Navy Expects Jap Battle Until 1949

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—Vice Admiral Frederick J. Hornum revealed today that the navy is planning for a war against Japan to last at least until 1949. The vice chief of naval operations, appearing at a press conference at which Secretary Knox strongly deplored current optimism over winning the war in a hurry, declared we still have "tremendous distances to go in the Pacific and we have to build bases from the ground up as we advance."

$14.75 Ceiling Price On Hogs Is Planned

WASHINGTON, July 20.—(AP)—To ease the squeeze on packers and limit price fluctuations to a minimum, the government plans to put a ceiling of $14.75 per 100 pounds, Chicago basis, on live hogs early in August.

Major Nip Base At Macassar Is Hit by Allies

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, July 20.—(AP)—For the second time since the Japanese overran the Netherlands East Indies, Allied bombers have made a daring, long-distance attack on the enemy's major base at Macassar.

Red Attack On Norway Reported

LONDON, July 20.—(AP)—The Berlin radio today said that a Russian amphibious force had attacked the coast of Varanger Fjord in extreme northern Norway.

Major Nip Base At Macassar Is Hit by Allies

A great fleet of Liberators flew 2,000 miles, round trip Sunday night and left many fires towering above the big harbor city on Celebes. There was no report on the extent of damage done but some of the fires started could be seen 80 miles away.

Yanks Trying To Break Up Their Loop

By JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
The New York Yankees are not the old-time bombers but they're up to their old-time tricks—trying to break the back of the American League in the middle of the season.

When they swing back into action tomorrow after the usual two-day layoff that precedes intersectional series in the major leagues this year they will be nursing an eight-game winning streak, the longest of the topsy-turvy campaign.

An eight-game string in itself is not overly important but it is worth noting because at this time last year the Yanks were in the midst of an 11-game streak that qualified any question about their finishing on top of the American League.

They now have won 12 of their last 13 games and this has been sufficient to stand off the ambitious Washington team, who have won five of their last six games and still lost ground.

Aside from the very creditable pitching, the biggest factor in the Yankees' mid-summer wave has been the slugging of Rookie Bill Johnson.

The young third baseman hit a three-run homer and four singles Sunday to climb right into the middle of contention for the runs batted in laurels in the American League.

Nick Etten, in the best first-base tradition of the Yankees, has been at or near the top run production all along and now is leading with 68.

By batting in four Sunday, Johnson bounced into second place with 57 and may be the first rookie to drive in over 100 runs since Ted Williams broke with 145 in 1939.

If he touches this peak Johnson will rate consideration for the Ephemer honor of Rookie of the Year and even if he doesn't he will have made a glowing contribution to the Yankee's pennant effort.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
NEW YORK, July 20—(AP)—It wasn't in Brooklyn but in Charleston, S. C., where a 14-year-old boy set a record of some sort recently by getting himself bounced from the park by a la Leo Durocher. Prexy Nolly Sams of the Charleston Municipal League reported that baby "Nellie" Strong of the Stark Hospital team became so peeved at a decision that he rushed the ump, pounded his chest backed off and challenged the arbitrator to come on and fight.

The ump prudently beckoned a cop to take the kid out of the park, still shouting "robber," and "Nellie" spent the rest of the game chasing foul balls that came over the fence.

Williams Won't Play At New York

NEW YORK, July 20—(AP)—Ted Williams will not play with the Chapel Hill, N. C., Naval Pre-Flight Clubsters in the war relief baseball doubleheader at the Yankee Stadium on July 28.

Ed Barrow, president of the Yankees, announced that he had received a message from Williams' commanding officer that circumstances beyond his control would prevent the former Boston Red Sox slugger from making the trip to New York.

Texas League Should Resume, Rajah Asserts

FORT WORTH, July 20—(AP)—
Rogers Hornsby says the Texas League missed a golden opportunity by not operating this year and he thinks it's high time the club owners get busy with plans for resuming operations in 1944.

"The people want baseball and have plenty of money to spend to see it, and I think the league passed up a great chance to put itself on solid ground when it voted to suspend last winter," the Rajah, manager of the Fort Worth Cats, declared.

