HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Two-year-old Lana Rice lives on North Rogers Street with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rice, within a stone's throw of the football stadium and in easy earshot of the public address system there.

A few weeks ago, at the start of the football season, Lana heard the announcer checking the equipment before the game. "TESTING, ONE, TWO, and THREE." She asked her mother, in all sincerity, "Mommy, is that God talking?"

All Winters joins in extending a welcome to the "visiting firemen" Saturday.

Firemen from 20 towns of West Central Texas will converge on Winters Saturday for the semi-annual convention of the Hill Country Firemen's Association. Winters Volunteer Firemen are hosts for this convention; the Winters Fire Chief, Marvin Bedford, is current president of the Hill Country Association.

Practically all of these men are volunteer firemen, working without pay, in their respective communities. And practically all of them finance their own attendance at such functions as this convention, giving up their spare time—or even sacrificing business and labor time—for a chance to fellowship with their counterparts, and to exchange ideas which can be used in protecting their communities, and to push for more and more fire prevention measures.

In spite of the technological advances which have been made, and in spite of the many local, State and Federal bureaus and agencies assigned (by us) the task of holding our hands and guiding us all in most of our daily actions, there still remains an area where the "people" must accept the responsibility of doing something for themselves. The volunteer firemen fill that gap in each community, without fanfare and without expectation of remuneration. In a nation grown strong from an unselfish base of neighbor helping neighbor, and now going more deeply into a quagmire of strict regulation and resultant distrust, the volunteer firemen perhaps are the only remaining examples of unpaid and undirected self-help in this people-run system we call a republic. They perhaps are the only links to a strictly locally oriented self-help society we have retained in our mad rush—volunteers. They have not been told that they MUST protect us from fires and other disasters. There may be many reasons given for their decisions, but basically it is a desire to be of service to their neighbors.

Winters is proud of our volunteer firemen, as are all the other communities to be represented here Saturday. Let's show it by saying thanks by way of a hearty welcome!

There are some politicians who shake your hand before an election and your confidence after.

By the time a man gets smart enough to watch his step, he's too old to go anywhere.

An advertisement of a certain analgesic claims that irritability is always caused by a headache. That's not quite right—more often it is caused by a pain in the neck.

Opposition by others is proof that you're on the right track.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Crim of Waco have returned home after a visit with their mother, Mrs. W. W. King, of Winters. Mr. and Mrs. Crim and Mrs. King have recently returned from an extended vacation trip to New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California.

Blizzards Play In Ballinger Friday

District 8-AA's football classic this week will be the Winters-Ballinger game Friday night, to be played in Bearcat stadium at Ballinger. Kickoff at 7:30 p. m.

Outcome of this game, a continuation of the age-old rivalry between the two teams, will be watched throughout the district, and could well have an effect on forthcoming contests all over the league.

Friday night's game will be Ballinger's homecoming event, and the Blizzards will be out to spoil this celebration for the Bearcats and win the Rannels County championship.

Each team has a district win, however, Winters holds the season's edge with a perfect score while Ballinger had a pre-conference loss. Winters is one of only three remaining teams in the district with no losses for the season.

The Blizzards opened District 8-AA play with a powerhouse 27-0 rout of Clyde last Friday night. Clyde had been in the no-loss column through pre-conference play.

Ballinger also won their first district contest, nailing the Hamilton Bulldogs 18-6. Hamilton had a 1-2 record going into that game.

Winters and Ballinger have played no common opponents this season. Winters took Hamilton 20-0 in the opener, dittoed Merkel 20-7, and then won over Anson, before district play. Ballinger opened with a 13-20 loss to Brady, came back to beat Reagan County 7-6, and Stamford, 15-0.

Coach Jerry Gibson of the Blizzards said this week the Big Blue team "showed the stuff they're made of" against a strong unbeaten Clyde team Friday night. This attitude and condition remains strong this week, building for the Ballinger game. The Blizzards have not been plagued with injuries so far, and only sickness has caused some shift in the lineup. But Coach Gibson said his "back-up people" have proved their mettle, and the whole team "has been looking for this game with Ballinger since last year."

The Ballinger Bearcats are fielding a good, well-balanced team this year. They pass and run with abandon. They have beaten some tough teams this year, and as always, will prove all season to be contenders for the honors.

Tickets for the Winters-Ballinger game went on sale at the Winters School business office

Mrs. K. W. Cook Deputy Grand Matron Of OES

Mrs. K. W. Cook of Winters has been appointed District Deputy Grand Matron for Section 1, District 5, Order of the Eastern Star, Grand Chapter of Texas.

The appointment was made during the 88th session of the Grand Chapter at Houston last week.

