Governor outlines Carter opposition

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says he has opposed President Carter since 1977 when he learned Carter was making decisions of the "utmost importance" without consulting members of the National Security Council.

"That's when I decided that he was bad for this country and he was making decisions that I could not live with and did not agree with," said Clements.

The Republican governor was asked if his opposition to Carter over national security issues had contributed to Clements' decision to run for governor in 1978, and he replied:

"Absolutely."

Clements, Texas campaign chairman for Ronald Reagan, was interviewed for the radio-television program "Capital Eye," which will be broadcast Sunday.

He dated his opposition to Carter to October 1977, not to 1976, when the president was elected.

A member of the interview panel, Winston Bode, said Clements stated that he had learned through sources that Carter made his decision to cancel development of the B-1 bomber without consulting the secretary of defense, secretary of state or chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Clements left his job as deputy secretary of defense in January 1977 but said he continued to go to Washington "on a fairly regular basis like once a month" to meet with Secretary Harold Brown and Deputy Secretary Charles Duncan at their invitation.

China would side with Soviets

CANYON, Texas (AP) — Soviet dissident Aleksander Ginzburg says Russia and China have "duped" Americans into believing there is a conflict between the two countries, but if a world war erupted China would side with the Soviets.

Ginzburg told a news conference here Wednesday that neither communist country wants to fight the other because the victor could not even feed the people in the occupied country.

And Ginzburg, who was exiled from Russia in 1979, said that preparedness and the belief that the United States would be unwilling to fight could entice the Soviets into making a "pre-emptory strike" against the Western world in the next few years.

He said the West could win such a war if Americans had the desire to win, but he said he senses that the American people do not have the will to be victorious.

Accused murderer surrenders

DALLAS (AP) — A man accused of killing a Dallas couple in front of their horrified children has turned himself in, authorities said.

Robert Lee Brown, 25, walked into the Dallas County sheriff's office Tuesday night and told a deputy he was turning himself over to law officials.

"I'm Robert Brown and I'm wanted for murder," he told Deputy Elizabeth Matter.

"No, sir," she responded. "You're wanted for capital murder."

"Is that worse than murder?" Brown asked.

He reportedly burst into tears when told he could receive the death penalty if convicted. He went quietly to jail and was held on $100,000 bond, Ms. Matter said.

Brown is accused of shooting David and Shirley Owens to death and seriously wounding Roy Clark in the couple's home Sunday night while the Owens' two young children looked on, police said.

The two boys, Baron Ross, 10, and Cedrick, 6, ran from the house after seeing their parents killed, said police, who have placed the children with relatives.

Koreans endorse reforms

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — South Koreans by a 13-to-1 vote endorsed the military government's new constitution promising democratic reforms, the Central Election Committee announced today.

Final official returns from Wednesday's referendum were 17,829,354 in favor of the new constitution, or 91.6 percent of the total vote; 1,357,673 or 7.9 percent opposed, and 266,899 votes invalid.

The turnout was a record 19,453,926 voters, or 95.5 percent of the 20,373,869 eligible, the committee said.

The government hailed the vote as "an expression of people's united will and a display of their high democratic ability."

The overwhelming approval of the new constitution provides "a systematic basis to settle democracy on this land, materializing a just society and building a welfare state on the ground of a national consensus," government spokesman Lee Kwang-pyo, the culture and information minister, said in a statement.

President Chun Doo-hwan, who seized control of the ruling military clique after the assassination last October of President Park Chung-hee, pledged "a just and righteous society" and a "democratic welfare state" under the new constitution.

The new charter, expected to take effect next Monday, will replace the Yushin, or Revitalizing Reform Constitution, passed by Park in 1972 to ensure continuation of his autocratic one-man rule. Under it only one candidate could run for president and he was elected by an electoral college packed with Park supporters.

The new constitution, the fifth in this nation's turbulent 32 years of independence, reduces presidential powers in favor of the legislative branch and the courts. It allows more than one presidential candidate and limits the president to a single seven-year term. It also guarantees more basic civil rights and liberties, including restoration of the habeas corpus provision discontinued in the Yushin charter.

Supplementary provisions of the new constitution call for elections so that a president and Parliament can be installed before next June 30. Once the constitution takes effect, the present National Assembly and all political parties will be dissolved.

The 131-article constitution was prepared by a government-named committee. It was put to a vote without public debate, with voters given the choice of accepting it or retaining the repressive Yushin charter.

Judge extends ban on alien enrollment 30 days

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (AP) — Local school officials have 30 days to prepare to resume enrollment of illegal alien children — a move they say may force them to consider half-day classes to handle the extra students.

U.S. District Judge Filemon Vela extended a temporary ban on the admission of undocumented children to this border district on Wednesday following a 3½ hour hearing.

Brownsville School Superintendent Raul Besteiro testified the school system lacked the money, classrooms and teachers needed to educate the additional students a Houston federal judge says must be enrolled.

"I think the evidence is unquestionable that they have problems in Brownsville," Vela said. "But the problems in the Brownsville school district are not only undocumented students but in other categories. For me to give a permanent injunction would be discriminatory and illegal."

The judge said he wanted to take the extra time to read all the evidence before writing an opinion due to "the impact this case may have in the entire state of Texas."

Vela issued a temporary ban on enrolling the undocumented children on Oct. 11. School officials estimated between 30 and 40 children have been turned away since then.

Linda Yanez, an attorney representing a family whose children were denied admission under Vela's earlier order, termed his ruling a "victory" and said other school districts probably would think twice before trying to seek an exemption from a statewide order to educate all children.

Brownsville school officials presented figures showing it has enrolled 557 undocumented children since U.S. District Judge Woodrow Seals ordered Texas schools to admit illegal aliens.

But Ms. Yanez said that figure was misleading. "There are really only 170 of that number in which the parent and child are illegal aliens," she said.

School attendance officer Alonzo Perez confirmed under cross-examination that some of the "undocumented" children actually were U.S. citizens whose parents were illegal aliens. Children born in this country are legal citizens, whether their parents are here legally or not.

Ms. Yanez said there were other instances of children being considered undocumented when they simply lacked proper papers to prove they were citizens or lawful resident aliens.

Besteiro said the district would seek federal funds to help cushion the system's strained budget.

"We'll have to consider half-day sessions, but I don't want to get into that," he said. "Even if I had 50 classrooms, where would I get 50 teachers?"

In the month-long "grace period" Besteiro said the district could construct four portable classrooms to handle about 120 additional students.

"At least we have 30 days to work on some thinking," he said. "It's better than nothing."

Ms. Yanez said she thought Vela's decision was fair to both sides.

"Of course, I wish he would have let the kids in on Monday," she said.

Brownsville schools have enrolled 27,100 and another 1,000 children of migrant farmworkers are expected to register by the end of November, the superintendent said. Bilingual teachers are in short supply and will not be available until after December, he added.

One of the school district's witnesses was a bilingual first-grade teacher who has five illegal aliens in her class.

"They have no basic skills. They can't even hold a pencil and don't recognize their name," said Maria Garcia.

Contest seems closer, candidates get rough

By The Associated Press

With the race seemingly getting closer as the Nov. 4 election draws nearer, President Carter and Ronald Reagan are more and more doing away with political niceties. Reagan is calling Carter "incompetent," and the president says the Republicans are spreading around "horse manure."

The comments came Monday as a New York Times-CBS poll was released showing the president 1 percentage point ahead of Reagan. CBS said the race was still too close to call, but it was the first major poll putting Carter ahead.

Carter made his "horse manure" remark to a crowd in Waco, Texas, as he displayed a pair of cowboy boots he said had been given him by Democratic Rep. Jack Brooks of Texas.

"I grew up on a farm and I know you need boots for things besides stomping Republicans," Carter said. "Republicans have a habit of spreading a lot of horse manure around right before an election, and lately, as you also know, it's been getting pretty deep all over this country."

Reagan, speaking at Centenary College in Louisiana, said of Carter: "The man who is asking for four more years is incompetent to do the job."

Carter and Reagan also traded more jabs over the hostage issue, while independent candidate John Anderson said in Washington he hopes the hostages can be released "immediately" and added:

"To whose political advantage that inns is of little consequence as far as I'm concerned."

Anderson also said in an interview with The Associated Press that he may run for president again in 1984 as head of a third political party.

At the same time, he continued to insist he can win this year, but he also said the two-party system could have such a strong grip on voters they may not accept his bipartisan concepts.

The independent candidate was campaigning in Michigan and New York today, while Reagan was again trying to gain votes in Carter's native South. The president was back in the White House for the day.

Carter's showing in the Times-CBS poll was 39 percent, with 38 percent going to Reagan and 9 percent to Anderson.

In a similar poll late last month, Reagan led 40 percent to 35 percent for Carter, with Anderson at 9 percent. CBS noted that the poll has a 3 percent margin of error, making the race too close to call.

Carter, in Texarkana, Ark., on the Texas border, chided Reagan for claiming to have a "secret plan" to get the 52 American hostages out of Iran, comparing this to Richard Nixon campaigning for president in 1968 saying he had a plan to end the Vietnam War.

"Well, here it is 12 years later, and we still don't know what Mr. Nixon's secret plan was to win the Vietnam War. Now, how many of you Texans with sound judgment familiar with history believe that Ronald Reagan has a secret plan to get the hostages back?" Carter asked.

Reagan, in his comments Tuesday, did not actually say he had a "secret plan" but did say he had some ideas on how to free the hostages.

On Wednesday in Shreveport, La., Reagan blamed administration policies for the plight of the hostages but said he wasn't going to talk about the issue any more "with 52 human beings at stake."

"I'm not going to comment on this any more," he said, adding it was "obvious" that the Carter camp "tried to make a political issue of this."

Reagan said Carter was using "reprehensible and unthinkable tactics" but conceded that the president's efforts to paint him as war-like were hurting the Republican campaign for the White House.

"It's been effective in creating a stereotype of me," he said. "It is a stereotype. I don't think anyone in this country is more in favor of peace than I am."

In his interview, Anderson said he thought he could still win the election because the support for both Carter and Reagan was "exceptionally soft."

CANDIDATE CHARM. Presidential hopefuls are making whirlwind tours of the country in last-minute efforts to charm votes from Americans and gain favor by the ballot. President Carter, below, acknowledges hundreds of balloons released by supporters in Texarkana, Tex. Wednesday. At right is Arkansas Governor Bill Clinton. While Carter was wooing the ARKLATEX area, Ronald Reagan, challenger, was in St. Petersburg, Fla., where "Reaganettes" greeted his party at the St. Petersburg Hotel shortly after his arrival from a swing through Mississippi. ### Bergland favors grain deal

By JAMES H. RUBIN
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland says the new grain trade agreement between the United States and China showed the superiority of President Carter's farm policies over those of Republican Ronald Reagan. But he insists it was not timed for political advantage.

