Advanced Population Figures Give City 3,949; County 7,241

Hall County population—7,241; Memphis population—3,949. These figures were released Wednesday by Mrs. Wilma Martin, Hall County Crew Leader, after she had talked by long distance telephone to the office of the District Supervisor of the 1960 Census of Population and Housing, Clyde Cook in Amarillo.

The official release on these figures have not been received yet. These figures when they arrive will have the population breakdown of each of the towns in the county.

If these figures remain unchanged, Memphis will have gained 146 persons since 1950, and will have gained 80 persons since 1940. The official population of Memphis in 1950 was 3,803, and in 1940, 3,869.

The County's population continued its decline over the past 20 years. This year's figure of 7,241 is 3,641 less than the figure for 1950. In 1950 the county had a population of 10,882, and in 1940 it was 12,117.

This means that today 54.4 per cent of the county's population is living in Memphis, whereas in 1950 only 35 per cent lived in the county seat.

The population figures of the other towns in the county will be released in the near future.

Balloting To Be Held Sat. In First Democratic Primary

Hall County voters will go to the polls Saturday to make their preference known in the First Democratic Primary. Election supplies were delivered this week, and officials will be ready at 8 a. m. for Saturday's balloting.

Local political observers are predicting a smaller-than-usual vote in the county this year, as compared to other Presidential election years.

According to a report from the county clerk's office there were 72 absentee ballots cast in the election at the close of voting Tuesday.

Interest in politics during the current campaign has been increasing slightly as the election

Citizens who refuse to present their poll tax receipts, upon which the word "Democrat" would be stamped, will not be permitted to vote in Saturday's primary. This was emphasized by newscasts Wednesday morning following an announcement by the attorney-general, Will Wilson. The attorney-general's opinion, which was quoted, clarified a portion of the new election law which was passed at the last session of the legislature.

There is only two county offices which have more than one contestant for each place.

There are three men running for Commissioner of Precinct No. 1. Edwin Hutcherson, the incumbent, is seeking re-election, and G. A. (Garvis) Davis and E. S. (Peck) Morrison are seeking election to the office.

For Commissioner, Precinct No. 3, O. R. Lambert, the incumbent, is seeking re-election, and his opponent for the office is Lura E. Marcum.

Unopposed candidates seeking re-election to county offices are: Melissa Anderson for County Tax Assessor-Collector; W. P. Baten, Jr., for Sheriff. Sim Goodall is the only candidate for County Attorney.

In the District races, Luther Gribble of Collingsworth County is seeking re-election as District

City Seeks State Water Approval

Members of the Memphis City Council heard a report Tuesday night at their regular monthly meeting concerning the obtaining of federal Hill-Burton funds for the proposed county hospital to be built here.

Dr. H. R. Stevenson and Dick Fowler appeared before the Council. They reported that the un-only thing standing in the way of the obtaining of Hill-Burton funds.

They said that they met with the directors of the Donley County Water Control and Improvement District No. 1 Monday night, May 2, and discussed the matter of obtaining state approval of the city's water supply with them.

It was the opinion of the directors, they added, that the approval could be obtained if the district abandoned approximately 11 infiltration wells which are now in production and relocate the chlorination equipment.

However, the directors pointed out, that the city's franchise with the district would have to be renewed and amended. The amendment would be on the statement—"District have a water supply in such quantity."

Mayor H. J. Howell appointed Aldermen M. E. McNally, Jr., and E. E. Roberts to arrange for a meeting, and to meet with officials of the water district and work out necessary agreement to secure state approval of the Memphis water supply.

The Council approved the purchase of a new air conditioner for the fire department's dormitory and the repairing of the American LaFrance fire truck which is stationed at the Memphis Compress.

The Council adopted the motion that a public notice be placed on the bulletin board that a public hearing on the city's budget will be held at 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, June 7, in the City Hall.

The reports were read and received by the Council, and the members voted to pay the monthly bills.

Fire Hazard Inspection Teams To Be Here Wed.

Fire clubs, and the Memphis Public Schools have been and will be having a special program this week and the first of next on the Wide Fire Hazard Inspection, which is scheduled for Wednesday, May 11.

