RECENT EVENTS 8/1991 Glider pilot killed in mid-air collision

By MAE ROPER
Cavalryman Correspondent

MEDINA -- Tragedy struck the 22nd World Soaring Championships Wednesday afternoon at 2:50 p.m., when two standard class gliders collided in mid-air during the 5th day of competition. One pilot, Anssi Passila of Finland, age 26, was killed while the other pilot, Atsushi Kodama from Japan, age 45, bailed out and parachuted to safety, sustaining only minor injuries. He landed on a private ranch off of highway 337.

The accident happened in Bandera County about 6.3 miles west of Medina. Kadama was taken to Uvalde Memorial Hospital by private vehicle for observation.

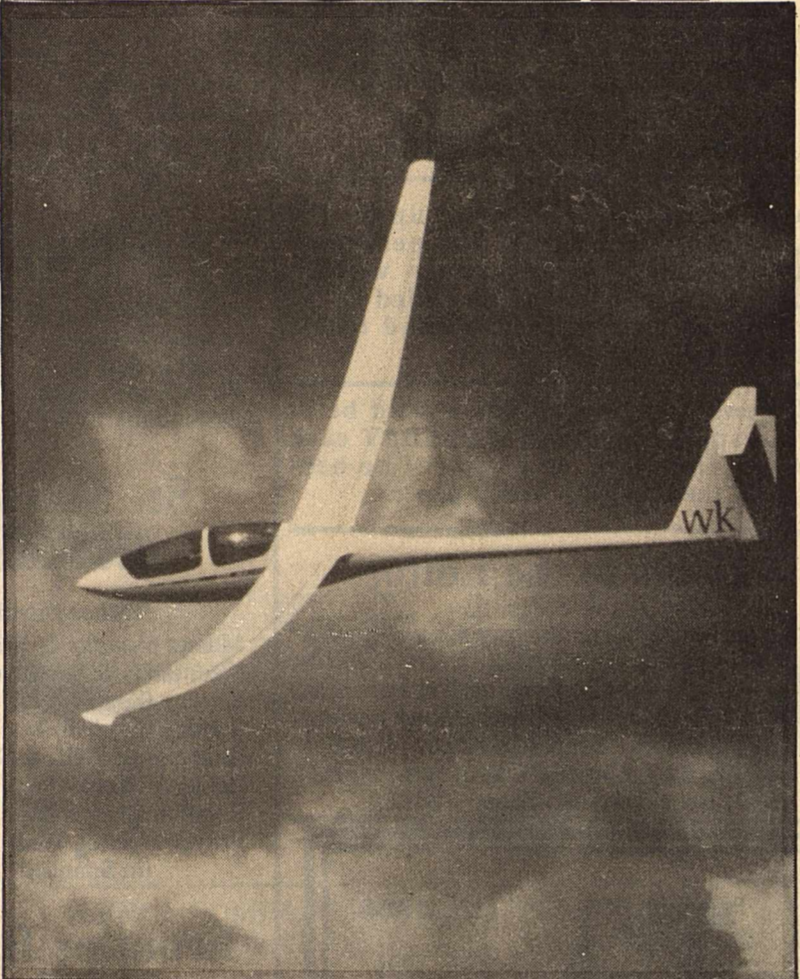

Contest spokesman, Bernard Smith, was quoted saying, "We regret the tragic loss of this young pilot and sympathize with the family and crew of the Finnish team."

It was noted that the Contest will continue with competition finishing on August 10th.

The FFA has been notified and at last report were on their way to the crash site. The DPS is investigating the accident.

Many of the pilots and their aircraft were in Brackettville two weeks ago practicing for the upcoming competition from the Fort Clark airport. The practice flights were not publicized so consequently, very few spectators were available to enjoy this world wide competition that was getting ready to take place.

A few spectators and workers from Fort Clark were on hand to watch the pilots and their crews as they readied their aircraft for flight. Some of them had the rare privilege to personally meet the world class competitors, who had traveled here from many different countries for the competition. It is not known whether the two pilots who were involved were in Fort Clark for the practice flights.

The Historical Society under the leadership of Walt Bauguess and Emet Huntsman provided the cold drinks and the volunteer labor which included the retrieving of tow lines and the hooking up of the gliders to the tow planes. During these 100 degree plus days the senior citizens who contributed their time and effort to these foreign visitors had the rare privilege of meeting many of the competitors and learning a little bit about flying gliders and world competition.

These International pilots who visited Fort Clark, took off and landed on the airport here and enjoyed the courtesy of the Post, have made the world very small for those who took the time to go out and meet some of them. This new found relationship with this group make this tragic loss very personal.

Alvin Davis --- colorful, straightfaced, generous, funny -- he's the Cowboy Poet Laureate of the plains of Texas. With the alias of "Tex West", he has a doctorate of Cowboy Philosophy (first of it's kind) he earned from Texas Tech University. We are proud to have him as our emcee for our Cowboy Cauldron, Saturday, September 7, 1991 at the Brackettville Civic Center.

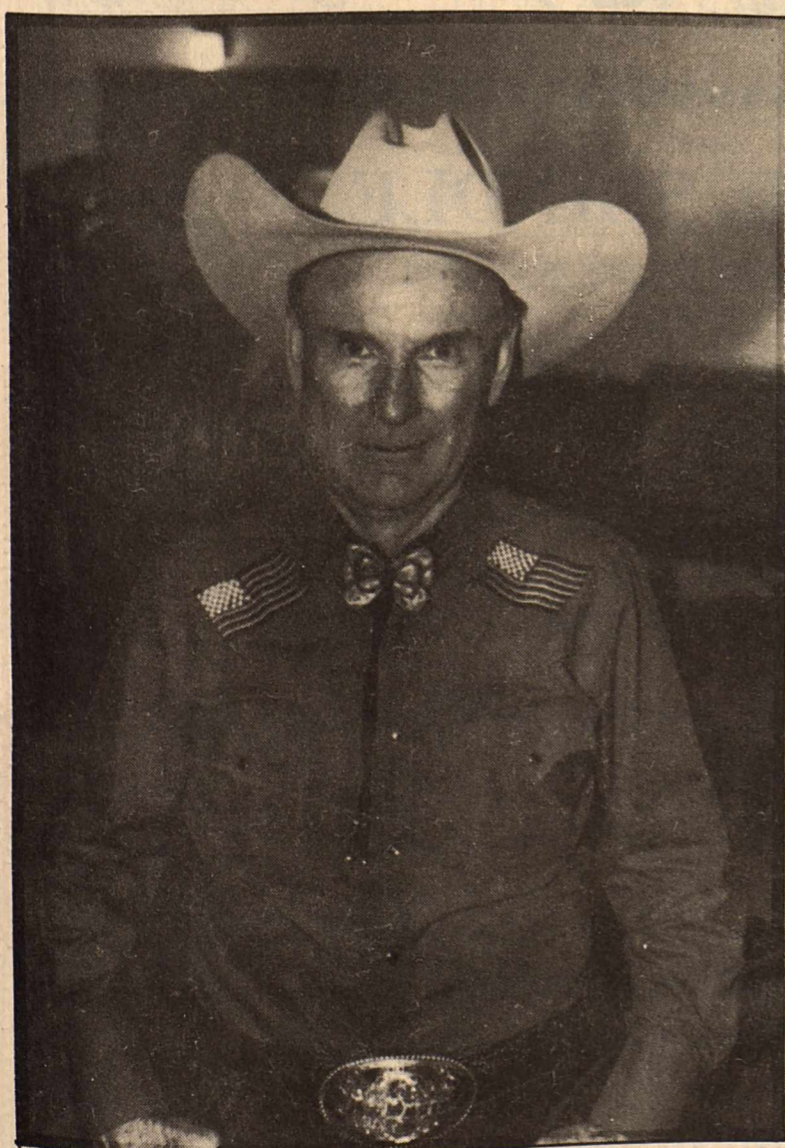

Along with Clay Lindley, Mr. Davis has been extremely helpful and supportive of our efforts to bring a cowboy poet gathering to this area. As the president of the Ranching Heritage Center, he is responsible for what has been called "The largest and most comprehensive event for the America Cowboy". It is held in Lubbock, Texas on the Texas Tech Campus every year. He has been called "Mr. Western Heritage" of the U.S. for his leadership roles in promoting American Cowboy culture and ranching heritage.

