

Opinions vary on pct. redistricting

Kinney Cavalryman Staff Writer

COURTHOUSE -- A special called meeting by the Commissioners Court convened this past Monday morning at nine o'clock with a quorum established when every Commissioner was present.

Two new members, Dena Scott and Marge Batchelor, were appointed to fill the vacancy on the Library Board of Directors created by the expired terms of Kathy Bader and Vickie Ahrens.

The Court approved to amend a motion to authorize Notice of Intentions to issue Certificates of Obligation to read $375,000 instead of $325,000, so it will include attorney's fees.

A motion by Plunker Sheedy at an earlier meeting to raise the wages of election workers from $5.00 per hour to $6.00 per hour was rescinded after it was discovered that State Law did not authorize wages more than $5.00 for this service.

The purchase of a new riding lawnmower was approved with the money being transferred from the Road and Bridge fund. The new machine will be bought at Sam's Discount Center in San Antonio.

There was no action taken on Hiring Al Yanelli from Progressive Computer Consultants. It was the decision of the Commissioners that the Court is capable of making their own choice of computers.

The budget workshop that headlined the agenda was approached and it was the general consensus of everyone present that the Commissioners were going to be faced with many tough decisions before the new budget could be completed and submitted for approval. The meeting lasted well into the afternoon.

A special called meeting by the Commissioners Court convened Monday evening at seven o'clock for the purpose of pursuing the redistricting. A good crowd was on hand to offer opinions and ideas toward the project. Mr. Clint Hackney, attorney for the consulting firm of Ford, Ferrarro, Fritz and Birney was also available. Mr. Hackney is overseeing the realignment of the precincts according to population figures from the 1990 census. Several different plans have been submitted to the County with plan 4B drawing the most support.

It was requested by Mrs. Rozetta Pingnot, Chairman of the Board of Directors on Fort Clark, to divide Precinct one from four with a line that would travel straight down Fort Clark Road to the back of the Post, instead of past the stables, around the ambulance shack and down Airport Road. It was noted that this new line would not effect the number of residents in population or percentages.

Alfred Pena stated that he would like to see precinct one continue to have the same amount of Hispanics as it has now.

Mayor Pro-tem Diane Bravo reported that she contacted George Korbel with Texas Rural Legal Aid to help draw up a plan and that he would contact the Court in the next few days. She also read a letter which she submitted to the Commissioners requesting that precinct one remain the same and not change the Hispanic vote.

Mr. Hackney thanked the visitors for their input and commended them on caring enough to be present at the meeting. He noted that Kinney County residents displayed more interest than many larger counties that he had been associated with.

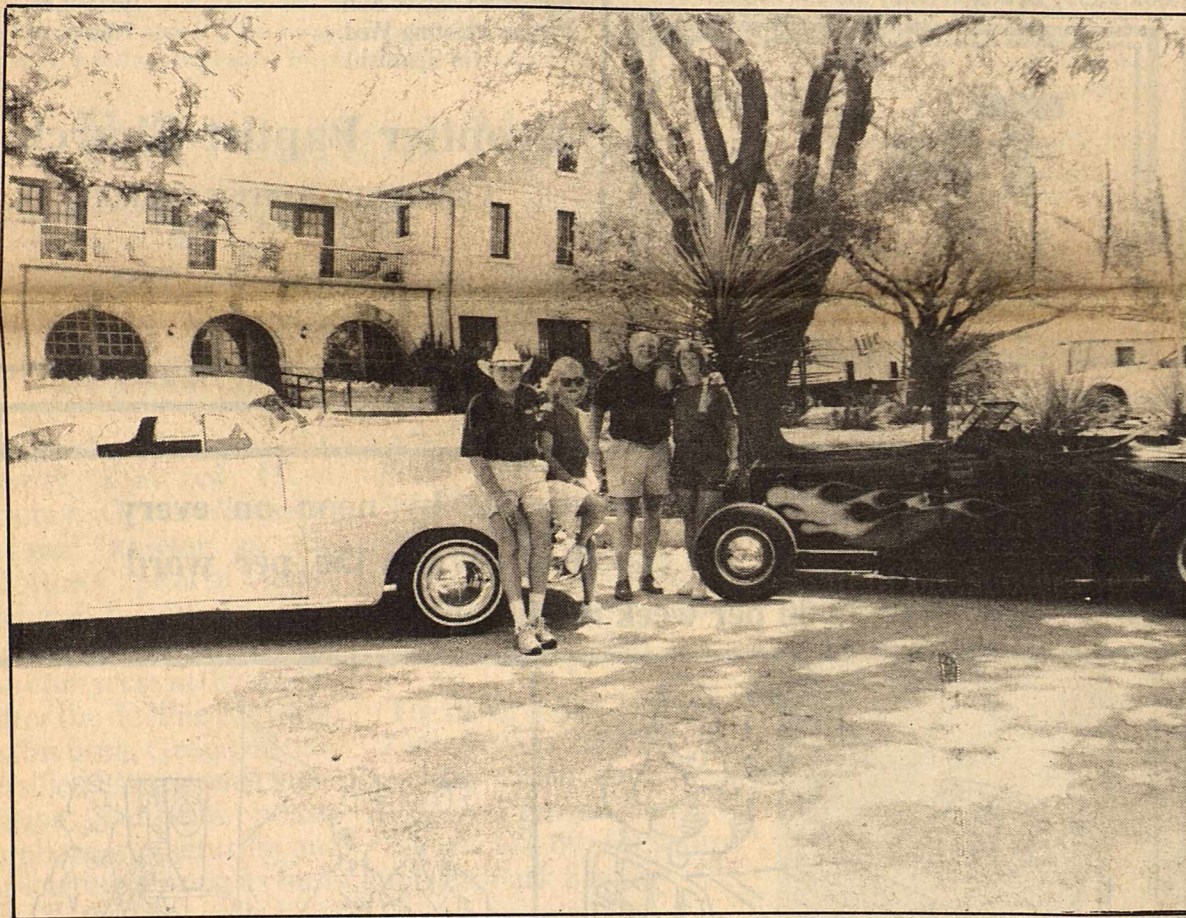

The Community Block Grant Hearing was next on the agenda. Discussion of some projects such as the completion of the Library project, road paving within the city, a water tower in Spofford, and other discretionary proposals were heard.

It was motioned to use $75,000 for completion of the Library project. The extra monies over the original planned $50,000 were to cover the cost of an architect. It was also motioned to use $7,000 for paving of some streets in Brackettville and $10,000 to go to discretionary purposes.

The court approved the hiring of three employees to work at the new swimming pool which will be opening next Monday. Two of the workers are to be certified life guards, who will be hired at the minimum wage, while the third worker will be paid $4.50 per hour to oversee all activities around the pool.

The paving bids were opened during the afternoon meeting, but no action was taken. After an open discussion on the bids that were submitted by Haile and Haile of Uvalde, Koch Co. from Pleasanton, and Travis Wilson from Brackettville, a motion was made to award the work to Wilson with the cost not to exceed $29,874.45. The project will be funded from the Road and Bridge funds.

Old cars visit Fort

Herbie and Mary Lou Feeback with Charlie and Ruth Ann Edwards getting ready to head West in their old cars. Their next scheduled stop is the Big Bend and Lajitas.

Cavalryman Reporter

FORT CLARK -- When a 1948 Chevrolet two door sedan is mentioned one would immediately try to remember what part it might have played in their lives. Oh yes ... I remember my first kiss in a car like that, or ... I took my honeymoon in one of them, or ... it was our first brand new car. The list of nostalgic answers could go on and on.

Let's really back up and try to remember the 29 Model A and what part it played in our lives. No one will ever forget the famous "rumble seat."

