Mr. and Mrs. Bernis Camp have returned from Odessa where their five-year old granddaughter Kacia Keith, had major surgery Thursday at Women and Children's Hospital.

Mrs. Camp said Kacia is recuperating well and is expected to be hospitalized approximately nine days. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Woody (Becky) Keith.

Billy Balderas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Balderas, has signed as a recruit with South Plains College track coach Clint Ramsey. He was the District 1-AAA discus champ this past season. Billy went on to finish third in Region 1 with a toss of 153 feet, four and a half inches.

A GOOD, SOLID FIELD . . . Visitors from Kentucky, which included men from "all walks of life" from Winchester, Ky., looked at alfalfa fields in the area Thursday afternoon. They were impressed by the quality of the fields, some of which are producing after 15 years. They also asked many questions about the circle irrigation systems used in the fields, located east of Muleshoe.

Local, Area Teachers At State Conference

Check Seed Farm Alfalfa Production

Two Vocational Homemaking teachers from Muleshoe, Mrs. Ben Gramling and Mrs. Dorine Harbin, along with Homemaking teachers Mrs. Bill (Marcia) Morris of Lubbock and Joan Nix of Sudan, will participate in the state inservice conference for Vocational Homemaking teachers scheduled to be conducted in Dallas this week.

Keynote speaker for the conference will be Dr. William F. Pierce, deputy commissioner, Occupational and Adult Education, U.S. Office of Education, Washington. Other conference speakers will be Dr. Margaret Bubolz, Professor of Family and Child Science, College of Human Ecology, Michigan State University; Dr. Eva Schindler Rainman, Los Angeles, a nationally known management consultant; and the Hon. Wilhelmina Delco, member of the Texas House of Representatives.

Thirteen concurrent sessions on Wednesday will provide an opportunity for the teachers to learn new teachers techniques and for an in-depth study of areas of instruction relevant to today's lifestyles. The sessions will include such topics as Child Abuse, Perinatal Care, Community Involvement, Nutrition, Discipline and Creative Methods for Helping People Learn. According to Billie Chapman, executive director of the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas, the in-service training in these today's world topics keeps vocational homemaking teachers at the top of the list of the state's best informed educators.

Dorine Harbin To Be Honored For 30 Years

Mrs. Dorine Harbin of Muleshoe will be honored by the Vocational Homemaking Teachers Association of Texas on July 28 for her 30 years of service to the teaching profession. A long-time member of WHTAT, Mrs. Harbin is a teacher of Vocational Homemaking Education in the Muleshoe High School.

OSHA Farm Safety Deadline Extended

Farmers now have until October 25 to comply with certain safety standards under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA) that were to become effective June 7. The safety practices concern guarding tractor power-takeoffs (PTO), displaying safety signs and providing initial employee training for machinery operations.

Even though the deadline has been extended, farmers should continue with preparations to meet these safety standards," advised Dr. Gary Nelson, agriculture safety engineer for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Particular emphasis is on guarding the PTO drive line. The tractor shield on the rear PTO shaft must be kept in place, notes Nelson. However, the master shield may be removed when necessary to operate PTO driven equipment, provided the guards on such equipment cover the tractor PTO shafts.

Regarding safety training, a farmer must instruct every employee in the operation and servicing of all equipment with which that employee is involved," emphasizes the Texas A&M University System Engineer.

Among the safe operating practices in which the employee must be instructed are the following: --Keep all guards in place when the machine is in operation.

--Permit no riders on farm equipment other than persons required for instruction or assistance.

--Stop the engine, disconnect the power source and wait for all machine movement to stop before servicing, adjusting, cleaning or unclogging equipment, except when the machine must be running to be properly serviced.

--Make sure everyone is clear of machinery before starting the engine, engaging power or operating the machine.

Thursday afternoon, 74 Kentucky residents, in two chartered buses, arrived in Bailey County, for an afternoon visiting farm and business operations around Muleshoe.

On their 15th Annual Farm tour, all the Kentuckians are residents of Winchester, in Clark County, Ky. They flew into Lubbock Wednesday night and boarded the charter buses Thursday for a tour of Bailey County, Deaf Smith County, and a portion of Parmer County.

When they arrived in this county, their first stop was at Protein Processors, where they were greeted by Tommie Black, Executive Director of the Muleshoe Chamber of Commerce and Harmon Elliott, Chairman of the Bailey County Agricultural Commission, along with all members of the Blackwater Valley Soil Conservation Service from Muleshoe, local hosts for the tour.

Included in the group were farmers, bankers, a state representative, vo-ag teachers, the county sheriff and county attorney, and various businessmen. They said the annual tour is sponsored by the Soil Conservation Service of Clark County (Ky.) and three banks in the city of 16,000 people.

Spokesman for the group from Kentucky, said their area was predominantly tobacco, with a little corn. They indicated their interest in the diversification of crops grown in this area, and showed enthusiasm as they toured the farms.

First stop on the tour was to check fields of alfalfa where Lucky Spurlock, manager of Protein Processors explained that the fields had already been

Local Man Is Featured In Magazine

In the September, 1976 issue of The Frontier Times, published in Austin, is a story written by a Muleshoe resident. Stillman (Doc) Goucher's story on page 40 of the magazine is life in Oklahoma shortly after the turn of the century. Titled "The Cherokee Outlet, Antelope District No. 16" is his story reminiscing as a youth three miles west of Avarod, Okla.

In the story, Goucher told of the things boys did in the early part of the century, life on a farm using mule power, and life in a country school.

As he looked back through the pages of his personal history, Goucher concluded his story with the following paragraph.

"As I look back to the long ago on the homestead, we were rich. We had something money couldn't buy - love, happiness, and contentment. When dinner was ready, we'd worked hard and were hungry. The large family bantered and joked a lot. We never hurried at the table.

