Lights! Camera! Action! News Channel 10 crew visits Friona

NewsChannel10 made the final stop on its Summer Celebration Tour 2018 in Friona on Friday night. "The most watched news in the panhandle" was broadcast live from the city park at 5:00, 6:00, and 10:00 p.m. "On-air" personalities included news anchors Walt Howard & Madison Alewel, chief meteorologist "Doppler" Dave Oliver, sports reporters Kayla Pace & Ralph Cooper, and news reporter Nyzah McDonald. Pre-taped and live interviews with local business owners were also featured during the newscasts. Mayor pro-tem Greg Lewellen presented NewsChannel10 with a key to the city.

In addition to the newscasts, there were also give-aways and contests. T-shirts, Blue Bell ice cream and Primo water was available free to everyone. Two cheeseburger eating contests were held and the winners were Johnathan Salsman and Lalo Juarez. There was also water polo, a water balloon toss, and a frozen t-shirt contest, live music, and an impromptu dance festival.

Tourney benefits local cancer coalitions

It was a record year for the Pudge Kendrick Memorial Golf Tournament. Over $54,000 was raised and the proceeds will go to the Parmer County Cancer Coalition and the Hereford Cancer Coalition. Both organizations provide grants to local cancer patients. This year marked the 10th Anniversary of the golf event and the 4th year it has been held in Hereford.

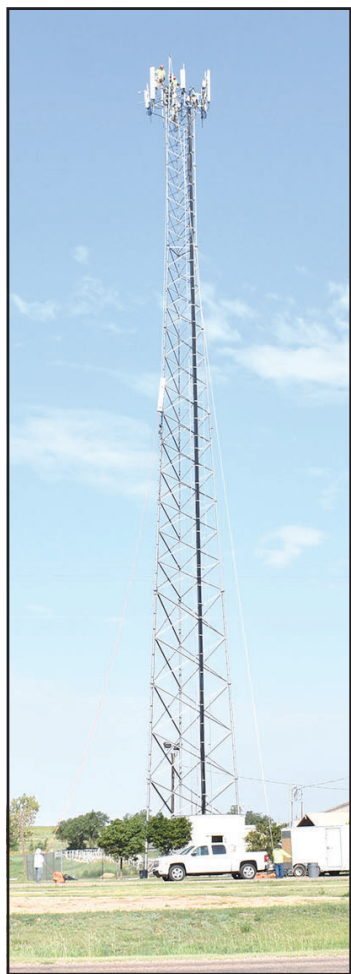

The total payout for the tournament was $12,750 and the top 3 teams in each flight received cash prizes. The tournament champions were Phillip Shelton and Darren Renwick. Phillip is the grandson-in-law to Pudge and is married to Amanda (Messenger) Shelton. Amanda is the daughter of Jay and Sally Messenger of Muleshoe. Phillip and Amanda currently live in Tennessee. Darren Renwick works for Yesway. Phillip and Darren received a cash prize and a golf bag each.

Greg Lewellen, spokesperson for the event, would especially like to thank the Deaf Smith Chamber of Commerce, the City of Hereford, and the staff at John Pitman Golf Course for their help and guidance in operating the tournament. See you next year!

The Kendrick Family wishes to thank everyone who made the Pudge Kendrick Memorial Golf Tournament possible. (l-r) Tara & Matthew Kendrick of Lubbock, Andy & Casey Kendrick of Lubbock, and Phillip & Amanda Shelton of Ooltewah, Tennessee.

Universities have lost the public trust. Pew, Gallop, and a number of other assemblers of public opinion have studied and reported findings that suggest public trust in Higher Education is eroding. University of Oregon president Michael Schill in a University World News post proposed several causes of evaporating trust. Anti-intellectualism, a lack of diversity, indoctrination, erosion of shared or common interests by increasingly loud and narrowly focused interest groups and a host of other legitimate reasons rob institutional trust.