These two relics from yesteryear made a surprise visit to Fort Clark Wednesday with Herbie and Mary Lou Feeback driving the Chevrolet and Charlie and Ruth Ann Edwards driving the Model A.

These two couples had recently journeyed from their homes in Lexington, Kentucky, where they attended the National Street Rod in Oklahoma City, Oklahoma and were touring the southern part of Texas as they "looped" their way home.

Striking up a conversation with them was no problem. All a-body had to do was walk up and say, "Wow!!! Dig them crazy rods." Immediately, the ice was broken and an instant friendship was in the making.

When Herbie was asked about his '48 Chevy he said, "This little banana (the car was painted bright yellow) has a 350 V8 Chevrolet motor with a 4 barrel carburetor that turns up 260 horsepower. The car is completely restored and has a feature they didn't have when it was built. It is air conditioned." He was asked about driving his little collector's item and getting bug juice on the front of it. He responded by saying, "We wouldn't own one of these cars if we had to just look at it. We enjoy driving them too much."

The little black shiny 1929 Model A was a real eye catcher. It had been completely rebuilt by Edwards and lowered to give it a "hot rod" look coupled with the "low rider" look of today. It was powered by a 406 V8 Chevrolet engine that developed around 400 horsepower.

Both of these old car collectors really beamed with pride while they told about their cars and it's performance. Edwards smiled and admitted to a "little road race" on the way to Brackettville. He said his little roadster would "hit 150", but it sure does get a little loose at that speed.

These two modern day explorers and their wives left Fort Clark with a stop-over planned in Del Rio, where a trip to Mexico and a good meal at Lando's was on their itinerary. From there, it was on to the Big Bend and a couple of nights at Lajitas. On down the Rio Grande and according to Charlie, "we'll have to pull out the road map and see where we head next."

Traveling and enjoying life is the name of the game for these four retirees from Lexington, Kentucky.

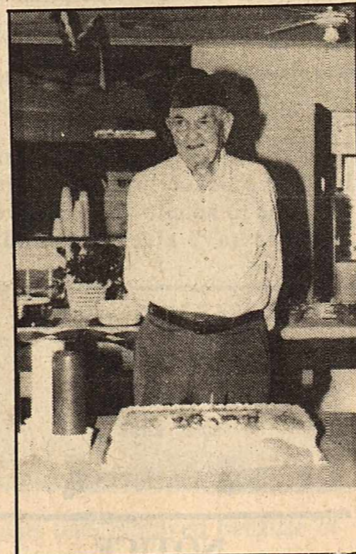

Veteran of WWI alive and well

By Jacki Oliver

Farrest Parry was honored July 24th at the NCO Club by the VFW and the Ladies Auxiliary. He was born Aug. 9th, 1895. For the celebration of the World War I veterans 96th birthday, a pot-luck supper was held followed by the cutting of his cake. Happy Birthday and congratulations were given by his many friends.

Mr. Parry and his lovely wife, Margaret also celebrated their 44th wedding anniversary June 14th, 1991.

Farrest joined the service in 1917. He served as a cook with the 260th Air Squads, stationed in London. He is the only World War I Veteran living in the VFW District #11. He has been Honorary Grand Marshall in the Del Rio Veterans Parades the past two years. Besides being a veteran, he also was a rancher and worked for the Forest Service awhile in California. In 1947, he moved to Reno, Nevada and went to work for the city. At age 70, he retired from the city of Reno and went into contracting work. At age 77 following a heart attack, he retired permanently and moved to the warmer climates offered by Texas. Farrest and Margaret live in Unit 15, Fort Clark Springs. Happy Birthday, Farrest and many more!

New manager for Las Moras Inn

Cavalryman Staff Writer

FORT CLARK -- Regular visitors to Fort Clark's Las Moras Inn will be treated to two new faces with the arrival of Joe and Rita Neibert. Mr. Neibert will be assuming the duties of manager of the Inn while his wife will handle the hostess' job along with the public relations.

Neibert and his wife were located early Wednesday morning at the Inn and from the tempo of their conversation it was quite obvious they were looking forward to working with the people who frequent Las Moras Inn. He will be overseeing the kitchen staff and the preparation of the food while his wife welcomes everyone to the Fort and assures them of a good meal.

You seldom see a set of credentials any better than Mr. and Mrs. Neibert bring to the Fort. They have worked as a team overseeing the operation of Holiday Inns and Howard Johnsons. They operated a Best Western in Lamar, Colorado for 5 years. They owned one of the most successful businesses in town for 15 years before the economy crunch hit their area.

The future menus at Las Moras Inn were not discussed but, according to some of their friends who frequented their business in Colorado, if it is anything here like it was there the people on the Fort are in for a treat.

Special Council Meeting

The meeting was called to order at 7:05. After the invocation and pledge of allegiance the City Council went into executive session. They asked the representative of the Fire Department, Adrian Reyes to meet with them. After a lengthy discussion, Mr. Reyes met with members of the Fire Department and EMS. The Fire Department and City Council agreed to try to overcome past differences and to work more closely together for the betterment of the community.

Discussion of Personnel, City Attorney, and Old vacant houses and lots was tabled until the regular meeting.

Jill Woodson at the Las Moras Inn where her smile shines on each and every customer that crosses her doorway.

By Joan Boutwell
Cavalryman Staff Writer

Las Moras Bar, located in the old Officers Quarters, has one of the friendliest employees. She will look to quenching your thirst on a hot evening. Her pleasant personality enables her customers to enjoy themselves at anytime. Jill Woodson is her name and she has been an employee since March 1990.

Jill and her husband, Archie, own the Sunshine Garden Center in Brackettville. She works there during the day and at the Fort in the evenings. A harder worker would be difficult to find.

Good News!

Gove Street, off Highway 90 to Spring Street, is the first street scheduled to be paved in the county's street help program. Fort Clark residents will be happy to see this as this is their main route to the Post Office. Our commissioner is on the job!

Travel to Greenville, Texas

Founded in 1850, as the county seat of Hunt County, Greenville soon became known as the "Cotton Capital of Texas" and was famous for having the largest inland cotton compress in the world. After the decline of cotton in this area, Greenville diversified its economic foundation and now boasts retail, manufacturing and agriculture among its business base. Greenville hosts a week-long COTTON JUBILEE festival annually, in October, to honor the early heritage of the city. A visit to this northeast Texas city, conveniently situated along the busy I-30 corridor, is a "must" stop.

It's a popular day-trip from the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, only an hour away. You will find we offer delightful shopping, family recreation, and 25,000 friendly people who hope to make your stay something special--whether it's for several hours or several days. There are four area golf courses, and five area lakes provide fishing and water sports. Six motels and many restaurants will provide visitors with excellent accommodations and food. One trip to Greenville and you will know, for sure, that YOU BELONG IN GREENVILLE.

GREENVILLE was designated as a Main Street Project City in 1986 by the Texas Historical Commission. Some of the downtown buildings were renovated to house specialty shops while retaining their original architectural style.

A historic walking tour of the downtown area is available upon request.

To drive past some of Greenville's elegant old homes which have been restored, go north from I-30, on US 69, then turn left on Park Street.

ATTRACTIONS: Puddin' Hill Store, at I-30 and Division Street, offers its world-famous fruit cake and other delights. Candies, gourmet foods, unique gifts, and cookbooks can be found here. Luncheon fare, homemade soup and delicious sandwiches, is served daily.

The Audie Murphy Room, at the Walworth Harrison Library, 3716 Lee Street, honors the most decorated soldier of World War II with pictures and memorabilia of his life. Murphy grew up near Greenville and enlisted for military service here.

