How Will They Get Out---

Luckily The Door Opened

When I saw this car accident I couldn't keep from crying. Borden Co. people's hearts are still heavy from the loss of little Jarrett Stanford just a short time ago and here we could have lost more of our precious youngsters. That they escaped with their lives is a miracle. Even more miraculous is they didn't receive serious injuries. I am printing these pictures with the hope that maybe just one teenager will realize that an automobile improperly driven, can be a dangerous weapon and that an accident can happen as fast as the blink of an eye and often you don't get a second chance.

Former Gail Pastor Dies

Services for the Rev. J. Roy Haynes, 71, of Ackerly were held Monday at 10 a.m. at First Baptist Church in Ackerly with the Rev. Jim Mosley, pastor, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Monroe Peters, pastor of First Baptist Church in Coahoma.

Burial was in Trinity Memorial Park in Big Spring under the direction of Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Rev. Haynes died at 6 a.m. Friday at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after an illness of several months.

The Eastland County native married Pauline Steel Dec. 19 1930 at Rising Star. He was ordained a minister at the First Baptist Church of Rising Star June 19, 1940 and graduated from Howard Payne College in Brownwood.

His first pastorate was in Eastland County at Sabanno Union and Hodnett Grove Baptist Churches. He also has pastored at Blanton and Valley View Baptist Churches near Ballinger, Loco Hills, N.M., First Baptist Church of Ackerly, Woodrow Baptist Church near Lubbock, Westside Baptist Church near Lamesa, Lakeview Baptist Church in Howard County, First Baptist Church in Ira and Gail.

He retired from pastoring full time in 1971, but served as interim pastor of First Baptist Church in Gail from 1973 to 1978. The Rev. and Mrs. Haynes lived in Lake Thomas from 1973 to 1978 before returning to Ackerly in January 1978.

Survivors include his wife; a son, the Rev. James D. Haynes of Fort Worth; two daughters, Lenelle Simpson of Hobbs, N.M. and Jeanie Porter of Lovington, N.M.; two sisters, Allie Steele of Bryan and Betsy Smith of Rising Star; and eight grandchildren.

Are They Getting The Message?

For the past year I have worked in offices with a temperature of 78 to 85 degrees in the summer, 65 degrees and less in the winter months (to disobey would be a $10,000 a day fine). I have been in hot stores, banks, hotels, all places of business forced to obey the same rules. I have kept my thermostat turned to 63 degrees all winter because of the shortage of energy - Just Friday night I listened to the President state that by our actions we have saved 400,000 barrels of oil and he pleaded with the American people to continue to conserve our energy and our money for the sake of our future generations. Then Saturday morning I happened to drive out north of Gail and although I have no way of knowing for sure, but from the skid marks and other evidence I would guess there was as much energy wasted in Gail Friday as I have saved all year at home and at work.

I have always found teenagers to be the first to volunteer to help in an emergency - usually willing to comply when rules are established and willing to make sacrifices for a good cause. What is happening? Are our children not getting the message? Are they unaware there is an energy shortage. That our nation is in a crucial situation are they not being ask to comply - to obey the guidelines -- If not who is at fault?

The Borden County Unit of the American Cancer Society is sponsoring its Annual Barn Dance & Drawing for Steer Raffle on April 11th to climax the 1980 crusade.

Fund raising efforts began with the sale of raffle tickets on a steer donated by a local family who wish to remain anonymous.

Borden County students always get the crusade started in grand style, and so far they have turned in over $500.00 from ticket sales. If a young person comes up to you with a handfull of raffle tickets and asks you to buy one, please do.

Thanks, Borden Co. Cancer Society

Jere's Gottings

The smartest thing Gerald Ford has ever said was, 'Carter Must Go'. That conclusion doesn't sound like it comes from a man who has bumped his head too many times, now does it? Ford said several more things at a fund raising dinner that sounded as if he was in complete control of his faculties. In fact he presented a program that he would use should he become a candidate for president of US. He took off the gloves and stated that it was time for the Republicans to speak out--to refuse Carter's cry for unity and a moratorium on discussion of our foreign policy until the hostages are released. Well, it is about time. What we the voters need to know is what these various aspirants for the presidency would DO as president of US. What we don't need is a group of attractive, qualified men wasting their time and our money cutting each other up.

Ford is to be commended also for his promise to support the Republican candidate (even should he be Ronald Reagan). He hit the issues, refused to criticize his fellow Republicans, and said what has not been said--we have to get rid of Carter. In his insistence that a Republican can and must be elected, he just almost announced his own candidacy. Mr. Ford believes he is electable--the only one who can beat Jimmy the candidate. There is where the rub comes. He is saying what should be said, but how come he wasn't willing to slug it out along with the pack of pachyderms? And what makes him think he is anymore electable against Carter in 1980 than he was in 1976?

Sorry--but I don't buy it. It is my opinion that Gerald Ford and his advisors simply can't bear for Ronald Reagan to be president or even be the candidate for president. He has proven he can do that much--wrest a nomination from a man who went into the convention with the most delegates. And isn't it also peculiar that John Sears has cropped up in Ford's camp? If you remember, many people attributed Reagan's defeat at the convention to Sears. Some even said Sears was for the other side. In which case, maybe he has now surfaced.

Still another reason for Ford's latent move could be Bush's popularity wane. The two, Ford and Bush, belong to the same clubs--CFR and Trilateral Commission. Granted Bush has resigned--just as I would resign from the John Birch Society should I wish to run for president. But I have not heard any denouncement of their philosophies by Bush. The point is, since the movers are beginning to get a little nervous about Bush's ability to attract voters, and since they are sure to have their candidate in each party, it is time to send in the bench--Gerald Ford.

