Judge Frees Burford In Louisiana Scandal BUND IMMORAL SAYS WITNESS

U. S. Attorney Urges Return Of Burford

Louisianans Split $148,000, Dallas Judge Told

DALLAS, Aug. 18 (AP)—Federal Judge T. W. Davidson today ordered dismissed from custody Freeman W. Burford, millionaire Dallas independent oil operator jointly indicted with former governor Richard Leche of Louisiana and Seymour Weiss, Louisiana political power, on charges of violating the Connally "Hot Oil" act.

Judge Davidson, deliberately delivering an oral opinion on the hearing for a writ of habeas corpus and removal order, held there was no reasonable probability of a case against Burford and ordered him dismissed.

Judge Davidson said there was no evidence Burford knew the "10-cent-a-barrel" so frequently mentioned in the case was being paid to officers of the state of Louisiana.

The government contended Burford, in buying oil from the Rodesas field for a pipeline into Texas, had obtained the special allowable order through payment of money to Weiss—some $148,000 which government prosecutors allege was split between Weiss and Leche.

Judge Davidson said testimony of A. C. Glassell, former president of the Pelican Oil and Gasoline company, sellers of the oil, "removed the last possibility of guilt on the part of Burford, when Glassell showed the money paid Weiss was a part of the purchase price of the oil."

DALLAS, Aug. 18 (AP)—Assistant U. S. District Attorney General O. John Rogge today charged in federal court that former governor Richard Leche of Louisiana and Seymour Weiss, political power, Dallas independent oil operator charged jointly with Leche and Weiss for violation of the Connally "Hot Oil" act, slowly went over the alleged payment of $148,000 by Burford for sanction of a pipeline from the rich Rodesas field in Louisiana into Texas.

The suit asked $500,000 damages, alleging the article contained "certain false scandalous, malicious and defamatory libel against the plaintiff."

Another $500,000 suit was filed two weeks ago by the young widow against Palmer charging he libeled her in a petition to have her removed as administratrix of the estate of her late husband, Potter D'Orsay Palmer.

Sinclair Firm Quits Posting Oil Prices

Danciger Raises Price Of Crude 20 Cents Barrel

Announcement last night by the Danciger Oil & Refineries, Inc., that they would boost the price of Parhadine sweet crude 20 cents a barrel, left only the Humble Oil and Refining company paying less than the old price.

Sinclair-Prairie, first to report a cut of 20 cents a barrel, announced last night that effective at 7 a. m., Friday it would, until further notice, discontinue posting the price that it would pay for crude oil in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas.

The new posting by Danciger ranges from 72 cents a barrel for 28.9 gravity and below to 96 cents a barrel for 40 gravity and above. The company purchases 7,000 barrels daily.

TULSA, Aug. 18 (AP)—Oldtime was head over heels in confusion today after Sinclair, the major buyer which started an avalanche of crude oil price cuts, quit posting its prices in four states without explanation.

The puzzling turn followed the about-face of two independent companies which rescinded previous reductions of 20 cents a barrel.

Sinclair-Prairie Oil Marketing Co. issued a cryptic statement that at 7 a. m. it would, until further notice, discontinue posting the price that it would pay for crude oil in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico and Kansas.

Sinclair officials declined comment and observers said they did not understand it.

Oil wells remained shut down in four states where Sinclair said it was withdrawing price postings and in Arkansas and Louisiana, Sinclair's 20-cent price slash Aug. 10 affected all six states.

At Shreveport, La., however, Cadco Purchasing Co. lopped 10 cents off its top price in the Shreveport "back yard" field.

In Arkansas, Gov. Carl E. Bailey ordered state policemen to El Dorado to enforce the shutdown order. Sheriff Grady Woolley had reported the Lion Oil Refining Co., which challenged the state order in court, was the only pro-

Legionnaires Waging Campaign For Roberts

Pampa Legionnaires, joining with other Legion members in the Panhandle and West Texas, are conducting an active campaign to elect Lou J. Roberts of Borger as department commander at the district convention to be held in Waco, August 25-29.

Roberts is the first man the 18th district has presented as a candidate for the chief state Legion officer.

He is member of the board of trustees of the state department, district membership chairman, post service officer, and a past district commander, being succeeded in the latter office by Charlie Maisei of Pampa.

Roberts has held every major office in Hutchinson county post 412. Born February 12, 1896, in Columbus Junction, Ia., Roberts attended Iowa public schools, obtained his B. S. degree in Civil Engineering in 1920 from Iowa State University.

He has been employed continuously as an engineer since 1920 and now is the assistant general manager of the Panhandle Power and Light company of Borger.

He is a registered professional engineer, Mason, Presbyterian, is married and has two daughters. Roberts entered military service in the third officers training camp at Camp Dodge, Ia., in January, 1918, where he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Infantry.

He served with the 352nd Infantry of the 88th division and at various infantry replacement camps, and was discharged in November, 1918.

His record with the American Legion dates from his joining Allen White Post, No. 100, Columbus Junction, Ia., as a charter member. With Hutchinson county post, Roberts was first vice-commander, 1933-34, commander 1934-35, finance officer, 1935-38. He served two terms, 1936-37 and 1937-38 as district commander.

At the 18th district convention held in Childress on May 7, a resolution was unanimously adopted commending Roberts for his service to the Legion and endorsing his candidacy for department commander.

"The regular army should be much larger," said Gen. John J. Pershing, returned last night from a ten-week trip to France. He said the French were "ready to fight," but that "nobody knows" whether they will be European war soon.

Slam, and erect as ever despite his 79 years, Gen. Pershing remarked he felt "pretty well."

Location Of Picnic Still Undetermined

Location of the third annual community picnic to be held on Labor Day, September 4, was still undetermined today, although it has been definitely ascertained by the committees of the local post of the American Legion that the picnic site will be near Borger.

Members of the committees planning the picnic discussed plans for the affair at the regular meeting of the Kerley-Crossman post last night.

Attractions planned for the picnic to date include a tobacco spitting contest, rolling pin and horseshoe pitching contests, a softball game between Pampa and White Deer girls teams, races for children of all ages, a fat and lean men's race, a race for plump and slender women, pie-eating, and croquet-riding contests.

The typical accessories of a picnic, hot dogs, hamburgers, and red lemonade, will be available in copious amounts.

Hit-And-Run Driver Damages Kuehl Car

Police were notified last night that a hit-and-run driver had crashed into the side of a car on West Foster avenue badly damaging one side of the vehicle which was driven by Mrs. August Kuehl.

She told officers that she was driving east on Foster avenue when a car approached her at the same time she was meeting a truck. The car roared between truck and car, shearing off part of the front fender, the running board and smashing the rear fender of her car.

Without stopping, the other car nearly hit the curb, barely missed another car, and roared west, Mrs. Kuehl said officers.

'They Wouldn't Let Me Alone,' Claims Girl

Camp Permitted Only German To Be Spoken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Nineteen-year-old Helen Vooros told the Dies committee today that there was "immorality" in a German-American Bund camp on Long Island, N. Y., and that she quit the Bund because "the leaders wouldn't let me alone."

"They planned to attack me," the plump, dark-haired former Bund youth leader added in an almost inaudible tone.

"The immorality of the entire movement appalled you so—?" Representative Starnes (D., Ala.) put in, starting a question.

"It disgusted me," she said, cutting Starnes off.

Miss Vooros made these assertions in telling about Camp Siegfried on Long Island. She said the girls' and boys' sections of the camp were only 30 feet apart.

"And that caused quite a bit of trouble," she added.

"Parents complained they were too close and that the boys and girls were seen together."

Asked by Starnes whether Theodore Dinkelacker, whom she had identified as leader of the Bund's youth movement at the time, had done anything to stop "immorality," she said:

"He did not consider it immoral. 'Later I found out that it was noble.'"