Courthouse Square Antiques, at 2512 Lee Street, is a place to find that once-in-a-lifetime gift. A mini-mall of seven dealers, it features all types of glassware, furniture, collectibles, china, linens, quilts and jewelry.

Before leaving Greenville, don't miss Crossroads Mall, at 6834 Wesley Street. There are 35 stores and also a cafeteria.

Your Host: Greenville Chamber of Commerce, P. O. Box 1055, 2713 Stonewall Street, Greenville, TX 75403, (903) 455-1510. Brochures, maps, information packets and/or step-on guides available.

"Remembrance"

By Frances Beene

My husband Aaron, served in the Fifth Cavalry, a troop from 1935 to 1938 at Fort Clark. I was acquainted with many of his stories and felt like I was well acquainted with many of the boys and girls that he knew then, though I had never met most of them. I thought I had heard it all, maybe several times. The other night he came up with one I don't remember. I got a few laughs out of it, so I thought I would share this story.

A new Officer came to Fort Clark about the middle of 1936, if I remember correctly. He got busy right away. He had us oil our saddles, gun holsters, and other leather with castor oil. What a mess...not only did they smell to high Heaven, they got all over everything...all over our pants including our dress uniforms, all over our shirts and all over our beds.

Aaron, I said, "What was that Officers rank?" He thought a while, "Well, I think he was a General. I think he was Post Commander for a while." I started laughing.

"Well, it wasn't funny," he said, "We got that stuff on our dress uniforms, which we had to have dry cleaned. We liked to get more than one wear out of them. We got it on all our laundry which we had to have washed. It was usually only a little over a dollar a month out of the 21 dollars a month we got then. We couldn't afford much laundry much less dry cleaning. That was not the end of it either. Then he had us shine our brass with stove black. That stuff joined the castor oil over everything. That stuff was all over our clothes, all over our beds, all over the mess hall to join the castor oil and the caliche dust that was much attracted to the oil."

By now I was gasping for air, and had to come up for a breath. "Aaron," I said, "What was the Officer's name? Do you remember?"

More thinking. "Well no," he said. "I can't recall his name, he wasn't there long."

Well, I can believe that! (A good supply of pure castile soap was ordered to clean up the leather goods without damage.)

Tidbits around the Fort

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

Jan Chism has her grandson, Matthew, from Hondo, Tx., visiting for the summer. He can be found at the pool, Activity Center, fishing or trailing along behind Jan. They took a 300 mile trip on her motorcycle this past week-end, up around Fredericksburg area gathering peaches.

Jerry Bryant and family, Tiffany, Harmony and Harlie are visiting this week. They live in League City, Texas. Jerry bought a membership in 1971. Due to distance and work, Jerry hasn't been back to the Fort since becoming a member, but has kept up with things through the quarterly newsletter. The children are looking forward to going to Alamo Village, Acuna and swimming in "that big pool."

Bob Lovell is back in the hospital at this printing. He had to have another operation but is doing some better. More to follow as we hear.

Edna Black has had as her guest this week, Sister Clair Osborn from Our Lady of the Lake in San Antonio, Tx.. Edna took her on a trip to Acuna and has been introducing her to her many friends here on Fort Clark. Sister Clair thinks "It's a little bit of Heaven" here and cannot wait to return for another visit.

Welcome to all our summer visitors, enjoy your stay!

Above is the remains of big Huisache tree removed because of deterioration.

Maintenance working on clean up

Maintenance has been busy mowing the green areas, because of the unusual amount of rain for this time of year. This has put them a bit behind, so it's hoped that the members will bear with the crews as they're working as fast as they are able to reach all lots.

Dead trees throughout the Fort are being removed as needed. The big Huisache tree on the corner of Fort Clark Road and McClelland Road, by Bullis Hall, was cut down Tuesday due to old age taking it's toll. The tree has been deteriorating in stages over the past year. A new tree will be installed on this spot during the next planting season. Whenever a dead tree is removed a new tree is replanted where feasible. Sunny weather and drier days will see more outside work being completed by our hard working maintenance department.

Eyes are on

Jack & Marge Taunt

By Joan Boutwell
Cavalryman Staff Writer

Jack was born in Canada, many moons ago and transported to Michigan. He says it cost his folks a nickel per child to come across on the Ferry from Canada to Flint, Michigan; that's why he's known as "a nickel immigrant."

Marge was born in Flint, Michigan, almost as many moons ago as Jack. They were both educated in Flint and went to rival schools. Their football teams, the Indians and Vikings, had quite a rivalry between them.

Jack and Marge were married Oct. 4, 1941. They have two children, John and Christine, four grandchildren, all boys, and one great-granddaughter.

Jack worked for General Motors in Flint, Mich. transferred to Detroit, then to Cleveland, Ohio where he retired from the Company in 1974. They had visited in Texas several times and after retirement were on their way to California when they decided to come to Texas one last time. They enjoyed this stay so much they moved to San Antonio, Texas. Upon receipt of a letter from North American Towns inviting them to Fort Clark, they came to inspect it and fell in love with the people and peaceful atmosphere. They bought a membership and moved here permanently in 1983. Jack has been active in the Fort doings, such as being in charge of Cavalry Days, three years, serving one term on the planning committee and at present is serving on the Architect Committee.

He is also a member of the PBGA, (Pot Bellied Golfers Association). His hobbies besides golf and committee work include working with the Shriner Organization. Marge's hobbies are gardening and t-shirt painting. Together these two people keep quite active and enjoy all they can in what they call "Little Paradise."

Weekly Golf News

Cavalryman Staff Reporter

FORT CLARK -- The golf course not only sounds like a ranarium, but it is beginning to look like one after all of the rains. It doesn't matter how many sprinklers a golf course has or how many times a week it is watered, nothing turns it as green as a good rain. The way the course looks right now is living proof of the advantages of good rains.

Eight of Fort Clark's "bouncin' beauties" that enhance our golf course on a regular basis, loaded their clubs this past weekend and journeyed to El Dorado for a Lady's Tournament. Men, the gals did it again. One team played tenacious golf and came close to bringing home a trophy while the other bunch completely annihilated their group and romped home the winners of the First Flight.

The First Flight winners were led by Chick Cruse, and rounding out her team was Helen Miller, Vickie Nichols, and Pat McKelvy. This team of fulgent females refused to be intimidated by the large group of gals who came to play and galloped home the easy winners.

Jane Young, Mary Stephenson, Shirley Stephenson, and Louise Williamson played like champs, but just couldn't get there.

Funny thing about Fort Clark golfers ... when the gals go out of town to play in a tournament they usually bring home a trophy. When the men go out of town to play in a tournament, they have to borrow money to get back to the front gate on. Looks like them guys just can't stand the pressure.

Last Thursday, the Couples Tournament drew another good crowd of hackers. It must be the burning desire to play for the "big chips" that continuously brings them out each Thursday (the entry fee is $1).

A two way tie for first place highlighted the day's competition with E. W. and Louise Williamson teamed up with Mae and Les Roper for one winning team. The other team was made up of Bob and Jane Young and Julian Garza and Betty Inman.

The nine hole course was a little short of golfers following the big rains as 11 players signed in to play. The weekly scramble was won by Charlie Smith and Gerald Gallion while C. Bordiga, Art Ray, and D. Yates finished second.

The gals turned out for another Female Day on the Golf Course Tuesday and played a good game of low net. The scoreboard remained the same as last week with Jane Young finishing first, Mary Stephenson second, and Vicki Nichols coming in third.

Heard some of the men talking the other day about changing the name of their golf association from Pot Belly Golf Association to Hairy Legged Golf Association. Both names sound gross. Men's Golf Association has a dignified ring to it.

