Schools To Observe 'Open House' Nov. 10

by Stacy Smith
TT Journalism Student

The Plains School system is an important and active force in the Plains community.

School Superintendent Dean Andrews said he believes the school is involved in the lives of many Plains residents.

"We touch the lives of everyone who has children in school," he said, "And our athletic activities are extensive and the whole community becomes involved."

"Open House" has been set for Thursday, Nov. 10 at Plains Independent Schools. Parents and students are encouraged to visit the school facilities between the hours of 6 and 8 p.m.

Andrews said academics is the mainstay of the school. "We're in the top 25 percent as far as academic achievement -- we're well-rounded and our strength is in academic areas."

The elementary, junior high and high school, the latter which was built in 1953, are in excellent condition thanks to extensive renovation and maintenance.

There are computer labs in all three schools with the most impressive one being in the junior high, Andrews said. This computer lab is equipped with 18 Apple II E's, each with its own printer.

In addition, the school has a radio and television station. The radio station subscribes to the Associated Press wire service and broadcasts from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m. on school days.

The school also has three gymnasiums, a football stadium and an Olympic-sized swimming pool.

The largest gym seats 1,600 people and the football stadium, valued at $250,000 seats 1,800 people.

In addition to the educational and athletic facilities, the school provides students with free lunches every school day and provides the students with accident insurance.

The employees are well taken care of and Plains schools go out of their way to attract good educators, Andrews said.

The school district provides health insurance for teachers and their families and gives them $100 a month for housing or provides them with a house, in addition to the salary, he said.

Plains teachers are paid about $7,000 more than the average statewide salary.

According to Andrews, all the employees are important. "We think the people that clean this office are as important as anybody who works here," Andrews said.

Ninety-two percent of the school budget comes from local mineral taxes, the other eight percent comes from state and federal monies.

The school is using an innovative teaching program, the Ti-In Network. Andrews said, "Ti-In courses are offered via satellite to small school districts to meet the needs of students desiring to take classes we don't have teachers for."

In December, junior high performers will take to the stage in "The Little Mermaid," when the junior high features its Dinner Theatre.

The spaghetti dinner is slated for Dec. 1 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m.

The school is encouraging further community involvement by offering community education courses, Andrews said, and most classes are open to anyone interested, and senior citizens receive a discount on course fees.

The school provides the facility at no cost and the fees that are collected are used to pay the instructors.

The adult basic education program - a GED preparation course - is offered at no cost and includes books and materials.

County Child Welfare Board Receives Gift From Shell Oil

Peggy Squyres, chairman of the Yoakum County Child Welfare Board, recently received a check in the amount of $1000 from Shell Oil Company Foundation for the organization.

Mrs. Squyres accepted the check Friday, Oct. 28 from Mr. Johnny Dodd, South Wasson Production foreman. James Sage, North Wasson Production foreman submitted the county welfare board to Shell and encouraged the follow-up. Present during the presentation were Homer Inlow, plant superintendent and Charlie Mann, Denver City unit operations foreman.

Mrs. Squyres said, "I was thrilled to accept the check on behalf of the Child Welfare Board. This allows us the luxury of a dream that has been in the back of our minds for a couple of years."

The check will be deposited in a savings account, specified as a scholarship fund. In addition to providing clothes, shelter, food and medical needs, the Board may now offer foster kids a future.

"We can enroll them in college or a trade school, wherever they are best suited. When these children reach 18 years of age, we do not want them simply turned out into the world unprepared." Mrs. Squyres said.

"The difficult circumstances of their lives are not their fault. In using this scholarship fund with any grants they may be eligible for, then they will have a fighting chance for a better life. Hopefully we can break the cycle of abuse and neglect created in these families."

In the future, the Board plans to have at least one fund raiser a year especially for the scholarship fund.

Each member of the Child Welfare Board expressed their appreciation to Mr. James Sage for his support and his encouragement to the Shell Oil Company Foundation on behalf of the board.

Trick Or Treaters Hit Plains Monday

by John C. Kraus
TT Journalism Student

Hundreds of children celebrated Halloween in Plains last Monday.