Earlier, she said Bund leaders attempted to inculcate the campers with the idea Nazi principles were far superior to "American institutions and ideals."

"They said, 'that national socialism (the party of Hitler in Germany) was the only thing that could save us—I don't know what we were going to be saved from.'"

"They said we Germans weren't getting consideration in this country and it was about time we spoke up."

The leaders, she said, at the outset required Bund youth to study the life of Hitler from pamphlets which came from Germany.

Not an "Informer" Continuing questions about the camp, Chairman Dies (D., Tex.) asked if immorality was not contrary to the principles of Adolf Hitler enunciated in his book "Mein Kampf." Dies said Hitler had told of efforts "to break immorality."

"That's what they call 'pure,'" Miss Vooros said.

She answered negatively when Dies asked whether she entered the Bund movement to "become an informer."

"Then why did you quit?" Dies asked.

"Because these leaders wouldn't let me alone," she replied.

She related how in South Brooklyn Bund youth in her group were examined as to their knowledge after the study of Hitler.

She said the girls—19 of them

Poll Shows Turkey Day To Be Observed Along Party Lines

NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—A majority of Americans will eat Thanksgiving dinners on the same day as President Roosevelt, a nationwide survey showed today, but the feasting will be largely along party lines.

A poll showed 25 governors—20 Democrats and five Republicans—had decided to follow the President's example in proclaiming the holiday in Nov. 23, a week earlier than the traditional last Thursday in November.

Thirteen governors, among them ten Republicans and three Democrats, remained firm and said Thanksgiving in their states would be observed Nov. 30.

Governors of ten states were either undecided or not ready to announce their decisions.

Dawes Blamed For Chaos In Oil Industry

ARDMORE, Okla., Aug. 18 (AP)—The Oklahoma strippers' well association today in an open letter to Henry M. Dawes of Chicago, president of Pure Oil company, that the present "chaotic conditions" in the oil industry were caused by unregulated production in Illinois.

In the letter, Roy M. Johnson, policy chairman of the strippers' group, told Dawes the oil field shut-downs in several mid-continent states "may directly or indirectly be laid at your door."

"It is the practical consensus of opinion of all elements in the industry," it continued, "that this increasingly demoralized condition of the oil industry is due almost entirely to the Illinois situation."

"Opening up the first deep basin field in Illinois, your company made an important contribution both to the industry and nation. As soon, however, as the huge possibilities of these discoveries came to be realized, these new wells were produced too fast and in a grossly wasteful manner xxx."

"Soon, however, the majority of the operators united in endeavoring to have enacted by the Illinois legislature an adequate conservation measure which would result in the orderly economic production and development of these new fields."

"But, for some reason unknown to the industry, your company saw fit not to co-operate but to oppose with all your powers such constructive legislation xxx."

"Conditions grew steadily worse until today these new fields are producing nearly 300,000 barrels daily, and the bulk of this production is being produced in as grossly a wasteful manner as the industry has ever seen xxx."

"A large percentage of the oil thus produced is being thrown upon the market without regard to price xxx."

The letter expressed the association's hope that the shut-downs "will be sufficiently impressive to your company that you will join the other leading Illinois producers in urging immediate convocation of the Illinois legislature to enact the necessary legislation to bring order out of chaos in the oil fields of Illinois."

It declared strippers well owners were "so determined" to protect their reserves that "if the states 'cannot save us' we will reluctantly, but no less surely, appeal to the federal government where ready and itching hands are awaiting the job."

Humble Offers New East Texas Proration Plan

AUSTIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—The Humble Oil company presented a new formula for proration of production of the East Texas oil field at the hearing today on the company's application for increased allowable in that area.

The formula would consider the thickness of the oil sand of a lease, the acreage of lease and field, the field allowable and probable pressure of individual wells.

It was technically described by Rex Baker of Houston, attorney for the Humble, as acre-feet of the oil sand in a lease divided by acre-feet of the oil sand in the field multiplied by the field allowable.

"We are proposing a plan of proration which we believe would apply fairly to all and would do away with inequalities," Baker said.

"Allowables of the East Texas field are based now on the potential producing ability of wells.

The proposal of the Humble company was criticized by Jack Blalock of Houston, attorney for independent operators in East Texas, who by questioning of a Humble witness, I. L. Sorenson, geologist, sought to show drilling additional wells by Humble would meet the situation.

The Humble company recently obtained a federal court order authorizing an increase of 44 per cent in its East Texas production.

Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Railroad commission, endeavored to draw from the witness testimony that the more wells drilled the more accurate would be knowledge of underground conditions and the greater the amount of oil recovered.

Sorenson said this was true up to a certain extent and that theoretically the "mining" of oil would result in the greatest recovery.

During discussion about the relation of minimum allowables and price, Baker expressed hope things would be "stabilized" soon so that "conditions will improve."

Commissioner Thompson immediately evinced interest.

"Have you anything to offer along that line? Any news?" he queried.

"I can't say," Baker replied; "You are about as well informed along that line as anyone."

He added that when 600,000 barrels of crude daily way selling in a company's market territory for less than the price the company was paying that company could not do business and meet competition. Such a condition necessitated the recent reduction in prices paid for crude oil, company officials have declared.

In his opinion, the general shut-down of oil fields was unnecessary, Baker said.

Pampa Ordinances Studied By Borger

Pampa's city ordinances covering a half-dozen different topics may be the model of similar ordinances of Borger. The Pampa laws are being studied by Steve Matthews, Borger city manager.

W. M. Craven, Pampa city secretary, prepared copies of the ordinances at the request of the Borger official. The laws govern such subjects as plumbing and electrical inspection, moving of buildings and bonding of moving trucks, regulating removal of garbage and trash, zoning, and maintenance of sewer system.

Matthews became city manager of Borger three months ago, Mr. Craven said. He was formerly assistant coach at Borger High school.

That's Where Money Goes

Even the most cursory study of the spending authorized by the past "economy" congress shows certain salient truths:

1. Despite the "economy" name, and despite the fact that the Congress definitely checked the President on his "spending" program, the $13,000,000,000 appropriated, is a greater sum than ever before appropriated in a year of peace time.

2. Many of the big increases are in fields where it will be extremely hard to reduce them without eliminating whole services and activities which are today a part of government, but which were not 10 years ago.

3. Interest on the public debt is now far higher than it was in 1930—$1,000,000,000 as against $660,000,000. It can no longer be said that carrying a larger debt is no more costly than carrying the former smaller one because interest rates are so much lower.

4. Without a definite and large increase in the national income, so that more taxes can be collected without taking a larger percentage of that national income, it is very hard to see any path out of the woods.

Let's have a look at some of the expenditures for 1939-40 which did not occur at all in 1930. First, there is $1,755,000,000 for relief. There is nearly a billion for social security. There is nearly $300,000,000 for the CCC. Many will argue that the expenditures for these things ought to be reduced, but voices demanding that they be abolished are simply not heard at all in 1939. This means that while the amounts may be reduced somewhat, they will remain as substantial items on the annual budget which did not appear at all in 1930, no matter who is running the government.

Defense carried appropriations of $1,523,000,000, as compared with $698,000,000 in 1930. Nobody objects. But until something is done about world conditions, it is hard to see how this cost will ever be reduced any—it is much more likely to double again in the next 10 years, as it has in the past 10.

The farmers dragged down $1,272,000,000—incidentally the "economy" congress granted them $338,000,000 more than President Roosevelt asked—as compared to $453,000,000 in 1930. In 10 years the expenditures of the Agriculture Department are up a billion dollars.

So it goes. Everything hinges today, just as it always has, on business recovery. Only business recovery will provide the jobs that will lower that relief cost, increase consumption of those farm products, provide the added taxes that will enable the government to start whittling away the billion-dollar debt charge.

