'All Out' Vote Sought On City Bond Issue Friday

Water Wells To Be Drilled At New Air School

There'll be no "too little too late" on the city bond election Friday if those who attended the public forum meeting last night in the county court room, and all other Pampanos, take full appreciation of the city's promise to Uncle Sam.

Despite the fact that no opposition has been voiced to the proposal for the issuance of $15,000 worth of bonds to drill three water wells at the site of the Pampa advanced twin-engine flying school, nothing less than a record-breaking "yes" vote will be satisfactory.

"There are many persons in the city," said Dan E. Williams, member of a special chamber of commerce committee, who presided at the forum meeting last night, "who have boys in the service, and they certainly want to do their share. That's the patriotic motive. Then, too, another way of looking at it is that every person who is a property owner will benefit from the location of the flying school here.

"The main idea is that we want to get out as large a vote as possible in order to show these army fellows that we appreciate having the school located here.

Cost At Minimum
It was pointed out by Williams that the $15,000 bond issue was payable in annual installments of $5,000 for a three-year period and that for the average home owner taxes would be increased only $1 a year.

Mention was again made of the low cost of the project to Pampa in comparison to the $50,000 to $200,000 cost to residents of other cities where similar projects have been established.

Frank Culbertson, automobile dealer, one of those attending last night's meeting, said:

"It is important that we give this our attention and get out the vote." To obtain this objective, three com-

Spaatz To Command European Air Force

LONDON, July 7 (AP)—Major Gen. Carl Spaatz, who in 1939 made aviation history as commander of the army endurance plane, "Question Mark," has been appointed commander-in-chief of the United States army air forces in the European theater of war, it was announced today.

As his first public act in his new post, General Spaatz today awarded distinguished flying crosses to three members of one of the American bombers crews who participated in German-held Western Europe July 4.

General Spaatz himself wears both the distinguished service cross and the distinguished flying cross, the former for bringing down two German planes during the St. Mihiel offensive in the first World War and the latter for piloting the "Question Mark" to its then record continuous flight of 150 hours, 40 minutes and 15 seconds over Los Angeles in January, 1929.

The red-haired, 51-year-old commander has been in England since June, preparing the ground work for the American bombing against Germany.

A name of Boyertown, Pa., General Spaatz was in Britain in 1940 as an assistant military attaché, studying aerial tactics during the worst of the blitzkrieg.

Of chief of the plans division of the air forces he was elevated to chief of the air staff and assistant to the chief of the air forces last year. He is married, the father of three daughters.

The men to whom he awarded the DFC today were:
Second Lieut. Frederick Loehrl of Seattle.
Second Lieut. Marshall Draper of Beverly Hills, Calif.
Sergeant Robert Whitman of Centralia, Wash., members of one crew;
Second Lieut. William C. Lynn of Los Angeles.

The first plane was shot down by anti-aircraft fire and was seen to crash, said the headquarters announcement, while the second "probably met the same fate, although when last seen by members of the raid it was flying over the target."

Members of the three other American air crews returning safe besides that of Capt. Kegelman's plane, were:
Capt. William Odell of Mansfield, Ohio; Lieutenant Leslie Birleson of Muskogee, Mich.; and Earl Thompson of Canaan, N. H.

Lieutenants Leo Hibel of Seattle, Wash., and Frank Donally of Jersey City, N. J.; Sergeants Earl McGinnis of Foss, Okla., and Thomas Andrews of Newport, R. I.; and Capt. Martin P. Crabtree of Decatur, Texas; Lieutenant Jerome M. Nowitz of St. Louis; Sergeant Chester Davis of Brooklyn, and William A. Lang of Spokane, Wash.

Ad Valorem Tax To Be Raised, Governor Says

AUSTIN, July 7 (AP)—Governor Coke Stevenson today pointed to an "inevitable" increase in state ad valorem taxes as a result of the state board of education's action in setting a $22.50 scholastic apportionment for the next school year.

The state automatic tax board, composed of the governor, the state comptroller and the state treasurer will meet "as soon as assessment reports are available" to set tax rates, Stevenson said.

Under recent amendment to the tax law, the board must levy a school tax sufficient to produce the $22.50 per scholastic, providing it does not exceed 35 cents on $100 worth of property.

Since the gasoline tax and other sources of school income are diminishing, it was estimated that the full 35 cents would be required to produce the new allotment.

Comptroller George H. Sheppard told the board of education that the period Sept. 1, 1942 to Aug. 31, 1943, would yield $3,600,000 less from gasoline levies than the period Sept. 1, 1941, to June 30, 1942. The available school fund receives revenue from one cent of the four-cent state gasoline tax.

When a deficit exists in the state general revenue fund, as it does this year, the tax board must levy not less than 35 cents for that purpose also.

The school tax and the general revenue fund, a seven-cent tax for Confederate pensions will make the ad valorem rate 77 cents as compared with 58 cents last year.

At his press conference, Stevenson said the legislature was empowered to reduce the Confederate pension tax.

Bund Leaders Being Sought In 8 States

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—A smashing blow at the German-American Bund involving 57 of its highest officers and active members in eight states was begun today by federal agents on newly returned indictments charging conspiracy to evade national defense regulations.

Twenty-six were named in indictments charging conspiracy to evade the selective service act and conspiracy to conspire with members to resist service in the armed forces of the United States and of conspiracy to conceal bund affiliations in filling out alien registration forms. Three more were accused of all but selective service violation.

The balance of those sought—among them national and sectional officials and principal leaders of the bund—were the object of denaturalization proceedings.

"We intend to put the bund out of business," said United States Attorney Mathias Correa.

Fritz Kuhn, former national bund leader now in prison, and Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, a subsequent bund chairman arrested recently in Mexico and returned to this country yesterday, were involved in the federal proceedings.

Denaturalization proceedings were instituted against Kuhn, serving a term for larceny, and Kunze was charged with evasion of the selective service act, a charge upon which he was held in $50,000 bail yesterday. Kunze is wanted also in Hartford, Conn., to answer a federal charge of violation of the 1917 espionage act.

Nominally defunct since the outbreak of the war between the United States and Germany, the bund was charged in the indictments with continuing certain acts which Correa said confirmed a belief that the bund was operating with underground tactics.

Correa said numerous singing societies in the Yorkville section of New York and elsewhere had taken over Bund activities and continued to foster Nazi beliefs. He said these would be the subject of further investigation.

The indictments strike at leaders in New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Minnesota, Indiana, Washington state, and California.

Escaped Convicts Use Home-Made Shotguns

DALLAS, July 7 (AP)—Home-made shotguns, fashioned of gas pipe, were useless last night to Horace Posey, 25, and Jack Williams, 26, escaped convicts from Eastman prison farm.

