INAUGURAL FESTIVITIES DUE LOCAL SOUND

JODY NIX

The posh, chandelier-hung ballroom of the Washington Hilton is a long way from the rodeo arenas and VFW halls where Jody Nix is used to fiddling.

But that's just fine with him.

Nix and his band, the Texas Cowboys, are heading east to the big time, the Texas State Society Inaugural Ball in Washington where the dress code calls for tuxedos with Western boots and the door prized include a pickup truck with gun rack.

Cindy Hataway Nix, wife of Jody, will join her husband's dance band as they entertain at the Ball.

She said that the band members and their families will be leaving Thursday, Jan.

19, and will attend Bush's inauguration on Friday. There is a chance the band will be featured also on one of the inaugural parade floats.

Cindy Hataway Nix, who now commutes from Big Spring for her job locally with the Snyder-Scurry Health Unit, performs her individual lounge act independent of her husband's band.

This coming Jan. 21, however, she noted "I'll definitely be up there singing."

"We plan to hit 'em with something they'll really dance to and keep the flow going," Nix said of his band's plans for the bash, to be attended by the new president.

The Jan. 21 event is one of the Capital's hottest tickets among the host of balls, parties and receptions surrounding George Bush's Jan. 20 inauguration.

The $50 tickets sold out in less than 12 hours, and almost 2,000 people are on a waiting list, said Lois Auer, a spokesman for U.S. Rep. Charles Stenholm, D-Stamford, president of the society.

Nix won his invitation to Washington after Stenholm heard the band play at the Stamford Texas Cowboy Reunion rodeo.

When the 5,500 guest in Washington take to the floor and two-step to the sound of the Texas Cowboys, they will be hearing the legacy of a West Texas musical tradition that spans four decades.

Nix, 36, is the son of Hoyle Nix, leader of the West Texas Cowboys and close associate of renowned fiddler Bob Wills, the man who made the swing tune "San Antonio Rose" famous.

"When my dad was a very young man, Bob Wills was just getting started and was the rage like Randy Travis or George Strait is today," said the younger Nix. "He was a big influence on my father, who copied his fiddle playing and the Wills, the front man for the Texas Playboys, and Hoyle Nix met in the 1950's. Over the next 20 years, until Wills' death, the two bandleaders played together at rodeos and dance halls throughout West Texas.

Spending his early years traveling with his father's band laid a strong musical foundation for Nix, who began playing the drums at age 2. By the time he was 8, he was a bona fide member of the West Texas Cowboys, backing his father's fiddling on the drums.

Later he learned to play the fiddle and sang for his dad's band.

"Dad would call me up to show me off or when he wanted to rest,"

LADY COYOTES' COMEBACK DOWNS O'DONNELL

After scoring a quick two baskets, Borden's Lady Coyotes cooled off both from the floor and control and O'Donnell built up as much as an 11 point lead late in the game. But for the second game in a row, Borden put on a giant surge the last quarter and pulled out their second district win 47-40 at O'Donnell last Tuesday. A three point shot by Kate Phinizy with two minutes remaining gave Borden its first lead since the beginning, and key free throws by Lisha Sternadel in the final moments sealed the victory for the Lady Coyotes. This moved the season record to 17-1 and district record to 2-0.

Lisha was the leading scorer for Borden with 22 points followed by Elana Himes had 11. Kate Phinizy connected on 8 followed by Vida Balaque with 4 and Kristi Adcock hit 2. Lisha led in field goal percentage with 50% followed by Kate with 43%. Kristi led in free throw percentage with 100% making 2 of 2. Lisha also led in steals with 6 and Elana had 4. Lisha led rebounds with 11 and Elana had 10, followed by Kristi with 7. Lisha led in a fourth category assists, where she had 4. Turnovers seemed to be the most significant factor in the game where Borden committed an uncharacteristic 36 turnovers which caused the game to remain close throughout. Borden trailed 9-6 at the end of the first quarter and were behind by nine, 25-16, at half-time. Trailing by eleven late in the third quarter, Borden cut the lead to six, 33-27, entering the last stanza. There, the Lady Coyotes put on an excellent comeback outscoring the Lady Eagles 20-7, giving them their first district loss.

