Dutcher, Cuevas Exchange Vows

Miss Lotus Paulette Dutcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Dutcher of Tuscon, Arizona and Aurelio Cuevas Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Aurelio Cuevas, Sr. of Muleshoe, were united in marriage Saturday, March 20, at the Palo Verde Church of Christ in Tuscon, Arizona.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Phil Evanston, pastor of Palo Verde Church of Christ.

Altar arrangements featured lighted yellow tapers, clasped by a matching pair of tapering candelabras, enhanced by delicate white and yellow daisies.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, James Dutcher, the bride selected an empire styled gown of white satin, enhanced with re-embroidered French lace and fashioned with a victorian neckline, accented with pearls. The soft A-line skirt floated to a chapel length train. The headpiece of matching lace and pearls adorned the feathery elbow length veil, complimented by an illusion veil, set off by lace motifs. She carried a nose gay of yellow roses and baby's breath.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Diana Smith of Lubbock. Serving as bridesmaids were Mrs. Ana Maria Gonzales of Muleshoe, sister of the groom, Mrs. Rosie Dutcher, of Dayton, Ohio, sister-in-law of the bride, Miss Merri Booth of Tucson, cousin of the bride and Miss Marilyn Buckelew of Tucson. The bridesmaids were attired in soft yellow empire styled satin gowns, with a mocked jacket of daisy flock myramist and carried a mixed bouquet of daisies, cornflowers, mums, bachelors buttons and baby's breath complimenting the spring time theme. The maid of honor wore a pale green gown and carried a mixed bouquet.

Dr. Charles L. Pummill of Muleshoe served as Best Man. Ramon Gonzales of Muleshoe, brother-in-law of the groom, Haney Poynor of Muleshoe, Bruce Purdy of Galveston and Sgt. Andy Dutcher of San Bernardino, Calif., brother of the bride, served as groomsmen.

Candle-lighters were Michael Dutcher and Bob Dutcher of Dayton, Ohio, nephews of the bride and flower girl was Selina Katrin Gonzales of Muleshoe, niece of the groom. She was accompanied by Sergio Rolando Gonzales, nephew of the groom. Serving as Ring-bearer was Giles Pummill of Muleshoe.

After the guests were registered by Mrs. Judi Layne, they were escorted to their seats by the groomsmen, who also served as ushers.

Music was furnished by the Yough Group of Palo Verde Church of Christ. Selections included: "Whether Thou Goest", "Secret Love", "The Wedding Song", "The Wedding March", "The Lord's Prayer" and "The Lord Bless You".

Following the wedding a reception was held in the Fellowship Hall.

The serving table was laid with a white cloth, decorated with fresh flowers and was centered with a four-tiered, heart shaped wedding cake with layers of chocolate, banana nut, and marble. The guests were served cake, nuts, white, green and yellow homemade mints and green sherbert punch.

The following verse is entitled

"Sketches" by Ben Burroughs. It follows: "Into the morning light I go, eager to make my way, wondering what will come or go, with the ensuing day, saying a silent prayer to God, asking for faith and strength, so that I will be equal to, trouble of any length, with every step I take it seems, I leave true love behind, for I'm apart from all the ones, who bring me piece of mind. This is the way with living, life is a grueling game, all those who labor far from home, probably feel the same, but there's a glow of golden hope, that follows where I roam. Because I know when the day is done, I'll make my way to home." To me to "make my way to home" as the poem says applies to our eternal Heavenly home, where there will be no more parting, pain or death, but all will be peace and joy for evermore.

ESA To Name "Sweetheart"

A local Muleshoe man will be recognized as the "Man with 40,000 Sweethearts" during ESA Week, designated for the first week in May. The award, known as the Zeus Award, will be given by the Epsilon Chi Chapter of ESA Women International, a leading women's leadership service organization. To recognize the efforts of these men, the sorority has designed an award, proclaiming each recipient to be a "Man with 40,000 Sweethearts." They are officially naming him as a "Sweetheart" of our 40,000 members who are scattered all around the world. ESA International is popularly known as the "Sweetheart Sorority", since it has its headquarters at Loveland, Colorado. In every community in which there is an ESA Chapter, explains Epsilon Chi President, Mrs. Ed Cox, "There are men who have performed an outstanding service for the chapter, for their community or for mankind in general." Mrs. Cox said "the name of this year's local winner is being kept a secret until the presentation during ESA Week proclaimed for May 1-8."

Chicken Steps Out With Stuffing

Something different, something easy, something wonderful. That's the way to welcome spring!

Chicken breasts are boned, halved and pounded very thin. Get out the kitchen mallet and exercise your arm muscles. Once the chicken breasts are nice and flat, spread them out and start things rolling.

Stove Top chicken flavor stuffing mix is prepared according to package directions. Stuffing is placed on each chicken breast and rolled, jelly roll fashion. After dipping the rolls in egg and reserved crumbs, they may be fried immediately, or may be refrigerated until you're ready for dinner.