Bill Leslie, chairman of the fire affairs committee of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce and Hall County Board of Delegates said that a special program was presented to the Rotary Tuesday, and to the Lions Wednesday at their regular meetings.

The civic affairs committee and Memphis Volunteer Fire Department are jointly sponsoring a special day.

On the fire inspection day, Wednesday, approximately 30 special teams for capital stock fire insurance companies will search out town's potential fire hazards.

Marking and marking fire hazards are they burst into flame will be the purpose of these men.

Each commercial and industrial building within the city will be inspected by two of the men from the association, who will be accompanied by a Boy Scout.

"Fix me" tags will mark danger spots and suggestions for correcting them will be left for the owners and tenants, Fire

Lloyd Ward said.

After the inspections have been completed the men will make their report to the city fire marshal, a copy will be mailed to the office of the organization.

In conjunction with the commission inspection, Leslie said, an inspection of local residences of the city will be conducted. This will be handled by students from the schools, who will be issued forms. Each student will visit his or her home and present his report to the report.

We are planning to give a prize to the room which turns in the best overall report," Leslie said.

Members of the visiting inspection team will appear in assemblies at the two elementary schools, where special costumes depicting such characters as "Fire Bug," etc., will be seen. These characters will circulate around the business district of Memphis during the day, Wednesday.

"There is nothing mandatory or compulsory about the program," the men emphasized. "It is a volunteer inspection program which has been adopted by the chamber of commerce and the fire department. We want the people to accept it for its benefits to our community as a whole.

"As is well known, the final authority on fire hazards rests with the fire marshal. The team will report on fire hazards as they find them, and these reports will

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

Mesquite robs 55 million acres of Texas rangelands of precious moisture and plant foods each year. Often it is necessary to control mesquite in order that the ranch achieve and maintain sufficient grass for production to support livestock.

The ranchman seeks the most economical way to control mesquite and at the same time keep his livestock production and his natural range resources improving. A variety of chemical and mechanical methods can be used to solve these problems.

"Mesquite Control" is a new extension publication which may be obtained from any county agent, and it goes into detail on the various means of chemical and mechanical control that can be used.

A farmer or ranches should consider the type of brush control that is best suited to his farm or ranch depending on the amount of brush and the kind and amount of grasses that he has. The men of the Soil Conservation Service assisting the Hall County Soil Conservation District will be glad to help anyone desiring information on brush control. Cost share for brush control may be obtained from the local ASC office through the Agricultural Conservation program. Cost sharing is based upon the type of brush and the method in which the brush is controlled.

Mechanical methods of brush control are: hand grubbing, root cutters, anchor chains, shredders, root plows and stingers. These methods should be practiced during the season when the grass can make the fastest recovery. Some rangeland may need reseeding at time of brush control to make a good recovery.

Chemicals that can be used include kerosene, diesel oil, and 2,4-D or 2,4,5-T, and should be applied after the trees have leafed out good in the spring.

For more information about brush control, contact local SCS technicians.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM YOUR CAPITOL

Thursday is "speak now or forever hold your peace" day in the state. To say the least, the voter does not express an opinion on the polls and precinct conventions this week should hold his breath about what happens in Texas during the next two years. A number of important decisions to office holders will be made Saturday. Once made, they are final—for two years or even four years.

At this point in the campaigns, almost all candidates and their supporters believe that if there is a big enough turnout Saturday, their side will win handsly. And those who aren't pleased with the way things turn out likely will blame it on those who don't bother to show up.

Equally as important as the primaries are the precinct conventions to be held the same day. This is the only means by which the individual voter can participate in the selection of the presidential nominee.

New Highway Signs Due

New highway signs, bigger and more colorful than any used before, will begin appearing soon on the interstate highways in Texas.

Highway Commission has ordered the posting of route markers and guide signs on 707 miles of interstate highway now completed or under construction in the state.

proportion of its tax revenues on education now than it did 10 years ago.

This statement was issued by the Texas State Teachers Association in support of its drive for enactment of the Hale-Aiken program for school improvement.

In 1958-59, says the report, Texas spent 29.67 cents of each tax dollar for public school education. In the last completed school year the percentage was 27.68 cents of each dollar.

During that period public school spending more than doubled—from $156,000,000 to $322,000,000—to keep pace with a 51 per cent increase in students and 49 per cent increase in teachers. But spending for other purposes increased faster.

