mich. A safe car makes a safe driver. Henry Ford Dearborn, Mich. A safe car has great influence toward making a safe driver. Car faults will magnify driver faults several degrees, whereas freedom from car faults will go far to nullify many serious driver faults. Car safety depends on two sets of factors: first, what the car itself can do to avoid trouble; second, what protection it can give when trouble comes. In the Ford V-8 the factors that prevent trouble may be summed up in two words—steadiness and obedience. A steady car is one that runs straight and does not weave or wobble or "hunt" all over the road. Our reliable steering gear, our special type of springs and our X-type frame with 4 full-length side members, instead of 2, keep the Ford V-8 steady. Our car hugs the road because its center of gravity is low. It is steady on curves or sudden turns, due to our transverse springs which prevent the car from leaning or rocking or tipping as it makes a turn or a sudden necessary swerve in driving. A car that does not go easily around a curve without swaying or tilting, is not a safe car. An obedient car obeys its accelerator and brake instantly. There is no lagging at the start, no uncontrolled momentum when you want to stop. Instant response when you release the power is as important as instant response when you apply the power. Now, should accident unfortunately occur, the car's protective qualities come into play. In the Ford V-8 they are these: Safety glass eliminates a whole range of danger. Every Ford windshield is made of safety glass. Every Ford de luxe model has safety glass throughout. Our one-piece, all steel, superlatively strong body resists shocks and strain, and affords the highest possible protection to its occupants, and that strength and protection is as great and firm the last year you drive your car as it was the first. Our welded, all-steel spoke wheel (not the common built-up wire wheel, resists disabling shocks and tends to insure the car remaining upright and thus preventing further danger. There are 40 different kinds of steel in your Ford V-8, each developed for use where it will produce the greatest safety—first for prevention of danger—second, for protection from danger. LONG CONTROVERTED BITUMINOUS COAL CODE IS COMPLETED

OPERATORS OF MOST REGIONS SIGN NAMES

LABOR CONTRACTS YET TO BE FINALLY ADOPTED

BY JAMES POSELVAGE, Associated Press Staff Writer.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16 (AP)—The bituminous coal code, fraught with controversy through all the negotiations for its formulation, was signed tonight by the operators of the various producing regions.

The ceremony making the document of strife ready for promulgation by the president. All the way through the troublesome negotiations, it had thrust innumerable difficulties before the administration, obstacles that had been reflected in strikes in the coal fields themselves.

Two nights ago, after an outbreak of fighting in the Pennsylvania strike area, President Roosevelt summoned various leaders of the industry and officials of the government to the White House for a conference. During it, he allowed 24 more hours for the formulation of the code. The 24 hours ended yesterday with the operators still far from their goal. More time was granted.

The work went on through today. There were lengthy debates over ever wage differentials among the various coal fields. Wage disputes, marketing agreements, innumerable details were to be settled.

The draft of the code was completed, but still there were more points to be settled. Contracts had to be signed with the United Mine Workers of America for labor. Hugh E. Johnson, the administrator, went into a series of meetings with the operators shortly before nightfall tonight. Through several hours the conference room debate went on.

Finally, the administrator emerged from a room at the Shoreham hotel to say that the compact would be signed at his office at 7 p. m. Shortly after the time set, the operators began filing into Johnson's office.

The work was not entirely completed when they left. J. P. Francis, one of the operators who had been working with the code for weeks, said the wage agreement between the operators and the United Mine Workers of America had not been completed but that they were in such a stage that only minor details were left.

He predicted that these contracts, which would unionize completely the soft coal fields, would be ratified soon.

Johnson said every group of producers in the country except those from Alabama and Western Kentucky had put their names to the compact.

The administration called President Roosevelt as soon as the task was done, informed him of the result and was told by the chief executive to get some rest before bringing the code to the White House for formal signature and promulgation. It will take effect on the second Monday after the president's signature.

NOW WITH HIS LOVE

By John Peals Bishop, author of MANY THOUSANDS GONE, etc.: Charles Scribner's Sons. $2.50.

