Older youths challenge stock

BY ALETHA DAVIS
CITY EDITOR

The second performance of the 1980 Kid Pony Show Tuesday featured more and bigger kids and stock than the tiny tot show Monday. Kids 8 through 11 pitted skills against the clock and challenged bucking stock in the Calf Riding event.

Twenty entrants in Group III Calf Riding were split in order to have enough draws to go around.

A mix-up in time-keeping made it necessary for the first 12 riders to repeat. Kids were being timed for six seconds, and the group limit was four seconds. A ride netted Sean "Hollywood" Rapstine a first place buckle, and Bobbie Fairsh, Pampa, one of three girls entered, a qualified score.

When the dust had cleared, Holly Smith, Waynoka, Okla., had struck silver with a second place buckle and a score of 49, just one point off the winner. Third place honors went to Jim Boy Hash, Canadian, with a 48. Final score was Calves - 16 and Riders - 4. Others paying in for a hard bump in the dust included: Greg Garrett, Midland; Bobby and Ronnie Tidwell, Alanreed; Jeff Snider, Pampa; Matt Stockstill, Pampa; Tammy Greene, Pampa; Dwayne Evans, Canadian; Tim Davis and Craig Davis, White Deer; Matt Brook, Pampa; Monty Bennett, Turpin, Okla.; Wade Rains, Mobeetie; Travis Mix, Skellytown; Matt Martin, Canadian; Scott Lucas, Pampa; and Timmy Brummett, Pampa.

Bob Howard was chairman. Next event up following the first section of calf-riding was Group III Flag Race with Bob Caddel in charge.

Monty Bennett came in with a respectable 14.52 second ride for first place. Second place time was 14.65, chalked up by Lindsey McCasland of Wheeler. Beau Blue of Dumas made a 15.35 second run for third.

Flag Racers not earning trophy buckles, but presented ribbons as participants were: Heather Smith, Dumas; Cydney Morriss, Lefors; Kimbra Pierce, Abilene; Cathy Smith, Pampa; Dwight Thomas, Wheeler; Matt Maul Pampa; Matt Stockstill; Tammy Greene; Cindy Coleman, Pampa; Sean Rapstine; Sally Worsham, Alanreed; Wade

Maul, Pampa; Keziah Rucker, Pampa; Matt Brook; Michelle Thompson, Pampa; Deana Billingsley of McLean. Drew Thomas won Boys Flag Race, Group IV with a time of 11.12 seconds. Second place in the event, also under direction of Caddel, was Ronnie Vandever of Mobeetie with a 11.64. Shane Bridwell, a White Deer cowboy, took home a third place buckle for his 12.35 second run.

Ribbon winners were Eddy Douglass, Miami; Ruston Bray, Dumas; Jim Cadwell, Arnett, Okla.; Clinton Smith, McLean; Kelly Miller, Woodard, Okla.; Shawn Thompson, Pampa; Darrell Kent, Dumas.

Pampa and Miami cowgirls competed in Group IV Girls Flag Race with a lone entry from Dumas. The Dumas cowgirl, Callie Smith, took home third place with a 12.99 ride. Winning the event was a Miami girl, Connie Mears, with a time of 12.47. Second place honors went to another Miami girl, Johanna Hinton, with 12.55. The close contest was entered by 12 riders including Cathy Taylor, Michele Wallace, Penny Morgan, Kristi Brock, Joyce Ray, Sandra Brown, Marj Eckleberry, Amy Cockrell and Leslie Leggett, all of Pampa. Twenty riders entered Potato Race Group III chaired by Ronald Maul.

Tim Ray of Pampa was winner with a time of 13.94 seconds. Kimbra Pierce of Abilene came to the Top O' Texas to win second place with a 15.98. Third was won by Heather Smith with a 17.27.

Competing for buckles were: Cydney Morriss, Beau Blue, Cathy Smith, Dwight Thomas, Matt Maul, Matt Stockstill, Tammy Greene, Sean Rapstine, Sally Worsham, Wade Maul, Keziah Rucker, Matt Brook, Michelle Thompson, Monty Bennett, Lindsey McCasland, Deana Billingsley and Eva Jo Isbell.

Boys Potato Race Group IV winner was Drew Thomas of Wheeler with a time of 11.78. Second with a 13.74 time was Clinton Smith of McLean and no third place was awarded. All receiving "no-time" for their efforts were: Ruston Bray of Dumas; Jim Cadwell, Kelly Miller, Woodward, Okla.; Ronnie Vandever, Darrell Kent and Shane Bridwell.

Ronald Maul was in charge of the event. The Pampa cowgirls won the Girls Potato Race - Group IV. Marj Eckleberry was first with a 12.35. Cathy Taylor made a 13.90 run, and Amy Cockrell was third with 14.66.

Others riding for the trophies were: Michele Wallace, Penny Morgan, Connie Mears, Kristi Brock, Sandra Brown, Callie Smith, Johanna Hinton and Leslie Leggett.

Barrel Racers in Group III were beaten by Cydney Morriss of Lefors with a 17.42 second run which would be considered a good time for a GRA run in Pampa's arena. Second place was run by Matt Stockstill with a 19.30, another good time, and Kimbra Peirce won third with a 20.24. Jim Hopkins was chairman.

Pampa's fifth murder occurs

A Pampa man is dead and a second is in custody of police today in the fifth homicide in Pampa this year.

The homicide was the result of an early morning fight in which the victim received stab wounds, according to Pampa police reports.

The victim, Doy Victor Hutchison, 36, of 736 Sloan died on the operating table at 6:32 a.m. while undergoing emergency surgery at Highland General Hospital to repair knife wounds to the abdomen and right leg.

Justice of the Peace Marge Prestidge pronounced Hutchison dead and ordered an autopsy to be performed by Amarillo pathologist Jose Esquivel-Diaz. The autopsy had not been performed at press time today.

The victim was transported to hospital by Metropolitan Ambulance after he was discovered by police lying beside a car in front of the residence at 504 Yeager.

Officers were called to the scene at 2:57 a.m. in response to a report of a stabbing victim.