Gov. Price Daniel again has said that he would like to call a special session after the elections to erase the deficit and raise teachers' pay. But he also said it would depend on getting agreement from legislators.

Costly Error

Texas Supreme Court has returned to district court for retrial a case involving a $100,000 mistake in arithmetic.

An employee of an Arlington contractor made the error in submitting a bid of 534,175 instead of $634,226 to the school board for a school building job. After the bid was accepted by the board, the contractor discovered the error and refused to carry out the contract.

Board then awarded the bid to the second low bidder and sued the first contractor for the $36,278 difference between the second low bid and the bid they had first accepted.

Supreme Court members disagreed on the case, wrote three different opinions, but all agreed it should be re-tried.

How Big the Grounds

State Building Commission is awaiting an attorney general's opinion before putting in sidewalks to the new state buildings.

Reason for the precaution is that the Legislature passed a bill in 1957 stating that nothing could be built on the Capitol grounds without specific permission from the Legislature. And the Legislature did not provide for sidewalks.

Who Owns the Oil?

Another question under consideration by the attorney general's department is "who owns rights to the minerals under county roads."

Request for an opinion was submitted by Jack Cook, county attorney of Kleberg County.

Ultimately to be decided is whether state and local government can claim the right to mineral development of the right of way of some 228,000 miles of streets and highways in Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Allen left Monday morning for Rochester, Minn., where Mr. Allen will go through Mayo Clinic.

Ferguson Is Given 20-Year Burlington Pin

J. W. Ferguson was presented the 20-year Burlington Route service pin at a line celebration April 30 at Fort Worth for old-time employees of the line.

Ferguson was an employee for railroad lines 33 years. He went to work for Texas Central as a warehouse foreman in 1906 at Stamford.

He worked six years with the Central and then went to work for the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad until 1918.

He then was employed by the Wichita Line of the Burlington System, where he served as warehouse foreman. During his 20 years of employment with this line he worked as a general clerk, yard clerk, cashier, and warehouse foreman.

He retired the last day of June, 1939. Ferguson will be 86 years old July 26.

During the 50 years after 1770, steam road vehicles came into limited use, in 1830 they were forced off public roads onto private right-of-ways (because they frightened horse-drawn vehicles and impeded pedestrians) and thus the steam vehicle known as the railroad was developed rather than the automobile.

marking system will be stop signs. Completion of the 41,000-mile system of controlled access roads will make possible coast-to-coast and border-to-border driving without a stop sign or traffic light.

Motorists soon will become familiar with the interstate marker—a red, white and blue shield. Texas Highway Department designed the shield which later was adopted for the entire national system.

All markers and guide signs will be larger than usual. Advance exit signs will be placed about two miles ahead of interchanges to give motorists plenty of time to plan their next move.

Guide signs will have white letters and symbols on a green background, and signs for rest and service areas will have green letters on a reflectorized white background. Warning and yield signs will remain in the familiar yellow and black but will grow in dimensions.

Texas leads the nation in the number of miles of interstate highways completed and under way. Texas' allotment is 3,033 miles of which 697 are finished and 259 are in some stage of progress.

Gladiola Land (that's Texas and a little bit more) could give the rest of the country lessons in home baking. Nobody makes biscuits, pies and cakes the way the ladies make 'em here.

Nobody's so fussy about flour, either—and that's fine with us. We're fussy, too. That's why Gladiola Flour is like no other flour made. Naturally, it outsells every other brand.

As for the folks in Porcupine, S.D., what they don't know won't hurt 'em. Snow-white Gladiola Flour isn't for them—it's for you. And it costs only about 1/4¢ a day more than the cheapest brand at your store.

Texas Democrats Warn Republicans To "Keep Out" of Saturday's Primary

Texas Republicans Monday were bluntly informed that the Democratic Primary on May 7 is open to Democrats only.

A "GOP Keep-Out" sign was erected by State Democratic Committee Chairman J. E. Conally of Abilene.

Conally declared: "The purpose behind the State's new 'Party Affiliation' law is to keep members of one political party from participating in the affairs of another party."

"A person who votes in the Democratic Primary on May 7 will have his poll tax receipt or exemption certificate stamped 'Democrat' and this affiliates him with the Democratic Party. He cannot then participate in the Republican Party during the poll tax year."

