Less Than Two-Thirds Runnels Farmers Favored Cotton Marketing Quotas

Less than two-thirds of the total number of farmers voting in Tuesday's cotton quota elections in Runnels County are in favor of marketing quotas on the 1962 crop, results of the voting indicated. This report came from the ASCS office in Ballinger. Office personnel said that voting was light.

Results show that of 276 farmers (and wives) voting in the election, only 176 favored quotas on next year's crop; 100 voted against the quotas.

However, quotas will be in effect on the 1962 cotton crop because of the nationwide results of the election in which only eligible cotton producers participated. If two-thirds of the eligible cotton producers favor marketing quotas on next year's crop, price support will be available to growers who comply with their allotments at the full level of effective supports. This support will be in the range of from 65 to 90 percent of parity. Personnel at the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in Ballinger said the question apparently carried, nationwide.

If two-thirds had failed to support quotas then the 1962 support price would have been 50 percent of parity.

Regardless of how farmers voted Tuesday, acreage allotments will be in effect on the 1962 crop, it was reported. Under existing law, the Secretary of Agriculture was required to proclaim a national allotment acreage.

It has been set at 18,101,718 acres, two percent below the 1961 crop. This 18.1 million includes an allocation of 100,000 acres from the national acreage reserve to take care of minimum farm allotments.

Following are results of Tuesday's election, by boxes:

The adult choir of St. John's Lutheran Church will present its annual Christmas Cantata as a Sunday morning worship service Sunday, Dec. 17, beginning at 10:40.

The cantata, "Song of the Holy Night," is based on the theme of "Silent Night, Holy Night." The group has added some special numbers, "What Child Is This?", a traditional English song, "Gloria," a French carol, and "O Come Little Children," sung in German.

The cantata is under the direction of Miss Estella Bredemeyer and Miss Emma Henniger of Hatchell is the organist.

Participating in the cantata will be Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Adami, Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Ueckert, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Andrae, Mrs. Louis Ernst, Mrs. Erwin Ray Wessels, Mrs. L. E. Jacob, Mrs. W. F. Minzenmayer, Mrs. L. R. Hoppe, Miss Jeanita Whittenburg, Miss Minnie Belitz, Miss Lynn Kruse, Louis Simpson, Keith Ueckert, Erwin Henniger and Allen Andrae.

Stockmen Declare War On Screwworm; Runnels Residents Asked To Help In Fight

Texas stockmen have declared war on the screwworm, and calls have gone out to all stock raisers in Runnels County to join in this fight to eradicate this No. 1 pest of the livestock industry.

Leaders in the livestock industry of the county, members of farm and ranch organizations, and Runnels County Agent C. T. Parker this week called on stock raisers in the county to join this voluntary fight to rid the country of the screwworm. This can be done by contributing to the fund being collected to build laboratories and do research work on the problem.

The program is being sponsored by the Southwest Animal Health Research Foundation.

To finance the eradication program, livestock producers are being asked to contribute on the basis of 50 cents per head for adult cows, horses and steers, and ten cents per head for sheep, goats and swine.

Stockmen may leave their contribution at any bank in the county, or with any vocational agriculture teacher. They also may send it to the County Agent.

This is one of the few programs of this sort to be run entirely by the people themselves, Parker said. No person working on the program will draw salaries, he said. The scientists who will do the laboratory work are paid by the federal government, but no other help will be received, outside the contributions raised by the stockmen themselves.

The program as planned for Texas is based on a similar program undertaken with much suc-

Babson Reviews Economical Trends of 1961, and Appears Optimistic For '62

In any review of this sort, I must mention the Federal Reserve Index of Industrial Production. This Index averaged 108 for 1960, and according to my estimate 1961 should average higher, around 109. This barometer measures only physical volume of production. The government issues another figure which is a measure of dollar values and includes services and miscellaneous businesses as well as factory output. This figure, the Gross National Product, averaged $504 billion in 1960, and I estimate it will average around $522 billion for 1961.

Personal Income

Notwithstanding the recession which extended into early 1961, personal income not only held up very well this year, but advanced above 1960. This figure concerns every reader of this column, and recognizes what was lost by the automobile workers and others affected by strikes. The more strikes, the less personal income.