Other Winters people appointed to special committees by the newly elected Worthy Grand Matron, Mrs. Frances K. Herrin of Austin, were Mrs. John J. Swatshue, and the bulletin committee; and the Rev. Roy L. Crawford, to the Masonic Ambassadors committee.

Attending the Grand Chapter session in Houston were Mrs. Gayle Gardner, worthy matron of Winters chapter OES, and Mr. and Mrs. K. W. Cook, and Mr. and Mrs. Swatshue.

Cotton Coming Into Winters

Ras Gideon, manager of Winters Warehouse Co., reported Tuesday noon that 50 bales of cotton from the 1970 crop had been received by the warehouse. Several more have already been ginned and were expected to come in the middle of the week.

Many farmers in North Rannels County have defoliated, and stripping is underway. Given a few days of favorable weather, stripping of this year's crop will be in full swing within a short time.

AROUND THE 8-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

The four leaders of District 8-AA get down to the nitty-gritty this week, and at least one of them is destined to be knocked off the perch.

The district spotlight Friday night will be focused on the Winters-Ballinger encounter at Ballinger, although the Hamilton at Coleman game must demand some attention.

Winters, coming back from a bad season last year, has been defeating all comers this season, none of them easy marks. The Blizzards have got a defense system to be reckoned with—allowing only one crossing all season, to lead the league in this department.

The fact that Winters and Ballinger will be battling for the favored spot on the leaders' ticket is enough to provide a bang-up good game. Add to this the natural and long-lived rivalry. Then add to all this the fact of a "homecoming" for Ballinger. This will be an interesting game.

Eastland, one of the others in the four-way tie for leadership in District 8-AA, probably will have little trouble with Comanche. The Indians have only a single win—over Dublin—all season, while the Mavericks have top-sided wins over everyone they've met this year, and have been picked as the strongest contenders for final leadership—even taking into account some of the teams they've met.

Coleman's season record (4-0) and Hamilton's season record (1-3) notwithstanding, this game, by the very nature of high school football, may tip some apple carts. Hamilton, with a poor 4-game record, is ripe to give someone some trouble.

Clyde, after losing their first district game, is expected to do away with hapless Cisco in one-two-three fashion.

Rules provide for only one entry per student. There will be three categories, for high school and junior high school (8th to 12th grades), the intermediate grades (5th to 7th), and primary grades (1st to 4th). Posters for grades 5-12 may be drawn, painted, cut-out, pen and ink work, or made from pictures out of magazines. ## Blizzards Blasted Bulldogs 27-0 Friday In District 8-AA Opener

The Winters Blizzards blasted the Bulldogs of Clyde 27-0 in a thrilling district 8-AA opener last Friday. The Blizzards had a tremendous night as they virtually stopped Clyde's leading offensive man, Gary Barr, and held the Bulldogs to 33 yards on the ground. The Blizzards tallied 308 yards rushing with Mike Mathis making 116 of these.

On the Blizzards' second possession of the game, Mathis trotted 50 yards for a touchdown after slipping through a left tackle hole. David Harrison added an extra point and the Blizzards led 7-0 midway in the first quarter.

In the second period, Joe Pritchard recovered a Bulldog fumble to set up the second TD. Clyde's defense held tight twice as Winters tried to penetrate. After a blocked field goal attempt, Clyde started an offensive drive on their own 10. A tough Blizard defense knocked the ball loose and on the next play Mathis ran in for the score. Again Harrison's kick was good.

The Bulldogs came back with new life in the second half and made their first offensive threat on their first possession. The Blizzards' defense held and forced the Bulldogs to punt from midfield.

In the last quarter, Ronnie Wilson returned a punt to the Clyde 20 and Jimmy Sims took the ball down to the two on the next play. Mathis then scored after snaring a pitchout. The PAT was good.

Joe Echols scored the final touchdown as he took a handoff from quarterback Steve Tatom and ran 31 yards with seconds left in the game. The kick failed and left the Blizzards with a 27-0 victory.

This Friday the Blizzards meet the Ballinger Bearcats in Ballinger. The Bearcats are also 1-0 in district and share a four-way tie with Winters, Coleman and Eastland for top honors in district standings.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Almost four months ago, on June 11 to be exact, we called attention to the Soviet Union's apparent build-up of military potential around Cuba.

The Administration has now officially revealed the information referred to at that time. On Friday, September 25, both the White House and the Defense Department responded to news inquiry about what appears to be a Russian intent to build a submarine base at Cienfuegos on Cuba's south shore. The Pentagon confirmed to news sources that three Soviet ships had moved heavy barges and other equipment into Cienfuegos harbor in the past few weeks. Actually, the last few weeks go back to early June.