The men took over Wednesday morning and played the Stableford System and a blind draw. Eighteen long hittin' men teed it up and, under ideal playing conditions, had a good day of golf. A three way tie for first was claimed by T. Boutwell and Jim Swinney; James Stafford and Tom McNew; and Dwite Gilliland and Sam, "the Smoocher" Henninger.

The ABCD monthly scramble will be held this coming Saturday morning with tee off time set for eight o'clock. The deadline for signing up is Friday afternoon at five o'clock.

The PBGA will be having their monthly steak dinner Wednesday, July 31 at the club house. Everyone is invited to come and enjoy the fun.

WORDS OF WISDOM:

Beware of interviews when ... the first thing said by the representative is, "Anything you say can and will be used against you." ... the executive who interviews you wears military boots, a monocle, and carries a swagger stick ... you notice that one of the plaques on the interviewer's wall says that he was the winner of last year's "Rubber Hose Award." or last but not least ... you're escorted into the interviewer's office by the company chaplain.

Absentee Balloting for Special August 10 Election Begins

On Monday, July 22, 1991 registered voters in the Brackett ISD may begin to vote absentee for the upcoming August 10 Election on tax exemptions and taxing authority for the newly created Consolidated County Education District #18. Voters are reminded that they will need to vote at both the County Clerks Office and the Brackett High School Office. The vote at the County Clerk's office will be for a constitutional amendment enabling the acts to be voted on the ballot at the Brackett High School Office.

It is important that everyone vote. These issues will have a direct effect on school taxes for the next five years. A sample of both ballots may be found below: Persons having questions regarding the ballot are urged to contact the County Clerk's Office or the School District Central Office.

PUBLIC NOTICE of Brackett ISD Budget Hearing for 1991-92

The Brackett ISD Board of Trustees will hold a special meeting for the purpose of: A Public Hearing on the 1991-92 School District Budget.

Place: Board Room - School District Central Office
300 Ann Street
Brackettville, Texas 78832

Time: 5:30 p.m.
Date: Individuals interested in offering input may contact the superintendent's office. All residents of the Brackett Independent School District and other interested parties are invited to attend.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

To the voters of Kinney County. On Aug. 10th, 1991, a constitutional election will be held for you to vote on two proposed constitutional amendments, as well as three county education district propositions.

I would hope that all eligible voters will go to the polls this day and vote, but I am very upset with the wording of Proposition #1 for Kinney County. It states: The constitutional amendment to allow the voters of a county education district to adopt certain exemptions from the district's ad valorem taxation for residence homestead and (now here is where I disagree) to provide for the taxation of certain tangible personal property.

I'm not for taxing personal property, and it seems to me if one votes for this amendment, even though the first part would be good, adding the last line will make it a no vote for me. If anyone can tell me different on this, I would like to hear from them. The way the Brackett ISD ballot is set up, you have 3 separate propositions to decide on, and I believe that's how the county's ballot should also be designed.

Yours truly,
S/S Mrs. Joan Boutwell

A Time For Action
By William H. Kolberg,
President, National Alliance of Business

In the workplace, it is becoming increasingly clear that new employees who are good with their hands are going nowhere without using their heads. Many corporate leaders agree: business has lost confidence in the high school diploma as a reflection of learning achievement. This must change.

The US needs a national assessment system to examine the reading, writing, computing and reasoning abilities of every student in the country. The assessment should be benchmarked to the highest standards in the world. The system should be coordinated at the state and local level, start early and continue throughout each student's schooling. If implemented, employers would know that students who pass are capable of holding well paying jobs.

Today, our children rank almost last among industrialized nations in math and science. Our sub-standard graduates are one reason we have a national economic problem on our hands. We must establish a better standard of achievement for our youth.

We still have a highly productive economy. But if we don't act soon—today—on the local, state and national fronts, we will lose the international competitive challenge.

Ann W. Richards
Governor of Texas

I grew up during the Depression in the little town of Lakeview, just outside of Waco. I don't know why they called it Lakeview, because there was no lake to view.

It was just a little town where the people worked hard and didn't ask for a lot. A big time was driving into Waco for an ice cream cone. I've never forgotten what I learned growing up there in Lakeview.

The rule was: wear it, wear it out, turn it over and wear it again. Those lessons I learned from my mama have stayed with me throughout my life. She showed me how to squeeze a dollar and a quarter out of every dollar. And when it was time to clean, she taught me to scrub to the bone.

And it's time we applied my mama's lessons to state government.

The fabric that makes up state government is wearing thin. The budget writers tell us that in our current shape, the proposed expenditures amount to $4.5 billion more than our income. Texans are faced with making a fundamental choice between cutting and spending.

It is time to take care of our budget problems the same way my mama took care of a worn out shirt. She'd rip off the collar, turn it over and sew it back on.

On July 15 we begin a special session dedicated to the budget.

But it will be much more than that. It will be an accountability session as we try to bring order and sanity to a state bureaucracy that is badly in need of an overhaul.

This special session is going to be a historic one. I am confident that statesmanship will prevail over partisanship, and the people of Texas are going to be proud of the job their representatives do for them. Democrats and Republicans alike know that we will never have a better opportunity to reshape state government than the one we have before us today.

Part one of the session will be cuts and consolidations.

Part two is the budget. In part three, we'll talk about new revenues—but only after we absolutely certain they are necessary.

And I guarantee you that part one is going to be a headline-maker. Texas Comptroller John Sharp has given us the tools we need to cut state government.

Early in the session I authorized the Comptroller to conduct a complete audit of every state agency and function. While critics claimed Sharp's report couldn't possibly come up with more than $200 or $300 million in savings, I insisted that he take a microscope to every function the state performs.

And he has given us an absolutely stunning piece of work. Sharp's 1,500 page report outlines ways to reduce our overall state expenditures by $5.2 billion.

As you would have expected, the hollering has already begun. Opponents of the report wasted no time before taking to the newspapers and the nightly news to protest the cuts and consolidations. And they are howling loudly.

But the people of Texas are fed up. They are fed up with business as usual and a bureaucracy where no one is in charge and the simplest decisions are months in the making. They want change in state government. They want accountability and accessibility in return for their tax dollars.

And it is important to point out that many of the proposals put forth in the Comptroller's report bear out what I have always believed: In many areas we can actually improve service while reducing costs.

We are going to do this by eliminating unnecessary duplications that turn the simplest request into a maze of bureaucratic red-tape.

The people of Texas want a dramatic change in the way we do business in state government.

The people of Texas do not want a state income tax.

I intend to honor their wishes on both those counts. That's why I am so excited about the prospects for real change in this special session.

Because we are at a crossroads that the citizens of Lakeview would have had no trouble understanding when I was growing up there.

So we'll take what we have, turn it inside out, and make it better.

Susan Hale goes to Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Susan Hale of Brackettville has been selected to attend the 1991 National Young Leaders Conference from July 30 to August 4, 1991 in Washington, D.C. Having demonstrated academic achievement, leadership and citizenship, Susan will be among 350 outstanding high school students from across the nation at the conference sponsored by the Congressional Youth Leadership Council.

The theme of the National Young Leaders Conference is The Leaders of Tomorrow Meeting the Leaders of Today. Through out the uniquely designed six-day conference, Susan will meet with key leaders and newsmakers from the three branches of government, the media and the diplomatic corps.

Highlights of Susan's week in Washington will include welcoming remarks from a Member of Congress on the Floor of the United States House of Representatives, a lobbying seminar, and a panel discussion led by prominent journalists at the National Press Club. Susan will explore executive branch decision-making in a simulation entitled "If I were President." In addition, Susan will attend a college preparation seminar and receive information about the admissions process from various university representatives. Susan will also visit the diplomatic embassy of either Saudi Arabia, Denmark, Ireland, Republic of Kenya, Switzerland or Turkey.

