Mrs. Haas and an 18-month-old child riding with her were reported as not being injured in the mishap, which occurred on the rain-slick street.

Mountaineers Continue to Roll; Post 41-0 Homecoming Tilt Win

Homecoming activities for ex-students of Santa Anna schools ended on a high note Saturday night when the Mountaineers defeated the Blanket Tigers to the tune of 41-0 in Mountaineer Stadium.

Playing before a stadium-packed crowd of visiting exes and local fans, the Mounties lost no time in posting two touchdowns for 13 points on the scoreboard for a commanding lead which they never relinquished.

On the first play from scrimmage, following the opening kickoff which went out of bounds on the Mountaineer 39 yard stripe, halfback Butch Makuta took the pighide and scooted 61 yards for a TD, crossing the double stripe standing up with only 10 seconds being ticked off on the clock.

The Mounties struck again when quarterback Roy Joe Harvey intercepted a Tiger pass, on the second play following the kickoff, taking it to the Tiger 31. Fullback Eddie Jones was called on to do the chores this time and galloped through the middle for the distance and the second TD, with only 47 seconds of playing time used. End Tommy Blanton kicked the ball through the uprights for the first of his five extra point tries, making the scoreboard read 13-0.

Most of the second quarter was played on even terms, with the Mountie reserves doing the chores, although late in the period halfback Dickie Horner set up the next TD with a 22-yard punt return. Three plays later fullback Jones again hit paydirt from 38 yards out. Blanton's try was good.

A lost fumble and a pass interception by Gordon Copeland hampered the Tiger's retaliation, and the half ended with the Mounties holding a 20-0 lead.

Following the second half kickoff the Tigers just couldn't seem to get rolling and on a 4th down situation had to punt. Dale Herring gathered in the pighide and raced 44 yards to the Tiger nine, with Makuta

Chairmen for neighboring communities were named last week, with Rev. Bobby Weath-

According to Deputy Sheriff Gary Fleeman, who investigated the mishap, Oakes was traveling west on Wallis and was attempting to make a "U" turn at Houston Street when struck by the Jones car which was traveling east.

Although no dollars and cents estimate was available, the Oakes auto suffered considerable damage while the Jones vehicle suffered only light damage, according to Fleeman.

USDA Recommends Cotton Research, Promotion Order

Establishment of a proposed research and promotion order for Upland cotton was recommended by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Officials of USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service said this recommendation is based on evidence developed at a two-week public hearing beginning August 22 in Memphis, Tenn., Dallas, Texas, Phoenix, Ariz., and Atlanta, Ga. Interested persons were allowed until Sept. 14 to file written briefs, and these were considered in arriving at the recommended decision.

The order had been proposed by the National Cotton Council. The legislation authorizing the order was designed to enable cotton producers to engage in a comprehensive self-help program to strengthen cotton's competitive position and to maintain and expand domestic and foreign markets and uses for U. S. cotton.

The proposed program would be administered by a Cotton Board composed of members nominated by cotton producing organizations and selected by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The program would be financed through assessments of $1 per bale from Upland cotton producers, to be collected by cotton handlers designated by the Cotton Board. Collection from any producer who did not wish to contribute would be refunded upon written application. Assessment would start at the beginning of the ginning season for the 1967 crop.

State Capitol NEWS

Austin, Texas.—Shape of Gov. John Connally's major legislative goals is beginning to emerge.

He gives high priority to his proposal for a constitutional convention to rewrite the state's basic laws.

Modernization of local governments is essential to state progress and effective management of local affairs. "Functional government by federal guidelines" is the likely alternative to a "renaissance of local responsibility," Connally warned.

Governor outlined a tough, seven-point traffic safety program including driver education for all youngsters, severe penalties for violations of driving laws and a minimum licensing age of 16.

"Without question," he acknowledged, "the 60th Legislature is looking at a raise in our state taxes, but it is impossible to tell exactly how large or how small."

He also ticked off these subjects from his lists of legislative "essentials":

Revision of the penal code and code of criminal procedure, additional sources of revenue for growing cities; substantial salary raises for state employees; continuation of progress in education, tourist and industrial development, community services for the mentally ill and mentally retarded and park system development and improvement.

In discussing streamlining of local government with county officials, the governor declared:

"We cannot progress on a preconceived notion that modernization is politically impossible."

SCHOOL STRETCH OUT
Texas children ought to start to school younger and stay in school longer. So concludes the State Board of Education in its 16-point legislative program.