Questioned at the White House, a spokesman was quoted as saying, "The Soviet Union within 90 miles of our shore. The answer is simple enough: there remains some doubt as to the accuracy of missiles fired from 6,000 to 8,000 miles away, but little doubt of pinpoint certainty fired from a distance no farther than the Caribbean.

It is reasonable that the construction of a strategic submarine base in Cuba would be in keeping with the Soviet's intent of shifting the world balance of power away from the United States. This sort of action, coupled with Soviet military activity in the Middle East and in Indochina, seems to support a conclusion that they are now engaged in a bold bid for superior military strength in the West, which essentially means the United States of America.

It is entirely possible that Castro has had little to do with the Russians' move to establish a nuclear weapons capability at Cienfuegos. He is so dependent on the Soviets for financial aid that he is likely no longer in authority insofar as these actions are concerned. This is of little consequence except that whatever action is taken to see that a formidable military base is not established in Cuba must be directed to the Soviets themselves. In the meantime, Central and South America could be imperiled but, of course, an advantage over North America would be the primary goal.

We should tell the Russians now that all bids are off in all other directions, including the strategic arms limitations talks now going on, unless they stop any plan they may have for building bases in Cuba or any place else near the Western Hemisphere. In the meantime, North, Central and South America should make it clear that strict sanctions of all trade and commerce will be imposed against Cuba if plans believed to be in the making are not immediately abandoned.

Texas Ranks Fifth In Number of Vets

Texas ranks fifth in the number of veterans according to Jack Coker, Director of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Waco. With 1,370,000 veterans, Texas is behind number one California which has 2,992,000.

The figures are compiled annually, as of June 30, based on census figures and VA data, as a basis for planning services to veterans.

New York was second to California with 2,553,000 veterans, followed by Pennsylvania, with 1,785,000; Illinois, with 1,576, and then Texas. The next five runners-up are Michigan, New Jersey, Florida, Massachusetts and Wisconsin.

Coker said Alaska has the smallest number of veterans—30,000. Wyoming with 53,000 has the least among the contiguous states.

Total U. S. veteran population reached 27,647,000, as of the end of last fiscal year. It was swelled by 4,173,000 veterans of the Vietnam Era. Vietnam veterans are still heavily outnumbered by the 14,458,000 World War II veterans, but their numbers are closing the gap on the total for those who had military service during the Korean Conflict—5,867,000.

About 1,536,000 World War I veterans are living today. With an average of 75.7 years, they are still "youngsters" compared to the 5,000 Spanish-American War veterans whose average age is 91.2 years.

The largest block of veterans, those who served in World War II, average 50.7 in age. Vietnam veterans are 26.7 years old, on the average. Some 24,000 are under 20 and 1,674,000 are under 26.

HEALTH COLUMN

Some areas in the nation are facing serious public health problems resulting from pollution of waters by the industrial discharge of mercury. This highly toxic metal has turned up as a fish contaminant in the waters of at least 17 states.

While keeping a wary eye on the problem, the State Health Department has not yet found the situation to be a major problem. However, a portion of Lavaca Bay has been closed to the harvesting of oysters due to mercury pollution. Oysters from this area have shown a mercury density in excess of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration interim guideline of 0.5 parts per million.

The oyster's ability to concentrate trate bacteria, heavy metals and other impurities that may be present in growing waters make him a good indicator of water quality. While the State Health Department's surveillance program is based primarily on the oyster, there is no evidence that shrimp are in any way affected by the mercury problem anywhere in Texas, including Lavaca Bay.

The surveillance program that has been conducted by the Texas State Department of Health since 1968 and which was greatly intensified in May of this year has to date found no indication that mercury pollution is a serious problem in any other area. Sampling stations have been established along the Texas coast from which oyster meat samples are secured at regular intervals. If these samples should indicate that a mercury contamination problem of public health significance was developing, the public would receive appropriate notification through the news media.

According to Dudley J. Johnson, director, Division of Marine Resources, Texas State Department of Health, it is not known how long oysters in the closed portion of Lavaca Bay will be affected with excessive mercury densities, but it is safe to assume that it will be a considerable length of time.

Disabled Veterans Due Increased Compensations

The Veterans Administration has reported that a bill the President signed August 21, will increase monthly compensation payments for most of two million veterans who incurred disabilities during military service.

Administrator of Veterans Affairs Donald E. Johnson said the 8 to 12 per cent increase will be retroactive to July 1.

He said veterans will receive their regular monthly checks for August, on September 1, computed at the old rate. Later, in early September, most veterans will receive another check which will reflect the retroactive increases for July and August. The following month—on October 1—regular monthly checks will include the increase.

