Freighter, Barge Collide on River

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—many as 52 men were aboard the ship and early today up to 25 were not accounted for. There were no confirmed fatalities although three men were listed in serious condition from burns. Most of the survivors were admitted to New Orleans hospitals.

The Union Faith sank at 1:58 a.m. CST, more than five hours after the accident, almost in the middle of the river. The river ranges from 100 to 180 feet deep at New Orleans.

"It happened so fast I couldn't even get dressed to get off," said Yang, of Formosa. "I don't know what was happening when it happened."

He said he was getting dressed at the time to go ashore for the evening.

Saigon Offers Amnesty, Place On Ballot To Reds

Wants Cong to Stop Fight, Change Name

By KATE WEBB

SAIGON (UPI) — President Nguyen Van Thieu and his top peace negotiator in Paris offered the Viet Cong amnesty and a place on South Vietnam's ballot today if they quit fighting and change their name.

"Those now fighting against us who renounce violence, respect the laws and faithfully abide by the democratic processes will be welcomed as full members of the national community," Thieu said in his state of the nation address.

That would include "full political rights," he said.

His top man at the Vietnam peace talks, Pham Dang Lam, told a Paris newspaper that the Saigon government is willing to face the Viet Cong in elections provided the Communists stop fighting and change their name.

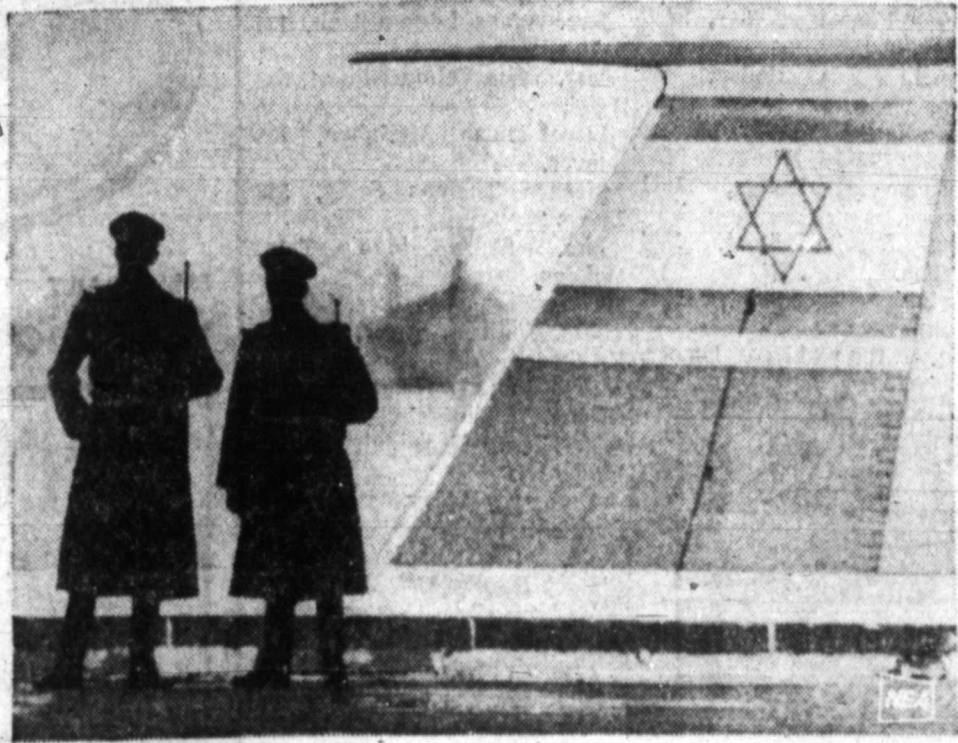

The two statements moved the South Vietnamese government yet closer to accepting the Viet Cong as a political force to be reckoned with, something Saigon adamantly has refused to do in the past.

Thieu rejected any peace proposal by the Communists in Paris, warned politicians in his government against criticizing him too strongly and said the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese had been beaten on the battlefield.

"We sincerely hope the political struggle will be substituted for war," Lam said in the copyrighted Le Figaro interview. "And we are ready, as soon as the fighting stops, to accept general elections—under international control if necessary—whatever the results may be."

He added: "Nothing prevents the members of the (Viet Cong) from taking part in general elections if they change their label."

Thieu in his speech to the nation's assembly proposed a two-party system for South Vietnam and outlined a peace proposal containing six

Israeli, Jordanian Tanks Battle, Guerrillas Claim Airport Attack

By United Press International

Israeli and Jordanian tanks battled nearly an hour today near the Sea of Galilee, a Jordanian spokesman said. In Cairo, Arab guerrillas said they caused heavy damage Sunday at Jerusalem Airport.

Arye Rapaport, manager of Jerusalem Airport, said there was no raid although a gas leak in a kerosene tank exploded.

"It certainly wasn't guerrillas," Rapaport said.

The communique in Amman said the tank clash today broke out along the Jordan River ceasefire line 13 miles south of the Sea of Galilee.

The spokesman said the Jordanians suffered no casualties but claimed to have destroyed an Israeli jeep and damaged a tank in the 50 minutes of gunfire.

In Jerusalem, an Israeli spokesman said Arab guerrillas attacked an Israeli army patrol but mentioned nothing about a tank battle. It said the Israelis returned fire.

"Not Burning" Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan told a students group in Jerusalem Sunday night "The Middle East is not burning. It is not within the power of the Arabs to set it on fire and there is no danger of hostilities between the Americans and the Russians in our area."

In Cairo, the semi-official newspaper Al Ahram said Al Fatah guerrillas carried out a raid on Jerusalem Airport Easter Sunday, fighting Israeli guards in gun battle.

"It was one of the most daring suicidal operations in occupied territory," Al Ahram said. Al Fatah said its men withdrew without casualties.

Al Ahram quoted Al Fatah as saying one commando group blew up fuel tanks at the airport and another group hurled grenades and sprayed the airport with machine gun fire, destroying several planes and military vehicles.

There was no immediate comment from Israel.

35-Minute Battle Jordanian and Israeli troops fought a 35-minute battle with mortars, tank guns and machine guns Easter Sunday along the Jordan River, a Jordanian spokesman said.

Israel said six Arab infiltrators were killed Saturday night in Golan Heights of Syria.

An Israeli communique said the Arab infiltrators were rushing sheep in the occupied Golan Heights and opened fire when Israeli soldiers intercepted them.

In Tel Aviv, Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan Sunday urged his country to establish military bases and outposts in conquered areas "from which there will be no return."

Dayan urged "economic integration of Arabs living there (occupied areas) so as to reduce their dependence on neighboring countries and to demonstrate our ability to coexist with them, much as the 250,000 Israeli Arabs have learned to their advantage."

Viet Cong Intend To Gain Seats In S.V. Government

LONDON (UPI)—The Viet Cong has no intention of negotiating in earnest to end the war in Vietnam until it has won—or is given—seats in the Saigon government, diplomatic sources said today.

Until then, the informants said, the Vietnamese Communists intend to play a waiting game in the belief that the time and U.S. anxiety to "finish with the Vietnam business" are on their side.

The seemingly little progress in the peace talks in Paris and the new offensive by forces of Communists in Vietnam itself are viewed as part of the "few degrees harder" position taken lately by the Viet Cong.

In Contact The diplomats are in contact closely and continuously with both Hanoi and the National Liberation Front, political arm of the Viet Cong operating in South Vietnam. They said the Communists consider a government of coalition in Saigon "a precondition for any peace settlement.

A coalition including representation by Communists has been flatly rejected by the present Saigon government. Communism was declared illegal under a constitution two years ago.

Nevertheless, the diplomats said, the Communists still demand some posts in a coalition—not necessarily the majority of them, but certainly a key few such as the one in charge of security.

The informants said the chances of concealing the Viet Communists are "very limited" because the Viet Cong is banking on impatience by the administration of President Nixon to end the war.

News In Brief

FIVE WOMEN RAPED HOUSTON (UPI) — Five young women have been raped in a northeast Houston neighborhood since last Thursday and police said Sunday they believed a gang of youths was responsible.

The women, aged 17 to the early 20s, have been picked up at gun or knife point at their homes or while they were on dates and taken to secluded spots where they were raped and robbed, said Homicide Capt. C. L. Jobe.