Arrested at the scene was 36-year-old Dean Ray Henderson of 719 Brunow.

A complaint charging murder against the man was signed before Justice of the Peace Marge Prestidge after the death of Hutchison.

Bond for Henderson was set at $25,000 by Prestidge at his arraignment at 11:10 a.m. today. Henderson was then transported back to city jail facilities to await transfer to the county jail.

The stabbing was a result of an altercation which began in the residence at 504 Yeager, Chief of Police J. J. Ryman said today.

The victim was employed by the Boilermaker's Union of Amarillo. He is survived by his son, Cutter Doy Hutchison of Pampa, his mother, Mrs. Iris Hutchison of Amarillo; two brothers, Phillip and Brice Hutchison of Pampa and one sister, Mrs. Doylene Burrell of Amarillo.

Services for Hutchison are pending with Smith Funeral Home.

MX Missile meet slated

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Two congressmen say they want to inform residents about the possibility of locating MX Missile bases on the Texas South Plains and Eastern New Mexico before government engineers begin their land cost studies.

U.S. Rep. Kent Hance, D-Texas, and U.S. Rep. Harold Runnels, D-N.M., scheduled an "informational" public meeting today in Lubbock.

Air Force Gen. Forrest McCartney, cited as one of the movers behind the MX Missile program, was to detail the system and its implications for Texas and New Mexico residents.

"The meeting is purely informational and no opinions will be solicited or decisions made there," said Don Richards, legislative aide to Hance.

School board awards renovation bids

Bids on renovation projects for the Pampa Independent School District were awarded to contractors by the school district's board of trustees during an emergency meeting in Carver Educational Center at noon Tuesday.

Quality Service and Supply was awarded the bid on the resin coating of the Pampa High School (PHS) girls' dressing room floor with a low bid of $3,888.

The repair of the girls' shower stalls at the high school was given by board members to John Sebastian Welding Service in Miami. Their low bid was $8,250.

The board rejected the only bid received for the renovation of the high school administration building and moved to re-bid for the project.

Consulting architect Eddie Riemer recommended the rejection saying he felt the bid for $44,167 from Dearan and Coronis Builders of Pampa was too high.

Mike McComas was awarded the concrete flooring of the PHS fieldhouse with a low bid of $19,998. No bids were received on the sandblasting of the fieldhouse.

The construction of a five-foot cyclone fence around three sides of the Pampa Middle School, a total of 1,700 feet, was awarded to Loofer Fencing of Pampa with a bid of $9,031.98, about $2,000 below the next bidder.

Board members accepted six resignations and hired four new teachers during a personnel session.

Resignations accepted by the board are Jan Martin, physical education at Austin Elementary School, on leave of absence; Yvonne Goss, third grade at Horace Mann Elementary School; Betty Van Zandt, fifth grade at Lamar Elementary School; Kay Slaughter, kindergarten at Woodrow Wilson Elementary School; Laverne Satterwhite, English at Pampa High School; and Johanna Baedke, mathematics at Pampa High School.

New teachers hired by the board are: Charles A. Johnson, assistant band director; Randy Dunn, vocational agriculture; and Nanette Grainger, speech-drama at Pampa High School; and Judy Beth Hansen, fifth grade at Austin Elementary School.

"This still leaves us several people short," District Superintendent Bob Phillips said.

At this time, he said, the district is short a swimming coach, three English teachers for the high school and an English teacher for Pampa Middle School.

One reason for the teacher shortage, he said, is the lack of available housing for the incoming personnel.

West Texas may lose political representatives

Pampa businessmen were told the West Texas area may lose current representation in the state legislature, as a result of redistricting. Businessmen met Tuesday with representatives of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce here.

In a discussion of the upcoming 67th Texas State Legislature, executive vice-president of the West Texas Chamber Ed Coltharp said, "The number one, top-of-the-list item, was redistricting."

"Redistricting can mean a big difference to West Texas. We now have in our district 46 state representatives and 10 senators. In other words, we have access to approximately one-third of the members of the Texas political family. The picture is about to change," Coltharp said.

"Districts within the state are currently based on a 1970 population count of 75,000 persons. Current proposals have the 1980 redistricting representing approximately 90,000 persons.

"It appears that we are going to have our representation cut in Austin. Some of our districts may have to be merged, and more representation may be lost. From the standpoint of federal and state funding, we are urging members to get the most accurate census count possible," Coltharp said.

"We cannot afford any longer to sit back and wait, we must now give priorities to matters of utmost importance to West Texas," Jack Pilon, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, said.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce (WTCC) is an organization that has been active for 62 years for the benefit of West Texas. The Pampa Chamber of Commerce subscribes to the larger WTCC organization.

"Working together as an area we can be effective. Some of the areas that the WTCC has been actively working in are national and state legislation, water, agriculture and ranching, industrial development, natural resources, tourist and travel," Pilon said.

The work of the WTCC is done by more volunteers than the six-member paid staff, he said. There are 3,000 members in the WTCC and 60 percent of the land area of Texas is represented by the chamber.

"Last year, the WTCC was asked to conduct an industrial tour in another state. One hundred and seven industrial prospects from three cities in California were represented, and the WTCC has had continuing contact with them," Coltharp said.

"Probably the most important service the WTCC performs is in the area of state and national affairs, not politically, but simply to address the issues," Coltharp said.

There is also a good chance of an additional gasoline tax here in the state. A refinery tax also has been mentioned. This would be a discriminatory tax, Coltharp said, and the WTCC directly opposes this tax. The refinery tax did not appear during the last session.

"Perhaps we had something to do with its absence," Coltharp said.

Corporate and personal income taxes were mentioned for discussion in the 67th State Legislature.

"A strong selling standpoint for Texas, has been the fact that there are no corporate and personal income taxes. This is something to watch," Coltharp said.

"Other taxes mentioned for discussion in the legislature included, initiative and referendum, products liability, teacher tenure, water tapping, franchise taxes, and the question of eminent domain," Coltharp said. "We understand that this area of the Panhandle is definitely interested in water resources, or possibly, the lack of water resources."