The J.V. girls were also victorious in a

JR. HIGH DROPS GAME TO SANDS

Borden traveled to Sands Monday night for their first game after the Christmas break. Gail led after one quarter of play, 9-8, but Sands came back to take the win 34-20. Borden trailed by just 4 at half-time, 13-17, but could only manage two points in the third quarter and was outscored 9-5 in the last.

Leslie Fryar led in scoring for Borden with 9 points followed by Melody Harrison with 7. Jacquelyn McPhaul added two points for the total, as did Mendy Hensley. Also playing for Borden were Jana Kincheloe, Bobbie Armstrong, Erica Nance, Mandi Herring, and Gloria Portales. Borden next plays at home, Monday, January 16, starting at 6:00 against O'Donnell.

different fashion. They never let O'Donnell into the game, winning 50-17. Jumping out to an 18-0 first quarter lead they extended it until midway through the second quarter where O'Donnell scored their first points. Leading 30-7 at half-time, Borden extended their lead to 44-13 before the last stanza. In the 33 point win, Amanda Anderson led in scoring with 22 points followed by Shara Dee Woodward with 12 and Shayne Hess with 10. Kristin Kilmer, Kristin Monger, and M'Lys Lloyd each hit two points for the total. Also playing were Kelly Jo Ogden and A'Lise Lloyd.

The Lady Coyotes will be open January 17. Dawson, their scheduled opponent, has cancelled the remainder of their games due to a lack of number of players. They then travel to Klondike January 20 for an all important district game. The following Tuesday, Borden travels to Sands for another District 16 A game. Both games will begin at 6:30. The J.V. has their next game when they travel to Sands on the 24th. Their game will begin at 5:00.

MUSTANGS RUSH PAST COYOTES 48-20

The Borden County Jr. High Coyotes played a very aggressive game, but the Sands Mustangs just did it a lot better. The Coyotes fought an uphill battle as they took on the taller, better shooting Mustangs. The Mustangs controlled the boards on both ends of the court. They also used a full court press to cause several turnovers, until the Coyotes were able to get the ball to Clint Wills who was able to split the defense with his quickness.

The first quarter score was a close 10 to 4, but the second quarter was a disaster for the Coyotes with a 19-2 disadvantage.

EAGLES SOAR PAST COYOTES 77-63

The O'Donnell Eagles handed the Coyotes their second district loss in as many tries. The Coyotes were not able to keep the Eagles off the boards, especially on the Eagles offensive board as they got shot after shot. The Coyotes were behind 39 to 29 at half-time, but they regrouped in the third quarter to outscore the Eagles 21 to 16 to cut the lead to only 5 points. Things still looked good for the Coyotes until mid-way thru the fourth quarter when fouls began to eliminate Coyote starters. Shane Kemper and Jimmy Rios fouled out and then Brian Bond was lost for the rest of the game.

Lance Latimer had not suited up because of an ankle injury so the Coyotes had every available player on the floor. During that time the Eagles pulled ahead by 14 points.

Brian Bond led Coyotes scorers with 20 points. He also had 10 rebounds, 2 steals, and 2 assists. Cole Vestal had 18 points with 2 steals, 6 rebounds, and 2 assists. Paul Sturdivant had 8 points, 1 steal, and 7 rebounds. Jimmy Rios also had 8 points, 2 steals, 5 rebounds, and 2 assists. Cody Stone had 6 points, 3 steals, 3 rebounds, and an assist. Lance Telchik had 1 point and 1 steal. Eric Lusk had 1 steal and 1 assist.

WILDCATS DEFEAT COYOTES 88-58

The Grady Wildcats gave the Borden County Coyotes a reception equal to the one that the weather gave them. The temperature outside was freezing with light snow falling, but nothing was able to cool off the hot shooting Wildcats. The Wildcats scored 30 points in the opening quarter while the Coyotes were only able to score 12. During that period the Coyotes were forced into 17 turnovers. In their last two games they only had 18 or 19 for the entire game. As a result of the turnovers, the Coyotes only shot the ball 7 times in the quarter.