On that everyone, Republican and Democrat, Communist and Townsends, can agree. It is only when you ask "How shall we do it?" that disagreement begins.

Behind The News Of The Day

By BRUCE CATTON Pampa News Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18—If you plan to drop in at Uvalde, Tex., this summer and pay a call on Vice President John Garner, you're rather likely to be disappointed. The vice president really meant it when he said he was going to do a lot of fishing.

Mr. Garner keeps a trailer and a battered 1931-model automobile for his fishing trips; takes the old car because it is high-slung and can negotiate rutty, chewed-up roads that a modern car wouldn't take. He also keeps a canoe, together with a lot of fishing tackle.

Returning to Uvalde after a session in Washington, he lashes the canoe atop the trailer, sticks the fishing tackle and a supply of grub inside, picks up an old fishing crony, and sets out to do a little intensive loafing.

The two men usually wander off into the back country, as far from the traveled road as they can get; when they strike a likely-looking spot by some stream they camp, set the canoe down, and stay there as long as the fish are biting. Then they wander on to the next likely-looking spot and repeat the performance. Bass, crappies and channel cats are the usual catch.

The trip may take two weeks, may take three, may take longer. The vice president doesn't come home until he feels thoroughly relaxed.

PRIZE SPEAKER

Some sort of prize for speaking under difficulties ought to go to Congressman Paul Shafer of Michigan, who addressed a Pennsylvania political rally about the time Congress closed.

Midway in his speech a definite and highly pungent aroma began to drift across the open-air forum; a concentrated essence of skunk, which got so strong that people began hiding behind their handkerchiefs.

"I didn't know," remarked Shafer to his audience, "that this speech smelled as badly as all that."

Then a couple of skunks wandered out from under the speaker's platform, sauntered down the aisle, and left the meeting flat.

HERE THE YCONE

A staff of probably 35 people will be taking off for California shortly to carry on the investigation of the Senate Civil Liberties Committee. The committee goes $50,000 for its expenses in place of the $100,000 Senators LaFollette and Thomas (its only members) said was necessary; opinion as to whether the Senate will give it more when the $50,000 is gone is divided. Meanwhile, the $50,000 will be stretched as far as possible. Documents for the committee's files will be photostated instead of copied, to save on stenographic costs.

The Nation's Press

FORGOTTEN YOUTH (Chicago Tribune)

The University of Illinois is engaged in a survey of high school graduates, a work undertaken after a sampling by a business college had revealed that 70 per cent of this year's high school graduates have no job and no hope of getting one. The university seeks information which might provide intelligent aid toward the solution of our youth problem.

Statistics of the American Youth commission indicate that four million American youths between the ages of 16 and 24 are neither in school nor have jobs. This is one-fifth of the total persons in the age group. The average graduate, according to the commission, must expect one to five years of unemployment after leaving school. The commission believes that 800,000 marriages have been delayed because these youths are unable to obtain jobs.

The loss to our country because young men and women are unable to find useful places in our society is painful to contemplate. Thousands of them, trained in our schools, fresh in mind and body, eager for opportunity to work and fit into the life for which they have been prepared, are discarded without even a test. Nothing that must be charged to our leadership in recent years is more damning than this. The graduating class in the west which adopted as its slogan "WPA, Here We Come!" penned a satire more trenchant than anything Swift ever contemplated.

OUR DOCTORS GO FREE (Dayton, Ohio, Herald)

In ruling that the American Medical Association has not violated and could not violate the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, the federal court of the District of Columbia has tossed out of court the most fantastic suit ever instituted by any government against its own people.

If the New Dealers in the so-called justice department ever studied American history, they should have remembered that famous phrase spoken in defense of American liberties by their great English champion, Edmund Burke: "I do not know the method of drawing up an indictment against a whole people." And if they remembered, they should have known that there are too many people ill fed, ill clothed and ill housed. There is room for improvement in the practice of medicine as in every other field in this imperfect world.

But good intentions never excuse inexcusable tactics. If charges should be made, there are ways in which they should be made. Going at an entire profession with an upraised club and haling its members into court as lawbreakers is not one of them. Anyway, these smart young lawyers could have better started with another profession.

Who are these men charged with violating the laws of the land? They are the vast majority of them, men who have dedicated their lives to the service of human-

THE LENDING PLAN SCOTCHED (N. Y. Times)

While the present Congress has shown a conservative trend in several important directions, until last week it had not shown any notable enthusiasm for economy. It's sole important battle in this respect arose out of its effort to cut down the deficiency appropriation for WPA that the President requested for the last months of the fiscal year recently closed; but that reduction came to very little, and was more than offset by greater appropriations that Congress made in other directions even above the sums that the President asked for.

Against this background the astonishing vote in the House yesterday, refusing even to consider the President's request, is a most striking precedent. Government loans are always loans to some specific interest. Government expenditures are always expenditures for the benefit of some particular pressure group. Those who do not want to see the Government's finances indefinitely out of hand must have the courage to refuse these interests and these pressure groups.

They have watched over the bedside of all of us, patted the breath of life into our bodies and will ease the pain when breath departs. They have sat beside us in the long night hours, and eyes opening from a fitful sleep have closed again in confidence that the doctor was there and would stay there as long as he was needed. They have seen to it that we got the medicines we needed, even when some of us could not pay for them. They have, in whatsoever house they entered, gone for the benefit of the sick and refrained from all wrongdoing and corruption.

There are the men who were haled into court, these men who have been healing the sick through the ages and making this a better world—haled into court by young upstarts who think they are going to make this a perfect world over night. And the people who trust their doctors as they trust no one else are not going to forget or forgive. The suit was not only indefensible on ethical, moral and legal grounds; it was the worst sort of politics.

It is to be sure there are doctors, just as there are lawyers, who violate the ethics of their profession, who are more interested in fees than in health, who abuse their high calling. Most of us know a few of them and despise them. But lump them all together and weigh them in the scales against the doctor—a friendly, fun-loving old man, a kindly, serious-minded young man—who was not thinking of his fee when he gave us his time and his skill and his compassion in our hour of suffering, and he covers up a multitude of sins.

Dragging such men into court is high-handed and ridiculous.

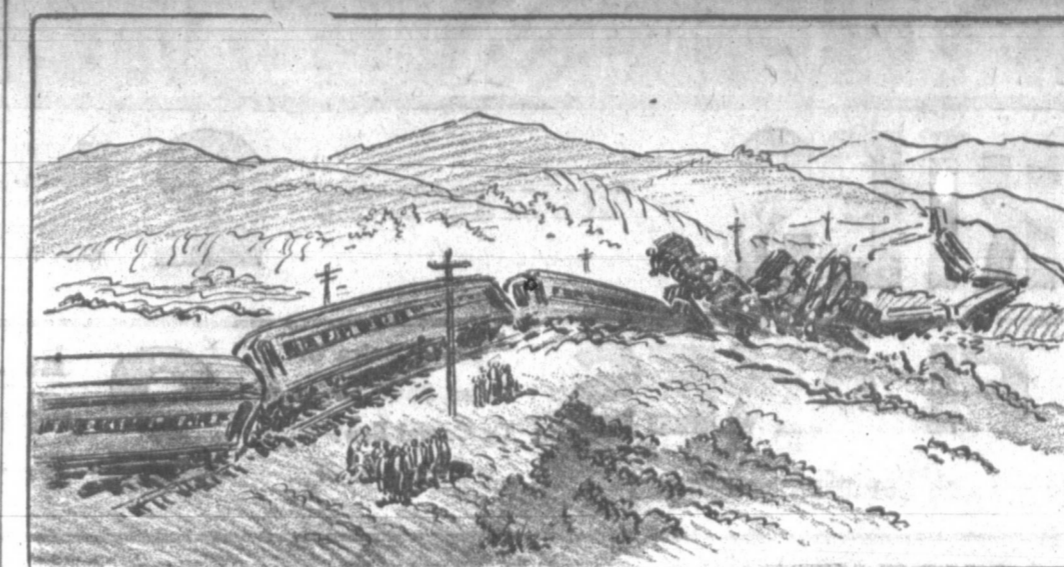

Most of the committee's workers will be "borrowed" from various government departments and agencies. (This is a common Washington custom followed by practically all committees.) The bulk of the $50,000 thus will be available for traveling expenses and living expenses.