If the primary system of candidate selection were allowed to function properly, the people's votes would be worth what is spent to get them. The weaker candidates would quickly be weeded out as in the case of Baker, Crane and Connally (have you ever seen such a press black-out?). The winner of the primaries would go into the convention with the people behind him and the losers united behind the man the voters had chosen. But as it stands, the primary system is a farce. The effort made and the money spent will be useless unless the people's choice is that of the silent movers. Ford is right--'Carter Must Go' but let's send him packin' by a man legitimately chosen by the people.

Shaw Opposes Tax Break

Larry Shaw, Democratic candidate for State Representative District 63, today announced his opposition to the Property Tax break given to the large corporations during the last Legislative session. "I supported the Constitutional Amendment allowing family farmers to pay property taxes based on productive value of their land. That act was intended to save the family farm, but by the time the Legislature and Lobby got through, the farmer and taxpayer was forgotten," Shaw said.

Shaw, a Howard County farmer and cattlemen, decided to enter the race after studying the Incumbents voting record. "Mr. Ezzell voted to give the biggest tax break in Texas history to the Real Estate Speculators and Timber Corporations. And who's making up the lost tax revenues? You and I are."

Shaw, who is making his first race for public office, says his campaign is coming along very well. "I believe that when the record of corruption and special interest dominations in the last Legislative session is fully exposed, the people will support a candidate who is independent of the Lobby."

Shaw also stressed the importance of both candidates keeping a cool head during the campaign. "The people should know that my statements are in no way a personal attack at Mr. Ezzell, or any lobbyist. I simply feel our priorities are backwards. It is imperative that we first deal with matters that concern the folks at home. Once that is done it is certainly proper to deal with the important matters pertaining to special interest."

PROVEN YIELDS

Producers will have 15 days from the date the yield notices, ASCS-476, are mailed to request a proven yield for each feed grain and wheat, and 30 additional days to furnish production data when an appeal is filed. This time limit for furnishing production data is set so that all yields may be processed by or soon after the end of signup.

If you had acreage of the crop in at least one of the three preceding years, you could benefit by bringing this data to the county office. The rules for proven yields have been changed and you could probably increase your yield with the one year's production.

Producers will be required to report production data for each year that the yield is proven.

WHEAT GRAZING DATE

March 20th is the final date for grazing wheat acreage with the expectation of producing a normal crop.

COTTON PRODUCTION

Please bring in your ASCS-503, Cotton Production Cards, as soon as possible.

1980 YIELD NOTICES

1980 yield notices will be mailed as soon as we are advised by the State Office to do so.

NON-DISCRIMINATION

Eligibility for participation in all programs administered by ASCS is established under law without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or National origin.

Register to Vote

Those persons who plan to vote in the primary election May 3 should register to vote soon. To be able to vote in the primary, one must be registered to vote 30 days before the election.

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN—Flooding is a massive problem which affects all Texans. Many Texans have been forced to rebuild their material assets time and time again because of flood devastation.

In this age of modern technology, all Texans should be able to live in any city without fear of losing their homes and automobiles to flood waters. To help achieve this goal, Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and I have appointed a Regional Citizens Task Force on Flooding which has already begun its work.

The committee, chaired by Senator Gene Jones and Rep. Bill Caraway of Houston, is composed of 31 elected officials, civic leaders, private citizens and drainage experts from Harris, Galveston, Brazoria, Fort Bend and Montgomery counties. Its purpose is to examine the flooding problems in Houston in hopes of finding solutions of benefit to the entire State of Texas.

The possibility of creating a single regional flood authority for these five counties has been widely discussed. If accepted by the committee and the 67th Texas Legislature, this authority would have the necessary jurisdiction to coordinate a flood abatement program in Houston.

Creating a regional flood authority may prove to be a viable solution to Houston's flooding problems. Many believe that it would solidify the numerous agencies which currently have various responsibilities in the area of flooding control.

However, flooding is a serious and complex problem which cannot be dealt with overnight. No simple solutions exist for Houston or Kerrville or any other town in Texas where flooding is a chronic problem.

Yet it is my sincere hope that all Texans will soon be freed from the worry of flooding and I feel confident that the progress being made by the Regional Citizens Task Force will shed some now light on this age-old problem.

Head in clouds

AUSTIN, Texas (Spl.) — A woman student at The University of Texas has reason to have her head in the clouds.

Charlotte Smith is one of 10 women in the nation accepted for jet pilot training in the U.S. Air Force. A physics major, she is a cadet in the UT Austin Air Force ROTC, where she is deputy commander of the John H. Payne Squadron.

It is no coincidence that she is interested in flying. Her father is a career Air Force pilot. She hopes eventually to become a flight instructor. Under Air Force rules, she is barred from flying combat missions.

Your County Agent Says by Sam Field

Many producers in Borden Co. will be interested in the Farm Pond Management meeting to be held Thursday, March 20 in the High School Conference room. Dr. Jim Davis, Fisheries Specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will present the program.

He will cover areas such as fish production in ponds and stock tanks, which will include how to get rid of undesirable species and what kind of fish works under various conditions and even how to "feed" fish. Dr. Davis will also discuss weed control for ponds and stock tanks and answer any questions the audience will have. I have personally worked with Jim before and have seen the quality of programs he presents. The meeting begins at 7:30 pm and everyone is invited to attend. Anyone for fishing???
