M'Arthur Says Occupation May Last Many Years

Ground-Forces Of Occupation Are Expanding

TOKYO, Sept. 25—(AP)—Allied occupation of Japan may last many years — although with minimum forces participating — General MacArthur announced through an official spokesman today.

As he spoke, combat-clad veterans of Palau were dashing ashore at Aomori, expanding the ground-forces occupation to the northernmost tip of Honshu, and the navy reported 48 warships carrying 20,000 service personnel home for discharge were due to leave Pearl Harbor today.

The statement was issued in denial of a report Sept. 21 by Ted Dealey, president of the Dallas, Texas, Morning News. Dealey had written that MacArthur told him the occupation could end in six months "if we are not too ruthless and cruel."

What he (MacArthur) said today's statement asserted, "was that occupation forces, under favorable conditions, could be reduced to minimum size in six months."

He has stated that the occupation itself might last many years.

Stripped of special privileges by the Allied command, Domei News agency probably will quit, its president Inosuke Furuno reported today. He said he had decided to recommend its dissolution to the next meeting of the board of directors. Noting that three major Tokyo dailies were considering formation of a new agency, he said "it would be possible to make both ends meet," if Domei attempted to operate in competition.

Passage Sure for Employment Bill

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—(AP)—The so-called "full employment bill" called historic by its backers and meaningless by its critics, came before the senate today—sure of passage.

All hands agreed few votes would be cast against it. As one senator said privately to his backers, employment would be like voting against faith, hope and the American home."

The argument is over wording of the bill. What it shall promise or state as a matter of government policy on assuring jobs for all.

Briefly, the measure as approved 13 to 7 by the banking committee, calls for a yearly national budget on production and jobs. When it appeared there would not be enough jobs, the federal government would come up with job-creating activities (such as public works) to fill the gap.

Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the banking committee headed the list of speakers as debate opened. It was his job to explain the bill provision by provision.

As it stands, the bills says that "all Americans able to work and desiring to work are entitled to an opportunity for useful, remunerative, regular and full-time employment."

It has been endorsed by President Truman as a "must" item.

Organized labor, too, is behind the bill.

'TARNISHED BY THE CONFLICT'

BRITAIN IS POLISHING CROWN JEWEL OF ORIENT

HONG KONG.—(AP)—The war has finished and now Britain is polishing up this crown jewel of the Orient, tarnished by the conflict.

Hong Kong itself will soon be in working condition but it will be years before this gem colony regains its pre-war luster.

The Chinese settlement seems to have suffered much less than the areas in which the "foreign" colony lived.

Precision bombing by the Allies limited most aerial damage to Japanese shipping and repair structures along the water front.

Hong Kong's three largest hotels, the Gloucester, Hong Kong and Peninsula, are open and crowded with former refugees and military personnel.

Commercial life is slowly reviving. The British fleet has brought in hundreds of tons of rice, and is putting as many coolies to work as possible.

Hong Kong citizens say that because of the Allied blockade, no Japanese ship entered the harbor for the last six months before the surrender.

Confirmation Of Acheson Is Hard on Nips

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—(AP)—A hard peace for Japan had official, if indirect, okay today from both the White House and the senate.

The senate's 69 to 1 approval of Dean G. Acheson as undersecretary of state was interpreted widely on Capitol Hill as a roundabout endorsement of the tough-on-Japan policy Acheson has championed.

Similarly, President Truman's justification of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority was looked upon as notice to the Japanese that they will have to obey American orders without question.

Similarly, President Truman's clarification of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's authority was looked upon as notice to the Japanese that they will have to obey American orders without question.

Acheson's confirmation came yesterday after a short-lived fight by Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the republican whip.

Wherry contended Acheson had rebuked MacArthur for estimating that he could get along with 200,000 troops to police Japan six months from now.

In the sometimes bitter debate that followed, however, the Nebraska said his chief objection to Acheson was that the latter seemed to be fostering a policy for a social and economic revolution in Japan. That, Wherry said, "may take hundreds of thousands of lives before it is put down."