Wonderful for company or as a special surprise for the family, Chicken Rolls a la Russe are right for spring.

- 1 package (6 serving size) chicken flavor or cornbread stuffing mix
- 6 boned whole chicken breasts, halved and pounded about 1/4-inch thick
- 1 egg, beaten
- Shortening or salad oil for frying

Finely crush 1 cup of the Stuffing Crumbs; set aside. Prepare stuffing mix as directed on package, using remaining crumbs and reducing water to 1-1/2 cups. Spread each chicken piece with stuffing, dividing mixture evenly. Roll up and tuck in ends. Dip rolls in egg, then in reserved crumbs. Fry in hot shallow oil in large skillet until golden brown on all sides, about 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Note: Coated chicken rolls may be refrigerated and then fried shortly before serving.

J.E. McVickers Attend Meeting In Washington

Mr. and Mrs. J.E. McVicker have just returned after several days in Washington, D.C., where they attended the National Meeting of the Myasthenia Gravis Foundation. McVicker is chairman of the Northwest Texas Chapter, which they represented. The annual meeting was held at the Washington Hilton, April 23-25. There are four chapters in Texas, located in Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, San Angelo and Hale Center. Twenty three people represented the Texas Chapters.

The Myasthenia Gravis Foundation, Inc. of New York and its 53 chapters, located throughout the United States support research, education, drug banks, clinics and the distribution of public information concerning the disease, myasthenia gravis. At present there are 40 clinics in existence in the United States. One of these is located at Hale Centers. It was recently granted by the E.E. Masters family of Cotton Center and Amarillo, in memory of Mrs. E.E. Masters, who was an M.G. victim for many years. The clinic is known as the Melba Bandy Masters Clinic and is open for patients once a year, when a doctor who specializes in Myasthenia Gravis comes to conduct the patient clinic. Last year, Dr. J.E. Tither of Indianapolis, Ind., was the visiting doctor. The chapter has invited him back again this September.

For his personal contribution to establish the Hale Center clinic, to aid in the research and public awareness of Myasthenia Gravis, E.E. Masters of Cotton Center, was awarded the Man of the Year Award. It was given at the Awards Banquet during the National Convention meeting. Masters could not be present, so J.E. McVicker accepted for him.

Guest speakers at the meeting included: Dr. Gabriel Jenkins and Dr. Angelos E. Papatostas from Mount Sinai School of Medicine, New York on the subject 'Current Status in Myasthenia Gravis', Dr. Joel Brumlik from Loyola University Medical Center, Maywood, Illinois, on the subjects of 'Corticosteroid Effects in Myasthenia Gravis' and 'unusual Cases of Myasthenia Gravis', and Dr. Daniel B. Drachman, Johns Hopkins Medical School, Baltimore, Maryland, on the subject 'Snakes, Mice and Myasthenia Gravis'.

The McVickers stated they thought the meeting was informative and worthwhile. They have brought back tapes of the speeches, film on Myasthenia Gravis, nurses manuals and T.V. spots to be distributed where they are requested. Mrs. McVicker also has informative material on Myasthenia Gravis that is yours for the asking.

Before returning home, the McVickers enjoyed two days of sight seeing in Washington, D.C.

Care Of Home Canning Jars

COLLEGE STATION -- Home canning jars can last 10 years or more if used and stored properly, Marilyn Haggard, a foods and nutrition specialist, says. "It's a good practice always to use standard home canning jars which have the name of the manufacturer on the side of the jar. These are mechanically shock-resistant to withstand minor bumps against other jars and the pressure required to process low acid fruits, vegetables and meats," she explained. Miss Haggard is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

She cautioned against using packers jars, such as empty mayonnaise and pickle jars. These should not be put in the pressure canner because they are designed for one-time packing for foods which are not pressure processed.

"In packing jars, be careful not to let objects such as knives and spatulas strike the bottom or scratch the sides of the jar. This weakens the jars and may cause breakage when the jars are under pressure.

"Remove jars from the water bath or pressure canner using jar lifters. This prevents burns and reduces the danger of breakage. Cool jars away from drafts to prevent breakage from cool air drafts," she said.

"Remove the lid by sticking an ice pick in the center of the jar lid and lifting up. This releases the pressure for easy removal and also prevents nicking the lip of the jar."

"Nicks on the lip of the jar can prevent the lid from sealing. Once used, the jars should be stored undisturbed for next year's canning," she said.

BIBLE VERSE

"Know ye that the Lord he is God: it is he that hath made us, and not we ourselves."

3. What is the rest of the verse?
4. Where may it be found?

Answers To Bible Verse

1. The Psalmist - probably King David.
2. Against the sin of worry.
3. "We are his people, and the sheep of his pasture."
4. Psalm 100:3.

YOU CAN BANK ON IT!

Bill Loyd, President Muleshoe State Bank

Like most large systems in twentieth century America, the banking system is clogged with paper - and it isn't all currency.

