EDITORIAL

BY GEORGE !

REMEMBER ME??

On Page 4 there is a story that brought back some memories of how our flag used to be treated. We wanted to run this last week for the 4th of July but, space didn't permit.

I think it is something that maybe we should all think about year round---not just on the 4th of July.

SMOKEY JOE

A couple weeks ago a fellow came by to paint a sign on the window of the new CAVALRYMAN office.

He started about noon and worked straight through til the light failed. We discussed how particular he was about his work. Four or five times he would completely re-do a letter that didn't meet with his satisfaction.

When dark arrived, he still hadn't finished and he informed us that he would be back in a few days.

He is a quiet man and I doubt if we exchanged over six sentences during his stay.

Upon his return the following week, he brought a thick manila folder full of papers explaining he had been writing poetry for a couple of years. "Thought You might like to read some."

About two hours and 150 poems later, I had laughed, smiled, felt happy, and sad. But, I was thoughtfully entertained!

They don't all rhyme perfectly----may not all be in perfect poetic form---(I think some guy called Shakespeare also had this problem) but, they tell a story in a down to earth way.

On page 4 of this issue are printed some random samples of his work---not picked---random. Let us have your opinion,--- would you like to see more?

REMEMBER ME ?

Some people call me OLD GLORY, other's call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your FLAG the Flag of the United States of America.....Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you..... because it is about you and me.

I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally I was leading every parade, proudly waving in the breeze, when your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that the hand was directly over heart.....Remember??

And you, I remember you, Standing as straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the right salute. Remember little sister? Not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you with her right hand over her heart...Remember?

What happened? I am still the same old flag. Oh, I have a few more Stars since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago.

But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and I may get a small glance and then you look away. Then I see the children running around and shouting. they don't seem to know who I am..... I saw one man take his hat off then look around, he didn't see anybody else with theirs off so he quickly put his back on.

Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been?.....Anzio, Guadalcanal, Korea and Vietnam. Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometimes, of thse who never came back to keep this Republic free,,,,One nation Under God..... when you salute me, you are actually saluting them.

Well, it won't be long until i'll be coming down your street again. So, when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart..... and I'll salute you, by waving back. and I'll know that.....

SOME THOUGHTS

FROM

SMOKEY JOE

BIG TIME CHARLIE

He's always flashing a big bank roll
And he'll always buy you a drink.
He sports a diamond in his button hole
He sure is a wealthy man, you think.

In any cafe he'll pick up your tab
And leave the waitress a sizeable tip.
He'll even pay your fare to hire a car
And wave goodbye with his money clip.

Everywhere he's ushered in with grace.
They like the way he tosses money away
There never seems a slackening to his pace
For a big time-no limit to what he'll pay.

But suddenly Charlie showed up no more
Everybody wondered where he went
All his money they surely did adore,
But now he's doing time for embezzlement

WAY DOWN YONDER

To the man from North Dakota,
South Dakota is way down yonder.
To the man from South Dakota,
Way down yonder is Nebraska.
So way down yonder is a point to ponder
In case anybody should ask ya.

WHO'D A EVER THUNK

A century ago,
who'd a ever thunk
That in big airplanes
people would fly.
Any such notion
would've been called bunk
That many could soar around up so high.

A century ago,
who's a ever thunk
That in big cars
people would drive.
Such a notion-
folks would call you drunk.
How fantastic an idea
could you contrive

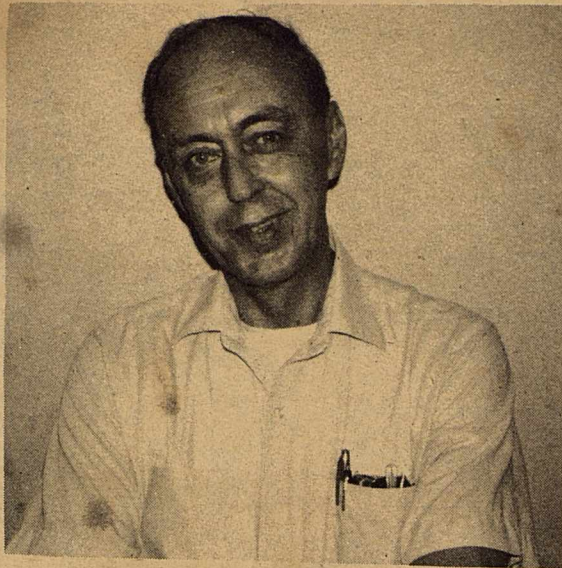

A century ago,
who'd a ever thunk
with a turn of a switch
there'd be light.
Thoughts like that would 've
been called junk.
You'd be referred to
as loco by the moonlight.