Chairman Connally (D-Texas) of the foreign relations committee jumped into the debate with the assertion that he, for one is "willing to go in there and teach the Japanese that the will to war will not pay them dividends."

Connally and democratic leader Barkley (KY) said they couldn't find anything in Acheson's remarks disparaging to MacArthur.

Senator Chandler (D-KY), who joined Wherry last week in contending that MacArthur had been "insulted," arose to say there had been a misunderstanding all around.

President Truman's new directive to MacArthur made it clear the general is the top authority in Japan. It notified the Japanese that the Potsdam declaration is a statement of policy, not something for them to argue about.

Date Set to Open API Study Course

A course of study in repressuring methods to handle the vast West Pampa oil field repressuring project will open here October 15, Fred Neslage, engineer of the project, said today.

The initial plans for the classes were formulated yesterday at a meeting of a committee selected by the advisory board of the American Petroleum Institute.

Neslage, who was named chairman of the committee, said that the classes would probably be conducted on a weekly basis and that each company in the West Pampa field has been urged to send at least one representative to the classes.

The six-million dollar repressuring project, which is expected to begin the first of the year, will serve to force the oil in the ground up to a higher level by means of gas pressure.

Food and Housing Are Japan's Paramount Problems--Hirohito

NEW YORK, Sept. 25—(AP)—The New York Times in a special dispatch from Tokyo, today quoted Emperor Hirohito as saying in an interview that he had no intention of having his war rescript employed as former Premier Hideki Tojo used it when Japan launched her sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Hirohito told the Times' Tokyo correspondent, Frank L. Kluckhohn, that he had expected Tojo to declare war against the United States in the usual, formal manner, if necessary.

The Emperor stated, Kluckhohn reported, that he was opposed to war as an instrument of policy and pledged that any social changes in Japan would be made by constitutional means. He said he would favor a constitutional monarchy like that of the British.

Kluckhohn said his interview has been authorized by both the Emperor and Gen. Douglas MacArthur. Describing his reception by Hirohito, the correspondent wrote:

"Dressed in a black morning coat, striped trousers and white shirt, with a stiff wing collar and a black tie, Emperor Hirohito received me standing before an ordinary chair that served as his throne in a large, rather magnificent room on the third floor of the ministry of the imperial household within the imperial palace grounds. The main palace was burned by incendiary bombs and the Emperor is living in a good-sized cottage on the same grounds."

"I nodded as I entered the room. "There was no formality. I did not bow nor was I asked to do so. I walked straight across what was an essentially bare chamber and the Emperor extended his hand, which I shook."

Kluckhohn said he was the first American to see the Emperor since the war began and the first foreigner to interview him since the Japanese surrender.

"He looked straight into my face as he spoke, eyeing me through rimless spectacles. It was apparent that the war had been a strain on him and several nervous mannerisms and his hand shook slightly."

Big-Three May Be Forced To Call Another Meeting

LONDON, Sept. 25—(P)—Belief that another meeting of Premier Truman, Premier Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee may be necessary to iron out Europe's major peace problems was voiced in some quarters today as the foreign ministers' council prepared to close its two weeks session with the record of important agreements precisely at zero.

Some delegates still spoke hopefully of a second session of the Big Five foreign ministers in December, but this could be arranged only if the deputies were able to work out solutions to the many problems tossed their way by the foreign ministers.

The French were expected to try to force consideration of plans for western Germany before the council adjourns today, but there seems little likelihood of success in that direction.

Final conference talks were expected to be concentrated on European inland waterways and the Soviet demand for acceleration in the

33 TYPES OF MANUFACTURING POSSIBLE ENTERPRISES FOR AREA RECOMMENDED

(This is the seventh in a series of stories explaining the contents of the industrial survey of the surrounding area made by Burt C. Blanton, Dallas consulting engineer.)