They were captured after being taken by surprise and had no opportunity to determine whether their crude weapons would shoot.

Two hitchhikers, picked up by the fugitives, jumped out of their car in Dallas and called police. The hitchhikers were George Bynum and John Pesavento, both 17 and both of Clinton, Ind.

They accepted a ride in the escapees' car at Bastrop, Williams and Posey were arrested by Officers J. R. Reeves and J. A. Bohard soon after they abandoned their car, which stuck in mud.

The capture left at large only two of thirteen prisoners who broke out of the Eastman farm near Weldon Sunday. Still sought are M. W. Barbee and Floyd Elston. Williams was serving 37 years for armed robbery from Harris, Dallas and Walker counties, and Posey was serving 60 years from Jones, Nolan and Wise counties for theft, burglary, assault to rob, assault to murder and robbery with firearms.

What A Mistake To Make

British Hurl Fresh Troops Into Egypt

120-Mile Break Claimed By Nazis Before Voronezh

By ROGER D. GREENE
Associated Press War Editor

Adolf Hitler's Russian armies, exploiting a swift 120-mile breakthrough, appeared to have cut direct communications between Russia's northern and southern armies in a grave turn of events in the Soviet campaign today, while in Egypt the British reported they had bent the Axis southern flank back to the west for a third successive setback.

A bulletin from British Imperial headquarters said Gen. Sir Claude J. E. Auchinleck's 8th army, bolstered by fresh troops and big American tanks, "continued their pressure on the enemy, who extended his southern flank to the west."

This evidently meant that Nazi Marshal Erwin Rommel had been forced to weaken his forward line, within 70 miles of the great Alexandria naval base, and build a protecting or "extended" wall against British flying columns hacking at flanks.

"Our battle groups engaged and dispersed several small enemy columns," British headquarters said, while front-line dispatches indicated that Gen. Rommel's weary troops were refusing battle.

A German communique asserted tersely that "in the fight for El Alamein, several enemy counter-attacks supported by tanks failed."

On the Soviet front, Hitler's field headquarters reported, tank-led Nazi troops had captured the important city of Voronezh, on the Moscow-Rostov railroad, which is the principal communication between the Red armies of the north and south.

Simultaneously, the Nazi-controlled Paris radio asserted that "the Germans are advancing from Voronezh in the direction of Porovnoh 140 miles east of Voronezh. Voronezh, a city of 212,000 population, lies 10 miles east of the Don river, about half way between Moscow and Rostov."

The Paris radio said the Moscow-Rostov railway, the last major rail connection between Moscow and the Caucasus, had been cut. The line runs through Voronezh.

While the Russians gave no indication that the Voronezh had fallen, Red army headquarters indicated that Gen. Heinz Guderian's Nazi tank columns, sweeping 50 miles beyond the line of their greatest 1941 advance, had fought their way across the upper Don.

Soviet dispatches said the Red armies were falling back in good order, inflicting a bloody toll on the invaders, with half a dozen battles costing the German's 3,550 in dead alone.

"During July 6, our troops waged fierce battles west of Voronezh and southwest of Starti Oskol," the Russian command said.

"Our troops evacuated a number of populated places," Voronezh 130 miles east of Kursk, the starting point of the new German offensive. Starti Oskol lies 65 miles southwest of Voronezh.

Soviet dispatches said fresh German divisions were moving into the battle and that almost 200,000 Nazi troops were now throwing their weight into the drive, which ultimately could turn either south for a thrust into the great Caucasus oil

Some Employes Can Get 'Culled' Tires

A small measure of relief on the tire situation in Gray county was contained in a new ruling of the state rationing administrator which provides for the issuance of grade 2 (culled) tires.

Eligible to receive grade 2 tires will be employes of industrial or military establishments employing 100 or more persons at a common site, when such establishments have an organized transportation plan whereby the greatest number of persons are transported with the use of the least number of tires.

Exactly what this will mean in Gray county depends on the size of establishments in the eligible classes and adoption of a transportation plan.

PM Editor Declares Draft Board Unfair

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Ralph M. Ingersoll, editor and publisher of the newspaper PM, accused his draft board in an open letter today of attempting to draft him because of prejudice against PM.

A major portion of the newspaper's front page headlines was devoted to the letter and the next three pages contained the text and an explanation by Ingersoll, who said in an editorial preface that he was ready to go into the army or continue as editor but added:

"What I am kicking about is the decision being made by a draft board which has betrayed prejudice in my case—apparently because it doesn't like PM."

Harvester Mothers Club To Sponsor War Bond Breakfast

Honoring the Harvesters, past and present, now engaged in a contest as defenders of freedom, a Community Victory Bond breakfast will be held at 8 o'clock Friday morning, July 17, at Harvester park.

Sponsored by the Harvester Mothers club, the breakfast will serve the dual purpose of honoring Pampa's heroes and as a patriotic challenge to Pampanos to do their share toward raising the July Victory bond quota for Gray county.

Everyone is invited to the breakfast, men, women, and children. Persons should bring their own meals, already prepared. During the meal, breakfasters to listen to a national radio program dealing with defense, according to Belle Wells, one of the four members of the committee in charge.

Mrs. J. P. Matthews heads the committee. Other members are Mrs. G. E. Carroll, Mrs. R. E. Showers, and Mrs. Wells.

Germans Claim 28 Merchantmen Sent To Bottom

BERLIN, (from German broadcast), July 7 (AP)—The Germans today claimed the sinking of an American navy cruiser and 28 merchantmen out of a convoy in Arctic waters between Spitsbergen and the Norwegian North Cape.

The German claim was another source. In the last previous big Arctic convoy battle the Germans said they sank 18 Allied ships, when actually six were sunk.

A special announcement from Hitler's headquarters today said the convoy consisted of 38 merchant ships carrying planes, tanks, ammunition and food supplies bound for Archangel with a heavy escort of Allied warships.

The attacks upon the convoy started on July 2. Arctic waters 300 to 400 miles off the north Norwegian coast. The convoy escort was said by the Germans to have included battleships, cruisers, destroyers and corvettes.

"In close cooperation, German submarines and air formations sank a heavy American cruiser and 19 merchantmen totalling 12,000 tons," the announcement said. "Submarines sank nine ships totalling 70,400, making a grand total of 28 ships of 192,400 tons.

"The remaining vessels were dispersed. The battle still is going on. German Red Cross planes rescued a number of American sailors."

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Learning From Experience

Assuming that nation-wide gasoline rationing is in the cards, either now or after the fall elections, certain important lessons should be learned from the 10-week experiment which is approaching an end in the Atlantic Seaboard states.