The statistics on just the checks written are mind-boggling!

In 1939 there were some 27 million checking accounts in America, and 3.5 billion checks were written. Less than 25 years later there were 58 million accounts and 14.5 billion checks written for a total of $4.6 trillion dollars.

In the next 10 years these figures nearly doubled to 97 million accounts, 23 billion checks totaling $10.6 trillion!

It is this staggering paper flow that has led many to examine the concept of a "checkless, cashless society." Methods for transferring funds electronically, virtually eliminating all paper including cash, are being explored at all levels of the banking system.

The technology to establish an electronic funds transfer system is currently available. Most experts agree, however, that we probably will be well into the next century before a complete checkless, cashless society could become a reality.

"The more you know about our business, the more we can help you!"

Two Texas Tech Men Built Seeder For Sandy Soil

BROWNFIELD - An inexpensive planter trailed by an expensive cylindrical soil packer could be an answer to reclaiming barren rangelands and worn-out farmlands.

Ueckert said. "And in sandy areas wind erosion takes its toll, as it creates dunes and makes land reclamation even costlier. "Now it's usually not economically feasible to fertilize these sandy areas with commercial fertilizer," Ueckert continued. "so we're combining alfalfa, a legume to provide nitrogen, with soil-binding, productive Ermelo weeping lovegrass."

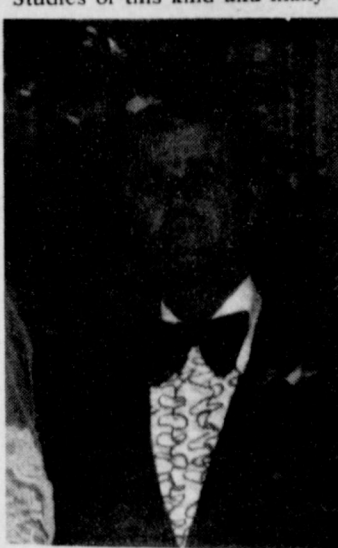

Service Held For Lambert

Funeral services for Junior J.T. Lambert were held Saturday, May 1, at 2:00 p.m. in the Assembly of God Church, of Muleshoe. Rev. H.D. Hunter, minister and Cecil Bunch, minister of the Bovina Church of Christ, both officiated.

Lambert, age 49, died around noon, April 28, at Clovis Memorial Hospital, in Clovis. He was a resident of Bovina and had lived there the last nine years, moving there from Muleshoe. Lambert was born June 24, 1926, at Lockney. He was employed at the Parmer County Spraying Service and was a veteran of World War II. He married Virginia Griffin on June 20, 1956 in Sterling City.

Burial was in the Muleshoe Cemetery under the direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home, of Muleshoe.

Survivors are two sons, Billy of Mount Home Air Force Base, Idaho, and Joe of Glendale, Arizona; four daughters, Mrs. Denise Holcomb, of Clovis; Tammie Lambert and Pam Lambert, both of Bovina and Miss Sandra Kaye Nunn, of Gibsonville, N.C. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lambert of Muleshoe; two sisters, Mrs. Connie Lee, of Midland, Mrs. Mary Lou Vandergriff, of Cheyenne, Wyoming; one brother, Burnie, of Midland and three grandchildren.

J.T. LAMBERT

dean of the Texas Tech college of agricultural sciences.

"Beef cattle and dryland crop research projects are planned for the land," Bertrand said.

Large, permanent pastures of grasses and legumes are planned, in addition to the experimental areas now being planted. Subsequently, livestock will be placed on the farm, he said. Twelve experimental plots have been planted thus far. Each treatment is about 600 feet by 15 feet, and the planting techniques were varied with combinations of the three commercial planters and Ueckert's planter.

The packer on Ueckert's planter compacts the soil which has been seeded and brings the soil in close contact with the grass seed. Compacted soil holds moisture longer and allows moisture to move to the seed, Ueckert said.

"We know that rainfall will be below average six out of 10 years in West Texas; therefore, seed bed preparation is crucial to reducing risks of seeding failures," Ueckert said.

"We need more research in mixing legumes with grasses, to find grass-legumes that will grow well in fairly hot, dry areas."

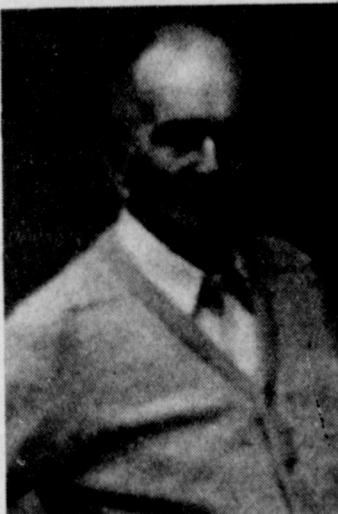

After recent rains on the South Plains, Ueckert expects good lovegrass cover within a month on the test plots near Brownfield. His planter-packer system will be evaluated as soon as grass growth can be compared on the test plots -- possibly this fall.