By SCOTT RAFFERTY

As a sequence of technical analyses, the new types of industries that can be recommended for Pampa are many and varied. They depend, of course, upon efficient and experienced management and other component factors.

The selection of industries is predicated upon adequate manufacturing facilities and, obviously, such types of industries located directly at the source of supply could meet all competition.

There are 33 types of manufacturing and processing industries which Blanton recommended as possible successful enterprises.

To utilize the numerous agricultural products grown in this area, Blanton said there are good potentialities in the agaro industry—to utilize corn for the production of industrial alcohol; broom factory—

Odessa Oil Field May Enter Strikes

By the Associated Press
The government moved today to unsnarl the increasingly heavy traffic of strikes and work stoppages along the nation's labor front.

The number of men and women off their jobs by strikes and forced shutdowns across the country touched around the 350,000 mark, the highest in months. Some 100,000 workers joined the army of idle over labor disputes within the last 24 hours as strife among labor-management gained headway.

Increased wages were the principal demands in the majority of the disputes.

As the government stepped in to attempt to effect a settlement of a spreading oil strike which already has idled 30,000 workers, there was no immediate indication other front-ranking stoppages would be called off.

Headlining the troubled labor front was New York City's strike of 15,000 AFL building service employees. Business in the metropolis was partially paralyzed after the workers left their jobs yesterday. Elevators halted in more than 2,000 office and loft buildings, including the skyscraping 102-floor Empire State structure and the famous Woolworth building. Hundreds of thousands of New Yorkers were inconvenienced by the strike, called in protest over a war labor board ruling on wages and hours.

Detroit's turbulent labor situation continued to share in the spotlight. Gov. Harry F. Kelly of Michigan ordered an investigation of the month-old strike of 4,500 workers at the Kelsey-Hayes Wheel company which precipitated layoff of 50,000 Ford Motor company automobile employees. Some 90,000 were idle in the nation's automotive capital over labor disputes.

One of the country's biggest single walkouts occurred yesterday as 60,000 AFL lumber and sawmill workers left their jobs in Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana in

Labor Secretary Backs Increase in Wage-Hour Law

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—(P)—Labor Secretary Schwellenbach today supported a 65-cent hourly minimum wage for workers covered by the federal wage-hour law.

"A minimum standard of living supported by a guaranteed wage at the suggested level will strengthen our economy by maintaining national purchasing power," Schwellenbach said.

The secretary testified before a senate labor subcommittee which opened hearings today on legislation to raise the minimum from the 40-cent level established in 1938.

The bill, sponsored by Senator Pepper (Pa.) and nine other democrats, calls for a step-up to 70 cents the second year the legislation becomes effective, and 75 cents an hour in the third year. Schwellenbach did not comment on the proposed increase above 65 cents.

Schwellenbach said many workers have never received enough money to maintain an American standard of living. The rising cost of living, he said, has cancelled part of the benefits of the 40-cent minimum, and "a substantial part of the proposed increase is required merely to reestablish the congressional objective in 1938."

Amarillo Girl Is Released on Bond

AMARILLO, Sept. 25—(P)—Slight, blonde, 17-year-old Geneva Barker, Amarillo, held in custody for the fatal shooting of her father, Thomas Barker, Sunday evening, was released at 7 o'clock last night under $1,000 bond.

Mrs. Barker, widow and mother, waived notification of the hearing which Judge Northcutt said could not be held earlier than today.

Geneva was held by authorities after her father was shot with a 22 calibre rifle while sitting on the porch steps of his home in Amarillo, 112 N. Bowyer street. The bond was fixed at a hearing before County Judge E. O. Northcutt. Geneva was released to her mother.

Mr. Barker, 67, died on the way to a hospital after suffering a gun shot wound in the back and stumbling to a neighboring house of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cline for aid. He was taken to the Northwest Texas hospital where Mrs. Barker works as a maid. Attending the ambulance case she fainted when she recognized her husband.