Let's concede that the temporary system there was experimental, that Washington was attacking a mammoth task with inadequate experience and preparation. That is all the more reason why operations should have been watched with a most critical eye, in order that the permanent machinery—whether for the East alone or for the country as a whole—might be made sound and workable.

Two major types of trouble were apparent in the East almost from the start. One was individual chiseling, selfish and often brazen, abetted by many filling stations. The other was maldistribution of the rationed gasoline supply.

Chiseling, being an obnoxious social offense in addition to its unpatriotic qualities, appears to be well guarded against in the plan now supposed to become effective July 22.

Everybody gets an A card. Only local rationing boards, on specified types of authenticated claims, are supposed to authorize more generous fuel allowances. Dealers, starting with full tanks, can refill them only as they turn in consumer coupons proving actual rationed sales.

Unfortunately, unless the OPA gets public support to convince the War Production board, maldistribution of gasoline is going to be perpetuated under the new plan, for the ironic reason that WPB insists on including too many safeguards.

If the gasoline to be made available is properly computed, and the unit allowance for each coupon is fixed on that basis, there is no reason for rationing filling stations.

During and because of the war, gasoline usage has changed. Workers have moved from their old homes to the mushroom seats of new or expanded industries. But gasoline, under the system used in the East and proposed by the WPB to be retained, is distributed according to 1941 usage. Too much goes where it was needed last year, too little where it is needed now.

In some communities rationing cards aren't worth the paper they are printed on, while in others dealers have no outlet for gasoline to which they are entitled.

If rationing is extended to the rest of the country, with this WPB-approved extra control, maldistribution will get in its dirty work there, notwithstanding the plenitude of petroleum in back yard wells.

Crop Threat

From New York state comes the plaint that, unless workers are found, a record crop—$59 million worth of fruits and vegetables—will rot on the trees and in the fields.

On the same day that brought that warning from a federal agency, there arrived from the same agency under separate cover information that in New York City unemployment among needle trades workers is reaching abnormal proportions.

The farmers need four thousand field hands between now and September. Almost 90,000 garment workers are unemployed.

The United States Employment service, which reports both troubles, says there is no idea of feeding the farms from New York's needle workers. Conceding that a relatively small proportion might make good field hands, certainly one out of 20 could help a little.

The Navy Goes Modern

The decision to drop plans for 60,000-ton super-dreadnaughts in favor of more aircraft carriers will meet with almost universal approval.

We have reached the point of winning a great sea battle in which rival ships never came within gun range of one another. All results were achieved by planes, a large proportion land based. It has been demonstrated, over and over, that an invading fleet can be broken up by land based planes—preferably plus carrier craft—better than by other ships.

We can't afford to continue with old-fashioned methods in this war. The navy is to be congratulated on its decision.

The Nation's Press

BATTLESHIPS ARE OUSTED (Chicago Tribune)

The house naval affairs committee has approved an appropriation of $2.5 billion dollars for ship construction. At last—at long last—the battleship is out. Scarcely materials and the time of skilled workmen are still being wasted on the completion of some of the big battle wagons and heavy cruisers already started, but in future the shipyards are to be put to better uses. The plans for a series of 60,000-ton battleships are to gather dust. Some of the cruisers already laid down are to be converted into airplane carriers and a fleet of new carriers is to be given first priority.

That is as it should be, of course, but the naval administration deserves anything but credit for changing direction at this late date. The bureaucrats who were supposed to be in closest touch with developments in naval warfare kept their minds shut to the lessons of the war in European waters and only now have come to concede the truth of what airmen have been saying for years and laymen have long understood.

Gen. Mitchell was court martialed for advocating 15 years ago what is now the official policy. Rickenbacker, Al Williams, and Col. Lindbergh were assigned to the doghouse. Airmen like De Seversky were regarded as cranks and nuisances. Yet they were right and so, too, were the many laymen who saw the light long before the bureaucracy awoke from its long sleep.

Common Ground

"I speak the pass-word universal, I give the sign of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which all cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms."—WALT WHITMAN

ALMOST UNIVERSAL GOVERNMENT BRIBERY

Few people realize the stupendousness of the bribery now going on by our government. Practically every man in the United States is bribed. You ask how that is? Let us illustrate. Every man who does not pay his proportionate share of government expense is bribed by buying the government service for less than cost. He is bribed, just the same as he would be bribed if he went into a gas station and was sold gas for less than the average price because a law had been passed that all gas station operators should charge people for gas in proportion to their ability to pay, rather than a uniform rate in proportion to the amount of gas they bought. If there were a law of this kind the rich would be helpless, as they are in the taxing system. So, everyone who doesn't pay his proportionate share of taxes on a uniform basis is bribed.

Again, every one who gets a payment for not producing a commodity is bribed. Every one who gets a pension is bribed, unless it is a reward for underpayment for former services to the government. Every one who sells a service or a commodity in the United States that is protected by tariffs, is bribed.

Every labor union worker who is protected by discriminatory union labor laws is bribed. Those people who are able to borrow from the banks with government guarantees or from some government lending agency at less than they could borrow from private concerns, are bribed.

So, when we go through the various methods of bribing, we find that practically every person in the United States is bribed more or less in one way or another.

We have become so accustomed in the last three decades to this form of bribery, we hardly recognize that our government has become a government without principle, without any rules of conduct and the most corrupt government any citizen born in this country ever had to live under. It is no wonder that we have had the worst and longest depression in our history, that we had before the war the greatest debt we ever had and that we stopped the increase in living standards that were with us for 150 years before we had a government that did such stupendous bribing.

It is little wonder that the government is popular with those people who are bribed and do not even know that they are being bribed. It is very dangerous, when people are bribed and do not know that they are bribed.

I once knew a retired railroad engineer who owned stock in a discount company in Columbus, Ohio. The corporation put him on a committee and paid him about $100 a year for attending committee meetings. They cared nothing for his opinion. He didn't even know what salaries the officials were drawing. He thought the company was a good company. He told his friends all about it and helped them get loans. He was bribed and did not know he was bribed.

He was a man of good repute and had no desire to be a party to robbing his fellowman. The discount company was getting the people's money by promising 8 per cent interest, but finally went broke because of extravagant salaries and bad management. When he realized how he had been used he was broken hearted.

Entirely too many of our people are bribed by the government and do not know they are being bribed.

We are the greatest bribing nation that the world ever knew because we have more resources to use in bribing than any other nation in all the world.

But bribing is immoral. It is a form of corrupt stealing. It can only lead to poverty, misery and chaos.

part of the war for national existence Japanese shells began to fall on the coast of California and thousands of war workers on the Pacific coast left their jobs because they were not given double time for working on a holiday.