Susan will meet with Senator Lloyd Bentsen, Senator Phil Gramm, Representative Albert G. Bustamante, or designated congressional staff members. These meetings provide an opportunity to discuss important policy issues and focus on topics of state and local concern. Culminating the National Young Leaders Conference will be The Mock Congress on Gun Control during which scholars assume the roles of United States representatives by debating, lobbying and voting on proposed hand gun legislation.

Founded in 1985, the Council is a non-profit, non-partisan educational organization committed to recognizing outstanding youth like Susan and providing them with a "hands-on" civic learning experience in the nation's capital. Over 325 Members of the United States Congress join in the commitment to educational excellence as members of the Council's Honorary Congressional Board of Advisors.

"I firmly believe that by touching one life, the National Young Leaders Conference enriches thousands more," said John Hines, Council Executive Director. "Scholars return to their schools and communities charged with the lifelong duty of leading all Americans to better understand their rights and responsibilities in this participatory democracy."

"I would like to thank those people who have encouraged me to reach my dreams," stated Susan. "I would also like to thank all those who have sponsored my trip to Washington."

Babe Knew Baseball

He hit 714 home runs in 22 major-league seasons of play; he played in 10 World Series; and in the 1916-1918 World Series, he pitched 29 consecutive scoreless innings. Who else but Babe Ruth?

Born on Feb. 6, 1895, George Herman Ruth began his baseball career with the Baltimore Orioles at the age of 19. Ruth was considered to be the first great home-run hitter, as players before him did not often hit home runs.

In 1920, Ruth was traded to the Yankees, and he attracted so many fans that Yankee Stadium was nicknamed "The House That Ruth Built."

In 1927, Ruth hit a whopping 60 home runs in one season. It was not until 1974 that his career record of 714 home runs was broken by another baseball great, Henry "Hank" Aaron.

While his career began with the Orioles, Ruth pitched for the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees, and he ended his career with the Boston Braves.

Renowned as one of the greatest baseball players of all time, Ruth died in 1948, but not before being elected to the Major League Baseball Hall of Fame in 1936.

Campwood Concert to be held

By J.J.Guidry
Cavalryman Contributing Writer

The Templeton Sisters from Commerce, Texas performed a mini-gospel concert at the First Baptist Church of Brackettville on Wednesday night and will perform in Campwood next Sunday.

Mary, Carol, and June are working on their country music careers at Alamo Village. They've traveled to Bristol, Tennessee twice in the last year for recording sessions and are currently filming music videos.

Mary and Carol got their first taste of the limelight in 1985, when they performed as a duo with their band "Jade". They won the Country Music Championships of Nashville and opened for such big-name entertainers as Willie Nelson and Gary Morris.

After the break-up of their band, Mary and Carol returned to Texas and began performing as a trio with their younger sister, June, at Alamo Village under the management of Happy Shahan, who has backed such recording stars as Dotsie, Valentino and Country and Western legend, Johnny Rodriguez. Shahan hopes the Templeton's will soon make a splash as they dive into the world of country music.

Texas Agricultural Extension Service

By Alan L. McWilliams, CEA-AG
Texas Agricultural Extension Service

The rains we received over the past weekend were a welcomed sight. Things were fairly dry around the county. I received 2.4 inches at my house.

While grub control in lawns is important during the summer season. May or June beetles have emerged from the soil by now and have been swarming in late evenings. Females are busy laying eggs and while grub worms that hatch will soon be feeding on the roots of bermudagrass, and St. Augustine grass in home lawns. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken.

Treatment time varies with the particular area of the state and ranges from early July in south Texas to mid August in the Panhandle. Homeowner in Kinney County will need to treat between the 15th of July and August 10. Timing of application is critical for adequate control.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of 4 inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod.

Diazinon, Dursban, or Dylox provide adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical container label. The granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than liquid or spray formulations. After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or water hose to mow them down to the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules into the soil.

Apply diazinon sprays at the rate of 25 gallons of water, including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to wash the insecticide into the soil. Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps. Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry.

The key to white grub control in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where the grubs are feeding.

If you are interested in more information, call or come by the Kinney County Extension office located in the County Courthouse.

K.C. Chamber of Commerce Cowboy Cauldron

The Kinney County Chamber of Commerce is proud to announce their First Annual Cowboy Festival Saturday, September 7, 1991 at the Brackettville Civic Center. Brackettville, along with Alamo Village and Fort Clark Springs, is the perfect setting for an exciting gathering of cowboy poets, storytellers, musicians, artists, exhibitors, and craftsmen.

Alvin Davis--Poet Laureate of the Plains of Texas, John Campbell--Storyteller from Three Rivers, Clay Lindley--Poet from Van Horn (previously a Brackettville-an), and many others will be our special guests. Artists, such as our own Bud Breen, doing everything and anything that captures our western heritage will be exhibiting their work--many will be doing live demonstrations. A special sheep dog demonstration is also planned.

Highlights will be chili cook-off, Saturday evening performance at the Fort Clark Springs Old Quarry Amphitheatre, a Sunday trip to Alamo Village for the performers (come meet them), Barbecue, fun and games. Bring your oldest boots and hat, a strong arm, and a big appetite for cowboy culture!

The Chamber of Commerce would like to introduce and highlight various performers that will be performing at the Cowboy Cauldron, Saturday, September 7, 1991 at the Civic Center. The first of these highlights is on John Campbell of Three Rivers.

John N. Campbell, a former ranch manager, now poet and Special Education teacher, will be one of the poets at the Cowboy Cauldron. Campbell writes poetry about his experiences in the saddle and on the range with some of the Brush Country's best-known cowhands. He is proud of his pioneer family's heritage and finds joy in sauntering through the historic cemetery near Oakville, pointing to the stones of his ancestors.

Most of our guests have only asked for room and board, and traveling expenses in exchange for their performances (approximately $50 to $100 for each person). Different individuals and businesses in town have offered to sponsor specific performers and will be mentioned as doing such during their acts on Saturday.

There are still booth spaces available for Saturday. They will cost $25.00 and must be reserved in advance. We welcome any Western theme (artwork, guns, books, crafts, leatherwork, braiding; spur, boot, and/or saddle making; demonstrations, historical information, etc.) games, and food. Any individual or team may enter the chili cook-off at $25.00 a team (will go towards prize monies). Each team may sell their chili during the day. Fiddle players may enter the fiddle contest at $15.00 a person (will go towards prize monies also).

Anyone interested in sponsoring a poet, having a booth, or entering any of the aforementioned activities needs to contact the Chamber of Commerce at 512-563-2466 or Kathryn Letsinger at 512-563-2729 after 6:00 p.m.

Eternal Security

Part V

ETERNAL SECURITY Part V

"You have been severed from Christ, you who are seeking to be justified by law; you have fallen from grace" Galatians 5:4.

As we have seen thus far in this series, the preponderance of New Testament scriptures teach the eternal security of the believer. However, a few isolated verses on the surface seem to indicate a believer can lose his salvation, like Hebrews 5:11-6:8 that we studied in Part IV. Some of these passages are best interpreted in a contextual approach, such as those in Hebrews 5 & 6. Other passages are best interpreted on a language basis, like Galatians 5:4 above.