He has written poetry all his life, but did not realize there would be much interest in it until he heard about some of the poets that performed at Elko, Nevada (which is the granddaddy of all the poet gatherings). Now he has done over 100 performances and helps others start their own gatherings. He performed at our Chamber Banquet this past June and was a hit with everyone. Don't miss our First Annual Cowboy Cauldron or "Tex West" Campus every year.

Feature Poet John Campbell is being sponsored by Kinney County Land Company and Community Against Radioactive Environment.

This week's feature poet, Alvin Davis is being sponsored by Eagle Nest Ranch and Papco Service Co.

Trappers control coyotes

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

FORT CLARK -- There is an organization in Kinney County that receives very little recognition for the contribution they make to the sheep and goat industry. This group of men work long, hot hours under adverse conditions as they go about their duties from day to day.

This organization is known as the Kinney County Animal Damage Control Association and it covers 8 counties in the southwestern region of Texas with those being Val Verde, Edwards, Real, Uvalde, Zavala, Maverick, Dimmitt, and Kinney. There is a total of 23 trappers employed with four of them working in Kinney County. Overseeing the entire operation is Gary Littauer, District Supervisor over the entire eight counties.

Jim Voss, a local trapper and well known figure around the Brackettville area, has been working for the association for a number of years. He was recently promoted to the position of Trouble Shooter where he will join one other trapper filling this position. The two of them will work together in assisting the other 23 trappers when they are confronted with a problem that requires their expertise.

The four trappers who assist the sheep and goat ranchers in Kinney County with their predator control program is Manuel Pena, Pete Bland, Mark Bland, and Shawn Breshears.

When asked about the qualifications required for a job with the KCADCA, Gary Littauer replied, "a boy or a man doesn't have to have any special training. The only requirement is for him to have a high school diploma and be an outdoorsman of sorts who enjoys trapping and hunting. Once he is hired we can further train him in the use of certain tools that are used for predator control." Littauer went on to say, "some of the tools that are used by these men are the M-44 device which is a sodium cyanide ejector we use for coyotes. A trapper must know how to use that tool and be licensed through the Department of Agriculture".

Predators come in many forms for animals like sheep and goats. The lambs and kids are very vulnerable at birth and bobcats, coyotes, ravens, eagles, hawks, and wild hogs can play havoc with them.

A General Pesticide Applicator license must be attained by anyone who uses a bird toxin to control the ravens as they prey on lambs and kids. This training with Toxins is very specialized and just a few of the trappers qualify to use it.

One of the latest tools for the predator control problem is the livestock collar. This collar was designed by Roy McBride, world renowned mountain lion hunter from Alpine. McBride experimented with this collar in Africa for a number of years before he won approval by the United States Government to use it in the States. The collar was armed with a toxin called 10-80, which was declared illegal for use in the United States. It's success rate overseas led to it being reintroduced to the predator control programs in the states.

When Littauer was questioned about the success rate of the collar around Kinney County he replied, "it is too early to tell. We have areas where it has worked good and some areas where it has not been as effective. Right now, we do not have any good stats, but we should know more about it in the near future." He did go on to say, "we killed one coyote in Uvalde County with a collar and that is encouraging." He did say that the conditions have to be favorable before the collar can be used effectively.

As far as participation, nearly 100% of the goat and sheep ranchers in Kinney County belong to the Association and take advantage of the service they provide.

The program is funded by the ranchers, the county, the state, and Federal government.

Last year, this organization was responsible for the elimination of slightly more than 200 coyotes. This is a staggering figure and would represent a tremendous loss in livestock profit if these predators were not destroyed.

This organization ask for very little but their contribution to our county is paying tremendous dividends.

Grant hearing at City Hall

Cavalryman Reporter

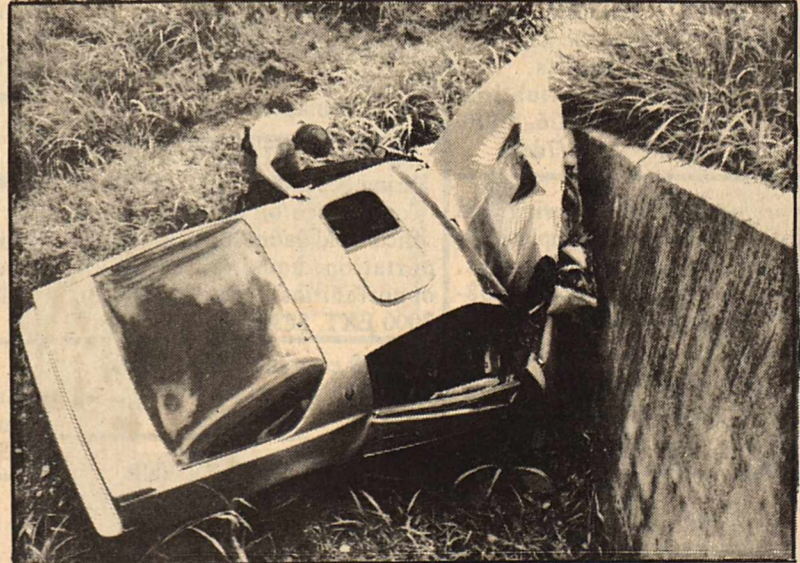

CITY HALL -- A special called meeting by city secretary, Felix Gonzales, was held Monday evening at seven o'clock at City Hall. With the absence of Diane Garza Bravo, mayor pro-tem, councilman Ralph Gonzales, and councilwoman Julie Fuentes a quorum could not be established.

In attendance for the meeting was Felix Gonzales, councilman Bernie Cervantez, councilman Richard Terrazas, Ginger Dodson, and Larry Sofaly.

County Judge Tim Ward, who attended the meeting as a representative for Kinney County, contacted Mr. Charles Trost and was notified that a quorum was not required for the presentation of the grant request that had been made.

Judge Ward notified the city that the county would be receiving $92,000 that will be used within the city limits of Brackettville. According to Judge Ward, "the county is limited as to what the

Eyes are on Mildred Harvey

July 28th, 1991 saw a number of lively people gathering at the swimpark to celebrate the birthday of Mildred Harvey. Her children had been planning the affair for some time. Mildred will be 70 years young today, August 8th.

Millie as she is know by her friends visited Fort Clark when membership where first on sale. She liked the concept of the place and the peacefulness of the small community, so she purchased a membership. After retirement from her job in furniture sales and as an interior decorator, she moved here permanently. Millie states that in 1992 she well have lived here 10 of the most enjoyable years of her life.

Her two children, Noel and Liz, have four children between them, who dearly love "Grandma Millie". Besides her involvement with Fort activities, she enjoys playing bingo and its rumored she's an avid bridge player. Glad to have you among us Millie!

Houston friends reunite at FCS

The Cavalry Room above the Las Moras Inn hosted the reunion for the Houston friends gathering.

By Joan Boutwell
Cavalryman Staff Writer

A group of about sixty friends from all parts of the Houston area attended a reunion last weekend at Fort Clark. Among them were many avid golfers. They kept the 18 hole and 9 hole courses busy with lively play.

A Best Ball Tournament was held Friday and Saturday mornings and Melanie Zak stated the winning team came in eleven under par. The fact that she was a member of the winning team may be why she wanted me to mention this fact!

Over the past fifteen years these people, who at one time all belonged to the same church in Houston, have been getting together to renew their friendship and love for one another.

A member of the group, Robert Wells, saw an Eyes of Texas segment on TV about Fort Clark and looked into becoming a member. The past ten years, the group has met in Lampasas, Tx., but this year decided on Ft. Clark because of the many activities accorded the children, the pool, fishing and the activity center.

The eighteen hole golf course was another big attraction. Besides playing golf, swimming, etc., they enjoyed visiting Brackettville, Alamo Village, Uvalde, Del Rio and Acuna.

The different families attending besides the Wells family were the Mike Richards, the Cody Bridwells, the Greg Zaks, the Roak Ashies, the Richard Goudeaus, the Tom Lowes, the Jerry Glazeners, the Carl Harkriders, the Carl Durhams, the Newt Vannamans, the Chuck Nelsons, the Ron Armstrongs, the Matt Barnhills and the Dick Conants.

While visiting the museum, Mike Richards was heard to say, "The Eyes of Texas brought us here and Fort Clark hospitality will keep us coming here." Dinner was catered in the Cavalry Room and golf awards were presented to the winners of their tournament.

Duplicate Bridge

The Duplicate Bridge Club met July 23 with 3 1/2 tables in play. First place was won by Norma Gould & Rozetta Pingnot. Coming in second was Joyce Bell and Martin Sheets.