Came June 22, and while Mr. Roosevelt and Winston Churchill were striving heroically to save the free nations from annihilation Japanese shells began to fall in Oregon and strikers for higher wages closed 11 war plants in the vicinity of St. Louis.

Is there no way to keep those Japanese from shelling our Pacific littoral? Unless those raids against our coastal areas can be stopped there is a possibility that every war plant in America may be closed by strikers.

Incidentally the strike epidemic around St. Louis coincided with the fall of Tobruk, the piercing of the defenses of Sevastopol, and the loss of 88 good American lives in a submarine attack off the Atlantic coast. But what are American lives and the perils of the country compared with the right to strike in essential war industries?

There must be taken its toll even if the last defense of the free nations falls and even if every American who goes down to the sea in ships goes down to his death also.

What if every American beneath the flag is sacrificed? Racketeers must have their take and congressmen must have the votes necessary to re-elect them.

Is there no way at all to keep the Japanese from shelling our American shores?

"RELIGIOUS FREEDOM IS AT STAKE"—WHERE? (Christian Century)

It was probably simply an unlucky coincidence which picked June 8 as the date for the dinner at which the Churchman bestowed on President Roosevelt its annual award for fostering international good will. Or perhaps it was the working of that ironic spirit which so often seems to reveal history as a sort of cosmic joke. For in accepting the Churchman award the President wrote: "The spiritual liberties of mankind are in jeopardy. Their religious freedom is at stake. . . . Yet we and our associates in the great alliance of the United Nations are determined to establish a new age of freedom on this earth. . . . With the united help of all free men and of all the great institutions of freedom, of which the churches are the first, we shall create a new world in which there is freedom of worship and utterance. . . . for all peoples everywhere in the world." Then on the same day, June 8, the chief justice of the United States, with the concurrence of three of his associates on the supreme bench, declared that a way had finally been found for the "effective suppression" of religious liberty in the President's own country, despite constitutional guarantees. It would have been embarrassing enough to have members of the Supreme Court making such charges at any time while a crusade for freedom of religion in other lands was being preached. But to have them do it on the very day of the President's utterance—well, as we say, June 8 was certainly an unlucky choice for the date of that banquet.

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—Behind the screen: Three of the new season's biggest movies will deal, respectively, with the past, present and future of U. S. air power. Columbia expects to spend at least $1,500,000 on Isaac Don Levine's "The Life of General Billy Mitchell," although Washington has said a picture about the outspoken advocate of unified air power "would not serve the best interests of the country at this time." It's a cinch Columbia will pull its punches or get no army-navy cooperation.

Darryl Zanuck will produce, and expects to borrow Clark Gable, Jimmy Stewart and other big names now in service.

Only studio that could film Alexander de Seversky's book, "Victory Through Air Power," is Disney, because the sky giants and vast aerial fleets envisioned by the engineer haven't been built, so they must be drawn. Walt has started work with a staff which already is experienced—through the making of aircraft recognition films—in mechanical animation.

The weight and fierceness of Hitler's mammoth offensive against the Russians in the Kursk-Kharkov sector give us blunt warning of the dangers which the Allies must surmount during the next few critical months. It is, of course, a matter of grave concern that the Nazis have blundered their way 120 miles eastward to the Don river, thus threatening the gateway to the Caucasus. But this great advance, which carries the invaders fifty miles deeper into Soviet territory than they got in their all-out drive last year, should cause neither surprise nor despair.

Hitler is flinging one million men—a colossal force—against the Bolshevik positions in the valley of the upper Don. He is making a wholesale sacrifice of life in an effort to wash out his past failures with the blood of Germany's youth.

Now when you get that much pressure and that kind of pressure, thrown against any battle line, something has to break. Man for man the Russians probably are better fighters than the Germans, but there's no such thing as an invincible super-man. We must expect Russian reverses during the furious fighting which is ahead of us, and it's best that we adjust ourselves to that viewpoint. This recognition of facts shouldn't blunt our belief that the Allies will keep Hitler out of the Caucasus and the Middle East for which he is striving.

The Hitlerian strategy is plain enough. His offensive is calculated (1) to sever Russia's communications with the Caucasus, thereby cutting the Reds off from vital oil and food supplies, and (2) to swing a great army across the entrance to the Caucasian isthmus, ready for an assault southward to the oil fields and the Middle East.

Berlin already claims the capture of the city of Voronezh, an important railway junction near the upper Don. If this is true it would sever the last main line between Moscow and Rostov—a hard blow to the Russians. The Nazi chief also must envisage the capture of the big industrial city of Stalingrad on the Volga (use your map please) and Astrakhan, which lies near the mouth of the Volga on the Caspian sea.

You will note—that should fortune favor him to that extent he then would be holding a line right across the top of the isthmus running between the Black and Caspian seas. But there his troubles would be only well under way, for in order to drive down through this isthmus he must force the lofty Caucasus mountain range, which is one of the most formidable military barriers in the world. And south of those peaks he presumably would come up against American and British forces.

JUDITH'S NEW JOB

CHAPTER XII

JUDITH opened her eyes and stared dazedly about the hospital room. At the foot of the bed a doctor and nurse watched her anxiously. She had slept for 24 hours, a sleep of exhaustion, encouraged by a sedative the doctor had given her.

She rose slowly to the surface of consciousness. Then suddenly all the events of the night on the boat came back to her.

"Let me out of here," she cried, and started to get out of bed. But the nurse stepped forward and firmly forced her back under the covers.

"You must be very careful," she insisted.

"You are a sick girl," put in the physician, bending over her attentively.

Judith pressed her lips together and pulled herself back against the pillows. She looked at the doctor defiantly.

"I want to know if I look like a crazy person?"

The doctor shook his head quickly and smiled at her. "Of course not, my dear, you're just a sick young lady."

"All right then. Listen to me. Call up the Watson Airplane factory and ask for Mr. Mathews and tell him to come after Miss Kingsley at once. Will you do that? Promise?"

He nodded. "I'll do it right away, Miss Kingsley. Now you rest and have some food. You haven't eaten in the last 24 hours, you know."

"That isn't the half of it. I haven't eaten in two days. You had better tell Mr. Mathews to bring me some clothes too." She eyed him suspiciously. "You did promise to call?"

The nurse and doctor went out together. "Are you really going to call, Doctor Martin?" the girl whispered.

"What harm can it do?" he challenged. "I told her I would and I don't like to lie. Besides, there might be some truth in her words. It's a clever work on, you know. But I am afraid it is just a mental case."