NIXON WARNS PERU WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon told Peru's military government today to expect a cutoff of U.S. foreign aid and broad economic sanctions unless it agrees in three days to pay for an American-owned oil refinery expropriated last year.

The President's message was carried to Peru by John N. Irwin, the special envoy Nixon sent to Lima three weeks ago to work out a settlement guaranteeing the International Petroleum Company full compensation of $680.3 million for the refinery.

TANKER BURNING NEW YORK (UPI) — The molasses-filled Liberian tanker Dorali was reported still burning early today from a fire which swept through her engine room Sunday night. There were no reports of injuries to the 42 on board according to the Coast Guard.

WANTS NIXON'S PLAN Antiwar Movement Holds New Marches

By United Press International

The antiwar movement Easter weekend stepped off its biggest round of marches since Richard M. Nixon was elected President.

Easter Sunday demonstrations were held in San Francisco, Washington—where a mock crucifixion was held in front of the White House—Los Angeles and Atlanta and Tampa, Fla.

Marches were held Saturday in New York, where an estimated 35,000 to 50,000 persons heard march leader David Dellinger say, "The honeymoon is over, except there never was one," and in Chicago, where about 29,000 persons walked down State Street.

Violence-flecked Sunday's march in San Francisco as some 20,000 demonstrators walked 2 1/2 miles from the Civic Center Plaza to the Army's West Coast headquarters at the Presidio to protest soldiers who conducted a sit-down at the presidio stockade.

MPs Injured Thirteen military policemen were injured when about 150 of the San Francisco marchers tried to storm the grounds of the military base. They squirted a chemical substance from bottles and water pistols and threw bottles, beer cans and rocks as the MPs swung the huge iron gates shut.

Seven of the MPs suffered "chemical conjunctivitis," Army doctors said, but were expected to regain their eyesight. Four demonstrators were arrested.

In Washington Sunday, a 13-foot cross was raised on Pennsylvania Avenue outside the White House by 150 persons. (See MARCHES, Page 3)

McCormack Hits Nixon For Delay In Performance

WASHINGTON (UPI) Speaker John W. McCormack prodded President Nixon today to get rolling with his legislative proposals.

While saying he was still not prepared to criticize Nixon "at this time," McCormack nonetheless issued a statement saying Nixon's legislative performance does not compare favorably with that of his predecessor—Lyndon B. Johnson.

The veteran Massachusetts Democrat recently rated Nixon's performance as satisfactory plus. "But today he said the Republican President's delay in sending recommendations to Capitol Hill has made it 'exceedingly difficult' for Democratic congressional leaders to work out a plan for the 91st Congress.

The annual appropriations process also has been slowed by Nixon's failure to submit to Congress his recommended changes in the budget proposed by Johnson, McCormack said.

Most lawmakers were visiting home districts, vacation resorts or points abroad during the session's 10-day Easter recess that will run through Sunday.

McCormack's statement pointed up a growing feeling among Democrats the grace period traditionally allowed a new president by political opponents has about run its course.

Except for his decision to deploy a new antiballistic missile system, Nixon in a little less than three months in office has escaped heavy attack in the Democratic-controlled Congress.

Nixon, who took office Jan. 20, has deferred action on major recommendations while assessing existing programs.

House GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford has praised this course, saying it displays the thoughtful approach desired by the American people.

Fields in which Nixon has made some recommendations include electoral reform, the poverty war, postal reorganization, coal mine safety, extension of the surtax and lifting of the ceiling on the national debt.

GOP sources said messages on crime and tax reform are being readied for delivery soon after the current congressional recess.

Coolley Replaces Artificial Heart

HOUSTON (UPI)—Dr. Denton A. Cooley today began another medical "first" by replacing an unprecedented man-made heart in an Illinois man with a "God-given" heart from the body of a 40-year-old Lawrence, Mass. widow.

The famed surgeon, who only last Friday had stunned the medical world by implanting a synthetic heart into 47-year-old Haskell Karp of Skokie, Ill., started the tedious task of replacing it with a human heart about 7 a.m. CST in a delicate operation at St. Luke's Episcopal Hospital.

The human donor, flown to Houston in a touch-and-go flight marred by mechanical problems aboard the private plane, died at St. Luke's less than 90 minutes after she was rushed to the hospital still in "very, very critical" condition from what the doctors called "irreversible" brain damage.

The woman, whose name was not immediately disclosed, was accompanied by a 22-year-old daughter and left two teen-age daughters behind in Massachusetts.

Mechanical Trouble
The plane, which had picked up the donor at a Boston Airport Sunday night, developed mechanical trouble on the flight here and made an emergency landing at Barksdale Air Force Base near Shreveport, La.

The landing had to be made without flaps and the plane rolled free for 11,000 feet along the sprawling runway of the giant Strategic Air Command base before it coasted to a halt just short of the end of the runway.

Her flight to Houston was delayed about three hours while another stand-by plane was flown from Houston to Barksdale. The plane landed here about 4 a.m. and the donor reached the hospital about 4:30 a.m.

The operation was the 19th human transplant operation performed by Dr. Cooley and the 20th such operation if the one he performed Friday with the synthetic heart was counted.

It was the 124th transplant performed around the world on 122 patients. Forty-one of the previous patients were still alive at last reports.

Tearful Plea
A hospital spokesman did not indicate immediately whether the Massachusetts woman's donation was being made in response to a tearful plea Saturday by Karp's wife for a "God-given" heart to replace the man-made one.

The spokesman said the donor's brain damage was not caused by injury, but was the outgrowth of a medical problem. They were not sure of the exact cause of the ailment.

Dr. Cooley had said Friday night that he was not sure how long the implanted mechanical heart would work without replacement, but indicated it might last at least two weeks or more.

That stepped up the tempo of the search for a human donor and also prompted Mrs. Karp's hand-written plea which she also made on television.

He was given a two-year probated sentence.

unite and reorganize to form a constructive opposition group."

Opposition Party He made it clear the opposition party could not include Communists. It would consist, Thieu said, of persons who "disagree with my policies in method and not ideology because the Communists are the only ones who disagree in ideology."

Interrupted by applause several times, the South Vietnamese president called his peace platform "a reasonable and solid basis for the restoration of peace in Vietnam." In his address, Thieu:

Called on North Vietnam to "give up its attempts to conquer the Republic of (South) Vietnam by force."

Lefors Boy Saves Companion's Life

LEFORS—A 16-year-old Lefors boy possibly saved the life of a 17-year-old companion Sunday.

The two boys were working on a car in the bus barn at the high school here when a drop light apparently fell, broke and then ignited gasoline.

Terry Walker, 17, caught fire and Charles Eudey, 16, a Lefors sophomore and son of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Eudey, rolled Walker in dirt and sand until the fire was put out in his flaming overalls.

Walker was rushed to Highland General Hospital, where his condition was described as satisfactory this morning.

The boy suffered burns on his hands and Eudey was also burned on the hand.

All buses in the barn were taken out without damage, but the car the two boys were working on was a total loss.

There was no estimate of damage to the bus barn, but smoke and fire damage was heavy.

The Lefors Fire Department rushed to the scene and brought the fire under control quickly.

Wade-In Uncovers One Bare Bosom

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (UPI)—One bare bosom among 25,000 frolicking college students isn't much of a protest demonstration.

But despite all the publicity by the Sexual Freedom League, only one bikini top dropped on beach-plashed Fort Lauderdale beach Sunday, and that may have been an accident.

The league's nude wade-in, so to speak, was a bust. "A 36-inch bust, to be exact," opined one policeman.

The mass skinny dip was planned to climax the Easter holidays on this south Florida seashore, a girl-watcher para-

Easter Egg Hunt Discovers Bodies

LANDER, Wyo. (UPI)—A group of children on an Easter egg hunt leg authorities to the discovery of the bodies of two teen-aged girls, ending a search that began last November.

The discovery of the first body came Friday when a group of Sunday School children hunting Easter eggs found the one girl in a shallow grave, just north of here.

Law officers launched another search and found the second body submerged in a nearby irrigation ditch, about a half-mile away. Both bodies were fully clothed, authorities said.