A lot of work has to be done before open hearings can be held. Best guess is that hearings probably won't occur much before November.

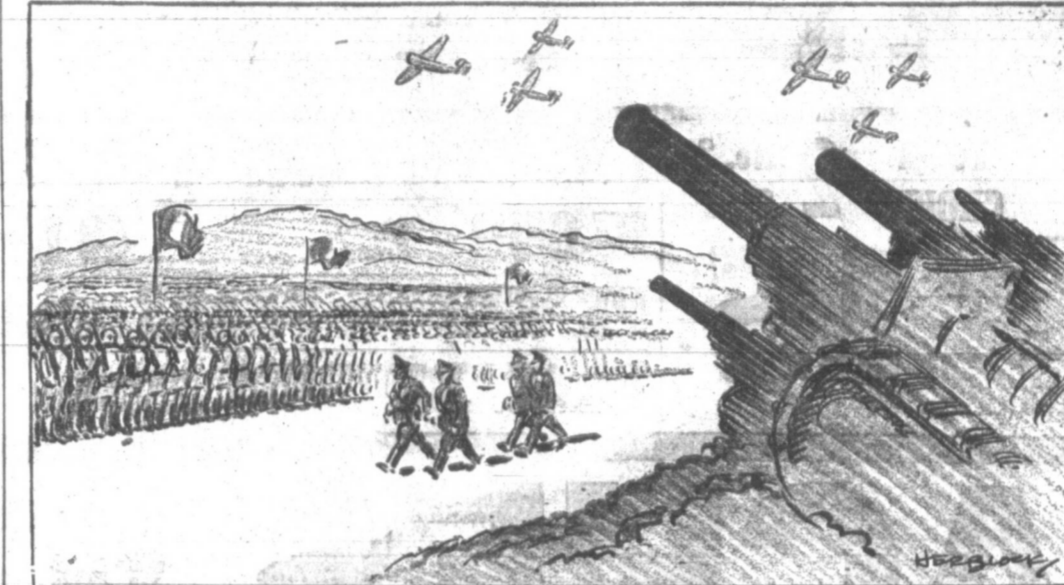

EUROPEAN SUMMER SCHOOL

Between-session junkets to Europe "to study conditions" are common as grass for congressmen. They enable the solon to get a nice vacation and make his constituents think he's working. But Congressman Kent Keller of Illinois, who takes off for Europe presently, is really going to work.

Around Hollywood

By PAUL HARRISON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 18—After more than sixteen years at Paramount as musical director and an associate producer, Boris Morros now is making his own pictures. He always thought of himself as a showman, anyway—a view shared by the rest of Hollywood, which is fond of quoting his heavily-accented wisecracks and of wondering how a man who wears such loud shirts ever could have been a serious composer and a dignified director of opera.

So now Morros has his own producing outfit, and his first picture is a Laurel and Hardy comedy. By no means a musical comedy, it is a comedy in music, the latter being as much of a universal medium as pantomime.

"These are troubled times," said the stocky Russian, "and there is in the world enough sadness already. So I am not making a picture with a message and with anybody dying in it. I am making what is like a Silly Symphony, using human actors."

"Music has not yet found its place on the screen, so my picture is made to fit a musical theme instead of vice versa. You get only compromise when you hand a composer a finished picture and tell him to go ahead and score it."

"If this picture is not good, I will not lose much. The proper music, I think, a few strings or a harmonica even, can take the place of many big, expensive sets. But I think it will be good."

He believes in conferences, though—conferences of the entire company. Each evening, after the day's shooting, cast and crew crowd into the office to discuss ideas and bits of dramatic business to be woven into the next day sequences. Electricians, make-up men, script clerk—all are invited to speak up, and they do.

The other day Morros gravely passed around for their inspection some sketches of new costumes for Jean Parker. A carpenter said he thought one of the gowns was a little too fuzzy. Others agreed. The designer removed some of the frills, and the gown was ready.

Another practice he never tried in Hollywood is having everyone on the lot come in to see and criticize the daily rushes. Also, this company is never confused in its work by the filming of disconnected scenes. "The Flying Deuces" probably is the first film in 20 years to be shot faithfully in sequence and cut as it goes along.

People You Know

By Archer Fullingim

There is a story behind the reason why this one today publicly takes off his hat to State Highway Patrolman Byron L. St. Clair, the tall, blonde, bespectacled cop who rides the motorcycle for the state of Texas. It happened last Sunday night while we were going to Berger. The boy was driving and we were rolling merrily along at a 62-mile-an-hour clip, so Mr. St. Clair said later. When he pulled up behind he recited our crimes and misdemeanors—driving too fast, not dimming the lights, you shouldn't have left your driver's license at home, but he didn't talk out of the corner of his mouth and he didn't get tough and insulting, and he didn't get mad and look as if he wanted to pistol-whip you. In fact he was so nice that we had a real desire to drive as he suggested, and boy have we been dimming lights and keeping within that speed limit, and now we don't have to look behind and see if the law is on our tail. Mr. St. Clair's having pretty good luck with his highway safety campaign too, and you don't meet many cars that don't dim their lights, and the cars don't whine by—fast. The highway patrolmen are really enforcing the law on that highway, so you'd better watch out. . . . But if worst comes to worst, you'll find Mr. St. Clair as nice as any cop you'll ever see, and the most courteous "law" we ever had in our dealings with. Why actually he didn't make us feel like criminals!

Is Waiting For the Sunrise? Of course we get a harpist on the set to play the music really."

The co-operative scheme of picture making is demonstrated again at lunch. No executive dining room, no separate table for stars and principals, no lunch counter for electricians and prop boys. There's a long table under the trees on the lawn, and everyone sits there. They talk and eat their picture.

Maybe all this is good business. It certainly is a refreshingly new spirit.

It will be good if the spirit of the company can make it so, because this unit is working in co-operative fashion never seen before in Hollywood. The director, Eddie Sutherland, the cast and the crew will all have a share in the profits, if any. And they all have a hand in the production, not alone as workers, but as idea men. Morros' office door is always open and anybody from the messenger boys up to the writer can walk right in with a suggestion.

He believes in conferences, though—conferences of the entire company. Each evening, after the day's shooting, cast and crew crowd into the office to discuss ideas and bits of dramatic business to be woven into the next day sequences. Electricians, make-up men, script clerk—all are invited to speak up, and they do.

The other day Morros gravely passed around for their inspection some sketches of new costumes for Jean Parker. A carpenter said he thought one of the gowns was a little too fuzzy. Others agreed. The designer removed some of the frills, and the gown was ready.

Another practice he never tried in Hollywood is having everyone on the lot come in to see and criticize the daily rushes. Also, this company is never confused in its work by the filming of disconnected scenes. "The Flying Deuces" probably is the first film in 20 years to be shot faithfully in sequence and cut as it goes along.

NO MYSTERY ABOUT THIS FILM

"If there is any retakes," said Morros, pounding his desk, "we make them at the time and not after the picture is supposed to be finished! This way, there is no mystery, and even the least performer knows what is going on. In Hollywood, often, actually the stars have no idea what the story is about, even."

The Family Doctor

Dr. Morris Fishbein

Among the most common of the peculiar nervous sensations which disturb a great many people is a burning feeling in the tongue.

Because of the frequency of this symptom, many investigations have been made. Several possible causes have been determined. Usually the condition arises in older women who have been nervous and who are, therefore, especially sensitive to pain.