Hot biscuits and butter, milk or buttermilk, coffee or tea, new potatoes and fresh peas, peach cobbler, fresh from the orchard, and best of all, a snapper turtle we'd caught in old Chief Eagle-how can a man forget these things? How lucky to have grown up in Antelope District 16 of the Cherokee Outlet."

NEW EMPLOYEES . . . Two new faces have shown up at the Bailey County Law Enforcement Center. Seated is Lupe Agundiz, 18-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malaquias Agundiz, dispatcher. Standing is a new Deputy Sheriff, Chuck Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Smith and a 1973 graduate of Muleshoe High School.

National Farm Safety Emphasizes 'Education'

Although farmers make up only about four percent of the work force in the U.S., 28 percent of all accidents resulting in injuries in 1975 were caused by farm work related accidents. "This emphasizes the need for attention to farm and ranch safety, and National Farm Safety Week, July 25 - 31 is designed to do just that," points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service in Muleshoe.

These of this year's observance is "Educate for Safety" with the interest being that more extensive education will help cut down on the number of deaths and injuries caused by carelessness on farms and ranches.

Some 1,375 people were killed in farm related accidents last year and more than 140,000 were injured notes Tanksley. The cost of farm accidents in the U.S. is estimated to be around $3 billion a year.

A recent survey by the National Safety Council showed some 204,000 injuries to farm workers, residents and visitors in 15 predominantly agricultural states over a one-year period.

Almost half of the injuries occurred in farm buildings, fields and lanes, while a fourth took place in houses and yard areas.

Almost two-thirds of all the accidents resulting in injuries were work-related. Twenty-two percent of the injuries involved farm machinery, 13 percent involved animals, eight percent involved hand tools and five percent involved power tools.

"If more people become educated to the dangers involved in working with farm machinery and the precautions that should be taken, the farm and ranch can be a safer workplace," contends Tanksley.

He added, "We should all ask ourselves, 'What's in it for me?', and get an answer," he emphasized. "National Farm Safety Week is designed to affect the thinking and work habits of those involved in agriculture."

Tanksley suggests that farmers and ranchers look at the observance in a positive sense with the realization that accidents can happen to anyone and that something can be done to reduce their occurrence.

"Nothing in life is completely safe or unsafe; there are only 'levels of risk'. Accidents are more likely to occur under high risk than low risk conditions," noted the county agent. Regarding the level of risk involved is where the individual comes in, he added.

"Every individual has some degree of control over the kinds of risk to which he exposes himself," points out the county agent. "By practicing 'risk control' an individual will tend to expose himself to only those circumstances that involve 'reasonable risk.'"

Reasonable risks are taken to realize a benefit greater than the potential loss associated with the risk, explains Tanksley. He added that a reasonable risk is usually associated with activities where there is not only probability of injury or property damage but the severity of

Stop Signs Are Changed On Avenue F

If you are one of the unfortunate who went sailing through a stop sign during the past several days on West Second or West Third Streets and Avenue F, you need not feel alone.

Earlier this week, on a request by the Muleshoe Fire Marshal to open a fire lane to the Muleshoe High School and Muleshoe Junior High School, some switching of stop signs took place.

West Third Street, which for years was an open street between Avenue D and Avenue G, now has north-south stop signs at Avenue F. Also, Avenue F has north-south stops now on West Second Street.

It was explained that the changes made in the stop signs were due to closing Avenue G where the new hospital construction is underway.

Next tour was at Carl Bamert's grass seed farm where Bamert explained the grass seed operation and took the group through his processing area and barns before circling fields of grass. Bamert told the group of the experiments with grass seed, and told how he was presently experimenting with hybrid seed.

Following a tour of the seed farm, the group drove through on FM1760 into the West Camp community, and from there to Farwell and Clovis to spend the night. Friday morning, they were due in Hereford to visit various vegetable processing plants, including the sugar beet processing plant.

Education is the key Most Farm and Ranch Accidents Can Be Prevented

AUSTIN — One hundred eighty-three deaths and thousands of injuries occurred on Texas farms and ranches during 1975 as a result of farm accidents. Many people were crushed when their tractors overturned; others were caught in, or run over by, machinery; and, still more were victims of shocks, falls and fires.

"Most of these accidents could have been prevented, however," states Joe Smetana, vice president for the Farm and Ranch Section of the Texas Safety Association. "Better training in the use of machinery, protective guards shielding dangerous moving parts, and more safety consciousness on the part of all rural workers can go a long way toward stopping these senseless deaths and injuries."

Because of the magnitude of the problem — over half a million agricultural deaths and injuries occurred last year nationwide — President Gerald Ford has declared July 25-31, National Farm Safety Week.

A special observance of this week in Texas also has been proclaimed by Governor Dolph Briscoe and an intensive educational campaign will be carried out during that time by the Texas Safety Association, Texas Farm Bureau, State Agricultural Extension Service, Future Farmers and Future Homemakers, and the Young Farmers of Texas.

The theme for Farm Safety Week is "Educate for Safety." "The families and co-workers of those who died in farm accidents learned a painful, but effective, lesson through their experience," said Smetana. "But we feel education based on the experiences and solutions of others can be an equally effective, yet faster and less costly, process."

Safety education is everyone's responsibility. Parents should teach their children what is safe and unsafe and set good examples. Teachers should emphasize safety regularly in their vocational/agricultural courses. Com-possible injury or damage is also low should an accident occur.

"Practicing 'risk control' involved a continual evaluation of the risks around us, and then choosing to avoid those hazards associated with a high risk -- playing with a high damage potential and a high probability of occurrence. By playing the odds in our favor, we will all gain increased freedom from accidents," contends Tanksley.

Teachers...

community leaders should get information to farm people through literature and community services. And farmers and ranchers should train their workers — particularly in the handling of new equipment.