The Board proposes schooling for five-year-olds, state-supported summer school for all grades, a study of feasibility of a 10-months school year and seven-hour day, and higher salaries for teachers.

COURTS SPEAK
Texas Court of Criminal Appeals has ordered a new trial for Jack Ruby, who faced a death sentence for the murder of Lee Harvey Oswald, the man the Warren Commission said assassinated President John F. Kennedy on November 22, 1963.

The Court said Ruby must be tried elsewhere than Dallas, scene of the crime, and concluded than testimony of a police officer concerning statements indicating premeditation was improperly admitted at Ruby's first trial.

Supreme Court handed down a record of 137 orders. Among its decisions were:

* November 30 date was set for arguments on Humble Oil and Refining Company's suit to recover $73,302 in franchise taxes paid under protest.

Children Without A Childhood

Children are often the innocent victims of dope addiction. Not addicted themselves, they are sired by addicts, pushers, prostitutes and muggers, and born into a world they hate from their beginning.

Unloved, uncared for, these little ones sit disconsolately on curbs of city streets, or are locked in sparsely furnished tenement rooms. Theirs is a haunting misery; a helpless hopelessness.

The tragic plight of these children without a childhood is dramatically told in a recently published book entitled THE LITTLE PEOPLE (Revell Company, Westwood, N.J. $2.95). Authored by David Wilkerson, of THE CROSS AND THE SWITCH-BLADE fame, it is the story of sin's children — who they are, how they exist and what happens to them.

* State Board of Insurance rule requiring insurance companies to charge at least six per cent interest on installment premium payments was thrown out.

* Transfer of two small sections of land from Frenship Rural High School District to Shallowater Independent School District of Lubbock County was upheld.

* Court will review dispute of Rio Grande Valley residents over possession of half of a winning $34,000 Mexican national lottery ticket.

ATT. GEN. OPINIONS
Attorney General Waggoner Carr has held that a county may provide ambulance service for its citizens under the authority given counties to spend public money on public health services.

In another opinion, Carr said that the Department of Mental Health and Mental Retardation may join forces contractually with the Texas Education Agency to initiate and supervise "half-way houses" to help restore mental retardates to society.

Carr also held that children with only a language skill deficiency do not legally qualify as "exceptional children," so no special classrooms may be set up for them.

EPIDEMIC CONTAINED
Texas' screwworm epidemic still is present in the Southwestern and South Central part of the state. However, Dr. S. B. Walker, director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, says the end may be in sight.

Texas' worst infestation since the screwworm eradication program began reached its height two weeks ago. A number of cases levelled off last week. Federal, state and private resources are being used to battle the worm.

Short Snorts
The Texas Railroad Commission has scheduled a hearing for December 6 so oil and gas operators can show why a statewide ban to open salt-water disposal pits shouldn't be ordered.

The Agriculture Commissioner John C. White announced that the lower Rio Grande Valley has been free of Mediterranean fruit fly infestation for 60 days and the quarantine can be lifted if no additional insects are found in the next two months.

Governor Connally named James R. Meyers of Austin as interim judge of the 126th District Court to succeed Judge Jack Roberts, elevated by President Johnson to a federal bench.

The State Bar of Texas has received a $5,000 grant from Houston Endowment, Inc. to help it revise the Texas penal code for submission to the 61st Legislature in 1969.

Special entertainment and demonstrations will add a new dimension to Texas A&M University's annual Horse Short Course November 6-8.

Demonstrations will include cutting horses, Shetland harness, Arabian native costumes, polo techniques, Tennessee Walkers, and gaited and jumping horses.

Sponsors of the event are the Animal Science Department and the College of Veterinary Medicine at A&M.

Free Hunt Bid Limited to 1 Card

The eager-beaver sports trying for the jackpot in the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department drawings for free fall hunts are complicating things.

They are the hunters who failed to read the instructions that one applicant may have his name on only one card submitted for the public drawing.

The headquarters detail, now buried under hundreds of applications, reports an unusual number of duplicates. That is, a certain hunter's name is sent in on more than one card. This mistake generally is made where hunting companions have sent in separate applications with each containing the other's name.

The Department explained that this "extra insurance" could not be adopted under the system used in allocating hunter quotas to match surplus game numbers.

HEALTH AND SAFETY TIPS FROM THE AMERICAN MEDICAL ASS'N. SAFER AUTOS

The making of safer automobiles has been much in the news of late.