"A so-called insignificant bill came to our attention. The bill would have stopped any interwater shed transfers, unless it could be proven that the watershed requesting the transfer had depleted its water resources. You can see what this bill could have done to the future of water importation and to the utilization of our own water resources. The WTCC opposed this proposal and the bill was killed," Coltharp said.

The WTCC also strongly opposed the windfall profits excise tax. Texas will pay approximately 35 percent of this tax amounting to $65 million during the ten-year period," Coltharp said. "We failed on that one. However, we will try to do what we can about the bill."

He said there is a trend among northeastern businesses to relocate in this area and that Texas is among the top three states for attracting business relocations.

"Legislation has been introduced, called the Plant Closing and Relocation Act. If passed, this act could affect every business of a certain size in the nation. If passed, plant closings or relocations would be subject to a mountain of procedures for approval. This would take management decisions away from the owners," Coltharp said.

"Watch your legislature for your future," Coltharp advised the group.

CAN'T WIN THEM ALL. Ronnie Vandever of Mobeetie leads his horse "Grey" out of the rodeo arena after competing in the Group IV Boys Potato Race at the Top O' Texas Kid Pony Show Tuesday night. Vandever's ball bounced out of the bucket, and he was eliminated from competition.

10,000 people could be displaced by missile site

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — The governors of New Mexico and Texas say they support deployment of the proposed MX missile system — but not in their states.

"I endorse the program 100 percent," Texas Gov. William Clements said Tuesday. "But there are better locations than New Mexico and Texas."

And New Mexico Gov. Bruce King said, "I just don't want to see them put it in New Mexico."

The two governors, Dr. William Perry, an undersecretary of defense, and Seymour Zieberg of the Department of Defense held a news conference to discuss a proposal that would place a portion of the weapons system in eastern New Mexico and the Texas Panhandle.

A recent story in the Desert News in Salt Lake City, Utah, said the Air Force needs 7,000 square miles of land to build 200 missile bases each containing 23 missile shelters.

Under the most recent proposal, about 45 of the planned missile bases would be installed at the New Mexico-Texas site, covering about 1,575 square miles, or more than 1 million acres.

The Defense Department officials met privately with the governors earlier Tuesday to discuss a schedule of public hearings on an environmental impact assessment of the plan, due for release in early August.

As originally proposed by the federal government, the missile system would have been in Nevada and Utah.

But Congress told the Defense Department to consider the possibility of "split-basing" — dividing the system between two separate sites — after opposition developed to the one-site plan.

Perry said the New Mexico-Texas site was selected as the leading alternative among six western sites studied "for a variety of reasons."

But King and Clements expressed some doubts about the criteria used to select the New Mexico-Texas site. And they raised questions about the need to divide the missile system between two separate sites.

Former judge dies in wreck

BROWNWOOD, Texas (AP) — A one-car accident claimed the life of Former Brown County Judge James Bunnell, who was convicted last month on a drug charge, a Texas Department of Public Safety spokesman said.

Bunnell, 35, was alone in the car when it left Farm Road 2125 about 10 miles north of this Central Texas city late Tuesday. DPS spokesman Wendell Rehm said the car hit a concrete embankment and overturned in a ditch.

Bunnell was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Joe Bob Morgan, DPS trooper Stan Pachall of Brownwood said.

The former judge was convicted June 12 in federal court at San Angelo on a charge of conspiring with two other Brownwood men to manufacture methylamphetamines. He was awaiting sentencing and had said he would file an appeal of the conviction.

Bunnell had served as Brown County judge between 1972 and 1980 when he resigned to run for district attorney.

Suspect released in mix-up

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Hospital officials say they were never told a 24-year-old murder suspect was under arrest, so when he recovered from his gunshot wounds they released him.

"We didn't realize he was under arrest — no one told us," said Kenneth Fitzgerald, nursing supervisor at Lubbock General Hospital. "He was ready to go home and a release form was signed. There wasn't any guard on him and with a felon they usually post a guard."

The man, charged with murder in connection with a four-way shoot-out in Crosby County on July 2, strolled out of the hospital but was recaptured Monday night, the sheriff's department said.

"There was considerable confusion the night he was brought in and no one was sure just who shot who," Fitzgerald said. "I don't even know if the guy knew he was wanted."

But within a few minutes after the man's release, two Texas Tech security officers were grilling nurses about the circumstances of his premature dismissal, Fitzgerald said.

"Our communications were just mixed up," said a sheriff's department spokesman. "But everything is OK now."

EVER STRIVING FOR TOP O' TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Let Peace Begin With Me

This newspaper is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. For only when man understands freedom and is free to control himself and all he possesses can he develop to his utmost capabilities.

We believe that all men are equally endowed by their Creator, and not by a government, with the right to take moral action to preserve their life and property and secure more freedom and keep it for themselves and others.

To discharge this responsibility, free men, to the best of their ability, must understand and apply to daily living the great moral guide expressed in the Coveting Commandment.

FDA has amassed enormous power

Many claim that the greatest threat to freedom of speech and press in the United States comes from politicians seeking to undermine their opposition. Others suggest the greatest threat is from religious zealots who desire to censor what the public sees and hears.

Few, however, recognize that government regulation, for whatever reason, is a major threat to freedom of speech and press — as demonstrated by the case of psychiatrist Wilhelm Reich.

Reich was trained as a doctor at the Vienna School of Medicine. The Austrian psychiatrist developed a strong disagreement with the theories of Sigmund Freud, the dominant concepts of the day, and was forced to leave Austria, eventually emigrating to the United States in 1939.

Once in the "land of liberty" Reich developed an extremely unconventional theory of psychology. The repression he experienced because of his controversial theories was more consistent with the Germany of that time than with what he had hoped to find in America.

Reich theorized that many of mankind's physical maladies result from energy blocks within the body. Removal of these energy blocks would, according to Reich, not only improve someone's psychological condition, but also cure many diseases, cancer, for example.

He established a research laboratory in Maine where he developed metal-lined boxes which he claimed would deal with the energy blockage problem, and thus with many medical problems.