While safety cannot be legislated, the federal government has taken steps to help assure that farms and ranches are safe and healthful places to work by including them under the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA). The law outlines certain minimum standards which must be met by every farm employer.

Letters To The Editor

(Editor's note: The following letter was brought to the Journal office by Charles Green, Pentecostal minister, at the request of Mr. Houlette, a former Muleshoe minister. Now of Clovis, Mr. Houlette originally wrote the letter for the Clovis News-Journal. Dear Editor: Much has been written and said about the morals or lack of morals in this generation. Many from different groups and walks of life are sharing their views on these things in the printed column. As a retired minister, I have wondered why the ministry has not been more bold in coming out in print and expressing their views on the why of our moral decline. Having passed my four score years and many of them in ministry, it has given me an opportunity to observe the morals of more than one generation. In my younger years practically every preacher of all denominations really let the hammer down on dishonesty, immorality and all kindred sins. People were made aware of what sin was and the result of sinning. The populace as a whole accepted this as the real word of God and then did something about it. Lots of confession tears were left on those old altars. Honesty and morality were respected by the majority. The depression days of the 1930's brought people closer to God than at any other time. Prosperity reigned in the 1940's but saw a moral decline. In their wealth, many people began to live for self, leaving their true virtues out of their lives. A Readers Digest poll at that time shows a decline in the teachings of the divineness of sacred things. They were given the freedom of thought rather than what the word of God says and its authority. When a thought of doubt is in the seminaries it soon shows out in the pulpit. Many established facts were questioned instead of being established. Honest people who wanted something for food for their soul went home hungry for soul food. Churches became a social center. Immorality became a way of life instead of a sin. Having watched this decline for many years, the question arises as to who is the cause of all this decline. Can we blame our legislators or educators or our politicians? The police are unable to handle or put crime down. Who is really responsible? As a minister and pastor for many years and one who has given this careful, prayerful consideration I think that I have a right to say what I am going to say. As goes the ministry so goes the people or nation. Israel is a good example. When her ministry was following God as they should, there was no nation that could defeat her.

The ministry has the greatest power and authority than any other single group. When the ministry is strong against sin the country in general will follow them. The world says that sin is a reproach to any people. Remove the reproach and the answer is found. When the ministry preaches without fear or favor that sin of whatever kind will damn their souls, the people in general will respond. The ministry is looked to as the spiritual leaders which they should be. When they condone sin it will be accepted; it will not be a crime. When the ministry fails to lead then there is a lack of real leadership. So many groups have tried reforms of so many kinds but have failed. It takes what God has to root out the desire for sin. The ministry can save America, if everyone will stand out against the thing that has caused the decline. God has given the tools to do it with. Fellow ministers, as you go to your pulpits, pray until you have a message from the word of God that will free the souls of men from sin. E.E. Houlette Clovis, N.M.

Saving Tractor Fuel Helps Farm Expense

Farming is expensive enough without adding unnecessary costs to the occupation. And wasting tractor fuel is an unnecessary cost. Spencer Tanksley, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, suggests a few ways to cut down on tractor fuel consumption. "A good rule to follow is to have the tractor engine tuned and serviced regularly. Make any repairs as soon as possible after a breakdown occurs. Keep plow bottoms and cultivators in good operating condition, edged and properly aligned." Keeping tractor tires at the proper inflation level also improves fuel efficiency, adds the county agent.

When selecting a cultivator, look for one that is suited to the conditions in your fields and requires the least power. A rotary hoe uses less power than most. "Cultivate fields only when soil moisture is favorable and when you can see positive benefits of the operation," Tanksley emphasizes. "Don't cultivate any deeper than is necessary." Minimizing the idling time of the tractor engine is another fuel saving practice. Use the transmission and engine speeds that match each particular plowing situation, and when possible, shift into a higher gear, as this cuts down on fuel use, advises the county agent.

'76 Cotton Crop Expected To Surpass $1 Billion

Cotton farmers in Texas could produce a billion dollar crop this year if market conditions continue strong and good harvest weather prevails. "A billion dollar cotton crop is very likely," points out Charles Baker, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "This would make the crop second only to that produced in 1973 which tipped the scales at $1.2 billion." The entire cotton situation has blossomed this year due to a strong domestic as well as foreign demand, explains the Texas A&M University specialist.

"When plowing, try to adjust the plow for the minimum amount of draft. In other words, adjust it so it stays level from side to side and front to back and is in line with the tractor direction." To save fuel when cultivating or plowing, plan your plowing pattern to cut down on turning. To reduce wheel slippage, add weight for heavy drawbar jobs and remove weight for lighter jobs, suggests Tanksley. Optimum efficiency is obtained when the tractor's weight and tire size are correctly matched to the tractor's power and the field operating conditions.

RECORD DEBT LIMIT
The House has passed a record $627 billion debt limit bill after adopting an amendment that would make the Treasury pay investors at least a 4 per cent interest on savings bonds. Three birth control pills are halted. Nader endorses bill for energy conservation.

"Cotton prices are reaching new heights," notes Baker, "and it's difficult to say just where they will stop. Cotton already reached the pinnacle of 88 cents per pound for October futures on July 1. This translates roughly to 83 cents per pound on the Houston spot market and 78 cents to South Texas farmers for grade 41, staple 34." This year's Texas cotton acreage is up some from last year but down sharply from the 1973 crop. Baker cites U.S. Department of Agricultural figures in noting that planted acres in Texas on June 30 totaled 4.9 million. Texas cotton farmers planted 4.3 million acres last year while in 1973 the cotton acreage totaled 5.4 million. In addition to the rising price for lint cotton, farmers are also hoping to receive a better price for cottonseed this year. Baker feels that cottonseed prices for 1976 will be around the $120 per ton level after a rather dismal market last year. "All in all, the market picture looks good for cotton farmers," notes Baker. "However, they must stay attuned to changing conditions to reap the highest profits from both lint and seed as the season progresses." NADER & CONSERVATION Consumer advocate Ralph Nader has endorsed a bill to provide new government incentives for energy conservation.