Things looked differently in the second

John Paul Harris led the Coyote scorers with 9 points. Clint Wills scored 5 points along with his ball handling chores. Clint Anderson, Jeremy Mize and Joe Acosta rounded out the score with 2 points apiece. Brandon Adcock, Shawn Lewis, Ross Hataway, Kirk Jones, Richard Buchanan and Seth Vestal also played, but they did not score.

quarter as the Coyotes had better luck controlling the ball. They also shot 19 times from the field. They also had 6 assist as they managed to beat the Wildcats full court press. The Coyotes outscored the Wildcats 19 to 17 in the quarter.

In both the third and fourth quarter, the Coyotes had trouble getting the shots to fall thru the hoop. They had 52 attempts with only 11 going in for 21%.

The Coyotes leading scorer was Brian Bond with 18 points. He also had 5 steals, 7 rebounds and 4 assists. Cole Vestal scored 11 points and had a season high 14 rebounds, and 2 assists. Paul Sturdivant scored 8 points and had 4 steals, 5 rebounds, and 3 assists. Lance Telchik scored 6 points and had 2 steals and 5 rebounds. Shane Kemper had 3 points, 7 rebounds and 1 assists. Cody Stone scored 2 points, 1 steal, 4 rebounds, and 1 assists. Eric Lusk also scored 2 points and had 1 steal. Lance Latimer had 3 rebounds and an assist.

LADY COYOTES BATTLE PAST GRADY

District games have turned into hard fought battles for the Borden County Lady Coyotes here lately. Friday night was no exception as the girls from Gail overcame many obstacles to finally down a stubborn Grady bunch 45-43. It was the second two point win of the year for the Lady Coyotes over Grady as they defeated the Wildcats in the finals of the Garden City Torunament 55-53. Field goal shooting was the biggest problem of the night for Borden as they could only connect on 17 of 64 from the field for 27%, the lowest shooting percentage of the year for the Lady Coyotes. Borden trailed at the end of the first quarter 14-12 after jumping out to a 10-0 lead early in the game. Grady trailed by three with seconds left in the first half, when a lenght-of-the-court pass and a shot at the buzzer brought them back to within one, 28-27. Excitement began in the third quarter where Lisha Sternadel, who had 13 of Borden's 30 points, was ejected from the game along with a Grady player. Then later, Elana Himes, Kate Phinizy, and Kristi Adcock all fouled out of the game leaving Vida Balaque as the lone starter. The bench came on great and hit some key baskets and held the Lady Coyotes together for the big district win. Amanda Anderson and Julie Harris hit clutch baskets late in the game and Rachel Romero and Amy Lewis came up with big steals to secure the victory. Once again, the Lady Coyotes missed opportunities to put the game away at the free throw line, but came up short on five one-and-one situations in the last minute and a half. Still, it was a great win on the road and lifted the Lady Coyotes to 3-0 in district play and 18-1 on the season. Due to Tuesday night's forfeit win over Dawson, Borden's record expands to 19-1 for the season and 4-0 in district play. This year in District 16 A, district will not be played in halves, but rather overall combined total. Elana and Lisha tied for scoring honors with 13 each followed by Vida and Amanda with 5 each. Kristi had 4 followed by Kate and Julie with 2 each. Amy added 1 to the total. Julie led in field goal percentage with 100%, hitting her only attempt. She was followed by Amanda with 67%. Lisha led in free throw percentage with 71% hitting 5 of 7. Lisha led in steals with 7 followed by Kate with 6 and Vida with 4. Amanda led in rebounds with 7 followed by Elana with 6 and Kate with 5. Kate, Kristi, and Lisha all had 2 assists.

Next game for the Lady Coyotes will be Friday, January 20, at Klondike. Game time will be 6:30. Borden then travels to Sands Tuesday, January 24, to face the Lady Mustangs at 6:30. The remainder of the District games for the girls will be at home.