If we look first at Galatians from a contextual basis, we see that the Apostle Paul wrote the epistle because an extremely serious problem had developed in the churches in Galatia. A group of Christian Jews from Jerusalem had visited the churches and taught that to be a Christian you must also become a Jew and carry out the Mosaic Law, even to the extent of the men in the churches undergoing physical circumcision. These men we call "legalists," because they wanted to put every one under the law. Paul's answer to the legalists can be summed up in two verses, "For by grace you have been saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is the gift of God; not as a result of works, that no one should boast" (Galatians 2:8-9). (In fact, these two verses started the Protestant Reformation, because they convinced Martin Luther that not faith plus works, but faith alone was the true means of salvation.)

So Paul gets pretty rough with the legalists for falling into legalism. He states that there is only ONE gospel, and that is the one that he gave them; any other "gospel" that deviates from his is a LIE! When Paul gets to Chapter 5 he states in verse 4 that those who are attempting to be justified by keeping the law have severed themselves from Christ and have fallen from Grace. Now, before we formulate a doctrine of falling from grace, we need to do a little checking. A review of any good concordance will show that the phrase "fallen from grace" ONLY occurs in this one verse. And since the New Testament was written in koine Greek, we need to consult some experts on that language. If we do, we will see that "fallen from" was an idiomatic expression used in the Greek theater. An idiomatic expression is a word or group of words whose individual definitions usually have nothing to do with the implied meaning of the word or words. For example, if I said, "my boss was so uptight last week waiting for news of his transfer that he was climbing the walls," you would understand me to mean that my boss was exhibiting a lot of anxiety last week. But if you were a foreigner in Brackettville trying to read my article with an English dictionary in one hand, you would give up after trying to reconcile the definition of "up" with "tight." So we have the same problem with the koine Greek "fallen from." It was a dramatic idiomatic expression that meant to be "hissed" off the stage (for poor performance). So Paul was saying if you try to add works to faith you are hissed off the stage of grace. Another form of the Greek verb "fall" used idiomatically is found in I Corinthians 13:8, "Love is never hissed off the stage."

This example of interpreting Galatians 5:4 brings up a very important principle. When we formulate Christian doctrine from the Bible, we should imitate the Bible; we should emphasize what it emphasizes, and de-emphasize what it de-emphasizes. We should never take some lone, obscure passage and give it more importance than long passages on the same subject.

Another important principle: II Timothy 3:16 says, "All Scripture is inspired by God...." But this "inspiration" only applies to the original autographs, the documents written by the original authors. And these documents were written in Hebrew, Aramaic, and koine Greek. No translation from these languages into another language has claimed to be inspired. Most of us have never studied these languages, and I am not saying that we should. There are many excellent translations of the Bible in modern English; some attempt a word-for-word translation (as much as the Greek syntax will allow), others are expanded translations that attempt to give the full meaning of the original words, and some try to give the sense of the original languages, usually in a paraphrase form. If you really want to know what a particular passage means, you ought to own all three types.

Next week we will look at other problem verses.

The Signs of the Times

By Robert K. White
Cavalryman Contributing Writer

"For if we sin willfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins, but a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries." (Heb 10:26,27)

This scripture means exactly what it says. Jesus was the final sacrifice for sin - there is no more sacrifice. Judgment will come on your life if you willfully sin after you receive the knowledge of the truth.

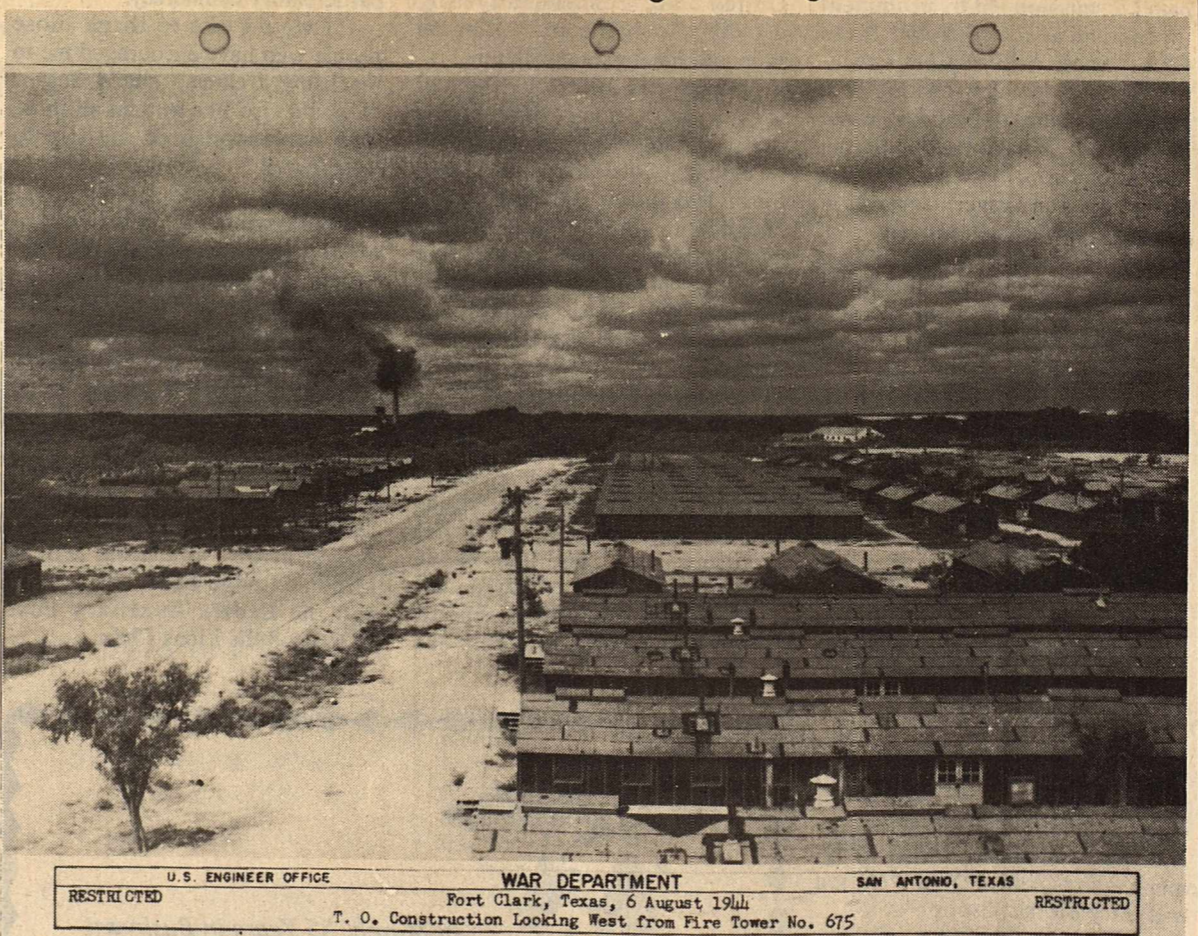

God does not need anyone to soft-peddle his message. If you willfully sin, you will be judged for it! The reason God feels so strongly about this is explained as you read on in the next few verses. The passage goes on to say, "He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses: OF HOW MUCH SORER PUNISHMENT, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, WHO HATH TRODDEN UNDER FOOT THE SONS OF GOD, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace? For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord, and again, the Lord shall judge his people. IT IS A FEARFUL THING TO FALL INTO THE HANDS OF THE LIVING GOD." (Heb 10:28-31)

Don't fall for the false teaching that you can sin and get away with it because you have "eternal security." It will not work! Eternal security is Jesus Christ. He must be in you and you must be in Him. I John 3:8,9 says it very clearly, "He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that we might destroy the works of the devil. Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God."

Now do you believe that you can sin and have "eternal security?" Jesus is coming soon. He is coming for a church that has prepared herself, not a church that is claiming false security and living in sin.