As might have been predicted the Food and Drug Administration soon decided that Dr. Reich's business was its business. The FDA charged that Reich's metal boxes, which he called orgone energy accumulators, were misbranded and adulterated. The federal agency said that the literature accompanying the accumulators made false claims and the curative power demonstrated by the box, if any, was well below government standards.

Consequently, Reich was ordered to recall all the metal-lined boxes and destroy the literature about the theory.

The government moved swiftly and brutally against the nonconformist psychiatrist. Under court order his accumulators were destroyed and his books burned — yes, burned.

Reich contended the government had no right to interfere with his "basic scientific research." He ended up in Lewisburg Penitentiary in March 1957. He died there eight months later.

There are those who believe that the burning of Wilhelm Reich's books was not an act of censorship. These interventionists consider that government action is nothing more than consumer protection; the court apparently agrees.

These same protectionists also defend the government's right to regulate what will and will not be investigated by the scientific community. Again, they call it consumer protection.

It is ironic indeed to see people who label their political philosophy "liberal" throwing books into a fire.

The book burners are stronger than ever. Since Reich's death the FDA has amassed enormous power, all in the name of protecting the public of course.

This, then, is the greatest unrecognized threat to freedom of speech and press. Certainly the public should be aware that if these freedoms are taken away, it will be done — or so they will be told — for their own good, as is the case with all regulation.

By Oscar Cooley

In May, unemployment in the United States was 7.8 percent of the labor force, highest in more than three years. It is probably higher now. This means that 7.8 percent of the 105 million people who can work and want to work cannot find employment.

Note two facts about these figures: first, 7.8 out of each 100 persons is not a large percentage. To a man from Mars, it might seem very small. The vast majority of Americans workers are going to their jobs as usual and receiving wages as usual.

Second, it is not strictly true that these people cannot find work. They cannot find, or have not found, work of the kind they want to do, that is located where they want to work, and that is rewarded by the wage that they will accept. In short, they are not condemned, willy nilly, to unemployment. They have alternatives but these are not acceptable to them. Choice still prevails.

This throws a somewhat different light on the unemployment picture. These 8,200,000 people, who are 7.8 percent of the nation's work force, are not caught in the jaws of an implacable trap as some claim. They are disadvantaged, but they are not helpless, nor should they resign themselves to the belief that they are.

Wage rates must be flexible

One course of action open to them is that they lower their asking price, or wage rate, and seek to sell their service to their employers at the lower rate.

Compare them to the retail merchant, a shoe store let us say, who has shoes to sell. His sales have declined by 7.8 percent. He is still employed but his gross income has dropped to the point that he is making no profit — nothing to buy his groceries with.

What does he do? Does he shut up shop and turn to the government for aid? No. He puts on a sale, temporarily slashing his selling prices to spur sales, or he scales down all his selling prices and advertises the fact so that more people will come to this store and buy shoes. In short, he offers buyers more for their money, so that he will regain his lost business and be back in the profit column.

When a retailer, wholesaler, or manufacturer does this, we applaud him for taking the action that clearly is called for in his situation. Oddly enough, it is almost never suggested that workers — merchants of labor — should do the same.

In fact, during a time like the present, when unemployment is on the rise, workers frequently demand, and often get, increases in their pay rates. Would the shoe seller, beset by declining sales, be smart to raise the prices of his shoes? I have never seen the slightest evidence that labor is immune from the fundamental law of demand that applies to shoes and all other goods.

In two important industries, construction and automobile manufacture, wages for years went up and up, until the construction and auto workers came to be known as "aristocrats of labor." Now, these two industries are our most depressed. Unemployment is rife in both. What happened was that the aristocrats of labor priced themselves out of their markets.

An important cause of the present unemployment and recession is excessively high prices that employers are paying for labor. For a time employers may be able to meet their high labor costs by borrowing money, which is made available by the banks, the Federal Reserve willing. But heavy bank borrowing increases inflation, which raises the cost of living and impels workers to demand still higher wages. Alarmed by the inflation, the Feds tighten credit. Employers can no longer borrow to meet their higher costs, so they lay off workers and recession ensues. Some will protest that human labor must not be classed with shoes, automobiles and other inanimate goods — that its price should not move up and down like prices in the stock market.

On the contrary, it seems to me even more important that human labor be responsive to supply and demand than that lifeless goods be so. Shoes, automobiles, etc., can remain unused — unemployed — for indefinite periods and will not "suffer," but if a worker's labor potential remains idle for long, the worker — a human being — will endure real suffering.

Flexibility of goods prices insures that the goods will move into consumption. Flexibility of wages means that workers will be continuously employed and at no time will be in distress because their work time is not selling.

Today in history

By The Associated Press

Today is Wednesday, July 9, the 191st day of 1980. There are 175 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: in 1816, Argentina declared its independence from Spain.

On this date:

In 1776, Gen. George Washington called his troops together in New York to hear the Declaration of Independence read.

In 1850, President Zachary Taylor died at the White House, after serving only a year and four months of his term in office. He was succeeded by Millard Fillmore.

In 1947, the engagement of Britain's Princess Elizabeth and Lt. Philip Mountbatten was announced.

In 1960, Moscow threatened the United States with missile attacks if Washington moved to oust the Castro government in Cuba.

Ten years ago, anti-war forces in the House lost the first test vote on the Cooper-Church Amendment — which would restrict presidential action in Cambodia.

Five years ago, Secretary of State Henry Kissinger suggested that American support for Israel hinged on that nation's willingness to make territorial concessions to Egypt.

Phase-out of the community lyceum

by Paul Harvey

The first of our nation's "community lecture" programs had died. It suffered first.

When Community Lectures of Oak Park, Ill. (suburban Chicago) began 80 years ago it brought to the high school auditorium once a week each winter season the most renowned scholars, statesmen, bona-fide celebrities.

Recent years the roster of platform speakers has dwindled away to low-budget luminaries of dubious luminescence.

And now, this year, the tradition ends. The Oak Park Community Lectures will be no more.

Why, do you suppose?

I'm reciting the experience of our nation's oldest such lyceum series because its diminished importance and ultimate demise is fairly typical.

These lectures which began in 1900 — before television — before radio — before there were even movies of significance — were a window on the world for the enlightenment of the townsfolk.