The shooting followed a quarrel between Mr. Barker and his son.

Engineer Voids Idea for A-Power

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 25—(P)—Benjamin Miller of New York, consulting engineer of the Kansas research institute of Kansas City, today discounted the idea that atomic power might supplant gas for power at any time in the near future.

Miller, who has been testifying before the federal power commission in behalf of the Kansas corporation commission, made that statement in an interview after being excused from further testimony in the PPC investigation of the natural gas industry. The hearing is entering its sixth day today.

"So far," he said, "atomic power has shown no use except for heat. I would say that it will not be developed within the near future."

Miller said the research institute is seeking some particular product to be manufactured from natural gas.

Testimony yesterday showed St. Louis, Mo., to be seeking a transfer to straight natural gas instead of mixed gas now consumed.

L. E. Taylor, chief engineer of the Kansas conservation division of the Kansas corporation commission, said that no new gas discoveries of import had been found in Kansas since the start of 1942 except in Barber and Meade counties. Geologists, he said, had already considered production from these two areas in figuring the state's known reserves.

Furs Are Worked Like Fabrics

By EPSIE KINARD

NEA Staff Writer

NEW YORK—Bound to stop eyes and halt speech when they make an entrance are this year's super-duper furs which use styling, pile up the pelts, twinkle with jewels and stage pull-apart tricks like suave magicians.

As functional as they are handsome, these dressmaker styles boast corsets, Inverness capes, boleros and pelumps. They copy the jumper-dress look, and make no apology for borrowing men's smoking-jacket styles.

One example of this styling is the Cinderella jacket, shown center. Fredrica-designed, the fur used here is flat and tightly curled South America lamb in dramatic white, and is as precisely tailored as fabric to give a girl a glamorous version of her boy friend's smoking jacket.

Example of the Inverness cape—also of the wrap which comes apart—is shown, left. This one is in nutria, but it makes the same entrance and does the same tricks in other furs. Under the cape, which has new rounded but broad shoulders, is a separate gilet, belted down with brown alligator. The gilet can part company with the cape and make its own eye-stopping entrance as a fancy front.

For proof that fur twinkles with jewels, see the slim tunic coat, right, of black moire Russian broad-tail. Starfish jewels flash from the belt and from shirtwaist cuffs that taper off big butterfly sleeves which spring from the waist.

AAFTC Eleven Is Spotlight Team Of Army Football

(By The Associated Press)

Five of the Texas service football teams are in action this week, both undefeated eleven—army air forces training command and Corpus Christi naval air station—meeting the sternest of opposition.

The AAF training command, successor to Randolph field in the National air forces league, opened the season Sunday with a 29-0 victory over Kessler field. Next Sunday the Skymasters meet the Fort Benning, Ga., infantry, at Fort Worth.

Corpus Christi naval air station, which beat Rice of the southwest conference 26-13 last week, tackles another conference team, this time one of the top eleven of that circuit. The Comets engage Southern Methodist university at Corpus Christi.

Bertram field, which tied Southwest and gave Texas a big scare, will clash with John Tarleton college at Austin. It will be the first game of the season for Tarleton.

Ellington field, which absorbed a 54-0 beating from Texas A. and M. last week, goes to Monroe, La., to play Selman field.

Lubbock army air field plays New Mexico university at Albuquerque, N. M.

The standings of the Texas service teams that have played games follows:

Team	W	L	T	Pts	Opp
AAF Training Com	1	0	0	29	0
Corpus Chis. Nas	1	0	0	26	13
Bergrstrom field	0	1	1	13	19
Hondo air field	0	1	1	13	28
Ellington field	0	1	1	7	61
Blackland air field	0	2	0	0	91

Harridge Refuses Griffith Protest

WASHINGTON, Sept. 25—(AP)—Clark Griffith thinks something ought to be done about major league baseball players who turn umpires. Maybe, says the owner of the Washington Senators, they ought to switch leagues, along with their jobs.