On Sunday, July 28, First was won by Norma Gould and Anita Korbel. A tie for second was between Trudy Harber and Helen Lynch and Dot Burrow and Betty Inman.

Weekly Golf News

By LES ROPER
Cavalryman Editor

FORT CLARK -- The crowds continue to get bigger and better at the Country Club as the golf course continues to maintain its status as the number one drawing attraction on Fort Clark. The abundant rains have contributed heavily to the growth of beautiful Bermuda grass that now covers the greens and fairways. Club pro, Jack Legg, has his men working from daylight until dark trying to keep up with the maintenance that is so necessary in the operations of a first class golf course.

The golf course will be minus one of it's most popular couples for the next four weeks with the absence of Gordon and Lorraine Lundquist. They headed north early Wednesday morning, in their newly purchased motor home, for Denver where they will be visiting one of their daughters for awhile. From there, they will travel further north to Wisconsin and rendezvous with some of the Snow Birds who migrate north every summer. Between visiting their friends, they will spend time with their sons and their families who live in the area. The rest of the time (sounds like a mighty busy itinerary) old Gordie will enter some of his more favorite golf tournaments. Word has it that Bill Bizzell sponsored Gordie's vacation.

The regular Couple's Tournament was held on Thursday and the same faithful bunch signed in for another game of golf that features husbands and wives or boyfriends and girlfriends or old friends and new friends or .... heck fire! You know what we're trying to say. It was a bunch of hackers who like to have fun. Finishing so far in front it looked like Secretariat winning the Preakness by 30 lengths was the team of Bob and Jane Young, and Sammy "Boy" and Janie Henniger. They turned in a record smashing 13 under par for a net 57. After being declared the winner old Sammy "Boy" was heard walking around the club house hollering, "bring on Trevino, Nicholas, and Palmer. I'm ready for 'em." Come to find out he just sunk one putt all day. It was his wife, Janie, who sank the money putts and carried the load for him. Finishing in a three way tie for second, third, and fourth was Charlie Smith, Mary Stephenson, Mary Lee Trolling, and Jim Bussey; Hubie McKelvy, Shirley Stephenson, Luella and Dwite Gilliland; Bob Gaston, Vicki Nichols, Julian Garza, and Betty Inman.

With 21 players signed up and "chompin'" at the bit this past Monday morning it was obvious that things were gettin' ready to happen. Recreational Director, Sondra Meil, divided the players into teams of 3 each and then, after releasing the starting gates, she backed off and watched the fun.

Roaring across the finish line with the best score of the day was Julian Garza, Walt Bauguess, and John Osborne. Second place went to Tom Faulkenberry, Gerald Gallion, and Frank Taylor while Roger Berset, Harold Gallion, and David Burton limped home for a third place finish. The "Pot of Gold" for a birdie on hole # 8 was not claimed so next week the players will be trying for two "Pots of Gold."

Playing the Stableford system Wednesday morning, the men, in teams of two, hit the course running. Harold "Killer" Kauffman and Sammy Henniger, refusing to let their wheels wobble off, hung tough and claimed the first place check with a posted score of +18. It was noticed that "Killer" was standing under one of the big pecan trees, grumbling about something that was hard to understand. One of the "lip-readers" in the group told the crowd what he was grumbling about. Seems he was complaining about the load (Old Sammy) he had to carry all morning. Another bodacious three way tie split the rest of the money when Bill Mitchell and T. Boutwell, Dan Isenberg and Dwite Gilliland, and Andy Anderson and Roger Berset all turned in the same score.

Some of Fort Clark's retiree's were contacted and asked if they remember their boss's last words. Here are some of them.

Jim Bussey ... As of today, Jim, you become a gentleman of leisure, only now, Thank God, you do it on your own time.

Gordie Lundquist ... We don't know how we'll ever replace you, Gordie. That's because we haven't yet been able to figure out what you do.

Andy Anderson ... We know you'll enjoy your leisure time at home. You always did around here.

Bob Young ... It's going to be hard to replace you, quite frankly because upper management doesn't think it's necessary.

Lorene Buckles is a little lady with a lot of spirit. She has been leading the ladies exercise classes for over nine years. These classes first started in the Adult Center weight room. As the interest grew, a larger place was needed. After the completion of the Activity Center, the classes were moved there and are held every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday morning. Lorene is a pleasure to be around and loves helping people. Many of the ladies attending these classes have lost pounds and inches because of Lorene's endeavors.

Harold Kauffman has been running the Bingo games at Fort Clark for the past six years. Many have had this job before him, but not for so long. He sees to it that the equipment is set up every Friday night at Shaftner Hall. After the games are over he is responsible for putting the equipment away and totaling the cash register. Harold also does all the book work attached to this project, such as paying the taxes and making the State reports. This is a Community Council function. Part of the monies go to the Ambulance, Fire Department and Nutrition Center.

Bunco is another activity on the Fort. It is played every Thursday night and Super Bunco is played the first Saturday of the month. Dot Fithian and Marge Geeze have over the past four years been trading off the duty of seeing to the details needed for play. They set up and take down the equipment and award the prizes.

Ira Finger has for a number of months been walking for his health and enjoyment. But that's not all he's been observed doing. Whenever he comes upon some trash in the road or sees someone's trash can lid blowing around he'll pick it up and put it where it belongs. If there is a branch hanging over the open sidewalk on Fort Clark Road he'll trim it. Even when not walking he can be called on to help out with any difficulty.

Thanks to Lorene, Harold, Dot, Marge and Ira for making the Fort a clean and active place.

Len Wardlaw is shown with one of the many signs he has made for the Fort's improvements.

Len Wardlaw is the carpenter for maintenance. He does all types of repair work. The upkeep of the motels and association buildings are a main part of his work.

He also made all the street and highway signs. He keeps them painted and appreciates the Community Councils help in this project. The pool and Bar-B-Que signs are also his handy work and all the 64 benches seen throughout the Fort. He's been employed here for over 10 years and is a great asset to our community.

Home Tips

GOLF BALLS — For fellow duffers who tend to purchase used golf balls from sources other than local professional shops, I think I've found an excellent way to store them. Rather than have so many balls rolling loose in the bag, slip three balls into a tube from a roll of toilet tissue — they fit nice and snug. Mark the tube as to the brand of balls inside and just peel off a portion of it to extract one. Glenn A., Rye, N.Y.

CAMPER SHEETS — As campers, for two years now, we found that the fitted sheets were the wrong size for our two different-size beds in our camper trailer. I finally took a flat sheet and laid it over each mattress, pulled and gathered each corner and tied a knot in it, then tucked the knot under the mattress. After tying all four corners, the sheet fits better than any standard fitted sheet! Janet C., Torrance, Calif.

Softball Tournament Successful

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

A softball tournament was held Sunday, July 28, at Kize's field here in Brackettville. Hosting the tournament was Eloy's Disciples' softball team. This group of men, with the exception of a few, have played softball together for about 13 years. They have represented Brackettville in tournaments at Uvalde, Del Rio, Campwood, Rocksprings, Eagle Pass and Batesville. During the early years, they were coached by Mr. Ray Smallwood. After Mr. Smallwood, the late Mr. Eloy Garcia coached the team. The team members all have a strong bond which they all share. The team is presently participating in the Softball Summer League Program in Del Rio. They play throughout the summer against 8 other Del Rio teams. Each team participating in the league has a sponsor. The sponsor, being either a business or individual, pays the entry fee and sometimes furnishes the team with uniforms and softballs. Since Eloy's Disciples were unable to attain a sponsor for this year's league, it was decided to host a tournament to serve this purpose. The tournament turned out to be a success. Without the support of certain business and individuals this would not have been possible. It means a lot to know that there is people in our community who care and are so supportive. May God bless each and everyone of you. Eloy's Disciples' softball team would like to say "Thank You" to the following individuals and businesses who contributed:

- 1st place trophy-donated by Sonny's Gro. & Market

- 3rd place--"Us" from Del Rio

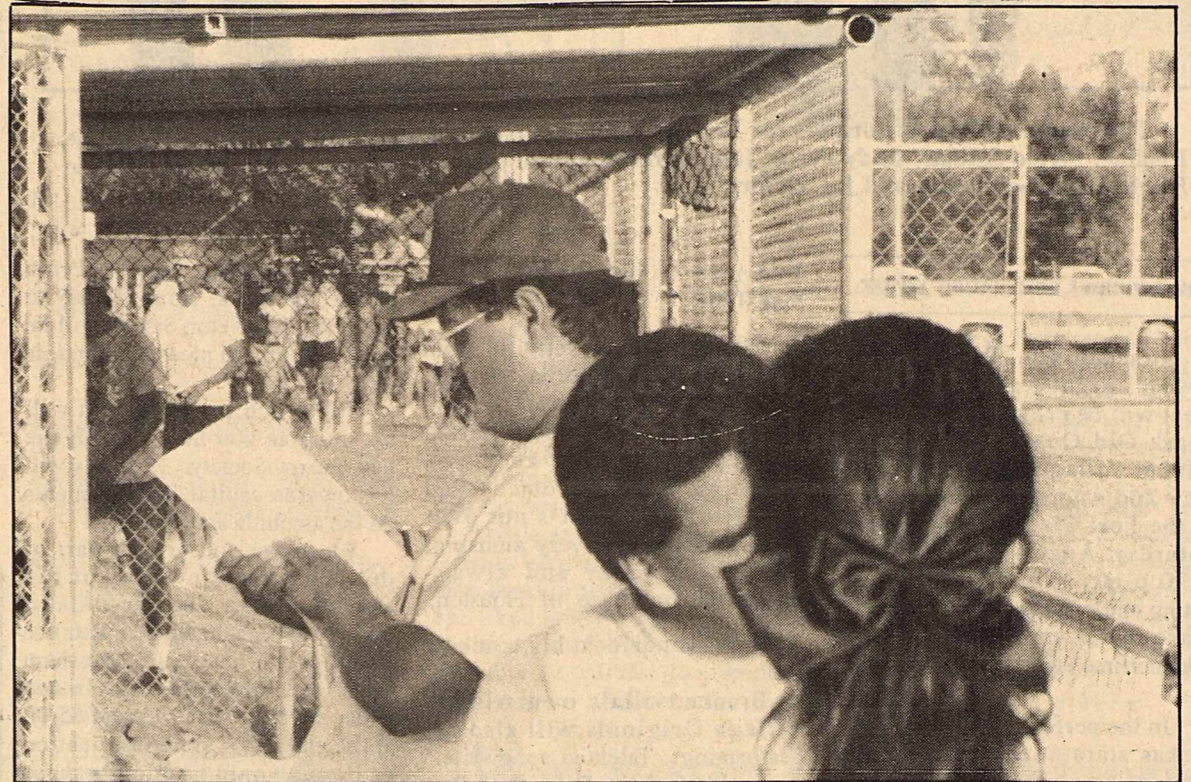

1st place team received 15 individual plaques
 2nd place team received 15 individual trophies
 Eloy "Sonny" Garcia was selected as Most Valuable Player.

 car, Miguel Mondragon Antero, also from Dallas. They sustained back, leg, and facial injuries and were transported to Val Verde Memorial Hospital by the Kinney County EMS.
 The car sustained heavy damage.
 Monday afternoon, around three twenty o'clock, a 1985 Chevrolet pickup, driven by Trinidad Jimenez of Del Rio, was traveling west on highway 90 hauling a load of corn when the right rear tire on his vehicle blew out. The rim dug into the asphalt causing the driver to lose control and the truck rolled over into the right bar ditch. The driver's wife, Benita, was a passenger in the pickup and she sustained minor injuries. The driver did not require medical attention. Both occupants returned home that same night.
 It was determined the accident resulted from the 1/2 ton pickup being overloaded with 70 sacks of deer corn.

money can be used for. We don't own a water and sewer system to spend it on. We have received public support for the Library enlargement program as shown when the community raised $50,000. The county plans on matching that amount."

The Judge continued on by saying, "we have constraints on our time and at the present the money is in limbo. This is why the County and the City need to be co-applicants with the County being the lead off applicant. It is very important for the city to join us."

He went on to say that the County had chosen the Library project and street repairs for the allotted money. The city of Spoford has been told they could apply for some of the money up to $10,000 to $12,000. The wording for these requests are very important for the performance portion of these grants.

"We are coming to you," said Judge Ward, "requesting support from the city on obtaining the funds. The money has already been promised for this year and we need to set the wheels in motion."

The city was informed that they would be allowed to name the streets that should receive a priority for work. The amount of $25,000 has been set aside for these street improvements.

"The county has already discussed the advertising fees," according to Judge Ward, "and they agree to bear the expense of this item."

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH -- This past Monday morning, seven excited little boys loaded their camping equipment into the First Baptist Church van and with Church counselor, David Dorrough at the wheel, headed for a week of Christian fun and fellowship at the Alto Frio Baptist Encampment in Leakey. They will be attending the 1991 Royal Ambassadors youth camp that is held every year in this area.

This camp will be offering adventure, spiritual growth, a full camp program, and an unforgettable camp experience amid the fresh air and sunshine of the magnificent outdoors.

Boys making the trip this year are Zachary Davis, Brent Smith, Jacob Puda, Quinton Clark, Jason Dorrough, Matthew Smallwood, and Beau Smallwood.

While at camp, the boys will learn, participate, and compete in archery, riflery, canoeing, fishing, swimming, campcraft, boomerang toss, leathercraft, and campfire building. They will also be required to take part in the campfire worship service, daily worship, spiritual applications, and cabin devotionals. At the conclusion of the camp, boys excelling in activities will be awarded ribbons.

The Royal Ambassadors is a nation wide Christian organization for boys from 7 through 17. It was developed for the purpose of teaching young boys Christian values and, in doing so, make better men out of them. It also teaches them to be productive as they travel through life.

Serving as camp pastor this year will be Robert Strzelczyk from St. Hedwig.

The boys are due back home this coming Friday afternoon.

The Saga of Sophie: deer tracking dog

By LES ROPER
Cavalryman Editor

Who would ever think that a very small, bob tailed, ugly colored dog could make such an impact on a big outdoorsman's life? A little dog that was refused as a gift, because she was so small and scrawny looking. A little mutt that was so ugly we had a problem giving her a suitable name.

Well, I owned just such a dog. I owned a big male Blue Heeler (Dingo, Dalmatian, and Kelpie cross) who was developing into an outstanding stock dog. He was aggressive and could feel no pain if a cow or a bull was lucky enough to kick him. My kids named him Preacher.

I wanted to raise these dogs, but was having a problem locating a good female. I was working at the race track in Columbus, Texas when I met Manley Lyndecker, who was a friend of a friend of mine. After talking to him for awhile, our conversation finally led to hunting and dogs. I explained my quest for a female Blue Heeler and he told me, "fear not, I have what you are looking for and she won't cost you one dime. My female just weaned a litter of pups and I have one left and she's yours if you want her." He went ahead to tell me that he and his wife would not be home, but feel free to walk in to the back yard and get my new dog.

Just before we left town we stopped by the Lyndecker's home to pick up our new canine acquisition. When I rounded the house and looked down at the little critter I couldn't believe my eyes. Talk about shock!!!

I can never remember seeing a puppy for the first time that was as ugly, homely, and scrawny as this little runt was. It didn't take me long to tip toe out of the yard, get into my truck, and head for my home in Sinton.

I had been home for a couple of days when the telephone rang. I answered it and found myself talking to Mr. Lyndecker. He said, "hey Les, you forgot your pup. But don't you worry about it cause I'm gonna keep her for you until you get back down here."

Three weeks later I was back in Columbus and there was nothing to do, but pick up the dog. I sat her in the seat beside me and covered her with my jacket when I stopped for gasoline so no one would see me with her. Boy oh boy, ... this little dog was "double ugly."

As time went by the little "ugly duckling" began to develop. However, she never developed into a beautiful swan, but she did make a decent looking Heeler. What she lacked in looks she made up in personality. She even wormed her way into the house on cold nights and that has to say something for her with my wife's dislike for dogs like it is.

My wife has never been very good at naming our animals, but I gave her the responsibility of giving this little gyp a name. She thought and thought. I just knew she would call her "Puppy Poo" or "Blue Girl" or "Bobby Tail". I was wrong. She named the little mutt Sophie and it fit her perfect.

Now, the "Saga of Sophie, the Deer Dog" unfolds.

I had hired out to work as a hunting guide on John Finegan's Dolan Creek Ranch, a hunting ranch about 50 miles north of Del Rio. Mr. Finegan, who I consider the top outfitter in the state of Texas, had compiled a blue ribbon list of hunters who contracted a hunt on his ranch every deer season and needed guides to help him through the upcoming deer season. Working for Dolan Creek was considered an honor by the guides and many of them would have worked for nothing, even though the pay and benefits were excellent.