COACHES' CORNER Bill May

Anyone attending Friday night's game at Grady were probably shocked at the hostility and ugly scene that sometimes occurs during competitive athletics. Under the circumstances, I felt like the Borden players and fans kept their composure as best as possible. Actions in the crowd sometimes far exceed the aggressiveness on the floor, which sometimes only tends to excite players and coaches even more. Still, this should be a good example of the importance of parents to set a good example for your children and to be respectful at home games or away to lessen the chances of a game such as Friday's being repeated. As a coach in Borden County Schools, I am always proud of our kids'

"I played fiddle off and on some but never played it full time until my dad passed away, and then I had to come to the front and start running things," Nix said.

Hoyle Nix died in 1985, and since then his son has carried on with his own six-member band, based in Big Spring.

Backing Nix, who plays the fiddle and sings, are Ricky Boen of Odessa on the fiddle and mandolin, Rick Johnson on steel guitar, Neal Goates on drums and Tommy Harvell of Blackwell on bass.

Nix says the traditional element of his work helps keep him going, and the ties to Wills and his father remain strong. Nix played on Wills' last album in 1973 and returns each year to the fiddler's hometown of Turkey to play with the remaining members of the Texas Playboys at the annual Bob Wills' Day celebration.

And the Texas Cowboys sing a song written by Johnson, about Nix's musical legacy, called "Carrying on the Show."

"I was born in Texas, raised out on a farm;

I grew up on Western swing

Learned to dance out in the barn

Hoyle Nix and Bob Wills put the music in my soul,

Now they're gone, but the fiddle plays on

I'm carrying on the show."

TEXAS TECH RECEIVES SEED MONEY

Every farmer knows that a bountiful harvest begins with the planting of good seed. The $15,000 Texas Agriculture Diversification Program grant being made to Texas Tech University College of Agriculture is seed money that will produce a bountiful harvest of new jobs and businesses throughout the South Plains.

This grant will assist Texas Tech in the establishment of an economically viable demonstration pig feedlot on the University's livestock farm. Texans consume millions of pounds of pork every year, but roughly 80 percent of the pork is produced outside our borders. The absence of a large pork processing industry in Texas is one reason pork production in Texas has been on the decline in recent years.

The $15,000 TAD Grant will be used by Texas Tech University to establish what may be Texas' only experimental pig feedlot. The grant will be coupled with $36,000 from local sources. Construction on the pig feedlot could begin as early as the summer of 1989.

The facility will be used as an educational tool by university students as well as area farmers interested in swine production.

Texas pork producers currently have about $95 million worth of pigs in their inventory. Pork production would need to increase five fold just to meet demand for pork in Texas. This is an income source which could eventually become a $500 million-a-year industry for Texas. The expansion of the pork industry can give West Texans an additional source of jobs and businesses.

This grant was one of 14 awards approved by the Texas Agriculture Diversification Board and announced by Texas Agriculture Commissioner Jim Hightower.

These small matching grants will provide the cash incentive necessary to develop feasibility studies, training programs or actual demonstration projects in such areas as blueberries, pistachios, aquaculture, exotic game, Asian vegetables and greenhouse production. The grants will also be used to develop minority business enterprises.

George Bush's Honeymoon

By Dennis Williams
News USA

Every new president is said to have a short period of time when he can get just about anything he wants. Some say it lasts about 100 days.

Well, the traditional honeymoon runs a little closer to a week, and comments around Washington suggest that tradition is about to be restored to the White House.