This first collection of poems by a writer already widely known is a work very much in the modern movement and reveals a poet whose fructiferous career will be decidedly interesting to follow. NOW WITH HIS LOVE exhibits an amazing virtuosity and takes the reader by storm through the sheer brilliance with which so great a diversity of themes and methods is handled. This book, to be released in October, has the unity given it by the presence of a single and pervasive personality—always, one is conscious of an unusual vehemence and sensitivity.

ENTERTAINING THE ISLANDERS

By Struthers Burt. Charles Scribner's Sons. $2.50.

THE AUTHOR: Struthers Burt, who won his first distinction years ago with his short stories, has enhanced it with each one of his three novels, THE INTERPRETER'S HOUSE, THE DELECTABLE MOUNTAINS and FESTIVAL. He originally came from Philadelphia, has lived much in New York, but now spends most of his time between his winter home in Southern Pines and his summer home in Wyoming. THE BOOK: Profoundly concerned with love, the story begins when David, a clever young writer from the old South, meets Anita, unhappily married, at a smart evening gathering in New York. Both are deeply stirred. Both, being dissatisfied, seek a respite to find themselves on a West Indian voyage. They meet on a tropical island in the Caribbean. Here the story is worked out in exotic surroundings. In the course of much lively incident, often deeply significant and moving, the absurdity of American rule in its attempt to impose strange standards on the native race is amusingly revealed, and in a way to constitute extremely acute comment upon the values of different civilizations. In fact, this is by far the most original of the writer's novels. It is also the most moving and beautiful of them.

MANDOQA, MANDOQA!

By Winifred Holtby. MacMillan company. $2.50. Miss Holtby presents a paragon of the modern world amuck in its greed for adventure and excitement. The events of the story take place in an imaginary principality in the center of Africa, untouched by Europe, except for a slight contact with a movie company "on location."

"The book is a series of interesting happenings, sophisticated situations, intelligent repartee and sheer fun. Among others, the characters involved are: Sir Joseph Prince—the dapper, worldly head of Prince's Tours, Ltd., of London, whose scheming over a hearty lunch affects far-away Africa; Talal—the Lord High Chamberlain of Mandoqa, who has met modern civilization at

Chapter 48 THE MASK

There was no misinterpreting the significance of the substitution of that wig of white hair that the man he had known as Buck O'Mara was pulling on now to replace the one just taken off. Colonel Hargreaves, Heimie Schwarm, Buck O'Mara, the character that was now being assumed, all of those other characters represented by that array of clothing, were one and the same—the Mask.

Collin gripped Sergeant Mulvey's arm fiercely and breathed into the other's ear: "That fawn, checked suit—Heimie Schwarm. That insurance coat—the night he killed Reddy, get it?"

"Sure, I get it!" Sergeant Mulvey breathed back. "And I'll get him. But you stay out of this now, or his mob'll get Clarkie Lunn! Let me see who he is this time."

The erstwhile Buck O'Mara was working with incredible speed, leaning toward the mirror, dabbing swiftly at his face as his fingers dipped into this jar and that. It could have been scarcely more than a minute since he had begun his transformation.

And now he was donning a black coat, buttoning it to the throat. The next instant he had adjusted a steel-rimmed pair of spectacles upon his nose and a cane was in his hand. He turned slightly. It was old Keppelstein.

Sergeant Mulvey's revolver was in his hand and he stepped suddenly out on the floor and toward the other.

"Don't move, O'Mara, or Keppelstein, or whatever you want to call yourself," he said coldly. "The game is up."

The man did not move—he stood there as though frozen to the spot. By there was a sudden whiteness in his face that no pigment could defy, and his lips twisted jerkily for an instant.

"How did you get in here?" he asked hoarsely. "Who are you?" "Never mind how I got in!" snapped Sergeant Mulvey. "And you know damned well who I am. According to your own story you kept pretty close tab on me after you bumped off Reddy Turner. And so you're the Mask! Well, by God, you are well named."

The man shook his head as he faced Sergeant Mulvey now. "You're crazy," he cried out defiantly. "I never heard of him. Who said I was?"