Universities do not have the market cornered on institutional distrust. Forty percent of Americans queried by Gallup in 1973 said they trusted institutions. By 1979 it had climbed to 51%, and then over the years has descended to a rate of about 20%. Congress led the slide with a rate of between 10 and 15%, depending on who you believe. Newspapers chased elected officials into the "trust" basement according to Forbes. While universities are not on the study list, public schools don't fare very well either. The military is the most trusted institution in the United States, and interestingly, small businesses are second in the registry of esteem.

Water V. Wendler

Government generally is not trusted. In a Boston Globe reflection, former president of Harvard University Lawrence Summers provides insight for the foundation of Americans' lack of trust in government. He uses an example of the Anderson Memorial Bridge over the Charles River in Cambridge. It took less than a year to build at a price tag of about $600,000 and is now requiring repairs that will take five years with a price tag of over $25,000,000. Summers includes commentary on "a gaggle of regulators and veto players each with the power to block or delay," representing various groups. The point is this: How can any organization be trusted when it cost so much and takes so long to fix a 232-foot span - less than a long punt on Sunday afternoon?

Even if you like big government, you must ask, "Do such actions and results create trust?" Of course, they do not. Trust has left the building, and good feelings, positive thoughts, and rhetoric don't change that fact. Actions do.

Universities must be truthful and transparent in decision-making and execution. If institutional rhetoric proclaims that everyone deserves a fair chance because without it Jefferson's "unnatural aristocracy" rules, I agree. However, admitting students not ready to study because they come with a pocket full of loan dollars on the basis of giving them a chance is neither transparent, nor trustworthy. It is misleading and a form of lying and cheating. Yes, universities need to make opportunity available; however, relentlessly communicating costs and benefits is required. This is particularly so for those who are the first in their family to attend college, for they may believe that any study path leads to a bright future.

Sarah Goldrick-Rab, professor of higher education policy at Temple University says, "We're worth it, debt is worth it, taking a loan to come here is very much worth it," when in fact the truth may lie elsewhere. What is disarmingly difficult is that leadership of universities believe this "nearly-the-truth" mantra regarding the value of a university education. A good education has great value even in fields where employment potential may be low, but, to declare all courses of study as equally valuable is not transparent.

At West Texas A&M University, while debt levels for all of our graduates over the past decade have been fairly constant on a college-by-college basis, starting salaries vary by 100%. Students graduating in engineering and computer science secured salaries at above $75,000 per year. In some fields starting salaries were half that, but again, debt levels were about the same. Transparency would dictate that we make students and families aware of these differentials. For the 30% of students at WT that don't have to borrow, these cautions and realities may be of lesser consequence, but I don't think so.

Accrediting agencies, on a road paved with good intentions, never address the value of a degree. State coordinating boards, in my experience, have only recently suggested that there should be a relationship between borrowing for an education and the ultimate, anticipated employment value of the course of study. The Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board, for example, suggests that a student should accrue no more debt in securing an education than 60% of the first-year anticipated starting salary. If a student anticipates an annual starting salary of $50,000, they should not borrow more than $30,000.

West Texas A&M University initiated a program called Buff$mart that helps students assess reasonable borrowing levels based on their chosen course of study. While it is too early to judge effectiveness, encouragingly over 2,000 individual student contacts have resulted.

For organizations that trade in trust, transparency and truthfulness are the only things that matter. Good universities will address the trust deficit head on.

Walter V. Wendler is President of West Texas A&M University. His reflections are available at www.walterwendler.com.

2018 Property Tax Rates in PARMER COUNTY HOSPITAL

This notice concerns 2018 property tax rates for PARMER COUNTY HOSPITAL. It presents information about three tax rates. Last year's tax rate is the actual rate the taxing unit used to determine property taxes last year. This year's effective tax rate would impose the same total taxes as last year if you compare properties taxed in both years. This year's rollback tax rate is the highest tax rate the taxing unit can set before taxpayers can start tax rollback procedures. In each case these rates are found by dividing the total amount of taxes by the tax base (the total value of taxable property) with adjustments as required by state law. The rates are given per $100 of property value.