Perry Ham, who gave away treats during the haunted evening, said over 200 children were out knocking on doors.

The most popular costumes of the night were those of vampires, said Kipp Blount, a trick-or-treater. Other widely seen costumes included the traditional witches, clowns and super heroes. Some of the more unusual getups, Blount said, included a parrot, a pig and a pumpkin portrayed by Blount's sister Chelsea.

Ham said his nephew, Kory Ham, who was helping to distribute the candy, was having more fun giving out the treats than receiving them. Blount said his favorite part of Halloween is the trick rather than the treat. "It's fun to scare people," Blount said.

In addition to children, many houses were dressed up. Kevin and Kay Guetersloh's home was decorated with a witch, a ghost, a pumpkin and a giant spider complete with web.

All Hallows' Eve, Halloween, was established by the early Celts as a festival for the dead. They thought that the night before All Saints' Day, witches and warlocks would come out. The Celts would build bonfires on All Hallows' Eve to ward off all the evil spirits.

But now, Lloyd Doggett's back, this time running for the Texas Supreme Court. Again, his qualifications just don't add up. Good thing we have a qualified choice: one of Texas' most honored judges, Justice Paul Murphy. Experience? He serves on our 14th Court of Appeals with 7 1/2 years of judicial experience. He has authored over 700 judicial opinions. His colleagues have rated Paul Murphy one of the best justices in Texas. Integrity and experience for the Texas Supreme Court.

TWO THINGS TEXANS DON'T LIKE ARE BAD HIGHWAYS AND BROKEN PROMISES.

The money we send to Washington every time we fill up our cars comes back to Texas. The government promises that this money will be spent to build, repair and maintain our highways.

Diverting those Federal Highway Trust dollars to some other purpose could devastate our highway system for years to come.

- It would halt vital road construction;
- Cancel needed safety improvement;
- End repairs to roads and bridges.

Texas can stop this threat by voting for Proposition One which makes certain that highway dollars are spent on highways. Let's keep the promise to Texans.

On Election Day look at the bottom of your ballot and find Proposition One, the Highway Amendment. Proposition One continues the Texas plan for good jobs, economic growth and safe roads without raising taxes and most importantly . . . keeps your family safe.

A lot is riding on the promise of good Texas roads.

Keep highway money for highways and the jobs they create. Proposition One is endorsed by the Texas Highway Commissioners, local and state-wide officials of both political parties, and hundreds of civic groups because they know that building good roads keeps Texas moving.

Keep Texas Moving.

Dukakis/Bentsen On Stopping Drugs.

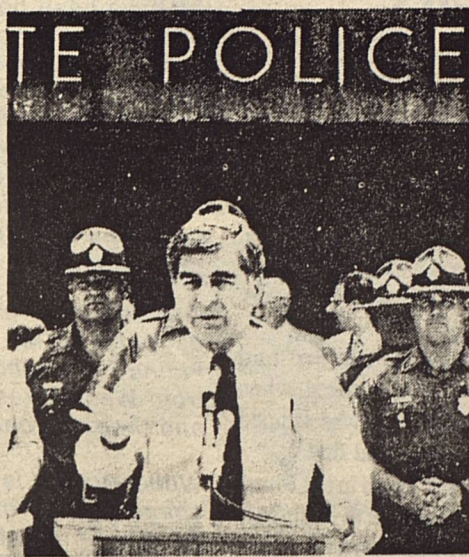

"Drug abuse strikes at the very heart of America. It threatens to cripple a generation of young people. It's time to fight a real war—not a phony war—on drugs."

Time for action. For seven years, the Republicans have been urging us to "just say no" to drugs, while they've said "yes" to a gun-running, drug-peddling Panamanian dictator. The Administration has given us tough talk while it's slashed millions of dollars for drug enforcement and education programs. Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen won't just talk. They'll act.

Tough leadership. America needs an expert whose sole responsibility will be to lead the war on drugs. Mike Dukakis will appoint an Anti-Drug Czar to lead a National Alliance Against Drugs and oversee our drug enforcement, rehabilitation and education efforts.