"The policy behind this new law was laid down at our last State Democratic Convention. Our platform on party integrity calls for strengthening laws relating to primaries and conventions to keep people within their own parties. The Legislature amended the Texas Election Code to incorporate this policy under a 'Party Affiliation' law."

"The State Democratic Executive Committee has had many inquiries from people who want to vote in the Democratic Party's primary on May 7, and then take part in Republican conventions. This can't be done, under our new laws. A person affiliates himself as either a Democrat or a Republican on May 7. He can't be both."

Conally pointed out that the primary election judges are required, under the law, to stamp "Democrat" on all poll tax receipts, exemption certificates or affidavits of loss. A stamped certificate of affiliation will be furnished those who aren't required to have a poll tax receipt or exemption certificate.

The political conventions are open only to those who have affiliated themselves with a party. In the case of Democrats, a person must vote in the May 7 primary in order to attend his precinct convention, be a delegate, or hold any Party office.

RAYMOND BALLEW

The House of Quality

From a bank balance of $50,000,000 in 1956, the past Legislature has plunged the State of Texas to $80,000,000 in the red. To operate at a deficit is even against the State Constitution.

The 1959 "do nothing" Legislature left the State government in a mess. They got carried away with the new air conditioning system and wanted to remain in session continuously. And the present representative who is seeking a third term, did nothing to speed up the legislative process in spite of the fact that he was ready to vote for just any tax bill as was publicly stated in the Official House Journal.

IT IS TIME TO RETURN THE STATE TO THE "TRUE DEMOCRATS" AND HONEST REPRESENTATION.

Miss Joan Edwards Returns Home After Week's Vacation In Hawaii

Miss Joan Edwards returned home Monday after a week's vacation in Hawaii. She flew to Los Angeles where she joined a group of college students from South California. Miss Gloria Harbinger, Memphis resident now living in Los Angeles, accompanied her on the tour.

The group visited the Islands of Hawaii, Maui, and Kauai. Points of interest include: Harbor Navy Yard, pineapple cannery and sugar mills, Queen Emma Museum, Diamond Head Blow Hole.

On the Island of Maui, they visited the Haleakala Crater, the largest volcano which towers 10,032 feet above the sea. They also saw Mauna Kea, the volcano which erupted in November, 1959.

On the Island of Kauai they saw the first sugar plantation founded in 1835, the summer home of Emma now a private estate, Waimea Canyon sculptured volcanic rock of varying colors. Though lacking the grandeur of the Grand Canyon, it is that famous area in exquisite coloring.

Miss Edwards also attended a Luau or Hawaiian Kings. Probably no occasion or ceremony is more colorful, more exotic, more unusual, more typically Hawaiian than the Luau. There is delicious Kalua pig, chicken and long rice, poi, lomilomi salmon, pineapple, cononut pudding, cononut cake and papai juice," Miss Edwards said.

Social Security Pays When You Become Disabled

Some people in the Panhandle may be losing social security benefits to which they are eligible according to Hal Geldon, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

A person who has been totally and continuously disabled for a period of at least six months and who has been employed or self-employed in work covered by the Social Security Act for approximately five out of the ten-year period before disability began, may be entitled to a disability freeze. April, 1950, is the first month farm operators can meet this requirement. Freezing means protecting the person's social security investment, and the period of disability will not count against time. This applies to persons under 50.

"If you are at least 50 years of age and meet the requirements for a disability freeze, you may be entitled to a monthly disability benefit," Geldon said. Geldon emphasized that all disabled workers including farmers who have questions regarding the disability protection under the Social Security Act should get in touch with their local social security office now. The district office located at 1006 Adams, Amarillo, serves 26 Texas Panhandle counties.

Piano Students Receive High Ratings by Judge

Ninety-two piano students were heard by Mrs. Opal Cotton of Wichita, Kans., the adjudicator for the Memphis Center here last week.

The Piano Guild Auditions were held from Tuesday through Saturday of last week at the First Methodist Church.

Students were graded by four classifications, Miss Gertrude Rasco, local chairman of the center, said. The ratings include Critic's Circle, which is a superior plus rating; Citywide Circle, which is excellent to superior; School Circle and Family Circle. The School rating means the student is qualified to play for the family and school and the Family rating indicates the student is qualified to play in the home.