Funeral Services For Williams

Funeral services for Henry H. Williams, 88, of Muleshoe, were held Sunday, April 25, in the Trinity Baptist Church, with the Rev. David Evetts, pastor officiating. Burial took place at the Bailey County Memorial Park Cemetery, under the direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

Williams, who died at 6:28 p.m., Friday April 23, in West Plains Medical Center in Muleshoe, had been a resident of Muleshoe since 1957, moving from Lynn County. He was a native of Carrollton, Mississippi. Williams was a retired farmer and ginnee, a member of the Muleshoe Trinity Baptist Church and a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Survivors include his wife, Effie; three daughters, Mrs. Jake Roberts of Muleshoe, Mrs. Tom Burnett of Seminole and Mrs. C.A. Held of Lubbock; a brother, W.W. of Fort Worth, seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Texas Farmers Union Forms Task Force

The establishment of a task force to study reorganization of state financed agricultural services in Texas and opposition to an increase in cotton check-off program funds were the two main legislative recommendations made by the Texas Farmers Union Board of Directors during their Spring board meeting held in Waco, April 24.

The directors of the state-wide farm organization authorized the establishment of the task force in response to a study made by the Joint Advisory Committee on Government Operations, recommending several major changes in the administration and operation of Texas agricultural extension, education and research programs. The Farmers Union task force will investigate the implications of the "little Hoover Commission" report and make recommendations to the farm organization's annual convention for policy adoption. This policy will direct the Farmers Union's legislative efforts during the next session of the Texas Legislature.

to the farmers who will be financing it." It will collect five to seven million dollars from Texas farmers in addition to the three million already being paid into the program.

The resolution emphasized that the bill failed to meet the criteria outlined by Farmers Union policy in regard to research and promotion programs. The Board called for such a program to be under the administration of persons who are bonafide farmers and elected in a democratic manner. In addition, the Board pointed out that it recommends that such programs be reviewed every three years by a referendum. These safeguards are not in the present bill.

In other routine business, the board members discussed plans for a membership campaign geared to participation in the Diamond Anniversary Convention of the National Farmers Union to be held in San Antonio next March.

The Board of Directors of the Texas Farmers Union is comprised of county Farmers Union presidents and Executive Board members. Jay Naman of Waco is president of the farm organization and Joe Rankin of Ralls is vice-president.

DECA Employer Is T.R. White

This week the Muleshoe DECA Chapter recognizes T.R. White as Employer of the Week. White is the owner-manager of White's Cashway Grocery. Through dedication to the job and hard work, White has built his business and strengthened the DECA program.

T.R. White got his start in Goodner Wholesale Grocery in Wichita Falls at age 15. He was there for seven years till he moved on to Lubbock and worked nine years in retail grocery. Then in 1945 he came to Muleshoe where White's Cashway Grocery had its first start. Soon the store progressed to the second location where the El Jacalito Cafe is now. Cashway's moved to its present location in 1953. After managing the store 14 years, White bought the store in 1959.

T.R. White likes to treat the customer like he would like to be treated himself. In his 31 years of grocery business he has been doing a good job of it. White says that "The customers have been real good to us and we're thankful. It's been a real privilege to be in Muleshoe."

White's special interest is "the grocery business" and he likes to travel when he has time. Some students Cashway has trained are Keith Turner and Joe Costilla.

Cashway, under the watchful eye of Joe Pat Wagnon and James Whitson, is currently training Norberto Valdez of the D.E. program and Elva Lozano of the HECE program. Cashway has been very helpful in providing materials for use in the DECA retail lab.

AUSTIN--Economically Texas may become the envy of all other states because there are a lot of things happening today that are turning into money for the State.

While many states are looking everywhere for funds to patch up shortfalls in their budgets, Texas is apparently headed for a surplus in the piggy bank.

If nothing happens to deflate state revenue estimates made by the comptroller's office, then there should be $800 million in unobligated funds in the state coffer when the 65th Legislature meets in January.

Further, if projections hold, that surplus should bulge to $2.6 billion in new revenue available for the 1978-79 biennium.

That is a far cry from earlier projections of no surplus funds in the treasury and rumors that we would have to pass a $1 billion tax bill next year.

The difference has been the Texas economy, which has recovered from the recession at a much more rapid rate than anyone thought possible; and our natural resources.

When our consumers started buying again, our sales tax and motor vehicle sales tax revenues again became strong.

Oil production and natural gas production taxes far exceeded estimates as did motor fuels taxes and other consumption based taxes.

If these trends hold, and admittedly it is difficult to look many months into the future, then funds available for the 1978-79 biennium could be as much as 31 per cent over current spending levels.

Earlier revenue forecasts made us realize that there was a real need to hold the line on spending if we wanted to avoid new taxes.