Kick the habit. The Dukakis/Bentsen team will restore our commitment to local drug treatment and rehabilitation programs to help those who want to kick the habit. They'll declare a war on illegal prescription drugs.

Law enforcement. Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen will give law enforcement officials the equipment and support they need to fight drugs. They'll improve Federal cooperation with state and local officials to gather intelligence and stop the drug trade. And they'll require drug traffickers to pay for the war on drugs through laws that force them to forfeit illegal profits.

Stemming the tide. Michael Dukakis will fight drugs at their source. He'll cut off foreign aid to governments that refuse to work with us in the war on drugs. He'll forbid our government from giving a dime to drug-dealing officials like Noriega—unless it's to put other drug dealers away. He'll provide incentives and special help to countries that prove they're serious about fighting drugs. And he'll authorize our armed forces, under appropriate circumstances, to help foreign governments eradicate drug crops and processing laboratories within their borders.

Strengthen our borders. The Republicans brought deep cuts in funding for the Customs Service and the Coast Guard, reducing the number of Coast Guard personnel by 2,000 since 1981. The Dukakis/Bentsen team will protect our coastlines by giving the Coast Guard, Customs Service and Drug Enforcement Administration the support they need to stop drugs from pouring into our country.

The Dukakis/Bentsen Record

- As Governor, Mike Dukakis helped Massachusetts high school seniors cut illegal drug use by twice the national average; cocaine and crack use have fallen by five times the national average.
- Mike Dukakis fought crime with tough enforcement and mandatory minimum sentences; five times as many drug offenders were sent to prison in 1987 as in 1983.

- Mike Dukakis built one of the nation's best drug education programs. His Alliance Against Drugs brings together students, teachers, parents, and law-enforcement officials to fight drugs in schools.
- Lloyd Bentsen vigorously supported the omnibus anti-drug abuse bill, which stiffened penalties for drug offenses and increased federal resources for drug education and treatment.

Fight a real war on drugs. Vote Dukakis/Bentsen.

We have been bombarding recently with a media blitz concerning the forthcoming election. We do urge everyone to vote. The freedom to select our government leaders is one of the most cherished rights that we have. I feel it is important that we look at each individual running for office from the President of the United States to state and local officials, and then vote for those who most nearly reflect our ideas and beliefs. Please vote in the upcoming election, it is our responsibility as citizens of this great country.

Amendment No.3: Texas Growth Fund, is one that should be looked at very carefully. (SEE AMENDMENT NO. 3 ON THIS PAGE)

Our featured ex-student this week is Juanita Walker Frazier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Walker. Juanita graduated from Plains High School in 1968 and received a Bachelor of Arts degree from West Texas State University in 1972. Nita, her husband Dale, and their two children Cody and D'Lane, now live in Belton, Texas.

While Juanita is currently employed as a legal secretary, she also spends much of her time writing poems and children's stories. Several of her stories have been published in JACK AND JILL and YOUNG AMERICA magazines, and also in HOB NOB published by Mildred K. Henderson. Many of her poems have appeared in A DIFFERENT DRUMMER published by Samuel Evins Brown, and OUR WORLD'S MOST BELOVED POEMS published by John Campbell.

Lewis and Viola Walker's other children also graduated from Plains Schools, Robin in 1972, and Lori Walker Hinkle in 1981. Robin now lives in Portales, New Mexico, and Lori in Nashville, Tennessee.

AMENDMENT NO. 3

House Joint Resolution 5, 70th Legislature, 2nd Called Session, proposing a constitutional amendment relating to the establishment of the Texas growth fund and the investment of certain state funds in businesses in the state.

The proposed amendment is designed to provide an alternate source of capital for businesses having difficulty obtaining financing from traditional sources of investment. The amendment creates the Texas growth fund to provide a pool of money from which those businesses may receive financing. Money in the Texas growth fund comes from investments made by the governing boards of the permanent university fund, the permanent school fund, the Teacher Retirement System of Texas, the Employees Retirement System of Texas, and any other pension system created by state law. Not more than one percent of the value of the assets of any of these funds may be placed in the Texas growth fund. The Texas growth fund is managed by a board of directors consisting of four appointees of the governor and representatives of the funds and retirement systems permitted to invest in the Texas growth fund.