"Out it out!" There was an ominous snarl in Sergeant Mulvey's voice. "Where do you think that's going to get you? You said so yourself—the night you went to Mr. Hewitt's home in that invarnished cloak I see hanging up there."

"The man's eyes roved around the room in a hunted way, and it seemed to Collin that he sagged a little as he supported his weight on the cane in his hand.

"It's—It's a lie!" The man's voice had suddenly become a craven, unnerved whine. "It's a lie—all a lie! I tell you it's a lie!"

"Sure it is!" agreed Sergeant Mulvey contemptuously. "And so's Heimie Schwarm, and Colonel Hargreaves, and Buck O'Mara and old Keppelstein and God only knows how many other aliases you're working—but I'd like to know what the Mask himself looks like when he hasn't got any war paint on. I didn't get a look at your face in that mirror because the back of your head hit it."

He stepped abruptly toward the other. "I think we'll take that wig and those spectacles off, and—"

Swift as a lightning flash the cane swung up from the floor, cutting under Sergeant Mulvey's wrist, knocking the gun from his hand—and, with a jeering laugh, far from the craven, unnerved creature of a moment gone, the Mask leaped for the weapon with the agility of a panther and secured it.

But Sergeant Mulvey, too, was agile. Before the Mask, who had stooped for the revolver, could quite regain his poise, Sergeant Mulvey, hurling himself forward, had borne the other to the floor. And then, like madmen struggling they rolled over and over as they taken him to Cap a l'Orange. But Reddy was dead—and Lazarre was dead now, and his promise to Reddy was no longer binding.

For that reason he had told Sergeant Mulvey at the Wine Press what he then knew about Lazarre; and for that reason here, on his return to this room, extracting it from inside the lining of one of his bags where he had hidden it, he had opened and read the letter Reddy had entrusted to him.

It was a long letter—many pages of it, closely written on both sides of the sheets. He had spent an hour over it. And now he laughed out suddenly—mirthlessly. The memory of that night at the Cascade River and the burning clubhouse came vividly back to him.

A human life was a human life, and even had he then known that Lazarre was the Mask he still might not have acted very differently, but had he known what was in that letter, had he known what he knew now, he would have hesitated long before he had lifted even a finger to save Lazarre's life.

He raised his hand and brushed it across his eyes. Lazarre—the Mask! Queer that he had saved Lazarre's life at all!

The door opened and closed. Sergeant Mulvey came across the room, tossed his hat into one chair, and slumped wearily down in another.

"Began to think I wasn't coming at all, eh?" Sergeant Mulvey flung out. "Well, I couldn't help it. The first check-up started something hot, and I haven't had a minute. Anyway, I've got some news for you. French Peit's real name, you know, was Pierre Mireau. Well, Joe Lazarre's real name was Louis Mireau. They were brothers."

Collin's lips were tight. "I know it," he said. "It's rather ghastly."

"That!" exclaimed Sergeant Mulvey savagely. "Forget it! But how do you know they were brothers? You didn't know it when you were telling me about Lazarre down there in that dump, did you?"

"(Copyright 1933 Frank L. Packard) Tomorrow, Collin learns the whole truth about the Mask.

the efficient aid of his royal friend Hiram King of Tyre, who from the glorious forests of Mt. Lebanon furnished the cedar and fir which formed so great a part of the house of God. Begun in the fourth year of his reign, it occupied seven years in building.

The Site of the Temple On the crest of Mount Moriah, where Abraham offered Isaac and David saw the destroying angel above Araunah's threshing floor, the temple was built. The top of the mount being too small for the purpose, it was built up on all sides so as to form a level quadrangle of perhaps a dozen acres.

Construction of the Temple In the building of the Temple, 160,000 workmen were employed. The time required was seven and a half years, being finished in the eleventh year of Solomon's reign. The cost of the Temple was well nigh incalculable, for "the gold and silver alone accumulated by David are at the lowest reckoned to have amounted to $2,450,000,000."