Of the 92 students playing in the auditions 87 students made the Citywide Circle Rating which is excellent to superior plus. Two of these students were High School Diploma students who played 15 piece program for the judge. All were given pins and certificates for their fine efforts.

"All this adds up to the fact that the parents, students and teachers are doing a good job together, and everyone can be grateful and proud of the interest manifested in music in our town, Miss Rasco said.

Suspects Nabbed For Burglaries In Estelline

Two suspects of the burglaries at Estelline last Thursday night have been apprehended, Sheriff W. P. Baten, Jr., said this week.

Cicero Smith Lumber yard and "Doc" Rogers Grocery Store in Estelline were burglarized Thursday night about midnight, Sheriff Baten said.

Otis Clifford Lopez was apprehended Friday in Childress. Coleman Pinkerton, Jr., was taken into custody Saturday morning at Big Springs. Another man is still being sought by law enforcing officers.

The lumber yard office was entered through an old air conditioned vent. A hole was cut in the cyclone fence. The fire safe was entered an $1.75 was taken. The change from the Dr. Pepper machine, knives, a wire cutter set, and a screw driver were also taken.

The grocery store was entered through the back door. A watch, cigarette lighter, Baby Ruth candy, and two one-half gal. of orange juice was taken. The two men are awaiting a hearing by the county Grand Jury.

Sheriff Baten, Ranger J. P. Lynch, and Deputy Sheriff Elmer Neel worked on the case to apprehend the suspects.

Jay Dunbar Wins Jr. High Tourney

Jay Dunbar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Dunbar, won the Junior High golf tournament by turning in a 36-hole medal total of 177, averaging 44.25 strokes per round.

Larry Parks took second place honors, finishing only one stroke behind Dunbar with a 178. Jimmie Harrison was third with 180 and Larry Wynn placed fourth with 181.

Golf Coach Clinton Voyles said he was very pleased with the conduct of the boys in the tournament, and that he believed the young golfers enjoyed the keen competition. He pointed out that only four strokes separated the top four contestants.

COTTON BURS VALUABLE

Cotton burs could be worth $2.5 million to farmers of West Texas, authorities estimate. About 400,000 tons of burs are produced annually in the area. Each ton, it is estimated, contains about 16 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphorus, and 16 pounds of potash. These nutrients are worth about .650.

Burs also improve the physical condition of the soil. Use of burs, instead of burning them at gins, helps reduce fire hazards.

Trapshoot To Be Held Here Sunday

Shotgun shooters of the area were invited to participate in a trapshooting contest to be held here Sunday, May 8, by C. T. Snowdon, president of the Memphis Rifle and Pistol Club.

In making the announcement, Snowdon said that non-members as well as members of the local club could participate in the event, which will start at 1 p. m. The winner of each contest will be awarded a prize.

Two regulation trap layouts will be fired over. Shooters will fire from the 16-yard mark; then, in case of a tie, drop back to the 25-yard line.

The range is located on the airport property, approximately one mile northeast of the city.

Editorial

Government Under Law

May 1 was "Law Day U.S.A." a day set aside for dedication to government under law. The basic rights guaranteed all citizens under our constitution, recognized as a "rule of law" are: life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

In commenting upon how the people enjoy these rights, the State Bar of Texas made the following comment recently:

First, men and women must want these rights. There are many who are willing to go without some of their rights rather than bear the responsibilities that go with them. Furthermore, a lot of us are all for our own rights but don't care about those of the other fellow. But our own rights are safe only for as long as we are willing to go to the defense of the rights of others.

Second, we must have a government genuinely concerned about the rights of the people and willing not only to state what these are but to enforce them. Millions of people are living under governments that have no such policy. We in America do have such policy.

Third, there must be the necessary facilities for doing the job under a rule of law.

These we have in our courts of law — the representatives of the vast judicial system of our state and nation. Our court houses are the cornerstones of the structure of government under law. Everyone in the courtrooms of the nation — the judge as presiding officer, the attorneys as officers of the court, and other citizens as litigants and jurors — share the responsibility of preserving, strengthening and passing on to future generations this judicial system which unconditionally guarantees equal justice under law.