Profits from investments of the Texas growth fund are distributed to the funds and systems that invested in the Texas growth fund in proportion to the amount of their investments.

The Texas growth fund is to be phased out 10 years after it is created. If the legislature wishes it may then create the Texas growth fund II to operate in the same manner as the Texas growth fund for an additional 10-year period.

There is no related enabling legislation.

ARGUMENTS

FOR:

1. Many new ideas go to waste, and beneficial new products and methods are never developed, because financing for the ideas, products, and methods cannot be obtained from traditional sources. The state is obligated to its citizens to prevent the loss of these potential enhancements to the quality of life.

2. The proposed amendment would foster the recovery of the state's economy by increasing the number of enterprises operating in the state. This would decrease unemployment and increase state tax revenue.

3. In the past the state has been dependent on the oil industry, and the decline of that industry has had a severe effect on the state. The proposed amendment would support development of businesses in many different areas, and this diversification of the state's economy would protect the state from rising or falling on the fortunes of a single industry.

AGAINST:

1. Adequate private sources of financing exist for worthy ventures. It is not necessary or desirable for the state to invest in ventures that experienced private investors have examined and rejected.

2. Money to be used for the proposed investments is held by the state for the benefit of its students and retired employees. The state is obligated to protect those persons' contributions and not to make risky investments.

3. The development of private business is not a proper purpose of state government. Financially aiding that development contravenes the long-standing state policy against use of public funds to benefit private entities.

MIKE DUKAKIS ★ AND ★ LLOYD BENTSEN

Dukakis Bentsen On Rural America.

"I want to measure my success by the number of family farms saved, rural businesses re-opened, rural schools and communities that thrive, and by the number of children who can make a life for themselves in their hometowns."

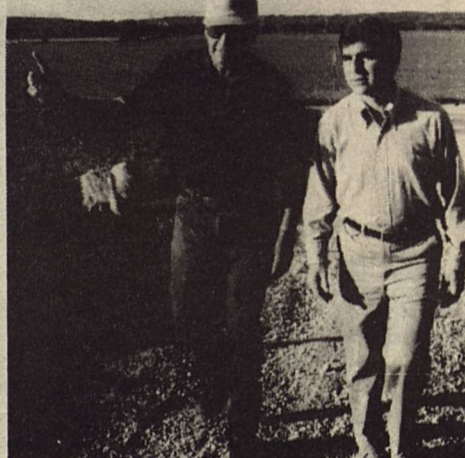

End the assault. In the last eight years, the Republicans have savaged the family farmer—while giving conglomerates billions in aid. They've gutted farm programs and forced prices down through the floor. Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen know they must stop the assault—and give rural America a helping hand in Washington.

Fair prices, fair deal.

The Dukakis/Bentsen team knows that family farmers need fair prices that cover the cost of production and give them a decent return on their investment. Our farm policy must include a combination of supply management and reasonable price supports to help farmers make a living from the land.

Good credit. The Dukakis/Bentsen team supports debt restructuring to help producers stay on the land, protection for borrowers, and local input in farm credit policies. They'll also curb the runaway Federal deficits that drive interest rates up.

New uses. Innovative new uses of farm commodities can create jobs, boost small business and promote the diversity of our rural economy. That means expanding applied research, as Senator Harkin has suggested; giving ethanol a leading role in our nation's fuel security policy; and sharing our bounty with those in need at home and overseas.

Protecting our land.

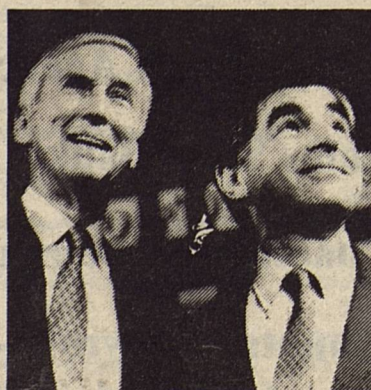

The Dukakis/Bentsen team is ready to protect our nation's heartland. Their plan includes: expansion of the Conservation Reserve Program; fair enforcement of the sodbuster, swampbuster and conservation provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill; and protection of our groundwater from dangerous pollutants.