In some cases inflammations may be found such as those caused by rough teeth or by the wearing of false teeth. In other instances there are deficiency diseases like pellagra or pernicious anemia, with difficulties reflected in the tongue. The condition is also associated with dyspepsia.

It is necessary to make a complete examination of the person in whom this condition persists in order to determine if any of these causes may be associated with the burning of the tongue.

Recently medical literature has described two other possible causes. About 10 per cent of a group of patients who had inflammations in the joint which controls the jaw bone had a burning sensation in the tongue. Proper treatment of the joint, sometimes involving actual repositioning of the lower jaw, brought relief of the symptoms.

Another cause recently discovered has been the presence of fillings in the teeth with metals of different electrical potentials on either side. In such cases there has been the complaint of a metallic taste in the mouth and burning sensation in the tongue.

Treatment of this condition depends on a determination of the cause. If there is anemia or pellagra, the treatment would include iron extract and nicotinic acid respectively. If there is a lack of any other vitamin in the diet, that vitamin must be supplied. If the condition is largely based on nervous instability, treatment must be directed toward the nervous system. Finally, if there are local conditions, like roughened teeth and dissimilar dentures, the treatment will involve control of those conditions.

Campbell Sets Record CONISTON, Ensland, Aug. 18 (P)—The speedboat Bluebird II, with Sir Malcolm Campbell at the wheel, skimmed over Lake Coniston today at 134 miles an hour, the fastest time ever made by man on water.

Officially, however, this was not a new record. The time must be made both ways over the measured mile.

Campbell was forced to stop at the end of the downward journey because of trouble with the Bluebird's water intake.

THERE'S SOME kind of a grand feeling about getting back to the Panhandle of Texas—particularly after you have just spent ten days or so in the oppressive, sticky, wet heat of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, etc. . . . Hugh Blevins, the 13-year-old Pampa Soap Box Derby champion, got us safely back into Pampa late yesterday afternoon after that trip to the national Derby at Akron where Hugh found the world at his feet for three days last week-end.

Unless you have seen one of the national Soap Box Derbies; unless you have attended the events leading up to the day of the race, you have seen the race itself, it would be a bit difficult to grasp its magnitude and the high plane on which it is conducted. . . . Chevrolet Motor Company, City of Akron and the Akron Beason team, fine the line to make it one of the outstanding sporting events in the world. . . . It is, of course, the world's greatest amateur sporting event for boys.

FROM THE attention standpoint, Young Blevins had a little advantage on the 116 other boys there from other cities. . . . That, no doubt, was due to the fact that he was from Pampa and displayed out among the others because of his colorful Western attire, which is somewhat of an oddity in Ohio. . . . His escorts, similarly attired, lent color to the Pampa delegation and caused Hugh to be the center of attraction wherever he appeared. . . . Dallas and El Paso were the other two Texan cities represented, but their champions failed to get any of the attention that came to the Pampa boy.

To get the real story of the trip to Akron, you have to talk with Hugh or with Mark Bratton, second place winner in Class A of the Pampa races, who also made the trip. . . . It was a boys' event from beginning to end and to get a boys' version and reaction, only a boy who was at the scene could give the proper description of just what took place.

A NUMBER of the awards and mementoes received by the winner of the Pampa News-Lions Club local derby, while he was in Akron, will be placed on display in the downtown window this afternoon or tomorrow. . . . No doubt many boys will be anxious to see just what Hugh brought back with him even though he didn't win the championship. . . . This is a mighty fine thing for boys, and we'd like to push along a tip right now that Pampa boys had better begin planning their 1940 racers now. . . . The 1940 event will be staged earlier in the year, possibly in June.

So much for the Soap Box Derby races. . . . It's a good thing the skipper of this space got back in town to stop that Pampa Oilers' baseball team. . . . Baseball fans likewise will note that he "put the tee" on Lubbock and Big Spring last night just to make the Pampa 12-5 victory a bit more effective. . . . It's a wonder that some one did not look after that baseball team when we're out of town!

ALUM AND GLUE ECONOMIC THEORY By GUS W. DYER Professor of Economics and Sociology, Vanderbilt University

In rural tobacco sections "barn raisings" were customary in the past. Tobacco barns were built of logs, and when it became necessary for a farmer to build a new barn he invited his neighbors to a barn raising. On one occasion, it is reported, one of the workers fell quite a distance from the structure, and seemed to be badly injured. They had to send him away to get a doctor, and hours passed before the doctor arrived. There was a negro, quadroon doctor among the workers, and the whites decided to let this negro do what he could to relieve the injured man. When the doctor arrived he asked the negro, "What do you think of the man?" "I gin him some alum and glue," said the negro. "Why in blazes did you give him that?" asked the doctor. "I decided he must be all broke up on the inside," said the negro, "and I gin him de alum to draw the broken parts together and de glue to stick 'em an hold 'em together!"

In 1938, a new economic-political doctor appeared on the scene. He quickly made a sweeping diagnosis of the whole economic organism, and his conclusion was that the whole business system was "all broke up on the inside" and beyond repair by any business principles or methods used in the past. Hence the principles and methods that had led this country from an undeveloped agricultural state into the leading industrial nation of the world were repudiated, and the business leadership was discarded.

The new economic doctor began at once to apply his borrowing-spending-holding theory as the new and certain cure for all serious economic ills. This theory was very similar in nature to the alum and glue theory. The application of socialist alum and glue theory by the new doctor to draw the broken parts together and stick 'em, has been enormously costly. Millions of pigs were converted into soap grease and fertilizer, and millions of tons of food stuffs and clothing material were plowed under in order that the masses of the people might be better fed and better clothed. This was the new alum and glue theory of increasing general material welfare by destroying great quantities of wealth.

Then, many billions of the taxpayers' money were scattered to the four winds as subsidies, gifts, etc., to raise and stabilize farm commodity prices. Yet farm prices today are at the low bottom. The alum didn't draw things to the right spot, and the glue didn't stick 'em at the right place. The same is true of the billions spent to take people off relief, and eliminate unemployment. Here, too, the alum has drawn in the wrong direction and the glue has got 'em stuck fast to the relief rolls.

STAMP NEWS

INAUGURATION of trans-Pacific airmail service between United States and New Zealand is expected by mid-September. Congress, before adjourning, approved an appropriation of $900,000 for the mail contract. Final action by the Civil Aeronautics Authority on Pan-American Airways' application to carry passengers, mail and express over the 8000-mile route was indicated within a few weeks.

The route will extend from San Francisco to Auckland, New Zealand, via Los Angeles, Honolulu, Canton Island, and Noumea, New Caledonia. Four-day schedules call for 49 hours flying time with a full day layover in Honolulu and overnight stops at Canton and Noumea. Present steamer schedules require 15 days for the same voyage.

British Imperial Airways have announced plans to extend service from Australia to New Zealand, providing direct connection with the American line.

Details of the first flight and instructions for addressing covers will be announced later by the Postoffice Department.

Collectors who complain of the abundance of new issues can direct no criticism at Costa Rica. It is 15 months since this Central American nation has released a new stamp and it may be several months before a new postage issue is placed on sale.

Recent issues: Poland, 25th anniversary of Polish Legion; Siam, five stamps, picturing royal palace; Japan, one value honoring Kamatari Fujiwara, seventh century statesman.

Girl In Hospital After Peeking At Pair Thru Skylight

BOSTON, Aug. 18 (P)—A glimpse at Romance sent 18-year-old Lorraine Ellis to the hospital.

To get a peek at a bride and groom attending a wedding reception in the apartment building where she lives, Miss Ellis went to the roof and gazed through the skylight.

She lost her balance, plunged 12 feet through the skylight to landing as she newly married couple entered an elevator.

The couple went on their honeymoon; Miss Ellis went to the city hospital with a concussion of the brain.