Griffith yesterday protested a decision by umpire Eddie Rommel in the Senator's costly 4-3, 12-inning loss to Philadelphia in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader.

President Will Harridge of the American league turned down the protest. It involved chiefly a rule on what constitutes a legal catch of a fly ball.

Budley Lewis, Washington outfielder, apparently caught a fly in the eighth inning but dropped the ball as he started to toss it to second baseman George Myatt. Rommel ruled it "no catch." The Athletics scored three runs in that inning to tie and won out in the 12th.

"Rommel is an old Philadelphia pitcher," Griffith told a reporter today.

"When our manager, Ossie Bluege, asked him why we didn't take the 'A' (for Athletics) off his uniform, Rommel couldn't take it.

"Umpires are becoming more and more sensitive, not only to the managers say but also the fans. . . . Many of them are former ball players. I've always worked hard to keep these men in the game. I helped out in organizing the pension fund for former players.

"Maybe one of the answers is for former American league players to off-rotate in the National league, and vice versa."

DALLAS, Sept. 25—(AP)—Southwest conference football teams can be happy they do not have games scheduled with the army air forces training command at Fort Worth.

Conference elevens are much stronger generally than last year but they'd have little chance with the big, versatile skymasters. They might not lose by such overwhelming scores as marked foes of Randolph field in 1944 but they would take beatings nevertheless.

After watching the Skymasters pass Kessler field dizzy in their season opener last week-end, your correspondent concludes that the AAF team is not as strong all the way around as Randolph field but the Skymasters more than match the Ramblers in aerial tactics.

It's not altogether the flock of ace passers, however, that makes the air game click so well; it's largely the receivers. Those ends can catch passes in their hip pockets.

Coach Doug Fessenden said last week he had a back who would match Bill Dudley of the 1944 Ramblers. Dudley was just about the greatest footballer ever to show his wares in this section.

Fessenden named Dippy Evans, the former Notre Dame star. That was a little surprising to us since we recalled Evans only as another back on the Randolph squad. He didn't do anything particularly outstanding in the games we saw him perform. However, he didn't play a great deal.

We had anticipated watching him work against Kessler field, with no Dudley on hand to take all the play, but Dippy didn't get into the game. He was sidelined with an injury. Maybe he can break loose this week against Fort Benning, Ga., infantry.

Next Saturday's Baylor-Texas Christian game may be very important in the title race. From here it appears the Bears are unfortunate in having to play a veteran team like that so early. But if the Bears were to win it they would get the confidence that makes a young club tough to handle.

Prize observation of the football season: A young lady at the Highland Park-Wayback game, after seeing Highland Park balked by numerous penalties, had this to say: "They are so hemmed in by regulations they can't do anything."

The American people are overwhelmingly in favor of a course of action which will enable the people of Spain to rid themselves of their oppressors.—Bishop Lewis O. Hartman, of Boston, chairman of the American Committee for Spanish Freedom.

Harry Brecheen, Hank Borowy To Start in Contest

By JACK HAND AP Sports Writer

Presidents Will Harridge of the American league and Ford Frick of the National league might well devote some time today to the possibility of a pennant tie as the top contenders enter the final regular-season.

It's never happened before and probably won't this time but if Detroit loses three of its last four and the St. Louis Cardinals sweep two more from Chicago there will be contention aplenty.

Best chance for a deadlock is in the American where Washington has finished its schedule and has nothing to do than wait and pray for the Tigers to get knocked over by Cleveland and St. Louis.

Steve O'Brien has a chance to be sure at least a tie by beating Cleveland today in the opener of a two-game set and he has nominated Al Benton, the ex-sailor, to do the job. If the big fellow wigs, it will be Hal Newhouse tomorrow to apply for the fencer.

However, there is a chance the tribe could pop one or both games and make it necessary for the Bengals to sweep their final two in St. Louis, Saturday and Sunday, to nose past the idle Senators.