The Book of Ecclesiastes Having experienced the most and the best earth could give of knowledge, wealth, and pleasure, Solomon, in his declining years, here recorded the lesson of his life. Under the designation of "The Preacher," he summoned men to hear his verdict upon human experience. "Vanity of vanities; all is vanity." Yet this seemingly pessimistic conclusion is reached as the result of human folly and not of divine providence. The point is that, apart from God, nothing satisfies; hence man, to be happy, must come into harmony with God. In the enforcement of this general theme the author writes many useful maxims and practical exhortations.

Dedication of the Temple. The true act of dedication was in Solomon's prayer—one of the greatest prayers in the Bible. "Prayer is not request only, it is fellowship, communion, identification with God; it is the soul pouring itself out just as it will in all the tender compulsion of love, asking God for blessings, praying God for mercies, continuing itself to God in view of all the mystery and peril of the future."—Joseph Parker. Solomon's prayer was all this, for himself and for his people. After prayer comes sacrifice, and Solomon dedicated great offerings of beasts in hallowing the Lord's house. Our idea of dedication is very different from his in form but the same in essentials. Giving must be a part of true worship. Doing, must follow praying. Our religion is an empty sham if it does not empty the purses for the promotion of the Lord's work. The dedication of the temple culminated in the Shekinah glory that enveloped the sacred courts, Vr. 10, 11.

While shooting his plu-perfect 68, the New Yorker was never off the fairway, was short of only a single green and that by a scant two feet, and punched his approaches to the greens with such accuracy that he had old man par as well as Marston staggering back into the ropes.

Barely Qualified

No one in the perspiring crowd that marvelled at Dunlap's play would have suspected the youngster had barely qualified for the match play. Only a lucky putt on the second extra-hole of a playoff last Wednesday morning kept him in the tournament. Thus saved, not once was he hard-pressed as the disposed of five successive opponents, two by the score of 4 and 3, and three by 6 and 5.

ARE BURIAL ASSOCIATIONS LEGAL?

They Are, or at Least May Be If, As and When They Comply With Statutory Requirements, for They Are Governed Exclusively by Local Laws, Says Mr. Kinnear.

By WILLIAM H. KINNEAR, Member of the New Jersey and New Jersey Bars.

"A subscriber writes to ask what states permit burial associations, or, to use his exact words, "in what states are burial associations legal?" The answer is quite simple. Burial associations are legal in any state where the law allows them to operate. And the converse is also true, they are illegal wherever and when ever they fail to comply with statutory regulations concerning insurance companies or societies, since, in their essence, they are engaged in the insurance business.

Where burial associations have come in conflict with the law and been restrained from doing business by the courts, the following reasons have usually been assigned for the courts' actions: Such associations really operate as insurance organizations without giving to those patronizing them any of the protections given by the financially sound and regularly organized insurance company. The costs of members' funerals are defrayed by mutual subscriptions, but no general fund is maintained as a cash reserve to insure the faithful performance of the association's contracts for burial of members. Lacking this cash reserve, the association may find itself suddenly swamped by an unexpectedly large number of deaths in its membership—as the result of an epidemic like that of influenza in 1918-19—and be totally unable to meet its obligations. If this were to happen, members who might have paid their dues or assessments for years would find themselves not only without the protection on which they had counted, but without remedy when they sought to recover the dues and assessments they had parted with during the term of their membership. But even though a cash reserve were maintained by the association (and such associations seldom have sufficient capitalization to enable them to set aside a reserve substantial enough to meet the requirements of state insurance laws) there is still another great objection to its doing business. The membership substantially constitutes an insurance policy; but the real beneficiary of that policy is not the estate or the member nor his survivors, but some "PET FUNERAL DIRECTOR"—often the moving factor in the organization, if not in fact its actual owner and proprietor—designated by the association as its official mortician. Now, this man could not possibly have an insurable interest in the life of a member. An insurable interest is said to exist where someone stands in such a relation to the insured that he would gain by the insured's continued lifetime, and lose by his death. Exactly the opposite condition of affairs exists in case of the burial association, since the association's official mortician would stand to benefit by the member's death, while he would gain nothing at all by his remaining alive. For these reasons Indiana, (1) Kansas (2) and Ohio (3) were among the first states to refuse such organizations the right to operate within their boundaries. There cannot, constitutionally speaking, be anything, how-