But even though it now appears a tax increase won't be necessary, we don't want to put away the weapons we had assembled to fight the increasing cost of government.

I have no doubt that the Legislature could find a place for every dime of the $2.6 billion. However, it would be extremely foolish not to take this opportunity to establish a "rainy day" fund to protect our State when we no longer have such surpluses. I think it reasonable that $1 billion be set aside and I want that to be among the first things the Legislature does when it convenes.

But there could still be as much as $1.6 billion over current spending levels available. Our projections show that inflationary increases will cost in the neighborhood of $600 million.

However, that still leaves $1 billion unobligated and I want that money returned to the people of Texas. They are the ones who paid the money in taxes and if we can provide needed services without it then let's return it in the form of tax cuts.

We don't know for how long our good fortunes in natural resources will last.

Some day we may find ourselves in the same leaky boat as most other states. But, while we have these surpluses it should be the people who benefit and I can't think of a better way than to cut taxes.

We are going to examine the tax situation for areas of possible relief. We don't want to wind up like the spendthrift who squandered a fortune because it burned a hole in his pocket.

Not everyone has forgotten the oil embargo. But then, Washington has not been setting any records coming up with a solution to the problem, either. The Federal Energy Administration has been charged with the responsibility of formulating a plan to stockpile enough oil as to act as a buffer against any future oil embargo. Their report to Congress, a month overdue, proposes a storage program for the first reserve of 150 million barrels by December, 1978. This reserve should be stored in salt domes and mines along and under the Gulf of Mexico. Interestingly, one of the big problems in moving the oil to market in case of an embargo, is the lack of pipeline facilities. The oil would have to be moved by tanker and barge from the Gulf refineries on the East coast.

Storage facilities for 500 million barrels are to be ready by 1982. The oil will come from the open market and the Elk Hills, California reservoir. Some of the oil for the reserve will have to come from foreign sources. The U.S. has been dicker with Kuwait, Venezuela, and Russia but has not been able to get oil any cheaper than the current $12 per barrel price. Purchase of the foreign oil will result in an eventual payment of almost $2 billion to overseas producers over the next three years. The effect on foreign oil prices won't be to raise them but more in the area of supporting prices until the foreign oil has been purchased. Sending almost $2 billion overseas will increase the balance of payments deficit we consistently run over the next 36 months.

The big question is whether the oil industry will have to create a huge oil reserve for standby purposes in addition to the present program. The report doesn't cover that subject. Nor does the report say just who is going to pay the huge sums of money with which to pay for the storage facilities ($314 million) and the oil itself ($554 million for the first 50 million barrels). I think you can guess the answer to those two questions; the consumer, who else?

Neglect will kill an injury sooner than revenge.

Bandits across the border

By Dick Kleiner

LOS ANGELES — (NEA) — For every Jack Smith, who lucked out and found peace and happiness with his vacation home in Mexico, as he reports in his book, "God and Mr. Gomez," there are hundreds of people who find nothing but headaches. Including me.

There's a lesson here. And the main point, folks, is that it's best never to buy, lease or otherwise occupy a home outside the good old U.S.A. Beyond our borders, they just don't play by our rules.

I have learned that lesson. Too late. I am out somewhere around $30,000 now, because I fell for the beauty of the Baja California coastline.

Six years ago or so, we leased some land in San Antonio, about 15 miles below the border at Tijuana. And, with the help of a local contractor named Andres Zapata, we built a home. Adobe-like walls. Red Mexican tile floors. Huge stone fireplace. Modern kitchen. A gem of a weekend house.

It sat on a bluff with the ocean lapping against the empty, beautiful beach just below. About 50 yards north, a point of rugged rocks edged into the sea, and the waves crashed over it, sending sprays of foam into the air.

You couldn't find a more beautiful spot. What could be wrong with sitting on the flagstone terrace, watching the sun set behind Los Coronados Islands, lying a few miles off shore. Or sipping margaritas and smelling a steak grilling on the barbecue, as the dolphins rode the surf into the deserted beach?

Nothing's wrong with it. We spent many a weekend doing just that. We furnished the place with primitive things we had collected all over the world. Many times, between friends of ours and friends of our children, there would be a dozen people there. The house gave us a great deal of pleasure.

The only problem — and it took five years to realize it — was that the place wasn't in the U.S. It was in Mexico and, as it turned out, the Mexicans just don't have the same respect for private property that we do.

After five years of that paradise — it's only a three-hour drive from Los Angeles, even with the 55 m.p.h. speed limit, so we could easily make it for weekends — the bottom dropped out of paradise.

The government of the State of Baja California, one of that nation's 29 states, took over our area of San Antonio, to improve the roads or something. And they levied an assessment on all the Americans who had a place along that stretch of coastline, even though our original lease made no mention of any future assessments.

Anyhow, out of the blue Mexican sky came a letter from the Baja California government officials. Please come down and see them. So we drove down and Senor Santana and Senor Rivas told us, politely, that unless we forked over something more than $7,000, that would be the end of our Mexican home.