WALLS conform to one of three options: #ONE - 6" walls with R-19* insulation, #TWO - tongue and grooved styrofoam sheathing, 4" walls and R-11* insulation, or #THREE - R-15* minimum insulation. Walls must include a vapor barrier of 6 mil. polyethylene or foil-backed sheetrock. Sill insulation or sill caulking (under bottom plate) is also required.

South Plains 4-Hers Earn Honors

LUBBOCK -- Under the theme, "Flight Into Fashion" at the new Lubbock Regional Airport, four young ladies showed off their own creations and earned themselves a trip to the State 4-H Dress Revue in San Antonio by winning top honors in the District 2 4-H Dress Revue Thursday (July 15).

The winners are Annette Weil of Hale County; Pearl Perez, Swisher County; Prynness Parkman, Bailey County; and Cindy Mitchell, Lubbock County.

Named as alternates are Sheree Jerden of Lynn County, first alternate; and Linda Sue Gholke of Parmer County, second alternate. These two girls will fill in at San Antonio, September 17-18, in case any of the others can't compete in the finals during the State 4-H Dress Revue.

All 17 contestants, who represented a 20-county area of the South Plains, made and modeled their own outfits.

Special honors went to Miss

Prynness Parkman for showing the best outfit constructed of fabric of cotton or cotton blend. Also awarded during the show was a $500 Aubrey W. Russell Scholarship. Agnes Acker of Castro County was presented the award by Mrs. Lucille Witten, district 2 director of the Texas Home Demonstration Association, and Mrs. Sheila Fillingim, treasurer of the scholarship fund. The scholarship is offered each year based on best record book and other criteria to a 4-H girl majoring in home economics at Texas Tech.

In addition to senior level competition, 17 juniors vied for honors. They'll not compete beyond the district level.

There are no 1-2-3 placings in the annual dress revue. Contestants are judged on their sewing and construction skills, overall appearance, modeling abilities, and their 4-H record books.

A special tour of the new regional airport facilities and a dinner for contestants, parents, Extension agents and special guests kicked off the awards phase of the event. Presenting the awards was Edward Brehnan, general manager of the Plains Cooperative Oil Mill which sponsored the dinner.

Steve Lee, 4-Her from Lubbock County, was master of ceremonies. Other 4-Hers on the program were Charmi Wood of Lynn County, and Darlene Gunn of Garza County.

Wynon Mayes, county Extension agent (home economics) in Hale County, served as chairman of the event, with Catherine B. Crawford, district Extension agent (home economics), serving as coordinator.

An Idea
"How did you lose your job at the dress shop my dear?"
"Just because of something I said. After I had tried twenty dresses on a woman, she said, 'I think I'd look nicer in something flowing,' so I asked her why she didn't go jump in the river."

You can BANK on It!

Bill Loyd, President Muleshoe State Bank
Poet Robert Lee Frost said it best:

Never ask of money spent Where the spender thinks it went. Nobody was ever meant To remember or invent What he did with every cent.

True, and that is a good reason for having a savings account. Without a regular weekly or monthly savings plan, money just seems to disappear. There is personal security in knowing some of what you earn has been put away, accumulating interest, for the future.

The amount saved regularly is unimportant; the important thing is to save something, often, starting now. At least you'll know where some of it went . . . right?

HOW'S YOUR FARM SAFETY? RATING

If It Isn't Way Up There... Watch Out!

Check out the machinery. Is it in good repair? Check out the electrical equipment and wiring. Is it safe and sound? Do you need any additional wiring for new equipment? Then, when you're sure everything is in tip-top shape you can relax. Also. A safe farm is a profitable one.

The great state of California is doing it again -- beating the Federal government to the punch when it comes to the best interests of the consumer. First it was automobile pollution. With a no-nonsense approach, some horrendous fines and the threat of a ban on the sale of certain makes of cars in California, the state has led the way in forcing higher clean air standards for the car manufacturers. Now its home appliances which California is insisting must use less energy.

Refrigerators, freezers and air-conditioners are the three heavy electricity users. The new California regulations would outlaw 75 percent of the freezers and refrigerators sold in the state and 90 percent of the air conditioners. The only brand which qualifies at this time is the Philco Cold Guard line.

What can California accomplish with the tough new regulations? The state believes that within ten years enough energy will be saved to eliminate the need for three nuclear power plants. The regulations call for a 30 percent reduction in energy usage for refrigerators, freezers, and air-conditioners over the next 36 months. The Association of Home Appliance Manufacturers, representing makers of 90 percent of the home appliances sold, tried to block the new regulations by claiming that Federal regulations were forthcoming and the California regulations would conflict. The court wouldn't buy any of that. California was smart enough to work along with the Federal Energy Administration to make sure its program didn't vary too much from what the FEA will require.

The appliance industry has little choice but to comply with the California regulations. It is the leading state for appliance sales with the three appliances selling over $200 million a year. The cost of meeting the standards will be tremendous. Philco took five years to design the new line of low energy using appliances at an estimated cost of $10 million. The Philco lines cost about three percent more than competing appliances but uses 40 percent less electricity and in some cases 55 percent less.

'76 Wheat Prospects Down As Harvest Begins in Texas

AUSTIN—The 1976 wheat harvest in Texas and the U.S. got underway recently with the first load being harvested in Frio County in South Texas. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White has announced.

The size of the Texas wheat crop as well as profit prospects are down, White reported.