The center of attraction at the Lodge was a little spotted rat terrier who answered to the name of Spottie. He looked like anything but a deer dog, but looks can be deceiving. The little mutt loved hunting wounded deer and was darn good at it. He was the Apple of the Director's (Finegan) eye.

I had hauled both of my Blue Heelers to the ranch with no doubt whatsoever that old Preacher would make an outstanding deer dog. He was smart, aggressive, and liked the outdoors. I took Sophie along because she was in season and I wanted to breed her to the big dog.

Well, my anticipation of the big dog was completely wrong. He would run wounded deer, unwounded deer, rabbits, armadillos, coons, and bark at rocks. As for him making a deer dog ... it wasn't to be.

After he bit me on the arm one night, I decided to keep him tied up in camp for the remainder of the deer season.

Sophie was quiet and loved being loved. I let her ride with me while I took my hunters out. She was no problem. Fact is, she began to show a little interest in the hunt every time she heard a rifle shot. When I field dressed a deer she very patiently waited for a little piece of heart or liver.

After I had been taking the little dog with me for about two weeks, I began to notice she would find the deer that had been shot before the hunter and I could get to it. If the deer was alive, she would bark and if it was dead she would chew on it's rump.

I was really impressed one day when a young hunter I had taken out shot a deer and the buck ran for about two hundred yards before he went down. I made Sophie go with me to the area where the deer was shot and she immediately began searching for some sign. As soon as she picked up a small drop of blood she took off like she knew what she was doing.

She never raised her little ugly head off the ground until she traced the deer to where it went down.

A feeling of pride touched my heart when the realization finally hit me. I said, "Les, you got yourself a winner."

That year finished with Sophie making a pretty good name for herself as a "novice" deer dog. The next year she continued to improve. The things she did and the way she did them would sometimes bring tears to the eyes of the most grizzled old hunters.

By no means was she perfect. She had her little quirks and hangups, but they failed to hinder her from becoming one of the best little deer dogs going. When John Finegan would call me and ask me if I was coming back next year he would always say, "don't forget Sophie."

The first time she had to run a deer a long way, I thought I was going to be disappointed in her. I knew the hunter had hit the deer, but it was hit low and probably a gut shot. I knew the buck could run a long way before going down. Sophie picked up the trail immediately and took off. I tried to follow, but the country was extra rough and I fell behind. After about fifteen minutes of not hearing the dog I stopped long enough to get my breath. While huffing and puffing I looked up and saw my little champion coming back down the trail. I was really upset. I scolder her and asked what she meant by leaving a hot trail. I started walking toward point buck stepped out of the clearing and the hunter dropped him.

The most depressing thing in the world to a top hunting guide is to know a wounded animal is running around in the hills and you have no way to find him.

Sandy told the Director his story and that is when I was called in. The Director asked me if I would take Sophie to the spot in the morning and try to locate the wounded buck. Knowing the trail was going to be cold, I still agreed to try.

The next morning I rode out with Sandy, the two hunters, and Sophie. They pointed out the exact spot where the deer had been last seen. I told the hunter he was welcome to go with me and finish off his deer if we were lucky enough to locate it. He very rudely informed me that he already had his deer and the wounded deer was on it's own. I explained to him that he would have two deer if I found the wounded one. He was not very happy.

The climb down into the canyon was tricky and steep and I was loaded down with a rifle, binoculars, and other equipment. As I dropped over the edge, I heard one of the hunters tell the other, "don't worry about it. The old SOB can't find that deer."

I finally made my way down to the bottom of the canyon and Sophie, being the little lady she was, stayed right with me until I encouraged her to start looking. I walked about a mile in the direction the buck had last been seen and finally decided to give it a try. Sophie had to be encouraged. I made her think that I was getting excited as I told her to "look for the deer Sophie, look for the deer." Within five minutes she was out of sight. I wasn't sure she was running a trail when I heard her bay. I knew she couldn't stop a healthy deer. Maybe, just maybe, I thought, she has lucked out. I took off in a dead run and as I rounded the cliffs that led into the bottom of the draw and there she was, my little "blue hunting lady" ... circling the old wounded buck and daring it to try and run away.

I waited until she was clear and dropped the deer, putting him out of his suffering.

I called Sophie to me and loved on her for a long time while I was waiting for my eyes to dry.

Sandy heard the shot and told his hunters to head back to the Jeep. They asked why and he answered, "I just heard one shot down that canyon and that old SOB don't miss."

We didn't want the little dog, but she wanted us. Had I not gone back to Manley Lyndecker's house the second time none of these good hunting trips would have ever happened.

Sophie didn't have a last name, but if it would have been legal we would have named her "Sophie Roper." She was truly a part of the family.

Library News

We wish to thank all the citizens of Kinney county who took the time to attend the public meetings regarding the use of Community Development Block Grant monies for the expansion of the library. While such meetings sometimes seem trivial, they are critical to provide input from citizens regarding projects planned for this area.

Your library continues to show growth in usage by its local citizens. Further, we frequently are told by persons visiting the area how nice our library is and how lucky we are to have such a facility. This clearly indicates that many examine the services of this area before deciding to move here. It, therefore, behooves all of us to keep an open and progressive opinion when deciding the fate of such facilities. We feel that the opening of a museum here in Brackettville and the plans for the restoration of some of the historic buildings as well as the idea for an Historic Map/Tour show such an opinion.

Don't forget to go to the polls on August 10th to express your opinion regarding the Constitutional Amendments. We have the League of Women Voters explanation of these Amendments posted on our bulletin board in the library. Remember also, that absentee voting extends to August 6th.

We wish to thank Mr. Charles

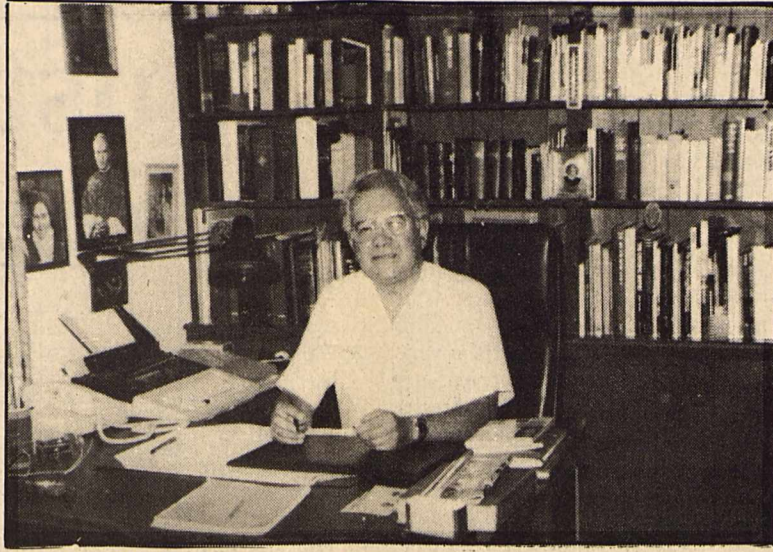

Downing and Mr. Billy Joe Pierce Sr. for their donations of books to the library this past week. Your generosity is most appreciated.

We still wish to remind any of you who have videos you have grown tired of watching that your library serves as a medium through which these videos can provide entertainment to many.

Tracks Along the Trail

Candles lighted most American homes, public buildings and streets until kerosene lamps and gas replaced them. Candles were made from--bear grease, deer suet, bayberry, beeswax, tallow dip from well tendered mutton fat, and whale fat.

Every autumn the lady of the pioneer home filled their leather or tin candle boxes to last through the winter. It was a long hard job to dip or mold several hundred candles by hand. First the women prepared wicks from rough hemp, milk weed or cotton spun in large batches.

The homemaker was the only makers of candles until the 1700's when an itinerant candle-maker could be hired.

Later in the cities professional candle makers could be found. Although factories were numerous after 1750, the home candle making, however, was continued as late as 1880.

In the West Indies, there was a profitable market for sperm candles. In 1768, they bought over 500,000 pounds of sperm and tallow candles from the colonies.

The total production from both factories and homes reached an estimated $8,000,000 in 1910. The New England factories, which produced most, imported supplies of fat from Russia.

There were large plants, also, in New Orleans, St. Louis, and Hudson, New York.

South Carolina and Georgia produced lots of seeds and capsules from tallow trees used for candle making in the south. Soon industries began making metal and pottery candle holders.