Behind The News In Washington

By PETER EDSON

Washington looks forward to a visit from Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands far more than it has anticipated the visits of all the other monarchs and premier, for off-the-record stories indicate what a grand, good, human, unaffected old lady she really is. Practical, too. For the clipper trip across the ocean she wore thick-ribbed gray wool hose, and as she stepped on to the dock at Shadock, New Brunswick, her first words to the first man who greeted her, a Pan-American Airways representative, were "Good morning, are you the governor?" She had apparently expected that kind of direct, unceremonious welcome and the Pan-Am official was put in the embarrassing position of having to explain that waiting to welcome her, was just the lieutenant governor, representing the governor general.

The queen got it, expressed her thanks and changed the subject to the weather. "It seems a little cold here," she said. "You know, I thought it was warmer in the tropical—perhaps that was the temperature inside your plane and I did not know it was colder outside."

As the royal party started to get into cars, the queen noticed a detail of Royal Canadian Mounted Police, standing very erect in their scarlet uniforms. "The nearest Mountie allowed himself the slightest relaxation as he opened the door of the governor's car, but immediately had to freeze to rigid attention as he heard the queen ask: "And are these the Boy Scouts?"

Elmer Davis, new director of the Office of War Information, knows what it is to be up against army regulations. When Davis was on the air, the time for his broadcast was 8:55 to 9 p. m. Army night communication came out for 9 p. m. release, but one night there was an item in the communication which Davis wanted to use, so he broke release. Army caught him at it and called him, making it such an issue that Davis never broke a release again. Now Davis is in a spot where he must insist that no one break releases on government news.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard, in spite of an announced administration policy for controlling wages and the cost of living, in wartime, is beating the drum for one of his long-standing personal beliefs—higher wages for farm labor. It is the secretary's contention that higher pay for farm labor will make for a sounder agriculture and in wartime will solve the problem of getting more farm labor to offset shortages caused by the draft and greater industrial employment.

Wickard is genuinely concerned about providing sufficient farm labor to take off all crops in critical areas. But he has small sympathy with farmers who complain of a labor shortage when they can't get help at low pay. Last fall, for instance, there was a good bit of hollering from the South when cotton farmers could not hire pickers for $1 a hundred pounds, equivalent to $2.50 or $3 a day. When the rate went up to $1.50 and in a few places $2 a hundredweight, the labor appeared and the full crop was picked without loss.

National average farm wage rates now run $43 a month with board to $53 a month without board, and vary from an average of 94 cents a day with board in the South, to $3.35 a day without board in the Pacific states.

Only control which the government has over wages now is in the sugar control act of 1937 which requires the Department of Agriculture to hold public hearings and fix wage rates in each beet and cane sugar producing area, including Hawaii and Puerto Rico. Sugar wages for 1942 are set at an average of 25 per cent higher than for 1941. The tendency is to let farm wages go up, whether it's inflationary or not, the agricultural point of view being that price ceilings on processed farm products will prevent farm labor costs from getting out of line.

Investigation of the "sponge iron" process by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Cheyenne, Wyo., has steel men puzzled and they're asking who told the senator that bill of goods. Far from costing $5 a ton less to produce, as O'Mahoney was told, it would probably cost a good $10 a ton more than the usual steel-making process. Sweden has made sponge iron for years and shipped it to the United States for certain specialty uses. Some specialty sponge iron sells for as high as $1 a pound and its tiny particles will be found in high-grade face powders.

Great Britain's experience with war damage insurance was of no use to the United States in shaping plans for the War Damage Insurance corporation, whose policies go into effect July 1. Great Britain, being much closer to potential damage, made war insurance compulsory. In the United States it is strictly voluntary. Sales of policies up to July 1 were good on the coast, but nothing to brag about. Unofficially, what's needed to promote sales is a token bombing.

While the War Damage Insurance corporation is selling crop insurance at 5 cents on the $100 valuation, 500,000 wheat farmers and 170,000 cotton farmers won't have to take it until July 1. Great Britain, by the exceedingly broad policies under the Department of Agriculture's Federal Crop Insurance corporation, which protects against practically every thing, including unavoidable hardships, which is taken to include war.

Wheat Penalty Rate Stated

Vincent Against U. S. Sailorettes

WASHINGTON, July 7 (AP)—Storm clouds loomed in the office for Uncle Sam's prospective sailorettes today even before their organization was officially launched.

As Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval affairs committee disclosed he would seek congressional approval of legislation creating a women's naval reserve, a fellow-committeeman, Representative Vincent (D-Ky.), announced he would object to unanimous house consent for consideration of the measure.

"The whole mess is ridiculous," said Vincent, who hails from a Western Kentucky district where, he asserted, the men folk do the fighting and the women take care of the homes.

Already passed by the house, a bill creating the reserve was amended substantially by the senate and, unless Vincent withdraws his opposition, will be forced into conference to iron out the differences.

Vincent contended today that there was no need for the projected force of 10,000 enlisted women and 1,000 women naval officers to take over non-combat shore duty.

The Kentuckian said the jobs could be filled by world war veterans who want to do something for their country and who are better qualified.

315 Pounds Of Scrap Rubber Collected By 11-Year-Old Girl

By LORENE O. LOCKE
If all of us were as patriotic as a small Miami girl we would not need drives for bonds headed by commanders, war heroes, and movie stars in order to reach our bond quotas.

"I would not have you use propaganda and pressure to get Mr. and Mrs. America to cooperate in the war effort.

In fact, if everyone had done his part in the rubber drive like this little girl, the president would not have been forced to extend the time for the drive. She is Joy Webb, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Webb, of Miami.

Early, the first morning of the drive, people downtown were intrigued to see a sturdy, merry-faced youngster nonchalantly pushing a small wheelbarrow with a huge load of old tires and other junk rubber down the Miami-Pampa highway on her way to the Conoco station.

All that day, and all week, Joy made her regular trips to the filling station with her wheelbarrow-loads of rubber. She has sold 315 pounds, to date, and has not yet quit.

Where did she get it? She salvaged it from junk piles. She hunted it out in back alleys and vacant lots. She even dug some of it up from ditches where it had washed down and had not been covered with dirt and trash.

One woman told me that little Joy knocked on her door and asked if she might dig an old tire out of the ditch that was practically submerged in the street in front of her house.

"That youngster worked like a Trojan getting that tire out and loaded," she said, "and it was one of the hottest days of the year."

No Hurdles for Joy
In fact, weather, distance or discomfort, has been no deterrent to Joy's determination. Others may complain that they do not know where to get scrap rubber or have no way to get it to a filling station. None of these hurdles bother Joy. Uncle Sam wants rubber. That is enough for her.