A 70.2 million bushel crop is forecast for the state this year, half the size of last year's record crop.

A drought earlier in the season ruined dryland wheat fields in the Panhandle and other parts of the state, and recent rains throughout the wheat producing areas of the state came too late to help the winter crop.

Wheat prices at the producer level are in the $3.50 per bushel range, and some farm economists are looking for a price around $3.25 during the harvest season.

The lack of exports and good wheat crop conditions throughout the world are given as reasons for the softening wheat prices.

Stocks of wheat are up, both in Texas and the nation. State wheat stocks of 51.4 million bushels are almost double what they were a year ago at this time.

Wheat stocks throughout the nation are 42 percent higher than a year ago and 71 percent higher than two years ago.

Q -- I have been attending school under the GI Bill. Will the VA send me a W-2 form for my income tax return?

A -- No. VA benefit payments are nontaxable.

Q -- Are blinded or otherwise severely disabled veterans of World War II eligible for vocational rehabilitation training if they are unemployed and unskilled?

A -- The vocational rehabilitation training period for World War II veterans terminated June 30, 1975.

Q -- Is a widow of a veteran entitled to a GI home loan if her spouse did not use that benefit?

A -- Only unmarried spouses of veterans who died while on active duty, died of service-connected disabilities, disease or injury, or spouses of service personnel listed as Missing In Action are entitled to home loan benefits.

Q -- Are peacetime veterans entitled to hospitalization in a VA facility?

A -- The Veterans Health Care Expansion Act of 1973 equalized medical benefits for peacetime and wartime veterans separated under honorable conditions.

Q -- I was just released from active military service and plan to study under the GI Bill. How long do I have to complete my training?

A -- You have 10 years after separation from active duty.

Q -- I am rated 40 percent for service-connected compensation. Am I eligible for an additional amount for dependents?

A -- No. Additional allowances for dependents are limited to veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 50 percent or more.

Q -- I have been told that when a couple applies for a GI home loan, both salaries of the couple will be taken into consideration. Is this correct?

A -- Yes. The VA considers all income of the veteran and spouse. Only income not figured into the loan qualification is that considered to be temporary.

This practice makes it easier for lower income couples to get a VA loan.

Q -- I am a World War II veteran with five-year level premium term insurance in the amount of $10,000. Must I convert the whole amount when I decide on a permanent plan?

A -- You may convert all or any part of the face value in multiples of $500, but not less than $1,000 to one or more permanent plans.

Q -- I received nonservice-connected disability pension. I recently received an inheritance from a deceased relative. Will this affect my VA pension this year?

A -- The inheritance will not affect your pension for the year in which it was received. However, any interest, dividends, etc. which you may draw in years to come as a result of the inheritance will count as income and must be included on your annual income questionnaire requested by the VA.

Q -- I was separated from active duty last year and lost by DD Form 214. Where can I get another copy?

A -- The VA can provide you with a form requesting a duplicate from the National Personnel Records Center, Military Personnel Records, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63132.

Veterans Q & A

Editor's note: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q -- Do World War I and World War II veterans automatically qualify for a VA pension at age 65?

A -- The total and permanent disability requirement is satisfied when the veteran reaches age 65. However, all other requirements must be met. These include honorable wartime service with income and net worth required limitations.

Q -- Is it possible for a veteran to get a GI home loan guarantee more than once?

A -- A veteran may qualify for restoration of his loan guarantee eligibility if the Veterans Administration has been relieved of liability on any previous loan, and providing that the veteran meets all other requirements for substitution of entitlement.

Q -- What is the Veterans Administration Silver Recovery Program?

A -- A cost reduction program to reclaim silver contained in x-ray solutions and film.

Q -- Is moving from a B.A. Program to a M.A. program considered a change of program under the GI Bill?

A -- No. Generally, it is considered normal progression.

Q -- I have been attending school under the GI Bill. Will the VA send me a W-2 form for my income tax return?

Annual Duck Stamp Wildlife Art Open

The annual "Duck Stamp" contest for wildlife art to adorn next year's Migratory Bird Hunting and Conservation Stamp was opened July 15, 1976.

Final regulations governing the administration of the contest were published in the Federal Register on June 19, 1976. Artists interested in submitting an entry should write to the Director, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, ATTN: Audio Visual Office, Washington, D.C. 20240 for copies of the contest rules and an entry form.

Entries will be accepted from now until no later than midnight, October 15, 1976. Only one entry per person will be accepted.

The Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp was authorized and required by the Migratory Bird Hunting Stamp Act of 1934. The stamp's name was changed last year to include the word, Conservation. Popularly known as the "Duck Stamps", they are sold through post offices and must be carried by every migratory waterfowl hunter over 16 years of age. All of the stamp revenues, beyond printing and handling costs, are used solely for the acquisition of additional habitat for ducks and geese.

Prior to 1949, wildlife artists were commissioned to provide the design for the annual stamp. Since that time, the design has been chosen by a contest open to all artists who are residents or citizens of the United States. The prestige of winning the contest has enhanced the reputations of established artists and has elevated otherwise unknown artists to public acclaim.

The annual contest held by the Service is the only art contest regularly sponsored by the Federal Government. The colorful stamps that are selected through the contest constitute the longest running, annually issued series of stamps in revenue or postage stamp history.

Carter's Peak

There are political experts who feel Jimmy Carter's popularity has peaked; if they are correct, the election in November between Carter and the Republican candidate will be quite close.

There are, of course, twelve million more professed Democrats than Republicans. With that tremendous numerical advantage, Carter remains the favorite.

But there's a question whether so much exposure at the New York convention helped or hurt him. There much was made of his troubles (real or imagined) with Catholic voters. Much talk was heard of his agreement to sign a congressional bill nullifying right-to-work laws.