Hornsby, operating Panther park here for the benefit of amateur teams, reported attendance had been good and added:

"Ninety-five per cent of the people coming to the park agree with me that the league missed the boat.
I think we owe it to the fans to give them baseball."

It was Hornsby who led the fight for league continuance at the meeting last winter. Fort Worth and Oklahoma City were the only clubs in favor of going ahead.

"Sure there's a manpower shortage and the brand of baseball will be lower but I say let's all take our chances in the scramble for players and if we have only four clubs operating four days a week let's give the public what it wants—professional baseball."

NEW YORK, July 19.—Except for a narrow range of stocks which edged into a high ground for the week, market leaders generally were notably unresponsive today to the exceptionally cheering news.

HOLD EVERYTHING

most of these failed to follow through and the relatively light trading, near-closing quotations were a trifle mixed. Transfers were around 900,000 shares.

Today on the Home Front

By JAMES MARLOW AND GEORGE ZIELKE
WASHINGTON. — (AP) — Who's ahead on points: Vice President Wallace or Commerce Secretary Jones?

Both cabinet members lost something in their memorable summer rumpus but their fans can argue: look what happened to the other fellow.
Came this statement from a spokesman for the board of economic warfare: "Mr. Wallace had his head chopped off but he won on his basic principle."
President Roosevelt waved both men from the ring after this had happened:
Wallace, chairman of BEW, said his agency was being bottlenecked by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation which Jones headed.
Wallace complained publicly that Jones' RFC delayed purchases. Jones said Wallace's statements were full of "malice."
The president sent his hand-picked home front trouble-shooter, War Mobilization Director James F. Byrnes, into pacify the men.

They were hardly outside his door when the word-war started again.
The president broke up the skirmish by abolishing BEW, and with it Wallace's job as chairman.
In its place the president created a new agency, the Office of Economic Warfare and made Leo F. Crowley, alien property custodian, director.
Over Crowley and the OEW, Mr. Roosevelt made Byrnes top boss.

WOMAN WHO SLEPT FOR 33 YEARS, FINALLY DIES IN SOUTH AFRICA

South Africa, July 20.—(AP)—Anna Szepe, who "slept" for 33 years, died in a hospital here Saturday at the age of 53.
She was 20 when a young farmer with whom she was in love killed himself, and hysterical catatonia, followed by complications, induced the long sleep from which she partly awoke, occasionally murmuring a few words but never referring to the tragedy.
Doctors here said they thought no other person ever has been similarly afflicted for so long a time.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, July 19.—(AP)—Covering by traders who had previously sold wheat, rallied in the final minutes today, all contracts except July finishing with minor gains. Earlier the market had slumped on hedging pressure reflecting increased receipts at principal terminals.
Oats and rye rallied from local slumps with the bread cereal but could not close with bid ear rise. Selling from houses with northwestern connections depressed oats. The rye market was nervous throughout the session and at one time was down more than 2 cents.
At the close wheat was 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher, July $1.44 1/2, September $1.44 1/2. Oats were unchanged to 1/4 lower, July 65 1/2, and rye was 1/4-1/2 lower, July $1.00 1/2.

AFRICA WAITS

By Achmed Abdullah
"Stinking, am I? Allah! And how do you like the smell of my foot?" came Zaman Khan's coarse rejoinder, as suddenly, he raised an oak-like leg and, with superb aim, kicked the other violently in the nose.
Weeping, the man ran away, while the Afghan turned to Lincoln with a happy, childlike smile.
"Such a way," he announced proudly, "did I save a silver piece."
The American drew him to one side.
"Do me a favor?" he asked.
"Do I not love you? Name it and it is done, heart of my heart!"
"I want you to stay here in Yebeba for a while."
"But I am on my way to Libya. I must join my old regiment."
"You haven't been in such a hurry so far, what with your horse trading."
"I have already arranged for the sale of the mares at a fair profit."
"Even so, stay here for a while. I need your help."
Lincoln went on to say that he believed Zaman Khan was right in suspecting the girl of being a spy. So he had decided to get out of town at once and find refuge in the dense jungle of the other side of Lake Tchad.
"Go, at least for a month or two," he wound up, "will you keep close track of her, lest she should...?"
"I am a man of deeds, not of words. A thrust of my dagger—and you will not have to run for jungle, nor shall I have to remain here."