Who has a spare $7,000 these days? Not me. Certainly not after we had spent every nickel we could scrape together in getting the place to begin with.

So now the house is locked. My wife was the last one in the family to go down there. The Baja California government men took the keys away from her.

When she protested that she still had some personal possessions in the house she'd like to take away with her, the man from the government smiled and shrugged and said, "Senora, you no longer have any possessions here." So not only did we lose the house, but beds and chests and tables and couches and refrigerator and things like that, too.

Our nearest neighbor there called me a few days ago. He had peeked in our window, he said. And he told me that the beds are gone now — presumably in the home of one of the Baja California officials.

I've written to my congressman and one of my senators. Both wrote back that they would see what they could do. And then they both forwarded a long letter from a U.S. State Department official, who said, in effect, that there was nothing they could do.

I guess the problem is that my name isn't U.S. Steel or Exxon. Let one of those giants have his property overseas expropriated and we almost go to war. But for nobodies, there is nothing that can be done.

It's been a good, but expensive, lesson. All our lives, my wife and I dreamed of owning a little home by the ocean, for weekends, vacations, maybe retirement. For a few years, we had it. It's gone now.

I hope everybody will profit from this tragedy. Remember: don't buy or lease or get involved with any property outside the U.S. It can be taken away from you, and there is apparently no recourse. You're just left with the shell of a beautiful dream.

France Aided Colonies Two-Hundred Years Ago

Two hundred years ago in early May, events occurred in Europe that proved instrumental for the American colonies to maintain their resistance to Great Britain. For some time efforts had been underway to secure the assistance of France and other European countries. On May 2, 1776, King Louis XVI of France made his first gesture of support when he authorized that one million livres' worth of munitions be supplied the Americans.

Louis was not yet ready to openly embrace the American cause. He had too much to lose in international politics if the American effort should fail. Therefore, he ordered that the materials be given to the Americans through a fictitious company known as Roderigue Hortalez et Cie. The company was actually administered by secret agent Pierre de Beaumarchais. Shortly thereafter, Charles III of Spain made a similar commitment to the American cause. Spanish involvement was the result of efforts begun in March by the Foreign Minister of France, Count Vergennes. The significance of this foreign aid cannot be overestimated. Through this assistance the colonies received over eighty percent of their gunpowder and other supplies for 1776 and 1777. Without the help, one can not have been able to resist the British military operation. Even though France, and Spain to a lesser degree, were instrumental in bringing about American independence, we have to remember that the reason for the assistance had only speculate that the American cause would have been irreparably damaged. Without a functioning government and a stable and available currency, the Americans probably would not have been able to do with the ideas of the American Revolution. France and Spain were interested only in humiliating Britain in the realm of international politics.

her actions with the English colonies and the administration of her own colonies. As far as Spain was concerned her colonies would continue just as they had in the past.

Disasters Detected By Birds

Birds may become an early warning system of environmental disasters. And research on herons has already begun.

In highly industrialized areas, waste, products such as mercury, lead, and cadmium often escape into waterways. Pesticides seep in through drainage. Dredge-and-fill operations, dikes, and other activities of coastal development wreak havoc with life and land. Poisonous chemicals can and do pollute fish, shrimp, crabs, oysters, clams, birds, reptiles, and mammals. New research by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service shows that fish-eating birds like herons accumulate a wide variety of environmental pollutants. In addition, they are especially sensitive to changes in their environment. By studying the habits, habitats, and reproductive success of these striking looking birds with their long necks, legs, and bills -- which nest in huge colonies often numbering in the thousands -- scientists hope to predict and avoid calamities such as Lake Erie disaster.

As part of its heron study, the Service will observe a breeding colony of herons in captivity and monitor nesting behavior with time-lapse photography. Empty shells will be placed in some nests and mini radio transmitters will be fitted inside eggs to record how often they are turned by the parents and other incubation patterns. Pollutant levels inside regular eggs and in baby herons will be tested, too. Birds may send future warning signals of pollution. But plenty of signals have been sounded already. To find out how you can help fight pollution in your community, contact your West Texas Lung Association -- the "Christmas Seal" people -- today.

Spider Mites Can Damage Gardens

Spider mites can cause severe damage to many vegetable gardens in this country unless proper control measures are taken.

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service says that although tomatoes and green beans are the plants most frequently attacked, spider mites will also feed on and damage most other garden crops.

Spider mites are red in color and extremely small in size. They are usually found on the underside of leaves. The tiny insect pests cause damage by sucking juices from the plant. Large populations of mites can build up rapidly, and a severe infestation can cause leaves and flower buds to fall from the infested plant.