Oilers Break Losing Streak With 12-5 Win

Final Battle With Midland To Be Tonight

The Pampa Oilers broke a five-game losing streak last night when they returned to the home lot for Gordon Nell's Birthday party when a group of fans presented him with a purse, wearing apparel and other gifts and the Puritan Bakery baked him a large birthday cake. Pampa won the game from Midland 12 to 5.

The Oilers and Cowboys will meet again tonight at 8:30 o'clock for the final game of the season between the two clubs. On Saturday night the Lubbock Hubbers will be here for a Ladies Night game beginning at 9:15 o'clock. The Oilers and Hubbers will clash in a double-header Sunday afternoon, the first game set for 2:30 o'clock.

Frank Grabek will probably get the nod to face the Cowboys tonight unless Rex Dilbeck is named. Either Nugent or Plet will be Manager Sammy Hale's choice.

Six solid base hits coupled with three errors by K. Jordan, who replaced crippled Manager Sammy Hale at third base for the Cowboys, put the Oilers out in front by six runs in the first inning. Midland having gathered a pair in the first stanza.

Brown, elongated slow motion pitcher, was the victim of the hit-hungry Oilers in the opening stanza. Saparito started the damage with a single and Phillips followed. Seitz was safe on an error and Nell filed out to deep right. Summers lashed a double to left center and Malvica singled. Jordan was safe on an error and Bailey followed with a single. Another error put Vannoy on base. Saparito, up for the second time, forced Vannoy at second. Phillips, on his second appearance, batted another single. Seitz drew a walk. Nell ended the rally by hitting to the pitcher.

Vannoy, on the mound for the Oilers, whiffed Pettold but he and Jerry Jordan got mixed up on K. Jordan's high fly in front of the box and it fell out of Jordan's hand. Kerr dropped one to right but Phillips dropped it after a run. Naranjo fanned and then Everson was walked intentionally, filling the bases. Raines, a pitcher playing in left field, then crossed up the strategy by singling over second, two runs crossing the plate. Everson tried to make third on the play but Seitz made a perfect throw to third and Everson was out.

Yannoy Wires 15th Neither team scored again until Midland pushed one across in the seventh on Pettold's single. Kerr's single and a wild pitch. The Oilers added three in their half of the inning. ### McEwin To Be Pain In Dory Detton's Neck Monday Night

There's going to be fireworks at the Pampa Athletic arena on Monday night when popular Dory Detton meets unpopular Tiger Billy McEwin in the main event of Promoter Cliff Chambers' wrestling card. Detton made his first Pampa appearance in three years last Monday night and he really showed some something new in wrestling. He's cool, fast, and knows just about everything in the wrestling business.

But McEwin is also a pretty smart hombre and rough with it, so there is sure to be trouble when they meet. Charlie Carr, popular newcomer, and Frank Wolf, barrel-chested ruffian, will tangle in the semi-final while the opener will see Newcomer George Wagner and Otto Von Ludwig in action. Hostilities will begin promptly at 8:30 o'clock and admission will be the same as usual.

Players To Qualify Monday For Top O' Texas Tourney

The busiest place in Pampa yesterday afternoon was the Pampa Country club golf course where Pampa players were warming up for the Top O' Texas Golf tournament which will be played here next week.

Qualifying will be all day Monday with pairings Monday night following the Dutch lunch and Calcutta pool, at 7:30 o'clock. On Tuesday night there'll be a big tournament dance. Entrance fee is $3 and it will admit the player to everything. Tickets to non-players are available at $1 and will be good for admission to the pool, Dutch lunch and dance, accompanied by lady friends to the dance.

Pete Nossent, club pro, is personally supervising work of improving the course. Every fairway will be mowed down before the tournament and the rough will be made a little less rough. Tee boxes will be leveled and greens will be worked over.

Entries are still being received and at least four flights of golfers are expected to tee off Tuesday morning in the race for valuable prizes for the winner and runner-up and the winner of consolation play in each flight. The medalist will also receive a prize as will the winner of the driving contest, to be held at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon.

Old timers, men over 50, will not be forgotten in the tournament because there's going to be a flight for them. However, any veteran who wants to take a crack at the title in one of the other flights will be at liberty to do so.

The public will be welcomed at the course at all times to follow play. There'll be no charge made at the gate for fans.

Pettold led the Cowboys attack with three singles.

Brown took the mound for the Oilers but was shelved to cover in the first inning after pitching to 11 batters and getting only two out. Leonard took over and handcuffed the slugging Oilers until the sixth.

Grover Seitz pulled his usual spectacular catch in the seventh when he raced behind the mound to snag Jordan's sizzling line drive.

While the Oilers were winning last night, Lubbock dropped to Clovis and Big Spring fell a victim to the Amarillo Gold Sox. Berger swamped Lamesa 22 to 7. The Oilers are now six games behind the leading Hubbers and a game and half ahead of the third place Big Spring Barons.

Yugoslav Netters Almost Hitchhike NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Yugoslavia's Davis cup tennis players, who almost had to thumb their way across the Atlantic to play in the interzone finals, are ready to face Australia's stars with less than a week's practice on grass courts.

Four Yugoslav players, Franjo Puncec, Franjo Kukuljevic, Joseph Pallada and Demeter Mitic, and their non-playing captain, Dr. Drago Cop, arrived on the Europa last night. They traveled in tourist class and explained they weren't sure until a few days before sailing that they could come at all. The government finally agreed to augment the tennis association's funds to pay their passage.

The interzone series, between the European and American zone winners, begins next Thursday at Brookline, Mass.

Gulf Coast Fishometer

The Gulf fishing outlook was highly uncertain Friday because of unsettled weather conditions, following a week in which some extraordinary catches were reported.

The forecast was for equals at many points, and anglers were advised to get last minute reports again this week before starting their trips. The report by areas: FREEPORT—Annual kingfish and deep sea fishing rode starts Saturday, with about 60 boats ready. Conditions favorable at present. Kingsnapper, ling and dolphin have been biting offshore.

CORPUS CHRISTI—PORT ARANSAS—Past week best of summer, but weather presently threatening and squally. If weather settles, angling should be good on the weekend.

GALVESTON—Sharp change in wind made fishing poor Thursday after a good week in which many trout and mackerel were caught.

PORT ARTHUR—SABINE—Fishing poor because of fresh, westerly winds. Prospects uncertain although indications were for gentle southerly winds by Sunday. Trout fishing in Lake Sabine good.

Morrison Named Coach At M'Murry

ARILENE, Aug. 18 (AP)—Dale N. Morrison, assistant coach and head of the history department at McMurry college for the past three years, today was named as head coach and athletic director of the local Texas conference school.

He succeeds R. M. Medley, who recently resigned to accept a similar position at Southwestern university.

A brother of Ray Morrison, well-known Vanderbilt University coach, the new McMurry mentor has had a wide experience in athletics. His coaching experience included two years at Ardmore, Okla., five at Purcell, Okla., four at Rogers, Ark. He also coached a year at Trinity university and two years as Ray's assistant at Southern Methodist, having complete charge of the Mustang basketball and baseball teams in 1916.

Richie To Fight Baer At Lubbock On September 18

LUBBOCK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Bulky Babe Ritchie, the teen age West Texan who has swatted his way up to heavyweight prominence, will meet Maxie Baer, former world's titlist, here on the night of Sept. 18.

Promoter Pup Thomas said Ancl Hoffman, Baer's manager, had definitely agreed to that date. The Livermore larrikin, whose latest ring appearance ended sadly under the falling fists of Lou Nova, will start immediately to train.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIEZE NEW YORK, Aug. 18 (AP)—Red light: Joe Louis is beginning to feel mean, boys. (He won't sign a sparring partner unless the guy waives claim to damages).