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE—"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Squeeze Hits Explosives

The War Production Board, explaining the importance of fat-savings by housewives, notes that "the squeeze between uncontrolled livestock prices and ceiling regulations governing sales of fresh meat has resulted in packers and butchers leaving more than a normal amount of fat on meat reaching America's tables."

Boomerang

To prevent Hollanders from listening to Allied broadcasts, Nazi authorities ordered that all privately-owned radio sets be turned in. Severe penalties were imposed for failure to comply. The Huns were in earnest because, they said, "radios are a strong and dangerous weapon in the hands of the Dutch."

Careless Endorsements

It is often said, and we have a vague memory that somebody once demonstrated, that the average American would sign a request for his own electrocution if somebody presented it casually enough as a worthy petition bearing enough other signatures.

Respectable Spy

Disclosure of the activities of two Nazi spies arrested in New York proves what often has been said—that the really dangerous enemy agent is the last person one would suspect.

The Nation's Press

When a Washington bureaucrat calls a Washington bureaucrat a bureaucrat, boy, that's news! So in a way Vice President Henry Wallace has made history by bawling out that poohbah of fantastic wealth, the eminent Jesse Jones, who is doubling in brass, as it were, as Secretary of Commerce and head of the Federal Loan Agency.

Common Ground

"I speak the past-word universal. I give the size of democracy. By God! I will accept nothing which cannot have their counterpart of on the same terms." -WALT WHITMAN.

STARRY-EYED ANTI-INFLATION ROOSEVELT

If there ever was a starry-eyed, absurd scheme of preventing inflation, it is Roosevelt's claim in his veto of the Commodity Credit Corporation bill that subsidy of food is an anti-inflation move.

No man who has made any study of credit money or of production and distribution of government, or political economy, believes in such a thing. It is purely a contradiction of addition.

Roosevelt will not do the only things that will retard inflation—tax the man who consumes enough so that we do not have to create new check-book money out of the air.

SOME THOUGHT-PROVOKING STATEMENTS FROM "THE DISCOVERY OF FREEDOM"

"So nothing in history, or on earth, is more valuable than an individual who knows that men are free. America began with a few hundred thousand of them. Only a few hundred thousand, then, but never before had individuals acted without a leader."

"It is a tough job to be free. But six thousand years of trying to escape from freedom were tougher."

"Government regulation, government 'control', slows down production, hinders it, prevents it, reduces it, and can not possibly control it."

"Compulsory education—"The inevitable result is to postpone a child's growing up. He passes from the authority of his parents to the authority of the police. He has no control of his time and no responsibility for its use until he is sixteen years old. His actual situation does not require him to develop self-reliance, self-discipline and responsibility; that is, he has no actual experience of freedom in his youth."

"This is ideal education for the German State, whose subjects are not expected ever to know freedom. The discipline in German schools is strict; it tends to train the young into the obedient submission that men in German Government demand from their subjects."

"But it does not work that way in this country, because American educators naturally try to compensate for the counter-revolutionary compulsion in this school system. They do not subject American children to rigid German discipline. On the contrary, they try to make schools so enjoyable that the children will not realize that the police compel them to be there. (But the children know it.)"

It is an interesting worthwhile book.

THE MAGICIAN

The National Whirligig

News Behind The News

By RAY TUCKER BLOKKADE—Although it has gained almost no publicity, the Boykin House Committee investigating steel shortages may toss several sticks of dynamite under the present make-up of that key industry.

Roosevelt is just as wrong in his claim that subsidy of food prices will stop inflation as he was in his judgment when he advised people to buy German marks years ago.

Mr. Brassert has a process for using sponge iron as a basis for manufacture of the major metal that goes into our ships, tanks and planes. It was through wholesale use of his idea that the Reich, despite its poverty in the basic ore, was able to build a fighting machine and to maintain it through almost four years of blockade.

CONTRADICTIONS — Chairman Frank W. Boykin of Alabama, a great steel state, is naturally anxious to place his commonwealth in a better position on the economic map. He and many of his Dixie associates believe they have been discriminated against through a one-sided fixing of freight rates.