Employment

Beginning in February of 1961, employment rose steadily, except for the auto strike period. With gradually rising employment and wages, 1961 will wind up with a good record for 1962 to shoot at. We hope this will mean an increase in advertising, which should benefit newspapers as well as retailers.

Retail Trade

Retail trade has been fairly good during 1961, even though sales did not rise commensurate with the climb in personal income. What housewives did not spend they used to build up savings accounts or reduce installment loans. Therefore, consumers should enter 1962 with a good foundation.

New Building

New building increased through most of the first half of 1961, but lost steam later in the year. This lack of follow-up strength was due to increasing vacancies of houses for rent and sale, plus the fundamental downward trend in the cycle of family formation. Unlike food or gasoline, new houses are not consumed; hence they accumulate in case of overbuilding.

Commodity Market

The Bureau of Labor's Wholesale Price Index has been narrowly irregular all during 1961. Prices for agricultural and primary commodities have moved only moderately upward. Hence, farmers and producers of raw materials have not fared so well, profitwise, in 1961 as have manufacturers. A stronger upturn in commodity prices must occur in 1962, if the business uptrend is to be extended.

Stock Market

As we have heretofore explained, there are three Dow-Jones Averages. The first, which most people watch, is the Industrial Stock Average. This started 1961 at 610, its low for the year, and at this writing is around 730. The second D-J Average is that of railroad stocks. This Rail Average was indecisive until the closing months of the year when it worked moderately higher. There are comparatively fewer shares of railroad stocks in this Average and comparatively fewer shares of stock outstanding. Hence, manipulators have a better chance of playing their game with the rail stocks. This Average opened 1961 at 131 and at this writing is 147. The third of the Dow-Jones Averages is the Utility Average; this has gone up almost steadily.

Government Spending

Unfortunately, all of these seven aspects of the economy are very dependent upon government spending. This has been primarily for defense, and it seems indirectly to affect every reader of this column. Government spending for goods and services should average around $109 billion for 1961, which exceeds that of World War I, World War II, or the Korean War. I doubt if any reader of this column will ever witness total disarmament; but I do believe that there will be some international foolproof agreement against the use of nuclear weapons. This could cause a sudden decline in the income of manufacturers, retailers, employees, and of almost every reader of this column.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Can't tell yet whether my son will follow in his Dad's footsteps. Blocks don't make an engineer.

But he's learning some of the basic principles of physics with which many professions deal.

On the way home from Church, when he talks about his lesson, I recognize familiar signs . . . character is still in the mold. Deep conviction, bold dedication come later. But he's grasping those basic truths on which great living rises.

For a busy engineer who used to be hit-or-miss in his church attendance, fostering the growth of a soul is a fascinating experience . . . especially as I find my own faith deepening with every reverent day!

Can't tell about his following my footsteps. But I've discovered new dimensions in life following his.

ADDED EMPHASIS—Adding a vivid exclamation point to these two "think" signs, an overturned truck lies beside the road in Wichita, Kan. The driver was injured.

IT'S THE LAW—IN TEXAS

Tom and Jane, a young married couple, were going to have a baby. Tom was a hard working young man, but he had not had enough time to save money for a down payment on a house. Their present apartment was not large enough for him and Jane, as well as the baby, so he began to look around for another place to rent.

Rental houses were hard to find but Tom managed to locate one that suited his budget. It was old and in poor repair. The owner told Tom that he could have the house on a two-year lease if he would "fix it up." So Tom painted the place, both inside and out, and made all of the necessary repairs. He even fixed up the old fireplace in the living room and built a small patio in the back yard. In a few weeks the house was ready for his family, complete with a room for the expected baby.

Three months after Tom and Jane had moved in, they received notice to move out. The owner had sold the house. Only then did Tom begin to think about his legal rights. Could the landlord do this to him? After all, hadn't he told Tom that he could have a two-year lease?

Tom began thinking too late. He found out, to his sorrow, that no mere verbal understanding would hold up in a case like this. Only written leases would be effective for such a long term rental.

A lease is a contract between the landlord and the tenant. As part of the contract, the parties may agree on any terms and provisions they desire. The landlord has the right to impose almost any conditions he wants, and if the tenant accepts he is bound thereby. To interpret any lease, you must study its terms, to see what has been agreed to. Being a contract, it is binding upon both parties. That is why in such situations the renter should have a written lease.

In this case, Tom may be able to collect a reasonable value for the improvements he made to the house, but he cannot force the landlord to keep him as a tenant. He will have to look for another place for his family.