Fremont County coroner Larry Lee Sunday definitely identified the two victims as Dee Ann Smith, 15, and Vicki Mathers, 16, both of Lander. The girls disappeared last November after leaving a homecoming bonfire rally.

Lee said the Smith girl, whose body was found in the irrigation ditch, died of a knife wound to the heart, Miss Mathers died of multiple stab wounds.

Lee said he planned to hold an inquest into the deaths later this week after autopsy reports have been completed.

Sheriff C. A. McDougal said a search of the area where the bodies were found failed to turn up any trace of the murder weapon. A ripped and blood-stained coat, believed worn by Miss Mathers, was found across the county road from where her body was found.

Pampans' Nephew Injured in Accident

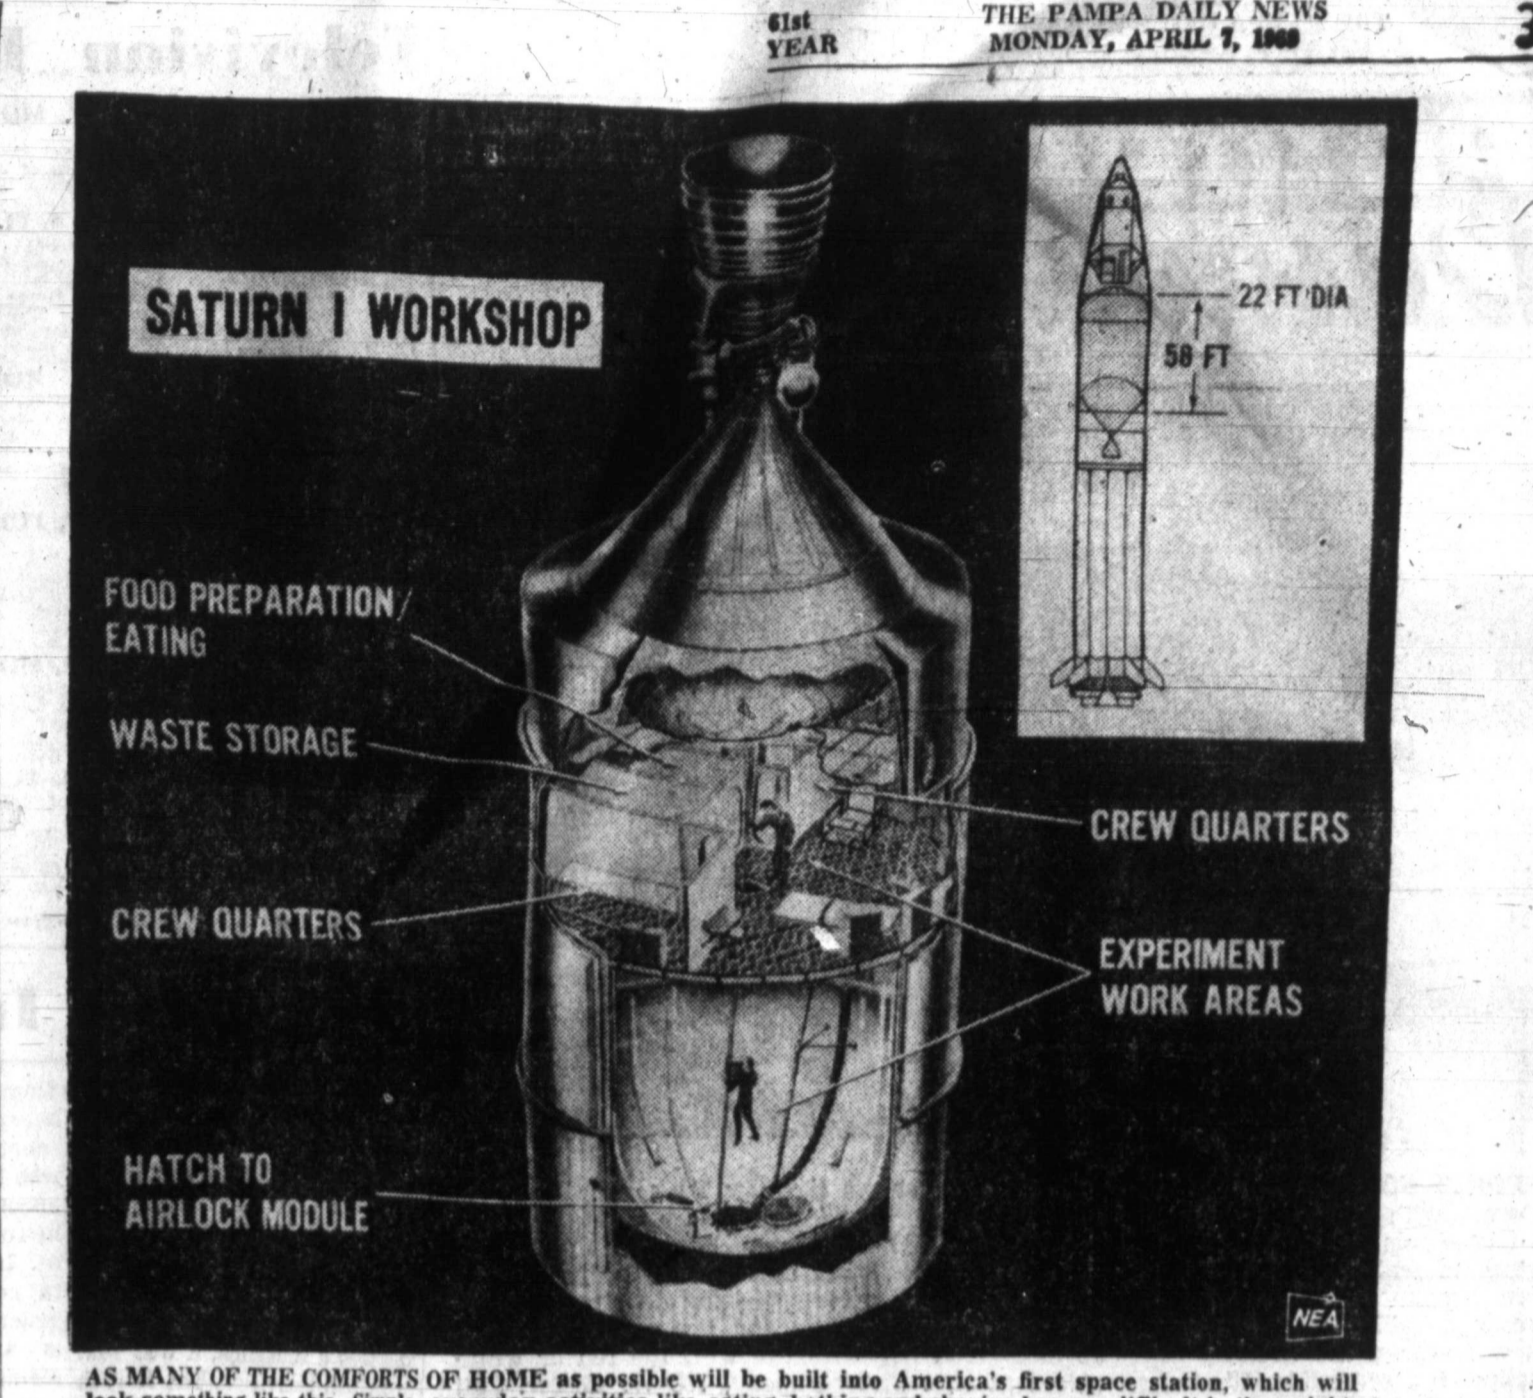

Coy Joe Beasley, critically injured in a highway crash early Friday morning near McLean, still is in a coma, according to Mrs. F.T. Pepper, 1064 Prairie Dr. whose husband is an uncle of the young man.

Mrs. E.B. Schaub, Jr., 813 N. Wells, is the young man's aunt.

With Beasley at the time of the accident was Vicki Parrish, 20, of Shamrock, who received a pelvic fracture and body lacerations.

Both are hospitalized at Northwest Texas, Amarillo.

The collision occurred under the bridge, a key connecting link between downtown New Orleans and the heavily populated West Bank, halting traffic for more than an hour. The bridge was later reopened to all but trucks.