At least the Tigers probably won't see any more of Bobby Feller who faced them three times since he came out of the navy. Rapid Robert worked against Chicago Sunday and won't be ready for the two with Hank Greenberg and Co.

The Cub-Cardinal two-day series opening yesterday in preparation for their game with Corpus Christi last Saturday. Bell his his offensive blocking was ragged, and the Mustangs were rehearsed in running plays all afternoon.

Arkansas university's Razorbacks were definitely not satisfied with their 12-0 victory over Barksdale field Saturday. The Porkers held a scrimmage session yesterday under Coach Gen Rose, but the Fayetteville gridders were shown plenty mistakes on the blackboard.

L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, boss of the Texas Christian university Horned Frogs contemplated no major league changes against Baylor Saturday, in a game inaugurating the southwest conference play. He said his hands came through the 18-0 victory over Kansas last week in good shape.

Anti-fumbling tactics were stressed in the Texas A&M workouts yesterday. The Aggies are working out twice daily, Coach Homer Norton said, and promised the College Station lads a rough session each workout.

Baylor university girded for a tough session with TCU Saturday, as Coach Bill Henderson sent his Bears through a rugged workout. Henderson reported that Jack Price, former Penn state and North Carolina pre-flight star, was the only man on the sidelines yesterday. Henderson said he will not be out for several days with an injured foot.

Southwest Conference Football Coaches Not Satisfied With Showings of Teams

By The Associated Press

Southwest conference coaches, not satisfied with their respective team's finer points in last Saturday's tussles, had their charges brush over the rough spots in yesterday's workouts.

Most of the southwest elevens came through Saturday's battles in good physical condition. Only Rice suffered. Owl Coach Jess Neely, whose youngsters bowed before Corpus Christi naval air station, 26-13, after the Corpus battle, but all of us should be ready Saturday against LSU with the exception of Danny Senuta, guard and probably Bruce Bradbeer."

In Austin, Texas university Longhorn Coach D. X. Bible, labled steering last Saturday against Bergstrom army air field, as "junior high school booting." The Texas lads had a tough time taking the airmen, 13-7, but came out of the scrap with no injuries.

Coach Matty Bell isn't taking any chances with his potent Southern Methodist Mustangs. Bell sent his ponies through a tough workout yesterday in preparation for their game with Corpus Christi last Saturday. Bell his his offensive blocking was ragged, and the Mustangs were rehearsed in running plays all afternoon.

reparation of Russian nations. The present snag in the latter problem is on the formula for deciding just who is Russian, in view of frontier changes.

Among the many other questions which the ministers failed to settle and which they turned over to the deputies is the problem of Chinese claims on Italy, which were disclosed today. One official source said this was China's only proposal during the meeting. Details were unavailable, but apparently the demands were modest, since little argument reportedly was raised.

But the Chinese claims were important with regard to whether France and China should be permitted to help write peace treaties in they did not sign armistices.

He also favored a section of the bill which would end the exemption of certain agricultural processing industries from minimum wage and overtime pay requirements.

making it clear that he is the highest authority in Japan, MacArthur meanwhile clamped other controls over more lightly on Japan's political and economic life.

Latest decrees forbade making arms, ammunition and aircraft; promised priorities necessary for production of food, clothing and various required large reporting of virtually every large-scale financial transaction. Unshackled the Japanese press; and spurred democratic education.

Emperor Hirohito, who well-informed Japanese say soon will call upon MacArthur in person, meanwhile offered no answers to questions about the extent of his prior knowledge of Pearl Harbor plans and his own specific role in the war's beginning.

Military authorities continued their roundup of suspected war criminals and reported today that Nobuyuki Abe, Japanese ex-governor permitted to remain under guard in his Tokyo home due to illness. He will be removed to jail upon recovery, officers said, to await questioning or trial as one of the men of MacArthur's "wanted" list.

