Cowboys Beat Eagles

The Cowboys led by Shane McMinn's 135 yards on 24 carries broke a four game losing slump by defeating the Ropes Eagles 21-6 last Friday night.

The Cowboys may have made things a little hard on themselves by ruining two golden opportunities to put points on the board early in the first quarter. After failing to take advantage of Eagle turnovers, Plains allowed the Eagles to draw first blood. The Eagles drove 64 yards in 13 plays that was capped off by Brad Taylor who went in from eight yards out with 29 left in the second period to put Ropes up 6-0. On the PAT, Brad Taylor connected with Junior Mendez to add the two point conversion. After another Eagle fumble, Abel Rios managed to come up with the ball on Rope's 23 yard line. Two plays later Cowboy tailback Martin Barrientes went in from 10 yards with 3:00 remaining in the half. The PAT failed.

The second half was dominated by the Cowboy ground game. But the Cowboys didn't score until 8:43 of the final stanza that was caused again by an Eagle turnover that left the Cowboys on the Eagle one yard line.

One play later, Billy Spears banged in from one yard out to give the Cowboys the lead at 12-8. The Cowboys converted on the two point attempt when Spears again took it in from 3 yards to give the Cowboys a 14-8 cushion.

Spears scored again from one yard out with 2:49 left in the game destroying any hopes that Ropes might have had of a comeback. Bryan Baldwin added the extrapoint to leave it at 21-8 and sealing the Cowboy victory.

Plains is now 1-0 in district play and will be home to host one of the class teams in the district. The O'Donnell Eagles who are 1-0 in district action are undefeated for the year.

Hire The Farmers For Higher Profits

The Texas South Plains have been losing farmers at an alarming rate. The farm depression is caused by hail, drought, low cotton prices, high interest rates, expensive equipment, land prices, fuel, fertilizers and insecticides, etc. None of the above mentioned problems can be controlled by the farmer. The farmer is not in control of his/her destiny. Rather, 1986 will squeeze the farmer even more than before and those who are at the breaking point will break -- through bankruptcy, foreclosure or "voluntary" quitting.

The year 1987 is not predicted to be any better. Declining land values will make it more difficult for farmers to get operating loans next spring, so the January - April 1987 period will produce an upturn in the number of farmers going broke, either voluntarily or involuntarily. Negative rates of return for most products and very small positive rates of return for most others will mean that even for those farmers able to get loans and plant a crop, their equity will continue to be eroded until they too, go broke. No end is in sight until the farm economy turns around. As farmers continue to go broke, farm families face displacement from their homes and communities, suffer from declining population and economic activity. The South Plains Region, in particular, will face a rough few years, because it has some of the largest farm production in the State of Texas.

What can be done to assist these farmers? Farmers who have lost their farms and life savings don't need pity or sympathy! They need jobs and RIGHT NOW! If you are thinking about hiring in your business - hire a displaced farmer. They are honest, hardworking people, who can get the job done, whatever the task.

If you are a farmer who doesn't know where to turn - contact the Farmer's Assistance Center at South Plains Community Action Association, Inc. at 894-6104. If you own or operate a business and need people, give the Farmer's Assistance Center a call. They have extremely well qualified people for any job or can train a person on the job. Keep local people and dollars at home. HIRE FARMERS FOR HIGHER PROFITS!!

COMBEST COMMENTS

by Congressman Larry Combest

The United States Congress recently voted to overhaul the nation's federal tax code. This so-called "tax reform" legislation will ultimately impact each and every taxpaying citizen.

I voted against the bill and I would like to tell you why:

Tax reform was born with three basic goals in mind -- fairness, simplicity and economic growth. These are goals I share and have worked for since I was elected to Congress. Unfortunately in the 22 months that followed, this tax bill became the focus of too much political rhetoric and too little careful review.

Let me say from the beginning that there are portions of this legislation that I like. There is obvious good in tax law changes that reduce marginal tax rates and eliminate tax loopholes and special preferences. For us in West Texas, however, the good just doesn't outweigh the bad.