Bergland said Wednesday the Chinese were eager to negotiate with the Carter administration partly out of fear that a Reagan administration would establish more formal ties with Taiwan. The Chinese "believe Reagan is an amateur," Bergland said. "They're anxious about the U.S. election and U.S. producers ought to be also."

Bergland said the Chinese may have concluded the trade agreement now because they regard "Reagan's two-China policy as so clumsy" it would be a risk to wait.

The agreement was signed Wednesday in Peking and takes effect Jan. 1. It calls for the Chinese to buy 6 million to 9 million tons of American grain a year for the next four years at market prices. Most of it will be wheat, and the rest, from 15 percent to 20 percent, will be corn.

Bergland said the proof that the agreement was not timed for the election was that it "has been under study for two years and negotiations have been under way since May. There's nothing new or unusual about this."

Bergland said the agreement will provide a stable market for American farmers without causing any increase in food prices here. He said the cost of a loaf of bread would not be affected by the pact since the United States is already selling so much grain to China.

"The agreement will benefit our farmers by providing assurances of a stable, high level of exports to China. We see it as a new milestone in our country's relationship with a nation that includes one-fourth of the world's people," the secretary said.

In the current fiscal year, China is expected to buy more than $2 billion worth of U.S. farm commodities, including about 6 million tons of wheat, 2.5 million tons of corn, almost a million tons of soybeans and 2 million bales of cotton, U.S. officials said.

Bergland said "this agreement provides the way for private U.S. interests to compete" in the China market.

He said there was no reason for the government to consult grain growers before concluding the negotiations because U.S. foreign policy interests were of paramount concern.

"We don't consult with arms contractors" before agreeing to provide armaments to other nations, Bergland said.

Bergland said that when compared to Japan and Western European countries, trade with China has not been very reliable.

"We do need to have some regularity. The Chinese trade has been irregular. We need to be prepared and aware of what their needs are," he said. The grain agreement, he said, "eliminates the element of Bergland also said the administration's partial embargo of grain for the Soviet Union was adding to distress in Russia. He said the only way the Soviets could ease their food shortages would be to resume full-scale grain trade with the United States.

Carter suspended sales of 17 million metric tons of grain to the Soviet Union last January after the Soviet occupation of Afghanistan. Reagan has called for lifting the embargo.

The latest estimates are that the Soviet grain harvest will be 181 million metric tons, about 25 million below what the Agriculture Department anticipated as recently as two weeks ago.

Bergland said the Russians "are feeling the sting (from the embargo) and they're feeling it hard. This is the time to keep the heat on."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department's latest plans for providing credits to Poland includes $210 million in commodities.

The designations call for up to $100 million for feed grains, $65 million for protein meals, $8 million for lard, $24 million for soybeans, $4 million for vegetable oils, $3 million for edible soy protein, $3 million for rice and $3 million for alfalfa seeds.

That brings to $417 million the amount of commodities that the department has designated for Poland under a $670 million program of loan guarantees on exports.

Area football roundup

Wheeler and Panhandle remain the only unbeaten teams on the area football scene. Wheeler, defending Class B champions, travels to Clarendon Friday night while Panhandle hosts Sanford-Fritch. Both teams combine a solid offense with a sturdy defense. Wheeler (5-0) is averaging 29.2 points a game and Panhandle (6-0) is putting 23 points on the board every outing. Both are allowing only 6.3 points a game. All other area teams will be in action Friday night. Miami and White Deer will be out to snap three-game losing streaks. The Warriors travel to Booker and the Bucks host Stratford. McLean, currently on a three-game winning surge, hosts Claude, Canadian, winner of its last two games, visits Shamrock. Groom, which had a two-game win streak snapped by McLean last week, goes to Follett.

Clark wins club pistol shoot

Gary Clark Sr., Pampa, shot a 26 to capture overall match honors at the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club's Hunter's Pistol Silhouette Match last weekend. "The weather was windy and a little cool, but in spite of it we had some very good scores and a very good shoot" club spokeswoman Janet Bilyeu said. "We had 44 competitors." Class winners were AAA, Jim Helm, Amarillo, 23, first; Truman Warren, Amarillo, 22, second. AA, Glen Brummett, Pampa, 26, first; Rick Swope, Pampa, 25; Ladies AA, Dianna Tidwell, Pampa, 21, first; A, Gary Kennedy, Amarillo, 21;

Robert Brewer, Pampa, 18, second; Ladies A, Peggy Keebler, Skellytown, 17, first; Junior A, Greg Wilkins, Pampa, 15, first; Class B, B.B. Golden, Amarillo, 17, first; James Moreland, Pampa, 13, second (won shootoff with Clifford Sanders of Pampa). Receiving pins for hitting five chickens in a row were Jim Helms, Rick Swope, Dianna Tidwell, Mike Griffith and Clayton Gross. Betty Helms received a pin for hitting 10 chickens in a row. Pins for hitting five pigs in a row went to Rick Swope, Glen Brummett, Fran Gross and Gary Clark Jr. The next scheduled match is at 1 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 16 at the rifle range six miles east of Pampa. "Congratulations to all winners and all those who hit five and ten in a row," Mrs. Bilyeu said. "We were glad to see you there and hope to see you all again next month along with your friends." The Rifle and Pistol Club has also slated a turkey shoot for 1 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 26 at the range. Entrants may shoot with a black powder pistol or rifle, a 22 caliber pistol, rifle or high velocity .22. Ammunition is recommended. There will be a five-dollar entry fee. Turkeys will be awarded to the winners in each classification. More information can be obtained by calling Jack Selby at 669-7737 or John Bilyeu at 669-6358.

Mavs win first road game

SEATTLE (AP) — While Dallas Mavericks Coach Dick Motta was reveling in his expansion team's second victory ever and its first on the road, his counterpart seemed to be asking, "Where am I." "We played like we were the visitors," said Seattle SuperSonics Coach Lenny Wilkens. "We played with no enthusiasm. When that happens, nothing happens on the floor." The Sonics returned home Wednesday night after a five-game road swing and fell to the Mavericks 107-102. Seattle, which was 33-8 in the Kingdome last season, has lost both its home games this year. Motta, who took his former club, the Washington Bullets, into the National Basketball Association finals against Seattle in 1978 and 1979, said the Sonics road swing was a factor. "I love to play a team that has been on the road because I consider a first home game almost like a road game," he said. "I think that affected Seattle." But Motta saved some of the credit for his Mavericks who never trailed in the game and led by as much as 19 points, at 79-60 with 4:09 to go in the third quarter. "We had some fine individual performances — Richard Washington's surge in the third quarter was good because we were just trading baskets for a while," Washington, the 6-11 forward, scored 14 of his 24 points in that third period. During that stanza, Dallas hit 14 of its 18 shots from the field while Seattle hit 12 of 21. For the game, the Mavericks shot for 56 percent, Seattle 45 percent. Washington also grabbed nine rebounds to pace the Mavericks. He said the victory gave Dallas "a lot of respect." Motta was not making excuses for his team either, despite its 2-5 record and the history of poor performance by league newcomers. "We're going to hustle," he said. "You don't have to have a lot of god-given talent if you hustle." To add to the optimism, Motta said guard Winford Boynes, who scored 22 points, was "the

SMU's Ford sidelined

DALLAS (AP) — The former national total offense leader in college football has taken a back seat at Southern Methodist University, where Coach Ron Meyer says he will announce today who will replace junior quarterback Mike Ford in Saturday's game against No. 2-ranked Texas. Victimized by eight interceptions in SMU's losses to Baylor and Houston, Ford said he's been told by Meyer the No. 1 quarterback job belongs to either sophomore Mike Fisher or freshman Lance McIlhenny. "Life will go on," Ford said. "I did the best I could my first two years and I've done the best I can for these first six games, but apparently it wasn't good enough." Ford injured a knee last year and underwent surgery. He has not been at full speed since. "Mike has been the starter since he was a 10th grader at Mesquite High School," said Meyer. "But he also understands that he's not playing very well."

"We thought the situation would iron itself out but his performance hasn't been progressing the way any of us expected, including Mike." "I wish this wasn't happening," said McIlhenny, an all-stater at Highland Park. "I wish we were 6-0 right now. I guess some people don't think he (Ford) is doing the job; or else they're trying to psyche him up. Mike has been doing a super job." Fisher said he wasn't expecting the move. "I'm not completely sure of the situation," he said. "I definitely think I deserve a chance to get in there and see what I can do." SMU is a 12-point underdog against the unbeaten Longhorns in the upcoming Southwest Conference game.

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES third baseman Mike Schmidt is drenched with champagne as he answers reporters' questions in the clubhouse after Philadelphia's World Series win Tuesday night in Philadelphia.

Schmidt made up for playoff slump

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The most important hit for Mike Schmidt in the Philadelphia Phillies' march to their first World Series championship was the one he didn't get.

"It was in the final game of the National League playoffs at Houston," said the reluctant Series hero. "I failed to get the hit that I wanted more than any hit in my life."

It was the eighth inning of the fifth and decisive playoff game, the Phillies trailing the Astros 5-4 with runners at first and third. Schmidt, the league's top home run hitter with 48, strode to the plate.

"I struck out on three straight pitches, looking at the last one," he added. "I went back to the dugout saying, 'Good Lord, what am I trying to do?' I went 0-for-5 in that final game."

"I was trying too hard. I was getting too much on my shoulders. It was as if I was carrying a message from God."

"Del Unser, who was next up, got a hit and we finally won in 10 innings 8-7. I was really humbled."

Schmidt was wearing his blanket of newly found humility when he came to the plate in the third inning Tuesday with the bases loaded.

"I kept saying to myself, 'Keep it in the park," just keep it in the park.'" he said. "I wasn't trying to knock it out of sight."

The slugging third baseman drilled a single to right center, scoring the first two runs in the 4-1 victory over the Kansas City Royals that gave the Phillies their first World Series pennant ever.

Schmidt was a solid choice for the coveted Most Valuable Player award, finishing the Series with eight hits in 21 at bats for a .381 average. He hit two homers and batted in eight runs.

The 6-foot-2, 203-pound powerhouse accepted the award with the cloak of humility he had gained 10 days before.

"I am ecstatic," he said when he received the news at the post-game press conference. "I wish I could chop it up into 25 pieces and spread it around."

"This is not a one-man team or a two-man team. At least six or seven guys could have been voted MVP justifiably. I am honored it happened to me."

