Urschel, wealthy Oklahoma oil man the United Press says in wire received by The Record.

The Kelly's were brought to trial Monday morning after pleas of guilty, tentatively offered the Saturday before, had been withdrawn. A verdict was reached within an hour but the twelve men did not report until after court opened Thursday morning at 9:30.

WALLACE OUTLINES PLANS FOR CURTAILING SOUTHERN COTTON ACREAGE IN 1934

Reduction Benefits Of From $3 To $11 An Acre For Idle Lands Seen

Mitchell county cotton planters Monday were expressing considerable interest in announcement from Washington detailing plans of the government to curtail acreage devoted to the crop next year. A price ranging from $3 to $11 per acre, according to productivity, will be paid cotton farmers who sign up in the program of agricultural adjustment, as sponsored by President Roosevelt.

In discussing the government's drive against ruinous cotton prices, Secretary Wallace of the Department of Agriculture stated that final preparations were under way to launch campaign in the cotton States to organize farmers into county groups to obtain the objective for production control next year. A crop of from 8,500,000 to 9,500,000 bales would result, it was estimated.

In initial acreage reduction drive, launched a few months ago, 1,097 cotton producers of Mitchell county entered into contract with the government to take 41,500 acres of the present crop out of production. As payment for this large plow-up consideration Uncle Sam assumed to pay the planters $321,000 in cash.

President Roosevelt's announcement Friday of the commodity credit corporation which is to loan farmers ten cents a pound on 1933 cotton between that date and June 30, next year, will require that farmers obtaining such loans agree to reduce their acreage next year by a maximum of forty percent. Farmers of this territory were urged last week in statement by J. M. New, resident manager for the West Texas Cotton Growers association, to not sell the commodity now, pending completion of final details governing operation of the loan corporation.

There is to be no plow-up contracts entered into the farmer-government bid to curtail acreage next year. The government will pay the farmer a rental price, in consideration of the rented acreage not devoted to cotton. Schedule for these rental payments, as outlined in the Washington statement Saturday follows:

MEDITATIONS OF A HOUSEWIFE ON WASHDAY

By ALBERT McCLAIN
Pennsylvania Laundry Co., Philadelphia, Penn.
Shall I send my wash to the laundry,
And save myself this task?
Why put myself in a laundry
To answer this, I ask?
There is no housework so laborious
For the little that I gain,
Nor any chore that's more notorious
For dealing aches and pains.
Washday gets whole house upset—
Daddy, children and the pup—
And most of all myself; and yet,
It must be done! I got to hurry up!
Look at those clouds, the wind and weather
Goodness gracious, I wonder whether—
Junior, come in doors; it's going to rain!
I hope the sun will shine again.
I love to pay my radio,
Be with my children—sit and sew.
Why should I toil in dirt and suds?
I'll have COLORADO LAUNDRY wash our duds.

Farm Fight

75 to 125 pounds per acre, not over $3 an acre; 225 to 300 pounds per acre; not over $7 per acre; 325 to 400 pounds per acre, not over $11 per acre.

In announcing the final major points of the 1934 program, Secretary Wallace said:

"The current price of cotton is below its fair exchange value. The administration recognizes that further efforts to aid the cotton farmers in solving this problem are imperative. The advance of 10c per pound on the current crop will enable the producer to sell this crop in an orderly way and not be forced to sell at prevailing low prices. Because he needs the money now. The Government is providing the means to carry this cotton so that the man who produced it and who will co-operate in the production control program will benefit from an increase in price that may result from our efforts to obtain fair exchange prices for farm commodities.

"Meanwhile we are proceeding with plans to adjust further the overabundance of cotton by restricting the 1934 acreage. The producer who obtains a loan from the Government on this year's crop must pledge himself to co-operate in the 1934 program. It was evident after the record production this year that cotton adjustments should continue. It would have been manifestly unfair to the producers if any improvement in price resulting from next year's program had come after the present crop had passed out of his hands. The 10c loan will tend to prevent this. It should work to the advantage of the cotton farmers and we have assurance that they will not only seize this opportunity, but continue these co-operative efforts to insure success for the 1934 cotton adjustment program."

"Ladies Must Love"

Thursday and Friday

A new screen personality is presented at the Palace Theatre Thursday and Friday in "Ladies Must Love." This new personality will be known to the public as June Knight. A very capable and most charming blonde. She has the lead in this picture, and is supported by an exceptional cast, headed by Neil Hamilton, Sally O'Neil, Dorothy Burgess, and Mary Carlisle. With an atmosphere prevailing, the picture portrays a few weeks in the lives of a quartette of gay girls. The story is breezy and snappy, a new kind of gold digger yarn, novelly premised to permit a unique romantic angle. The action is fast and catchy, the crisp and brittle, smart-crack dialogue majors, and a couple of Miss Knight's song numbers have the tingle and tempo that makes them stand out. This picture has clicked everywhere it has shown and it will click with you.

"Silent Men"

Saturday

That tough-fisted, hard-riding, fash-shooting Tim McCoy will flash across the Palace screen again Saturday in his latest and most thrilling Western drama, "Silent Men." Tim always give you your moneys worth in action thrills, romance and wild west life. He won't fail you in this one. See it Saturday.

"International House"

Sunday and Monday

The nation's most riotous comics are gathered in the current season's laughfest "International House" showing at the Palace theatre Sunday and Monday. The imposing cast includes Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudge Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Maritza, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and his Orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, Bela Lugosi, Lona Andre, Sterling Holloway, Franklin Pangborn, Edmund Breeze, Lumsden Hare, and those lovely "Girls in Cellophane." The picture registers all those things which it should, when the most notable stars of the screen, stage, radio, and boudoir get together in one grand entertainment. Mad was grand gags, new song hits, music, singing, dancing, wise cracks, and a gaudy lot of fresh beauties wrapped in cellophane; doing the latest in dances to the latest of hot tunes.

"Zoo in Budapest"

Tuesday and Wednesday

The management of the Palace Theatre has kept a great surprise in store for their Bargain Night patrons in "The Zoo in Budapest." This picture has been booked for this special occasion. The cast is headed by Gene Raymond and Loreta Young. The cast is sufficient in itself to invite ones attendance. The picture is filled with exciting situations, suspense, "tie-spots," and romance. A picture for the entire family.

Help build Colorado and Mitchell county by patronizing home merchants.

"Don't Bet On Love"

Thursday and Friday

"Don't Bet On Love" showing at the Palace Theatre, Thursday and Friday, October 19 and 20 is mainly a character study, yet is rife in a clever romantic story, has more than its share of comedy, numbers several exciting moments and carries a punch of human interest that should be appreciated by all except those few who expect a super-special in every picture. With Lew Ayres and Ginger Rogers in the leads it is well acted, never assumes pretentiousness and stays right in character all the way through. Altogether it is an exceptionally good entertaining picture. Lew Ayres and Ginger Rogers are supported by a cast headed by Charles Grapwin, Tom Duggan, Shirley Grey, and Myrna Kennedy.

A Fair Question

Better Days Seen For Race Horse Ranch As Sport Comes Under Legal Phase Again

ROCKSPRINGS.—When 67-year-old Clayton Morris' horse, "Raffles We" came in at the head of the pack in the three-eighths mile race here on Labor Day, it recalled to many ranchmen and race followers the days when Morris Ranch horses were known all over America. The parlor of the Morris home at Morris Ranch, Texas, half way between Fredericksburg and Kerrville, and lying about a mile and a half off highway 81, has trophies of the times when horses bred and trained in the live oak and post oak country drew the winning purses over the big circuits.