"I heard an explosion and when I looked up, the barge was blazing," said Donald Bogle, a safety director with the Louisiana Stevedores Association, who was working nearby.

He said the flames from the collision rolled as high as the bottom of the bridge and the ship's bow was sticking into the barge.

The burning ship was finally anchored about a half mile upriver from Canal Street in the French Quarter. Fireboats poured tons of water onto it and early today the primary fire was coming from a load of plastic flowers from Japan in one hold of the ship.

The barge broke into several pieces and floated downriver, giving the impression for a time that a blazing oil slick was floating on the water.

Marches

Four youths draped themselves over the arms of the cross while other demonstrators marched around it and chanted, "What is the President's plan to end the war?"—referring to Nixon's campaign promise that he had a plan for ending the Vietnam War—and "Where is the resurrection?"

Nixon was in Key Biscayne, Fla., for the Easter weekend and did not see the demonstration.

In Los Angeles, seven persons were arrested as some of nearly 4,000 peace demonstrators spat back at American Nazis and Cuban refugees during an Easter Sunday march. The first spitting occurred when the marchers encountered 10 Nazis flying a large red flag along the Wilshire Boulevard Parade route to the MacArthur Park rally. The second occurred when 15 to 20 Cuban refugees barged into the street, spitting and throwing objects.

Weekend Vigil
A weekend vigil at the Georgia state Capitol in Atlanta ended Sunday with a march and rally honoring Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. and protesting the war. The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, executive director of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, addressed the crowd and the nation:

"You burn people in the Mekong Delta and starve people in the Mississippi Delta. You condemn hippies for cutting flowers but you are sanctimonious about generals who drop bombs."

Mrs. Pullen Gets Husband's Medal

Mrs. Robert (Pam) Pullen, wife of Robert Pullen, who was killed in Vietnam Jan. 6, 1968, visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Redmond, 1137 Jupiter, over the Easter weekend. She reported having received recently, in her late husband's name, the Military Medal from the South Vietnamese government. The presentation was made shortly before she left Houston, where she now resides.

The citation read that the Medal was for "outstanding service to the South Vietnam government" and is comparable to the Bronze Star awarded by the US government. Mrs. Pullen says. Not many such awards have been made to US servicemen, she said.

Mrs. Pullen currently is employed by General Motors Corp., Houston. She plans to enroll at the University of Houston in the fall.

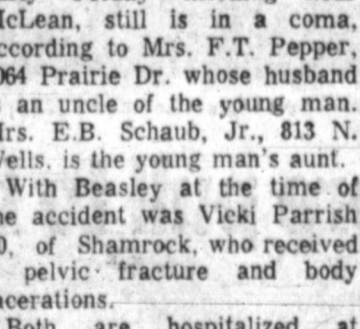

Two Bonds Set

Two bonds were set by Justice of Peace E.L. Anderson over the weekend.

Bond of $1,000 was set for Gary Lynn Rux, Canadian, on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Otis Eul Gist, 42, 600 N. Davis, had a $500 bond set for driving while license suspended.

Television In Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Concerning the cancellation by CBS-TV several days ago of the Smothers Brothers series for next season, it is significant to recall a certain fact:

Some time after the brothers' series bowed in on the network, and was a sensation, it was sold to British television. The British canceled it rather quickly, contending, in part, that it was very mild stuff and they couldn't understand what all the shouting was about.

In today's context, what does this mean? Is the rest of the world going to pot even more quickly than some Americans think we are? Is the historic strain of puritanism still more strong in American life than we suspected? Is it just a basic business dispute between the network and the brothers? Is it the personal dislike between them? Was the weekend firing made easier by the ratings slip of the series?

It is rather a complex mess. And this is the first of a group of articles that will discuss the Smothers Brothers situation, the backlash against alleged salaciousness in the arts, the very definite nervous state of affairs at all the networks, fears of impending censorship, the Senate investigation into video sex and violence, and related items.

The articles will start with the basic assumption that the NEW YORK (UPI)—Peace hopes offer the only incentive for an upswing in the market at present, according to Harris, Upham & Co. The company says that the sharply oversold condition that existed late in February has now been cancelled, the income tax surcharge continued, the 7 per cent investment credit will be reduced or eliminated, and the administration and the Federal Reserve Board appear determined to check inflation. Investors, therefore, should exercise caution, the firm believes.

The weak part of the anti-bullish argument concerning the stock market, W.E. Hutton & Co. says, is the huge and growing accumulation of cash in the hands of institutional and private investors. No matter how much deterioration exists in the liquid position of banks and corporations, the firm adds, the liquid position of potential and actual common stock investors is improving rather than declining.

Bache & Co. notes that investors continue to stand on the sidelines, lacking any concrete developments from the Paris peace talks and any significant indication that economic restrictions are becoming effective. What may develop, the firm says, is a "trading type of market with short term swings taking the place of a definitive trend."

With interest rates at historically high levels and the market uncertain, convertible bonds may be a particularly suitable investment at this time, Reynolds & Co. says. The bonds offer fixed potential appreciation combined with limited downside risk, the firm points out. The lower price limit is protected by the fact that a bond will usually stabilize in an area where it affords an interest rate competitive with comparably rated fixed income securities, it adds.

NOT TO RETURN
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two Cuban diplomats at the United Nations, Chafik Zenni and Jesus Escobar, have been ordered not to return to New York by the State Department. Qualified sources in the department said the pair engaged in spy activities and gave money to militant black groups such as the Black Panthers.

Window on the World:
Mideast Talks: Mideast experts see little hope for early concrete results from the Big Power search for a solution to the Arab-Israeli conflict. They expect the talks to go on for weeks and even if a Big Four formula is to be found, its simultaneous acceptance by Arabs and Israelis is considered unlikely. No Arab leader could survive major concessions to the Israelis who in turn are unlikely to accept anything short of powerful safeguards including territorial gains.

Pressure on De Gaulle Eased: President Charles de Gaulle may not have to devalue the franc after all. Inflation is now beginning to show some signs of leveling off, the strain on the reserves has been slowed to a trickle and French industrialists report that their export orders are higher than ever before.

Widely Open Race: The Philippines opposition Liberal party can't make up its mind on the candidate who will oppose President Ferdinand E. Marcos in next November's elections. Sen. Sergio Osmena won a close straw poll by a narrow margin in last month's unofficial Liberal convention but Osmena's rivals refuse to recognize it. As a result, some leaders are advocating a wide open, all-comers affair when the party meets formally in June.

Nationalist Chinese observers on Formosa are predicting that Peking will take an even harder line toward the United States and the Soviet Union after conclusion of the ninth congress of the Chinese Communist party. They say the promotions of Chiang Ching-wei of party Chairman Mao Tse-tung, and Chen Po-ta, chief of the cultural purge on the Communist mainland, indicate the hard-liners dominate the party hierarchy. They predict the Red Chinese will attempt to take advantage of the renewed Soviet-Czechoslovak crisis and possibly create more troubles along the long China-Russia border in the near future.

Charles Miller's bird won first place in a recent race of the Top O' Texas Racing Pigeon Club. The bird flew 669.54 yards per minute, or about 30 mph.

Second place went to Gordon Miller, Pampa, whose bird flew 664.78 ypm, or approximately the same mph.

The next two places, in order, were won by A.P. Coombes, Pampa, whose bird flew individually 660.78 and 660.78 ypm.

Jim Cantrell's bird, placing fifth, flew 667.77 ypm.

A total of 11 birds was sent by members of the club residing at Pampa, White Deer, Berger, and Skellytown. The birds were delivered to release point by Walter Thomas, White Deer.

The weather at Clovis at 7:30 a.m. was clear with a slight breeze from the northeast. On the return trip the racers ran into more wind and possible moisture. They arrived back in Pampa about 1:30 p.m.

Dear Abby

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We are ordinary married people with no big problems, but there is a little one which gives me trouble. I like to do my housework in the nude. I don't know why, but I just enjoy the freedom of not having any clothes on. I am no nudist, and would not think of appearing that way in front of anybody but my husband. Is that so peculiar?

My husband knows this, and he doesn't think it is right, so I have to start getting dressed just before he gets home from work.