Interest and effort in the war program is a recent thing for the girl's small daughter. In every movement, Red Cross, bond and stamp sales, Victory gardens, as well as the rubber drive, she has been doing her part.

When the first aid course was begun someone to serve as model, Joy was needed. Joy was right there. She never missed a meeting. She made such a good patient and was so faithful, that the committee presented her with a small gift at the conclusion of the course, much to her surprise.

Early in Red Cross
Of course, she was one of the first members of Junior Red Cross. And, in a recent "special efforts" project in connection with a donation to Red Cross, Joy was not satisfied with the progress being made and appointed herself a volunteer in the girls' interest in their country's war program, little Joy, who is rightly named, and Marie, her 13-year-old sister? One answer is that their mother has set the right example, she does her part. A very important answer, they have two brothers in the service. Sgt. Homer Webb at Camp Berkeley, Abilene, and Pvt. F. E. Webb at Merced Flying school, in California, were among Roberts county's early volunteers. But, I believe the main thing that answers this question is they are real Americans and proud of it.

CAUCASUS

fields or north for a flanking sweep around Moscow.

Although military experts expected Hitler to strike for the oil treasures of the Caucasus, they did not account the possibility that he might also be intent on the prize that so bitterly eluded him in 1941—the capture of Moscow.

German communiques recently have stressed action in the Rzhev zone, 120 miles northwest of Moscow, and today Hitler's field headquarters reported:

"In attacks in the Rzhev area, the enemy was thrown from his position on a broad front."

"This may be the start of a northern pincer movement against Moscow, synchronized with the southern sweep through Voronezh, some 300 miles below the Soviet capital."

In claiming the capture of Voronezh, the German high command said that Red army counter-attacks were defeated and that a single Nazi panzer division destroyed 61 Soviet tanks.

Russian dispatches, which may have been behind the latest German reports, declared Red army tanks ranging along the east bank of the Don river were throwing back successive waves of Nazis attempting to cross the stream.

These dispatches indicated that the Germans had failed in initial efforts to penetrate the Russian defenses in depth, but acknowledged that the invaders were swarming across in barges and boats from various points under devastating fire.

The terrific harvest of casualties was reflected in Russian dispatches declaring that six trains totaling 247 cars, jammed with Nazi wounded had been seen moving to the rear.

While the Russians battled desperately to stem the gravest threat of the year, Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's British imperial armies counter-attacked a westward trend in the 14-day-old battle of Egypt.

A steady stream of troops, tanks, and guns was reported moving up to the front, in the El Alamein sector 65 miles west of Alexandria, and dispatches said it was believed that a token force of American tank soldiers was fighting alongside the British.

The American tankists, it was disclosed, had already met and defeated a German panzer force in a baptismal skirmish in the Libyan desert June 12, knocking out at least nine German tanks without suffering casualties themselves.

Dispatches from Cairo said the Americans, who entered from Tobruk before the Germans captured the British stronghold, were originally scheduled to return to the United States to apply lessons experienced in the desert, but because of the German counter-drive into Egypt they were ordered to remain with the British.

Aerial dogfights and heavy artillery battles marked the critical struggle on the Mediterranean coast, where the German drive into Egypt they were ordered to remain with the British.

British military quarters described the situation today as "satisfactory" but that the field Marshal Erwin Rommel, twice hurled back in assaults on El Alamein, was probably receiving reinforcements and that the threat to the Suez and the rich delta lands of the Nile was by no means ended.

With both sides exhausted by six weeks of ceaseless fighting across the blazing sands of the western Sahara, it appeared that the battle had dwindled for the moment. Axis prisoners were quoted as saying the British declared it was too early yet to say whether Gen. Auchinleck's army had the strength to try for a knockout. It was reported that headquarters reported only "local encounters" yesterday, while London military quarters said Rommel appeared reluctant to join action.

Boyce House Visits Friends In Pampa

"I've been in Pampa so many times that I feel at home and know a good many folks here," Boyce House of Fort Worth declared here Tuesday morning in his race for Lieutenant Governor of Texas.

The versatile West Texan—the lived 15 years in this half of the state—is noted for his books on the romance of oil, for his column—"I Give You Texas"—which appears over 200 weeklies with more than a million readers, and for his Sunday "Texas" radio programs.

He helped write the motion picture, "Boom Town."

House says that it would be worthwhile to have a man as Lieutenant Governor who has made some study of oil, cattle and agriculture. For five years he was the rambling representative of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram and he used to visit Pampa to write up conventions, oil meetings and football games—mainly football games, he says. He has written up over 300 high school gridiron contests in West Texas.

"This is the first time, of all the times that I've been in Pampa, that I'm here to ask you for something," House said. "I hope that you citizens will help 'Put House in the State House' and you'll have a friend in Austin, who knows your territory and its problems."

Many political observers declare that House is far in the lead for Lieutenant Governor. He has received over 1,600 letters pledging support from all over Texas.

Canadian Man Testifies For Houston Birth

Special To The NEWS
CANADIAN, July 7—Since birth certificates have been required of all applicants for government employment, many of the old times have been called upon to make affidavits to these documents.

Recently, H. M. Wood testified to the birth of Sam Houston, grandson of Sam Houston who was president of the Republic of Texas in 1837 or 1838, member of the United States senate in 1856, and governor of Texas in 1859.

Sam Houston, son of Mr. and Mrs. Temple Houston, was born in Canadian in 1822. The John Wood family lived in a neighboring house, H. M. Wood, a small boy.

The Houston residence was later owned by Miss Minnie Tepe; has since been destroyed by fire. Miss Minnie has a modern home on the location now.

Coast Guard Lowers Its Age Requirement

Uncle Sam is lowering the requirements for enlistment in the coast guard.

Age limit for enlisting in the service has been changed to include all men from 17 to 35 years of age, whereas it formerly included only men 17 to 35.

Pay has been raised from $21 a month for apprentice seaman to $50 a month for apprentice seaman. Applications for enlistment can be obtained from the U. S. Coast Guard recruiting station, 326 Post Office, Amarillo.

The requirements for reserve officers training—candidates have been relaxed to include the following qualifications: Married men, now, as well as single, may apply if their wives consent. The minimum height requirement has been lowered from five feet six inches to five feet five inches.

There has been a slight letdown in the educational requirements in that an applicant must have had at least one semester course in mathematics of college grade and one semester credit in trigonometry from either high school or college.

Previously, a full year of mathematics of college grade was required. Candidates must be not less than 20 years of age and not more than 30 at the date of appointment, and must have at least a bachelor's degree from an accredited college or university.