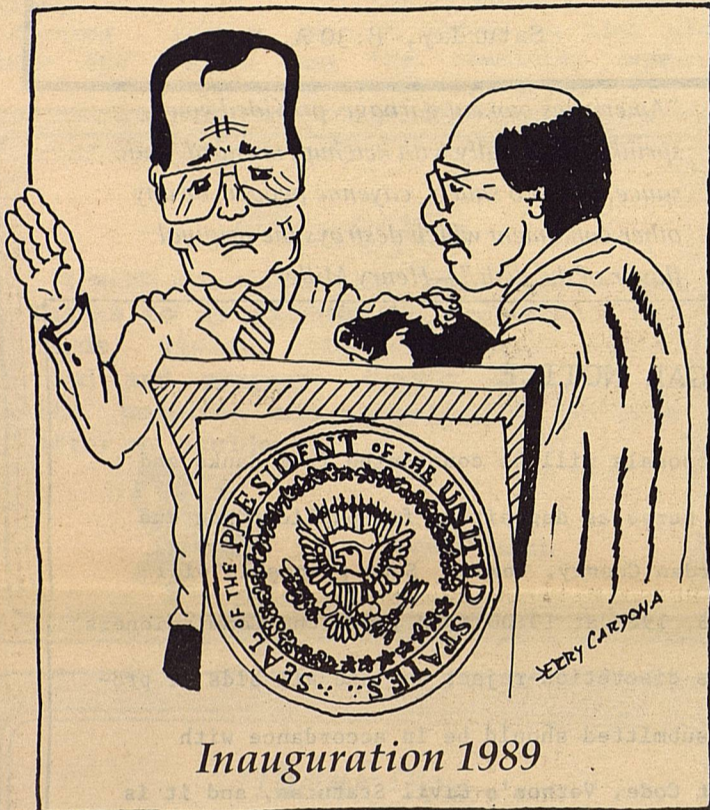

The popular phrase in the Congress is that they are willing to meet the President half way. That's the sort of comment one take a little more money from each of the relatives in taxes or we can stop giving money to others or we can cut the pay of the several million servants we have working around the place.

Still, while some relatives have a pocketful of money, most aren't much better off than George and his Congress.

So all this friendly advice doesn't sound likely to make most people happy.

Shucks, folks. Surely someone around here has a better idea. America is the home of inventions and inventors, the country that expects to hear after a trial separation rather than a blissful marriage ceremony.

We shouldn't expect too much from this honeymoon.

America's voters have given us another shotgun wedding, with no dowry. The couple starts out deeply in debt and with several million dependents crying for food, housing, medical care, and safety from the evils of the world and the neighborhood.

Still, barring a disaster, this forced marriage will last at least four years. Most folks are predicting a stormy relationship with lots of problems and few solutions.

So what else is new?

Despite some rich older relatives, lots of old folks are struggling to get by, their health is going down hill and the bills for repairs keep going up.

The house isn't big enough for all the relatives, some of whom are sleeping in the garage while others are out on the street. The kids are skipping school, and those who stay in school aren't learning much anyway.

We owe everyone we know, and we have to keep borrowing $500 million a day just to make ends meet.

Our rich uncles say we can breaks new ground and finds better ways of doing things.

We're sitting around jawing about tough times while even the Russians are trying to figure out a new way of doing things. They're flying space stations for months on end and we're just talking about space stations.

I don't think most of us like seeing poor folks lying around in the street, especially in the winter. We don't see much sense in people being hungry in a land filled with food. We want our babies to be lively and healthy and we want our children to learn everything they need to know to do well in the world.

Both the President and the Congress may be new to this marriage, but this isn't their first time living with someone else. If they want it to work, they should make it easy for each other. They should see each other's good points and make the best of it.

Gosh, America is an awfully nice place to honeymoon, and now the match has been made, why not get some fun out of it. ☆

Super Bowl Snacks Score Nutritional Touchdown

Do potato chips with onion dip, honey roasted peanuts, pepperoni pizza and various beverages sound like what you'll be serving at your big Super Bowl party for friends and family?

If this is what you had planned to serve, consider this advice from LuAnn Latham, R.D., L.D., a registered dietician at Methodist Hospital. According to Latham, most traditional Super Bowl snack foods score a big nutritional "0" and should be avoided.

Latham advises that hosts should not fear substituting with nutritious snacks will take the fun out of the party, because good taste and nutrition can team up quietly successfully. Try the following low-fat, low-cholesterol tips and score a victory for good nutrition.

Regardless of which team wins, these tasty snacks are guaranteed to please even the most finicky fan. And you'll have the satisfaction of knowing that each item you serve is contributing to the health of your family and friends.

Today's supermarket is well-stocked with tasty snack alternates which are low in salt and saturated fat: two of the biggest nutrition villains. When selecting crackers and nuts, read the labels to determine the best selections. You should also consider the saltless variety of pretzels and popcorn.