Johnson stressed that since the increased payments are automatic, veterans need not contact the VA to receive them. He said the 12 per cent increase goes to totally disabled veterans, including those who also receive additional compensation for such disabilities as deafness, blindness, and the loss of — or loss of use of — arms and feet.

Under the new rates, compensation to veterans with a 100 per cent disability rating will be raised from $400 to $450 a month.

Those with a 90 per cent rating will be increased from $226 to $250 a month; 80 per cent disability, $201 to $223; 70 per cent, $174 to $193; 60 per cent, $147 to $163, and 50 per cent, $122 to $135.

(The additional allowances for dependents of veterans rated 50 per cent or more, also are being increased.)

Other increases are as follows: 40 per cent, $89 to $96; 30 per cent, $65 to $70; 20 per cent, $43 to $46; and 10 per cent, $23 to $25 a month.

The new law also permits restoration to pension, DIC and compensation rolls to remarried widows of veterans whose marriages end in death or divorce. This provision becomes effective next January 1.

The VA Administrator said another provision, which would affect comparatively few veterans, would presume certain illnesses of former prisoners of war during World War II, Korean Conflict, and the Vietnam era to be service-connected for purposes of compensation payments.

The strong man meets his crisis with the most practical tools at hand. They may not be the best tools but they are available, which is all important. He would rather use them, such as they are, than do nothing.

Program was outlined by a Health Department official at a recent hearing of the House Committee to Study Psychiatric Problems of Youth.

It will be carried out in three steps, offering laboratory services, clinics and an overview of health factors in the drug area.

Initial action calls for setting up facilities next year in Nueces, Bexar, El Paso, Bowie, Webb and Lubbock Counties (serving 1.7 million people). Beginning in 1972, the program will be established statewide. Cost may be three to five million dollars for the second year period, $1.2 million for the initial pilot program.

Laboratory services will provide surveillance of drug-abuse patients and detect those needing treatment. Department proposes urine tests of patients to determine if illicit drugs still are being used.

Second stage calls for statewide clinics, especially for the median age 19 group, and informational workshops mostly conducted in schools.

Continual study will use computers to correlate facts from the viewpoint of health personnel who deal with the problem daily.

Department believes the program will fill these three basic needs not presently available, and without which little chance exists for success in drug abuse control.

COURTS SPEAK

State Supreme Court, following the Fourth Court of Civil Appeals, rejected the plea of La Raza Unida party for mandamus directing that its 15 local candidates be placed on the November 3 ballot in Dimmitt, LaSalle and Zavala Counties. Party already has won a place on the ballot in Hidalgo County and will go to federal court to continue its appeal in the other three.

Austin district judge refused to lift restrictions against the Alcoholic Beverage Commission's enforcing the stringent guest rule covering private bottle clubs pending clubs' appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court.

Landowners who oppose building a new University of Texas branch at Odessa filed notice of appeal after District Judge Herman Jones of Austin threw out their suit on September 17.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin sued General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, claiming they conspired to fix prices and eliminate competition in bids on governmental units in Texas.

Martin turned an additional 13,744 to the state in anti-trust recovery from the Brass Mill Tube and Pipe case. Recovery now totals $111,345.

POLLUTION BOOK RELEASED

Attorney General Martin released copies of an 188-page booklet on the principal pollution laws of Texas, for the guidance of local governments.

Booklet contains regulations governing water, air, oil and solid waste pollution, together with "how to do it" suggestions for preparing a pollution suit and exchanging information with state agencies.

Martin said he hopes the publication will provide closer cooperation between local units of government, the attorney general's office, the Texas Water Quality Board and the Texas Air Control Board.

DRAFT PRIORITY SET
Men whose draft lottery numbers were called by local draft boards in 1970, but who were not ordered for induction, will be the top priority group for calls in the first quarter of 1971.

State Selective Service issued the announcement, as did the White House and national draft headquarters.

First quarter draft calls will go to the carry-overs. If calls do not require all of them, they will be placed in a lower priority. Those whose numbers have not been reached all during the year will be placed in the lower priority group on January 1.

National Selective Service chief said that exposure is limited in keeping with the "12 month draft vulnerability policy."

NEW JOBS AND AWARDS

Gov. Preston Smith appointed William R. Shaver of Lubbock as district judge of the 140th Judicial District, succeeding Judge Robert H. Bean who resigned.

Burt L. Risley, Texas executive director of the Commission for the Blind, was sworn in as president of the National Council of State Agencies for the Blind.

Harry Bresler, chief of claims for the state comptroller, was named the handicapped state employee of the year. Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. will represent Governor Smith at the first international trade seminar in Mexico City, November 2-10.

PWC ROW RAGES

Chairman Pearce Johnson of the Parks and Wildlife Commission blasted the PWC staff for taking major steps without Commission approval.