Some of us once used kerosene lamps, but our lighting system is very sophisticated today. Housewives of today at least don't have to make their own candles.

Property taxes will rise under new school finance plan

School District officials across the state are predicting a dramatic rise in all school property taxes if the new school finance plan adopted by the Texas Legislature is declared constitutional. Superintendent of Brackett ISD, Bob McCall, says, "It appears that the intent of SB351 and HB2885 is to shift the primary burden for public education from the general state revenue fund to the local property tax payer." "The law does not mandate a tax increase at the local level, but there does seem to be an effort on the part of the legislature to force school property tax rates (combined local board tax rate and County Education District tax rate) to $1.50 per $100 of valuation," McCall said. "It appears to me that the legislature has shirked its constitutional responsibility to fund the public school system of the state. Unwilling to go on record for a state tax increase, the legislature has provided a complicated method of funding that not only will escalate the local property tax rates but will lock the voter out of the process of approval of the higher taxes."

The August 10, 1991, election will provide for increased exemptions for resident homesteads, disabled home owners and home owners over 65 if the amendment on the county ballot and the first two proposals on the school ballot are approved. However, this will only serve to raise the tax rate necessary to generate the amount of money that the state requires to be raised locally and through the CED. The higher rates will fall on those who do not qualify for any of the exemptions, i.e. home owners under 65 and businesses (including farmers and ranchers). If the third item on the school ballot is approved, home owners could find the appraiser at their door looking for personal computers, television sets, satellite dishes, cars, boats, gun collections, etc. to add to the property tax rolls.

In Brackett ISD the following tax rates for school taxation are possible in 1991-92: The County Education District might adopt a tax rate of from .72 to $1.00. The local school board could then adopt a rate equal to the difference between the CED rate and $1.50 (.32 to .50) plus the local district could add an additional amount (.27) for bonded indebtedness. If this scenario became fact, the local taxpayers could be faced with a tax rate as much as $1.77 per $100 of evaluation. This amounts to a fifty-eight percent tax increase with no voter input.

The following is a table demonstrating the minimum county education district rates for coming years and the effect on local district rates needed to fund bonded indebtedness:

Year	Minimum CED Rate	Maximum Local Rate	Bond Rate
1991-92	.72	.78	.27
1992-93	.82	.68	.27
1993-94	.92	.58	.27
1994-95	1.00	.50	.27

The total maximum property tax rate for the four year period would be $1.77 per $100 of property value.

The Brackett ISD hopes to maintain a rate close to the current rate of $1.04 for 1991-92. Beyond that planning becomes difficult but it would appear that the local district would need to raise the local rate by at least five cents (.05) per year to maintain services and retire the bonded debt if this legislation remains in effect.

James Leo Garrett grew up in Waco, Texas. His mother taught school and his father invested his life as an attorney.

At an early age James Leo Garrett became a Christian. Later he graduated from Baylor University with highest honors.

James Garrett earned two degrees from Southwestern Seminary in Ft. Worth. He did his doctoral thesis on the theology of W. T. Conner, one of the practical, down-to-earth Bible teachers of a past generation.

Garrett earned a couple of doctoral degrees from Scotland and from Germany. He has taught at Baylor, Princeton, Southern Seminary, T.C.U., and about 25 years at Southwestern Seminary.

Today this man is listed among the "10 leading theologians of the world." And that's not a small place of distinction.

About a year ago I purchased Systematic Theology which is the first in a two volume set by this distinguished theologian. It's only 650 pages in length; and despite it's Biblical, historical, and evangelical involvement in theology, it's an exciting book to read. Eerdmans Publishers did the world a great service by the publication of this book.

Garrett still teaches at Southwestern. I remember him from my "younger student" days. He is a number one Christian. Thank the Lord for godly teachers who honor the Lord with their talents and their lives.

The truth is that we don't have to be a great philosopher or theologian or space engineer to be a Christian. The common person may have saving faith in the Redeemer who shed His blood for our redemption. We can celebrate today because of the redemption that comes through the one and only Saviour, Jesus Christ the Lord.

And as Christians we can honor the Lord with our time, our abilities, our financial means, our families, our entire lives. We can let the Holy Spirit make Jesus real to us as we live day by day. We may never become a James Leo Garrett. God doesn't program us for that. He does want us to be His people. He wants us to have the "abundant life" today, and let Him give us the best of life every day. Will we allow God to do this for us?

Letter to the Editor

To the Editor:

I enjoyed reading Debbie Trant's letter in the July 25 paper. Her attitude is correct. To be called names by Joe Townsend is pretty good evidence that CARE must be doing something right. As for the name calling, we all remember the schoolyard bully who carefully avoided learning anything, but relied instead on abuse, name calling, and general roaring around to impress observers. Sadly enough, some bullies never grow out of their ignorance and their tantrums.

My own favorite Townsendism is "Outside Agitator!" which he has used often when yelping about CARE. He has never identified this terrible presence, who obviously is a burr under his saddle. I think he refers to an Oblate order nun, Sister Mary Beth Larkin, who was transferred to El Paso more than two years ago, and who had a brief and minor association with CARE.

Joe should be careful about deriding Outside Agitators. The Jesus who drove the business men from the temple was crucified because he was an Outside Agitator who upset the clergy of that day, the Sanhedrin, and they got the Romans to do their dirty work.

Joe does not hate all Outside Agitators, however. In the July 18 Brackett News, Joe canonized his current man and Kinney County now has Saint Charles of Texcor. In doing so Joe ignored the obvious fact that nothing in memory has agitated this whole region more than the prospect of a transformation into becoming the toxic and radioactive waste pit for the nation. He ignored the sleazy public record of the waste (mis)management industry. He ignored the growing evidence of public hazard associated with exposure to ionizing radiation at even very low levels. He ignored the strongly expressed opposition of his fellow citizens. All this ignoring is natural, however. Some bullies really never do grow up.

What is the Aug. 10 Election?

By John Hannah, Jr.
Secretary of State

During the last session of the Legislature, a school finance bill passed which radically alters the way school property taxes are collected and distributed. The bill created 188 county education districts (CEDs) composed of the school districts in each county. Those county education districts will levy a property tax which will be distributed equally among school districts within the county education district. The election to be held August 10 will enable taxpayers in the county education districts to avail themselves of certain exemptions on their homesteads as well as open up the possibility of taxing certain tangible personal property.

What is on the August 10 ballot?

There will be two elections held that day - a state constitutional amendment election and a school district election (in a few cities, there will be an additional local election regarding local issues.)

The state election involves two constitutional amendments: 1) Proposition 1 to allow certain property tax homestead exemptions and taxation of certain tangible personal property by the county education district; and 2) Proposition 2 which allows the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board to issue up to $300 million in general obligation bonds to fund student loans.

The school districts will conduct a local option election on behalf of the county education district concerning issues addressed by Proposition 1. The school ballot will be in three parts: 1) whether to adopt a homestead exemption of 20% of market value; 2) whether to adopt an additional exemption of $10,000 for the elderly and disabled; and 3) whether to tax non-income producing tangible personal property.

What happens if Proposition 1 fails?

If this constitutional amendment fails statewide, the school district election whereby the VOTERS authorize the exemptions will be disregarded. However, the governing body of the CED might adopt these exemptions under existing provisions of the Constitution.

Does each school district have to approve the three ballot propositions for them to pass?

The results for each question will be added together for the county education district as a whole. If the question fails in one district but passes the CED as a whole, it is still adopted by the CED.

Is a vote against Proposition 1

a vote against taxing tangible personal property by the CED?

Yes, but it is also a vote against voter-authorization for the CED to use homestead exemptions and elderly and disabled exemptions. As stated previously, the CED governing body might adopt these provisions following procedures set up under current law.

What items would be taxed as tangible personal property?

Perhaps tangible personal property can best be described by what it is NOT: it is not real property; it is not household goods, which are exempt from taxation by the Texas Constitution; it is not intangible property, such as stocks or bonds; and it is not income-producing property. The most obvious targets are cars, boats, airplanes, and RVs.

Where do I vote?

Ballots will most likely be cast on election day at your regular precinct polling station, but check your newspaper to be sure. If joint elections have not been worked out in your area by the schools and the county election officer, it is possible you may have to vote at two different polling stations.

Absentee voting will continue from now until August 6.

Further questions about this election should be directed to the Secretary of State's Elections Division, 1-800-252-VOTE.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

A good declarer does all he can to find out everything about the opposing distribution before making a critical play. Sometimes, though, he may have reason to wish that he had plunged blindly ahead instead of trying to improve on his chances.