Latham recommends, instead of high-caloric/fat/salt laden dips, try stocking up on low-fat yogurt which makes the base for a tasty dip. Mix the yogurt in a blender or food processor with fresh herbs or vegetables (e.g., basil and broccoli), add a little lemon juice and/or skim milk, and you have a delicious dip. (For a spicier version, try a little horseradish, freshly-pressed garlic or hot sauce.)

To complete the line-up, stock up on lots of fresh vegetables which can be served raw with your dips. Try cauliflower, green and red pepper, radishes, mushrooms, zucchini and scallions for a colorful and flavorful platter.

HEALTHY - HEART CHOICES FOR A BUSY LUNCH

When you eat out for lunch every day, making heart healthy food choices can help you feel better, keep your weight down and do your heart a favor!

Here are some suggestions for lunches, whether you eat at a fine restaurant or a fast food store:

Visit the salad bar and load up with garbanzo beans or kidney beans. They are rich in the same type of soluble fiber oat bran contains. Avoid potato salad, pasta salad, bean salad, or slaw, all of which are loaded with oil or mayonnaise.

Fill your plate with veggies; put a tablespoon of oil/vinegar based dressing on the side. Add an oat bran muffin and a serving of fresh fruit.

A good sandwich choice is turkey or whole-wheat bread with lettuce, tomato, and spicy mustard.

At a fast-food restaurant, the best choice may be a plain hamburger with lettuce, tomato, pickles and mustard.

Eating broiled fish twice a week may reduce saturated fat intake while adding variety to noontime meals. But fried fish and fish sandwiches will just add fat to your diet.

Other good entree choices are bean burritos; soft chicken or beef tacos al carbon with a lettuce and tomato topping; spaghetti with a tomato or mushroom sauce; Chinese dinners with bean curd as the main ingredient; and chicken breast baked without the skin.

GUARDING YOUR GLITTER AND TRIMS

The adhesive used to adhere trims such as sequins, beads, and glitter to fabrics will often determine the serviceability of the article.

In many cases, trims that are sewn on will have greater resistance to damage in cleaning procedures than trims that are adhered to the surface. Adhesive that lacks resistance to dry cleaning solvents will alter decorative trims when cleaned. In addition to this, solvents may affect the surface colors applied to the trims.

Check decorative trims on garments carefully prior to cleaning and discuss any damage or loss of trim with the dry cleaner when dry cleaned. Many times the professional dry cleaner cannot accurately predetermine the resistance of all trims through the cleaning procedures. Garments of this type are covered under the Federal Trade Commission's Care Labeling Rule, which clearly states decorative trim must be compatible with the care instructions on the label. Trim lacking the necessary resistance to a care procedure should be returned to the retailer for an adjustment.

SKIN CARE ALERT

Good News! One company recently introduced a new product made to clean skin better than soap. Researchers at Chesebrough-Ponds created Pond's Cold Cream Water Rinsable Cleanser for normal and sensitive skin in response to requests for a product with the benefits of cold cream that rinses away clean and leaves the skin soft and smooth. ***

Thanks to new products such as the cleanser, basic skin care is now easier for millions of women.

TEXAS BEEF COOK-OFF

Hospitality is the prime ingredient in each year's Texas and National Beef Cook-Offs. Of course, there're also two top cash prizes--$3,000 and $15,000--that add some spice to the whole affair.

Texas CattleWomen host the Texas Beef Cook-Off, the nation's only national cooking event run by a volunteer network of 10,000 women associated with the cattle industry. This huge volunteer contingent consistently puts on one of the best organized--yet most friendly and congenial--annual series of state and national contests in the entire food industry.

This year's Texas Beef Cook-Off will be held April 27-28 at Prude Ranch in Fort Davis, Texas. Ten finalists will be selected to receive VIP treatment in the true Western style and will compete for the $3,000 top prize. Second and third prizes will be $2,000 and $1,000, respectively.