They want to decentralize the steel industry and they envisage the sponge iron process as an excellent means to that end. They point out that before the Hanne-McKinley Administration gave undue advantage to Pennsylvania interests, there were numerous furnaces making this material in Georgia, West Virginia, the Carolinas, Connecticut, eastern New York and Massachusetts.

In view of the threatened shortage of the number one metal through war's demands, they argue that it would be a smart move to remove the rather ancient, primitive ferrous business.

Mr. Brassert declared that he could re-open forgotten pits within a few months if he could be financed, get machinery and personnel. But he would need a revision of railroad charges so that these producing units would not suffer the hauling handicaps now imposed.

When the Congress resumes and the Boykin Committee publishes the facts developed at preliminary sessions, it may precipitate one of the most bitter sectional controversies that Capitol Hill has witnessed in years.

WORRY—In all the Arthurian furor raised against the White House by the nation's labor leaders, the almost unnoticed complaint of David B. Robertson caused the most concern in high places. He is head of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, a substantial, conservative organization which has kept aloof from selfish, partisan politics.

He speaks for the men in overalls and he said a mouthful in his Cincinnati address entitled "Engineer Bill Smith Looks at the Post-War World."

Around Hollywood

News Behind The News

By ERSKINE JOHNSON NEARLY three years since purchase of the novel, Hollywood is about to ring the box-office bell with the film version of Ernest Hemingway's "For Whom the Bell Tolls."

The picture will have its world premiere in New York July 14, a three-million-dollar technical cartoon copy of the book, including a Hays office version of the sleeping bag episode, a Maria with her hair cropped to within three inches of her scalp and the author's choice, Gary Cooper and Ingrid Bergman, in the leading roles.

After its New York debut, the picture, which Paramount modestly lists as "the finest film Hollywood ever produced," will be road shown throughout the country at advanced prices a la "Gone With the Wind."

If it were a motion picture almost die-a-borning, "For Whom the Bell Tolls" is it. Jinxed at the very beginning by the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor and by a Maria who had to be replaced in the second inning, Paramount and Director Sam Wood spent a hectic two-years-plus studying Hemingway's story of love and war in Civil War Spain on celluloid.

After everyone in Hollywood except Shirley Temple and Mickey Mouse had been tested for the roles of Robert Jordan and Maria, actual production began on Nov. 20, 1940. WITHOUT the two leading characters, filming had to begin to take advantages of heavy snow in California's High Sierra mountains for the El Sordo battle sequence. No other time of the year would do.

ON LOCATION This location jaunt was the toughest in film history. It was bitter cold, four below zero by night and 20 above by day. The scenes were filmed at an altitude of from 7000 to 10,000 feet, and electric pads were used to keep the camera from freezing. The Jap attack on Pearl Harbor stopped filming on Dec. 7. There was still work to be done, but with Uncle Sam at war, the war Hollywood was fighting for the cameras had to cease with the grounding of all civilian planes.

Producer Samuel Goldwyn finally agreed to loan Gary Cooper to Paramount for the Jordan role in return for the services of Director Wood to direct Cooper in "Pride of the Yankees." Production of "FWTB" ceased for seven months.

By June, 1942, all was in readiness to resume the film except there was still no Maria. Vera Zorina, ballet dancer turned actress, finally won the role on June 24 and, while newsreel cameras clicked, had her hair sheared to resemble the cropped-topped heroine of the novel.

Two days later filming was resumed in the High Sierras near Sonora, Calif., an ex-gold rush town. Three days later Wood and a tearful Zorina were back in Hollywood. Zorina, said Wood, just wasn't the type for the role. Studio executives looked at her first scenes and agreed. A week later, Ernest Hemingway's original choice, Ingrid Bergman, won the part and newsreel cameras clicked again while she was sheared.

FINAL FILMING For 10 weeks Cooper, Miss Bergman, Greek actress Katina Paxinou as Pilar, Akim Tamiroff as Pablo and others in the cast played the story against Director Wood's demand for a "harsh gray granite" background at a 10,000-foot level in the High Sierras. Howling windstorms ripped sets to shreds. Heavy cameras were dragged up precipices. Cables were strung from peak to peak. On Nov. 1, 1942, after several weeks work in the studio, the picture was completed.