Once a week each winter they sat at the feet of such notables as Will Durant, Eve Curie, Lillian Gish and Sinclair Lewis.

The audiences feasted on the wisdom and the wit of Catherine Drinker Bowen, Eleanor Roosevelt, Ralph Bunche; Randolph Churchill, Margaret Mead, Edward Teller, Amelia Earhart and Alistair Cooke.

In the beginning the lectures were part of extension courses of the University of Chicago; later the program was administered by committees of volunteers.

Let me say something blunt about "committees of volunteers."

I have seen community cultural and charitable efforts attract gratis brainpower which none could afford; men and women willing to give of their time and energy apparently selflessly.

Realistically, society people have been rewarded by public recognition; by their "pictures in the papers."

This cold-blooded honesty is necessary if we are to understand what has happened to deprive us of their significant services.

Newspapers don't even print a "society page" anymore. Such is said to be out-of-step with the new social homogenization of our population.

And where this may sound like no great loss — without that incentive, such functions as a community lecture series inevitably fell instead into the hands of individuals of "social conscience," willing to give their time to promote some "cause" or other.

Recent years, the Oak Park Community Lectures included a nuclear arms protestor, a film on Russia, an "authority on China," "an authority on the Bermuda Triangle."

Granted, a reduced budget has limited the choice of speakers. Fourteen-hundred regular attendees have diminished to 300 last year. At $12.50 for a season ticket there was less money for speakers at the same time that the good ones were charging more.

And then there was the competition of Monday Night Football on TV.

So, perhaps the demise of the community lecture is inevitable.

But let the record read that "society" as we knew it, died first.

Sagebrush rebellion

By Anthony Harrigan

People in the East, South and Middle West have only the foggiest notion of the extent to which land in the Far West is owned by the federal government.

The federal government owns 90.5 percent of Alaska, 87.3 percent of Nevada, 65 percent of Utah, 63.7 percent of Idaho. In the other states west of the 100th meridian — roughly west of Texas — the federal government controls from 29 to 52.4 percent of the land.

Though the Western frontier was closed by the turn of the century, federal bureaucrats continue to hold onto the vast public lands. By controlling these lands, they control the economic development of the region.

The domination of the federal government may not last forever. Today, there is a growing "Sagebrush Rebellion" by Westerners who believe there ought to be an orderly transfer of the federally-controlled lands to productive ownership.

Many citizens in other parts of the country will look with favor on this rebellion. No reason exists why one third of the land area of the United States continues to be controlled by officials in Washington. Americans believe in the private ownership of property.

An organization has been formed to develop legal, economic and educational data in support of the divestiture of the public domain from the federal government. It is the League For The Advancements of States' Equal Rights (LASER-Kennecott Bldg., Salt Lake City, Utah).

The Chairman of the Board of trustees of LASER is Dr. Alex Oblad, an internationally known scientist in the fields of metallurgy and fuels engineering. Advisory board members include Sen. Ted Stevens of Alaska and Orrin G. Hatch of Utah and John L. Harmer, former lieutenant governor of California.

One purpose of LASER is to acquaint Americans in other regions with the fact that the Far West is dominated from 2,000 miles away. "The problem," it says, "is the rigid and coercive bureaucracy that dictates to supposedly free Americans the denial of their rights."

In recent years, the problems of the Far West have been intensified by the environmental extremism of the Carter administration, which wants to lock up precious natural resources in wilderness areas.

The American people in the lower 49 states need full development of Alaska oil resources. But the administration has blocked development of vast areas where there is good reason to believe oil is located. At the same time, federal officials have made it enormously difficult to mine coal in the Western mining regions. The American people must gain access to this coal if they aren't to be dangerously dependent on Middle East oil throughout the 1980s and 1990s.

In short, the Sagebrush Rebellion makes sense for all Americans. The U.S. needs to strive for self-sufficiency in energy and raw materials. The only way that can be done is by tapping the resources of the energy and mineral-rich states of the Far West.

If LASER can help get rid of the dead hand of government on the Far West lands, it will have performed a great service for all Americans.

DEAR ABBY

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I recently read that an elderly San Francisco widow died, leaving instructions in her will that "Sido," her pet 10-year-old collie, be destroyed as soon as possible. She feared that her beloved pet would not have a good life after her death.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals intervened in an effort to save Sido's life, and now there's a big court battle going on. Because of the publicity, hundreds of people have offered to give Sido a good home. However, the law states that animals are "property," and as such, the owner of said property has a right to decide its fate.

Where do you stand, Abby?

SAN MATEO OBSERVER

DEAR OBSERVER: I'm for preserving Sido's life. This is another example clearly showing that what is legal is not always moral. And if the law gives an animal owner the right to destroy a healthy pet, then the law should be changed.

P.S. You'll be glad to hear that Sido's life has been saved.

DEAR ABBY: A buddy of mine from work came by the house to pick me up for a weekend fishing trip. When I introduced him to my wife, his eyes lit up, and he said, "You've got to be crazy to leave a swell-looking dame like that alone for the weekend." Was I?

WEEKEND FISHERMAN

DEAR FISHERMAN: He could be right. The next time you go fishing, be sure to take that buddy with you.

DEAR ABBY: This summer my son, who is a Boy Scout, wants to go on a "family camping trip" sponsored by the Boy Scouts. He has asked his mother and me and his three sisters to go with him.

His mother and I are divorced, but we get along fairly well. Perhaps I should point out that we are nothing more than "friends" now.

I have been dating a very nice woman, and she doesn't think it's right for me to go on this family camping trip. I really don't know what to do. What do you think?

CONFUSED IN OHIO

DEAR CONFUSED: I think if you felt comfortable turning down your son in favor of accommodating your ladyfriend, you wouldn't have written to me. Follow your hunch and make your Boy Scout happy.

DEAR ABBY: I would like to thank you for your explanation as to why the ERA is a national need.

May I add that the 19th Amendment guaranteeing women the vote became part of the Constitution in 1920. Louisiana did not ratify it until 1970, and Mississippi has never ratified it. In Mississippi it is introduced annually and annually voted down.