Farms for farmers.

The Dukakis/Bentsen team, will make every effort to put repossessed farmland back in family hands, especially young and minority families who want to start or return to farming. That means enforcing FMHA requirements on the right of first refusal for current and former family farm owners.

Rural community. While Republicans stand silent as small towns decline, Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen have plans to revitalize rural America. They'll invest in a strategic fund to help regions and towns that need help and improve access to quality health care and top-notch housing.

The Dukakis/Bentsen Record

Mike Dukakis and Lloyd Bentsen bring a half-century of public service to their quest for the White House. They're ready to bring prosperity home to every American in every region of the land.

Now in his third term as Governor of Massachusetts, Mike Dukakis is a proven leader. He's turned his state around—reviving communities, both small and large, that others had written off. He made sure his state's recovery spread beyond the suburban streets into every rural route.

"Agriculture affects everyone," Mike Dukakis says. "All Americans have a stake in the family farm. North and south, east and west, urban and rural—we're all in this together."

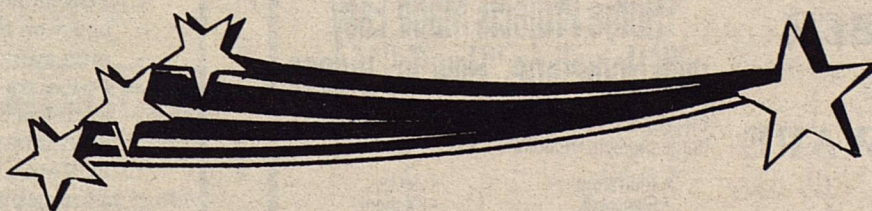

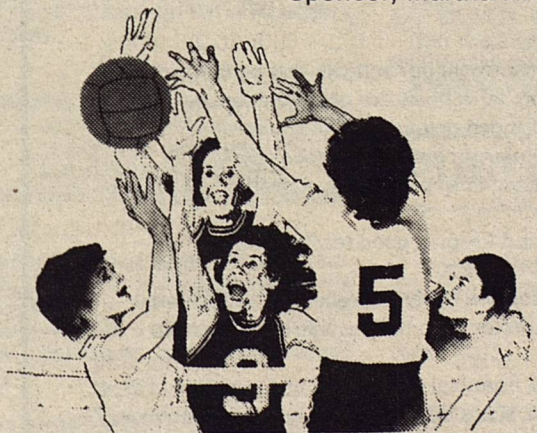

In three terms in the United States Senate, Lloyd Bentsen has established a record of strong leadership on economic development. He's led the fight to end unfair trade practices and develop innovative marketing programs. As Chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, he's fought to eliminate unfair taxes that burden America's family farmers.

Junior High One-Act Play Rehearsals Now Underway

Rehearsals are now underway for the Plains Junior High One-Act Play.

Tickets are now being sold for the dinner and performance and may be obtained from any cast or crew member.

The statue of the Little Mermaid rising out of the waters of Copenhagen Harbor stands as a mute testimonial to the universal appeal of Hans Christian Andersen's most beloved heroine - The Princess from the bottom of the sea who gave up her glorious voice to exchange her mermaid's tail for a pair of human legs, and ultimately her life for love.

The play will be presented in competition at Plains High School auditorium Dec. 5 beginning at 1 p.m.

Cast members are Darce Pierce, Little Mermaid; Amy Crutcher, Helga; Jennifer Earnest, Katrina; Jennifer Cowart, Linda; Stacey Jones, Katya; Tracy Bearden, King Oceanus; Kimberly McClure, Witch of the Cauldron; Chase Clanahan, Urchin #1; Brad Seaton, Urchin #2; Blaine McWhirter, Prince; Brian Wilson, Dancing Master; Jennifer Day, Princess; and Misti Willett, girl on the ship.