VOTERS

mittees were formed at the meeting last night. One of these will canvass business establishments, each member assigned to a certain block, to seek out employers and see to it that they vote and that their employees also vote.

Another committee, headed by W. B. Weathered, county superintendent of schools, will be busy contacting all organizations, including women's clubs, to the end that these groups vote on the proposition, while a third committee will keep telephone lines humming to call on Pampans to go to the polls.

There will be two kinds of placards distributed on Friday morning, one to stores where employees have voted 100 per cent, the other reading:

"Have you voted? Pampa promised to provide water for the Pampa advanced twin-engine flying school. Your vote is needed to keep this pledge. Help show the army air force officials that Pampa appreciates the school. 8 a. m. to 7 p. m. in the city hall. Vote today."

Rules on Voting
At the city hall the voting place will be the city commission room. Qualified to vote in the election Friday will be residents of Pampa who have had their property rendered on the 1942 tax rolls.

Residents of Pampa, of course, means those residing within the city limits. Rendition of property may be either by the taxpayer himself, or it may be done by the tax assessor-collector of the city, for the taxpayer, if he is acquainted with him.

If property is meant any property that is taxable such as stocks of goods and fixtures, automobiles, real estate, buildings.

Possession of either a poll tax receipt or an exemption certificate, of course, are other prerequisites to voting in the election Friday.

City Attorney Robert F. Gordon, in listing the eligibility rules for voting, said it should be remembered that this was a special election, creating a voluntary debt, and as a matter of legality and fair play, voting had to be limited to taxpayers against the debt, being assumed against their property.

Committees Listed
Members of the block volunteer committee are:

Bob Miller, Harry Schwartz, Jim Collins, Bill Graham, D. C. Hartman, R. W. Lane, E. L. Biggstaff, Mitchell Hill, Sherman White, George M. Lewis.

Telephone committee: H. P. Doster, D. C. Hartman, Bob Miller, Vernon Hall, W. B. Weathered, George M. Lewis, J. B. Bourland.

Mr. Weathered is to name the members of his committee who will contact various organizations to obtain their voting in the election.

Distribution of placards will be by members of the block volunteer committee.

Made in Japan Canes Sold At Army Show

PITTSBURGH, July 7 (AP)—Rep. Samuel A. Weiss (D-Pa.) said today he intended sponsoring a congressional resolution calling for an investigation of Army War Show, Inc., and its contracts "throughout the country."
Weiss, in a statement, criticized the sale of Japanese-made canes at the Army War Show here Sunday night, which caused protests among the 65,000 spectators and resulted in the firing of 11 civilian hawkers yesterday. Police were ordered to burn the canes, which were the staffs of pennants inscribed "Army War Show."

Sports Roundup

By HIGH FULLERTON, JR.
Wide World Sports Columnist
NEW YORK, July 7—Look for Lou Boudreau to give another nifty performance against the Service All-Stars tonight. . . . Lou claims that the cares of being the Indians' manager haven't affected his play, but look what he did the first time he got out there on a ball field with no one to worry about but himself. . . . Even Leo Durocher picked him as the stand-out of last night's game and Leo wouldn't admit any one of his National leaguers was any better than the others.

Bright Idea

After the brawl was over last night, someone asked Durocher what the pitchers were throwing to Gordon, who fanned three times. . . . "I don't know," Leo answered emphatically, "but I'm gonna find out."

All Starstard

Joe McCarthy, still looking pretty pale after his illness, says he's feeling "just fine." . . . It wasn't a case of misery loves company but Spud Chandler and Mort Cooper, who took their second warmups side-by-side, also sat together in the clubhouse during the late innings and discussed their favorite pitches. . . . The New York crowd didn't pay much attention to Ted (I'm a Bad Boy) Williams, but it did a lot of cheering and booing every time Joe DiMaggio came up. . . . Philadelphia story: Two pinch hitters (Johnson and Litwiler) two hits—and not a run. . . . At least the A's and Phils got in there, which is more than some clubs could say.

Service Dept.

Lieutenant Jack Sisco, former North Texas State coach, and Marty Karow of Texas A. and M. are expected to rejoin the navy on the faculty of the Texas High School Football Coaches association school next month. . . . And no one can squawk if they follow the usual custom of signing up a few players from the all-star gridiron game. . . . A year ago Dewey Wagner visited Fort Hancock, N. Y., and proceeded to beat $68,000. Tomorrow Fraggetta will have Conn working for him and may not even get a manager's cut. Billy will be guest referee when the Fort Hancock, N. Y., and the proceeds of the show will go to the post athletic fund.

Mize Hottest Hitter

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Although he still is well down in the pack, the hottest member of the major league's hitting brigade during the last week was Johnny Mize, New York Giant first baseman.
Mize, who was handicapped at the start of the season by a wandering tendon in his shoulder, vaulted from tenth to sixth place in the National league race, boosted his average above .300 to .301 for the first time and retained his home run clouting honors.
Ted Williams, the reluctant dragon of the Boston Red Sox, climbed to the top of the American league band wagon for the first time this season, displacing Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees and Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, who have been alternately at the top rung much of the year.
Williams now sports a .348 batting average with Gordon second at .347 and Doerr third with .346.
There's nothing to compare to that tight race in the National where Pete Reiser, Brooklyn sophomore, is away out in front with .361, followed by Joe (Muscles) Medwick with .344.

World Series Will Benefit War Relief

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—At least part of the proceeds from the world series this fall will go to war relief, but it will be up to baseball's advisory council to decide whether the October classic is to be stretched into extra games to be stretched into recreation—would want to get away from their worries.
"The people are not going to see baseball when the nation is in such turmoil over war," Gardner said. "In effect, would go away with chain store baseball as practiced by individual big league clubs and would substitute one big chain—a subsidized program aimed largely at aiding the Class B, C, and D leagues."
Under this program the major and minor leagues would cooperate in the acquisition, development, and advancement of players, employing experienced officials and players to conduct baseball schools, try-out camps, lecture and movie exhibition programs, to cooperate with others interested in amateur and semi-pro ball and in general to have charge of all matters connected with the instruction, development, and placing of recruit players.
Subsidies For Clubs
Such players would be placed initially in accordance with their apparent abilities, giving preference within class to players to clubs in territory most adjacent to their homes.
The plan includes subsidies to clubs below A classification such as $1,000 to Class D; $1,500 to Class C, and $2,000 to Class B. After reimbursement of the subsidy each club would receive all payments for sale or draft of player contracts. This, Gardner said, would give clubs added incentive to develop players for higher category.
The subsidy fund would be a revolving fund. Any deficit would be made up by the major leagues.
Lands' plan would outlaw working agreements between clubs, and Gardner says, this would prevent the "grooving" of players' advancement through a single club or system.
Clubs acquiring players could assign their contracts to other clubs,