Emperor Hirohito, in questions submitted through the premier's office some time ago by the Associated Press specifically was asked the extent of his information about the Pearl Harbor attack; about Japanese atrocities; and whether he received general information from the American shortly before the war.

He also was queried on what steps he took to implement his information concerning the vital developments, and on names of his principal advisers.

No official explanation was given for the ruler's silence on these questions.

Joe, 15, which concerned the use of a car belonging to Joe, investigating juvenile officers were told.

"I was afraid he would kill Joe when he came home," Geneva said. "He beat all of us and threatened to kill Joe several times." Joe later stated, "When Mom was around she could control him, but when she was gone he would take out on us." There are two other children, Juanita, 13, and Sam, 10.

The quarrel between Joe and Mr. Barker began about 7 p. m. Sunday when Joe and four other boys went home in Joe's car. "While the boys were working on the car, father told Joe's friends to leave the place. He drew a knife and started after them," Geneva said.

Continuing, she told how her father jacked up the car, took both front wheels from it and cut some of the wiring. The shooting took place a few minutes later.

Joe said he did not think Geneva had ever fired a gun before. The .22 rifle used was one which Joe used on a farm where he worked.

Funeral services for Mr. Barker will be held this afternoon in Briggs chapel. Burial will be in Memorial Park cemetery.

Strikes

a dispute over wages. Another 2,000 in Montana awaited a call to join the walkout.

The walkout of 61,700 lumber and sawmill workers in five western states brought to a head yesterday one of the country's biggest single disputes over wages. AFL workers in Oregon, Washington, California, Idaho and Montana were immediately affected, while 2,000 additional union members in Montana awaited a call to join the walkout.

Three other strikes yesterday added 22,000 to the mounting list of idle. They included 15,000 CIO workers of the New York Shipbuilding corporation in the Philadelphia-Camden, N. J., area. The huge yard where eight navy ships are under construction, closed, as the workers went on a sitdown, their second within a week.

Other stoppages in the last 24 hours idled 5,000 at the Western Cartridge company plant in East Alton, Ill., and 2,000 workers at the Simmons company in Kenosha, Wis.

The strike, in its second week, has crippled production in six states-Texas, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Ohio and West Virginia, and threatens to spread to other major petroleum-producing areas. Scores of cities have felt the pinch of gas shortages. The union, as in the case of the CIO UAW in Detroit, is seeking a 30 per cent wage increase.

An Odessa, Texas, union official said today CIO oil field union workers in the vast permian basin of Texas were setting up machinery for a plan for "entering the wage fight which has already involved thousands of oil workers throughout the nation."

L. B. Cooper of Odessa, secretary of Local 413, Oil Workers International union, made his announcement as the strike-paralyzed oil industry on the Texas Gulf coast awaited word from a mediation conference in Chicago. (See story in Column 4).

As the Chicago conference prepared to meet at 2 p.m. (CWT) 22,000 Texas workers in the coastal section remained off their jobs.

The union is pressing demands for 32-hours pay for a 40-hour work week, and other concessions.

Involved in the dispute spreads to the permian basin will be oil field workers such as drillers, pipe line employees, employes at storage facilities, and rig builders.

One estimate at Odessa placed the number at more than 5,000. Figures from the Odessa chamber of commerce show 14,000 producing wells in the permian basin.

Cooper announced that local unions in the permian basin were holding meetings this week setting up policy committees.

"As soon as all local unions have turned in their lists of policy committee members a call will go out for a general policy committee meeting tentatively set for Oct. 3 at a central point in the permian basin," Cooper's statements said.

"Out of this meeting will come a plan of entering the wage fight which has already involved thousands of oil workers throughout the nation."

Cooper did not announce the place the central meeting would be held.

Some of the oil companies which operate in the permian basin are Atlantic Refining, Bardnall, Cities Service, Continental, Cosen, Gulf, Mid-Continent, Phillips, Shell, Sinclair, Stanolind, and the Texas company.

to utilize broom corn and the numerous species of yucca plants; and many others including a celanese factory, cheese factory, cotton by-products plants, cornstarch factory and a corn sugar factory.