Much was heard from commentators about his "born-again" Baptist experience, about the same profession from his wife—and from his mother. Would he permit wine and drinks in the White House if President? The Carters haven't decided.

Those who think Carter was over-exposed in New York felt having a four-year-old granddaughter on his knee at eleven the night he was nominated, instead of in bed where she should have been, was overdoing the image bit.

Then there are those who are appalled at the total political inclination of the Carter family. His wife—they have an eight-year-old daughter—boasted to newsmen that she had been away from home on the road since April except for a night or two each week. She didn't see her husband much during that period.

What kind of married life is that? Obviously, eight-year-old Amy didn't get much parental care. Mrs. Carter says she did the same thing when her husband was running for Governor. In short, is such total political ambition and domination admirable? There are many who see so much ambition and political desire as excessive.

On the Sunday before the New York convention Carter did a masterful job on a special one-hour "Meet The Press" program. But the convention following that program was dull. Millions at its end still weren't sure if the Democratic nominee's appeal had not peaked. And the unity—was it real?

The answer will not be known until Republicans meet at Kansas City. The polls following that convention should be interesting. If Carter retains a fourteen per cent margin over his opponent, after Kansas City, that will be the answer.

FBI MAN FIRED

FBI Director Clarence Kelley has fired the bureau's No. 2 man, a 40-year veteran eligible for retirement. Kelley said he "asked for and received the resignation" of Associate Director Nicholas P. Callahan.

OIL FIRMS & TAXES

The Internal Revenue Service has concluded oil companies must offer proof that payments to foreign governments are really taxes before they can claim credit for those payments on their U.S. tax accounts.

How Much Should Voters Be Led To Expect From Candidates?

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Democratic convention in New York raised a basic question in the minds of veteran political reporters. How much should the average American be led to expect by presidential candidates?

Granted, most Americans were disappointed by Watergate scandals and want strong moral leadership in the White House. But after that, can they expect an end to excessive bureaucracy, lower defense expenditures and better defense, jobs for everyone, health care for everyone, world leadership, an end to the threat of nuclear war, better times, a better life, a more efficient government back in the hands of the people and providing more services too?

That's a tall order. Yet Democrats on the podium at New York promised voters all these things and much more. And millions of have-nots believe those promises, watched stary-eyed or in tears as the goodies were rattled off one by one.

How much, however, can one man accomplish in the White House? President Ford found that a spineless Congress had enacted so many automatic pay increase and job security laws he actually had limited powers to whittle down the bureaucracy.

A Democrat with sincere intentions and an obvious mandate from the people, and a solid majority in both houses of Congress, could do more. But will the bloated bureaucracy be reduced, will the politicians on

WASHINGTON BUREAU WASHINGTON NOTES
NEWS REPORT FROM WASHINGTON

Carter's Speechmaking—Mondale's Advantage—Which Road? High Or Low?

WASHINGTON, D.C. — As political experts prepare for the Republican convention, the pros and pollsters are still assessing the "Carter" convention in New York.

The last night of that show was to be Carter's triumph. All top Democrats praised him after his acceptance speech—calling it a great speech. Mondale said it was a "hell of a speech." Hubert Humphrey called it "magnificent." Others joined the chorus.

It was what Carter wanted to hear. But his delivery was not good. His sentences were broken in the middle with pauses at the wrong places. His effort to be forceful, with the low key approach and by dropping his voice at the end of sentences, was amateurish.

One NBC newsman—more candid than most—said afterward the speech didn't soar and neither did the words. Others were more diplomatic—but after Senator Walter Mondale's forceful speech, the Carter acceptance speech was definitely second-best.

A question raised too by Capitol Hill change their stripes?

What is really meant when we say we will turn the government back over to the people? Congress is a directly representative of the people and has passed the laws and appropriated the money to build the present bureaucracy and keep it functioning.

A President with a November mandate, can "lean" on members and persuade others. But can he get through both houses reforms Mondale's forceful speech, and his denunciation of President Ford for pardoning former President Nixon (an approach Carter doesn't like) is whether Carter will really have him under control.

Mondale, handsome, an able speaker and popular, has better diction, delivery and appearance than Carter. He is a pure liberal and liberals often equate liberalism with moralism. Will he accept any restraint imposed on him?

Carter plans to run a high-road campaign against Ford, and pardon-smear attacks could alienate millions, who felt a pardon the best of no good solutions to end the Watergate ordeal. Also, the Democrats have had their own scandals.

What about spicy revelations about John Kennedy's behavior in the White House, about Lyndon Johnson's controversial friend—both having come to light only recently? What about the Democratic-controlled congress and scandals involving key Democrats there? A low-road effort, in other words, has its dangers.

eliminating this or that pet agency (headed by this or that personal friend) in the face of the potent opposition of a huge federal bureaucratic army?

President Nixon began a major effort to reduce this bureaucracy and found the going almost impossible. Other Presidents have tried it. One hopes a future President will succeed. But this and other great expectations are much to hope for from the election of any man.

FORD & ECONOMY

The Ford administration has reported that the economy has improved faster than originally anticipated, creating about 379,000 more jobs than expected this year while holding down inflation.

FORD CALLS CARTER

President Ford personally congratulated Jimmy Carter on winning the Democratic presidential nomination and expressed the hope that the fall campaign could be kept "at a high level."

ON BUSINESS

The Commerce Department reports a $1.9 billion increase in business inventories during May was the largest jump in 17 months, but was not enough to spur the economic recovery.

TAX CUT EXTENDED

The Senate voted to extend for at least 18 months a $15-billion-a-year package of individual tax cuts.