No Baseball Next Year If War Continues, Says Texas Prexy

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Wide World Features
DALLAS—If the war continues into 1943 there will be no professional baseball in the nation, says J. Alvin Gardner, president of the Texas league—and thus the opportunity will be offered to put the game on a solid basis before its resumption.
Gardner, back from an extensive trip through the Midwest and East, brought his endorsement of a plan advanced by Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, high commissioner of baseball, but not yet formally submitted to the men who guide the league.
"Unless there is a marked change in the war situation, the major leagues will not operate next year," Gardner observed. "They wouldn't be able to get players, because of the war drain, and they wouldn't be able to get the principal reasons being the rubber and automobile tire shortage."
The Texas league had taken occasion to admit that the optimism of baseball men that wartime would bring increased interest in the game had been misplaced. The view of Gardner is that the people would want recreation—would want to get away from their worries.
"The people are not going to see baseball when the nation is in such turmoil over war," Gardner said. "In effect, would go away with chain store baseball as practiced by individual big league clubs and would substitute one big chain—a subsidized program aimed largely at aiding the Class B, C, and D leagues."
Under this program the major and minor leagues would cooperate in the acquisition, development, and advancement of players, employing experienced officials and players to conduct baseball schools, try-out camps, lecture and movie exhibition programs, to cooperate with others interested in amateur and semi-pro ball and in general to have charge of all matters connected with the instruction, development, and placing of recruit players.
Subsidies For Clubs
Such players would be placed initially in accordance with their apparent abilities, giving preference within class to players to clubs in territory most adjacent to their homes.
The plan includes subsidies to clubs below A classification such as $1,000 to Class D; $1,500 to Class C, and $2,000 to Class B. After reimbursement of the subsidy each club would receive all payments for sale or draft of player contracts. This, Gardner said, would give clubs added incentive to develop players for higher category.
The subsidy fund would be a revolving fund. Any deficit would be made up by the major leagues.
Lands' plan would outlaw working agreements between clubs, and Gardner says, this would prevent the "grooving" of players' advancement through a single club or system.
Clubs acquiring players could assign their contracts to other clubs,

33,694 See American League All Stars Win By 3-1 Score

By GAYLE TALBOT
NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Better all-star games possibly will be played than last night's spectacle at the Polo Grounds in which the American league once again slugged the National into defeat, 3-1, before a benefit crowd of 33,694, but it is difficult to imagine one more dramatic.
One minute after big Ernie Lombard of the National leaguers lifted a lazy fly to right field to end the contest, pitch darkness closed over the big arena as part of New York City's second wartime blackout. For 22 minutes the crowd that had cheered itself hoarse for two hours sat tense and almost silent.
They sat as at a wake for the blasted hopes of the National leaguers, who had entered the tenth annual struggle with a burning determination to win and had seen their chances vanish almost with the first pitch.
Last night's game was over to all intents and purposes when Lou Boudreau, Cleveland's handsome young manager, laced the second ball pitched by Mort Cooper of the St. Louis Browns in the eighth. He was the field stand. The Nationals from that instant must have felt it was hopeless. The crowd did, anyway.

In Majors Last Week

NEW YORK, July 7 (AP)—Although he still is well down in the pack, the hottest member of the major league's hitting brigade during the last week was Johnny Mize, New York Giant first baseman.
Mize, who was handicapped at the start of the season by a wandering tendon in his shoulder, vaulted from tenth to sixth place in the National league race, boosted his average above .300 to .301 for the first time and retained his home run clouting honors.
Ted Williams, the reluctant dragon of the Boston Red Sox, climbed to the top of the American league band wagon for the first time this season, displacing Joe Gordon of the New York Yankees and Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox, who have been alternately at the top rung much of the year.
Williams now sports a .348 batting average with Gordon second at .347 and Doerr third with .346.
There's nothing to compare to that tight race in the National where Pete Reiser, Brooklyn sophomore, is away out in front with .361, followed by Joe (Muscles) Medwick with .344.

'House-Work-itis' Can Be Cured With Room-A-Day Plan

There's no reason why house-cleaning should leave a trail of rough, red, unattractive hands, arms and knees, broken fingernails, and frayed nerves. Don't shout—I hear you saying as I've heard many women hereabouts saying as the maid problem sharpens the housework is the world's most thankless, unpleasant occupation.

AVOID TRYING TOO BIG A JOB. Matter of fact, women doing it themselves for the first time may be surprised shortly, to see that there are shortcuts, face-savers, hand-relief in doing the job efficiently. One thing you know but probably have to learn over again: a room a day keeps back strain, leg ache, nail-split, and sundry other symptoms of "house-work-itis" away. At best, cleaning is difficult. When too much is attempted at one time, it's overwhelming.

The key to success in this job, just beginning to get general recognition as good homes become more and more a matter of public concern and as the science of it grows, is organization. It would be a good idea to make yourself, as you made your maid, if she was worth having, a schedule of what to do and when. You might even like to read a book about it—libraries are laden with them, and though I never saw one that personal habits, preference, common sense and experience didn't tangle with at some points, I've never seen one that didn't have some good, new useful ideas in it.

When you see how much there is to it, too, you feel less baffled by the fact that once in a while housework does get you down—it does that to any woman who is a hundred-percent housewife.

Let's Start Getting Tougher If We Want To Win The War

By RUTH MILLETT We are learning the hard way that no matter how peace-loving, how big-hearted, how long-suffering a nation is it must have a sort of hardness if it is going to survive. The best way for us to learn that lesson is to apply it to ourselves—for the stamina of the nation can be no greater than the stamina of its citizens. A person has to have a core of toughness in order not to let himself be pushed around by other people, circumstances, or his own appetite for letting things take care of themselves. It is that toughness which enables a young person to go after what he wants and knows he must have, instead of letting his parents run his life for him. It is that toughness which is responsible for a husband and wife starting out with nothing and building a place for themselves and their children. It is that core of toughness which keeps them from spoiling their children so that it is almost impossible for them to do anything or amount to anything on their own. People who haven't that core of toughness are often lovely, often companionable, often nice to have around. But they almost invariably make a mess of their own lives and the lives of those they love. PEOPLE TO MATCH NATION'S HARDNESS It takes some hardness to decide what is important and what is not and stick by the decision. It takes hardness to keep from always taking the easy course, just because it is easy. It takes hardness to keep from making life too easy for those one loves. We know now we have that core of hardness as a nation, and we shouldn't forget that it is just as important for us to have it as individuals.