Much has been written on whether it is the "nut behind the wheel" or the design of the autos themselves that is responsible for the steadily climbing toll of deaths and injuries from auto accidents.

Safer autos may be in the offing, but in the meantime TODAY'S HEALTH, the magazine of the American Medical Association, offers some tips to prospective buyers in selecting from models now available. Not all of these appointments are likely to be found on any one model, but they are at least a mental check list to keep in mind while shopping around. Some of them will be available only as "extras," at extra cost.

- * Padded head supports to avoid neck injury.
- Padded dash and visors.
- Recessed dash instruments and control devices.
- * Impact-absorbing steering wheels and column displacement.
- * Safety door latches and hinges.
- * Four-way flasher signals that can be blinked all at once.
- * Safety glass all around.
- * A dual braking system.
- * Glare reduction surfaces.
- * Back-up lights.
- * An outside rearview mirror.
- * Devices to cut down noxious exhaust.
- * Electric sweep-design windshield wipers and washers.
- * Cornering lights to illuminate the area into which the car is turning.
- * Seat belts, front and rear. Better still, the shoulder harness.

TODAY'S HEALTH also points out that the paint job may be a safety factor in selecting your next auto. Light colors are more easily seen in the day or night, while dark colors blend into a surrounding background during daylight and make autos practically invisible at night.

SHEPPERD HEADS TEXAS CHISHOLM TRAIL GROUP
A ten-member commission has been appointed by Governor John Connally to head the Texas Chisholm Trail commemoration.

Heading the Commission will be John Ben Shepperd of Odessa, who will coordinate the efforts of the Texas Historical Survey Committee of which he is executive in planning a tri-state commemoration next year. Similar commissions have been formed in Oklahoma and Kan-

NIGHT BLINDERS

The person with 20/40 daytime vision may have only 20/100 vision at night, according to authorities. Driving at night, guided only by car headlights, such a person suffers much the same effect as if wearing dark glasses and blinders—a lethal combination.

Ability to see straight ahead is limited to range of the headlights, about 350 feet maximum. Since headlights shine only to the front, lateral vision is virtually zero. The driver is in a "tunnel of vision," seeing only the road immediately ahead.

With the nighttime traffic death rate two and a half times the daytime rate, the Street and Highway Safety Lighting Bureau urges better street lighting as a means of overcoming this problem and making streets safer for drivers and pedestrians alike.

By illuminating the pavement continuously, street lighting enables the driver to see as far ahead at night as in daytime. Properly designed, such lighting also enables drivers to see danger approaching from the sides.

What you can't see can kill you.

TIPS FOR OUTDOORSMEN

By Vern Sanford
SETER YIELDS QUAIL
JACKSBORO — One of three young hunters encountered by a state game warden inexplicably sat down in the road when the patrol car approached. Warden J. C. Romines finally got around to asking the squatter to change positions. This maneuver released a cloud of quail feathers. The 15-year old reported to the only method at hand to hide the evidence of an illegally bagged quail.

HAWKS POLICE RANCHES
BRADY — Great numbers of Swainson's hawks have been migrating through this area. Texas Parks and Wildlife Department fieldman noted many airborne between here and Rochelle and east of Stephenville in Erath County. Observing land owners realize their good fortune, according to the Department, when the southbound feathered predators stop over to rest and feed. During the visits, sometimes running into several days, they feast on rats, snakes, and grasshoppers.

DOVES HEADING SOUTH
Cooling fall temperatures across the High Plains of Texas are gently moving mourning dove flocks southward, according to reports from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Excellent mourning dove hunting is reported in a rough triangular area bordered on the south by Abilene and Big Spring and to the north by Childress.

NEW POTATO RESEARCH
Researchers have found that the specific gravity of a potato affects its different uses. High specific gravity potatoes are more suitable for baking or making French fries. Low specific gravity potatoes will remain whole when boiled and are excellent for use in salads, stews, casseroles or serving with roasts.

COOKING SQUASH
A pressure cooker will cut the cooking time to only a few minutes for the hard-shelled squash varieties. The soft texture and delicate flavor of the squash can be enhanced with any one or a combination of these flavors: bacon, sausage, ham or pork chops. Marshmallows, brown sugar, different flavored sirups and honey can sweeten up the flesh. Apple, pineapple or orange will complement the delicate vegetable flavor.

SCISSORS IN KITCHEN
If you don't already have a pair of sturdy scissors in the kitchen, better get some soon. You'll find all sorts of uses for them. For example, scissors are a real help in cutting up fruits and marshmallows for dessert. Just dip them in hot water frequently so they won't get sticky. Also, for chores like snipping parsley or onion tops, or trimming around the edge of a pie crust.