There is one large cup, big enough to hold water to bathe a colt, won by the famous Orbicular, at the Dallas Fair in 1907. Orbicular is gone, and so is the hotel, the old Oriental that presented the cup to the winner of the two miles and a quarter event.

Orbicular was the first horse to run the three quarters in 1.12, and he could step the longer paces too. There is another cup, won by Uncommon Gold, at East St. Louis, Ill., in 1928, a cup presented by the Broadview Hotel of that city. Uncommon Gold is a good horse, he is still running in Chicago, winning now and then, but there have been so many good new horses on the tracks lately that he has not been winning them all. In a few years he will retire to the barns here to become a papa. He will join the other race stallions, one brought there in recent weeks from New Orleans by Ridge Morris.

The countryside is dotted with horse barns, some of them black with the age that comes to houses that shun paint. One set of them is not in use, a Mexican lives in it now while his children play around the stables where the royalty of horses once smacked their oats and alfalfa.

There is the old race track once covered by a shed so horses could run in the rain, and farther away is another set of stables for the mares and foals. Another black hulk of a building is the old stallion barn. There is the old store, built in 1893, by the late John Morris. In it has worked for 40 years L. Bierschwald. It is a big stone building, strong enough for a fort, and 100 feet by 30, the biggest country store in the state, it is owned by G. H. and R. O. Bierschwald.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Morris and Miss Libbie Morris live in the big house, called the Corner by people in the village. Big trees surrounded by a net wire fence enclose blowing zinnias, beds of flowering lilies stand in front. It was to this house built in 1888 that Charley Morris brought his bride that year. It is a fine home, modern, hardwood floors, all conveniences. In the front yard plays Reginald Morine Morris, 6-year-old boy, who admits that "I like horses quite a good little bit; my grandmother does and my daddy does." He explains that he rides an English saddle.

The town has its old rock roller mill, now abandoned, but the sign still stands out in black letters. There, too, is the old gin, supplanted by a newer one and bales of cotton accumulated in the cotton yard.

Once the ranch had many thousands acres when the original owner Francis Morris, who had come from England, acquired it while in New York. He was a horse lover, he brought his horses there, found it the ideal climate and continued to train them and breed them there. Often as many as 150 race horses wore the smart Morris colors. They wintered there, in the racing season they traveled over the United States. John A. Morris was the man who built the store and also continued to develop fine horses. Miss Libbie Morris says the horse racing is a wonderful pastime but that it was never profitable. She said all the men seemed to continue the love of the horse that their ancestors had when they came here.

In 1919 part of the ranch was placed on the market, it was sold out to smaller ranchmen and farmers and 2 years ago Captain Morris of New York, sold out most of what was left to a land company in Fredericksburg. Gone were the large herds of cherry red Herefords, but the horses remained.

However some of the Morris' have bought stock farms and continue their stock raising and ranching. When the land was sold the captain donated the church and school, a majestic building that tops a hill to the community. Most of the houses are old and unpainted, the farm homes are scattered. The old hotel is easily identified by the rambling porch on the second story. So extensive was the plant of the Morrises that they even conducted a jockey school. The ranch will put three yearlings in training in October for next season's races. Their famous stud is Raffles by Luke Meluke. Raffles is 12 years old. He has sired few bad colts.

PASSION PLAY
BIG SPRING, TEXAS, October 12.—It is impossible to visualize the massiveness and beauty of the production of the Passion Play, as presented by the Great European Passion Players, who will appear here at the Municipal Auditorium Friday, October 13, for two performances.

One of its most stirring scenes is the one in which Pilate gives the people the choice to judge between Jesus and Barabbas. The mob asks that Jesus, the giver of life, be crucified, while Barabbas, the killer, be freed. This scene is a riot of color and action in which the entire chorus, cast, and extras appear. These famous players, believing in their sacred duty to carry on, lead simple lives and many of them have appeared in the play for many years. Every one should witness this great production of

Cotton Loans Not To Include Expense Of Transportation, Washington States

WASHINGTON. — Regulations being drafted covering the proposed loaning of 10c on cotton, middling grade, will not include the cost of transportation of the cotton for warehousing at concentration points. Protest filed by a number of cotton people and citizens of Houston, through Senator Tom Connally were brought to the attention of Oscar Johnson, director of finance of the administration's proposal would make it impossible to store the Government financed cotton anywhere but in warehouses adjacent to the place of production. The Houston interests declared that storage and handling of cotton at that and other Texas ports would be irreparably injured. At the same time protests from Galveston and other ports which have large storage facilities reached the Department of Agriculture. Interior points, however, sought to nullify the protests by insisting that the Government should not finance the storage of this cotton only at the concentration points. Interior concentration points including Texas, Oklahoma and other Southern States took the view that their facilities should be utilized instead of shipping to the port points. Senator Connally was advised that it is the intention of the administration to hold in the hands of farmers as much cotton as possible so they may profit by the increase in price. There will be nothing in the regulations preventing concentration of cotton but loans are to be made to the farmer for warehousing at the point of production. Loans will not be made to cover the cost of transportation to a concentration point unless it is shown there are no warehouse facilities in the immediate vicinity. The administration advised Senator Connally that under such circumstances the freight would be advanced to the nearest point, under an arrangement with the carriers to apply such freight payment on a through shipment if made later. The Record office.

WOLVES-BLIZZARDS BATTLE TO TIE IN PRACTICE GAME

OUTRANKED IN TECHNIQUE STUBBORN WINTERS TEAM HELD LEAD IN 1ST DOWNS

Two Touchdowns Chalked Up By Opposing Gridsters Friday Afternoon

After giving sideline customers about the best exhibition in football ever seen at Cantrell Field, with both elevens putting out all they had, Colorado and Winters came out of game here Friday afternoon in a 13-13 deadlock. The visitors, however, technically took victory on downs, accounting for 14 to 11 by the Wolves.

Fumbles and flukes were frequent through the four periods of play, the errors being more costly to the Wolves than the Blizzards. Colorado lost consistently as the Morrison-Stagner-Priester passing attacks failed to click.

Winters made both of her touchdowns on fluke plays. On the first, staged early in the game, Red Moon Morrison batted a Winters pass direct into a runners arms. With an open field ahead, he raced across the goal line without interference. On the second play count, the visitors got away with a fifty five yard parade through center field. Colorado made both touchdowns by plunging through line.

Colorado was penalized a total of twenty yards on offense and wide passes. Winters drew one penalty of five yards. Much of the game was staged in center field. At one time Colorado carried the ball to within five yards of the pay line, to be held on downs.

Winters received on the opening kick-off and returned to her 15 yard line. The visitors punted out on second down to Lowery who received the ball on the 50 yard marker and returned 10 yards. Colorado was held and Morrison punted out on Winters 15 yard line. Colorado penalized 5 yards on offense. Winters crashes through Wolf line for gain of 20 yards, carrying the ball to their own 30 yard line. On the next two plays Church breaks through to throw the ball carrier for losses.

Winters punts out of bounds on Colorado's 25 yard line. Stagner races around end for 10 yard gain, and Red Moon adds another yard on center plunge. Attempted pass flukes and Colorado punts out on the visitors 23 yard line. Winters carries the ball to her own 48 yard line and on the next play a pass clicks for touch-down, after the ball totter had raced 55 yards through the field. Place kick goes over. Score 7-0 in favor of Winters.