Is there anything on this earth, from squalling triplets to fresh garbage, or from new-mown hay to barrels of beer, that hasn't been loaded into a station wagon and moved?

Producing Quality Peaches Is A Year-Round Job

Texas peach growers work the year-round at the job of producing fruit of the highest possible quality. They do not always get full cooperation from nature, and diseases, points out Harlan Smith, extension plant pathologist, are a constant threat which must be reckoned with.

One of these diseases is peach bacterial spot and it must be controlled with special sprays applied during the dormant season if high quality peaches are to be marketed next year, says Smith. The bacteria which causes the disease overwinter in cankers from last summer's infection.

Not later than two weeks after the first good killing frost, severe enough to cause considerable leaf drop, the control chemicals should be applied, advises Smith.

Four pounds of copper sulfate (bluestone) per 100 gallons of water should be applied to the trees and followed the same day—allow at least an hour interval by spray containing four pounds of hydrated lime in 100 gallons of water. The second spray is essential, Smith says, because copper sulfate is toxic to living trees and lime must be applied to neutralize the effect of the copper. The lime spray also controls peach leaf curl.

Peach bacterial spot appears on the leaves of infected trees in the spring as pale green spots which soon turn dark. Leaf infection, Smith explains, causes serious loss of leaves which weakens the tree and makes it more susceptible to other diseases. The peaches from diseased trees are small and covered with circular, sunken spots which later crack and provide entry for brown rot, another damaging disease of the peach orchard.

Smith suggests that peach growers obtain from the local county agent a copy of MP-283, "Peach and Plum Diseases" and that he be contacted for other information on practices which will improve the quantity and quality of peaches

Diamond Bessie's Grave—"Diamond Bessie" now lies in a well-marked, fenced grave in the cemetery at Jefferson, Texas, in the northeast part of the state. This beautiful, well dressed, and be-diamonded woman was found murdered near Jefferson only a few days after her marriage to a Rothschild. Rothschild destroyed one eye in a suicide attempt, on being charged with her murder. He was twice convicted of first-degree murder, but twice freed by a reversal from a higher court. The trial lasted seven years.

"The Curse of the Werewolf"

A dynamic young man, Oliver Reed, at the age of 22, is already being heralded as a modern Lon Chaney of the screen after his first leading role in "The Curse of the Werewolf," which will be chilling the spines of movie-goers at the State Theatre beginning on Friday.

The meteoric rise to fame of the youthful English performer, which took him from door bouncer in a London night club to stardom in this unusual screen thriller, has happened in less than five years.

Reed plays the part of the werewolf—half man and half wolf—in Hammer Films' "The Curse of the Werewolf," made in color, and released by Universal-International.

For a long time producer Anthony Hinds and director Terence Fisher had been searching for an actor who could look really ferocious, scowl thunderously and snarl terrifyingly. And they got their frightening character, thanks to a natural acting ability and fantastically horrifying make-up, in the person of Oliver Reed.

"The Trapp Family"

A joyous combination of song, humor, suspense and warm family life, "The Trapp Family," 20th Century-Fox DeLuxe Color release, shows Sunday only at the State Theatre, bringing to film audiences for the first time the music that enchanted all America when the original young Trapp songsters were traveling with their talented mother on concert tours across the nation.

"Marines, Let's Go!"
CINEMA SCOPE
COLOR BY DE LUXE
TOM TYRON - DAVID HEDISON - TOM REESE
RAOUL WALSH - JOHN TWIST

Known throughout the world as one of the most unusual of choral performing groups, the Trapp family was for nearly 20 years the single most heavily booked attraction on the trans-U. S. concert circuit, averaging more than 125 in-person appearances from coast-to-coast each season, and their annual sold-out Christmas concerts at New York's Town Hall a part of the city's yuletide tradition. The 20th Century-Fox film version of their unique history and experiences becomes one of the season's most enchanting and memorable theatre offerings, making a box-office delight for audiences of all ages and family-style entertainment of the highest quality.

"Marines, Let's Go"

Following in the tradition of "Battle Cry" and "What Price Glory," Producer-Director Raoul Walsh has fashioned another virile wartime adventure about the lives, lusts, and loves of a group of fighting men on and off the battle field. The 20th Century-Fox CinemaScope DeLuxe Color comedy-drama, "Marines, Let's Go," starring a cast of new faces and young stars headed by Tom Tyron, David Hedison, Linda Hutchins, Barbara Stuart, Tim Reese, and William Tyler, opens Tuesday at the State Theatre.