Johnson said the department's $39 million budget recommendations went to the Legislature without Commission approval last year. . . and the same thing happened again this year.

Chairman also said that plans for the proposed $3 million water exchange pass at Mustang Island near Corpus Christi were changed without consulting the Commission.

"As long as the staff usurps the powers of the Commission," said Johnson at an open meeting in the capitol, "I won't be responsible (as chairman)."

SMITH HITS REPAIR COSTS

Governor Smith called for legislative study of "Excessive" auto repair charges.

He said he supports the Democratic platform plank on insurance which include regulation of holding companies, requiring mandatory pooling for fire and windstorm protection in areas subject to catastrophe, and consideration of investment income in fixing the auto insurance rate base.

"The public cannot be long protected by regulated insurance rates, if there is no regulation direct or indirect of automobile rates," added the governor.

He also announced his support of group auto insurance coverage.

DINOSAURS "HOME"

A symbolic dinosaur family "returned home" amid ceremonies at Dinosaur Valley State Scenic Park in Somervell County.

Governor Smith joined representatives of the Atlantic Richfield Company, the National Park Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to formally accept for the park life-size replicas of 70-foot brontosaurus, 50-foot tyrannosaurus rex and two baby brontosaurus with simulated eggs.

SHORT SNORTS

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

UPHEAVAL FACING MINICOMPUTER FIELD
By Babson's Reports, Inc.

A substantial shakeout in the minicomputer industry is expected over the near term. A number of adverse forces have been building up for some time and are likely to cause a wringing-out of the weaker or more marginal firms. Such factors as tight money, high interest rates, sharp competition, cautious capital spending policies, and the general economic slowdown have caused an especially hostile environment for those recent entrants lacking an established capability in service, maintenance and software. The anticipated shakeout, however, should produce beneficial results for the solidly entrenched minicomputer firms, and ultimately pave the way for more profitable growth in this field for the balance of the 1970s.

Minicomputer and Its Industry Potential

A minicomputer, by a generally accepted definition, is a low-priced programmable computer (usually costing less than $20,000) with a memory capacity of 4,000 words (and an 8- to 16-bit word size capability). All types of auxiliary equipment—called peripheral devices—can be adapted to facilitate the input and output of data. At first the minis were confined to engineering and scientific applications for laboratories, production lines, and process-control systems. Subsequently, there was a step-up in demand in the wider-based business market. Manufacturers soon learned that costly programs and extensive peripheral equipment would restrict markets, and therefore they designed the machines for special tasks without the additional programming expense. Besides the wide business applications, the minis are now gaining recognition in the emerging educational market.

Industry Forecast

In any relatively embryonic field, expansion estimates range all over the lot. With minicomputers, projections are particularly varied due to the fact that minis are but one sector of the total computer complex. Even so, most experts agree that this segment could grow even faster than the entire computer industry. They place the growth of minis at 40 percent annually through the 1970s, as compared with the 15 percent expected for the total computer business.

Sales, including peripheral equipment and services, reached about $250 million in 1969 and could rise to $1-billion-plus by 1973 or 1974. Some six out of every 10 computers could be of the mini variety by 1975. If so, this would mean that there would be 80,000 minis in a projected production of 130,000 computers that year. At the present time, there are only about 10,000 minicomputers in operation here and abroad.

Dominant Companies In The Field

Of the 75 or more minicomputer makers, one-third may be out of business by the end of 1970, according to industry chieftains. The experts believe the total could be down to 10 or 15 by next year. Digital Equipment Corporation is generally reputed to account for 55 percent of minicomputer sales, while Varian Associates and Hewlett-Packard—late but rapidly growing entries—have a market share of 10 percent and 9 percent respectively. Broader based Honeywell accounts for 7 percent. Lesser-known stalwarts such as Data General and General Automation have anywhere from 3 percent to 7 percent of the market. A second tier is composed of more diversified companies, such as Lockheed, Motorola, Litton, and Beckman Instruments. Scores of smaller unknowns make up a third tier.

PROMINENT PRIEST on the campaign trail is the Rev. Robert F. Drinan, a Jesuit who is on leave of absence from his post as dean of Boston College Law School. He seeks the Democratic nomination for Congress in the third district in Massachusetts.

Husband of Former Resident Died In Arizona

John J. Bugg, of Florence, Ariz., died in Florence September 30, after a long illness. Funeral was held Saturday at First Presbyterian Church in Florence.

Mr. Bugg was the husband of the former Ozella Poe, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Poe of the Winters community, and a brother-in-law of George Poe of Winters. He was a former member of the Arizona State Highway Commission and its chairman in 1962. He also was a former Pinal County (Ariz.) school superintendent for 12 years.