Schmidt said one of his big disappointments was that his grandmother did not live to see him in his finest hour.

"Her name was Viola Schmidt. The first ball I ever had, she threw it with me. She died on my birthday — last September 27 in Dayton, Ohio."

Bradshaw hurt Steelers' injury woes continue to mount

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pittsburgh Steeler fans still are wearing T-shirts proclaiming "One for the Thumb," a rallying cry in the team's bid for a fifth Super Bowl ring.

But these are tough times for the defending champions, losers of two in a row, and Terry Bradshaw couldn't squeeze a fifth ring onto his jammed right thumb if he tried.

"I'm hurting, like a lot of other guys on this team, but we've just got to keep working," said the Steeler quarterback, who also sustained a pinched nerve in his left shoulder in Monday night's 45-34 loss to the Oakland Raiders.

"We're a little bit down right now. We needed a win. And I'm sure a lot of the guys are probably just as confused as I am," said Bradshaw.

"But we're going to play some good football. I don't know when I hope it's soon."

X-rays on Bradshaw's thumb were negative Tuesday, but he was listed as questionable for next Sunday's road game with the Cleveland Browns.

Pittsburgh, 4-3 after losses to Cincinnati and Oakland, is tied with Cleveland and the Houston Oilers atop the American Conference Central Division.

The Steelers also said Tuesday that middle linebacker Jack Lambert would be sidelined two weeks with strained ligaments in his right knee. He also was hurt against Oakland.

The playing status of defensive end L.C. Greenwood and offensive lineman Ray Pinney will be determined later in the week. Greenwood suffered a pinched nerve in his neck and Pinney a bruised hip against Oakland.

Going into Monday night's game, seven of the Pittsburgh's 11 offensive starters in the last Super Bowl were unable to play, including All Pros Franco Harris, Lynn Swann and John Stallworth.

Bradshaw, who hurt his shoulder when sacked in the first half, was sidelined for good in the fourth quarter when he jammed his thumb into an Oakland player's helmet.

"I'll keep ice on it for three or four days, but I hope to practice by Friday," said Bradshaw.

Lambert's knee buckled when he leaped trying to deflect a first-quarter pass.

"If it was anything but the knee I would play," Lambert said. "I wanted to go in during the second half. But I couldn't."

Harris has inflamed knee ligaments; Swann's cracked ribs are still healing; Stallworth remains on injured reserve with a cracked bone in his leg; guard Steve Courson will be shelved for at least three more weeks with a sprained ankle; and running back Sidney Thornton has a sore shoulder.

But the Steelers aren't known for throwing in the towel.

"Terry Bradshaw and the Steelers don't know the meaning of the word 'quit,'" said Raider guard Gene Upshaw.

"That's why I respect them so much."

Judges, timber interests oppose preserves

HOUSTON (AP) — Four county judges joined spokesmen for timber interests Wednesday in loudly opposing the creation of 10 wilderness areas on National Forest lands in the heart of East Texas. The judges were among 50 witnesses at a hearing conducted by U.S. Rep. Bob Eckhardt, D-Houston, on a National Forest Service recommendation that 10,212 acres of national forest woodland in Texas be put aside as wilderness areas, with an additional 18,032 acres protected during further study. Judges Dan Jones of Angelina County, Royce Smith of Sabine County, H.R. Morgan of Houston County and Ralph Davis of Walker County charged that the action would eliminate 300 jobs in the timber industry and hurt the economy in their counties, the areas most affected by the proposal. But proponents of the recommendation, including Eckhardt, the Sierra Club, the Audubon Society, and the Texas Committee on Natural Resources, said only 50 jobs would possibly be affected.

JUDGES ATTEND SEMINAR - Ninety-six justices of the peace attended a 20-hour Texas Justice of the Peace Training Seminar, Sept. 16-17 in Amarillo. The training center is based at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos. The seminars are held in compliance with articles 5872, section B in the Texas Revised Civil Statutes. Among those attending were: left to right, Court Clerk Tanna Everette of Pampa, Gray County; Margie Prestidge of Lefors, Gray County, precinct 1, place 1; Frankie Hill of Canadian, Hemphill County, precinct 1, place 1, and Dorothy B. Patterson, McLean, Gray County, precinct 4, place 1.

Absentee boxes are prime for fraud

By KEN HERMAN
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — You say your candidate is a vote or two short of getting that important seat on the school board or the city council? That can easily be corrected if you can get your hands on some absentee ballots, according to a member of the Federal Election Commission Panel on Multilingual Elections. "In some areas up to 50 percent of the ballots will be absentee," said attorney George Korbel of San Antonio. "This means for as many as 20 days before the election ballots are available to be spoiled, removed or replaced." Korbel, speaking before a panel of leaders of Hispanic organizations Wednesday, gave a virtual primer on stealing close elections.

Korbel has been an attorney in several voting rights suits in federal court. "In large part because of the failure of governmental intervention, election fraud will be uncovered or dealt with only in the extreme or unusual situation," he said. The biggest problem you'll face is getting into the absentee box, Korbel said, because state law requires two locks on the box, with one key going to the sheriff and one to the county clerk. "The possibility of their cooperation in an endeavor to maintain the status quo would not be an unreasonable assumption. The political lore of South and West Texas is filled with much to support it," he said. Once you're in the box, he said, the rest is easy. Here's all you do: — Check for ballots on which voters chose not to vote in every race. If the voter didn't vote in your candidate's race, just mark the vote for your man or woman. "This fraud would have almost no possibility of detection," said Korbel. — When you find a ballot that went the wrong way, simply ruin it. A couple of extra holes on a punch card ballot, or a few errant marks on a paper ballot will do the trick, Korbel said. — You scan the voter rolls for elderly people who might not vote. You mail in a request for an absentee ballot for those people, cast the vote and send it in. There are other methods, according to Korbel, and they all should work. "The significant point here is that fraud appears to be uncovered only under the unusual situations where the losing candidates is able to muster both the time and the money to do his or her own investigation," Korbel said.

Singing telegrams back in tune

NEW YORK (AP) — Karen Richards brought her tap shoes and sang "Happy Birthday" in Hebrew. Barbara Guardiola wore blue shorts, red sneakers, white socks and gave a baton-twirling cheer for the Bisons. Bison spirit never dies. These would be the Massapequa, N.Y., Bisons of Alfred G. Berner High, class of '71. Terry Urdang sang "I'm a Little Teapot." Jerry Winsett sang "Rubber Ducky" and balanced a spoon on his nose. Why? Just listen. Western Union has decided to get back in the singing telegram business, dormant for six prosaic years. Auditions are now being held for couriers hopeful of finding stardom on a doorstep. Charles Zucker limbered his knuckles, opened his mouth, and in 25 resonant knocks rendered "Happy Birthday" on his skull. Kathleen Lowden, confessing that she was stuck like a dope on a thing called hope, sang "Cockeyed Optimist." Most of the more than 100 other optimists who showed up for the auditions were not cockeyed but simply out-of-work stage performers, in New York, the most numerous kind. It didn't hurt attendance that the auditions were held a block from the unemployment office. They were held at a disco joint named S.N.A.F.U. not far from Greenwich Village, quite far, alas, from Broadway. A disco joint at 11 a.m. is not a place you would associate with a cheery singing telegram. At 11 a.m., a disco joint is a surreal picture of the morning after. Auditionees waited their turns at sticky little tables, each adorned with a wilted carnation. Sunlight lit the dull black ceiling and glared on boozed-stained linoleum every time the door opened.

State union employees claim discrimination

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — A suit filed by the Texas State Employees Union alleges a state agency discriminated against an employee for joining the union. The suit also alleges the agency and two others refused to allow the union to use their facilities for meetings and refused to allow a union official to represent two state employees at grievance hearings. An Oct. 30 hearing was set on the union's request for a temporary injunction. Billy Zachary of Rowlett, near Dallas, contended the Department of Highways and Public Transportation demoted him because he joined the union. Two other state employees who joined the union in the suit are Mike Echols of Houston, an eligibility worker for the Department of Human Resources, and Martha Scott, also of Houston, switchboard operator for the department. The third agency named in the suit is the Texas Department of Health. Zachary, an 11-year employee who is classified as a maintenance technician, said after he informed his supervisor in mid-August he had joined the union, he was told to turn in his keys to a pickup and to the agency's warehouse at Rockwall. Zachary said he was reassigned from "lead man" to the sign crew, and no justifications were given. He said personnel evaluations which had rated him "very good" and "good" in July fell to "fair" and "average" in September. The suit alleges Echols filed five complaints with the Department of Human Resources, but personnel director Sam Manning refused to permit Bettey Jefferson, a union representative, to join Echols at an Oct. 1 hearing. "The justification given was that it was against agency policy to recognize any agent from TSEU, since its parent organization, CWA (Communication Workers of America) claimed the right to strike," the suit said. Ms. Scott filed one complaint, the suit said, but Ms. Jefferson again was refused admission to an Oct. 1 hearing.

Crash kills two

HOUSTON (AP) — An Air National Guard pilot and his weapons systems officer were killed in a fiery crash that ripped apart their F-101 Voodoo supersonic interceptor plane and scattered wreckage across a wide area near Ellington Air Force base. The plane went down shortly after takeoff

Wednesday on a routine training flight just a mile from the base and only a block from a residential subdivision. Eglin Rennefield said he saw the plane take off and pass overhead as he stood outside a sash and door plant with a customer. "We heard this loud pop and saw two pieces of something coming off the plane," he said. "I'm not sure if it was the pilot ejecting or what." He said the plane "rolled over on its side and fell." "There was a boom and then a big huge fireball. I never saw a parachute," he added. Names of the dead were being withheld.

Flood waters pose threat to pipelines

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A recently fortified railroad embankment that had held back floodwaters from a breached levee in the San Joaquin Valley gave way early today, threatening an aqueduct system that supplies water to more than a million people. The Southern Pacific Railway embankment gave way about 2:15 a.m. as a freight train crossed the embankment, said Lt. Fred Wilson of the San Joaquin County Sheriff's Department. One of the train engines slipped off the tracks into the water, but there were no injuries, he said.

Company claims NBC libeled product on T.V.