I visited with and heard from thousands of people in the 19th District in an attempt to have their input and thoughts about this tax bill. It became evident that Washington, D.C. was caught up in "tax reform euphoria" -- West Texas was not. From Dimmitt to Denver City, main-street merchants, farmers, oil producers and people from all walks of life expressed their fears and opposition to the bill.

I share this concern and believe the tax bill will unfairly penalize us in West Texas. We will lose our state and local sales tax deduction. Farmers lose their income averaging deduction, investment tax credits, and much of their farm equipment depreciation. Those planning for the future lose a sizable portion of their IRA deduction. And as consumers, we ultimately lose by paying higher prices when our shop keepers and store owners are forced to pass along their higher taxes.

Another frightening aspect of this tax reform legislation is that there are predictions and rumblings in Congress of raising the individual rates again in an effort to meet deficit reduction targets. Just one week before the House voted on the tax bill, House Ways and Means Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski (D-Ill) said, "We all know that we're going to raise taxes." Mr Rostenkowski did stop there, saying, "I have long been a strong proponent of tax increases to shrink the deficit" and "everyone knows we will eventually need a tax increase...the increase in revenue should come through higher, progressive rates on income."

Increasing individual tax rates on the heels of repealing individual deductions would result in individuals paying more taxes than ever before. I fear that this tax bill will make it easier to force even higher taxes on the American people. It echoes the old Democrat philosophy of tax and spend, tax and spend.

I do not believe that this tax legislation is the best that Congress can do. If we are ever going to truly reform our tax code we should do the job right. The American people expect more and we in West Texas deserve more from the United States Congress.

Commissioners' Court

Yoakum County Commissioners Court met in regular session Oct. 13.

The court approved a motion to advertise for bids to be received Nov. 3 for construction of an addition to Yoakum County Stock Barns in Plains.

The monthly report of taxes collected in September was accepted. At the request of Tax Assessor-Collector Wanda Smith, the court voted to raise the fee for copies of the Voter Registration List from $5 to $20.

Accepted for record was a letter from the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation advising the county that Yoakum County has 806 miles of county maintained roads. This figure or a maximum of 500 miles, whichever is less, shall be used by the county tax assessor-collector to compute distribution of registration fees collected in the 1987 calendar year.

Regular bills for September and extra hire were read and approved for payment. Minutes were approved.

In other action, the Court voted to re-advertise to receive bids Nov. 3 for the purchase of two new police special autos for the Sheriff's Department.

In special session Oct. 6, the Court heard Attorney Jerry Corbin and Criminal District Attorney Warren New regarding a bill which the County paid July 10 and 18 to Mickey Kennedy for re-roofing done at Yoakum County Park. Kennedy is now in bankruptcy proceedings. Den-Tex Lumber furnished roofing materials and have not been paid.

Corbin, representing Mickey and Den-Tex Lumber, made a verbal offer that Yoakum County pay half the outstanding bill made by Kennedy at Den-Tex Lumber, join with Den-Tex in hiring a bankruptcy attorney in trying to get Kennedy's case thrown out and split the cost down the middle. The decision was postponed for further study.

From The Superintendent's Desk

DEAN ANDREWS

This week it might be interesting to take a look at what is happening in other school districts around our state and nation. The following are items that have made news lately.

Superintendent of Royal I.S.D., Frank Jackson, was driving to work in darkness about 5:40 a.m., September 20, when he unwittingly drove his car across a collapsed bridge. Jackson was able to crawl out of the wreckage before dawn and walk nearly a half mile to warn school buses that he knew would soon begin to cross the bridge. Jackson was reported to have received facial lacerations and a bruised heart and lung.

"I saw the car and it was just totalled," said Royal High School principal Jim Davis. "He's lucky to be alive." The 50 ft. bridge supported high volumes of traffic in and out of the schools -- including school buses.

Kennedale Superintendent J.W. Teague has resigned reportedly because of a dispute with the district's teachers over a ban on beards and mustaches that hurt staff morale. Mr. Teague served as superintendent in Kennedale for 13 years. G.D. Cockerham was named interim superintendent.