Louisiana ratified in response to a request from the League of Women Voters asking the state to honor the 50th anniversary of women's suffrage. Thus Louisiana and Mississippi women have been able to take part in the democratic process for the past 50 and 60 years because the rest of the nation saw the inequity and injustice and worked to make it whole.

Passage of the Equal Rights Amendment will drive the last golden spike needed to provide a firm platform of equality in law for all Americans. Sincerely,

CYNTHIA W., NEW ORLEANS

Fine Arts Association has first annual exhibit

The lobby of the Citizens Bank and Trust Company was recently the scene of the Pampa Fine Arts Association's first annual exhibit. Over 200 people viewed approximately 75 works done by local artists in watercolors, oils, bronze sculptures, wood carvings, and other media.

Coordinating the event were Association members Betty Henderson, Pat Kindle and Peggy Palmittier.

Work was displayed by Betty Bailey, Karen Bonnell, Bena Biggers, Lilith Brainard, Billie Collingsworth, Karen Corey, Kay Crouch, Darlene Holmes, Francis Hall, Homer Johnson, Pat Kindle, Myrtle Melton, Lois Minnick, Mattie Wade Morgan, Don Nelson, Jessie Newberry and Linda Nowel.

Other exhibitors were Peggy Palmittier, Billie Osborne, Janice Sackett, Hazel Wilson, Catherine Stringer, Rosemond Winborn, Susie Wilkinson, Cile Taylor, Alleith Curry, Natalie Reene, Sophia Vance, Lita Flynt, Tommie Grant, Ruth Wylie, Walt Bailey, Mary Lane and Lloyd Harvey.

Four oils by Mrs. Lois Minnick, charter club member, will remain on display for two weeks. Mrs. Minnick, a long time Pampa resident, has been painting for over 15 years.

Mealtime hints for campers

• Campers should store a basketful of cooking equipment along with the tent, sleeping bags and other outdoor paraphernalia. It saves robbing the kitchen each time you head for the woods and prevents you forgetting an item or two.

• Who says a gourmet can't enjoy campfire cooking? Try this quick and savory Mustard Steak from the home economists at Lawry's. Blend 1 tablespoon Seasoned Pepper, 1 teaspoon Seasoned Salt, 1 tablespoon prepared mustard and 1 tablespoon salad oil. Sear meat, turn, and spread with steak paste. When the second side is cooked, turn and spread again. Makes enough for three 12 to 14 oz. steaks.

• Lighten the food load on that next camping trip with dried and freeze-dried foods such as dry milk, seasoning mixes, dry soup, onion flakes, powdered juice and prepackaged meals. Not only are these featherweight, but they'll help keep the camp cook from slaving over a hot fire.

WAKE UP lagging appetites with zesty gazpacho soup. Some like it hot; some like it cold. But — everybody likes gazpacho.

This soup is also a salad

Ole for gazpacho — Spain's sunny soup-salad. It's a happy medley of a flavorful vegetable beef broth with diced garden-fresh crisp vegetables.

Gazpacho originated on the plains of Andalusia where peasants worked the fields from early morning until sunset.

Today, served corn & sesame chips, gazpacho can be the anytime-anyplace soup. Make the four-cup basic recipe for the family. Double or triple the recipe and you have a star attraction for a buffet table. Serve gazpacho icy cold in the summer; serve it piping hot in the winter.

Use canned condensed beef broth and canned vegetable juice as the base for quick and easy to prepare gazpacho. The fresh vegetables — cucumber, tomato, green pepper and onion — are available year round and take just minutes to dice.

Chilled gazpacho soup should be refrigerated at least four hours to blend and heighten individual flavors. The trick in preparing hot gazpacho soup is to add the vegetables at the very last minute so they retain their unique salad-like crispness.

ZESTY GAZPACHO SOUP
 1 (10 1/2 ounce) can condensed beef broth
 1 1/2 cups vegetable juice or 1 (12 ounce) can
 1 cup seeded and chopped cucumber
 1/2 cup seeded and chopped tomato
 1/2 cup chopped green pepper
 2 tablespoons chopped onion
 2 tablespoons lemon juice
 2 small cloves garlic, crushed
 Dash liquid hot pepper seasoning
 Corn & sesame chips

To serve chilled: In large bowl, combine beef broth, vegetable juice, cucumber, tomato, green pepper, onion, lemon juice, garlic and hot pepper seasoning. Stir until blended. Cover and refrigerate at least 4 hours or until serving time. Serve with corn & sesame chips. Makes 4 cups.

To serve hot: In medium saucepan, combine beef broth and vegetable juice, bring to a boil. Reduce heat; add cucumber, tomato, green pepper, onion, lemon juice, garlic and hot pepper seasoning. Simmer gently until just heated through. Serve immediately with corn & sesame chips. Makes 4 cups.

Beware of shortchange artists

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — Cashiers, beware of the shortchangers, warns one short-changer who says she is reforming. She told her story to the Chattanooga News-Free Press, on the condition that the newspaper not identify her.

She proposes to conduct clinics at businesses — charging a fee — to show employees how to guard against shortchangers. She said she had learned shortchanging in a Los Angeles bar and had done it for 14 years without getting caught, claiming to have made more than $100,000.

The woman recounted one of her typical flimflams: "The shortchanger walks up to the counter carrying an item, in this case one costing less than a dollar. She pays for it with a $10 bill — holding several other $1 bills in a pocket.

The cashier returns change and the shortchanger, in pocketing the silver, seemingly discovers the $1 bills in her pocket and turns them in for a $10 bill.

Combining the $5 bill and four ones she received as change from the cashier with the assorted singles from her pocket, the shortchanger counts off a $5 and four $1 bills and gives them to the cashier for the $10 bill.

But the set-up has just begun. Having taken the $10 bill, the flimflammer says she's afraid she shortchanged the cashier and asks the cashier to count what the trickster knows to be nine dollars.

"Oh well, here's a ten and a one to go with that, just give me a twenty," is the usual line. If it's been a success, the cashier accepts the $10 and $1 bills, puts them with the $5 and four $1 bills and gives the shortchanger a $20 bill.