The Coast is buzzing with rumors the Cubs will transfer Dick Bartolo to their Los Angeles farm-as manager. The day the Giants suspended him, Burgess Whitehead went to the stadium and asked to work out with the Yanks. Joe McCarthy turned him down. The papers say Whitey is washed up as a Giant, even if he has been reinstated.

Joe aimed to win. Before Tuesday night's Red Sox-Athletic game, one of the Philly scribes banged out a pre-game lead as follows: "Crosby is making a serious bid for this game. He is starting Wilson and sending eight other pitchers to the bull pen."

Tony Canzoneri picks Armstrong over Ambers. Which of the Dartmouth coaches paid a social visit to Charlotte, N. C. and came away with Billy Arnold, crack high school miler, in his hip pocket? A sore wrist is the reason why all those major league scouts have cooled off on Jimmy Pofahl, Minneapolis shortstop. Tip: Buckley Walters will be named the National League's most valuable player.

On my goodness. When Dan Webster of Casper, beat H. R. Bath for the Wyoming state golf championship, one of the papers headlined this nifty: "Webster takes Bath before huge gallery."

Alabama will have the biggest football team ever trotted out in Dixie this year, but it's going to be mighty slow. The Johns baseball team of Elmira, N. Y., is red hot with 52 in a row to 15 credits.

Today's guest star. W. J. Lemke, Fayetteville (Ark.) Times: "The Monets' Rebirth played at the local park last night. They're always good for a laugh, but last night we felt more like crying. For there was Fred Hawn, born and bred in Fayetteville, with all the traditions of our fair city of culture and refinement in his vein, managing as decrepit a bunch of spavined ball players as ever stumbled across a diamond."

Mako And Tidball Routed By Bromwich And Quist

BROOKLINE, Mass., Aug. 18 (AP)—The U. S. Lawn Tennis association's aster-minds, shocked by the decisive rout of one of their three possible Davis cup doubles combinations, pinned their hopes today on Frank Parker and Don McNeill, the top-seeded domestic entry in the national doubles tournament at Longwood.

Those players were scheduled to meet Australia's Jack Crawford and Harry Hopman in a semi-final match and attempt to undo some of the damage the latter's Davis cup teammates inflicted on Gene Mako and Jack Tidball in one of yesterday's quarter-finals.

Mako and Tidball, who had won 10 of their last 12 tournaments, appeared capable of providing the Australian loss—Jack Bromwich and Adrian Quist with the stiffest sort of competition but they were woefully out-classed while being subjected to a speedy 6-2, 6-1, 6-2 drubbing.

As a result, Quist and Bromwich moved into the second last round against the Wimbledon champions, B-bby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, a match which has been put over until tomorrow. Crawford and Hopman qualified by topping Charles Hare of England, and Ladislav Hecht of New York, for a 6-3, 3-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 match.

Play in the women's division also has been reduced to a similar stage but the only semi-final scheduled was between the defending champions, Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabry and Alice Marble, against Mrs. Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Sylvia Henzotin of France. Helen Jacobs of Berkeley, Cal., and Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles, will not be called upon to face off against England's Kay Stammers and Mrs. Freda James Hammersley until tomorrow.

Mrs. Fabry and Miss Marble gave impressive performances while disposing of Betty Nuthall and Nina Brown, two of their British Wightman cup rivals, 6-1, 6-2. The Franco-American team eliminated Mrs. Simone Mathieu and Mrs. Virginia Rice of Boston, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. Miss Stammers and Mrs. Hammersley bested Virginia Wolfenden and Patricia Canning of San Francisco, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1, but the other English entry, Mary Hardwick and Valerie Scott, bowed to Miss Jacobs and Miss Workman by 6-2, 4-6, 6-2 margins.

Hoffman, Baer's manager, had definitely agreed to that date. The Livermore larrikin, whose latest ring appearance ended sadly under the falling fists of Lou Nova, will start immediately to train.

Houston Runs Win Streak To 10 Games

(By The Associated Press.) The Houston Buffs won their fourth double header victory of the week last night, running their win streak to ten straight and making it 17 won out of their last 18 starts. That's why they lead the Texas League.

Ted Wilks hurled his third victory of the week as Houston took the opener from Tulsa's Oilers, 2-1. Harry Brecheen, despite a bad cold, twirled six-hit ball as the Buffs took the second, 8-2.

The second-place San Antonio Missions, however, lost no ground, taking a twin bill from Dallas, 6-5 and 3-2.

The Beaumont Exporters defeated the Fort Worth Cats twice, 11-7 and 2-1. Four bunched hits, one a double by Easterling in the second frame, set things up for Shreveport to down Oklahoma City, 2-0, in a game called in the seventh because of rain.

Today's schedule: Fort Worth at Beaumont (day). Tulsa at Houston (night). Oklahoma City at Shreveport (two-night). Dallas at San Antonio (night).

Tyler Shuts Out Henderson 6 To 0

(By The Associated Press.) Even the high and mighty topple occasionally and the Henderson Oilers, far ahead in the East Texas league, are no exceptions.

Ralph Pate set the Oilers down with only four hits last night as Tyler shut them out, 6-0. Home runs by Elmer Sidel, Leroy Mikus and Wayne Demeter led the scoring. Rain ended the encounter in the last of the seventh. Andy Riggs singled Dave Short

SERIAL STORY

Murder on the Boardwalk BY ELINORE COWAN STONE

COPYRIGHT, 1939, NEA SERVICE, INC.

Yesterday Chandra warns Christine to come to him for advice. Christine believes that he is a fake. After the show ends she remains. Chandra comes to her at once.

CHAPTER V I AM glad you waited," Chandra began with a direct simplicity Christine had not expected. "No doubt," she said idly, "this was a fair exchange. But don't you think you might have let me in on the plot?"

"Miss Thorenson"—his smile was tired—almost, it seemed to Christine, worried—"I suppose there's no way of convincing you that I really want to help you?"

"So you do know my name! . . . But then, of course, you've had me followed by some of your spies ever since I got off that train—perhaps even before. . . . And if you're a Hindu, I'm the Duchess of Windsor. . . . Well, I'm fed up on theatrical tricks. What I'd like is some real triple-threat facts—if you've got any."

"Then, Miss Thorenson," the "swami" told her with a gentleness so persuasive that, for the moment, Christine's stern young skepticism was almost broken down, "you were very unwise to register at your new address under an assumed name. I see for you a very real danger."

"Well, Mr. Chandra—or whatever your real name is," Christine said, "since I seem to have no secrets from you, you couldn't suggest, I suppose, exactly what it is I ought to do—aside from inspecting my baggage for an unmentionable object presumably placed there by a person or persons unknown?"

"I could suggest—but it would do no good," he told her wearily, "that if you find what I have reason to think you will—you communicate with me at once, by messenger I will gladly place at your disposal. I shall then be in a position to advise you."

"Thanks a lot," Christine flashed. "I'll take my chances on the persons unknown."

As she marched out, she glanced at her watch. After 11, and she was a good two miles from home. Well, she needed a brisk walk to clear her mind after all that hocus-pocus. Of course the idea that she could be in any danger was just funny. The whole scenario was ridiculously clear—beginning with that telephone girl—and all so crude and bungling.

Yet, in spite of her bravado, Christine jumped when a voice said at her shoulder, "It would be you. Don't you know that no girl with eyes and hair like yours is safe from unwelcome attentions on this Boardwalk at night?"

"So it seems," Christine said when she could control her voice. "No doubt if you had your way, curfew would ring at sunset for every woman under 80."

The bareheaded young man must have run up the stairway from the beach, for he was breathing quickly, and his hair was rumpled.

"Well," he went on with such infectious pleasure that Christine found herself feeling for the first time that day that it was marvelous to be young and alive, "maybe I'll be able to enjoy my meals now. When I called the Crestview this afternoon, they told me you'd checked out. . . . But let's get out of this mob."