Don't tell me it's bad for the children because we don't have any. My husband bowls once a week and belongs to the Knights of Columbus, and I do not say anything about his preferences, so do you think it's fair for him to say anything about mine?

you are in good health, and qualify for a driver's license, take a course in driver-education. If you pass the tests, there will be no question about whether or not you are qualified to drive.

DEAR ABBY: "Ella," a waitress in Newark, wrote that she can always tell whether a man is with his wife or his girl friend by the size of the tip he leaves, because a man is always more generous when he's with his girl friend.

Well, if we ever go to New Jersey, I must remember to ask my husband to forego his usually generous tipping habits. I'd hate to have the waitress conclude that we were traveling in sin.

Your Horoscope

JEANE DIXON

FOR TUESDAY, APRIL 8 YOUR BIRTHDAY Tuesday:

Success depends on your drive toward specific goals. Listen to your own guidance rather than outside opinion. Take the initiative at every opportunity. Decide what you want to be and keep that in mind. Tuesday's natives often possess great energy, sometimes talent for theater.

ARIES (Mar. 21-Apr. 19): — Adventure beckons and the unexpected is likely. Unconventional people pop up! In planning, give some thought to the pathway once the adventure is completed. A new job requires a rather conservative approach and Tuesday is not an exception.

TAURUS (Apr. 20-May 20): — Contract negotiations and close relatives have their surprises ready for you. Both turn out to be beyond what you had thought. Hasty reactions do not produce the desired results.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): — Social matters and the movements needed to serve them dominate the day. Attract the attention of people important to you. Travel and visiting will produce erratic but very interesting results and new acquaintances.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): — Requirements for public affairs and business with officials and consultants are facilitated. Leave off the labors of the day at the earliest reasonable hour and seek pleasant diversions for the evening.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): — Pause a moment this morning to note the changes in your life and working conditions — there may be some little thing to do about them now.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): — Joint or family financial and insurance arrangements are up for review. Taxes enter consideration — there is something you need to know before being ready to cope with the coming deadline.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): — Emotional ties are strong, declare your feelings where it counts. Your regular work should not be neglected and should be a bit easier to organize than usual.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): — Tuesday is best for clearing off unfinished business, loose ends. Bring your correspondence up to date. Friends and relatives are not very helpful for the moment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): — All sorts of risky speculations beckon. Take a skeptical and philosophic approach rather than follow your immediate emotional response. Your own patterns are shifting slightly, so give your intuition plenty of time to compensate for strong stimulus.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): — Those you love are actively involved in your affairs.

posing a delicate choice between their judgment and yours. Handling the situation comes naturally according to the strength of your feelings.

PISCES (Feb. 19-Mar. 20): — The unexpected turn of finances is likely due to intervention of friends in your plans. The things that happen contain lessons for you. Conquer the temptation to find fault.

Proper Suds for You

If you're a soap and water girl with oily skin, try washing your face with a medicated drying soap or a hypoallergenic type. Be sure to rinse your face thoroughly.

A Soft Touch

With fashion emphasis on rings this year, hand care is essential. A good once-a-week lightening and softening treatment is a 10-minute soaking in a mixture of lemon juice and baby oil. Because the baby oil benefits your nails and cuticles, too, this treatment is best done before your manicure.

If leg grooming is a never-ending process for you, try combining the shaving and softening process. Instead of using shaving cream or soap on your legs, apply baby oil and then shave. The result: smooth, soft legs in half the time.

President to Open Baseball's 100th Year

By United Press International President Richard M. Nixon and Ted Williams, two of Washington's prominent new arrivals, were the key figures today when baseball, newly structured this year with four six-team divisions opened its 100th season. President Nixon was called on to observe a tradition dating back to 1910—throwing out the first ball at Washington, where the Senators, under new Manager Williams, baseball's last 400 hitter, play host to the New York Yankees to initiate the American League season. More than 44,000 persons were expected to watch as the President continued the tradition first observed by William Howard Taft 59 years ago. Williams, undertaking the strenuous task of lifting the Senators from the American League cellar, nominated Camilo Pascual (13-12 last year) as his starting pitcher, opposing New York's Mel Stottlemyre. The National League's traditional opener at Cincinnati matched the Reds, baseball's oldest club at 100 years, against the Los Angeles Dodgers. San Francisco will be in Atlanta tonight as an added icing to the 100th anniversary cake. Gary Nolan, who won't be 21 until next month, was tabbed as the Reds' starting hurler against Dodger ace Don Drysdale. Nolan, hampered by an arm injury early last season, bounced back late in the year to win nine games. Drysdale, the veteran right-hander, set a major league record last season, pitching 58 consecutive scoreless innings while accomplishing six straight shutouts. The Dodgers, without center fielder Willie Davis, had rookies Ted Sizemore at short, Bill Sudakis at third and Willie Crawford in center in their opening lineup. Ace right-hander Juan Marichal will be on the mound for the Giants against the Braves' Pat Jarvis. Marichal won 26 games last season with only nine losses. Jarvis was 16-12. In Sunday's exhibition finale, Cincinnati downed Detroit 5-3. Cleveland shut out Montreal 8-0. Philadelphia blanked Baltimore 5-0. Pittsburgh beat Washington 5-2. St. Louis edged Kansas City 6-5. The Chicago White Sox beat the Chicago Cubs 5-3. San Francisco ripped the New York Yankees 8-1 and Houston topped Boston 8-5. Also, the New York Mets ripped Minnesota 12-4 in a seven-inning first game of a scheduled doubleheader. The second game was called in the bottom of the fifth with the Mets leading 5-1. San Diego beat Seattle 8-2 before dropping the second game 4-3. Oakland downed California 8-6 in 12 innings.

Pascual Has Mound Duty for Washington

By MILTON RICHMAN WASHINGTON (UPI)—A man no longer in his prime playing a game that's supposed to be dying accomplishes what all the statesmen in the world can not today when, for a few hours anyway, he unites two countries that don't even speak to each other anymore. The man who'll do this is Camilo Pascual, a member of the Washington Senators, a native of Havana, Cuba, and at 35, still one of the best pitchers in baseball on any given day. Pascual officially opens the 1969 baseball season by making the first pitch to Horace Clarke, leadoff batter for the New York Yankees, and when he does, President Nixon and Cuban Premier Fidel Castro are among those who'll be rooting for him even if they don't come right out and say so. The President will be on hand personally at Robert F. Kennedy Stadium and he'll be pulling for Pascual and the rest of the Senators for any number of reasons. Primarily, who ever heard of anybody going out to the ballpark and not rooting for the home team?

SPORTS PARADE

except one fellow." Re-living the game for a moment, Pascual glanced around the Senators' dressing room until his gaze lit on one man, Ted Williams. "Film," Camilo laughed, "The big boy. Remember that tree they had behind right field in the old ball park? The ball he hit went over the tree. It must have been 500 feet. He hit a fast ball and he was the only guy I didn't strike out that day." Pascual didn't feel too badly though because the Senators won that day and any day his team wins is a good one for him because he's a pro and can give lessons to other ballplayers on how to act like one. Dwight D. Eisenhower threw out the first ball that opening day in 1960 at Griffith Stadium and was among those who saw Pascual set down the Red Sox. Richard M. Nixon, then vice president, also attended that performance. Nine years have made a difference for both Nixon and Pascual. A big difference. But at 12:30 p.m. CST today the later will walk out to a small mound of dirt in the middle of a diamond here and show the former that there is more than one way of bringing two countries together—even if it's only for a few hours.