Last year's tax rate:

Last year's operating taxes	$602,889
Last year's debt taxes	$793,247
Last year's total taxes	$1,396,136
Last year's tax base	$548,579,944
Last year's total tax rate	0.254500/$100

This year's effective tax rate:

Last year's adjusted taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property)	$1,400,920
+This year's adjusted tax base (after subtracting value of new property)	$569,577,631
=This year's effective tax rate	0.245900/$100

This year's rollback tax rate:

Last year's adjusted operating taxes (after subtracting taxes on lost property and adjusting for any transferred function, tax increment financing, state criminal justice mandate and/or enhanced indigent health care expenditures)	$607,674
+This year's adjusted tax base	$569,577,631
=This year's effective operating rate	0.106600/$100
×1.08 = this year's maximum operating rate	0.115100/$100
+This year's debt rate	0.139500/$100
=This year's rollback rate	0.254600/$100

Statement of Increase/Decrease

If PARMER COUNTY HOSPITAL adopts a 2018 tax rate equal to the effective tax rate of 0.245900 per $100 of value, taxes would increase compared to 2017 taxes by $ 2,128.

Schedule A: Unencumbered Fund Balances:

The following estimated balances will be left in the unit's property tax accounts at the end of the fiscal year. These balances are not encumbered by a corresponding debt obligation.

Type of Property Tax Fund	Balance
Unencumbered Funds	897,428

Schedule B: 2018 Debt Service:

The unit plans to pay the following amounts for long-term debts that are secured by property taxes. These amounts will be paid from property tax revenues (or additional sales tax revenues, if applicable).

Description of Debt	Principal or Contract Payment to be Paid from Property Taxes	Interest to be Paid from Property Taxes	Other Amounts to be Paid	Total Payment
Hospital Bond	505,000	292,263	0	797,263
Total required for 2018 debt service				$797,263
- Amount (if any) paid from funds listed in Schedule A				$0
- Amount (if any) paid from other resources				$0
- Excess collections last year				$0
= Total to be paid from taxes in 2018				$797,263
+ Amount added in anticipation that the unit will collect only 100.000000% of its taxes in 2018				$0
= Total Debt Levy				$797,263

This notice contains a summary of actual effective and rollback tax rates' calculations. You can inspect a copy of the full calculations at 305 3RD STREET/P O BOX 56, Bovina, TX 79009.

Local Workgroup Meeting Scheduled to discuss natural resource conservation

The USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) and Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District (SWCD) cordially invite the public, other USDA agencies, other federal, state and local agencies with an interest in natural resources conservation and related issues and concerns to attend and participate in a Local Working Group (LWG) meeting that will be held at 205 North St. Bovina, TX 79009 starting @ 9:00am Wednesday August 8th, 2018.

The meeting's purpose is to collect input from farmers, ranchers, federal, state and local agencies, agricultural leaders, organizations, businesses and other individuals who have an interest in natural resource conservation. Input allows a LWG to identify and prioritize a county's resource concerns that need to be addressed through eligible 2014 Farm Bill conservation practices and also aids in establishing ranking criteria for county based funding. Meeting recommendations are provided to and reviewed by the State Technical Advisory Committee (STAC) which advises the State Conservationist on the conservation programs offered by NRCS. Through stakeholder meetings like LWGs, the public has an opportunity to help local conservation leaders prioritize and set natural resource concerns in their counties. For more information you can contact Donnelle Jones at Parmer County Soil and Water Conservation District #140, 109 3rd Street, P.O. Box 359, Farwell, Texas, 79325 or call 806-481-3311 x3.

Psalm 86—Ingredients for Prayer

Brett Hoyle, Pastor, First Baptist Church

If you were going to make a delicious cake, what would you put in it? Flour, chocolate, sugar, chocolate, milk, chocolate, eggs, chocolate, and a little more chocolate may be part of your recipe, all for the purpose of making a delicious dessert. In dessert making there are specific ingredients you put in which render a certain product. Similarly, in prayer, there are essential aspects to Christ honoring prayer, and you read about a few in Psalm 86.