THE WORLD'S MOST WIDELY USED DEVOTIONAL GUIDE

Read I Thessalonians 5:16-24

Be always joyful; pray continually. (I Thessalonians 5:16-17, NEB)

As persons who have received the gifts of God's immeasurable grace and deep love, we Christians are naturally joyful at heart. We look to God to thank Him and praise Him at all times. Our sins are forgiven, and the dark clouds over our lives are cleared. We are reconciled to a certain place — a quiet room or an office, school, factory or shop. We can pray while walking or riding, traveling in an airplane or on a ship. We keep in intimate contact with the heavenly Father, no matter whether words are uttered or not.

Getting out of bed in the mornings, we pause to offer to God our thanks and praise. While working, we communicate with Him. After a day's work, be it one of success or failure, we can be thankful; for His will is good. So whatever happens, we sing his praise to Him.

PRAYER: Our Father, Thou art all glory, all holy, all goodness, and all beauty. We thank Thee for Thy Son by whose sacrifice of Himself our sins are cleansed. Help us that we may have thankful hearts to offer Thee our gratitude; through Jesus Christ, our Savior. Amen.

Teenagers Should Learn Good Food Patterns

Good food patterns for teenagers are important for their health and well-being.

This reminder comes from Miss Louise Mason, foods and nutrition specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service.

During the rapid growth teen years, all of the nutrients are especially needed. Yet adolescents often consume quantities of snack foods, such as cookies, cakes and soda pop, which contain little more than calories.

Research shows that nutrients such as calcium, vitamin A, vitamin C, thiamine, riboflavin and iron are lacking in the diets of many teenagers.

"Snack foods should furnish some of these nutrients," Miss Mason said. "Milk, milk drinks and fruit juices may replace the carbonated beverages. The weight-conscious adolescent may be interested to know that one eighth-ounce cup of non-fat skim milk has 81 calories, and supplies calcium, thiamin, and riboflavin, while the only contribution of eight ounces of carbonated beverage is 106 calories."

Cheese, meat and peanut butter sandwiches are high in food value, yet they contain fewer calories than are found in cakes and pies. Carrot sticks, raw tomatoes and oranges are also good snack foods. The carrot sticks furnish vitamin A while the tomatoes and oranges furnish vitamin C.

"Adequate nutrients for the adolescent's rapid growth may be easily provided by a careful selection of foods for meal time and snack time," Miss Mason says.

SLUGS IN A DOUBLE—Contrary to widespread belief, rifled slugs can be fired accurately from any quality double-barrelled shotgun.

Every gun has its own individual quirks. Each barrel might vary a little as to center placement of shot, but this can be quickly learned and accommodated.

CAMPFIRE SKILLET—To make a good, home-made skillet, take a 5-gallon oil can, wash and scour it thoroughly, then cut off the bottom about two inches up. Roll over the sharp edge and attach a handle made from the nearest hardwood.

Be sure the can is the rolled-edge type and not the soldered kind.

MEDICARE

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Q. My doctor says I need a certain kind of hospital bed to sleep in at home. I can rent such a bed or I can buy one. Will the medical insurance plan cover the purchase of the bed?

A. No. The medical insurance plan covers only the rental of equipment that your doctor says is needed for your treatment at home.

Q. I am nearing 65 and in poor health. Will I have to pass a physical examination to be covered under medicare?

A. Definitely not. Regardless of your health, you will be eligible for participation in both the hospital insurance plan and the voluntary medical insurance plan.

Q. I will reach 65 in December of this year and I want the doctor bill insurance under medicare as well as the hospital insurance protection, but I don't intend to retire until a year or two from now. What should I do?

A. You have 7 months — September 1966 through March 1967 — to apply for the medical insurance to supplement your basic hospital insurance protection for the cost of doctor bills and certain other medical services. But if you want your doctor bill insurance to start as soon as you reach 65, you must apply in one of the three months before the month of your 65th birthday. If you wait until the month of your birthday or the following three months, there will be a delay of one to three months in the start of your protection. When you go to your social security office, you should apply for your monthly cash social security benefits, too — even if you don't plan to retire for a while. That way, your benefit checks can start as soon as you notify the social security office that you have stopped working. And if you should get laid up at home or in the hospital for a period of time, you will have your social security benefit checks coming in, in addition to medicare's help with your hospital and doctor bills.