Houston school board members have directed Superintendent Joan Raymond to develop alternatives to the longstanding practice of corporal punishment in the schools. Trustees reportedly are concerned that improper use of corporal punishment had caused problems. Raymond is opposed to the use of corporal punishment in the schools, but has said that her opposition does mean she will recommend its abolition.

A task force of 39 Hispanic educators and civic leaders presented a report to the Select Committee on Higher Education calling for extra funding for heavily Hispanic colleges to reverse a "shocking pattern" of neglect of higher education for Hispanics. The report calls for an increase in the number of Hispanic faculty members at colleges and universities, elimination of all policies that use standardized tests either as the sole criterion or as the most important criterion for admission to a state college, and establishment of a full supported comprehensive university in South Texas. "Educational opportunities for Hispanics have been, and continue to be, totally inadequate," the task force said.

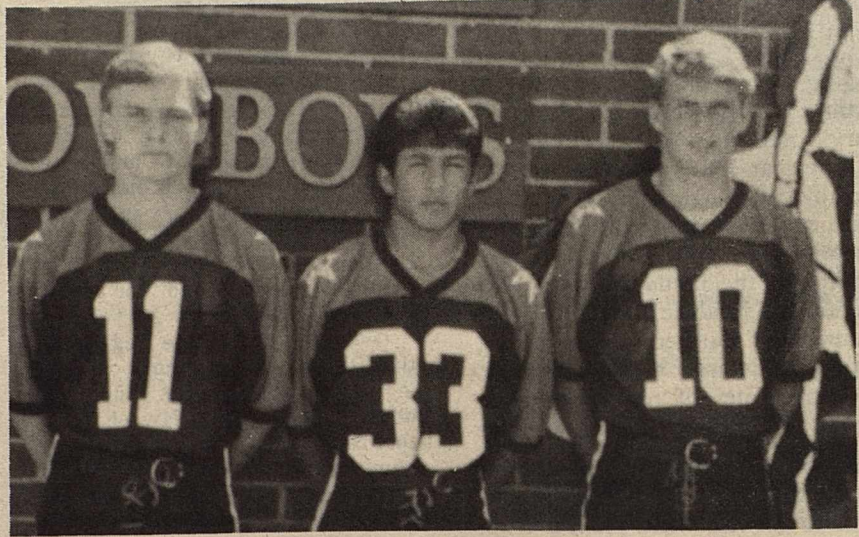

New directions for vocational education are still being discussed by the State Board Committee for Finance and Programs. At its July meeting, the committee considered presentations by the Advisory Council for Vocational-Technical Education in Texas. These materials were requested after the committee determined that the draft Master Plan for Vocational Education did not address committee concerns adequately. The committee directed staff and the ACVTE to draft a revised document that would integrate council recommendations and staff proposals, as appropriate, and identify remaining issues.

State Board member Emmett J. Conrad told a group in Dallas last week, "I think vocational education will be in for a very radical restructuring. A great deal of time and money is being spent on programs no longer germane to industry and technology."

And in Atlanta, GA., a federal judge has issued a preliminary injunction prohibiting a suburban high school from allowing prayers before football games or other athletic events in the school stadium. A father and his 18-year-old son sued to stop the pre-game prayers on the grounds that they violate constitutional separation of church and state.

Adequate Fiber Is 'Not Just Bran'

To listen to television commercials or read the magazine ads, you would think the only way to get adequate fiber in your diet is to eat bran cereal and fiber supplements.

In fact, legumes and some fruits and vegetables supply more dietary fiber per serving than bran cereal. One cup of bran flakes cereal contains about five grams of fiber, while one tablespoon of the average fiber supplement contains about one gram. By comparison, 1/3 c baked beans contains seven grams and 1/2 c stewed prunes has 8 grams fiber.

Kidney beans, red beans, dried fruits and nuts and fresh fruits and vegetables are all excellent sources of fiber. Eating the skins of fruits or vegetables when possible will also increase your fiber intake.

The new Dietary Guidelines for Americans, published this year by U.S. Department of Agriculture and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, recommend that we eat foods with adequate starch and fiber.