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Manufacturers of the JUGS Speed Gun claim in a $1 million lawsuit filed Wednesday that they were libeled in remarks made by National Broadcasting Co. announcers on a World Series telecast. The lawsuit against the broadcasting company was filed in Multnomah County Circuit Court by JoPaul Industries Inc. of the Portland suburb of Tualatin. The lawsuit says NBC-TV announcers Tony Kubek and Tom Seaver falsely stated on a telecast last Wednesday night that the JUGS Gun does not accurately measure the speed of baseball pitches. JoPaul Industries, whose major line is baseball pitching machines, asked NBC to make a retraction before the series ended. The series ended Tuesday night with victory for the Philadelphia Phillies. "We know they received the request and there was no retraction," said Rob Nelson, national sales manager for JoPaul Industries. "We determined that a JUGS Gun was not being used." In the letter asking for a retraction, JoPaul lawyer Jack L. Kennedy wrote that Kubek and Seaver "commented extensively as to the pitching of Steve Carlton, and while discussing his performance stated that the JUGS Gun was measuring the speed of his pitches at 88 to 89 mph." "Your announcers then stated that Mr. Carlton was pitching faster than 88 mph and the JUGS Gun was not an accurate measuring device."

Three Mile Island residents look to election

MIDDLETOWN, Pa. (AP) — A runaway nuclear reactor terrified this town 19 months ago, but fears have faded and most locals have other things on their minds as the national election approaches.

"The outside world thinks that we should be thinking about nuclear energy. But we living here think the big thing is the economy," says Mayor Robert Reid.

"We have the same problems that other communities have, except for that one little thing sitting down there that gives us a unique position."

That "one little thing" is the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant. Ever since the March 28, 1979, accident, radioactive water and other contaminated waste, including the reactor core, have been festering at the site.

But this middle-class, conservative community considers itself "back to normal." The throngs of reporters and rented cars have disappeared. A single elderly volunteer directs rush hour traffic on Union Street, the main avenue lined with elaborate Victorian houses.

People quietly pursue their jobs at government installations and private firms: Hershey Foods, Bethlehem Steel, the Mechanicsburg Navy Depot, the New Cumberland and Letterkenny army depots and the state capitol in nearby Harrisburg.

The accident's primary legacy seems to be what Reid gently labels "mixed feelings" towards nuclear power and the plant operator, the Metropolitan Edison Co.

The crisis spawned a band of fervent anti-nuclear activists who participate religiously in hearings on utility rates, cleanup activities and the future of an undamaged reactor at the plant site.

It also prompted formation of "Friends and Family of TMI." And outside town, on the river road to the nuclear plant, occasional billboards proclaim "More Nukes, Less Kooks" and "Before You Say No Nukes, Know Nukes."

Associated Press interviews with downtown shoppers found that, even in Three Mile Island's backyard, many voters are indifferent and most are not using a nuclear yardstick to measure the candidates.

As she folded clothes at a local Laundromat, Alice Duncan, a 32-year-old Penn State student, said the accident and its continuing aftermath had added stress to her life. But when she decides for whom she will vote, she said, "Nuclear power will be part of it — but not the whole package."

One man, a 25-year government employee who works with local emergency planners, said the accident has made people more aware of nuclear energy's potential dangers, "but I don't believe that will have anything to do with the presidential election."

The Republican mayor, concerned about local health and welfare, asked President Carter this month for federal aid to decontaminate the plant. But he says he intends to vote for GOP hopeful Ronald Reagan.

Both major party candidates have supported nuclear energy, and both have stressed the need for careful adherence to safety regulations. Carter has said he favors other energy sources, especially solar power.

"It's been 19 months and we haven't had any help yet from Carter. I'm not saying Reagan would come through but we've got to take that chance," Reid said.

"I know people who are anti-nuclear, and they have told me they are going to vote for Reagan, who is more or less pro-nuclear," he added. "The economy is uppermost in their minds. First of all they want to be sure they have jobs and can support their families."

Dominic Delcuore considers nuclear power necessary "unless they come up with something better." Meanwhile, his thoughts are fixed on economic matters — business at his two pizza restaurants has dropped lately because Met Ed laid off hundreds of cleanup workers at the plant.

"I don't want to lose the business. If I lose the business, I'll have to go back to Italy," said Delcuore, who left Europe a dozen years ago.

Bill McNeil, a real estate agent, said the accident hasn't affected his business and won't affect his vote.

"You read about all these people moving out of town — I don't know who they are. I've sold as much real estate now as before the accident. I just finished selling a place right across from the main gate of TMI," McNeil said as he stepped into a men's clothing store.

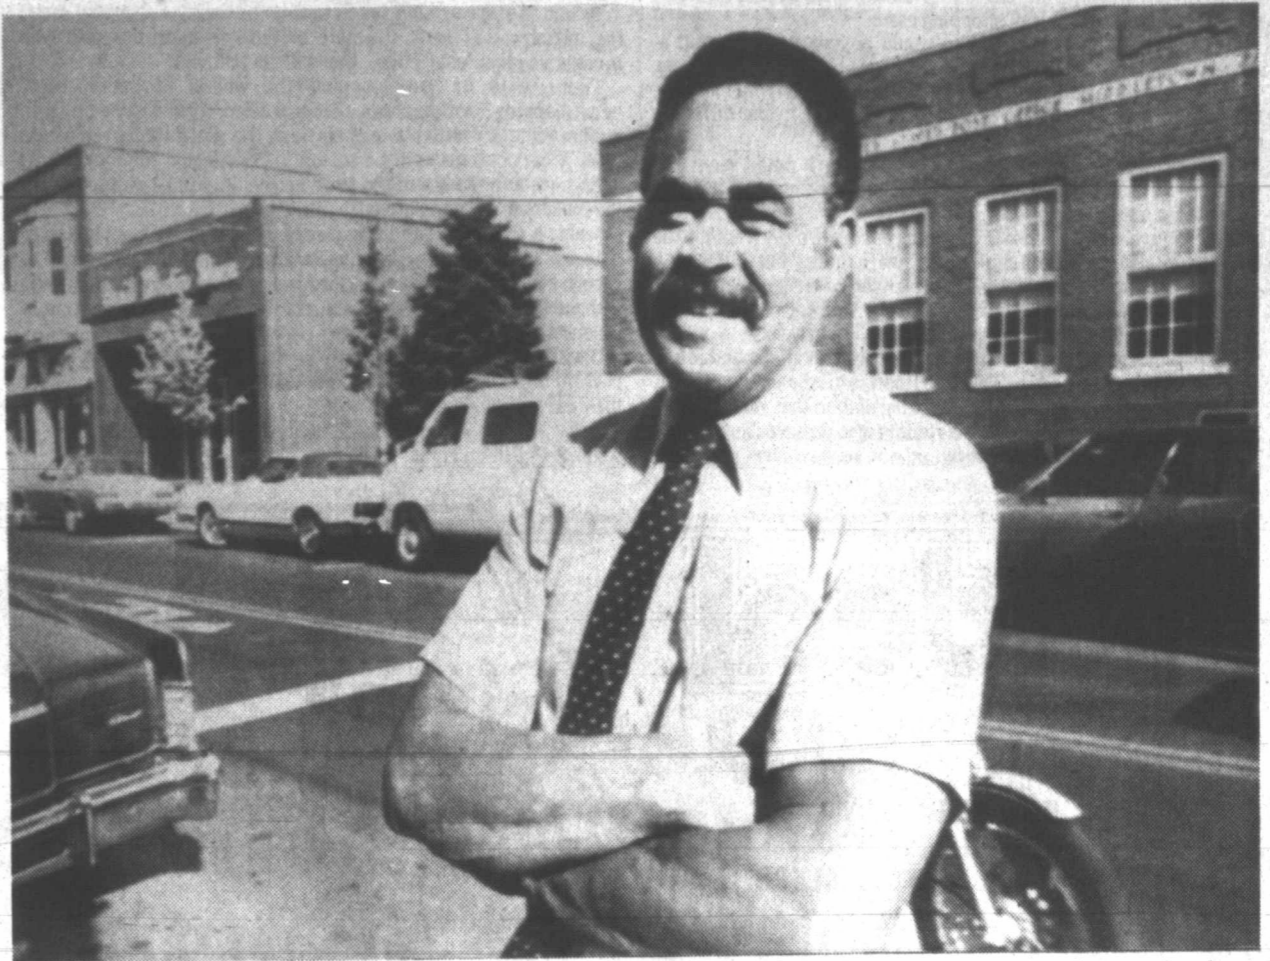

"Most of our local candidates — I don't know of any who are really against this TMI thing. They talk out of both sides of their mouths." Of the presidential race, he said, "I'm a Reagan man myself."

Karen Judy, pushing her 8-month-old daughter down the block in a stroller, said she was pregnant during the accident and left town because the governor advised it.

"This whole thing didn't faze me. I'm for nuclear power. We need it," she said.

And the election?
"To tell you the truth, I haven't really been following it too closely."

One elderly woman rushing down the street stopped just long enough to say, "TMI? We've sort of forgotten it. And my comments on the election

MIDDLETOWN, PA. MAYOR Robert Reid stands in the business district of his town, which is located near the Three Mile Island nuclear power plant, while being interviewed by a newsman on the upcoming national election. (AP Laserphoto)

Texas elections said to be riddled with vote fraud, plots

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Texas elections are riddled with vote finagling and plots to steal elections, according to witnesses at a hearing convened by several Mexican-American organizations.

"I am fully aware that abuses, irregularities and illegalities have existed and I have every reason to suspect that they continue to exist," Secretary of State George Strake said Wednesday.

George Korb, a San Antonio attorney who serves on a Federal Election Commission panel, offered a list of how-to's for election thievery.

Korb and Strake said the lack of state and federal prosecution of vote fraud has contributed to the problem.

"Little if anything has been done to deal with even blatant election fraud, and this includes both the state and federal authorities with jurisdiction to handle the matters," Korb said.

Officials from the secretary of state's office agreed with the Hispanic leaders that Attorney General Mark White has a poor record on election fraud matters.

"The record speaks for itself," said Doug Caddy, director of the elections division for the secretary of state. "There just was nothing being done to pursue these violations. From the attorney general on down you have a record of failure to prosecute."

White denied the allegation. He said all cases referred to his office have been pursued.

"It appears that the only one unaware of these efforts is the spokesman for the secretary of state's office who has been in Texas only four months after coming here from Washington, D.C. and who wrote the book "How They Rig Our Elections," White said.

Panel members said the hearing was called to bring attention to problems Mexican-Americans face at the polls.

Vilma Martinez, president of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Educational Fund, said, "I have often said that Texas is for Chicanos what Mississippi is for blacks."

Caddy and Shad Jefferies, staff attorney, said the secretary of state's office has found several obvious vote fraud cases. However, Caddy said, it is sometimes difficult to get local prosecutors interested in the cases.

Caddy recounted his investigation in San Patricio County earlier this year. He said "virtually nothing was done right" in the absentee portions of the May primary and June runoff. Caddy was upset with the local prosecutor's handling of the case.

"We're not ready yet to ask the federal prosecutors to move in yet ... but we are reserving that option," said Caddy.