Ed Morrison receives kick-off on his 10 yard line and returns 20 yards. Stagner rips off eight yards around left end and on the next

PEP CLUB APPEARS IN UNIFORM DURING GAME

The high school pep club appeared in full uniform Friday afternoon for the first time this season. The girls have been devoting considerable time to practice rehearsals recently. Another feature of Friday's game was low flying of a Don Teel ship over Cantrell Field just as the Wolf-Blizzard tilt opened. A football in the Wolf colors of red and black, was dropped onto the field. This was sponsored by Huron Dorn.

Near Half Million Bales Added To First Cotton Crop Estimate By Federal Bureau

While the Department of Agriculture at Washington Monday was tacking almost a half million bales onto its September cotton crop estimate, placing total guess now at 12,885,000 bales from the crop of 1933, local observers announced that prior estimates on the county production would fall short by several thousand bales.

The government crop estimate of more than 12 million bales came as a surprise to local cotton factors. The estimate was 471,000 more than that announced in September. The indicated crop is 117,000 bales less than the crop of 1932 and about 12 per cent below average production for the years 1928 to 1932. Claims that Mitchell county would harvest a crop of 25,000 bales, as advanced a few days ago, are being shattered here this week by informers who during the week have taken inventory of the crop. Picking is well advanced in all parts of the county.

World consumption of cotton in August was the largest for any August since 1927 and in all probability the largest in history of the spinning industry, it was announced Monday from the New York Cotton Exchange.

UNITED STATES ON MEND, SENATOR CONNALLY TELLS WEST TEXANS AT ANGELO

Regional NRA Rally There Is Attended By Coloradoans On Monday Night

The United States is now on the mend and better times are prevalent in all parts of the country, including West Texas, Senator Tom Connally declared in address at regional NRA rally in San Angelo Monday night. The junior senator had driven from his home in Marlin to appear at the meeting. R. E. Thomason, of El Paso, congressman from the 16th district, was another democratic leader to speak.

The National recovery act has already accomplished the goal set for it by the president in leading American industry out of a devastating depression, Senator Connally stated. He confined his remarks largely to the interests of farming and livestock. Much of the large crowd that thronged municipal auditorium was made up of these.

Connally compared the last "hundred day session" of congress to the fateful hundred days that lapsed between Napoleon's escape from Elba and defeat at Waterloo, saying that the recent period of travail had done much as to restore this nation to normalcy as had Waterloo in halting a furor that involved all Europe.

A group of Coloradoans, including R. S. Brennand, chairman of the local NRA board; C. C. Thompson, chamber of commerce president; J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce secretary, and U. D. Wulfjen, Mitchell county cattleman, attended the rally.

TRAMMELL FEARS THAT HE WILL HAVE TO PAY WITH LIFE IN SLAYING

Luke Trammell, youthful West Texas desperado who Thursday went to trial on murder count in 32nd district court at Sweetwater, has for several days continuously feared that he will be called upon to pay for his life for the slaying of John Lampkin, Blackwell deputy sheriff. The officer was fatally wounded after detecting a gang robbing a Blackwell store.

District Attorney George H. Mahon will be assisted in prosecuting the case by James Henry Beall, Jr., Sweetwater attorney. Beall was recently employed by the Lampkin family to assist the State's attorney.

M'CAMERY CATS FIGHT TO SCORELESS TIE IN GAME WITH STRONG PECOS CLUB

Gridsters To Be Met By The Wolves Saturday Maintain Commendable Record

The McCamey Cats, grid organization to be engaged Saturday afternoon by the Wolves, last Saturday held the Pecos gridsters to a scoreless tie, adding further to their prestige in District 3 circles. Pecos is member of the El Paso conference and rated as among the strong clubs of that part of the State.

Date for the Colorado-McCamey tilt has been changed from Friday to Saturday, due to demands of McCamey. The Cantrellmen are to leave here early Saturday morning for the 150 mile motor car drive to the Southwest Texas oil town. Cantrell stated Monday that the team would return to Colorado Saturday night. Several fans plan accompanying the Wolves to McCamey.

The Sweetwater Mustangs, another eleven yet to be encountered by the Wolves in conference game, Saturday defeated the Lubbock Westeners 6-0 in a hard fought battle at Newman Field, Sweetwater. The Wolves are to play Sweetwater at Sweetwater on November 18.

San Angelo, also reckoned as a strong contender in this district, went down in defeat before the Abilene Eagles Saturday. The score was 20 to 12. A week before the Mustangs defeated Abilene 19 to 6 Colorado is scheduled to engage San Angelo on the latter turf November 4th.

The Big Spring Steers, still another Class A conference opponent of the Cantrellmen, went down in defeat Saturday before attacks of the Pampa Harvesters. The Steers were completely shut out while the North Plains club ran up a score of 20 points. Colorado is slated to play at Big Spring on Thanksgiving.

COLORADO PEOPLE WILL WITNESS PASSION PLAY IN BIG SPRING TONIGHT

Several Colorado people plan witnessing presentation of the "Passion Play," at the municipal auditorium, Big Spring, Friday evening. The internationally famous religious drama is being brought to that city under auspices of the First Methodist church. A section in the auditorium has been reserved for Colorado.

"During the past, hundreds of Americans have journeyed to Germany for the purpose of witnessing this great drama, and now we may see it in all its originality by journeying a few miles and paying the price of $1.50 for a reserved seat," the Rev. L. A. Webb, pastor of First Methodist church, stated Sunday morning in announcing staging of the drama.

NEW LEGION OFFICIALS TO BE INSTALLED WITH RITES ON FRIDAY NIGHT

Incoming officials of Oran C. Hooker Post, American Legion, are due to assume their duties at regular meeting of Mitchell county executive men Friday night. The annual event is to be staged at the Legion building in Colorado.

John T. Howell, post-commander elect, stated Wednesday that the retiring commander joined with him in urging every legionaire of this county to be present. Program for advancing the Legion here during the coming year are being formulated, he stated.

GREENE'S ADDRESS ON FIRE PREVENTION WAS EVIDENTLY A 'HOT ONE'

Jim Greene, chamber of commerce secretary, admitted Monday that in all probability his radio address the afternoon before on "Fire Prevention" must have been a "hot one."

While Greene was speaking with all his energy from studio of Station YLD, in the strong urge that Coloradoans observe Fire Prevention Week, to open the next day, a building in South Colorado caught on fire and burned to the ground.

Sirens of the fire department, in passing through the street racing to the fire, almost drowned out voice of the speaker as he stood before the mike.

SERVICE CLUB ACCEPTS PROPOSAL TO SPONSOR CLUB BOYS ACTIVITIES

Proposal of the Lions Club to sponsor, in a moral way, the projects of five selected club boys in feeding out baby beavers during the coming months was accepted at meeting of the club Friday. County Farm Agent B. J. Baskin, in address before the club, urged that this cooperation be extended.

"I am not going into baby beef feeding but rather expect to grow into it," Baskin announced after stating that he wished to designate five select club boys of the county as leaders in starting the move. "I would be much pleased to have five members of this club sponsor a boy in this campaign."

President Joe B. Mills stated that the club has always extended every cooperation to the county farm agent and "I am sure such a policy will be continued."