Q. I have already run up a doctor bill of more than $50 since medicare started with my family doctor. My doctor now suggests that I should see a specialist. Do I also have to have a bill of at least $50 with the specialist before medicare will start to pay toward this bill?

A. No. You pay the $50 deductible under the medical insurance plan only once a year. As soon as your covered medical expenses go over $50, your medical insurance will pay 80 per cent of the reasonable charges for all additional covered services for the rest of the year. You can put in a claim for medical insurance as soon as you have any bills for covered services, but most people will prefer to wait until their bills go over $50, because no payment can be made until then. When you put in a claim, you will receive a notice that will show when you met the $50 deductible, or how much of the deductible you have incurred. You can show this notice to doctors and others from whom you subsequently receive medical treatment that is covered under the medical insurance plan.

Q. Does medicare cover the costs of a stay in a psychiatric or tuberculosis hospital?

A. Yes, it covers care in a psychiatric or tuberculosis hospital for up to 90 days in each spell of illness, with the same $40 deductible and payment of $10 a day for each day past 60 days of hospitalization. There is, however, a lifetime maximum of 190 days of covered care in a psychiatric hospital. For care in psychiatric or tuberculosis hospitals to be covered, it must include active treatment to cure or improve the condition.

Q. My mother-in-law is 80 years old and is a semi-invalid. She has been in a nursing home for several years. Will medicare pay for her care in the nursing home?

A. There is no provision under medicare for paying for custodial-type care in nursing homes. Extended care following hospitalization will be covered beginning January 1, in nursing homes that meet the quality standards in the medicare law, but only when a patient is transferred from a hospital (after a hospital stay of at least 3 days) for care that is primarily for restorative or curative purposes and is prescribed by a doctor.

If your mother-in-law elected to be covered under the voluntary payments for other expenses, such as doctor's bills.

DUCK BOAT LAUNCH

There are many types of boat launchers. For a simple launching device, take a wood-slat packing crate, unfold it and spread it out at the water's edge. The slats provide a non-sink surface for both trailer wheels and boots.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Repairman's Blunder

When Ed's car was repaired at the corner garage, the mechanic made one small mistake: he left out part of the steering apparatus. Driving home, Ed lost control of the car and crashed into a fire hydrant.

Was the garage legally liable for his accident? The proprietor said no, insisting that once a car left the premises his responsibility came to an end.