Pampa Nine Travels to Caprock Tuesday

By RON CROSS Pampa High School spring sports athletes, with the exception of baseball players and their respective season this weekend. Golf, track and tennis athletes compete for what will probably be the last time Friday and Saturday when district events are held in Plainview and Amarillo. The fifth and final round of the District 4-4A golf meet will close in Amarillo Friday with Monterey holding a 15 shot edge going into the final 18 holes of play. Pampa, way out of the lead, will hope to save face by moving out of last place and past two or three foes. The district track meet will take place in Plainview Saturday and a couple or three Harvesters could qualify for the regional meet slated later this month in Odessa. Paul Anderson, Denny Johnson and Scotty King could all qualify for the regional. Pampa netters, who have played well all season, begin district competition Friday and will continue through Saturday in Amarillo. The Harvester tennis team could qualify several boys and girls for regional honors. Tracksters from Lee and Pampa Junior Highs journey to Borger Saturday for a 7-8-9th grade meet. Pampa baseballers will try Tuesday to break out of a five game losing slump when they journey to Amarillo and a 4 a.m. game with Caprock. Friday the Harvesters host Coronado at 4 p.m. and host Plainview at 1 p.m. Saturday. Both games will be played at Optimist Club park. The Harvesters are currently in last place in the district with an 0-5 record. Plainview and Monterey lead the league with 4-1 marks while Borger, Tascosa, Coronado and Palo Duro are one game back.

'Horns 3 1/2 In Front

By United Press International With the Southwest Conference baseball season reaching the halfway point, it seems obvious the only race left is for second place. The Texas Longhorns stand as the class of the conference after bumping off their nearest rival with ease, reaching the midway point in their schedule without a loss and moving out in front of the rest of the league by 3 1/2 games. Texas heads into this weekend's conference series against TCU (5-4) traveling to Rice, which dropped to a 4-3 mark with its triple loss to Texas. SMU (1-9) travels to Tulsa for two non-conference games on Friday and Saturday. Texas Tech wound up last week in a tie with A&M after winning two of three games against SMU. Tech won the Friday doubleheader by 2-0 and 4-0 counts, but the Mustangs came back on Saturday to win their first conference game of the year 8-6. TCU, which got off to a slow start by losing its first three games to Texas, swept a series from Baylor, winning by 6-1, 4-3 and 10-4 margins. "We tried to pitch him every way we knew how," said Rice coach Doug Osburn. "He hit everything we threw up there." All four of Chalk's four home runs in the Friday doubleheader sailed comfortably over the 350-foot sign in left field. Texas won the first game of that twin bill 5-3 and then nailed Rice 8-2 on Saturday. Texas Tech and Texas A&M, each with 4-2 league marks, are the teams closest to Texas, and those two must battle it out this weekend at College Station. The other conference series finds TCU (5-4) traveling to Rice, which dropped to a 4-3 mark with its triple loss to Texas. SMU (1-9) travels to Tulsa for two non-conference games on Friday and Saturday. Texas Tech wound up last week in a tie with A&M after winning two of three games against SMU. Tech won the Friday doubleheader by 2-0 and 4-0 counts, but the Mustangs came back on Saturday to win their first conference game of the year 8-6. Orioles Cop Spring Title, Cards Take East

By United Press International The Baltimore Orioles, expected to battle the World Champion Detroit Tigers for supremacy in the American League's Eastern Division, compiled the best exhibition record in spring training. The Orioles won 19 of 24 games to finish with a stunning .792 percentage. The Tigers, who had their troubles this spring, finished fifth with a dismal 9-17 mark. The Chicago White Sox took honors in the Western Division with a 14-12 mark, barely nosing out Minnesota (12-12). St. Louis and San Francisco, the National League's playoff contenders, justified that confidence in pre-season play. The Cardinals were tops in the East, posting a 16-9 mark to edge out the surprising New York Mets, while San Francisco easily took Western honors with a 19-7 record. The Denver Rockets are trying to prolong the professional coaching tenure of their coach, Bob Bass. Larry Jones and Walt Platkowski led the Rockets to a 122-119 victory over the Oakland Oaks Sunday night that evened the Western Division playoff series between the two American Basketball Association teams at a game apiece. Bass will leave the Rockets at the end of the post-season playoffs to become head coach of Texas Tech in the Southwest Conference. Oakland, which won the regular season title going away.

Celtics Go 1-Up In NBA Playoffs

By United Press International Like vintage wine, the Boston Celtics improve with age. Spurred by 35-year-old player-coach Bill Russell, the Celtics, seeking their 11th National Basketball Association playoff championship in 13 years, took another step towards attaining that goal Sunday afternoon by beating the New York Knicks, 108-100. Unfortunately for the Knicks, who were coming off an impressive four-game sweep of Baltimore in their playoff opener, Russell wants another championship and he doesn't intend to let New York stand in his way. The second game in the series is at Boston Wednesday night. In the only other playoff series, Atlanta moved to within one game of winning its Western Division semifinal series against San Diego by downing the Rockets, 112-101.

The two teams meet again tonight in San Diego and a victory by the Hawks would place them opposite Los Angeles in the Western finals. The Lakers advanced by ousting San Francisco in six games. Los Angeles dropped the first two of the best-of-seven series, but rebounded with four straight triumphs, the clincher coming Saturday night, 118-78.

Stuart Signs With Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Dick Stuart, the California Angels' spring leader in home runs with four and second in runs batted in with 14, was signed to an Angels' contract today. Stuart, 36, came to the Angels' spring camp as a free agent after spending the past two baseball seasons in Japan.

Littler Ups Money Lead With Greensboro Victory

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI)—"If Jack Nicklaus is playing good, we don't even have a chance there." Tom Weiskopf was talking Sunday after the Masters tournament after he had lost the Greater Greensboro Open (GGO) championship in a sudden-death playoff to Gene Littler—the second time he had been beaten in the GGO in a playoff. But Weiskopf added "I don't know how Nicklaus is playing now." The prestigious Masters gets under way this week in Augusta, Ga. Nicklaus, as well as Arnold Palmer, passed up the GGO to practice at Augusta for the Masters. Nicklaus has won the Masters three times, and Palmer is a four-time winner at Augusta. Palmer had been a regular at Greensboro but he failed to make the cut last year in the Masters and decided to pass up the GGO to practice at Augusta. Littler beat Weiskopf, PGA champ Julius Boros and Army veteran Orville Moody in the playoff Sunday to win $32,000 in first prize money in the GGO so go with the more than $54,000 he had won in previous events this year, making him golf's leading money winner in 1968. But the 38-year-old Littler, who had finished the GGO's regulation four rounds in a tie at 10-under-par 274 with the other three players, had to go through five playoff holes before he connected on the 14th hole with a 442-yard, par four 15th hole shot to give him a 4-3 victory in the playoff series. And the next two-time winner this year, the Phoenix Open, will be played at home.

Boros, Moody and Weiskopf got $12,373 in prize money. Tulsa, Blazers Battle Tonight By United Press International The rampaging Dallas Black Hawks whipped Omaha 4-1 Sunday night, winning back-to-back playoff sweeps in the Central Hockey League and just waiting to take on the next challenger. The next one will be the Tulsa Oilers of the Tulsa-Oklahoma City best-of-seven playoff series. It could be decided Wednesday night. Tulsa Oiler Gray Marsh scored a slap shot in overtime to give the Oilers a 4-3 victory in the playoff series. And the next meeting, Wednesday is on favored ground for the Oilers—at home. The Black Hawks Sunday eliminated Omaha in three straight games after earlier disposing of quarter-finals opponent Houston in the same manner.

Unsold Named Top Rookie

By NBA Board NEW-YORK (UPI)—Wesley Unseld, the All-America center from Louisville who propelled the Baltimore Bullets from last place in 1968 to the top of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division, today was named the league's Rookie of the Year by a better than 2-1 margin. Unseld, who despite his comparatively small 6-foot-7 1/2-inch height managed to finish second in rebounding only to Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain, received 53 votes from a panel of sports writers and sportscasters. Elvin Hayes, San Diego's young center, was second with 25 votes.

Hard Or Soft Line?