For optimum realism, Walsh took his lively cast and cameras on location to Japan where the action was filmed. Scripted by John Twist from an original idea by Walsh, the story pursues a Marine platoon from the Korean battlefield through a brawling, rollicking furlough in occupied Japan and back to a bloody climatic assault against Chinese Communist forces. The escapades range from the hilarious exploits of Marines on the town to the tragedy of fleeting romances between battles. Walsh has captured the personal hopes, desires and frustrations of soldiers who want to have all the fun they can before the fighting begins again.

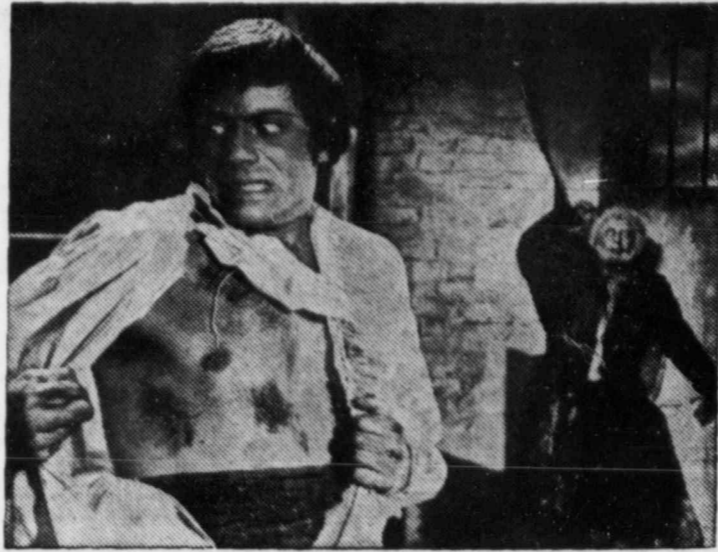

An Ideal Gift

The Christmas gift that most people want most of all today is peace on earth and more good will among men. Our country's world-wide efforts to help people better their standards of living and share more fully the blessings of their labor is in keeping with religious tradition to love and help our fellow man.

Such efforts today cost money, a great deal of money measured in millions of dollars. Money borrowed by our Government from the people through the Savings Bond — "the gift that keeps on giving," "Shares in America" — best helps underwrite our country's efforts to help other people help themselves.

Savings Bonds do make an ideal Christmas gift, or an ideal present at any time of the year. They do embody the meaning and substance of the slogans that have been used to promote and sell them. In helping our country finance policies of an economic and military nature designed to maintain and preserve the peace abroad while maintaining high employment and income at home, Savings Bonds have become more than "Shares in America." They have become shares in freedom. Shares in the world's quest for peace and understanding among all mankind.

No wonder mother gets a thrill out of watching the children hang up their Christmas stockings; she's delighted to see them hang up anything.

Scene from "The Curse of the Werewolf" as Oliver Reed begins to change into a werewolf in the village prison as another prisoner, Michael Ripper, watches in horror. The macabre thriller was filmed in color by Hammer Films, and is released by Universal-International.

Nothing ever just happens. Before there can be an effect there must first be a cause. That cause precedes effect is indeed fortunate for all of us, for it allows us to create our own conditions.

Life is much like Christmas — you are more apt to get what you expect than what you want.

Objections Voiced Over Calling Special Session Next January

Members of the Norton P-TA met December 4 for their regular meeting. The theme of the program was "Effective Learning for Moral and Spiritual Values." It was key-noted by Mrs. R. T. Cope and illustrated in a spirited manner with a playlet given by the home-making department of the Norton Rural High School, under the direction of Mrs. Milton Shelburne.

The chief characters were Sallie Jayne Harris, Shara Bryan, El-nora Brewer, and Patti Greger. These were considering candidates for their "Three F Club." They had to pass certain standards on fit, flair and fashion. These girls demonstrated attitudes of helpfulness, delicacy, consideration for others, common sense and imagination in solving their problems indirectly, while serving as a vehicle for a style show.

These character building traits are among those desirable ones to which the theme of the meeting referred.