TROOPS & EUROPE

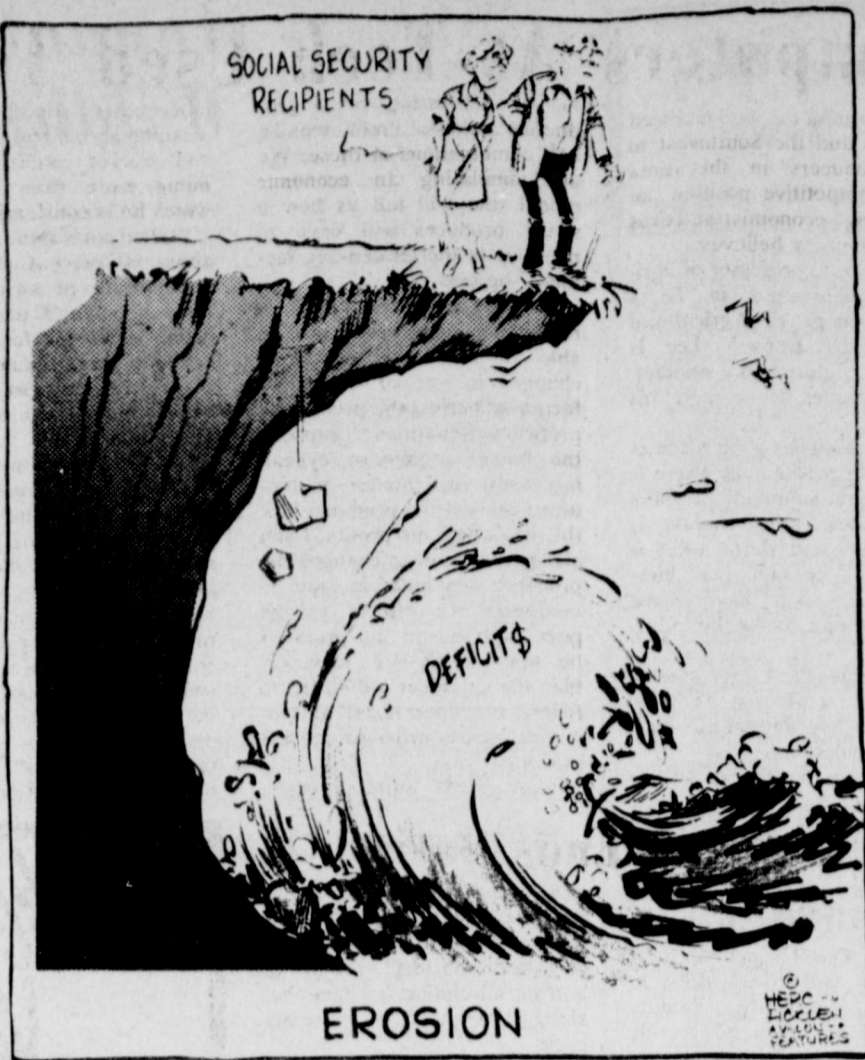

West German Chancellor Helmut Schmidt, after a White House meeting with President Ford, told reporters that U.S. troops must remain in Western Europe to avoid "catastrophic" global consequences.

FORD AND JACKSON
Ford won the Republican presidential primary election over Ronald Reagan and Senator Henry M. Jackson won the Democratic vote in the Massachusetts primary.

Computers At Tech Used To Stabilize Swine Profits

Swine profits can be stabilized in Texas and the Southwest to give producers in this area better competitive position an agricultural economist at Texas Tech University believes.

An associate professor of agricultural economics in Texas Tech's college of Agricultural sciences, Dr. Hong Y. Lee, is using computers and econometric techniques to support his claim.

"This region has good resources for hog production. There is an adequate supply of sorghum and soybean, the climate is well-suited and the market is available," he said. Lee, however, will soon have some recommendations for the industry.

The Texas Tech professor is working on a two year, $28,000 project to determine these exact recommendations.

"There are more than 40 key factors influencing swine production and over a million and a half combinations of these. We are simulating an economic model that will tell us how a swine producer will have to manipulate the influencing factors," he said.

Once the economic model is ready, Lee believes he will be able to predict exactly how changes in one or more key factors will affect the producer's profit-loss situations. "Suppose the price of sorghum or soybean increases. In a matter of minutes I can tell the producer how this will affect his profits. I can also prescribe what changes the producer may make in order to minimize the effects of the price increase on his profits," he said. He insists, however, that the producer will have to follow his operational recommendations in order to use the model.

Ration costs, building costs, labor costs, conception rates, weaning age, farrowing interval and market conditions are among more than 40 factors which he is considering.

"Ration costs alone account for about 60 percent of the total expenditure in swine production, and about 90 percent of the ration costs go for milo and soybean. So any change in these two ingredients' costs can easily offset the producer's profits," Lee commented.

Hog production in Texas and the Southwest has gone through profit and loss cycles during the last five years due to several factors. "Because of this fluctuation in profit-loss situation, banks and other financial institutions in this part of the country are reluctant to finance swine production operations. In the Corn Belt, where hog production is more prominent, banks are aware of the fluctuations in the profits and still consider it a safe investment. The Corn Belt covers Kansas, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska and Ohio, and accounted for 65 percent of the nation's hog production in 1975. Texas' share was a little over one percent," Lee said. He thinks that banks can use the economic model to evaluate loans to the swine industry.

Ronald Willis, a master's candidate in agricultural economics, is working with Dr. Lee. Bill Boren, a doctoral student in Animal Science, is cooperating with the project, as are Drs. Don Orr, Leland Tribble and Max Lennon of the animal science department.

Dr. Lee's state-supported study was initiated in September 1975 and is expected to be completed by the end of next year.

BILL WHITWORTH

"TOTAL WORKING PARTNER" 420 Santa Fe - Borger, Texas 79007

Can you imagine a follower of God standing before the great world leader demanding the release of his slaves? Moses did.

Can you imagine a consecrated believer challenging the armies of the enemies of God's people? David did.