PAMPA EVIDENTLY IS STRONG IN GRID ARENA

"Steers battered mercilessly by fast charging Harvesters," announced banner line in the Big Spring Herald Sunday morning. Another headline went on to say: "Bovine line beaten down by Plainsmen," leaving the impression that the Steers did not develop so hot in Saturday's game. Coloradoans who witnessed the Steer slaughter report that Pampa is to be reckoned with in parade toward Western pennant, if not State laurels.

School News—
 This is the sixth week of school and examination week which means that every student is working for good grades and exemption.

As a result of the cool weather, every student has been more industrious and not quite so lazy, as they have been in the past.

Mr. Patterson announced Monday morning that assembly would be held every Wednesday morning instead of Monday. We will try to have a program every Wednesday morning and invite all of the patrons to attend.

Miss Leta Faye Groh was a visitor in our school Wednesday morning.

Rue McCarley is back in school after an absence of two days on account of illness.

Chapel News—

Wednesday morning, October 5, Dr. C. L. Root of Colorado gave a very interesting talk on Tuberculosis and its prevention, his motto being "an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." We appreciate Dr. Root's interest in our school and hope he will give us more advice on prevention of diseases.

Sport News—

The Senior girls and boys are still training for basketball. Both teams are very enthusiastic and are going to try hard for county championship which they hope to win. Both teams have good material and preparations are being made for a better court and new balls.

Friday afternoon the Conway boys and girls met the Rogers teams on the Westbrook court.

The Conway teams were victorious in both games.

Senior News—
 One of the most thrilling moments of the Senior's year arrived last Wednesday when they received their rings and wristlets. Naturally we think they are the most beautiful class rings Westbrook has ever had.

The seniors have chosen their class colors and motto. The colors are blue and gold, and the motto is: "We strive not to equal, but to excel."

Junior News—
 The Juniors are starting out right. Backing the Seniors with all their might.

We have none that are out to slight.

So together we intend to stick and hold tight.

The Juniors have sixteen on roll and are proud of their brilliancy, looks, and enrollment.

The Juniors organized last week and the following officers were elected:

Ruth Miller, president; Mary Florence Van Horne, vice president; Wilma Jean Berry, secretary and treasurer; Sibyl Holder, reporter; Mr. I. D. Lauderdale, sponsor; Evelyn Smith, Vestal Smith and Lucille Moore, Entertaining committee.

The class colors are black and gold, and the motto is "Hitch Your Wagon to a Star."

The Juniors are planning several entertainments for the year and Mr. Lauderdale has offered to let us entertain in his home at any time.

Sophomore News—
 The Sophomores are practicing on their play which will be the first play in the tournament. The title is "One Minute to Twelve."

Watch for the date!

Freshman News—
 The Freshmen met last week and organized their class. The following officers were elected: Marcus Woodall, president; Joe Smallwood, vice president; Chester Anderson, Jr., secretary and treasurer; Bob Stribling, reporter; Mr. F. H. Patterson, sponsor.

The Freshman class is the most unusual class in high school. There are eight boys and two girls.

Humor—

Miss Ott: "Really, Johnny, your handwriting is terrible. You must learn to write better."

Johnny: "Well, if I did you'd be finding fault with my spelling."

Mr. Lauderdale: "Are there any more questions you would like to ask about whales?"

Thelma King: "Well, what has the prince got to do with them?"

Modern child saying grace: "This food comes to you through the courtesy of God Almighty."

Florence Neal: "Oh, I think you are lots better looking than your daddy."

Herman: "Well I ought to be 'I'm a later model."

Mr. Lauderdale: "When I began teaching I had nothing to guide me but my own intelligence."

Sibyl Holder: "That sure was a bad start."

The visitors are held on first and second plays but on the third down break through center for a gain of 15 yards. The visitors chalk up another first down on fourth play. Colorado is penalized 5 yards on offside. The visitors rip off another 5 yards through center and again threaten to score when a Blizzard pass is intercepted by Hagler.

Game over. Score 13-13. Winters 14 first downs to 11 by Colorado. Officials were Moffett, Texas Tech, referee; Brown, A. C. C., umpire, and Reed, Texas U., head linesman.

State Health Officer Supports Warning Of Local Surgeon Against Cancer Quacks

Within a few days after The Record had published radio address of Dr. C. L. Root, Colorado surgeon, in which cancer in its various ramifications was discussed and warning against "quacks" sounded, Dr. John W. Brown, State health officer sustains claims of the local man in statement received by this newspaper. Both authorities are agreed that too many Texans are dying from the disease and that surgery is generally recognized as an effective remedy, if taken in time.

"The increasing number of persons in Texas dying from cancer, justifies a warning at this time against cancer quacks and so-called cancer cures. While newspapers, as a rule, do not carry advertising of this type, there are many other ways by which misinformation can reach the public. Undoubtedly there are many persons who, being thus deceived from seeking proper advice, unnecessarily become cancer victims, while others not having cancer, are fleeced out of much money for a cure," stated Dr. Brown.

"There are but two ways of treating cancer. First, by surgery; and second, by use of radium or X-ray. Treatment must be started early and in the hands of a competent surgeon. Surgery is relied upon to remove cancerous tumors and is used in nearly two-thirds of the cases. X-ray or radium is used to advantage in one-third of the cases. Frequently the two methods are combined. Self-medication, serums, colored lights, pastes, salves, and diets are valueless.

"The great bulwark against cancer is early diagnosis. Every case is an emergency and it is unfortunate that the majority of those with cancer do not seek medical advice until beyond a permanent cure. No hope should be placed in fake cancer prophets and their treatments. Rather, the annual physical examination and an immediate reporting to your physician of any symptoms which may be suspected to be the beginning of cancer, should be relied upon. These symptoms are: Any unusual bleeding from any body opening, any lump in the breast or other part of the body, any persistent sore, particularly on the face or mouth, and chronic indigestion. These conditions may not be cancer, but sometimes they are forerunners of the more common types of this disease. Where cancer is suspected, do not delay, but consult your physician at once."

LEGION CONVENTION AT CHICAGO LARGEST EVER ATTENDED BY GOLDMAN

BIG SPRING.—Sam Goldman, well-known oil man and bandmaster, returned Saturday from Chicago, where he went as a member of an all-Texas band picked from a number of cities to represent the state department. Goldman, who has been active in numerous large national conventions of various organizations, declared the Legion meeting in Chicago was the largest he ever attended. The grand parade started at 8 a. m. and part of the column was still marching at 7 p. m., he reported.

The unusual measures taken to guard President Roosevelt on his ride from his special train to the convention hall were especially noted by Goldman. Policemen standing shoulder to shoulder lined the street as the presidential car, escorted by numerous secret service men and traffic officers with sirens open sped along the way at 45 to 60 miles per hour, he declared. The president's frank, candid manner instantly won him friendly reception of his address, said Goldman.

President Does Not Intend To Put Any Person Out Of Business, Johnson Says

WASHINGTON — Many employers do not understand their remedy under paragraph 14 of the "President's Re-employment Agreement," said National Recovery Administrator Hugh S. Johnson in his instructions to more than 6,000 compliance boards now being named throughout the Nation to obtain 100 percent compliance with the agreement. And he adds: "This must be explained to them. They must also be shown that this agreement is a temporary arrangement pending the adoption of a permanent code and that their cooperation is absolutely necessary to bring about the adoption of a code. It is not the plan of the President to put anybody out of business if complying with the agreement would have that result. There will be adequate relief for everyone."