For those living under the yoke of communism, the sight of a courthouse stirs fear and hopelessness. It evokes dread visions for people who are condemned to live out their lives by edicts or whims of dictators. But in America, the courthouse is the symbol of a free nation. Inside its doors the dignity of man as an individual will be respected and his equality of rights protected.

School Problem

The United States is coming into a new awareness of the problems of schooling due to the missile race, intricacy of industry and the generally more complex problems of society. Our schools are rushing to higher and higher studies of the humanities.

Yet we hear nothing of training youngsters in the skills that make our country the great industrial empire that it is.

Time magazine this week offered a lengthy study on higher education and thus reflected the current attitudes of the nation. We are concerned with the gifted and their advanced education and so much of our public school work is directed that way that we tend to forget vocational education.

Where, on a pre-college level, can a youngster be taught in a public school the operation of a lathe, a mill, a shaper, a jointer, a linotype, a band saw, a belt sander, or a stamping press. Where can he learn metallurgy, leathercraft, pattern-making, die-casting, dynamiting, drilling, tug-boat operation, carpentry, boat-making, riveting, boiler-making, watch-making and ultra-sonic machining?

Every one of these things are basic to our nation, from Castro County on up. A boy unable to attend college can learn a lot of things in high school—but he can't learn how to make a living!

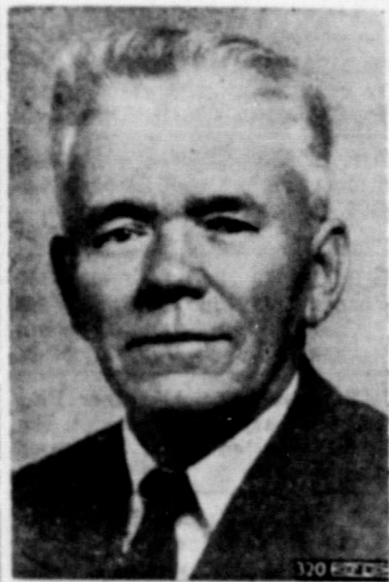

Some educators would argue that it is not a school function to teach manual arts, that craftsmen emerge from on-the-job training. This may or may not be true, but many boys will remember how to sharpen a lathe bit much longer than how to diagram a sentence.

This bone of contention has been tossed around a lot in recent years. We have heard the statement "My boy has a college degree but he doesn't have a trade... he can't make a living." This, and similar instances, happens often enough. What, if anything, should be done? In the first place most high school courses now are necessary to insure some degree of capability in math, English, history and other departments. But a youngster should not have sixteen high school courses crammed into his head only to be dumped out upon the world at age 18 to fend for himself against others for the few poor-paying unskilled jobs.

We think that at least two more years should be offered as optional time to youngsters interested in developing an industrial art. Let the others go on to college, but give the boy who can't go on the opportunity to earn a good-paying wage. It wouldn't cost much to set up a few basic courses in metal working, wood working, mechanics, shopwork, and other manual skills.

Someday we'll have engineers running around with drawings looking in vain for someone to build their machines for them. —Castro County News

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

How should fishermen handle their catch to best preserve their good flavor?

After a survey of this question among veteran fishermen, Hedden research staff came up with the following recommendations:

1. Catch a fish. (Cool logic!) 2. Clean it as soon as possible after catching. Don't drag it behind your boat until it is stiff as a board (like which will taste). 3. Cook it as soon as possible after cleaning it. Flavor sags (so eat it young). 4. Fish gourmets prefer to clean fish as soon as caught, place temporarily in an ice-filled refrigerator bag or chest, then broil at the nearest shore. They say this improves the taste of a fish.

5. You must stash your fish as deep as you can in the deep freeze. Hedden says that you put the fish section in an air-tight container and run for about 25 hours. Obviously, then, any recommended 25-hour checks are due and should be taken care of promptly.

Naturally a few hours of over-timing won't hurt a good motor, but this orderly timekeeping system

ing that you don't like to fish. Save Outboard Fuel Slips

Ever wonder how many hours per year you run your outboard? More important, do you have trouble estimating when your motor's periodic maintenance checks are due?

An easy way to keep surprisingly accurate check on running hours is through gasoline sales slips. It's quite easy over an extended period to determine how much fuel your outboard burns in an hour of average operation.