Ruben Bonilla, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, said White has shown a "total disregard of citizens' voting rights."

Strake told the panel he is appointing about 150 volunteers to "prowl" the polls and be available to settle disputes and problems.

Carter stumps Texas in hopes of 'stomping' Republican party

TEXARKANA, Texas (AP) — President Carter climaxed a whirlwind, three-city campaign tour by straddling the Texas-Arkansas border and encouraging Democratic backers to unite and "stomp the Republicans."

With Texas' 26 crucial electoral votes still hanging in the balance, Carter spoke at this two-state city of 52,000 Wednesday after bragging in Beaumont about his energy program and taking credit at a Waco rally for the state's declining unemployment rate.

Standing on a podium under clear, blue skies at the Texarkana post office, which sits across the state line, Carter flailed Republican opponent Ronald Reagan for "wanting to dismantle" Democratic-sponsored social legislation such as the minimum wage, Social Security and Medicaid.

The president said Republicans have tried for years to label Democratic programs designed "to alleviate human suffering" as "socialist" and "communist."

Carter drew applause when he pointed out that former presidents John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson also had spoken from the same border site.

Local Democrats predicted the president would win support from the agricultural-based area of Northeastern Texas and Southwestern Arkansas simply because he is a Democrat.

"This area has lots of dyed-in-the-wool Democrats," said Miller County, Ark., Democratic chairwoman Louann Dean. "That's the way they were born and raised."

Carter was joined in Texarkana by an entourage of top Democrats from Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

The chief executive, who carried Texas over Gerald Ford by only 129,000 out of more than four million votes cast in 1976, was introduced by U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen, D-Texas.

With a broad grin on his face, Bentsen reminded the crowd of his early endorsement of Carter's re-election bid "when he was at the bottom of the polls."

In Beaumont, Carter told an enthusiastic crowd of shipyard workers his energy policies have fueled Texas' economic boom.

Carter said the "long, hard but successful battle" for a comprehensive energy program has led to a record number of drilling rigs, more wells in the planning stage and more coal being mined than ever before.

As a result of these increases, Carter said, more than 900,000 jobs have been made available to Texans, the average per capita income in Texas has increased 40 percent, and unemployment has been slashed dramatically during his term.

The president's remarks drew favorable response from many of the yard workers.

"Mr. Carter has shown he has the leadership and the capability that this country needs," said Mark Jackson, a 27-year-old welder. "He doesn't claim to be perfect, he admits when he has made a mistake, and he is trying, and I think that is a lot more than you can say for his opponent."

Later in Waco, a crowd estimated at 5,000 gathered on the airport concourse to hear Carter's assertion that his administration is responsible for a 30 percent drop in the state's unemployment rate over the past 2½ years.

Clayton says he will stay in speaker's race

By LEE JONES
Associated Press Writer
AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Billy Clayton said all along he would stay in the 1981 speaker's race if he were cleared of Brilab corruption charges before the "frost was on the pumpkin."

"My plans have not changed. The frost is not on the pumpkin yet," the speaker said in a telephone interview from Houston after his acquittal Wednesday night.

But Clayton was less emphatic than he might have been and ducked repeatedly when asked if he could simply say the words, "I am a candidate" for an unprecedented fourth term.

Aides said he planned to spend time consulting fellow House members and other advisors, and the unspoken message was Clayton needs to size up his support.

Also hedging was Rep. Gib Lewis, D-Fort Worth, who had captured conservative support — including that of Gov. Bill Clements — as Clayton's successor should Clayton be convicted.

Lewis would not immediately declare his withdrawal from the race, saying: "I think it would be unfair to make any comment on it at this time."

"I think probably Gib and I need to talk," Clayton said.

A variety of scenarios have been played out in Capitol conversations about what might happen should Clayton be found innocent.

In one, Clayton decides to bow out after numerous members tell him, "Billy, I'm for you. But even though the jury acquitted you, those tapes looked bad to my folks. If I vote for you, I'm through as far as they're concerned."

But in another scenario, Clayton calls in all his chits for past favors, insists on a face-saving fourth term, tells House members he wants nothing beyond that and agrees to new limits on his power as Speaker.

The House, in turn, welcomes a breather from the hot and heavy race between Lewis and Rep. John Bryant, D-Dallas. Some legislators, uncomfortable with Lewis' lobby ties and Bryant's intensity, see two more years of Clayton as an opportunity for new choices to emerge. Clayton is re-elected speaker.

Former Rep. Mike Millsap, Lewis' campaign manager, said Clayton's style would be to announce his re-entry into the speaker's race only if he could prove to the world he already had it won.

"If Bill Clayton comes out and says, 'I am a candidate for speaker,' he will do so by laying out 90 to 100 names (of pledged supporters)," Millsap said. The 150 House members elect their speaker by majority vote on the first day of the legislative session in January.

Despite Lewis' hedging,

Bryant issued a statement saying he was "relieved" for Clayton and his family but believed the Brilab case demonstrated the need for reforms to trim the power of the speakership.

The Legislature needs to "permanently eliminate the impression that the way to change public policy is simply to visit the speaker's office," Bryant said.

Rusty Kelley, Clayton's executive assistant and an unindicted co-conspirator, said that partly as a result of Brilab, Clayton was interested in creation of an ethics commission that would issue guidelines of "do's and don'ts" for legislators.

"He is very serious about it," Kelley said.

Kelley said he would recommend that Clayton make himself less accessible to lobbyists by following a daily calendar of appointments "so we can talk about who he is going to see before he sees them."

Joseph Hauser, the FBI's chief witness, came to see Clayton without warning and left after giving Clayton $5,000 which Kelley kept in his credenza for more than three months.

Kelley also spoke of installing closed circuit television "so we can see who is waiting" in Clayton's anteroom.

Kelley, whose involvement in Brilab cost him over $20,000 in legal fees and travel expenses, said he felt he as well as Clayton was vindicated by the verdict.

Gov. Bill Clements, who has had a friendly working relationship with Clayton, welcomed the verdict.

"I am delighted that he came out of it with an acquittal. I just can't tell you how pleased I am with that verdict. I think it is marvelous," Clements said.

Comptroller Bob Bullock, 60, of whose former employees, Randall "Buck" Wood and Donald Ray, were acquitted with Clayton, also hailed the verdict.

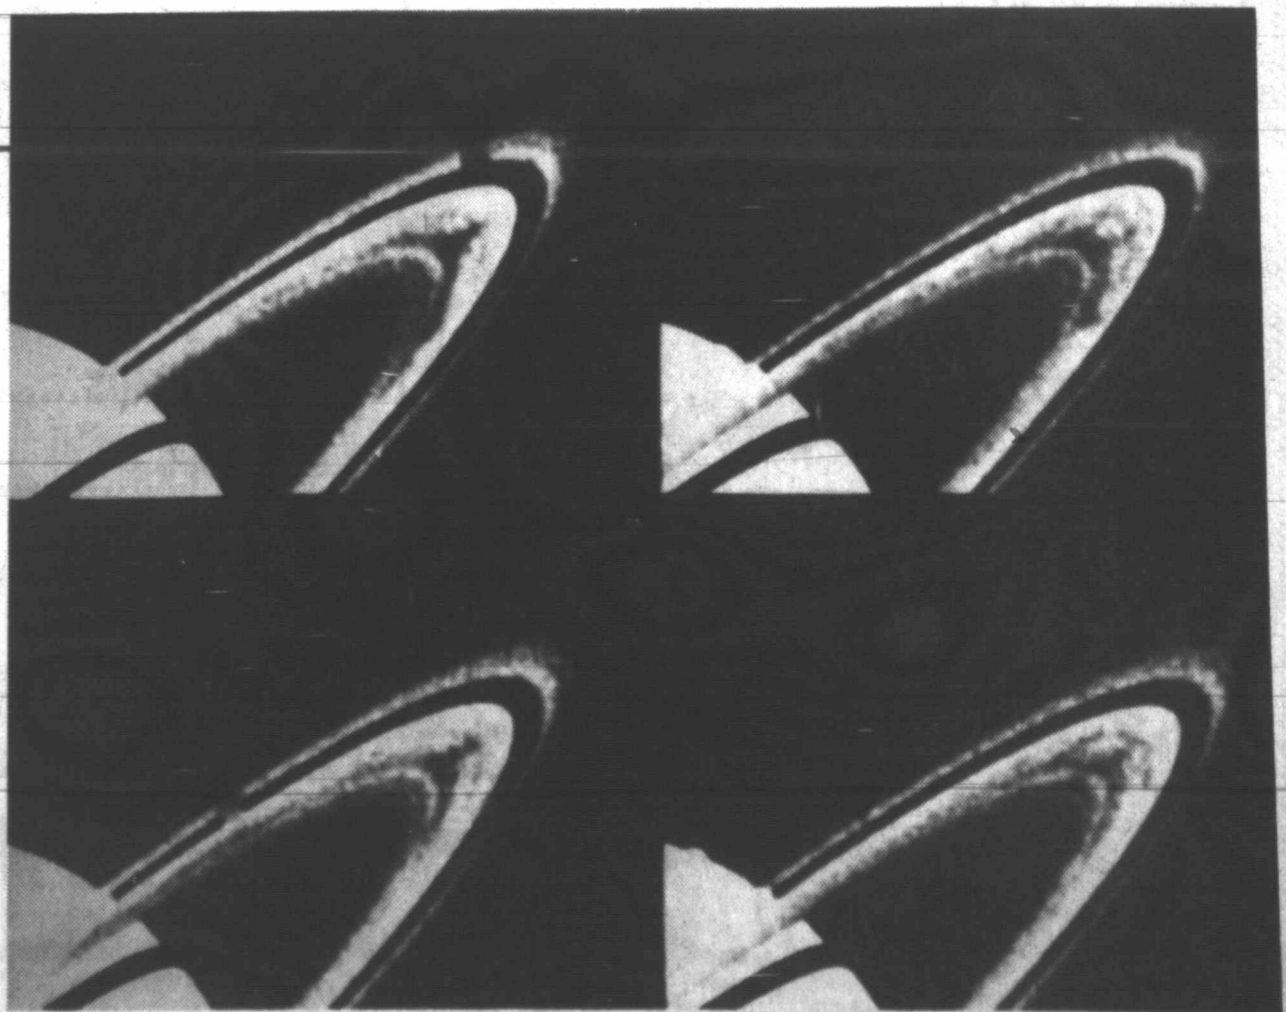

"They were put through this ordeal by the federal government, our government, and it was wrong from the start. These three persons were snared into this sham because they were led to believe they could do something good for the state employees of Texas," Bullock said.