Charged primarily with the duties of education, conciliation and mediation in their respective communities, the new seven-member boards will hear:

1. Complaints of noncompliance with the President's Agreement;
2. Petitions for exceptions under paragraph 14 of the agreement which permits exceptions where strict compliance would create "great and unavoidable hardship";
3. Petitions for permission to operate on the longer-hour schedule of existing union contracts instead of the maximum hours of the agreement.

Each compliance board will consist of two employee representatives, one to represent industrial employees and another employee in retail or wholesale trade; two employers, one representing industry and another retail or wholesale trade; a consumers' representative, preferably a woman; a lawyer recommended by his state bar association, and a seventh member who will be permanent chairman, to be chosen by vote of the six members and who, it was pointed out by General Johnson, "should enjoy the respect of the entire community and who must be free from any connection, political, financial, or otherwise, which would cause any doubt on the impartiality of his decision."

The first six members are to be nominated by a committee chosen by the chairman of the local NRA committees and representing the local chambers of commerce, manufacturing associations, labor organizations, women's clubs and bar associations.

The Compliance Boards will immediately undertake the investigation of complaints now before local committees. Employers will be informed of the complaints against them and will be given an opportunity in a hearing to answer the charges. If the complaint is found to be valid and the employer fails to comply voluntarily with his agreement, the Board will report the case to the Administration in Washington. The Compliance Board has no powers of enforcement except upon express directions from Washington. The instructions of the Administrator state:

"It should be impressed on the community that anyone who is displaying the Eagle is presumed to be complying with the President's Agreement until the Eagle is taken away from him by Federal authority. Rumors injurious to NRA members should be discouraged and the community informed that the thing to do is to bring complaints with the facts which support them. Compliance must not be obtained through fear or force. We must do it through education and explanation. There are very few deliberate chisellers and these will not be tolerated. "The ultimate objective of the National Recovery movement is the self-government of trade and industry by their own associations, under permanent codes approved by the President. The organization of trade associations for this purpose is an integral part of our present organization. Pending such time as all industry is under codes it is the purpose of the President to effectuate the policies of the National Recovery Act by securing 100 percent compliance with the President's Reemployment Agreement."

SEVEN WELLS NEWS NOTES

School interest is good. The patrons are making an effort to keep their children in, despite their need in the cotton patch. So far the attendance justifies the continuation of school.

Little Miss Jimmie Jean Killiam was a visitor at school Monday. She asks her mother very particularly each morning before she starts to Seven Wells to teach, "Mother are you sure your finger nails are clean."

Mrs. Killiam's room is having a Health race. The contestants are the Fords and the Chevrolets. To date the Fords are 1500 miles ahead. The contest closes on Halloween when the mothers are to be invited to a party.

Seven Wells will keep sweet this winter if sorghum molasses can do it. Everybody's making syrup, has made it, or is just going to begin it.

The farmers wives have all canned an abundance of vegetables at Seven Wells this summer. No one here will be cold or hungry unless they nuke in later. We all seem to have plenty to get by fine.

Passion Play Being Presented For First Time In English; Players At Big Spring

BIG SPRING—Many leading cities of America have seen the Great European Passion Play as presented by the German Passion Players in their sublime spectacle; however, it is for the first time that this is presented by the original players in any other language than German on the current Western tour. The Passion Play which is to be presented here for one day only, October 13, is sponsored and brought here by the First Methodist church.

The Passion Play found its organization in the year 999 A. D. when it was presented by the monks and friars of the church in pantomime. In 1202 for the first time a text was written in Latin and from then until the year 1264, the Passion Play was presented regularly in Freiburg, Baden, Germany in the Latin language. The throng of people, unable to understand the Latin language of the monks and friars, more and more demanded that the play should be presented in the language understandable to them, in the following of which, the text was written in German and from which time on the German presentation of the Passion Play dates. Upon completion of the great Freiburg Cathedral—long before Americans thought of, much less discovered, the Passion Play of Freiburg dates.

The purpose of the Passion Play is to visualize the meaning of Jesus Christ to the world, while it is the drama of dramas, its purpose is not mere entertainment. This dramatization of the Passion Play was made centuries ago from the Bible, and the knowledge of the gospels will assist one to secure a deeper meaning of the play. The production is colorful and in many of the scenes over a hundred people are involved. Complete reverence for the subject is maintained throughout. The simple story of Christ is given with no offense to any sect or creed.

The local church will furnish for the music about 50 voices to sing the sacred music incidental to the play, also a group of about 100 people to take part in the mob scenes.

The local committees in charge of the presentation report an unusual request from out of town patrons for seats.

Put Your Liver To Work--Make This Test

You can't feel well and strong unless your liver furnishes your stomach and bowels plenty of fresh bile every day. Without bile food doesn't digest properly—it just ferments and decays—constipation, gas, sour stomach, headaches and nervousness follow.

Don't be misled. Calomel, salts, oils, mineral waters, laxative pills, etc., have no effect whatever on the liver. There are only two generally recognized substances which actually cause a sluggish liver to increase its production of bile. Sargol Soft Mass Pills contain both of them.

Unless you have tried Sargol Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of their effect—you feel stronger, healthier, happier—life and color return to faded eyes and cheeks—appetite and digestion improve rapidly.

ADVISED TO ADVERTISE

The Record for one week ago carried an article dealing with appeal from Hugh Johnson that American industry launch out after new business—now—using the medium of newspaper advertising as the most effective source through which this additional trade volume should be realized.

The director of the NRA advises industry to advertise. First, give the public honest products at honest prices then promote your sales through the advertising columns.

This is the suggestion of General Johnson, who premises his statement on his assumption that the American public "looks to advertising for news of good merchandise and good values."

Thus the administration acknowledges as a policy a thing that has been coming slowly into the realization of the public mind for a quarter of a century, namely, that advertising is an essential and highly important part of our economic system.

Advertising is as necessary in our present day system as is modern transportation. Without the one the other would not be needed. Eliminate advertising and our whole system would collapse.

General Johnson is right in urging the present as a good time specifically for advertising. It may be argued that the increased pay rolls under the NRA have not had sufficient time to build up among the recently employed a new cash reserve, a buying capacity at which the advertising may be directed.

There is something in this argument itself, but the market today is not with the newly employed man. It is with that large majority that have remained employed, or—maintained themselves in business during the depression. The resources of this class have decreased, of course, but the fact remains that the total of demand and time deposits in the banks of the country have declined less than the general price level. This is especially true in Texas. The potential demand for consumers' goods is greater today than at any time in recent years and there is money behind the demand, but there is also caution born of four years of fear.

The prompting to activity of this potential demand, backed by billions in bank deposits, is the way out of the depression—the normal, sure way along the path to permanent economic recovery. In advertising there is the power to bring it about.

BANK APPRAISER FRANK IN REFERENCE TO LAND

Frank Lochridge of Breckenridge, district appraiser for the Houston Federal Land bank, stated in an address at the Lions Club Friday that he did not believe in idle talk in giving statement as to condition of farm properties inspected.

"I have recently visited Judge Earnest's Johnson grass farm, County Judge King's gullies and the sand dunes owned by Chas. C. Thompson," he stated.

Good news is The Record advertising news. The advertisements are your guide.

KNOWLEDGE IS POWER

Leonardo da Vinci was never out of a job.

He was a painter, a sculptor, a botanist, a chemist, an engineer, a scientist. Artists in his line were supported by individual patrons who had power to collect taxes, but Leonardo did not work for money.

Doubtless he lived as well as his patrons. Certainly he might have had any reward for the asking, for he was invaluable. Often he was called from his painting to design military defenses, public buildings, party costumes, interior decorations.