Of course one must remember that extensive trolling or full-throttle operation can greatly alter your average mileage.

Anyway having this information at hand makes it simple to add up your fuel purchases and arrive at the number of hours a motor must have been operated.

If, for example, your motor burns three gallons per hour and you bought 75 gallons of fuel in a given period, the motor will have run for about 25 hours. Obviously, then, any recommended 25-hour checks are due and should be taken care of promptly.

Naturally a few hours of over-timing won't hurt a good motor, but this orderly timekeeping system only of your mileage and fuel consumption, but of your ports of call and the dates you made the trips.

Points on Refueling
Speaking of fuel, how's your outboard refueling technique? The mark of an expert outboarder is his quick, certain, safe refueling procedure.

By far the best plan for all boats having portable tanks is to take them out of the boat for refueling. It is easier for the dock or service station attendant to add exactly the right amount of oil and to avoid over filling when he has the tank right at his feet. Furthermore, it avoids messy and potentially hazardous spillage of fuel into the bilge.

Gasoline vapor is heavier than air and will collect in the lower levels of any confined space — such as inside a boat hull. Open outboards usually are well ventilated, but in some cases floor boards or bow lockers delay the dissipation of vapors long enough to create some fire hazard.

It is important to mix oil and gasoline thoroughly. If lubricant is poorly mixed with gas, erratic running and poor lubrication may result. There have been cases where erratic motor operation, suggestive of the need for carburetor adjustment, has been traced to owner carelessness in the matter of maintaining a steady oil-gas ratio from one batch of fuel to the next.

To an empty tank, add the required amount of oil and approximately the same volume of gasoline. Slop around to mix thoroughly. Then add the remainder of the gasoline. Too little oil creates a risk of mechanical damage; too much oil leads to irregular, smoky running and premature spark plug and carbon troubles.

Also, smart outboarders make sure there is enough slack in the fuel line to allow the motor to tilt and turn without pulling on it, and that the heavy tank does rest on a loop of hose and pinch it.

Fuel tanks should be secured against shifting. One which comes loose over rough water or on a sharp turn, can damage the boat.

hurt a passenger, or tear the fuel line loose.

And needless to say, the "no smoking" rule should be strictly observed during all refueling operations.

"The objective of the program is to continue to decrease our fire losses, thereby saving our citizens substantial sums of money on their insurance premiums. This movement certainly can't be harmful in any respect."

"Statistics show that more than half of the towns inspected show a decreased fire loss ratio," Fire Chief Ward said.

Ward added that his department is interested in preventing fires as well as combatting them when they happen.

In the West Texas Division of the Fieldmen's Association, there has been a total of 18 communi-

Be a good citizen and Vote

My Sincere Thanks

To the folks in Hall County for your past support. I have enjoyed seeing and visiting with you during this campaign, and I will surely appreciate your vote on Saturday.

I am sorry that my opposition got into a mud-slinging type campaign, but I guess it's like a fellow told me once, "the loser is always the abuser."

The letter below, which is reproduced as a true copy with the permission of the writer, shows the misrepresentation which he has circulated.

Childress, Texas

Dear Representative Ehrle:

In accordance with your request concerning your opponent's alleged false charges in his political propaganda, I have examined and investigated the records and submit to you the following findings:

SALES TAX--I find, according to the records, that you voted AGAINST a proposed Retail General Sales Tax. This vote is recorded at page 1852 of the HOUSE JOURNAL, REGULAR SESSION, 1959, on file in the Texas State Library.

BEER TAXES--I find, according to the records, that you cast your vote FOR increasing the tax on beer. This vote is also recorded in the official HOUSE JOURNAL, REGULAR SESSION, 1959, at page 1828 and is on file in the Texas State Library.

NATURAL GAS PIPELINE TAX--I find, according to the records, that you cast your vote FOR the proposed gas pipeline tax. This vote, also on file in the Texas State Library, is recorded at page 211 of the HOUSE JOURNAL, THIRD CALLED SESSION, 1959. It, too, is on file in the Texas State Library.

You were correct in your statements.

I am certainly glad to be of service to you, and I hope that this information will help you to get the truth before the people of District 88 in your campaign.

Very sincerely yours,