Old Army Days

Fort Clark, Texas, 6 August 1944. The 2nd Cavalry have since departed, and all of these bar paper barracks, orderly rooms, supply buildings, mess halls, etc., are now vacant. The only activity is the Post Laundry, which was still in operation, serving the Infantry housekeeping unit on Fort Clark, Eagle Pass Army Air Base, Laughlin Army Air Base, and Hondo Army Air Base. The smoke is steadily rising from its impressive smoke stack, which is all that remains of the coal being fired into its furnace. This view is looking west from Fire Tower number 675, located on the north west corner of the east perimeter road (which was not in existence during this era), and the east end of 1st Street (an east extension of Fort Travis Road), as it was about to enter onto Spofford Road. In the background and to the right (a white color building) is the old 2nd Cavalry Division Service Club, building T-1229 which served the lower ranking enlisted troops. The street in the center of the photo is Avenue A, which ran south to Spofford Access Road (renamed Scales Avenue during the 1980's). Along Avenue A, which now may be seen, is the remaining foundation to the old Training Building, which resembled a movie theatre, and was used as such at times.

Letter to the Editor

Even though this is addressed to the Brackett News Editor, we were requested to print it also by Debbie Trant.

Dear Brackett News Editor:

I'm writing to let you know how amused I am with columnist Joe Townsend's snide remarks directed at everyone against the radioactive dump site near Spofford. We have been labeled everything from misfits, weirdoes, negativists, alarmists, rabble rousers, and people with little minds by columnist Townsend.

Mr. Townsend may think he's attacking just those of us here in Kinney County who are against the dump (which is probably 85% of the populace), but this isn't so. His verbal assaults would also be directed at the individuals that make up the city and county governments of Val Verde, Maverick, Uvalde Counties, many of their citizens, as well as the Middle Rio Grande Development Council, the governments and people of the state of Coahuila Mexico, the National Park Service, our state senator and state representative, plus many, many others who all join us in opposition to the radioactive dump. You could pretty much say columnist Townsend is lashing out against a whole region. We're honored that we can stir up columnist Townsend enough that he elects to frequently direct his writings towards us, even though it is with hostility that he does so. The publicity is great!

There is an old saying "sticks and stones may break my bones, but your words will never hurt me." This is certainly true of Mr. Townsend's antagonistic writings directed at all of us who will continue to stand united in opposition against the radioactive dump.

Sincerely,
Debbie Trant

Public Notice

On April 9, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to request that the optional feature "Call Transfer Disconnect" be available to all PLEXAR I customers by including the feature in Southwestern Bell's PLEXAR I tariff. Currently, this optional feature is available only on a customer requested basis.

Call Transfer Disconnect (CTD) is an optional feature that allows PLEXAR I customers the ability to transfer a call to another telephone number within or outside their PLEXAR I system, hang up, and permit the two remaining parties to continue with the call. The PLEXAR I user is then free to place or accept another call. CTD is not intended to be used to avoid toll charges. Therefore, CTD will not be available to PLEXAR I customers subscribing to optional Extended Metropolitan Service or Extended Area Calling Service.

If the company's application is approved, the monthly rate for CTD will be $4.00 for each PLEXAR I station line. Prior to the June 19, 1991, interim rate approval, Southwestern Bell was billing customers who receive the service $1.50 for each station line equipped with this feature. In addition, under Southwestern Bell's proposed tariff, every line within the PLEXAR I system must be equipped with this feature. The nonrecurring charge for the additional lines which must be equipped with CTD will be waived for existing CTD customers. The tariffed monthly rate will apply to all existing and future CTD customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

"Bit", which has long been English slang for any coin of a low denomination, derived from the Old English word, bite, which meant a small bit or morsel. Before the American Revolution, English money was in short supply, so coins from all over Europe, Mexico, and South America were equally redeemable. Sailors and new immigrants brought a steady stream of non-English coins into the U.S. Because there were so many different denominations, coins were valued by their weight and silver & gold content.

Spanish and Mexican coins were popular in early America. "Bit" became a synonym for the Spanish and Mexican coin, the "real". This coin was equivalent to one-eighth of a peso, or 12 1/2 cents, especially in the southwestern U.S. where the Mexican influence was most strongly felt. The U. S. coinage had no equivalent to one bit so Southwesterners rarely called a quarter anything else but "two bits". Ten cents was usually called a "short bit" and 15 cents was a "long-bit".

In Spain, a bit was actually a coin. Pesos were made so they could be cut apart. A peso which equaled eight bits could be cut in half to become two four bit pieces. Cut in fourths a peso became four two-bit pieces.

The term two-bit became to mean cheapness and tackiness, "because one bit is the cheapest".

The first known use of this meaning according to word whiz Stuart Flexnor, was in 1856, when referring to a saloon that was so cheap that a good stiff drink could be had for -- "two bits". And don't forget the good ole' days when a haircut cost six bits with a little bay rum included.

Settling the Score

Our older daughter took up soccer again this spring. Julie played a couple of seasons of girls' youth soccer about the time she started elementary school. Once, her team completed the season with only one loss and came within a single game of winning the big end-of-year tournament.

But through it all, Julie remained an indifferent player; bemused by the whole "win, win, win" attitudes of her coach, some of her fellow players and most of the parents.

The soccer organization's stated goal was to provide fun for the kids. But there were so many grown-ups running things — coaches, referees, parents, helpers — that it didn't seem much like a kid's game. Julie sighed with relief when she decided to drop out. My husband and I were glad.

So, we were all surprised when she came home from school and announced that she had joined a newly formed team. A boy in her class was recruiting members. Julie and one other girl signed up.

We still aren't sure why. We suspect that the "mixed" nature of the team influenced her decision. At 11, Julie still thinks boys are "yuck-o," but her protests grow weaker by the day.

Anyway, our Saturdays once again revolve around soccer games, our weekdays punctuated by practice. Not much has changed since our first go-round with the sport. The local youth soccer organization still preaches that fun, not victory, is what's important. But the coaches, and most parents, still want to "win, win, win."

I still find myself on the sidelines at the game wondering if the kids would have more fun with a little less structure, without so much pressure from coaches and parents. When I see real tears and anger each time my daughter's team loses, I wonder about the values these youngsters are absorbing.

Which brings me to what happened yesterday. Julie's team lost a regular season game. But afterward, there was a game between the kids and the parents, a prelude to a pizza party.

The parents-kids game was almost over when I noticed the kids were laughing. When someone messed up, no one criticized. No coaches screamed. Nobody worried about who played what position. Nobody kept score.

When it was over, nobody wanted to stop. So the game was extended by 10 minutes. The kids acted goofy, poking fun at their parents and each other. There were no tears over mistakes or missed kicks.

And we had to think a minute to figure out who won. The parents did. But it didn't seem to matter. ■

Texas Senate Week in Review

Cavalryman Correspondent

Austin - On Monday, July 15, the Texas Senate convened for the First Called Session of the 72nd Legislature to work on the state's budget. After reelecting Senator Don Henderson of Houston as President Pro Tempore, the members of the Senate met in joint session with the members of the Texas House of Representatives to hear an address from Governor Ann Richards. Governor Richards addressed specific objectives for the special session, and praised Comptroller John Sharp's Texas Performance Review as the basis of the budget plan. Governor Richards also stated that there would be no need for a state income tax this session.

Senate committees spent the week meeting for long hours trying to pass legislation relating to several areas specified in the Texas Performance Review. On Thursday, July 18, the first package of legislation to be considered on the Senate floor was the criminal justice legislation sponsored by Senator Ted Lyon of Rockwall. Senate Joint Resolution 4 proposes a constitutional amendment authorizing a 1.1 billion dollar bond program to pay for an additional 30,000 prison beds over the next four years. Senate Bill 24 provides for the efficient operation of the Texas Department of Criminal Justice, including the parole of special needs offenders, and the provision of services and facilities to the institutional division by private vendors.