When he died, 400 years ago, the world lost its best intellect. Neither before or since has the race developed a more brilliant mind.

He ranked with kings because he could do things no other man could do.

Seven years ago the world lost another man of brilliant intellect, Steinmetz, an American born in Germany. The world's great electricians regarded him as a master. He was another who did not work for money.

Seasons of depression did not affect him. He worked when and where he pleased and scorned a fixed salary. Much or little, and received it. He might have been one of the richest of men if he had been willing to burden himself with money.

He also ranked with kings because he could do things no other man could do.

But these two, you say, were men of genius.

Consider then the humble men brought from Europe fifteen years ago to teach America the art of dyeing and finishing furs.

American trappers supplied the furs and America provided the chief market for them, but they crossed the Atlantic twice before they reached the market because nobody in America could finish a fur as it should be finished.

Now St. Louis is the fur market of the world and the furs are finished in America. Craftsmen were lured from Europe to teach their art to American workmen. Some of them were boys and paid large salaries.

They were able to name their own salaries because they could do something no other men could do.

Knowledge is power. It is also something that can be cashed at the paying teller's window.

Times like we now have should enable a young man to choose his career. When business is slack the train is shortened by leaving cars idle in the yards, but the locomotive keeps on pulling whatever load there is.

DON'T BORROW TROUBLE Most of our troubles are those we never have.

Our little earthly existence, which passes "Like a watch in the night," is altogether inconsiderable when we think of the numberless ages to come during which all the riches of heaven shall be the reward of "him that overcometh."

To him who refuses to yield to the blandishments of evil, who like the Psalmist had "rather be a doorkeeper in the house of the Lord than to dwell in the tents of wickedness," comes the sweet assurance of serenity, peace and happiness, both here and hereafter.

If our past has not been all that we should have it, the best way to redeem it is to use its lessons in the attainment of a worthwhile future.

We should know more of life than did those who lived in the past, for the reason that we have their successes and failures, their experiences and speculations, from which to deduce lessons for the present and future.

In profiting by the experience of the past, the future itself is made glorious and the present satisfying.

It amazes us that man seems to be willing to profit in material things only by the doings of those who have gone on before him. He is willing to appropriate knowledge by scientific discovery and experiments in all lines of endeavor, but is loathe to apply to himself the moral and spiritual lessons, not only discovered by our forebears, but recorded and preserved for us by them.

We look back to Egypt, which is in a way symbolic of materiality in the bondage incident thereto, but we see only the fleshpots. Instead we should look for the meat spoken of by Him who said "My meat is to do the will of Him who sent me," and with that "bread which came down from heaven" prepare our daily food.

FALSE TEETH

More people wear false teeth than the world is aware of or the wearer will admit. For a long time I was an uncompromising enemy of false teeth, but today I would fight for them anytime, and I would chase a thief who stole my false teeth farther than I would chase a thief who stole my trousers.

When first placed in a persons mouth, false teeth feel far more like a monkey wrench or a padlock than grinders of food, but they bear acquaintance well and professional dentists in those days, not willing to be separated from, even for a day. There were few soon become a friend that one is but a fair sprinkling of chirogones who pulled teeth for those who were willing to undergo the pain.

Dental science has made such progress and the artificial molars are now so perfect in design and imitate the work of nature so admirably that it is difficult indeed to separate those who chew with artificial teeth from those who grind their food with nature's grinders.

History tells us that there were no false teeth until the year 1800, and I cannot but wonder how the people who lost their teeth prior to that time managed to grind their food. Of course we all know that women who were so unfortunate as to lose their teeth retired permanently from the streets and social functions, for women without teeth have no greater desire to be seen than peafowls without feathers.

The first false teeth were made by Gonzi, an Italian dentist, for Lucifer Bonaparte. Of course Gonzi was loaded down with medals by academies of science and gold flowed into his pockets from royal treasuries. He richly deserves all he was given. But for his invention the world would have countless thousands of "gummers" today who would fare poorly at the table and would seldom be seen at social functions, but with the aid of Gonzi's invention these can now do full justice at banquet tables.

Fortunate indeed the owner of a set of false teeth. He has the blessed assurance that never again will he have the toothache, and no matter what other afflictions may come, never again will he have to undergo the torture of having a tooth pulled.

AN OPTIMIST A true optimist is the young man who has a sweetheart whose weight is 165 pounds, and who believes the dear girl will never get any fatter but will slim down a little as the years roll on.

IMPOSSIBLE A beauty specialist says any woman can have a beautiful mouth if she will practice keeping her lips pressed closely together for two hours twice a day. Try it, ladies. Its an inexpensive treatment, and your husbands will give you greater encouragement than you ever hoped to receive in any effort put forth for your beautification.

UNCHANGABLE Oh, times may change and customs New arise when we are gone But in ten thousand years from now Some things will still go on.

So long as money pays the bills There will be lawsuits over wills And relatives who see a chance to get a little more.

So long as gold and silver pave A smoother pathway to the grave There will be men to steal and cheat the way they've done before.

Electric wires and ships in air and speech that conquers space May alters man's environment, but not the human race.

In years long after we are dead Man will stop and turn his head And stare at every pretty girl whom he may chance to meet

And some will love and some will hate Some foolishly will dissipate And some will still attempt to gain Advantage by deceit.

Ten thousand years from now or more Ill-tempered men will swear The cowardly will shirk the fight While brave men do and dare.

As men have done in ages past They'll rock the boat or drive too fast Or find some other foolish way in tragedy to die.

Whatever changes time may bring In happy hours they'll laugh and sing And weep in sorrow, groan in pain the same as you and I.

Colorado Designated As Promising For Location For Buick-Pontiac Dealership

Colorado has been chosen as one of the towns in which every effort will be made to have a combined Buick and Pontiac dealership in the expansion program which is being pushed this fall preparatory to the 1934 selling season, according to L. M. Little, field representative of the Buick-Olds-Pontiac Sales company who visited here this week.

Mr. Little reports that a survey was made of all towns in which Buick and Pontiac has no representation to learn whether the volume of business would warrant such an establishment. Mr. Little likewise reported that unless a town has sufficient population, industry and wealth to enable a dealer to make money on his investment, no attempt was made to establish a dealer there because the factory only wanted dealers who could make money for themselves. It is likewise desirable to have service facilities at hand for the present owners of Buicks and Pontiacs in Colorado and the surrounding territory.

"We are on an up market which should mean opportunities for men of business experience and some capital to participate in the profits that will be made in the automobile industry in the next and following years," said Mr. Little. "It is not essential that a man should have been in the automobile industry previously to make a success of this business. It is specialized, in a sense, but not any more so than the ordinary business.

"Few people realize that a dealer in no other business receives the help in guiding him that the automobile factories provide. The factories provide a dealer with an estimate of the cost of a building or the rental he should pay for the potential sale in his territory, the number of new cars he should have on hand, how to recondition used cars, the maxi-

BUICK-PONTIAC dealership available for GOOD BUSINESS MAN

THERE is an opportunity right now for some man in this city to establish himself in a permanent and profitable business selling Buick and Pontiac cars . . . rendering the kind of service that will help Buick and Pontiac owners get the most pleasure, satisfaction and economy out of their cars.

The man we want may, or may not, be in the automotive business now. If he's a good business man . . . if he enjoys a sound reputation among his friends and neighbors . . . if he is ambitious, industrious and of the up-and-coming type that can sell, organize and direct the selling abilities of others . . . we want to hear from him.