He was born in Rural Sterling, Texas, Oct. 6, 1890, and moved to Arizona in 1925.

Survivors are his wife, Ozella; five daughters, Mrs. Josephine trout, Tucson; Mrs. Virginia McLellan, Tonto Basin, Ariz.; Mrs. Mary Gibbons, Tucson; Mrs. Eva Sue Large, Mammoth, Ariz.; and Mrs. Billy Jane Caveness, Boise, Idaho; two sisters, Mrs. Vera Lee of Big Spring, Texas, and Mrs. Ella Ligon, Sterling City, Texas; 17 grandchildren and 12 great-grandchildren.

Bethany SS Class Installs Officers

Officers of the Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church were installed during a meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Blackmon Tuesday evening.

The Rev. J. S. Tierce installed the officers for the new year, using the theme, "Spiritual Flower Garden." Officers installed were: Mrs. J. S. Tierce, teacher; Mrs. Milliorn, president; Mrs. Carl Hancock, vice president; Mrs. J. S. Clark, secretary; Mrs. L. H. Henslee, treasurer; Mrs. J. F. Priddy Jr. benevolence; Mrs. J. T. Sneed, reporter.

Group leaders installed were Mrs. Sam Russell, Mrs. Gene Virden, Mrs. Jack Harrison, Mrs. Ches. Busher and Mrs. Lewis Blackmon.

Economical Bean Dishes:

How often do you serve your family beans? Probably rather often, since this low-cost, high-protein dish is popular with most homemakers. Too, there's such a variety of beans and peas on hand at your grocer's that you can vary the type and the serving methods so your family can never complain about "the same old thing."

As well as being a standby on the family dinner table, bean dishes are also featured in restaurants — including the Congressional dining rooms of the nation's Capitol where bean soup is a famous daily specialty.

The protein in beans is most useful to the body when eggs, meat, cheese or milk, even in small amounts, is served in the same meal. So you'll want to keep this in mind in planning your menus.

Plain boiled beans, put through a sieve or food mill, make a puree that is a good start for quick hearty soup. Chill the puree immediately by setting the pan in cold water or crushed ice, then refrigerate. It keeps three to four days in a good refrigerator.

Try this Cream of Bean Soup made from the puree:

- 2 T. butter or other fat
- 2 T. flour
- 2 cups bean puree
- Salt and pepper
- 2 cups fluid milk (or 1-2 cup dry milk mixed with 2 cups of water)

Melt fat and blend in the flour. Add puree and milk slowly. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Cook 2 to 3 minutes longer, stirring occasionally. Season to taste.

For variety, add 1-2 cup chopped celery and leaves, 1 small chopped onion or 2 tsp. onion juice to the soup.

This recipe for Bean Soup with ham makes four servings. Pork is among the food reported plentiful this month by USDA Consumer and Marketing Service.

- 1 cup navy beans
- 6 cups water
- Meaty ham bone or ham hock
- 1 small onion, chopped
- Salt and pepper.

Wash beans, then add water and boil for two minutes. Remove from heat and let stand for one hour. Add ham bone or ham hock, then boil gently two hours in a covered pan. Add onion and continue cooking 30 minutes longer, or until beans are soft. Remove bones and cut off meat. Add meat to soup, then season with salt and pepper. Reheat to boiling, stirring constantly.

Bean and Meat Stew

- 3-4 cup navy beans
- 2 cups water
- 1-4 cup finely chopped salt pork
- 1-2 cup chopped onions
- 1-2 lb. ground lean meat (or canned chopped meat)
- 2 cups cooked or canned tomatoes—salt and pepper.

Wash beans. Add water and boil two minutes. Remove from heat and let stand for one hour. Boil gently until almost done—1 to 1-2 hours. Meanwhile, fry salt pork crisp in a large frying pan and remove. Brown onion lightly in the pork fat, add meat and cook five minutes. Add pork. Add tomatoes and beans. Cook slowly for 30 minutes. You may need to add more water. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Add some chili powder for extra seasoning, if desired.

Bean-Tomato Bake

For four servings, use 3 cups baked beans and 1 1-2 cups canned or cooked tomatoes. Put beans in a baking dish. Pour tomatoes over them and bake at 350 degrees for about 30 minutes. Or place thick slices of fresh tomatoes over the baked beans, sprinkle with bread crumbs, with bits of butter on top and bake as above.

HEALTH COLUMN

Rubella, or German measles, is destined to soon join the ranks of such illnesses as smallpox and polio. For too long rubella, usually a mild childhood disease, has attacked, crippled and killed babies born of mothers infected with the disease in the first few months of pregnancy. A vaccine is now available which will protect your children against this dangerous disease.