New features found in Saturn's rings

SATURN'S RINGS. New features that have never been seen before appear in these photos of Saturn's rings. The photos were taken by Voyager 1 on Oct. 4 and 5 from a distance of 32 million miles. These photos have been computer enhanced to bring out faint details in Saturn's rings which show irregular patterns in the rings. Visible are patterns of dark, fingerlike areas that rotate around the planet like spokes in a wheel. Studies reveal that some retain their identities for several hours, despite the fact that at the inner edge of the new features, ring objects orbit Saturn once in 9½ hours, while particles at the outer edge take more than an hour longer.

AT WIT'S END

By Erma Bombeck

I've read it, but I don't believe it. The Southern California Grocer's Association is pulling together a plan to prevent the theft of shopping carts. My first reaction is why? Why would anyone want to steal a grocery shopping cart? Everyone knows that a grocery cart was made by the same committee that put an elephant on roller skates. The results are the same...four sets of wheels going in four different directions at the same time. It's a lot like stealing a 2-year-old. At the time it might seem like you were getting away with something, but in the end, it will bring you nothing but aggravation. My second reaction is how? Shopping carts were never built to be pedestrian...let alone portable. It's just a guess but if I saw a four-foot basket on four rolling wheels that never stopped, a seat that folded down and the name of a supermarket on the handle, don't you think I'd become suspicious? Despite these drawbacks, store owners are serious about this and are considering two plans which I find positively chilling. First, they are talking about initiating stiff legislation that would enable them to ticket and prosecute individuals who possess illegal carts. This would cast a fine line between women who steal carts and those who are in pursuit of a runaway cart carrying their groceries out of the parking lot and into the street. Second, if steps are not taken to stop the thefts of shopping carts, the industry will seek the help of those wonderful people who brought you the Post Office...the U.S. government! There will be no stopping the wheels of bureaucracy. "Cart-napping" will become a federal offense, punishable by death or threading a toddler's legs through the seat, whichever comes first. A cart cabinet will be set up in Washington to monitor cart operations and from time to time inspectors will be sent to protect the consumer from unsafe carts. Seeing a chance for additional revenue, the government will issue a license to everyone who drives a supermarket cart which will be renewable every birthday. Fines will be levied on those driving without a license or failing to signal for a sudden stop in front of produce. It will only be a matter of time before compact carts start rolling in from Japan and supermarkets will have to float a loan to keep their carts above water. I say...let whoever wants to steal a shopping cart...steal it! It would serve them right!

High-fashion shoes can be hazardous

Women looking at the fall shoe selection should keep in mind that many high-heel styles not only are fit for a fall—they also can be just the right thing to cause strains and pains from the toes to the back. The Texas Medical Association (TMA) also warns that narrow, pointed-toe shoes can cause problems such as bunions or Morton's neuroma, a condition that occurs when narrow shoes squeeze foot bones which then painfully mash nerves. Repeated jolts or blows to the foot also can cause the condition, which may be relieved by wearing wider shoes, pads for the ball of the foot, or possibly surgery. Considering that feet absorb approximately 1,000 tons of force a day, much of it on hard pavement, it's amazing that feet survive the approximately 70,000 miles they carry a person during a lifetime. But bad shoes do cause break-downs. One orthopedic surgeon estimates that women have 40 times more bunion surgery than men mainly because of feminine shoe styles. Some women wear high heels for years and never have problems. But others' feet, possibly 20 percent of the female population, are not as hardy and they fall victim to painful foot problems. Many of these problems are caused because high heels shift a lot of weight forward only the ball of the foot. Over a long period of time, tissues may bend and cause painful deformities. A bunion is one such deformity that occurs when a big bump appears at the outside base of the big toe. Some bunions seem to be inherited but narrow shoes with high heels can aggravate any tendencies. One possible solution is buying shoes that don't cramp a bunion and cause irritation and swelling. A physician's recommendation might include surgery, wearing prescription shoes, or taking drugs to relieve pain. Shoe problems do not end with tortured toes. High heels can cause someone to fall off them and twist an ankle if she is not used to wearing them. Spike heels can get caught while walking and some clog styles even cause women to fall while walking up stairs. Problems can creep on up to the back because high heels change the way someone steps and may stretch and strain ankles, knees and the back. Many women probably will not want to avoid problem-causing shoe styles entirely. But it could help to alternately wear more sensible shoes and be aware of possible falls when wearing high-fashion hazards, TMA says.

'Christmas in October' slated for Tuesday

"Christmas in October" will take place Oct. 28 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Pampa Mall.

The show-tell-and-sell of gift ideas includes crochet, macrame, ornaments and more, according to Elaine Houston, Gray County Extension Agent. This annual program is sponsored by the Cultural Arts Committee — Gray County Extension Homemakers Council.

Everyone is invited to attend this come-and-go program. The program will feature "Pillow Ideas" by Jane Simpson, Stratford County Extension Agent; "Christmas Gift Ideas" by Alby Peters, Moore County Extension Agent and "More Gift Ideas" by Jo Ann Fabrics. The programs will begin at 10 a.m. in the fountain area of the Mall. Each program will be given during the morning and will be repeated again during the afternoon until 4 p.m.

Patterns will be available for many of the ideas. For further details, contact an extension homemaker club member or the Gray County Extension Office, 669-7429.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 87 years old and have some large gallstones. The doctor says my condition is too poor for an operation. Is there anything I can do to help this condition? What do you think my life expectancy would be under these conditions?

DEAR READER — You may not need to have the stones or the gallbladder removed. Many people have large silent gallstones and never have any difficulties with them.

If you were younger and were in good health, even if the stones were not causing any symptoms, it might be wise to remove them; but the surgery is not entirely without risk.

Unless you have symptoms from the gallstones, I would not recommend doing anything about them. If you do have symptoms it depends upon what kind and how severe they are. If you have a little gas now and then that is one thing but if you have symptoms of inflammation of the gallbladder and it might rupture like a ruptured appendix that is another.

You could live out your life and never have any trouble with silent gallstones. No one can say. I am sending you The Health Letter number 4-9, Gall Stones and Gall Bladder Disease, to give you more information that might apply to your particular situation. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My sister is 53 years old and according to our mother she was born as a blue baby,

Could you explain this term to me? During our teen years she would lose her breath while walking against the wind. For many years now she's had numbness in both hands which comes and goes. And she also has pain in her arms and shoulders. I'm very concerned about her but she refuses to see a doctor.

DEAR READER — It's often difficult to know exactly what parents might mean by saying that one of their children was a blue baby. In medical circles it usually refers to a patient who has a birth defect of the heart. Some of these can be relatively mild and are consistent with a relatively normal life span. It literally depends on what type of defect (if any) is present.

Blue blood is venous blood. It's really not blue but it looks that way when you see it through the surface of the skin in your veins. It has that color because it doesn't contain as much oxygen as arterial blood which is bright red.

In some birth defects, the blue blood is shunted to the left side of the heart and mixed with the normal red blood. Then when this blood is pumped out of the heart to go to the face and lips, this un-oxygenated blood causes a bluish appearance to the face, just the same as it gives a bluish color to veins in your hand.

The only logical thing for your sister to do is to see a physician and have a competent examination. If she really has a cardiac condition, she will have findings that will enable the doctor to identify her problem rather quickly. In that case he might choose to refer her to a heart specialist for a further and more detailed examination.

DEAR ABBY

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago I began to notice a change in my husband. He became increasingly forgetful and easily confused even though he was only 50. He had a physical checkup and was found to be in excellent health, but his memory got so bad it wasn't safe to let him drive anymore. Then he had to quit work.

We saw several doctors before one finally seemed familiar with my husband's condition. He told us he had Alzheimer's disease, for which there is no known cure. Alzheimer's disease occurs in people as young as 40 and 50 as well as in some older people.

Abby, my husband is too young for a nursing home, and besides, he is completely healthy otherwise — only his mind is affected.

I fear for his safety and have to watch him every minute. For a while he seems perfectly normal, then he becomes dependent and forgetful.

Have you ever heard of Alzheimer's disease? I feel so helpless. How do others cope with this affliction?

DESPERATE IN N.Y.

DEAR DESPERATE: You are not alone. Approximately one million people in the U.S. suffer from Alzheimer's disease. There are now groups of concerned friends and relatives who have banded together to provide support, develop and disseminate helpful information, and encourage much needed research on Alzheimer's disease.

Send a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope to Alzheimer's Disease and Related Disorders Association, 32 Broadway, New York, N.Y. 10004 for up-to-date information. It's free.

DEAR ABBY: I am an 8-year-old girl who has had a bed-wetting problem all my life. I'm smart in school and have tried to stop wetting, but nothing helped.

My mother saw a letter in your column concerning a "Wee Alert Buzzer" and she showed it to me. Then she bought one and it has helped me tremendously. Thank you very much. Don't use my real name, but it's OK to say I live in San Rafael, Calif.

DRY BED

DEAR DRY: Your letter is proof that you are indeed a smart girl. Your penmanship is excellent and your spelling flawless. But equally important are the good manners you showed by writing to thank me. P.S. Readers: Bed-wetting alarms can be purchased through the catalogs of Wards, Sears, etc.

DEAR ABBY: My fiance and I are getting married after the first of the year. We recently announced our engagement and are making our plans. We foolishly told our friends about these plans, and now three other couples have suddenly decided to get married, too!

My gripe: Our friends are stealing all our ideas. We found a hall that we thought was very original. One couple has now booked it for their wedding. Another couple is using the same colors we picked for our ceremony. One of the brides even ordered the same wedding dress I had selected. What really makes me mad is that they are all getting married before we are, and it is going to look as though we got all our ideas from them, when actually it's the other way around.

Maybe I'm being childish, but I wanted our wedding to be different from every other wedding we've seen. We can't move the date up. What do I do now?

FRANTIC FIANCEE

DEAR FRANTIC: If you don't want your wedding to look like a rerun, change your plans. And this time don't broadcast them!

Goblin burger is a treat

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

3 slices (about 3 ounces) American cheese

- 1 loaf Italian bread (round, about 8 inches in diameter)
- 1 package firm and moist meatloaf mix
- 1 1/2 pounds ground beef
- 1 egg
- 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce
- 1/2 cup ketchup
- 1 tablespoon sweet pickle relish
- 1 teaspoon prepared mustard
- 2 pitted black olives, cut in half

Slice bread in half lengthwise and lightly toast under broiler. Set aside. In large bowl, combine sauce packet and breadcrumb packet (from meatloaf mix), ground beef, egg and Worcestershire sauce. Mix well; shape into one 9-inch patty. Grill burger 5 inches from heat, 5-7 minutes per side for medium. Combine ketchup, relish and mustard; spread evenly over bread. Top with burger. Garnish with black olives for eyes and nose; cheese slice for the eyebrows and mouth. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 8 servings.