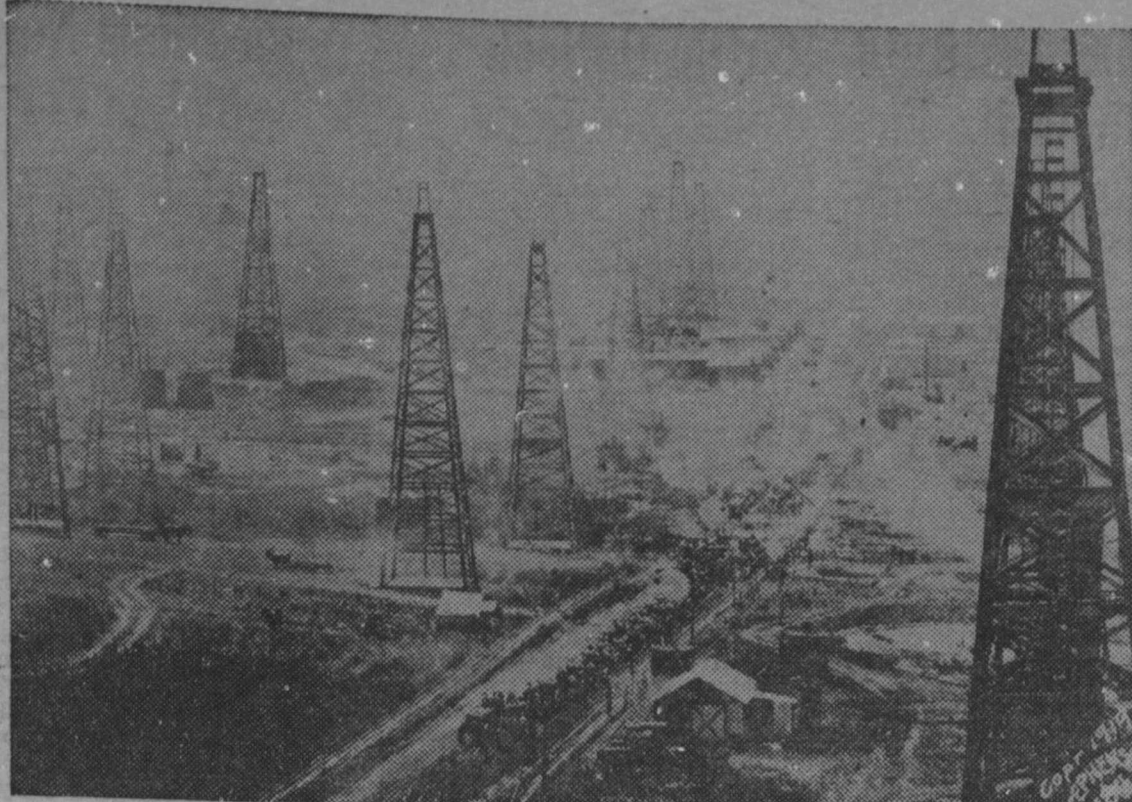

But Ed collected. The court said liability for negligence extends as far as the "natural and probable consequences" of the error.

To be sure, the connection between the repair work and the accident was crystal clear in Ed's case. That is not always so. And, if you cannot establish such a connection, you cannot hold the garage liable. Thus:

A nut fell into the gears of a recently repaired car. But evidence was strong that the repairman had not touched that particular nut at all.

The court, finding no probable connection between the repair work and the damage, held the garage not liable.

Furthermore, the law demands reasonable care not only from the garage but also from you as the car owner. For example, if you know that a repair job is inadequate, you may be held to have "assumed the risk" of driving the car in that condition.

BURKBURNETT, 1919 — North Texas ranchlands had been producing oil since 1905 and early Burkburnett production started around 1912 but by 1919, when this picture was made, it was one of the state's leading oil boom centers.

On the other hand, you will not be blamed if your conduct — while not perfect — was at least up to the standard of the average driver.

Take the case of a motorist whose brakes, improperly repaired, failed at the crest of a hill. When he sued later for damages, the garage owner argued:

"Even if our repair job was bad, he made matters worse by his own negligence. Instead of rolling wildly downhill, he should have halted the car by jamming against the abutment at the side of the road."

But the court placed responsibility on the garage alone. Refusing to find the motorist negligent, the court said:

"An ordinarily prudent man is not prone to remain calm, cool and collected in an emergency, and one so imperiled is not required to make the decision which seems soundest in light of subsequent circumstances."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

AS IT LOOKS FROM HERE...

By OMAR BURLESON
M. C. 17th District

Washington, D. C.—As is common knowledge, the Supreme Court has ruled that suspected criminals must be guaranteed certain privileges such as the right to have an attorney present before questioning.

A Federal court has ruled that a taxpayer does not have to be told his Constitutional rights during a criminal tax investigation. The Court cites the case of Kohatsu vs. United States (351 Fed. 2d 398) in which this ruling was established. The decision was reached in this case, which led from a routine civil tax audit conducted by a Revenue agent into a criminal investigation conducted by a Special Agent of the Intelligence Division.

There are other cases in which an honest business man may face charges of Labor Law violation as the result of information he willingly provided a Labor Department investigator who reportedly did not even advise the man of the nature of the investigation, or of the possible violations of Law.

There are other instances of violations of the Immigration Laws and Child Labor Laws by Federal agents who come into their farms without warrants, without any warning of the nature of their investigation or without any advice of the right to counsel during questioning. These farmers have committed only the crime of seeking to give summer employment to some youngsters seeking work, but end up facing serious charges.

Congressman Olin E. Teague of the Sixth Congressional District of Texas feels that the honest taxpayer, business man, farmer or any other law-abiding citizen, should have at least as much protection against Federal investigators that our Supreme Court has granted those suspected of murder, rape, robbery and other serious crimes.

Congressman Teague has introduced Legislation designed to give the average citizen the same protection from Federal Government which has resulted in a growing horde of Federal investigators, the average citizen who carries the load in taxes to support his government needs some protection, too.

The measure introduced by congressman Teague is designed to require officers and employees of Federal agencies to have a warrant to obtain records, papers, or any other information from private citizens in the course of any investigation, if the information or records are to be used in charges of any violation, whether it be criminal or civil.

The bill also requires Federal investigators to warn the citizen that he has the right to refuse to provide information or records that might be used against him in the course of any resulting prosecution. It also provides that the citizen be advised of his rights to have an attorney present before any questioning or search for information can begin.