God for who God is and what God has done in his life. This essential aspect of prayer calls for scriptural meditation on the wonder of who God is as well as pondering the works He has accomplished. When prayer includes significant time of praising and meditating on who God is, it transforms the requests that you make in your prayers. For example, the final section of Psalm 86 is verse 14-17 where David pleads for God's help. Verse 14 depicts a very urgent problem in which "a band of ruthless men seek my life, and they do not set you before them." In other words, the mob was after David, which is a serious problem, but he anchors his soul and hope in who God is, followed by what God can do. Many prayers would have turned immediately to 'Lord slay the wicked and my enemies' but David recalls God's mercy, grace, patience, love and faithfulness and asks God for strength through trial, salvation from above, and for a sign that his enemies would know that God is real.

The desire for God to be glorified in how you pray and what you pray is a key ingredient to Christ honoring prayer! Stop praying "my will be done" and instead pray "Lord, thy will be done" in full trust of who He is, and that whatever answer He gives will be best.

Psalm 86 is a heartfelt prayer of David that breaks down into three parts. First is his petition for the Lord to hear and answer his prayer (v1-7). Then he moves into praising

Jesus is Happiness and Joy

By Teena Hughs

When I walk at the track, my mind travels in so many directions. This morning, I started thinking about a letter we received a few weeks ago from a close relative--close in relation, not close in relationship, because we haven't seen him in 15 - 20 years. He has no idea who we are or what we are about, and we can honestly say the same thing about him.

survey that showed conservatives are happier than liberals.

Whether liberal or conservative, the happiest, most joy-filled people I know are practicing Christians. There is a difference between people who say they know Jesus exists and they believe in Him and those who believe in Him and live their life for Him. You know, those people who have a relationship with Him and read their Bible regularly and study His Word; those who have an active prayer life; those who focus on others and not self and look for ways to help others, encourage them, show Jesus love to them; those who depend on Jesus for wisdom, advice, knowledge, comfort, strength, etc.; those who know God is our Creator;

those who are thankful to God in good times and bad (1 Thessalonians 5:18); those who try to live their lives loving Him with all their heart, mind, soul, and strength, and loving their neighbor as they love themselves (Matthew 22:37-39).

Life is all about choices. We all have ideas about what makes us happy and joy-filled. For me, true happiness, joy, peace, love, and everything else that is true, pure, and honest comes from Jesus. If you feel like something is missing in your life, you might examine your life with Jesus and where you are with Him. He is waiting for you to come to Him, and He will show you the path to true happiness and joy. Take care and have a great week!!!

Panhandle Parables

Forgiveness

By Jeff Procter, Minister, 6th Street Church of Christ

I ran across a quote from C.S. Lewis that got me to thinking about one of the great challenges of Christianity. He said, "Everyone says forgiveness is a lovely idea, until they have something to forgive." I have no reason to doubt the validity of the statement. Forgiveness has been preached from most if not all the pulpits every built. We hear Jesus say in teaching us to pray, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us...wait what! Yep that is the tough one. When the preacher says, we need to accept the forgiveness Jesus offers, we in, "Preach on brother!!" Then one day while walking down the street, someone does wrong in our eyes, they have trespassed against me, and all I can think is of avenging that wrong. You leave worship one Sunday, whistling the tune to "Angry words on let them never..." and we are slighted in some way and all the sudden, "Love one another, just like the Savior...are not the words that flow so quickly from our lips.

Forgiveness, few words can do the heavy lifting in life like the ones that form the sentence, "I forgive you." The sweet release of the right to punish, but it must be followed with the action that indicates the sincerity of the words were real. Letting go of the power we have over others, by empowering them to not be burdened by the sin against me. I suspect that there will be someone out there you need to forgive and if I am to take Jesus at His word, (Matthew 6.) Then I will not experience God's forgiveness if I cannot forgive those who sin against me. I have tried to find a less definite way to read that text and in the 48 years of my life particularly the last 28 I have not found one. My encouragement is for you to chew on that word a minute, then go set things straight with the one who wrestles with you. Forgiveness is one of the great glories that can lift me out of the mud and know that I have been forgiven. Then I need to go and do likewise. Thank you, Lord for forgiveness, may it ever grace our actions, form our words and guide us into a deeper understanding of Your will.