Even? Not quite. The cashier has been shortchanged $10 minus what was paid for the original item. "I used to wait until the lunch rush was tapering off, when I knew there would be $20s in the register," she said.

She said managers fighting the problem must convince employees that it exists, since the cashier is usually unaware of the deficit until the money and register tape are matched at day's end.

"The most important rule is one transaction at a time," she said. "When I pay for my Coke, you should give me change and shut the register, no matter what I say or do to keep you from doing it."

A second rule: "Never take money out of the register until you have my money in hand." Her victims, she said, are the agreeable, those she believes she can catch off-guard. "It works because people are so easily intimidated. It's best to pick on nice waitresses."

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It would be wise to avoid discussing volatile domestic issues with your mate today. Unfortunately, neither is likely to have too much respect for the other's view.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Treat your resources respectfully today. Don't be selfish, but by the same token be careful not to lend something of value to a poor risk.

National League does it again

LOS ANGELES (AP) — No one, not the managers, the players or even the fans can explain the overwhelming superiority of the National League over the American in baseball's All-Star game.

It happened again, a ninth straight time, even after Steve Stone of Baltimore pitched a perfect first three innings for the Americans on Tuesday night at Dodger Stadium.

Ken Griffey, not even voted to a starting position by the nation's fans, belted Tommy John's first pitch to him in the fifth inning for a home run which gave the National League its first hit and sparked a 4-2 victory.

Griffey's Cincinnati teammate Ray Knight commented after the game, "his home run kind of fired us up and everybody started going about the task."

The NL task was helped by an error on a tough play by New York Yankees second baseman Willie Randolph in a two-run sixth inning.

So the Nationals now have won 17 of the past 18 meetings, the last AL victory coming in 1971.

Manager Earl Weaver of Baltimore, who piloted the American League in 1971, was at a loss to explain why his charges lost this time and why the string of losses.

"I know they wanted to win and they played to win," said Weaver. "You watched the game. You tell me."

Chuck Tanner of the World Champion Pittsburgh Pirates, said the "difference this time was defense. I knew our squad had too good hitters to be shut down all the way. I can't explain the streak."

The Americans had taken a 2-0 lead on Fred Lynn's homer with Rod Carew on base in the fifth inning. The homer wasn't too hard to take for the pro-National League crowd of 56,088 in Dodger Stadium because Lynn is a product of the nearby University of Southern California.

With one out in the sixth, after Griffey's homer the previous inning, Knight singled with one out. Phil Garner grounded another single and George Hendrick singled to score Knight with the tying run. Ed Farmer relieved John and was greeted with the tough grounder by Winfield that got through Randolph.

"I don't see how they can give me an error on that play," the Yankees infielder said. "The ball was hit to my left, it had a knuckleball spin. I'd try to play it the same way if it happened again."

Weaver said, "If he comes up with it, it changes things around, but it was a tough play."

Garner scored on the play and the NL was ahead. They added the fourth run in the seventh when Dave Concepcion scored on a wild pitch by Dave Steib of Toronto who earlier had thrown another wild pitch in an inning that also saw a passed ball by Darrell Porter of Kansas City.

Griffey, who hit the igniting home run and followed later with a single, was voted the game's Most Valuable Player although he knocked in only one run — himself with his homer. He told newsmen that he had a phone call from Cincinnati's George Foster, a previous MVP, wishing him luck in this game.

Even Griffey couldn't explain the continuing superiority of the National League.

"This was very disappointing," said Weaver. "We went out to do everything possible to win."

The final results showed the NL with four runs on seven hits with no errors and the AL with 2-7-2.

The winning pitcher was the Dodgers' Jerry Reuss who hurled only the sixth but that was the inning when the Nationals went ahead.

Too Tall Jones returns to the corral

GRAPEVINE, Texas (AP) — Dallas Cowboy coach Tom Landry smiled — not once but many times — while he waited for the arrival of his prodigal player Ed "Too Tall" Jones, who has returned to the fold.

The defensive end flew into Dallas-Fort Worth Regional airport from New York late Tuesday night and was whisked to a back room where he signed a multi-year contract, ending his brief fling with professional boxing.

Landry said the 6-foot-9, 265-pound Jones — whom the Cowboys made the No. 1 pick in the 1974 NFL draft — will have to earn his way back into the starting lineup.

"Right now, he wouldn't step in as No. 1 left end. John Dutton has that slot," Landry said. "But whether there'll be a challenge or whether Dutton will move to left tackle, we'll just have to see."

"I was sure we'd reached agreement about 10 minutes ago," joked Cowboy player personnel director Gil Brandt at the press conference following Jones' arrival. "But I was optimistic a year ago that he'd come back."

Brandt and Jones' lawyer, Don Cronson, conducted a long series of negotiations before the 28-year-old veteran agreed to sign on with the National Football League team.

Jones said he is excited about the prospect of playing football again.

"I've prepared myself to accept a challenge from one of my teammates and I'm in the best shape I've ever been, strength-wise especially," said Jones, who retired from football in June of 1979 to pursue a pro career in boxing, which he called his first love.

The Cowboys called members of the media Tuesday afternoon to announce that Jones had agreed to terms, that he was en route from New York to Dallas, and that a press conference would take place at the airport upon his arrival.

Jones, who said he weighs 265 pounds now and plans to play at 260, said he had no regrets about boxing, though his career was undistinguished and he hadn't fought since February.

"If I had to do it over again, I'd do it. I learned a lot. It may make me a better football player. My hands and reflexes are a lot quicker now."

Nothing in particular persuaded him to return to football, he said.

"I was at a crossroads after my last fight in early February, and at some time you have to

Skaugstad signs with Oilers

HOUSTON (AP) — The University of California-Berkeley and Mount Rainier High School in Seattle, Wash. will be pleased to learn that a former student, nose guard Daryle Skaugstad, has signed his contract with the Houston Oilers.

Part of Skaugstad's earnings will go to his alma maters.

"I'm trying to retrace my roots and use whatever athletic success I have to benefit the citizens of Houston and the other people that have been fair with me in the past," Skaugstad said Tuesday.