The Texas State Department of Health has already immunized over 400,000 children in the State, and has an intensive statewide immunization campaign underway that will eventually reach the two million youngsters susceptible to the disease.

So where do we stand in Texas? On July 1, 1969, the State of Texas was awarded a two-year federal grant to carry on a state-wide immunization pro-

"Frankenstein Must Be Destroyed"

Frankenstein, the mad doctor who created the monster most fans of horror films confuse with his name, is back in Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Frankenstein Must Be Destroyed," showing in color Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre.

Peter Cushing (renowned on British television as another fictional hero—Sherlock Holmes) is playing the role of Frankenstein for the fifth time. Veronica Carlson, Maxine Audley, Simon Ward, Thorley Walters and Freddie Jones star with Cushing in the color film.

The same team which has had phenomenal popular worldwide success for its handling of films of the macabre was responsible for "Frankenstein Must Be Destroyed," director Terrence Fisher, producer Anthony Nelson Keys, cinematographer Arthur Grant, and art director Bernard Robinson. Written for the screen by Bert Batt and edited by Gordon Hales, the shocker was filmed in England.

Peter Cushing, currently playing the indestructible Dr. Frankenstein who insanely carries on with his brain-transference surgery, first played Baron Frankenstein in "The Curse of Frankenstein" (1956). At that time, he escaped certain death when a disciple took his place on the scaffold. He has since been beaten by a mob, recreated by a loyal assistant, and entombed. In his present role, Frankenstein appears to be doomed. Certainly there can be no escape as he is carried unconscious into a blazing house by one of his crazy patients.

PETER CUSHING stars as the mad doctor Frankenstein with Simon Ward, Veronica Carlson, Freddie Jones, Thorley Walters and Maxine Audley in Warner Bros.-Seven Arts' "Frankenstein Must Be Destroyed," showing in color Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre.

County Agent's Column

With the dove hunting season already underway in the North Zone, other opening seasons for other game birds and animals are just around the corner, reminds County Agent Parker. And, he adds, already hunting accidents are being reported.

The county agent suggests that all hunters become familiar with the ten commandments of safety before starting on the first hunt and make sure they are observed while in the field.

The commandments are: treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun. This is the cardinal rule of gun safety.

Guns carried into camp or home must always be unloaded, and taken down or have the action open; guns should always be left in their case until reaching the hunting area.

Always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions.

Carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you should stumble. Keep the safety on until you are ready to fire.

Be sure of your target before you pull the trigger.

Never point a gun at anything you do not intend to shoot.

Unattended guns should be unloaded; guns and ammunition should be stored safely beyond the reach of children and careless adults.

Never climb a tree or through a fence with a loaded gun.

Never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water. Do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

These are simple rules, points out the county agent, and are easy to follow. Following them, he adds, could save your life or that of a hunting companion or even a member of your family.

Incorporation of crop residue into the soil by deep plowing is an effective means of preventing a carryover of disease causing organisms, explains county agent Parker.

In peanut production, for example, deep burial of crop residue will reduce the amount of southern blight and Cercospora leaf in succeeding peanut crops. Both of these diseases are common in the peanut growing areas of Texas, he said.

Plowing under large amounts of organic matter has substantially reduced losses from cotton root rot, he noted. Many cotton growers have found this practice works well where a three-year rotation is used. A cotton-grain sorghum - small grain rotation gives the grower the opportunity to deep plow after the sorghum or small grain crops are harvested, or both.

Many disease-causing organisms which affect cotton can also be carried over from year to year in the soil. These include the bacterium which causes angular leaf spot or bacterial blight and fungi which caused seedling disease. Diseases from both these organism types will be lessened by burying the organic matter as deep in the soil as is practical.

Getting roses ready for winter is a several-step project, according to County Agent C. T. Parker.

The first step is fall sanitation, he said. The leaves must be collected and burned as they fall. Any canes with cankers or borer should be cut and burned.

He said weeds must be controlled, especially chickweed which grows during mild winters and hides mites which will return in the spring. If black-spot has been severe, discard old mulch and leaves and replace with sphagnum peat moss, bark, pine straw, cotton burrs, or other clean organic material.

No freeze protection is needed unless temperatures reach minus 10 degrees or lower. If temperatures dip this low and are expected to be below zero for more than 24 hours, Parker recommends covering the center of each rose plant with 10 inches of soil.

As soon as the first killing frost has removed all the foliage, material to protect the roses should be applied, Parker said. A light, loamy soil is recommended for winter protection, since peat moss, leaves and other materials hold water.