On our part, we can give him two great cars to handle . . . Pontiac, the car that built and shipped more cars during the first five months of 1933 than during all of 1932; and Buick, for many years the sales leader in its price class . . . a car backed by a 29-year reputation for value second to none in the whole automobile field.

There should be a number of men in this city fully alive to this opportunity. So, if you have reason to believe that you are the man we want, we suggest that you write us at once for complete information. Your letter will be held in strict confidence.

WARNING TO STUDENTS OF C. H. S.

The first six weeks of this school term will soon be in the past. Examinations are just two weeks ahead or to be exact, ten days. Do not try to cram a six weeks work into one night study but if you are behind, start reviewing now.

You may think: I can get by this time and will really start studying next six weeks but how are you going to get this back work? You have all heard the saying, "Do not put off till tomorrow what can be done today." If you have ever been exempt from those mid-term examinations in January you know what just a little studying each month means. If this is your first year in this high school take a little friendly advice and do not try to slide over the line for its really does not pay. Give yourself a little margin so in case you happened to be ill or out of school you will still have enough to get by. Do not wait until the last minute and cram, for it does not pay.

WOLF CLUB NEWS

The Wolves of the Pep club were howling full force last Friday afternoon during the football game. At the beginning of the game it looked as though the Blizzards were going to defeat the Wolves but the fighting spirit of our Wolves, combined with plenty of support from the side lines tied the score at the end of the game.

At the half, the Pep club marched out in the middle of the field and formed a "W" which was for Wolves and while in this formation they spelled Wolves with a snappy yell. After doing this they marched on a few feet further and formed a "B" which was for Blizzards and then gave fifteen rahs for the Blizzards.

Much excitement was shown throughout the game and the sisters of the Wolves are forever faithful.

HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

This week the first year clothing class has hemmed tea towels. We first learned how to straighten material and cut it straight. Some of us did not know how to use a gauge and we had one-half inch hems instead of one-fourth inch hems and had to fix our towels the second or third time.

We had a demonstration on how to thread and treadle a machine but some of us had to have help before we could thread our machines. I took quite a bit of practice to treadle the machine for it would go backward instead of forward and the thread would break. Each one hemmed her tea towel as well as she could but she tried hard to do it correctly. Perhaps we cannot hem very well now but we shall be able to before the end of the semester.

Mrs. Jordan of the Modern Beauty Shop has given a demonstration of a correct facial and manure to the Home Economics I-A class. Each girl has been inspired to care for her hands and face correctly and they appreciate the courtesy of Mrs. Jordan in taking the time to show the girls how to be well groomed.

The girls in the second year home economics class are reviewing the correct menus for breakfast and luncheons and the proper setting of the table.

Saturday morning, October 7, the girls of the second year home economics class met at Melba Slaton's home to go on a hike. They hiked three miles northwest of Colorado. Each girl carried her lunch and had a splendid time. After eating a delightful meal the girls cleared away the papers and boxes and found they had food left. While resting they talked and sang songs. Some of the girls had to return early so they trudged back those three miles that now seemed such a long distance through the heat of the day. After about two hours of walking and resting they reached town. All agreed they had had a perfectly tiring time and promised to go again soon.

The members of the third year home economics class have been giving reports on "Different Types of Families." They have studied the life of the Primitive, Hebrew, Greek and Roman families and each one is glad she is living now instead of during earlier time.

They are entertaining the Board members and some of their friends with an informal garden party this week.

RADIO NEWS

The radio programs of Colorado High school each Thursday from 12 to 12:30 are progressing very nicely.

These programs are not only beneficial to the students who are thus able to portray their talents, but it helps the town people to see the work and obtain the news of the schools which they are supporting. Among the numbers offered on October 12th were: popular song, piano solo, news item, declamation, and several numbers by the choral club.

HEART OF DARKNESS

A Short Novel of Africa By Joseph Conrad

A seaman and wanderer named Marlow tells the crew of the yacht, Nellie, his adventures in the heart of Africa, while he was captain of an African river boat engaged in the ivory trade.

Before Marlow reached the distant inland station he felt the spell of the dark continent and the "imbecile rapacity and folly" of the white men. At seaport he soon heard of the mysterious Mr. Kurtz, a successful ivory trader far inland.

After a long tedious journey inland, Marlow arrives at his post to find that his steamer had sunk two days before, so he sets to work raising and repairing it as quickly as possible as there are rumors that Mr. Kurtz is in trouble. Marlow dreaded to start to Mr. Kurtz but he finally left the little post on his ramshackle steamer with a crew of friendly cannibals and with the sly, greedy manager on board.

The journey to Kurtz's post was not dangerous except one half-hearted attack by the natives which they soon scared off. A Russian, who was very devoted to Mr. Kurtz told Marlow that he was very ill with the fever, also that his success in the ivory trade was due to his position among the natives, who looked upon him as a sort of ruler and god.

Marlow hastily put Kurtz and all his ivory on board preparing for a quick departure. The natives did not bother or molest them but that night a beautiful native woman came near, but finally went away.

Kurtz attempted to escape and go back into the woods but he was caught and brought back to the boat and the return trip was staffed. The manager had no sympathy for Kurtz and his queer ideas, but Marlow became his friend and before he died he gave Marlow a packet of letters and a photograph of a girl. The man's last words were "The horror, oh the horror!"

When Marlow came back home many people came to secure news of Kurtz, professing to be kinsmen of his, and reporters came, but Marlow, true to this phantom memory of the man Kurtz, told them little. He finally looked up the girl, who was now a matured woman but very beautiful, and she cherished many beautiful thoughts of Kurtz. She loved him dearly and when she asked Marlow what his last words were, he replied, "your name." He had not the strength to tell this woman the true, tragic words.

Marlow's story was finished, and the "Nellie" slowly drifted into what seemed the heart of an immense darkness.

POLLY BELLOMY.

OUR AUTHOR

When young Teodor Joseph Korzenowski, standing at the top of an Alpin pass, declared with resolute finality that he was going to become a sailor, his tutor pronounced him "incorrigible" and "a Don Quixote." But shortly after this fifteen-year-old boy, son of a Polish nobleman and exiled patriot, set out from Marseilles on his first cruise with French pilots.

His goal was to sail in a British vessel, though he knew no English, and in 1876, by the time he was nineteen, he was bound for Australia in a British cargo boat. During the next twenty years he saw most of the ports of Africa and the East, and found time to write, in English, Almayer's Folly, which was finally published in 1895.

Ill and with no confidence in his ability to write another book, Conrad decided to leave the sea and take up the life of the "hunted man who looks for nothing but visions." In 1896 he married an English woman and lived in Kent. Harassed by illness and poverty, tortured by his own self-criticism, he began his long agony of writing book after book. Galsworthy, Henry James, Garnett and his collaborator, Ford Madox Ford, gave him friendship and encouragement, but it was not until after the war that his creative genius and the magic of his story-telling were appreciated.

When he died in 1924 he had published twenty-four volumes of stories, essays, and novels, among them Youth, Heart of Darkness, and The Nigger of the Narcissus. "Heart of Darkness," is based on his own experiences in an African riverboat, and is one of his greatest stories.