A century ago,
who'd a ever thunk
There'd be
world wide pictures by wire.
Any such notion,
you'd be dubbed a punk.
And drawn everybody's wrath and ire.

Between Us

by: JOE TOWNSEND

I'm sitting in my shop listening. The most intriguing sound I hear is the call of the quail, over and over, the Bobwhite calls from somewhere close by the back of the shop. There's the incessant twitter of the fussy English Sparrows. Once in a while is the cry of locust in the tree as he reminds the world he is still there. There goes a cattle truck as its' engine roars to the challenge of rolling again after stopping at a stop sign.

Now the humming birds are chirping protests that their feeder is empty.

The cars are going by in numbers telling me another show is just finishing at the "Village"

A car circles in front as some young person make the drag and heads for the other end of the street.

I hear a mocking bird, an oriole, a cardinal, and a dove.

And as I listen, I say "Thank YOU Lord" ----I live in Brackettville....I don't hear the frequent bark and scream of the police siren, and the too often wail of the ambulance on an emergency run, the roaring rattle of a train, the constant low keyed rumble of heavy auto and truck traffic, the deafening roar of the jet plane taking off, the constant noise of the afternoon in the big and busy city.

It's good to live in a quiet place where life goes on when modern living is at it's best, where the conveniences of live are at hand and yet where noise and racket does not drown out the beautiful sounds God uses to serenade us by way of the birds and nature.

COUNTY AGENT REPORT

BY: CARL ESSER

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association are going to co-sponsor a Lamb Evaluation and Judging Clinic on July 18 and 19 at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in San Angelo. The Clinic will be open to all individuals who are interested in market lamb evaluation and judging. Special invitations have been sent to judges of Texas lamb shows and to individuals involved in the lamb packing and processing industries. The Lamb Evaluation Clinic will allow county agents adult leaders and merchandisers an opportunity to study to participate in market lamb evaluation both on hoof and on the rail. It is hoped that the clinic will stimulate all segments of the industry to express their thoughts and concerns in an attempt to increase the proficiency of market lambs selection in Texas.

The Clinic will officially open on Friday morning, July 18 with registration beginning at 8:30 a.m.. The morning session will start at 9:00 a.m. with an educational program on lamb carcass evaluation techniques and procedures. Following this program all Clinic participants will be invited to evaluate the market lambs which have been assembled. Following a noon lamb bar-B-Que there will be presentation by the Lamb Packers and Feeders Lamb Merchandisers, and research people on market lamb evaluation and acceptability. The afternoon program will conclude with sessions on show lamb classification and selection, and a new approach to lamb showmanship contests. Saturday, morning, July 19, all Clinic participants will meet at Wilson and Company Lamb Plant to view and discuss the evaluation lambs on the rail. There is a lot of interest in this educational event. Any 4-H members adult leaders, or other interested sheepman interested in attending this event should contact the County Agents' Office for arrangements.

Johnny Rides Again

Country kingpin Johnny Rodriguez heard from a fellow Texan recently, as he embarked upon his first concert tour of Alaska. The correspondent: Senator John Tower, who wrote the entertainer:

"Texans have had some twinges of jealousy of Alaska ever since 1959, but I am delighted that such a distinguished emissary of the Lone Star should make the journey to the frozen North.

"There is no question which Country singer is No.1 in the eyes of Texans and Mexican-Americans.

"Your successes have made your fellow Texans and your fellow Mexicans-Americans very proud Beware of that ice and snow; it can cause a South Texan to sing the blues."

Rodriguez, a Country music chart mainstay, is again en route to No.1 listings with his latest album, "Just Get Up and Close the Door," and single of that title from the LP. He's presently headlining a series of cross-country dates.