Not all investigations by Federal agencies such as Internal Revenue agents, Civil Service Representatives, Labor Department Examiners and others are based on specific complaints, but rather, under some general suspicion that the citizen is not complying with the law. Evidence developed in the course of the examination of records, questioning and so forth may subsequently be used in either civil or criminal action against the individual, or in decisions by some Federal Agency.

Many Congressmen, if not all of us, receive letters of complaint from citizens who have had to deal with various departments and agencies of the Federal Government. Most cite instances of Federal investigators of some sort who they say barge into their places of business or on their farms or in their homes, asking questions and requesting records and other information.

With all the complications brought on by greater centralized government investigators of one sort and the other are necessary. They, as individuals, may not always be to blame, but it is right that the average law-abiding citizen have the same or as much protection as the law-violator who screams about his "rights" in today's confused atmosphere of coddling those who incite riots, stand in front of trains carrying military supplies for South Viet Nam, or the draft-card burner who gives aid and comfort to the enemy.

Co-Ops Important To Farm Industry

The spotlight during October is placed on the cooperatives of the nation which serve agriculture. It is the time, says Chas. K. Baker, extension economist in farm organization, when the progress of agricultural cooperatives is noted and their importance and contributions to America's great basic industry are recognized.

Cooperatives are numerous in Texas, explains the Texas A&M University economist. They number some 775 firms with offices in 166 counties and serve most of the state's 196,000 farm units.

He explains that agricultural cooperatives are private business enterprises — organized, owned and controlled by the farmers and ranchers who use them to provide needed service and supplies. Members view their cooperatives as vital parts of their farm businesses, he adds.

Eight Recent Hunting Deaths Push 1966 Fatalities Above Last Year

Outdoor recreational fatalities were increased by thirteen during the last three weeks, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Eight deaths were from accidental gunshots in connection with hunting. Three persons drowned, one while fishing.

In unusual sports recreational deaths, a 16-year-old West Texas boy was killed by lightning while hunting rabbits and an Athens man was killed by a car while adjusting lights on his fishing boat trailer.

The gun deaths raised the total to nine for the year. A 16-year-old Brady boy, earlier was reported as a casualty from stepping in front of a rifle as it was discharged.

The eight new gun fatalities involved mainly youngsters. But one adult, an Amarillo man, was killed when his gun discharged as he placed it in his car. He had been hunting prairie dogs. A Memphis, Texas, mother was killed returning from a hunt when a shotgun was discharged as her husband removed it from their car.

In a tragedy similar to the earlier one occurring at Brady, an 18-year-old Nacogdoches boy was killed by a bullet from a jammed rifle.

A 14-year-old Cuero lad was killed when struck by a .22 rifle bullet while hunting rabbits with other lads.

An 18-year-old Brownfield boy was fatally wounded when a rifle discharged as it was being removed from a car following a hunting trip.

A 9-year-old Kennedale boy was killed when a shotgun, held by a hunting companion, was fired accidentally.

The Department noted that the 1966 hunting death pace is far ahead of last year when 21 fatalities were unofficially recorded as connected with the hunting season.

It was suggested that, in view of the predominantly heavier toll among youngsters, they be provided with adult supervision in handling firearms.

MARRIAGES NOW LAST LONGER

In the year 1900, death put an end to 23 out of every 1,000 marriages, by ending the lives of one or both partners. But today, only 16 out of every 1,000 marriages are ended each year by death. This means not only longer and more productive lives — it also means that more children are raised to adulthood by their parents. Modern drugs have played a vital role in bringing about this change. That's why we say . . .

Prospective Warden Applicants Given Advance Notice

Texas young men, eager to begin promising careers as game wardens, are going to get the word this time.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department expects to provide adequate advance notification for eligibles who have complained that they heard about game warden training courses too late to qualify.

A veritable task force of District Chiefs representing the Department will call on news media with data about the next class of warden trainees seeking to train for the exciting wildlife field work.

Concentration will be on a mere, simple card whereby interested young men may advise the Department of their interest so that routine application literature may be forwarded.

Interested young men should send their names and addresses to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, John H. Reagan Bldg., Austin, Texas 78701. They will promptly receive complete literature about the training procedure and information about how they may formally apply.

GOLDEN SPIKE AWARD PRESENTED TO SANTA FE

The National Safety Council has named the Santa Fe Railway as winner of a Golden Spike Award, given for outstanding public safety service during 1965.