Several weeks ago, the Rev. Theodore M. Hesburgh, president of the University of Notre Dame, announced a hard-line policy against students who engaged in disruptive demonstrations on the campus: instant suspension. He also said police would be summoned immediately to quell any campus disturbance. "Somewhere a stand must be made," Father Hesburgh said.
The stance taken by Notre Dame was applauded by President Nixon and other public figures, who, in general, agreed that legally constituted authorities should run the school — and not the students — a position we heartily endorse.
The Wall Street Journal, however, checked around at colleges and universities over the country and found that a majority of the administrators didn't cotton up to the Hesburgh idea. "Confrontation," the Journal said, was a nasty word with the administrators, most of whom would prefer to talk things over and maybe give a little rather than face a win-lose proposition.
"The word among the administrators," the Journal said, "is moderation — cool, calculated and conciliatory strategies designed to grant legitimate student demands, defuse unrest, isolate the student radicals, and, above all else avert chaos."
"I think there's an increasing feeling that you'd better choose the right time and the right place for being. If you choose it too soon, you lose. If you choose it too late, as Columbia did, you also lose."
Erick A. Walker, president of Pennsylvania State University, says he will seek expulsion of any students interfering with normal university functions. "If they prevent any student from going to class, if any professor is prevented from teaching a class," he says, "the ax will fall."
Frank Ashmore, a vice president of Duke University, noted that black students who had occupied an administration building had been dealt with leniently, but warned that future disruptive protests will be handled in a stern manner. "We'd be inviting anarchy otherwise," he says. "If one group can get away with it, why shouldn't another group come in with a new set of demands next week?"
Mr. Ashmore is so right. College and university administrators eventually are going to have to draw the line and take a stand. And the sooner they emulate it. "At some perennally beleaguered schools," the article said, "administrators have exhausted all alternatives but harsh measures. And some university officials are under strong pressure from state legislatures to deal sternly with student agitation."

While the administrators ponder their options, another force is changing the situation on many campuses. Moderate students, tired of being manipulated by a minority of radicals, are organizing to promote moderate ends. Serious students and faculty members are protesting disruption of the academic process. At some schools, the radicals, finding themselves in growing disfavor, are softening their methods and their demands.
The Journal published the opinions of other administrators on the matter. Here are a few: F. Donald Eckelmann, dean of Brown University, Providence, R.I.:
"You need a completely intimidated student body to make that sort of statement (a statement like Hesburgh made) and get away with it. I think that it will come back to haunt him. We'd never consider that sort of approach here."
Edward D. Eddy, president of Chatham College, Pittsburgh:
"I think there's an increasing feeling that you'd better choose the right time and the right place for being. If you choose it too soon, you lose. If you choose it too late, as Columbia did, you also lose."

S. Viet Can Shed Yoke As S. Korea Did

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
SEOUL, Korea (NEA) — One thing that may make the Communist edgy in Vietnam is their unhappy experience here in South Korea.

The Communist mistakes in South Korea, in fact give some reason for optimism (under the right conditions) for the future of South Vietnam, if the Saigon government comes through the peace talks relatively strong, stable and united.

In 1949 and early 1950, South Korea was in serious trouble. The Communist underground was extensive. Red guerrilla bands roamed the countryside. Without a heavy influx of American and Allied troops, South Korea would have quickly fallen under the North Korean invasion that began in 1950.

But the major seed of Communist weakness in South Korea, and a major basis for unity in this country, dates back to that same Pyongyang, invasion, in which Kim Il Sung's troops occupied all but a small corner of South Korea.
Victory seemed so certain for the north that almost all of the widespread Communist underground exposed itself and came above ground in the territories occupied by Kim's advancing armies. (Most of the activists were thus forced to retreat with Kim's armies when they withdrew, destroying an underground of a strength that normally takes a decade or two to build even under favorable circumstances.)
Because victory was so "sure," the Communist conquerors did not find it necessary to pretend friendship for the people.
They offered amnesty to anti-Communist officials who would surrender, then killed these men and women in open sight of fellow countrymen.
They instituted a system of terrorism against those suspected of being against the new regime.
But what followed was worse. After Gen. MacArthur's Inchon landing, the Communists began their withdrawal to the north. As they retreated, in village after village, the Reds lined up the middle class — teachers, village elders and other local officials, farm and fishing cooperative officers, police, merchants and all others of influence among their neighbors — dug trenches, killed them victims in rows and left them dead, sometimes buried in the trenches, sometimes not.

At the end, there was hardly a citizen of South Korea who did not have some relative killed by the Communists.
This is why when North Korean agents move south, most find the going exceedingly rough.
The usual practice is to send a South Korean Communist (usually one who moved north with the retreating North Korean armies) back to his old home village, to burrow in among friends and relatives.
Some have been successful. But in the last 18 years, 3,152 were not. They've been trapped on the way or reported by neighboring farmers or by the relatives with whom they've sought refuge.
There have been cases in which wives have reported on husbands who came back as agents, and fathers who reported on sons.
Hatred for Communists runs that deep.

This is not to say that North Korean Communists offer no threat. They do — because they are patient and keep trying.
A new generation of South Koreans could forget the atrocities and the terror of a Communist occupation.
But the lesson learned here is that free men who have lived under Communist rule for a period are the strongest bulwark of a country defending itself against a Communist neighbor.

If South Vietnam can be rid of its Communist North Vietnamese invaders and the Viet Cong terrorist units brought under control for even a short period, the same will to defend themselves at all costs may well take over among the South Vietnamese, even those now too frightened to fight.

Revamping School Aid Guidelines Okayed for 'Reason, Flexibility'

ROBERT ALLEN

JOHN GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON — "Reason and flexibility" are the basic aims of the administration's proposed revamping of the widely controversial guidelines on federal aid to schools.

After weeks of backstage deliberation, at times stormy, HEW Secretary Robert Finch has given the go-ahead on revising the stringent regulations laid down by the Johnson Administration, under Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, as the basis for eligibility for federal aid to schools.

The nature and extent of the changes and when they will be promulgated are still to be worked out.
But the decision to modify the guidelines has definitely been made — for the purpose, as described by one deeply involved insider, "of introducing reason and flexibility."
"The most authoritative" word is that the new regulations can be expected before the end of the current school year.

Playing a decisive role in Secretary Finch's conclusion to revamp the school guidelines is growing Northern demand for that. The opposition is no longer primarily sectional; now there is virtually as much in the North as in the South.
Originally the guidelines were aimed solely at the South. Subsequently they were extended to the North as well, and ever since then hostility toward them in that area has been spreading and intensifying. A graphic illustration is the recent passage by the Assembly of the New York State Legislature of a bill barring student busing.

Lately, some of the strongest pressures for modifying the guidelines has come from Midwestern members of Congress.

They are outraged by the numerous instances of Negro disturbances and violence in schools, and their mounting clamor for separate facilities, teachers and so-called cultural courses.

The striking segregationist trend among black activists is having pronounced adverse effect in Congress.

Also being indignantly noted there is the frequent direct connection between this separatist agitation and the supporting pronouncements and extremist machinations of the revolutionary Students for a Democratic Society.

To the increasingly concerned lawmakers there appears to be ample evidence of a close relationship between Negro and SDS militants.
IN THE MIDDLE — White House and HEW insiders make no secret that the school guidelines problem is the thorniest and most torturous they have so far grappled with — even more so than the ABM issue.

In the middle of this furious backstage tug-of-war is HEW Secretary Finch — one of President Nixon's oldest and newsman how he explained his prolonged absence, Powell laughingly gave this ingenious explanation:

"I'm keeping busy. It's the House that isn't doing anything. When they get down to business, I'll be on hand."
As for taking care of the affairs of his constituents, he airily brushed that off, too. "My staff is doing the district work," he said. "That's not unusual. That's what staffs are for."
Rule VIII of the House states: "Every member shall be present within the Hall of the House during its sitting, unless excused or necessarily prevented; and shall vote on each question put, unless he has a direct personal or pecuniary interest in the matter in question." There is a law to enforce this rule, as follows: "The Sergeant-at-Arms of the House shall deduct from the monthly paycheck of each member the amount of his salary for each day that he has been absent from the House, unless such member assigns as the reason for such absence the sickness of himself or of some member of his family."
Neither Powell nor any other member pays the slightest attention to either this rule or the law.
Only known record of observance occurred in 1894 when "523 and some odd cents" were deducted from the pay of Rep. James P. Clark, D-Ark., when he "went down to Virginia to make two speeches." Later he became Speaker of the House.
Rep. Lawrence Hogan, R-Md., wants Atty. Gen. Mitchell to open a grand jury investigation of Powell for possible prosecution on charges made by a special House committee two years ago.
In a letter to Mitchell, Hogan bluntly states that he deems former Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark was "derelict in the handling of this case."
"The decision of a majority of the House to seat Adam Clayton Powell should not be the concluding act in this disgraceful episode," Hogan wrote Mitchell. "The findings of the report of the select committee disclosed that Powell, by various activities, misappropriated over $45,000 in public funds."
"Therefore, I urge you to reopen the Powell case. The decision of former Attorney General Clark and former Assistant Attorney General Fred Vinson Jr. to discharge the grand jury investigating the Powell case does not preclude the Department of Justice from again submitting the matter to another grand jury for the purpose of seeking an indictment against Powell."

closest advisers.
On one hand, Finch has been vehemently barraged, harangued and harried by civil rights zealots, black and white. Foremost among these aggressive partisans is the staff of HEW's Office of Civil Rights, which wrote and administers the guidelines.
This staff, largely holdovers from the Johnson Administration, gives every indication of still adhering firmly to the views and policies of Mrs. Ruby Martin, Negro former head of the agency, who quit for the avowed purpose of "keeping the Nixon Administration honest on school desegregation."
On the other side, equally insistent are powerful Southern and other elements that played key roles in the President's nomination and election. They are forcefully demanding extensive changes in the school guidelines.