TOP off Halloween festivities with a giant goblin burger.

Sausage is a favorite

By TOM HOGE
AP Wine and Food Writer

As cool weather nears, our tastes turn from salads and aspics to the more robust dishes of fall and winter. High on my list is the wide range of sausages available. They not only make delicious dishes but generally cost less than meat, fish or fowl.

In the United States alone, more than 2 billion pounds of sausages are served annually at hot-dog stands, barbecues, beer festivals and your dinner table. More than 200 kinds of link and loaf are sold in this country, with varieties imported from all over the world.

In the 5,000 years that sausage has been a meat staple, just about every country has produced its own varieties. Back in the days of the Caesars, the Romans gorged themselves on spicy sausage made from fresh pork, white pinenuts and spices. It became a favorite dish at the Lupercalian and Florian festivals.

Not only have scores of countries produced sausages, but individual cities have become famous for their specialties: Frankfurt, Bologna, Genoa and Vienna, to name a few.

Germany has probably created a greater variety of sausages than any other country.

Americans have made their own contribution to the sausage world: country-style pork sausage in bulk and link form. This versatile sausage is good fried with eggs for breakfast, served in sandwiches for lunch and as a ragout, loaf or casserole for dinner.

One of my favorite dishes on a chilly evening is Curried Sausage in Beer. Here's the recipe:

- 1 pound loose country sausage meat
- 1 pint beer
- 2 tablespoons curry powder
- 2 tablespoons cornstarch
- 2 ounces raisins
- 2 cooking apples

Simmer sausage meat in cup of water in skillet till meat is done and water evaporates. Strain off remaining liquid and set aside. In saucpan, blend four ounces of beer with curry and cornstarch and cook over low heat about three minutes. Gradually add remainder of beer and heat to boiling point; let mixture of curry, cornstarch and beer simmer about 20 minutes, stirring frequently. Add

It's worth a trip from anywhere!

LULA MOTLEY

Lula Motley honored

Pampa Business and Professional Women's Club has selected three outstanding Pampa women to honor during National Business Women's Week. The third woman to be honored is Mrs. Lula Motley.

Mrs. Motley attended Langston University in Langston, Okla. and Pampa Business College. Ten years ago, she joined Cabot Corporation. She was employed by Cabot until Ingersoll-Rand purchased the facilities. She is presently employed by the new company.

Mrs. Motley and her husband Samuel reside at 848 S. Somerville. The couple has one daughter, Karen. Karen, a 1980 graduate of Pampa High School, is now a freshman at West Texas State University.

In addition to her many activities, Mrs. Motley finds time for two hobbies: reading and writing poetry. She is a member of the Holiness Church.

Witch-on-a-stick ideal for Halloween party

By Aileen Claire
NEA Food Editor

A kookie witch-on-a-stick ideal for a children's Halloween school party.

WITCH-ON-A-STICK

- 20 large marshmallows
  - 20 wooden sticks
  - 20 (two 8-ounce packages) peanut butter cups
  - 1 1/2 cups peanut butter chips
  - 3 tablespoons shortening
  - About 5 large shredded wheat biscuits
  - Red and black jujus candies
  - 20 candy corns
  - 20 milk chocolate kisses
- Insert each marshmallow with a stick through a flat end. Refrigerate marshmallows and peanut butter cups until cold. Unwrap cups. Melt peanut butter chips and shortening in top of double boiler over simmering (not boiling) water. Split each wheat biscuit with a knife. Break the strands in half, then into 1/2-inch sections to resemble hair. Dip marshmallows, two at a time, into peanut butter mixture until coated. Swirl over pan to allow excess to drip. Place a coated marshmallow on each peanut butter cup. Press shredded wheat around 2/3 of curved side of marshmallow to resemble hair. Refrigerate until set.

Repeat dipping and applying hair. Cut red jujus candies to form lips and black candies to form eyes. Dip bottom of candy corn and jujus pieces into melted peanut butter chips and arrange on marshmallow for a face. Dip bottom of chocolate kiss in melted peanut butter chips and attach to bottom of peanut butter cup to form top of witch's hat. Refrigerate until set. Wrap individually in plastic wrap, if desired. This kitchen-tested recipe makes 28.

NOTE: If jujus are not available, substitute black currents, raisins, chocolate chips or black licorice. For red jujus, use red gum drops, red licorice or candied cherries.

Pecan Squares Coffee
PECAN SQUARES

- A pastrylike base with a sweet and nutty topping.
  - 1/2 cup butter, at room temperature
  - 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons all-purpose flour
  - 2 large eggs
  - 1 1/2 cups dark brown sugar (spooned lightly, not packed down)
  - 1/2 teaspoon baking powder
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1 teaspoon vanilla
  - 1 cup chopped (medium-fine) pecans
  - 1/2 cup flaked coconut
- Beat butter until creamy; gradually work in the 1 cup flour until mixture is soft and blended. Spread over the bottom of an ungreased 9 by 9 by 1 3/4-inch cake pan. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until set but pale looking — about 12 minutes; leave oven control on. Meanwhile with an electric beater, beat the eggs slightly; add the sugar, the 2 tablespoons flour, baking powder, salt and vanilla; beat until

Astro-Graph

by bernice bede osol

October 24, 1980

You may experience minor delays in what you hope to accomplish this coming year. Don't become impatient. When you start to make progress, it will be with giant strides.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) You're a quick thinker today, but you tend to jump around a trifle too much for your own good. Zero-in on a decision and stand fast. Find out more of what lies ahead for you in the year following your birthday by sending for your copy of Astro-Graph, Mail $1 for each to Astro-Graph, Box 489, Radio City Station, N.Y. 10019. Be sure to specify birth date.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Sometimes, doing things routinely is better than experimenting with untested methods. Today you may waste time trying to break away from established patterns.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Persons who talk a lot but who have little to say will prove annoying to be around today. Rather than being uncomfortable, try to avoid them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) Be watchful of those in your charge today, but try not to be too critical of minor infractions. No one is perfect, including yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your salesmanship may not be up to par today because of a tendency to omit minor, but pertinent, points. Take pains to tell your story in full.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Persons who are petty in sharing things or in money matters should be avoided today. Their tactics may cause you to say something better left unsaid.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Associates usually know exactly where you stand, but today you may have difficulty in making up your mind. You'll confuse them as well as yourself.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Someone who has no business prying into your affairs may attempt to do so today. Her clever probing could get you to reveal more than you should.

CANCER (June 21-July 21) Something which you are hoping will happen should not be too freely discussed today. If it doesn't come off as expected, you may later feel embarrassed.

LEO (July 22-Aug. 22) You are capable of coping with major obstacles with ease today, but petty annoyances could trip you up. Don't blow things out of proportion; try to see them for what they are.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Unless you have something complimentary to say about another's ideas you'd be wise today to say nothing at all. Criticism will not be well received, even if constructive.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) If you're purchasing anything of importance today, be sure the warranties are in writing. Verbal promises may not hold up.

HERE IS THE PATH

Pointing... the way

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Early churches used steeples to make the building higher than all others in the city. People could see God's House from any direction, and could easily find their way to a place of worship.

Today, with many office buildings towering into the sky, churches are not always the tallest buildings. However, churches still point the way to God, and provide a place of worship.

Bible College to be in Borger

BORGER - The Borger Christian Center, a local inter denominational church, has announced the formation and opening date of a Bible College in Borger.

The school will be interdenominational in its teaching and will have many advantages to offer students through its video facilities as well as classroom instruction.

This new concept of teaching, using wide screen video teaching will allow the school to augment textbook instruction from highly qualified professors via the video augmentation.

Many area people will be pleased to know that some classes will be taught by such notables as Kenneth Copeland, Charles Capps, Hilton Sutton, Harold Bresden and many others.

The resident staff is composed of teachers well founded in the faith from the Word of Faith World Outreach Center in Dallas. The local director of the school is Larry Hickerson of Borger working in close association with David Miller, pastor of Borger Christian Center.

The college will offer in its Fall trimester classes, Theology, Old Testament Survey, Lessons in Faith, Pentecostalism Today, Practical Ministries, and Golden Nuggets.

The cost of the school is based on a small registration and a small cost per classroom hour.

The school will use the existing facilities of the Borger Christian Center for instruction.

Classes are scheduled to begin Oct. 26.

The class schedule will be 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday with two special classes scheduled on Sundays.

Additional information may be had by contacting Larry Hickerson or David Miller at Borger Christian Center, Second and Deahl Street, Borger, or call 806-274-5992.

Special Services

Week slated

Special Services Week is being presented by the Fellowship Baptist Church through the week of Oct. 27-31, Rev. Earl Maddux, pastor, announced.

The Special Services Week will start Monday, Oct. 27 at 7 p.m. with Rev. James L. Smith, missionary of the Baptist Bible Fellowship. Rev. Smith will be presenting a program with slides of his work in Mexico.

Tuesday, Oct. 28, at 7 p.m. Rev. Bill Frerking, pastor of the Fellowship Baptist Church in Perryton. Rev. Frerking will present a program of his recent mission tour to Japan and the Philippines.

Wednesday, Oct. 29, at 7 p.m. Missionary Delbert Hooze from the Philippine Islands will present the program.

Thursday, Oct. 30, at 7 p.m. the guest speaker will be Rev. Ricky Timmons of the Bible Baptist Church of Elk City.

Friday, Oct. 31, at 7 p.m. Rev. Vernon Lindbloom of the Fellowship Baptist Church in Borger will be the speaker.

The public is invited to attend the services.

High Attendance Day, Law Day scheduled

Sunday will be high attendance day and law enforcement day at First Baptist Church.

A goal of 1450 for the 9:45 Sunday school hour has been set. Last year 1350 were present on high attendance day.

At 11 a.m. worship hour the pastor, Claude Cone, will bring a message entitled "What's a Born-Again Christian?" In the Children's Church, grades one through six, Jerry Burgoft of the Texas Department of Public Safety and Rufe Jordan, Gray County Sheriff will share their duties and responsibilities.

The teaching of Paul in Romans chapter thirteen to obey the laws of the government will be stressed.

At the noon hour a free barbecue lunch will be served. Those who do not have a church home are invited to attend.

The Pastor's Bible Class meets in the auditorium at 10:05 a.m. Any children wishing to ride the bus on Sunday morning can call 669-3348 or 665-4694.

First Baptist Church is located at the corner of Kingsmill and West Streets.