Although control of spider mites is often difficult, these suggestions for home gardeners are offered:

1. Select a pesticide that is registered for use against spider mites.
 2. Do not allow infestations to build up to large numbers before applying a pesticide.
 3. After initial applications of pesticide, inspect plants to determine if live mites are present. Make additional applications only when live mites are found. Generally two to four applications are needed to control an infestation of spider mites.
- Compounds registered for use on spider mites are Diazinon, Kelthane, Sulphur and Ethion. As with any pesticide, be sure to read the label and follow all directions.

FTA Sponsors Breakfast

Tuesday morning, April 27, the FTA Chapter prepared and served an appreciation breakfast for the teachers. The fun started at 6:30 a.m. with the beginning of the cooking. Each member started either setting tables, greasing pans, frying bacon or making orange juice. After an hour of cooking and fixing, the members started greeting their guests. The food was served at 7:30 a.m. Served were eggs, bacon, sausage, biscuits and jellies, coffee and orange juice. After enjoying a delicious breakfast, special presentations were made. The members first presented Mrs. Donna Black with a gift, thanking her for acting as their part-time sponsor. Mr. Moore, the FTA sponsor, was then presented a gift. The big award was then presented. The award was for "Teacher of the Year", an award given to the teacher by the FTA Members. The recipient of the plaque was Kerry Moore. The teachers then began to drift to class. Everyone seemed to enjoy the breakfast. The FTA Chapter would like to thank each teacher who attended the breakfast. The teachers also express appreciation to the FTA members for the Breakfast.

This is why France was not yet ready to support openly the American effort. The king waited for evidence that the Americans could successfully challenge Britain with some certainty of success. That eventually came at the battle of Saratoga in 1777. Meanwhile, in the Spanish Southwest, there was no knowledge that Spain was involved in the American effort. Spain was certainly not anxious for residents of Texas to know of her involvement. Such knowledge might lead Texans to assume that the home government was supporting the democratic principles being expressed on the Atlantic coast. Such assumptions could possibly lead to similar actions in Texas. Spain saw no relation between

Motorcycle SafetyWeek May 1-7

Calling special attention to motorcycle traffic accidents, Governor Dolph Briscoe said it is "high time we learn that the motorcycle and the automobile can be compatible in traffic on our streets and highways." Said Briscoe, "Motorcycles have rapidly become a way of life in Texas as thousands of people use them for basic transportation and pleasure. Unfortunately, as the number of registered motorcycles increases, so do the number of traffic accidents." Statistics show that approximately 270,000 motorcycles are registered in Texas and during 1975 over 200 motorcycle related fatalities were reported. An estimated 8,562 persons were injured. "I strongly urge motorists and motorcyclists to make an increased effort to become familiar with the rules-of-the-road and to exercise caution in traveling in congested traffic. Automobiles and motorcycles can coexist, but in order to reduce traffic accidents, a concentrated effort must be made by all vehicle drivers. Additionally, I recommend driver education for motorcycle drivers. I trust we can expand current programs on a voluntary basis as appropriate and within present budget considerations," Briscoe said. The Governor proclaimed May 1-7 as "Motorcycle Safety Awareness Week" in Texas and he praised the efforts of the Texas Motorcycle Roadriders Association, motorcycle dealers, and citizens that are working toward improved traffic safety.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Major presidential candidates are making last minute appeals for support of Texas voters in the May 1 primary of both Democratic and Republican parties.

President Ford budgeted three days and a night to the Texas GOP primary battle with Ronald Reagan. Counting his two earlier days of campaigning, the president will have spent more time in Texas than any primary state this year.

Reagan also will make his third appearance in the state two days before the primary.

Democrat front-running Jimmy Carter will be back April 30. He made a fast trip to Houston April 20.

U. S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is on the scene every day, combining his re-election and favorite son campaigns.

Alabama Gov. George Wallace, faltering as a national contender, was in Texas for a second wide-ranging swing last week to keep his potential delegates in line.

In addition to the presidential preference primary and the Senate fight, the May 1 Democratic ballot offers a hot contest for Railroad Commissioner and three statewide appellate court races. One of the latter is for the State Supreme Court and two for the Court of Criminal Appeals.

$50 Million "Wasted"

Unwise and outdated investment policies have cost the state at least $50 million over the last five years, Comptroller Bob Bullock claimed.

Bullock said a six-months study of state money management practices by his planning and research staff showed Texas has the worst problem with idle funds earning no interest of any state in the nation.

Most idle state money is kept in big city banks, with four banks alone keeping an average of $175 million and earning $10 million last year off the state deposits, the comptroller stated.

Texas, according to Bullock, has an average daily balance of more than $300 million in checking accounts earning no interest. He argued about 75 percent of that money could be in time accounts drawing interest.

Allowable Set

Texas Railroad Commission for the 50th consecutive month set the state's oil allowable for May at 100 percent.

While the allowable permits 3,931,778 barrels daily, estimated production actually is only 3,207,000.

Once again, the commission restricted the East Texas field and the Kelly Snyder field in Scurry County to an 86 percent allowable.