Skaugstad, drafted in the second round by the Oilers in the 1980 National Football League draft, said a portion of his contract would go to the schools that helped his athletic career.

"I hurt my knee in the middle of last season and I wouldn't be here today if it hadn't been for the program at Berkeley," Skaugstad said.

Skaugstad, 6-5, 260, reeled off 51 tackles in 4 1/2 games before suffering a knee injury last season.

Skaugstad plans to repay his tuition to Cal-Berkeley and will establish a scholarship fund at the high school he attended.

Goat roundup world's 'worst' job

EMENTE ISLAND, Calif. (AP) — If you hanker to swing a scale treacherous 1,000-foot canyon walls and sidestep artillery shells, trapper Jim Clapp has a job for you.

But if that sounds somewhat romantic, be advised that Clapp thinks the job ranks among the world's worst.

Clapp and his invaders are running the Great Goat Roundup. "We don't want anyone out here who is married. We're risking lives to catch them dang goats," said Clapp, a Colorado-reared cowboy whose credentials for the job include capturing thousands of wild horses over the past decade.

Hired by the Navy to rid rocky San Clemente Island of a troublesome herd of 2,500 wild goats, Clapp — after a month on the job — is having second thoughts.

"When the Navy said it was darn near impossible to get all the goats out of here, they aren't too far wrong," Clapp said.

"It takes a while to get an individual crazy enough to stick with this job because they damn sure don't get enough pay," he said. "How many jobs do you know of where you're holding a machete in one hand, and hanging on a rock with the other?"

The goats, presumably descendants of those left behind by Spanish explorers, threaten seven endangered species: four plants — larkspur, brush mallow, Indian paint brush and San Clemente Island broom — and three birds — San Clemente Island house wren, San Clemente Island sage sparrow and San Clemente Island loggerhead shrike.

A federal court order late last year saved the goats. The Navy had scheduled a slaughter by helicopter-borne hunters.

Now the roundup project has turned into a nightmare of close calls and squabbles. Under the $148,000 contract, Clapp and his 10-member crew will have until the end of the year to catch the goats.

"We can do it, but it's one of the roughest animal removal jobs in the world. Getting those burros out the Grand Canyon will be a piece of cake after this," said Clapp, who has applied, f.o., ill rise to meet a crisis," he said.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — John W. Camp, acting director of the Railroad Commission's Gas Utilities Division, has been appointed general counsel of the Oil and Gas Division.

The appointment is effective Aug. 1, Railroad Commission Chairman John Poerner said Tuesday. Jeffrey Hill, an acting assistant director with the Transportation Division, will replace Camp as acting director of the Gas Utilities Division.

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Dana R. Shelton will be Texas representative in hopes of attacking motion picture and television production companies to make films in the state.

Shelton was named assistant director of the Texas Film Commission Tuesday by Pat Wolfe, executive director. Shelton began work at the commission last October as a location scout.

This furniture is 'good as new'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal government's purchasing agency, under attack for wasting usable furniture, is trying to convince bureaucrats that rehabilitated cabinets and desks can look as good as new and cost two-thirds less.

The campaign includes displays of repaired furniture in at least three locations — New York City, Albany, N.Y., and Edison, N.J. — to show officials that used furniture does not necessarily have to hurt their office decor.

Warren Gardner, spokesman for the General Services Administration in New York, said accepting used furniture also would help an agency's budget. Gardner said that while a new file cabinet would cost $165, a repaired one would cost from $11.20 to $44.

Gardner said using rehabilitated furniture already had saved the FBI $250,000.

Quake rocks Athens

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — A string of powerful earthquakes rocked eastern Greece early today, injuring at least 17 persons and destroying more than 200 houses and apartments, police reported.

About 1,800 other houses and office buildings were damaged, police said. Police said scores of houses in the area of the eastern port city of Volos collapsed and many buildings were damaged.

Early reports said one person had been killed, but police said later there were no deaths. The Athens Seismological Bureau said the quakes took place between 5:10 a.m. and 5:37 a.m. The most powerful measured 6.3 on the Richter scale.

The quakes were centered 93 miles northwest of Athens, the bureau said. It added that a series of aftershocks measuring between 3 and 5 on the Richter scale were continuing.

Bullock blasts

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Comptroller Bob Bullock has received word that the FBI finished its analysis of typewriter ribbons from a former deputy comptroller's office 10 months ago.

Bullock blasted District Attorney Ronald Earle today for saying completion of a grand jury investigation of Bullock's former deputy, Ralph Wayne, was delayed by the FBI.

"Pretty Boy Ronnie is caught with his pants down and his rear showing," Bullock said.

He released to reporters a letter from James W. Greenleaf, assistant director of the FBI, that said: "Please be advised that the final transcription of typewriter ribbons referred to was furnished to the district attorney of Travis County, Texas, with a laboratory report dated September 7, 1979."

Bullock's former publicist, Bill Collier, furnished the ribbons to the district attorney in October 1978, contending they showed Wayne had his secretary write private business letters for him on state time.

Earle has kept the Wayne investigation alive but in limbo, saying he could not proceed until he received the FBI transcription of the impressions on the ribbons.

He told The Associated Press in March, "Ralph's case is still open.

FBI delay

When we get the FBI tapes (the carbon typewriter ribbons) deciphered, ... we will look at it again." He quoted the FBI as saying it was "working on it."

When Bullock accused Earle of "continued harassment" of Wayne last month, Earle replied the tapes "have been back for some months" but completion of the case had been delayed by other factors.

Bullock said today Earle owed an apology to the community, the state, and four Travis County grand juries that had served since Earle received the FBI report in September.

"On those grand juries alone, there have been 48 good people he has lied to, telling them by his inaction that he couldn't resolve the matter because the FBI hadn't reported," he said.

Bullock said Earle was "a first class candidate for the grievance committee" of the State Bar of Texas. "His abuse of public office is obvious. His abuse of his law license is unforgivable," Bullock said.

Grand juries investigated Bullock and his office in 1978 and early 1979 but returned no indictments. One grand jury said in a report that Bullock had hindered its investigation, and Bullock is seeking to have a district judge expunge that report from the public record.