Following the play the Girls' Athletic Association sang several popular Christmas songs and the audience was served punch and Christmas cookies in the lunch room.

The next regular meeting will be January 1, and everyone is invited to attend. The school feature will be presented by Mrs. Renfro and Mrs. Roper. It will be a musical program by the first four grades.

DAUGHTER IS BORN
Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Irvin of Pecos are announcing the arrival of a baby girl, Dec. 10, weight 6 pounds 6 ounces, and named Pamala Joy. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irvin of Winters, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Songster of York, Nebr. Great-grandparents are Mrs. R. E. Burrus of Winters, Mr. J. T. Irvin of San Antonio, and Mr. and Mrs. William Weiss of Pamona, Calif.

RETURNED HOME
Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Craig returned home Friday from Dallas where they had been visiting their daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Modole. Mrs. Modole accompanied them to Winters and returned home Sunday.

CONTROL BOARD
Appointed by Governor Daniel to the Surveyors Board were Clifford Cool of Midland and Perry Thompson of Longview.

U. S. Army Engineers estimate an initial cost of $33,000,000 for hurricane protection in the Port Arthur Area. This would include raising and enlarging about 17.2 miles of existing levees and floodwalls; construction of 18.7 miles of new levee work to protect about 37,000 acres of land; and separate ring levees for industrial areas south of Taylor's Bayou.

UNDERWATER LAND SALE QUESTIONED
Attorney General Will Wilson has asked the Navigation District at Rockport to postpone sale of 127 acres of submerged land "until the Attorney General and the Land Office can check out certain facts which raise questions as to the legality of the sale."

It's possible that the Navigation District acquired some of the land from the state for $1 per acre. It now proposes to sell this land to Carl Krueger Associates of San Antonio for $67,000.

Assistant Atty. General Houghton Brownlee says there's a question as to whether land purchased at a nominal sum for public purposes can be resold for private development.

SHORT SNORTS
Associate Justice Jake Tiry of the 10th Court of CIVIL Appeals in Waco has filed with the Secretary of State for re-election.

District includes Boque, Brazos, Coryell, Ellis, Falls, Freestone, Hamilton, Hill, Johnson, Leon, Limestone, Madison, Navarro, Robertson and Somerville counties.

W. D. (Bill) Noel of Odessa has been reappointed by Governor Daniel to membership on the Liquor

You May Be Losing Money Every Day

Nobody wants to lose money. Yet this is happening every day, according to Floyd B. Ellington, manager of the San Angelo social security office.

This is true because many people who are 65 or older do not seem to know that they do not have to quit work completely to get all or some of their social security benefits during the year.

Under the social security law, if you are eligible for retirement benefits, you can earn up to $1,200 a year and get a benefit check for all 12 months in the year. If you make more than $1,200, you will still receive a check for any month in which you do not earn more than $100 or do not render substantial services in self-employment.

In addition, even if you earn more than $1,200 a year and work all months in the year, you may still get some benefit checks during the year. For earnings over $1,200 and up to $1,700, benefits are withheld on the basis of $1 in benefits for each $2 earned. On earnings over $1,700, $1 in benefits is withheld for each $1 earned. Therefore, the benefits a person or family can actually receive when the person earns more than $1,200 a year depends on both his total wages and the total amount of benefits due.

Ellington invited working persons of retirement age to visit, call, or write his office and ask for the free pamphlet, "21 Questions and Answers about Social Security Payments." The office is located at 204 Continental Building, San Angelo. The telephone number is 653-6861.

Treat everyone with politeness, even those who are rude to you. For remember you are courteous to others not because they are gentlemen, but because you are one.

CARD OF THANKS
I wish to thank my friends and neighbors for the many kind deeds shown me while a patient in the Winters Hospital and during my convalescence at the T. A. Meadows home. My family joins me in expressing thanks to Dr. Rives, the nurses, and each of you. Oren Mathis. 1tp

Income Tax Filing Time At Hand

The year of 1961 will soon be history. For many people, the end of December means the conclusion of another tax year and that tax obligations must soon be met, points out C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

Before tackling the tax reporting job, Bates suggests that farmers and ranchmen get a copy of the Internal Revenue Service. The guide is written in easy-to-read style and includes examples of problems worked out on the applicable tax forms, Bates says.