In the forefront is Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., who is saying little publicly but exerting a lot of influence in inner councils.
Finch's lieutenants characterize his position as "middle of the road." They insist he intends to abide strictly by the letter and spirit of the law, while at the same time "exercising reason and flexibility."
"That's what was done on the ABM," one high-placed official stated, "and that's what will be done on this highly volatile domestic question. We are convinced the country does not want extremism in either direction. Moderation and fairness always produce the best results, and that is the basic guideline of the Nixon Administration on all problems."

SEATING PRETTY — Rep. Adam Clayton Powell is generally shrugging off the $25,000 fine imposed by the House when it voted to seat him at the start of this session in early January.

The flamboyant Harlemite is doing that in two ways:
(1) Through the $12,500-a-year raise Congress voted itself, which will amount to $25,000 at the conclusion of this (91st) Congress. That is the exact amount of his fine. In other words, since he was adjudged by the House as guilty of misappropriating $25,000, the taxpayers are making good his fine by this 41 per cent hike in pay.

(2) An estimated $90,000 Powell boastfully claims he will make by moonlighting as a lecturer at colleges throughout the country at an average of $1,500 an appearance. He asserts he has more of these fancy-paying invitations than he can take care of.

As for being absent from the House, that's the least of the bombastic Harlemite's concerns.

He was away from the House from early January to March 13, then disappeared again, and only he knows when he'll show up next. Asked by a

'Poverty In Paradise ...'

By PAUL HARVEY
In San Francisco Mrs. Gladys Washington protested that she's "on welfare."
She says that's why she can't afford to pay all those overtime parking tickets.

She says her only income is from welfare, that's why she can't afford to pay $118 worth of tickets for overparking her CADILLAC.

Somewhere down the line the taxpayer is going to have to revolt.
In New York City a mother of nine is technically eligible to receive $750 a month — tax free — "welfare benefits," though she owns a home in Mississippi.

In Mississippi she would receive about $200 a month — so she prefers to live in New York.
If we can assume that each of her nine children may eventually become eligible for welfare, the prospect is real scary. For many Americans, welfare is now a way of life. Some families have now been four generations on relief!

In South Carolina a mother of 10 children, asked about their father, replied, "I do not know where they is."
On Warsaw Island, S.C., where 51 families have been described as "poverty stricken" — there are TV antennas on 23 of those houses — 24 have telephones.
Charleston reporter Jack Leland, surveying the local conditions which brought crocodile tears to the eyes of a senator, says there is "poverty in Paradise" — because it pays!"

The New York City Welfare Department has been supporting a family of seven in a midtown hotel while searching for "suitable accommodations." Public care and feeding of that one family has been costing taxpayers about $2,000 a month.
Little wonder one in eight New Yorkers is now living off the taxes of the other seven. And New York's relief rolls are swelling by 20,000 a month.

Worse than the waste is the way welfare is destroying the initiative of dues-paying Americans.
"Why should I sweat 40 hours a week and strain to pay taxes when I can get hundreds of dollars a month tax-free on welfare?"
While it has become easier almost everywhere to live as a parasite, the taxpayers' burden has doubled in the past 10 years. And President Nixon, for all his campaign promises to emphasize "jobs instead of handouts," hasn't yet.

A major problem for Mr. Nixon in Washington, as for Mayor John Lindsay in New York, is that each of those welfare recipients equals one vote. All of them combined equal a decisive vote. For Lindsay, 1 million votes.
For Mr. Nixon, almost 9 million!

So the politicians are not likely to cut off the hand that is re-electing them unless the rest of us make our protest similarly meaningful.

To a degree, New York taxpayers, through their state Legislature, did get their welfare budget reduced!

Warts Are Curable
By Several Procedures
A mother writes that her son, 14, had a cluster of unsightly warts on his thumb which the family doctor burned off. Since they have come back and brought their cousins with them, she wonders whether they will disappear spontaneously or whether there is an effective cure.
These small benign tumors are caused by a Virus. Scratching or picking at them may cause them to spread. The fact that they sometimes disappear spontaneously has led many people to attribute the "cure" to whatever unusual application had been used most recently.
Warts can be cured by a number of procedures if these are skillfully applied so as to kill the wart and not damage the surrounding tissue, thereby causing a scar. The treatments that have worked best include chemical caustics, freezing with liquid nitrogen (carbon dioxide snow is not powerful enough), electrocautery and ultrasound.

Q — I have five children, all of whom have plantar warts. Our doctor says they are mildly contagious. A neighbor says that they could be transmitted by the children's dog. Is this so?
A — Dogs get blamed for everything these days but I don't believe they are a source of warts — and neither are loads.

Q — My son has been treated for plantar warts by medication, X ray and surgical removal but new ones keep appearing. Is there any cure for this condition?
A — Surgical removal is not

Question Box
(We invite questions on economic and social matters which will not injure anyone.)

QUESTION: Advocates of socialism frequently claim that as population increases, further bureaucratic control of individuals' lives and property will not only be necessary but desirable. What do you think?

D.B.R.
ANSWER: It's true that many advocates of socialism contend that further controls are necessary because of population increases. However, most of them want controls on "the other fellow," or else they are a part of the bureaucracy seeking to increase their own power over others. If they didn't have that excuse, they would think up some other reason for seizing control.

If an individual has a right to take action to sustain his life and his honestly acquired property so long as he doesn't infringe the equal rights of others, there is no justification for those in government to infringe this right, whether the population is light or heavy.
No one has a right to seize control of another's life, whether as an individual, as a member of a group or through use of a political agency.

Lock Your Car Or Wish You Had

Crime is booming, and one of the boomingest branches of it is automobile theft.
One out of every 107 cars in the nation was stolen last year, reports Michael J. Murphy, formerly New York City police commissioner and now president of the National Automobile Theft Bureau, an investigative network maintained by more than 400 insurance companies.
That amounted to a total of 776,000 stolen cars, an increase of 18 per cent over 1967. Murphy predicts that more than a million cars, worth more than $1 billion, may be stolen this year.

"It's becoming more and more difficult to recover stolen cars," he says, "because thefts are now being perpetrated by car theft rings backed by organized crime."
Auto theft rings often steal cars by the dozens in one state and sell them in another, with buyers lined up before the cars are stolen. Last year, major rings were broken up in California, New York, Illinois and Tennessee.

One New York ring was stealing $7,000 Cadillacs in Massachusetts, registering them in

New York and selling them there for $3,000 each. Another ring stole more than 50 $3,000 cars in New York and shipped them to South America where they were snapped up for between $8,000 and $13,000 apiece.

Motorists literally hold the key to curbing car thievery to a great extent — at least the casual, spur-of-the-moment kind — simply by taking the time to lock their cars whenever they park and taking the keys with them.

All 1970 U.S. model cars will be equipped with locking systems which automatically lock the steering mechanism and transmission once the ignition key is removed. Like door locks, however, they will do no good unless motorists use them.

A new law makes it a federal offense to sell master sets of car keys in interstate commerce. Similar individual state laws banning such sales are also needed.

Eight states still do not require the presentation of certificate of title papers when a car is registered. Five of them are in the Northeast, where car-theft rings are most prevalent.