Consider this deal from the 1989 World Team Championship final. When Chip Martel and Lew Stansby of the United States held the North-South cards, they reached six notrump following a series of artificial exploratory bids.

Stansby won the diamond lead with the ace and counted 11 top tricks. The 12th could come from a favorable division in either spades or clubs. However, Stansby saw a way to give himself an extra chance.

So he cashed the K-Q of hearts and the A-K-Q of spades, West discarding a diamond on the third spade. Next came the A-Q of clubs, the heart ace and a diamond to the king, West following with the eight.

At this point Stansby placed West with the J-10 of diamonds for his opening lead, marking East with a doubleton originally. East was also known to hold the jack of spades among his three remaining cards. The question was whether East's other two cards were both clubs, or whether East had a club and a heart.

In the former case, the winning play was to lead dummy's last spade, forcing East to win and return a club from the jack into dummy's K-10. In the latter case, declarer had to cash the club king.

Unfortunately, Stansby opted for the endplay. East won the spade and cashed his good heart, so the slam was down one. At the other table, the Brazilian declarer cashed the three top clubs at the outset. When the jack fell, the slam was home.

The Sullivan Sheet

by Rick Sullivan

NATIONAL FOOTBALL LEAGUE FEARLESS FORECASTS
 N.F.C. EAST
NEW YORK GIANTS
Predicted Finish: First. 1990 Record: 13-3-0. Strengths: Strong just about in every department and loaded with depth at QB. Weaknesses: Giants' running game might be a question mark.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS
Predicted Finish: Second (wildcard berth). 1990 Record: 10-6-0. Strengths: An explosive offense and a team that is virtually impossible to beat at home. Weaknesses: Not many, except QB Mark Rypien's penchant for injuries.

DALLAS COWBOYS
Predicted Finish: Third (wildcard berth). 1990 Record: 10-6-0. Strengths: Patience and Jimmy Johnson's youth movement will finally reap rewards, especially look for improvement on the offensive line. Weaknesses: Trying to prove that 1990 was not a fluke and an offense that did rank last in 1990, but should improve overall in 1991.

PHOENIX CARDINALS
Predicted Finish: Fourth. 1990 Record: 5-11-0. Strengths: Much talent running and receiving and a penchant to play the big boys tough, but lose to teams they should beat. Weaknesses: Finding consistency at QB so the backfield will flourish.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES
Predicted Finish: Fifth. 1990 Record: 5-11-0. Strengths: Randall Cunningham and his receivers. Weaknesses: A team divided over the firing of Buddy Ryan and a special teams unit that was a catastrophe and led to this entire team's downfall.

CENTRAL MINNESOTA VIKINGS*Predicted Finish: First. 1990 Record: 6-10-0. Strengths: A lot of talent at QB, but one of the three candidates must emerge as a solid leader. In addition, Vikings play the league's easiest schedule this season. Weaknesses: Confidence. Also, what do the Vikings do with Herschel Walker?

GREEN BAY PACKERS
Predicted Finish: Second.

Predicted Record: 8-8-0 (wildcard berth). 1990 Record: 6-10-0. Strengths: QB Don Majkowski was 6-5, without him the Pack was 0-5. Weaknesses: Packers have no organized rushing attack and a defense that gives up a lot of unanswered points. However, Green Bay should qualify for the playoffs by default from a weak lineup of opposing contenders.

TAMPA BAY BUCS
Predicted Finish: Third. 1990 Record: 8-8-0. Strengths: QB Vinny Testaverde should finally show his stuff as one of the N.F.C.'s best in 1991 thanks to the confidence that new head coach Richard Williamson will install. Weaknesses: A tough schedule and a lot of unanswered questions just about everywhere as they prepare for opening day.

CHICAGO BEARS
Predicted Finish: Fourth. 1990 Record: 8-8-0. Strengths: They do play in the N.F.C. Central for starters. Bears still can run the ball with the best of 'em. Weaknesses: Bears only beat one team last year with a winning record and it certainly showed in the playoffs against New York in 1990. The offense can run, but they sure can't pass.

DETROIT LIONS
Predicted Finish: Fifth. 1990 Record: 7-9-0. Strengths: Talent at QB and a great rusher in Barry Sanders. Weaknesses: The entire defense.

WEST
SAN FRANCISCO 49ers
Predicted Finish: First. 1990 Record: 10-6-0. Strengths: Joe Montana's back and the 49ers are virtually strong in every spot. Weaknesses: The 49ers running game remains suspect.

ATLANTA FALCONS
Predicted Finish: Second. 1990 Record: 8-8-0. Strengths: There's no pressure on the Falcons to win, since nobody expects them to. The best news of all is that the rest of this division is getting weaker and Falcons are getting stronger. Weaknesses: Erratic offense and defense.

NEW ORLEANS SAINTS
Predicted Finish: Third. 1990 Record: 7-9-0. Strengths: Special teams and two good QB's in Bobby Hebert and Steve Walsh. Weaknesses: Defensive secondary is suspect.

LOS ANGELES RAMS
Predicted Finish: Fourth. 1990 Record: 5-11-0. Strengths: The Rams can pass and run as well as anyone in the division. Weaknesses: Offensive turnovers killed the Rams a year ago. In addition, the entire defense is a question mark.

Word Studies - Eternal Security, Part IV - By Ken Curry

ETERNAL SECURITY Part VI

Before I begin to examine other passages of scripture that seem to contradict the doctrine of the eternal security of the believer, I would like to make a few observations. Nowhere in the New Testament does it state or imply that faith in eternal security is necessary for eternal security. In other words, I don't have to believe in the doctrine of eternal security to be eternally secure. There are millions of God-fearing believers in Jesus Christ in this world who do not believe they are eternally secure, even though I believe the Bible teaches that they are, whether they believe it or not. I believe that the fault lies in the fact that these fellow believers fail to differentiate between salvation and REWARDS after salvation. To illustrate:

In Romans 14:10 and II Corinthians 5:10, the Apostle Paul states that all believers will stand before the judgment seat of Christ where we will be judged on what we have done in this life (after salvation). Most Bible scholars and reference Bibles agree that Revelation 20:11-15 is a picture of the judgment of unbelievers, and I Corinthians 3:11-15 is a picture of the coming judgment of believers.

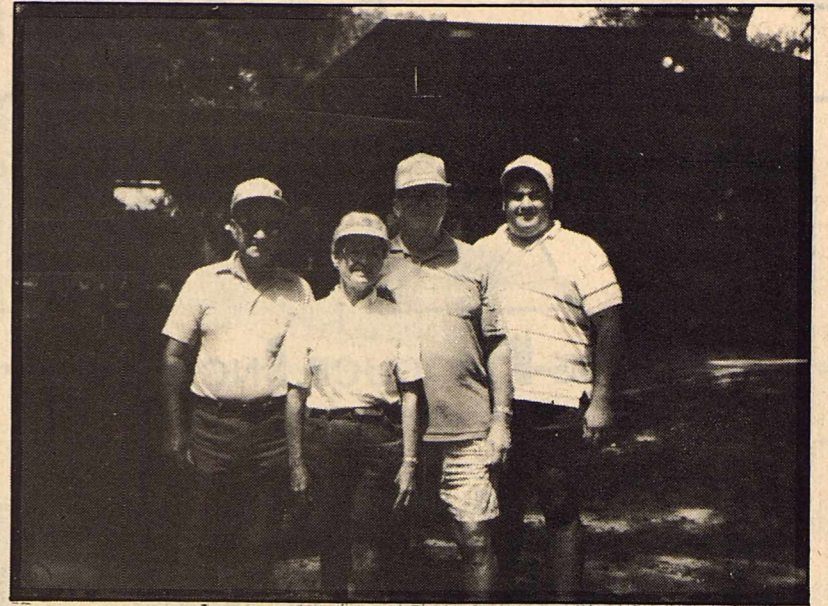

The unbeliever is not pertinent to this series, so let's look at the Christian's judgment. "For no man can lay a foundation other than the one which is laid, which is Jesus Christ. Now if any man builds upon the foundation with gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, straw, each man's work will become evident; for the day will show it, because it is to be revealed with fire; and the fire itself will test the quality of each man's work. If any man's work which he has built upon it remains, he shall receive a reward. If any man's work is burned up, he shall suffer loss; but he himself shall be saved, yet so as through fire" (I Corinthians 3:11-15).