Nominations by crude oil buyers declined by 16,368 barrels a day from the previous month.

The four-week average of crude oil imports, meanwhile, increased 458,000 barrels from the January 2 average and 1.3 million barrels from January 3, 1975.

Courts Speak

The State Supreme Court will hear arguments May 19 in a case to determine whether the best interest of a 10-year-old would be served by terminating his mother's parental rights. The mother saw the child only three times in several years.

Reversing itself, the high court decided it will not review litigation over an insurance company's refusal to pay a San Antonio family for repairing a buckled foundation.

Supreme Court justices affirmed a $60,000 damage award to a man injured in a truck wreck near Dimmit.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ordered a new trial for a San Antonio man convicted of delivering marijuana. The court held that display to a jury of a police photograph of the defendant violated his rights to a fair trial.

AG Opinions

Municipally-owned public utilities must obtain certificates under the Public Utility Regulatory Act for new retail service only when the area to be served is being served by another utility, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: —There is no provision for an appeal by residents of a city from charges established by its municipally-owned utility.

—Public utilities subject to state jurisdiction are subject to assessment.

—The state comptroller can refund taxes collected under a law later held to be unconstitutional.

Appointments

Crawford Godfrey of Jacksonville was appointed to the State Judicial Qualifications Commission, succeeding Vernon Butler of Carthage.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe named Mrs. Patsie Anderson of Uvalde to the State Board of Vocational Nurse Examiners, replacing Mrs. Kenneth Otto of Needville.

Briscoe appointed nine members of the Texas Advisory Council of the Legal Services Corporation. Associate Justice Max N. Osborn of the El Paso Court of Civil Appeals was designated chairman.

Short Snorts

Texas' unemployment rate dropped three-tenths of one per cent in March — to 5.1 per cent, one of the lowest rates in the nation.

Agricultural prospects brightened with rains, but more moisture is still needed in East and West Texas, Agriculture Commissioner John White said. A big majority (almost two-thirds) of House of Representatives members who answered a questionnaire said they favor a special legislative session on utility rates.

Republican voters May 1 will ballot in a non-binding referendum on wiretapping, non-parolable prison sentences, forced busing, use of oral confessions in trials and denial of bail for repeat offenders awaiting trial.

The South Texas cotton planting deadline has been extended to May 1 due to weather problems.

Texas Taxes

By BOB BULLOCK, State Comptroller

Improved enforcement, collection, and administration of taxes by the Comptroller's Department, increased spending by Texas consumers, and higher oil and gas prices have created a windfall of hundreds of millions of dollars for the State Treasury which may help us avoid the need for new taxes for years to come.

The next Legislature should find that the Treasury has a cash surplus of at least $737 million and probably as much as $827 million dollars.

Because of the surplus, I expect that the 65th Legislature will have total major fund revenues of $11 billion when it writes the next State budget—for 1978-79. That's a $2.6 billion, or 31 percent, increase over the funds available to and spent by the last Legislature for the current, two-year budget period.

Under the Constitution and State law, the Comptroller is required to provide the Governor and the Legislature with revenue estimates. Since I became Comptroller, we have made more frequent and longer-range projections of State revenues. But no matter how much expertise or how many statistics go into our estimates, they remain just that—educated guesses.

Things could change. The increase in revenues could be significantly less or greater depending upon a wide range of economic circumstances.

The temptation, when you find more money in your piggy bank than you expect, is to spend it. That is precisely what should not happen with Texas' budget surplus. State agencies shouldn't start seeing sugar plums and expand their budget requests to take up the slack, and the Legislature shouldn't look for new ways to spend the extra money.

State agencies need to trim away the fat and try to increase productivity rather than budgets. And the Legislature needs to avoid the temptation of spending all the money available to it.

Economy in government should be more than a catchy phrase. Agencies and programs which have outlived their usefulness or have never been needed should be eliminated.

If State government economizes as it should, the Legislature should be able to take care of inflation, fund essential new programs, and still have some extra money left over for the future.

In other words, with careful planning, direction, and leadership, your State government can turn the expected budget surplus into a way of avoiding the need for new taxes not only next year, but also for years to come.

DR. MAC . . . On Wednesday, April 28, Dr. Mac celebrated his 80th birthday in the Nursing Home day room. The Muleshoe Hospital Auxiliary, Mrs. Susie Whatley, his nurse, and Mrs. Pauline Stephens of Gustine, hosted the affair. Mrs. Stephens had worked for Dr. Mac for 10 years prior to moving in 1974. His brother, William McDaniel of Amherst, came in the morning, his sister, Mrs. Elton Fauste of Amherst, and a nephew, Mr. and Mrs. Dick McDaniel of Amherst also came. His daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ken Largent of Littlefield also attended the party. Dr. Mac came to Muleshoe in 1954 along with the late Dr. Birdsong and Dr. Stemmson. Dr. B.O. McDaniel has been practicing medicine for more than 50 years.