"They had been standing just in front of Christine's studio. As they moved on under the lights of the Twentieth Century Pier, Christine stopped short in the midst of the crowded, noisy Boardwalk.

"But—she cried—"why, you're drenched!" The sleeves and front of his coat and shirt were dripping, trickles of water ran down his light trousers, and his shoes were sodden and caked with wet sand.

"Oh, that!" he glanced down with some embarrassment. "I got pretty close to the sea-line, and a big one caught me amidst."

CHRISTINE was not an introspective young person. She was no more capable of analyzing her sudden lift of spirits than she had been of understanding that her restlessness and loneliness of the earlier evening had not been entirely due to worry about Cousin Emma's strange desertion. She only knew now that she felt more at home with this tanned stranger whom she had met barely 24 hours ago—more warmly glad to see him—than she would have felt with any one she had known a lifetime; and that her pleasure in being with him again was as right and natural as the clean sea breeze.

"I'm cold, too," he was going on plaintively. "Something hot to eat would feel right good at this minute—and Decker's is just a comfortable walk along the Boardwalk. That's the one place in Surf City that doesn't reek with fried potatoes. . . . And I hate eating alone. Come on, Miss Thorenson," he wheedled with an engaging grin, "be a good scout. 'D'd like to, only"—Christine laughed for the first time that day—"except that the fellows call you 'Bill.' I don't know your name."

"Bill," but if I forgot to mention it, the rest of it's Yardley," he told her. Then he added with something behind the smile in his eyes that made her catch her breath, "I hope you're going to like it."

While they were waiting at the table Bill had found by a window that overlooked the sea, Bill said, "It occurs to me that there's a lot about me besides my name that you don't know. I raise horses for a living—mighty fine horses, by the way. But the market wasn't too good this year, so I took over the riding school here. You see, I've had a hand-decap over you all along. When I heard you say you were Mrs. Talbert's cousin, I knew you wouldn't be interested in lifting my watch."

"If you'd known the whole truth," Christine said wryly, "you'd probably have kept your hand on that watch. . . . Not that I'm not Mrs. Talbert's cousin; but there've been occasions—not so long ago—when a nice 17-jeweled watch would have made my fingers itch."

"Christine," he said abruptly, "something's worrying you. Why not get it out of your system? You'll probably laugh," Christine hesitated. "I hope you will. I've had a feeling all along that I ought to; but somehow my sense of humor doesn't seem to be working this week-end."

Yet when she did tell him the whole story of that preposterous day, he did not laugh. Instead, he frowned over his cigarette. "So Chandra took a hand? . . . That bird cuts a pretty wide swathe. People come here to consult him about everything from the baby's first tooth to the outcome of the presidential election; financiers, successful writers and artists and actors; political bosses, social registerites. They say he used to be an actor. He's probably part psychologist, part mystic, part shrewd business man, and part stage manager. I've never heard of his being involved in anything really shady. . . . In fact, if Chandra told me to go home and look under my bed for Barnum's elephant, I'm not sure I wouldn't take a chance."

They had left the restaurant, and had strolled back to the Twentieth Century Pier. Suddenly Bill broke off. "Look—there's something wrong!"

On the Boardwalk just ahead a crowd was milling about, interspersed with figures in uniform. Afterwards, Christine remembered that everything that happened during the grim hours that followed had much the quality of an unreal but none the less terrifying dream.

Federal Control Of Oil Urged By Ickes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 18 (AP)—Secretary Ickes said today the present upset condition of the petroleum industry would make more necessary than ever enactment of legislation giving the federal government partial control of oil production.

Commenting on the oil production situation climaxed by the shutdown of wells in several states, the interior department chief said "we need state and federal cooperation, adding "the oil situation will make the Cole legislation more necessary."

Rep. Cole (D., Md.), proposed late last session a bill providing for cooperation of oil producing states with the federal government in fixing production quotas, and in actually would give the government a strong hand in controlling production.

Ickes said "the State of Texas, particularly," had objected to such legislation. He asked whether the petroleum conservation division of the interior department contemplated establishment of additional boards for enforcement of the Connally hot oil act. Ickes replied that "that is always likely to happen."

"We're making a very careful study of the situation in Louisiana," he said. The Connally act makes it a federal offense to ship in interstate commerce oil produced in violation of state laws.

Louisiana Rule To Cover Texas Share Of Rodessa Field

AUSTIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—Col. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the state railroad commission, said today Texas would order its portion of the tri-state Rodessa field shutdown on the same basis as the Louisiana closing order.

Because of its interstate nature, the field was exempted from Texas' 15-day shutdown. Thompson wired Gov. Earl K. Long of Louisiana asking when Louisiana's 12-day shutdown became effective.

Thompson also said: ". . . we want to work together. The oil states by their aggressive and prompt coordination of their police power in the interest of all the people are showing to the world that there is no necessity for federal control of oil. Failure to have acted would have been used as argument for extension of federal power. The challenge has been accepted by the sovereign producing states."

Editor of Advance

The problem of drinking and drunkenness, which the Bible emphasizes in so many of its pages, has not become less acute through the ages. In fact, it might be said that in modern times the problem is much more greatly aggravated by the fact that distilled liquors, with their greater power of harmfulness, have been added to the "wine" with which the Bible chiefly deals.

The opening verse of our lesson, "Awake, ye drunkards, and weep," surely might be addressed as a clarion call in our own time, for drunkenness—which at one time seemed to be greatly on the decline—has of late years shown a great increase. Nor is this increase in drunkenness only in depth. It seems to be an increase in extent and in the range of its victims.

A very real problem of our own day is unquestionably the great increase of drinking among women. If anyone should doubt this, he has only to follow with intelligent observation the news reports in our daily newspapers.

We are undoubtedly today under the influence of the reactions that seem to have come inevitably in history. Society becomes awakened in periods of extreme moral laxity. The spirit of reform and discipline becomes emphasized, and abuses are rectified with a drastic hand and conditions greatly improved. But the zeal of the reformers tends to go beyond the moral foundation and influence that they have been able to build and reaction tends to bring society back again into its looser ways.

The striking example of this is to be found in the history of Puritan England in the seventeenth century, and the extreme lapse and degradation of society in the Restoration period when the work of Cromwell and the Puritans was so largely overturned. A history like this illustrates in some measure what has been happening here in our country. But the period of Restoration immorality in England was succeeded by the Wesleyan revival, which was the most important movement in the eighteenth century and which—as the historian, Lecky, who was a rationalist not predisposed toward Methodism, declared—saved England.

There are signs here in America of a very decided swing back of the pendulum, and there can be little question that we shall see a strong revival, both in promoting stronger laws and social safeguards against the liquor evil.

From a general denunciation of drunkenness, we come in our lesson to a specific example of Belshazzar, a king who brought down his kingdom through his drunkenness and evil ways. The point of these stories that come out of the ancient world is that the laws of God and of human life have not changed. The judgments of the Almighty operate as inevitably today against evil and evildoers as they did in ancient times.

Mind To Be Subject Of Lesson-Sermon

"Mind" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, August 20.

The Golden Text is: "Who hath known the mind of the Lord? or who hath been his counselor . . . For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever" (Romans 11:34, 36).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Fear, O Israel: the Lord our God is one Lord: And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength" (Mark 12:29, 30).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If mind was first chronologically, it first potentially, and must be first eternally, then give to Mind the glory, honor, dominion, and power everlastingly due its holy name" (page 143).

Gasoline Prices Raised
AUSTIN, Aug. 18 (AP)—East Texas independent refiners posted higher wholesale dock prices on gasoline as the oil field shutdown apparently added new strength to their markets.

J. H. Bullard of M. M. Travis Refinery, oldest in the East Texas field, said his company raised prices one half of a cent per gallon to nine cents. Others in the oil belt were expected to follow.