Let's put this judgment in the proper time sequence; it will occur after the Rapture of the Church, and you will be in your resurrection body (just like Christ's), and you will possibly have been with the Lord for some time. Also, lest this allusion to fire worry you, notice that it will test the man's works, not the man. As I have mentioned in several previous articles, God reveals things to us using man's example; in this case we know what gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, and straw are. So God uses these objects known to us to represent our works after salvation. Notice that there are two categories of works; gold, silver, precious stones, and then wood, hay, straw. From our experience we know that the first category is valuable, and the second category is valueless (especially when it is compared to the first category). But notice also that the first category does not burn, while wood, hay, straw is very flammable. So the illustration is that our works are all dumped in a pile before the Lord and the works are all mixed up. So maybe an angel with a torch approaches and sets the whole pile on fire. If we have any gold, silver, precious stones remaining after the other is burned up, we shall receive a reward! If all our works are nothing but wood, hay, straw and nothing remains, we shall "suffer loss" (of reward), but we ourselves shall be saved (because we were already saved). So the question is, what does gold, silver, precious stones represent, and what does wood, hay, straw represent? One thing these items cannot represent is SIN! I repeat, our sins are not on view here! To think that Jesus will bring up our sins to us shows an absolute ignorance of the Bible. Christ will not even mention the sins of the unbeliever in the Revelation 20:11-15 judgment. Let's don't forget the basics; Jesus Christ voluntarily died on the cross to pay the full penalty for the sins of the entire human race. "But He, having offered one sacrifice for sins for all time, sat down at the right hand of God" (Hebrews 10:12). We were sinners before we believed in Christ, and we will be sinners until the day we die. "If we say that we have no sin, we are deceiving ourselves, and the truth is not in us... If we say that we have not sinned, we make Him a liar, and His word is not in us" (I John 1:8,10). Well, if sin is not mentioned here, what does gold, silver, precious stones, and wood, hay, straw represent? It is very simple. Gold, silver, precious stones represent the accumulated seconds, minutes, hours, and days we spent in the filling of the Holy Spirit; "But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, self control..." (Galatians 5:22-23). Wood, hay, straw represent HUMAN GOOD. This category represents the accumulated seconds, minutes, hours, days, (years?) we spent being controlled by our old sin nature (the flesh) that produced personal sin and human good. Sin was removed by Christ on the cross, leaving only human good to be judged; "For all of us have become like one who is unclean, and all our righteous deeds are like a filthy garment..." (Isaiah 64:6). Part VI will continue next week.

Golfers tie tournament

The one regular tournament that stands heads and shoulders above the rest in popularity is the monthly Club Scramble. It is held on the last Saturday of each month and this past Saturday was no different from the rest as a full field of golfers were registered. The teams were probably as even as they have ever been which was obvious according to the good scores that were turned in. The lowest score of the day was a 9 under 61 and the highest score was a 6 under 64. A two way tie for first was recorded by Bob Young, Andy Anderson, Mae Roper, and Tellis Boutwell and Flip Talamantez, Fay Gooch, Luella Gilliland, and John Osborn with a 61. Third place was claimed by Hubert McKelvy, Tom McNew, Shirley Stephenson, and Don Warren.

The old Post laundry building (T-592) pictured as it was on Fort Clark in August of 1944.

Old Army Days

By Wallace L. Morgan
Cavalryman Staff Writer

Fort Clark, Texas, August 1944. The Post Laundry, building T-592, located on the north side of Spofford Access Road (renamed Scales Road during the 1980's) and a short distance west of Las Moras Creek. The only remaining parts of the structure are the large brick smoke stack for the boiler, which was fired by coal, the foundation for the boiler room, laundry building and coal bin, which overall is quite a large area.

The foundation for the water tank, parking area and driveway remain. In addition, between the remains of this building and the creek, are the remains of an old stone corral (at least that is what I have been told regarding the large stones by persons whom should have known). The old smokestack has been a landmark for a long time. I certainly hope that it may be preserved for years to come, and not torn down as the other smokestack was, near the Post Hospital.

I do not know when the Laundry Building was constructed, but it had to have been for World War II buildup, since it's designation was Temporary Building-592. The building that is now known as Rockledge Manor Apartments was a laundry building, but it's designation on the Army map drawn in 1944, was the Post Exchange Laundry. There is a difference between PX Laundry and Post or Station Laundry.

I have been told that German POW's worked in the laundry, and that it served Fort Clark, Laughlin AAB, Eagle Pass AAB, and Hondo AAB. Incidentally, the German POW's were housed in and area next to Spofford Road, and north of Spofford Access Road.

Their area was primarily just like the barracks area pictured in last week's Cavalryman newspaper, except there were guard towers and barbed wire fencing around it.

Cub Scouts at camp

Cavalryman Contributing Writer

The Amistad District Cub Scout Day Camp was held in Brackettville last week. Their director is Mr. J. M. (Bill) Rowley. These 66 boys along with eleven boy scouts and twenty three adults enjoyed archery, BB gunnery, swimming, arts and crafts, field sports, Indian lore and companionship. On Thursday, they went to the Fort Clark Museum and explored all the artifacts there. Friday, at the FCS Amphitheatre they held a skit and songfest. Parents and other family members joined them there for a picnic lunch and fun. This is their annual day camp held each summer. Mr. Rowley expressed his thanks to Fort Clark Springs for the use of their facilities.

Charlie Ward presents Martin Kelso with an appreciation gift.

Martin Kelso honored

Tuesday, July 30th at noon, the Kinney County Aging Services were the unexpected audience to Mr. Charlie Ward's gratitude for Mr. Martin Kelso.

Charlie Ward, during his appreciation speech, presented a gift of thanks to Martin Kelso for his kindness, hard work and generosity towards Linda Hidalgo.

Mr. Kelso spent several weeks designing a special bike for Linda to ride, in order to make her more mobile and to promote therapy for her muscles. Parts for the bicycle were either donated by caring individuals or purchased at a gratuitous price. Linda's mobility has made her smile a hundred times wider as she makes her way down the road.

"FAT" CHANCE: If you read, recently, about a report stating that lowering intake of dietary fat may not appreciably increase longevity, don't rush out for a cheeseburger and thick shake meal yet. What the report said was that Americans had already come a long way in increasing their longevity span so that changing their diets may not make a significant difference.

However, this can be misleading. Remember, one of the reasons Americans are living longer, healthier lives is the dietary swing away from saturated fats, which has meant lowering the risk for cardiovascular problems.

The report also indicated that if there were any increase in the length of life, it would only be a few months. In terms of facing one's mortality, a few months more to live courtesy of a lowered fat diet seems like a pretty good trade off to me.

Lowering saturated fat intake may also prevent some types of cancers. The American Cancer Society notes more than a third of cancer deaths in this country may be related to the foods we eat. They cite, especially, too much fat and too little fiber as high cancer risk factors and they suggest we eat more fish and choose lower fat dairy products. They also urge the population to increase its intake of fiber rich foods including the legumes (peas, beans) as well as fruits, vegetables, and whole grain cereals and breads. Some foods, such as broccoli, cauliflower, brussels sprouts, also contain vitamins A and C, which appear to have cancer fighting properties. For more information, call the ASC at 1-800-ACS-2345 and request the booklets, "Eating Smart" and "Cooking Smart."

Public Notice

On April 9, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to request that the optional feature "Call Transfer Disconnect" be available to all PLEXAR I customers by including the feature in Southwestern Bell's PLEXAR I tariff. Currently, this optional feature is available only on a customer requested basis.

Call Transfer Disconnect (CTD) is an optional feature that allows PLEXAR I customers the ability to transfer a call to another telephone number within or outside their PLEXAR I system, hang up, and permit the two remaining parties to continue with the call. The PLEXAR I user is then free to place or accept another call. CTD is not intended to be used to avoid toll charges. Therefore, CTD will not be available to PLEXAR I customers subscribing to optional Extended Metropolitan Service or Extended Area Calling Service.

If the company's application is approved, the monthly rate for CTD will be $4.00 for each PLEXAR I station line. Prior to the June 19, 1991, interim rate approval, Southwestern Bell was billing customers who receive the service $1.50 for each station line equipped with this feature. In addition, under Southwestern Bell's proposed tariff, every line within the PLEXAR I system must be equipped with this feature. The nonrecurring charge for the additional lines which must be equipped with CTD will be waived for existing CTD customers. The tariffed monthly rate will apply to all existing and future CTD customers.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0256, or (512) 458-0221, teletypewriter for the deaf.