Cong. Burleson Gets "Watchdog" Award For Voting

Washington, D. C.—Congressman Omar Burleson was presented today the "Watchdog of the Treasury Award," of the National Associated Businessmen, Inc. The award was made in recognition of Burleson's voting for economy and against inflation. The presentation was made by H. Vernon Scott, Executive Vice President of the businessmen's organization.

The N. A. B. has been rating members of Congress on their votes for fiscal responsibility since 1964 and presents awards for each Congress to those members whose records are for economy and against excessive Government spending. Burleson has received the award on previous occasions.

In accepting the award Burleson said, "Government, like an individual, cannot forever spend money it doesn't have and maintain the confidence and credibility necessary to support it. The interest on the public debt is now approaching $20 billion. The prospects are for more deficits and more borrowing." "In addition," Burleson said, "the Federal Government is engaging in costly programs for which it was never designed, which end in failure and waste. There is enough expense of Government without doing so many things of doubtful value."

In accepting the recognition, Burleson expressed his appreciation for the encouragement it gave him to continue efforts to keep the Country's financial position strong and at the same time restrain the inflationary pressures eroding the value of the dollar.

"In the face of all the demands for more Federal money, restraints have got to be imposed if inflation is to be curbed," Burleson said. "I question no man's sincerity but I do question judgments. The symbol of the bulldog as watching the Treasury is good but sometimes I feel he is surrounded and outnumbered by the pack," the Congressman commented on the occasion of receiving the award.

Job Accidents Cost Texans

"Because of hidden costs of on-the-job accidents, the entire economy of the State of Texas is affected every time a worker is injured," according to the President of the Texas Safety Association, George Wm. Perry, Dallas attorney.

Perry said that many Texans, both employers and employees alike, do not realize the full impact of on-the-job accidents. "Most people only think of what they pay out for medical treatment or compensation to an injured worker as the cost of an accident are hidden beneath the surface," said Perry. He went on to explain that the hidden costs include such items as the time lost from work by the injured worker, the loss in earning power, the economic loss to the worker's family, the time lost by other employees, a loss of efficiency because a worker is away from the job, the loss of time by supervisors, the cost of breaking in or training new men.

"The list goes on from there," said Perry. "For example, the businessman must also consider the cost of damaged tools or equipment, the period of time the equipment is out of service, spoiled work, the failure to fill orders, and at least one hundred other items of cost which appear one or more times with every accident," Perry continued.

The safety group leader said that these hidden costs have a direct effect on the economy of the state. Perry said that Texas is leading the nation in industrial development, but he warned, "If we are to continue that progress, we must also be a leader in accident prevention and loss reduction."

"One positive step employers can take is to provide their supervisory personnel with training in accident prevention techniques. TSA offers the Kye Man Development program for supervisors. Universities and other organizations offer additional training opportunities," Perry stated.

"Employers also need to keep abreast of the new Texas Occupational Safety Standards being issued by the State Occupational Safety Board. These standards have the effect of law and apply to nearly every employer in Texas," said Perry. "It is imperative," concluded the TSA official, "that every employer in the state pursue an active, effective accident prevention program if Texas is to enjoy the benefits of industrial growth. TSA stands ready to help."

Our doubts are traitors, and make us lose the good we oft might win by fearing to attempt.

One big trouble of doing nothing—you can't stop and rest.

GOVERNOR Preston Smith presents Mrs. C. L. Mansfield, Fort Worth, Vice President for Church Activities, Texas Safety Association, with an official proclamation setting Oct. 11, 1970, as Safety Sunday in Texas.

Noting the continuing cost of accidents on highways, in homes, and at work, Gov. Smith urged in the proclamation that Texans of all faiths enlist in the fight for greater safety. Hundreds of clergymen in Texas will mark Safety Sunday with special observances designed to call attention to the fact that safety is a matter of moral responsibility.

In his proclamation, Gov. Smith said, "Accidents in Texas continue to be our major social problem. I urge all citizens to Drive Friendly, obey traffic laws, and to be thoughtful of their responsibilities to protect the sanctity of human life in our State."

"RUNNELS IS MY COUNTY"

BY CHARLSIE POE

An authentic history of Runnels County and the people who built the county. Filled with known and little-known stories of the early days. Gathering material on the many facets of the development of the county, the author searched old records for historic fact; she talked with old-timers who remembered life as it used to be; she combed the county for an amazing collection of treasured photographs. And she presents it all within the covers of a single volume. Town by town, and community by community, Charlsie Poe reports in detail the county's marked progress in cultural, educational and religious endeavors—the introduction of civic improvements as time went on.

She looks back on a way of life that now seems quaint to this fast-paced generation. She tells of the tent shows and carnivals which drew country-wide audiences.

Collectors of Texana will welcome this book as a missing tile in the mosaic of county histories. The student of social history will find it an unimpeachable source of information.