On Friday, July 15, the Senate passed Senate Bill 2, sponsored by Senator Carl Parker of Port Arthur, which would create the Texas Department of the Environment. This legislation consolidates the Texas Water Commission, the Texas Air Control Board, the Texas Waterwell Drillers' Board, the Structural Pest Control Board, as well as various environmental functions performed by other agencies. The proposal increases environmental agencies' fee authority, consolidates state laboratory facilities, and gives more priority to federal funds as a funding source for state programs. Senate Bill 2 includes provisions to bring Texas in accordance with the Federal Clean Air Act. The bill passed unanimously with a vote of 27-0.

The Senate stands adjourned until 11:00 a.m. Monday.

Reflections By Rev. Preston Taylor
First Baptist Church

By Preston Taylor
First Baptist Church

In the book of Ecclesiastes King Solomon reminds us that there is a time for everything.

That third chapter of the book elaborates on the various seasons of life. You might want to turn to the Old Testament and read at least the third chapter of that fascinating book.

He mentions a time to be born and a time to die. All of us who live today are going to die physically, unless Jesus Christ returns first. A time to die is coming. Are we ready for that big event?

He mentions that we have a time to build fences and gather up stones to farm. That sounds like he lived in South Texas, doesn't it?

A time of sorrow and a time of joy also finds a place in his series of events that take place in life.

Now look beyond the book of Ecclesiastes. You'll discover that God's Word reminds us that we have a time to be in God's House each week.

Each week? The stated times of worship are not given in the Scriptures. But the "Lord's Day" is set forth as the time when God's people honor Him with praise and worship in His house.

If you've been missing out in this vital area of life, why not make a change and be in God's designated place to celebrate with other Christians this coming Sunday? Who knows, you might even like it!

Legislators hit the ground running in special session

Judith Zaffirini
State Senator, District 21

"The purpose of this session is not to give Texas a new coat of paint or try to repair a window-pane, but to repair the house of government called the State of Texas." Lt. Gov. Bob Bullock said following the convening of the First Called Session of the 72nd Legislature.

Faced with the challenge of rebuilding state government to be more cost effective and responsive to citizens, legislators hit the ground running on July 15. Using the recommendations by Comptroller John Sharp in the two-volume audit report, "Breaking the Mold: New Ways to Govern Texas," as a guideline, Senate committees immediately convened hearings on proposed legislation.

This article in my series on these recommendations will focus on the first week's activities.

On Monday, the first day of the special session, the Senate Finance Committee met until 11 p.m., listening to witnesses on SB 2 by Sen. Carl Parker, which I am co-sponsoring. The bill would consolidate the state's environmental agencies and incorporate SB 1406 by Zaffirini, giving the Texas Department of Health authority to regulate Naturally Occurring Radioactive Materials (NORM).

NORM materials include scale that builds up in oil and gas production pipe and equipment, phosphate fertilizer wastes and sludges from water and wastewater treatment plants. Under current law and regulations, operators and/or owners of disposal sites for NORM have no restrictions for site locations. On Friday we passed SB 2, 27-0.

My workload this session includes also co-sponsoring the following bills which implement many of the comptroller's recommendations:

* SB 3 by Sen. John Montford, outlining methods to handle state funds more effectively;

* SB 6 by Sen. Bob Glasgow, merging the Texas Department of Highways and Public Transportation, the Texas Turnpike Authority and the Texas Department of Aviation into the Texas Department of Transportation to develop and implement a statewide plan covering all modes of transportation;

* SB 7 by Glasgow, consolidating a myriad of licensing and regulatory agencies into a new

Texas Department of Licensing and Regulation;

* SB 10 by Sen. Parker, restructuring the Texas Education Agency while evaluating each employee and regulation and coordinating public education with higher education;

* SB 22 by Sen. Chet Brooks creating the Texas Board of Health and Human Services to perform strategic planning, monitor service delivery and develop budget requests for six departments: Health Services, Community and Residential Services, Rehabilitative Services, Workforce Development, Family Services and Protective and Regulatory Services.

The Senate State Affairs Committee met until midnight on Tuesday, hearing witnesses on two of the bills I co-sponsor, SB 7 and SB 22. These will be voted on this week.

Thursday the Senate also voted 28-0 for a Senate Joint Resolution placing a constitutional amendment on the Nov. 5 ballot, allowing voters to consider a $1 billion bond issue to build 30,000 new prison beds. The same day we passed SB 9 by Sen. Ken Armbrister, adding abandoned prepaid funeral contracts to the list of property that may revert to the ability to serve your reading needs as our numbers of patron services grow from month to month. If you haven't been to your library recently, we invite you to come in to see what we have available.

During the past week, we have received book donations from Betty Koons, Sally Justice, Carey W. Justice, and Rita Spears. Joan Lindley donated several paperback books. Mr. Jack Legg, manager and Pro and the Golf Club of Fort Clark Springs donated a new book by Ben Hogan on improving your golf entitled: Five Lessons: The Modern Fundamentals of Golf. Further, he provided us with an address so that we might obtain information on a book on golf etiquette as had been requested recently by one of our patrons. Our thanks to all these people for materially showing their support of their library.

We have been told that the delay of the dismantling of the Mellifont is due to the fact that the front end loader of Jewel Robinson's needed for the project is broken down and the County has no other equipment presently available for this project, so just be patient and keep watching the location for signs of progress. As always, we invite you to visit the coolest, friendliest little library in Kinney County!!!

Diving In
Only one thing stands in Wayne Hopkins' way to becoming a world-class highboard diver: his uncontrollable fear of heights. As he struggles to overcome his problem, Wayne (Matt Adler) is ridiculed by the team coach (Burt Young) and bullied by Jerome (Matt Latanzi), the team's star diver and the boyfriend of Wayne's sister (Kristy Swanson). But help arrives when the beautiful coach of the girl's team agrees to train Wayne, restoring his will to win with understanding and love. Diving In combines the tender drama of The Karate Kid with the human comedy of Breaking Away. (PG-13 92 minutes)

Chicken and fish can be two of a dieter's best friend's -- if they're prepared with the right ingredients. But in many common dishes, popular ingredients like mayonnaise and sour cream can send the calorie count right off the scale. Substituting Mexican sauces for some of the conventional ingredients can greatly reduce the calorie and fat total. Not only that, but salsa adds a lot more flavor. As a side benefit, salsas are also usually loaded with vitamins A and C.

CHICKEN SALAD
Most basic chicken salads contain quite a bit of mayonnaise. Such salads often result in more than 500 calories per serving, with cholesterol topping 120 mg/serving and as much as 44g/serving of fat. As a tangy alternative, try Southwest Express Chicken Salad. It contains 265 calories per serving, 11g carbohydrate, 35g protein, 9g fat, 540mg sodium, 89mg cholesterol.

SOUTHWEST EXPRESS CHICKEN SALAD
1 medium onion, cut into 1/4-inch wedges
1 tablespoon olive or vegetable oil
3 cups shredded or diced cooked chicken or turkey
2/3 cup Pace Thick and Chunky Salsa
2 medium tomatoes, diced
1 teaspoon ground cumin
3/4 teaspoon salt (optional)
1/2 teaspoon oregano leaves, crushed
5 cups shredded lettuce
1/4 cup chopped cilantro
Cook onion in oil until tender but not brown. Add chicken, salsa, tomatoes, cumin, salt and oregano; simmer five minutes, stirring occasionally. Arrange lettuce on four dinner plates or large platter; top with hot chicken mixture. Sprinkle with cilantro. Serve with additional salsa. Makes four servings.
