From The Superintendent's Desk

Dean Andrews

This time of year is a very frustrating one for a superintendent. It is the time when there are so many unknowns as we try to plan for the coming year. Personnel, budget, maintenance, and projecting the number of students arriving for school in August, are all concerns.

We are losing some fine personnel to other school districts. John and Reta Nance will be leaving us for Cedar High I.S.D., Joyce Moore will go to Lubbock Cooper, and Vicki Kight to Seminole. Their contribution to Plains I.S.D. has been outstanding. We wish each of these fine teachers the very best as they assume their new positions. They will be missed at Plains I.S.D.

We are actively seeking replacements for the positions that are open. The Board of Trustees has already employed four new teachers for the 1990-91 school year. They are: Bill Mays, Sara Ybanez, Kelley Clay, and Mary Jane Crawford.

In budget building, we not only look at the 1990-91 school year but also project needs for equipment, transportation and facilities for the next few years. Our school board will review budget proposals during the next month and will adopt a budget and set a tax rate in August.

Our goal, as always, is to provide the very best for the students of Plains I.S.D.

Baseball Results

Baseball action June 11 found the Royals winning their first game of the season in a 14-11 victory over the Indians. It was the Indians first loss.

The second game of the evening, a minor league outing, was re-scheduled for July 5 because of a shortage of players on both teams.

Tuesday afternoon, the T-Ball League saw the Royals in their second win of the season as they whipped the Dodgers 30-20.

Major League play pitted the Cowboys against the Red Sox with the Cowboys rallying for their first victory of the season, a 15-14 win. The Cowboys scored 10 in the fifth inning.

Arthur Hernandez and Wayne Willett pitched 3 innings each for the Cowboys and combined for 10 strikeouts. J.T. Peeples collected 11 strikeouts in 5 innings for the Red Sox. Ralph Ramirez homered over center field fence in the third inning for the Red Sox.

Play June 14 found the Dodgers outlasting the Indians 23-22 in T-Ball action.

In Minor League play, the Athletics bested the Cardinals 13-2. Jamie Caballero went the distance for the winners, getting 11 strikeouts. Steven Bunch and Roy Ramirez manned the mound for the Cardinals.

Time ran out on the Major Leaguers with the Rangers and Cowboys knotted at 9-9. A new rule this year states that a new inning cannot begin after 10 p.m. so the game was slated to be finished at 9:30 a.m. Saturday. Saturday, the Rangers scored 2 runs in the top of the sixth inning and held the Cowboys in their half to take the win, 11-9.

Hormone-Herbicide Damages Cotton

Hormone-type herbicides are very effective in the control of many annual and perennial species of broadleaf weeds in pastures, non-crop areas and fields planted to crops tolerant to these chemicals. Unfortunately, broadleaf crops such as cotton and soybeans are susceptible to these chemicals and may be damaged by spray drift when these herbicides are not applied properly.

SYMPTOMS - The hormone-type herbicides can cause several types of injury symptoms in the cotton plant. The most common symptoms are "strapping" and "cupping" of the leaves which impart somewhat of an okra-leaf appearance to the plant. Injury during the squaring stage frequently causes the square bracts to be malformed and abnormally long.

Drift injury during the flowering and early boll development stage often results in flowers with fused petals and deformed or aborted reproductive structures. The bolls may be elongated or otherwise malformed and flat-sided due to poor pollination. It's not uncommon for heavily affected plants to exhibit enlarged, thickened or gnarled tissue in the root-stem zone and for the taproots to be swollen and cracked.

EXTENT OF INJURY - The extent of injury to cotton is closely associated with the type of herbicide involved, rate of herbicide deposited on the plants, and stage of growth at the time of exposure to the chemical.

In studying the response of cotton to several hormone-type herbicides, Drs. D.T. Smith and A.F. Wiese, Weed Scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, showed that 2, 4-D causes more injury to cotton than 2, 4, 5-T, MCPA, silvex or banvel (dicamba). Foliar symptoms were readily apparent when cotton plants were treated with as little as 0.01 pounds-per acre of the hormone-type herbicides. Injury during the early-square stage resulted in the greatest yield reductions. Less herbicide damage (both symptoms and yield loss) was reported when exposure occurred

Commissioners' Court

Yoakum County Commissioners' Court met in special session Monday. All members were present.

Gary Six, county executive director of the local ASCS office, reported on the recent trip of his staff to Washington, D.C. to receive a service to agriculture award. He also requested a letter be drafted to the governor from the Commissioners' Court asking that Yoakum County be declared a drought disaster area.

A letter was read by Judge Dallas Brewer from Texas Association of Counties Unemployment Compensation Fund announcing a refund for Yoakum County's contribution in excess of a one-year reserve requirement for each fund member. The refund, totaling $11,202.43 should be mailed in July.

after cotton bloomed and bolls were already developing.

EARLY EVALUATIONS DIFFICULT - The effects of hormone-type herbicide injury on crop maturity, lint yield and fiber and seed quality are difficult to determine with any degree of accuracy. Presently, there is no reliable method for establishing the potential yield or quality loss immediately after symptoms appear. However, certain observations may help allay some of the fears associated with initial finding of deformed plants in the field.

If the damage symptoms appear on scattered plants in all or some portion of a field, the drift dosage was probably quite low and damage will be minimal. Also, if damage symptoms are evident on 1 or 2 fully expanded leaves, but the new leaves in the terminal are normal, crop damage is apt to be quite small.

On the other hand, when all plants in a given field or area show foliar symptoms on both older leaves and new growth, the potential for delayed maturity and reduced yields exists. Again, accurate damage assessments at this time are difficult because the herbicide effects can be modified (enhanced or reduced) by subsequent growing conditions.

Call the County Extension Office for more information. Telephone: 456-2263.