LA TERTULIA

La Tertulia met Monday morning, Oct. 9, at the usual class period. The meeting was presided over by the president. The roll was called by the secretary, and answered with the name of a Spanish song. Later the minutes were read by the secretary, and a very interesting report on "Things that Spanish are not" was given by Lovena Wren. Two Spanish dramas were read by the class, "El Doble Robo" and "La Lavandera de Napoleon."

La Tertulia was entertained last Thursday night by a picnic and initiation by the members of last year's La Tertulia. Miss Mabel Smith, club sponsor, and Miss Lillian Bean, were in charge of the initiation, which was held at the park and in town and proved very beautiful.

THE GLEE CLUB

The Glee club of the Colorado High school met Monday morning and practiced several numbers.

The club is going to broadcast Thursday at 12 o'clock on the school program. The two numbers used at this time will be "Thou Art My Sunshine" and "Sweet and Low."

Mrs. Deter has been very faithful and her work has improved the voices of this club in many ways.

SENIOR NEWS

Thursday morning the senior committee met in Mrs. Cantrill's room to decide upon the Senior rings. The Seniors were all so anxious to see the rings that they met in Mrs. Cantrill's room also. They had some difficulty in deciding so they went to the auditorium to vote upon the rings. The ring that they voted for is white and yellow gold with Colorado written across the yellow gold.

The seniors will go to Mr. Sam Majors who will order the rings to give him their measurement.

Monday morning the seniors meet in Mrs. Cantrill's room to decide which invitation they should get. Mr. Wilkins said that they would wait until later in the year to see about the cards.

AGRICULTURE CLASS ACTIVITIES

Tuesday morning the third year agriculture class visited the Avery and John Deere implement house in order to obtain prices on farm machinery.

They have also been studying the proper barns and sheds to be used in Mitchell county and the selection of horses and mules and the factors governing their selection.

Mr. Williams states that mules are the most intelligent animals known. John Erwin says he has a mule that is so intelligent that he can open any locker in high school.

The class as a whole are unable to attend the Dallas Fair, however, we are hoping some of us may have that opportunity.

The officers of the Future Farmers of America have ordered coat lapel pins with the F. F. A. emblem on them.

The work of this class is progressing very nicely and we are hoping it will continue to do so.

COMMERCIAL WORK

Miss Octavine Cooper announces that she is starting a night vocational class. It will meet at 7 p. m. on Mondays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays. The subjects offered are typing, shorthand and bookkeeping.

Miss Cooper states that she hopes this class will be as interested and progress as rapidly as her high school and afternoon vocational classes have.

APPRECIATION

Last year the Self Culture Club gave a year's subscription to the National Geographic magazine to Junior High. We have appreciated and enjoyed this gift very much and shall be very sorry when this subscription expires.

ORIGINAL POETRY

The Fifth grade classes of Junior High school have been studying the use of words, such as did, done, came, comes, saw and seen. They have written rhymes illustrating these words. Some of the best follow:

The good little boy ran out in the lane,
 And played in the nice, cool April rain.—Johnnie B. Bellomy.

I have seen him somewhere before,
 I think I saw him near my door.—Harvey Hicks.

Mary Molder saw the tam
 That she had seen in Amsterdam.—Alice Womack.

I saw a baby playing,
 And although she could do no saying,
 I have seen some that could,
 Or rather, could if they would.—Nancy Price.

The woman did her washing,
 The children had done theirs, too.
 The man began his washing
 And finished with a "whew".—Freddie Watson.

Litts Jack Spider frightened a girl,
 The girl ran away with the greatest whirl.—Bobbie Lou Cooper.

As I came from school
 I asked him to come to the pool.—We'don Hunt.

Tommie said he had seen a doe,
 That he had seen long years ago.—Lucile Goss.

The sun has come up over the hill,
 When it came up it gave me a thrill.—Ross Glover.

I have seen a little man,
 Pictures?—Joe Cooper: "Naw, they make it so hard for my girl friend to hear what I am saying."

Bob King: "This blueberry pie looks awfully queer, honey!"
 Sidney T: "Oh dear, maybe I put in too much bluing."

The kitchen curtains were on fire and the fire was spreading rapidly.
 Frank Smith: "Why don't you put that fire out with that kettle of water on the stove?"
 Betsy Ann Page: "That won't do any good. It's hot water."

Red Morrison, seeing his friend working in the garden: "Aren't you afraid the birds will eat your seeds? You ought to put up a scarecrow!"
 Jack Cox: "Oh, its not worth it. There is always one of us in the garden."

Maxine D (to Lyda Mae Viles who has just had her first view of the Grand Canyon): "Now, for goodness sakes, don't tell me it was cute."
 L. M. V.: "Oh, don't be silly. It was far too ducky for that."

Miss Barrett: "Now Red can you give me a sentence using the word 'avail'?"
 Red Church: "Sure. The cops pinched the stag party because one of the ornamental dancers was dancing without a veil."

Four Ages
 1. High school freshman—wonders what its all about
 2. High school sophomore—sure the world waits for him.
 3. High school junior—sure the world depends on him.
 4. High school senior—wonders what its all about.

"My, but I am certainly getting a lot out of this course!" exclaimed Mummy Wallace as he walked home with five dollars worth of chemistry laboratory equipment in his pocket.

Who wore a funny little pan,
 I saw a little child,
 And she always wore a smile.
 —Doris Flo Doss.

I did have a dime,
 But it rolled on a line.
 Musette Haston.

When I came home I did a sum,
 And then I knew it was done.
 —Harriet Ann Pritchett.

I saw the moon come out tonight,
 And when it came I laughed out-right.—Sam Majors.

I did my lesson well,
 But I've done nothing more to tell.
 —Charles Nuckolls.

When Good English came out to play
 Bad English ran away.
 —Earnest Porter.

When the men came out to dance,
 All the ladies ran to France.
 —Inez Rogers.

Jackie said he saw the shoe,
 That was seen in eighteen-forty-two.
 —Catherine Slagel.

What did you do when your verse
 was done?
 Played with my friends and had some fun.—Catherine Slagel.

She saw the little bat,
 Which had seen the little rat.
 She did to the little bat,
 What was also done to the cat.
 —Beulah Frances Robinson.

"Thank Goodness, Jim,

COLD WEATHER NEVER DELAYS US!"

Ann: "Betty would be late on our first air trip, but as usual when it gets cold, it's to be expected." Jim: "You mean that temperature actually has an effect on her promptness?" Ann: "Yes, she is very prompt ordinarily—it's a case of car trouble in cold weather. Bill doesn't see that the difficulty is in his choice of gas and oil." Jim: "Well, Ann, you couldn't expect everybody to buy Conoco, could you?" Ann: "If everyone knew how Conoco oil and gasoline protect both you and your motor against the difficulties of cold weather driving they would!" Jim: "Guess I'd better get Bill on the phone and see what the delay is!" Ann: "Please do!"

Betty: "We had the most awful time, Ann! We were ready to leave in plenty of time, but when Bill tried to get the motor started, it wouldn't budge. After running down the battery he rolled the car out of the garage and got some one to push it till it started—and just in time. The car just doesn't seem to work right." Ann: "It isn't the car, Betty, it's the oil and gas Bill buys. Why don't you tell him to get Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil and Conoco Bronze Gasoline—they are more economical and have cold weather performance that gives us instant starting and 'Hidden Quart' protection." Betty: "I'm sold—and Bill will be too just as soon as I get to him!"

CONOCO at the sign of the Red Triangle

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because of the protective oiliness, called "The Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Instant Starting and Lightning Pick-up can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting it cannot be equalled.