The non-competitive awards recognize such varied activities by the railroads as participation by railroad personnel in community safety activities, off-the-job safety programs for employees, cooperation with local safety councils and civic groups and attention to public safety in institutional advertising and public information work.

Holding Institute Group Visits First Methodist Church

The local First Methodist Church was honored Sunday with the attendance of Dr. Maurice Daily, superintendent of Holding Institute in Laredo, Texas, and three students, Raquel Pascoe of Mexico City, Fela Holguin of Corpus Christi and Dora Guiterrez of Laredo.

Holding Institute is a Methodist Junior High and High School for Latin American boys and girls. It has an enrollment of 175, with about 90 being resident students. Physical plants of the Institute are located on the northern edge of Laredo and include two dormitories, a new modern dining facility, classroom building, library, administration building and a very beautiful campus. Future plans call for a gymnasium.

Dr. Daily is a returned missionary from the Dominican Republic, and is in his second year at the school. He is married and has one daughter who is a sophomore student at McMurry College in Abilene.

Raquel Pascoe, one of the 3 students making the trip, is sponsored by the Santa Anna Methodist Church. The church provides for her tuition, room and board, fees and other incidental expenses. Her home is in Mexico City, and her father is a retired Methodist minister. She is the youngest of nine children, and plans to become a missionary to her own people.

First Methodist is making plans to return the three young people during the Easter season, announces Rev. Bobby Weathers, pastor of the church.

Cattle Outlook Continues Good

Texas cattle prices will remain favorable for the remainder of 1966 and into 1967, especially for the efficient producer, a Texas A & M University agricultural economist predicted today.

John G. McHaney, Extension economist, said that continued strength in the general economy would insure an increasing price trend for beef cattle, beginning very late in 1966. All of 1967, he added, should be favorable if our economy continues to grow and range conditions remain good.

McHaney said feed lot operators at the present were more reluctant than usual to bid up feeder cattle prices. Their feed costs are rising and fed cattle prices have declined to narrow their margins, he said. But, taking all factors into consideration, feeder prices are expected to remain near current levels which are much better than for the same period a year ago.

As for fed cattle prices, he said they should hold during the October-December period to average near the year-ago levels. Marketings of fed cattle are expected to continue large but the increase over a year ago probably will be less than that which took place in the summer of 1966.

Downward price pressure can develop if range conditions over the nation deteriorate; thus, forcing large movements of grass cattle to slaughter at a time when fed cattle marketings are already heavy. Too, feeding to heavier weights could put continued pressure on fed cattle prices during the rest of the year.

Another factor influencing fed beef prices will be the increase in the pork supply for the remainder of the year. Pork production later in the year will

Applications Now Being Taken For Summer Job Exams

Congressman Omar Burleson (D-Texas, 17th District) announces that the Civil Service Commission is now receiving applications for the 1967 competitive examination for summer employment with the United States Government. The examination leads to eligibility for appointment to most temporary summer jobs at Grades GS-1 through 4.

Those who are interested in the summer jobs covered may apply to take the written test on or before three filing dates—October 21, 1966, December 9, 1966, and January 9, 1967. The test will be given at more than 1,000 cities throughout the country on November 26, 1966, January 7, 1967, and February 4, 1967. Should the candidate fail to apply by the first filing date, he may select either of the two later dates. Congressman Burleson stressed the fact that January 9, 1967 is the final date for applying to take the test and closing date of the examination. Applications filed after that date cannot be accepted.

The Congressman noted that the Office and Science Assistant examination does not cover postal jobs. A separate examination for summer jobs in the Postal Field Service at a limited number of Post Offices throughout the country will be announced at a later date. A brochure entitled "Summer Jobs in Federal Agencies," which provides further information about the Office and Science Assistant examination, descriptions of summer positions at Grade GS-5 and information on temporary Wage Board or blue-collar jobs is currently being prepared and will be available on request through Congressman Burleson's office, located in Room 2369 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D. C. 20515, or at the Congressman's district office 2101 Federal Building, Abilene, Tex. 79601.

Parks & Wildlife Gives Timely Tips To Gun Sports

Rusty hunters are a menace to themselves and others. The October issue of Texas Parks & Wildlife, a national award winner among conservation magazines, offers a cure for out-of-practice shotguns in an article pointing out basic principles for safe, successful shooting.

Full-color diagrams showing correct gun position, lead, and follow-through accompany the down-to-earth discussions of guns, shot sizes, and safety measures.

The magazine, published by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, also explains how to soften the dread buck fever by learning how to sight-in a rifle.