First black moderator named

FORT WORTH - James O. Griffin, an active Disciples layman and educator, will be installed Oct. 30 as the first Black moderator of the Christian Church in the Southwest.

Griffin will take office at the end of the regional church's biennial assembly Oct. 27-30 at the Austin Municipal Auditorium and Convention Center. Griffin is a member of the Romine Avenue Christian Church of Dallas and principal of Hamilton Park Elementary School of Richardson, he has served two years as moderator-elect.

Religion roundup

DENVER (AP) - A team of New Testament scholars is starting an unusual, five-year project called the National Seminar on the Historical Jesus to determine exactly what Jesus said.

After a first meeting held this month at the Liff School of Theology, the 14 participating scholars are to meet three times annually over the next five years to examine each of the Gospel sayings.

The Rev. Helmut Koester of Harvard Divinity School terms the project "the most prestigious and canonically sound ever." The scholars are to determine which sayings are accurate by majority vote.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) - Speaking out against the formation of religious power blocs that have arisen in the current political campaign, the Episcopal Church's House of Bishops says "power" was the Devil's final word, not God's.

The bishops at their annual meeting said that to use "religious radio and TV and local pulpits in support of particular candidates in the name of God distorts Christian truth and threatens American religious freedom."

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) - The Wanderer, a conservative national Catholic weekly, says the Republican party platform reflects papal teachings on social issues "much more" than does the Democratic platform.

The situation has pushed many Catholics into the "warm embrace of the Republican party," adds the independent, lay-edited publication.

GREEN LAKE, Wis. (AP) - Church Women United, a national organization of Protestant, Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox women, has issued a "Proclamation for Peace," calling on the U.S. government to limit its arms sales.

A meeting of the organization's executive council also urged the United States to work for a "nuclear arms freeze" with the Soviet Union.

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) - Two days after the American Lutheran Church convention decided to sell church stock in companies doing business in white-minority-ruled South Africa, a black South African bishop told the convention he regretted the action.

"The very people you are intending to help and liberate will be hit hard by your decision," said Bishop L. E. Dlamini of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Southern Africa.

NEW YORK (AP) - The United Church of Christ reports that the median salary of its ministers rose 7.1 percent between 1979 and 1980 from $14,690 to $15,726.

Lamar Full Gospel Assembly celebrates founding of church with Homecoming Sunday

What started out as a dream to seven families became a reality in the autumn of 1966, when these charter members gathered to worship as a group, which was to become known as Lamar Full Gospel Assembly.

To celebrate the founding of the assembly, Sunday, Oct. 26, is Homecoming Sunday for the church and the pastor's tenth anniversary.

The Sunday evening service will feature Dean Kelly and the Conchard Quartet at 6 p.m. Pastor Gene Allen and the congregation welcome the people of Pampa to attend the service.

The property at 1200 S. Sumner Street, which consisted of a small sanctuary and half dozen small Sunday School rooms, was eventually purchased by the small congregation.

The Rev. and Mrs. Wesley Pollett came to serve as pastor. On Nov. 3, 1966, the first annual business meeting was held, electing officers of the church. The first constitution and by-laws were drawn up, presented to and accepted by the congregation in June 1967. Though being few in number, the church supported foreign missions, starting with a regular contribution to two missionaries. As the congregation increased in number, a new sanctuary plan was conceived by Rev. Pollett. With much prayer, planning, support and hard work, the beautiful sanctuary was built and is now enjoyed by the congregation.

In 1970, the Rev. Pollett resigned as pastor, and the Rev. Gene Allen came to the congregation for consideration. In November 1970, the Allens with their children Heidi and Garland, came to lead the church in worship.

In March 1971, the new sanctuary was dedicated, and a few years later, the church purchased the old carpenter's union hall. With donated labor, the hall was joined to the existing structure to be used as a fellowship hall. Over the past 14 years, the congregation has seen many changes. The membership has grown from the original seven families to approximately 200 active members today.

The youth group, Lamar Youth Out Reach, has always been a vital part of the church program. In 1978, the congregation voted for and built the Lamar Family Life Center, to be used for youth activities and church functions. The funds to build this massive structure were provided without indebtedness.

The church owns a private residence at 1137 Willow Road, which houses the assistant pastor, Brother and Sister Raymond Lockwood.

The missions programs has increased until the church now has an active program in supporting foreign and home missions.

Recently, the pastor and board of trustees, brought before the congregation a proposal to purchase land for a proposed new and larger church.

Those who have served the church in past years to the present include pastors, Wesley Pollett and Gene Allen; secretary and treasurer, R. P. Hill; Sunday School Superintendent Elvis Duck, Wallace Bruce, Jim Baird; Assistant Sunday School Superintendent, Ronnie Barton, Wallace Bruce, Roger Crawford, Elvis Duck, Bob Tigrett, Lee Murray, Charles Wagner; Sunday School secretary and treasurer, Don Riddle, Ray Rodgers, Mike Murgai; Board of Trustees, Earl Ammons, Boise Griffin, Joe Borton, Elvis Duck, Bob Tigrett, Wallace Bruce, Benny Riddner, Elmo Hudgins, Charles Rithaler, Roger Crawford, Jim Baird, Loel Box, Al Hastings, Lee Murray, Boyd Thurman, David Harris, Al Ferguson, Junior Brumfield and Carl Prater.

Minister writes jokes on the side - clean ones

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — You won't hear any hellfire and brimstone when Rev. Bob Phillips preaches, but you could get a few laughs. The local minister writes joke books on the side — clean joke books, of course — and he says his faith is all the stronger for it.

"I think it's a real contribution to bring light and laughter into people's lives," says the 39-year-old minister. "Proverbs says, 'A merry heart worketh like medicine,' and recent studies have shown that laughing is good for your health."

Phillips was pastor of Northwest Church for 4½ years before becoming director of the Fresno Counseling Center. He has written 11 books in the last seven years, selling more than one million copies. Seven of the 11 are collections of jokes. For example:

The sharp young attorney was cross examining an elderly witness to an accident.

"You say you were about 40 feet away from the scene of the accident? Let me remind you that you're 86 years old. Just how far can you see clearly?"

The elderly man responded, "Well, when I wake up I see the sun and they tell me that's about 93 million miles away."

"In my books," Phillips explains, "I've tried to stay away from swear words, from sexual innuendo, from alcohol and drug innuendo, and jokes about body excretions."

He managed to include non-offensive ethnic jokes in his seven books of about 1,000 jokes each by inventing a country which he calls Smogaria.

"It's neutral. Why offend someone when I can tell a good joke and use a neutral country?" Phillips said.

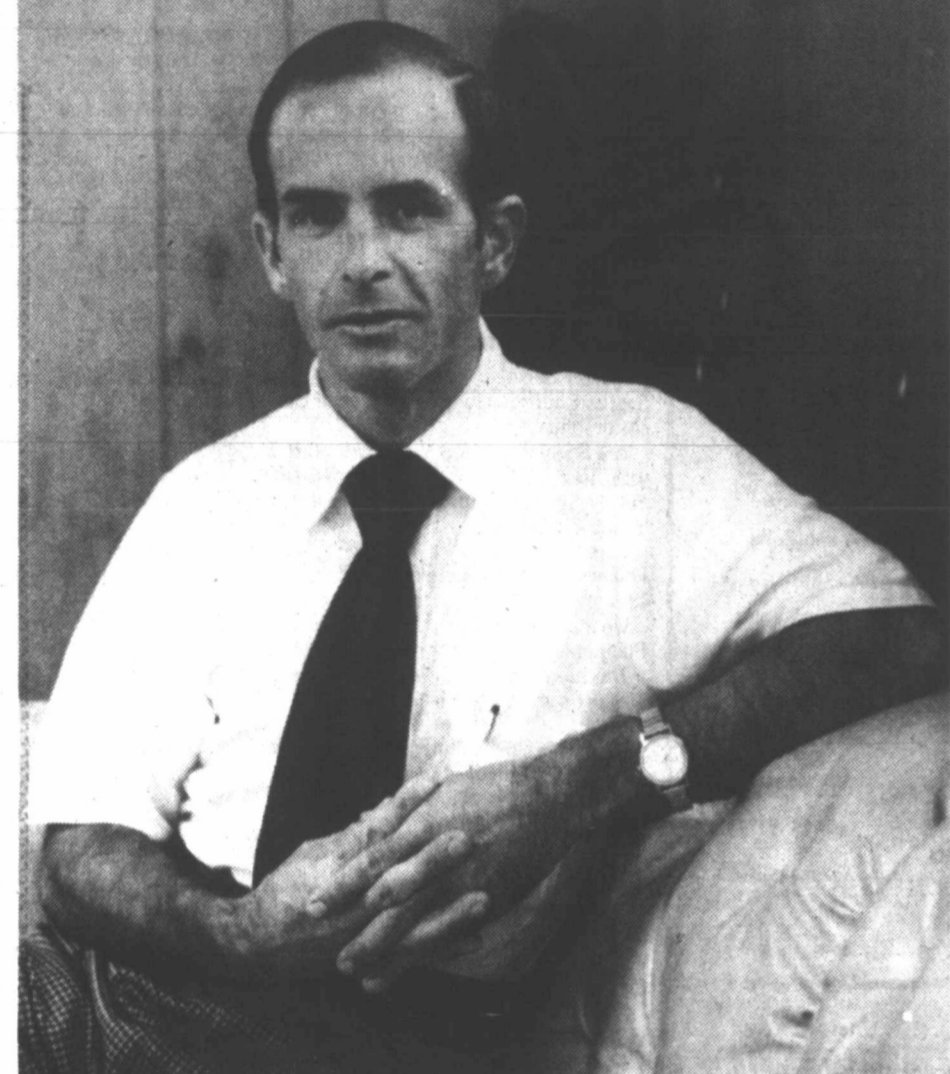

Question: Why are there so few Smogarian fashion models?

Answer: Because Smogarian girls don't smile when the photographer says "cheese." They drool. (Could Smogaria possibly be Los Angeles?)

The whole thing started because Phillips enjoyed telling and listening to jokes. As assistant director at Hume Lake Christian Camp in the Sierra for 11 years he handled several couples' conferences.

He recalls the best times were usually had at the Saturday night skits filled with one-liners. (Sermons are like babies — easy to conceive — hard to deliver.)

"It is important to take a look at yourself and realize life's not so serious," Phillips says. "Humor takes a real life situation and blows it out of proportion."

SPECIAL SERVICES. The Rev. Ricky Timmons of the Bible Baptist Church, Elk City, Okla., will be presenting a program on Thursday, Oct. 30, at the Fellowship Baptist Church, 622 E. Francis. Special services are planned for the entire week with special programs and speakers each evening. The public is invited.