As for industrial or machine plants, Blanton recommended an agricultural implements assembly plant, chemical plants, cord tire fabric mill, electrical appliance industry, garment factory, liquor distillery, printing ink factory, and others.

Blanton recommended that in planning for further development here, special effort should be devoted to the establishment of chemurgic industries—those which extract from farm products.

Such manufacturing and processing enterprises would be designed for actual production as small, unit-type plants, their expansion to be made as development of business justifies.

Also, provision should be made for the reconversion of small industries in the city to meet the peacetime expansion that is being to come.

Pampa has great potentialities as an industrial center and its citizens should begin to try to take advantage of these opportunities and make Pampa the industrial center of the North Panhandle.

project, if successful, will last for 20 years.

The American Petroleum Institute has placed the facilities of its organization solidly behind the huge project, said to be one of the largest of its kind. It will embrace the entire West Pampa oil field in which is located over 1,000 producing wells.

Neslage said that the greatest need at the present time is to secure teachers to instruct the men who will have an active part in the project.

The engineer added that many persons do not know just how the project will be operated and the classes will be held to more fully acquaint the men of the industry with the science of repressuring.

In addition to Neslage, members of the special committee are: Earl Gray, Shell Oil company, Hal Nabors, Continental, J. W. Cherven, Texas company, E. C. Caplin, Stanolind, Norman Perkins, Phillips Petroleum, Dallas Bowsher, Skelly Oil company, Clyde Conover, Cities Service, and F. S. Thompson, Sinclair Prairie.

More than a hundred applications for new television stations from coast to coast are on file with the FCC. Manufacturers say they can furnish workable receiving sets a year after civilian production is authorized.

Of course, some sections of the country may have to wait much longer to enjoy television. Especially where distances are greater and audiences smaller, it will take more time to establish stations. So television will reach some of us much later.

However, there are many other electrical appliances for which you won't have to wait so long. For example, that tried and true kitchen helper, the electric range, will bring you clean, cool, flameless cooking. Naturally, it will be present in a new and improved model.

New electric refrigerators will be available, with "zoned cold," for each of the principal foods; quick-freezing compartments; frozen storage. Or if you want more freezing space, home quick-freezers will be available as entirely separate units.

Don't forget the electrical sink! In the dishwasher section, electricity will wash and dry your dishes, relieving you of that after-every meal chore. Thanks to electricity, you will merely touch another switch, and your garbage disposal problem will be solved. When planning your home of tomorrow—make it All-Electric!

Hirohito

THE EMPEROR, WHO STOOD WITH HIS hands rigidly at his sides about a foot before me, asked me where I had come from and expressed the hope that I would interpret accurately the Japanese scene. I assured him that I would.

Klueckhorn said he had submitted a list of written questions to the Emperor and that Hirohito had the answers already prepared.

The Emperor told correspondent that food and housing were Japan's two paramount problems. Once the Japanese people have been fed and clothed, he said, it will be comparatively easy to carry out the needed reforms within Japan, which he said he thought would make for the general peace of the world.

Hirohito said that it was his earnest desire that the necessary changes in Japan would be carried out in line with the general will of the people expressed through constitutional procedure.

The Emperor also said that he confidently hoped that Japan in due course would regain what he termed her rightful place in the community of nations through peaceful contributions toward the enhancement of culture and civilization.

Klueckhorn's final question was: "Does the Emperor himself not feel that the latest weapons of war have made thoughts of future wars intolerable?"

"To this," Klueckhorn said, "the Emperor replied that he did not believe an enduring peace could be established and maintained at the point of the bayonet or by the use of the weapons of war."

EXECUTIVE BOARD Adobe Walls Council executive board members of the Boy Scouts, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock in the City commission room, with President W. B. Weathered conducting the session.