As for the dates, January 15 is the deadline for farmers and ranchmen who want extra time for filing their final report to file their 1961 tax estimate. If the estimate is filed, Bates explains, the final date for filing of the 1040 form is extended to April 15. If no estimate is filed, February 15 then becomes the deadline for making the final tax report. These deadlines, points out the specialist, apply to taxpayers who derived two-thirds or more of their 1961 gross income from farming or ranching.

Another important consideration is the reporting of hired labor and the social security tax on wages paid. Either of two tests determine whether or not a farmer must pay the social security tax on wages. If the worker was paid $150 or more during the calendar year or if the worker was paid wages (on hourly or day basis) for 20 days or more during the year, the 3 percent social security tax should have been deducted from the cash wages.

Form 943 is used for reporting farm wages. The farmer-employer must show the wages paid and give the account number of individual workers. The withheld tax plus an equal amount from the employer along with the reporting form must be filed on or before January 31 or a month after the close of the year. Because every phase of the farm and ranch business can be affected by taxes, Bates emphasizes the need for a study of the Tax Guide.

Refreshments of cookies, candies, and sandwich spread were served with cranberry punch, spiced tea and coffee by the club members who alternated at the tea table and in the gift rooms.

Christmas decorations, gifts, candy, cookies, and recipes were for sale to the public, with funds to be used for club activities.

New Finishing Process Improves Wash-Wear Cotton

A new chemical finishing process, devised by USDA scientists to give cotton improved wash-wear characteristics, is currently under evaluation by the textile finishing industry. Experiments conducted by four firms indicate commercial application of the process is feasible, and one of the firms is conducting limited marketing to determine consumer acceptability.

The new process, which uses formaldehyde to bind together cotton's cellulose molecules, appears to impart a finish more durable than many other types of wash-wear finishes now in use. Also, formaldehyde treated fabrics show no tendency toward yellowing or other discoloration when subjected to chloride bleach.

Fabrics given the finish in pilot-plant tests rated high on the standard wash-wear scale. Garments made from the treated fabric can be either line or machine dried.

Although the chemical cost is about the same, the formaldehyde treatment takes longer and requires more equipment than does the wash-wear treatments now in use. Consequently, overall costs of the new finishing process are higher than those of most other processes. Most cotton textile finishing plants already have the equipment needed for the formaldehyde process, but some modification in present operations will be required.

There have been many attempts to make use of the advantages offered by formaldehyde, but the reaction of cotton with this chemical is difficult to control. In the earlier trials loss of fabric strength was excessive. In the process, however, fabric strength losses can be kept low enough to allow experimental garments to last as long as those given other types of wash-wear treatment.

It is not necessary that we should all think exactly alike, but we should all think.

Who has no Christmas in part will never find Christmas a tree."—R. L. Smith.

Wilborn of Winters was pastor Sunday morning at the Baptist services. For the service special Carl Nowling "Let Others See Jesus" with Mrs. Melvin Rayms at the piano.

The morning special at the Baptist services Sunday Reid sang "Take My Hand as Lord" with Mrs. J. W. and at the piano. The special night service was "Where You Go" sung by Mr. and Earvine Carey and Randy.

Through Adoration is subject for next Sunday's School Lesson. The following by Amos John Traver: "O Let Us Adore Him, Christ the Lord." No more appropriate words as we look forward to Christmas. Adoration means literally PRAY TO. It is a word that is reserved for our work of God. It is a humble word, in God all the perfection, holiness, the love that is beyond human limitations.

Adoration of our Lord is not higher, nobler and purer. Renan, the agnostic, could "What-ever else is taken away from us, Jesus is left." They called Jesus "Teacher" and no person could deny the less truth He taught. The perfection of His character, the completeness of His consecration, the sincerity of His compassion for Jesus beyond human comprehension. As Liddon said, "To adore God involves an irreverence only to the impiety of adoring fellow creature." "Adoration admiration plus." To adore

Christ is to witness His deity.

"WHAT'S THAT, MOM?"

What's that, Mom?
That's a stove, Son. Trying to think.

What's it trying to think about, Mom?
Where its next meal is coming from, Son.

Why, Mom?
Because some people have been saying the stove can almost cook by itself.

They shouldn't tell the poor stove that, Mom.
That's right, Son. Nor people either.

Economical, Too!
Since 1950, the average cost of a kilowatt hour of electricity to residential customers served by WTU has gone down 21%.