Can you imagine a Christian going out to greet the mob who murdered his best friend, telling them they should be sorry for what they had done? Peter did.

Often Christians get the idea that followers of Christ should be quiet and timid. According to examples I find in the Bible, few committed believers were either.

I've wondered what Moses would have accomplished had he timidly and quietly asked God to soften Pharaoh's heart instead of obeying God and going to speak to Pharaoh himself.

Or what would have happened to Goliath if David, instead of challenging the giant himself, had only prayed that God would send a might warrior to kill Goliath.

Of if 3,000 souls would have been saved on the Day of Pentecost if Peter had ignored the crowd assembled outside the Upper Room and slipped quietly away to his home to enjoy his new experience.

Saints of Bible times showed by their obedience to God that there are times when God wants action as well as prayer.

James described the successful pattern for God's work in chapter 2 of his epistle when he spoke of faith and work. He said when we are capable of helping bring about the answer to our needs by obeying God, we'd better do it.

Many churches would be building larger buildings and winning their communities to Christ if faith were all that is necessary. If a congregation could purchase a plot of ground, have a season of prayer and fasting, then one morning wake up and discover a beautiful sanctuary had miraculously appeared on the spot, they'd vote to purchase the ground today. In only a few weeks their faith would fill the pews.

But even though God will provide miracles of finance, other provisions, and revival, He still wants our work-some-times aggressive work!

I remember one pastor who built one of the largest Pentecostal churches in America. He was aggressive with everyone. When he'd order lumber, he'd ask the salesman whether or not he was a Christian and invite him to church. When he had a

The signal light is man's guide to safer travel. However, they protect only as they are obeyed.

The Bible is God's Signal Light and guide for man's path through life.

Through study of God's word, we learn His will for our life, and He will lead in paths of righteousness.

men's meeting, he invited the city dignitaries.

When he filled one building, he wasn't satisfied. He started making plans to build a larger one.

This pastor spent a considerable amount of time in prayer, but he didn't depend on prayer alone.

Jesus taught aggressive action when He said, "Go out into the highways and hedges and compel them to come in" (Luke 14:23).

According to The Cross and the Switchblade, it wasn't easy when Dave Wilkerson made his aggressive moves into Satan's territory. At times his actions seemed absurd and turned out to be dangerous. But the effects of his response to God's call are still being felt worldwide through the ministry of Teen Challenge.

Satan has put much of Christianity in a corner where Christians spend their time on defense. It is time we made plans for aggressive spiritual maneuvers into Satan's territory.

Let's win the children in our neighborhoods. Let's win the teenagers in our town. Let's get the middle-aged moving back to God. Let's go after the elderly who are living on the edge of eternity.

We'll use the armor of God described in Ephesians 6:11-19. But we can't wait for the battle to come to us. We must move aggressively into Satan's territory.

With a shout of victory we can march to battle, for we can do all things through Christ (Philippians 4:13).

RESULTS THAT COUNT

Don Hicks, Hereford, Texas, reports that he increased his 1972 wheat crop yield by 31.5 bu. per acre with MEDINA.

A four year test on cotton by Dr. E.D. Cook at Texas A&M Blackland Experiment Station, Temple, Texas, shows an average increase of 116 lbs. of lint cotton per acre per year with MEDINA.

Gordon Taylor, Sunray, Texas, reports that he harvested as much as 2,000 pounds more grain sorghum per acre when he used MEDINA.

Jess Rink, Bristol, Colorado, said, "MEDINA increased my corn crop yield by 15 percent. It also loosened my soil so water penetrated more than five feet where MEDINA was used. On the untreated soil, the water penetrated only 15 inches."

Hudson Land and Cattle Co., in Arizona, reports on their alfalfa yields in 1974. They report five cuttings from the no MEDINA area - nine cuttings from the MEDINA area. MEDINA boosted hay yields well over two tons per acre over no MEDINA. (Copy of full seasons records available on request.)

Dr. T.A. Alhashimi of Stephen F. Austin State University, Nacogdoches, Texas, reports that MEDINA increased the yield of 10 different vegetables in 1975 test by an average of 75.8 percent - cucumbers - 104 percent, squash - 95 percent, okra - 91 percent, tomatoes - 55 percent, Bell peppers - 47 percent and beans - 52 percent.

James Hightower, Sadler, Texas, a peanut grower, reports that MEDINA returned him $10.00 for each $1.00 spent for MEDINA.

The only way you will know how much good MEDINA can do for you is to try it on a part of your farm and measure the difference MEDINA makes in your fields.

Taxes Taxes, Utilities Problems Posed For Legislature

A statewide general farm organization has appealed to the Governor to call a special session of the legislature "to resolve the serious dual problems of high utility rates and unfair ad valorem taxes." The Executive Board of Texas Farmers Union, which met in Waco on July 16, unanimously adopted a motion which calls on Governor Briscoe to call a special session of the legislature immediately.

The letter to the Governor points out that escalating costs of natural gas and the resulting higher utility rates have imposed a serious burden on farmers and ranchers, particularly those in West Texas who must irrigate. The resolution further pointed out that the present system of supporting public schools exclusively with ad valorem taxes is imposing an unfair burden on farm and ranch owners.

The Texas Farmers Union President Jay Naman of Waco, commenting on the resolution said, "We are sympathetic with the Governor's reluctance to call a special session of the legislature because of the cost involved. However, the cost to utility users and tax payers across the state which is a result of our energy policy and ad valorem taxation policy, will cost the citizens of this state many, many times more than a special session of the legislature. These problems are so serious that they cannot wait to be dealt with during the regular session in January."

A Farmers Union task force to study alternatives to property taxes for the support of public schools has been working in the last six months and will be prepared to make recommendations to a special session of the legislature.