The Texas winner will join 62 other contestants at the 16th National Beef Cook-Off, to be held Sept.17-19 in Portland, Oregon. Approximately 300 CattleWomen will host outdoor barbecues, banquets, and working ranch tours, provide gifts and designated assistants to aid contestants throughout the contest, and generally make contestants feel like pampered guests.

And if that's not enough, the CattleWomen are offering a top prize of $15,000 for the year's best beef recipe, one of the highest cash awards on the contest circuit.

Previous two-time Cook-Off judge Julia Child has commended the CattleWomen not only for their professionalism, but their ability to maintain such a relaxed and friendly atmosphere for such a large event. The late James Beard, also a two-time Cook-Off judge, said the Cattle-

Women's extra-mile efforts were one of the primary reasons for the Cook-Off's tremendous success.

The 1989 National Beef Cook-Off will again feature three separate entry categories---traditional indoor, outdoor barbecue and microwave. Contestants may enter recipes (utilizing any cut of beef) in any category as often as they wish.

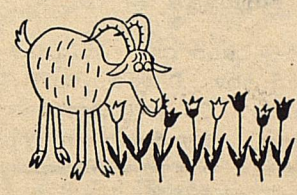

To enter, send a typed copy of your recipe(s) (specifying the appropriate category) to:

Mrs. Elizabeth Horwood
P.O. Box 724

Sterling City, TX.
76951

The Texas Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by Texas CattleWomen, the National Beef Cook-Off is sponsored by the American National CattleWomen in cooperation with the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board.

Winners of each category at the national level will receive $5,000 in cash plus appliances from Tappan and premium charcoal from Kingsford, official sponsors of the 1989 Cook-Off.

THIRD ANNUAL "LITTLE INTERNATIONAL GOAT SHOW"

Saturday morning January 28, 1989, following the steer show, the third annual goat show will get under way. Classes will be set up as follows:

- 3 year old and under
- 4 to 5 year old
- Kindergarten
- 1st grade
- 2nd grade

Children in these age groupings are invited to compete for ribbons and trophies. Each child entered will receive a ribbon and trophy, we don't have any "losers". There will also be a grand champion and reserve champion banner given.

Costumes for the children and goats is encouraged, but optional. For more information, call:

TAX ASSISTANCE SEMINAR SET

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said that a representative from his agency will be in Gail, January 25, 1989, to answer questions about Texas taxes and assist taxpayers with paperwork and problems.

"I don't want to see state taxes turn into a burden for folks who can't get to a field office. Our visits are a service we're happy to provide to Texas taxpayers," Bullock said.

Lloyd Allred, Enforcement officer, from the Lubbock Field Office will be at the Borden County Courthouse, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 p.m. The public is welcome and there is no charge. "I'm sending my employees out to help people with questions, filling out forms, and working out problems on a local, one-to-one basis. There's some things you just can't do as well over the phone or through the mail," Bullock said.

Gail area taxpayers who can't attend the courthouse seminar can still get individual tax assistance by calling the Comptroller's toll-free telephone number, 1-800-252-5555 from anywhere in Texas.

The Lubbock Office, headed by David Cain, serves 24 counties including Borden County.

FACTS & FIGURES

Is it possible to solve complex scientific problems by popular vote? The answer might be clearer after you study these facts and figures. In 1986, some 418,494,000 paying passengers traveled on U.S. airlines. There was one fatal accident, in which one person was killed. Should airlines be required to paint signs on aircraft to warn the public that flying is unsafe?

In 1986, California voters passed a law—Proposition 65—that requires warning signs on anything that might carry a risk of cancer or birth defects. In effect, that means a "detectable" amount of any carcinogen or toxin and science can now detect a part per trillion. One part per trillion can be compared to one second in 32 years. As the National Center for Policy Analysis points out, if Proposition 65 were applied to air travel and there had been only one death per trillion passengers, then the airplane would have to carry "a clear and reasonable warning" sign painted on it. While that wouldn't remove all risk, it probably would remove a lot of business from the airline.

If the other 49 states came up with their own laws—and several already are thinking of following California's lead—then an airplane might have to have 50 such warnings painted on it or the airline would have to go out of business.
