Petroleum Economy In Lynn County

Petroleum production continues to play a significant role in the economy of Lynn County with a direct input of $1,221,177 last year.

According to the latest compilation of Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas Assn., the county in 1970 produced 365,956 barrels of crude oil valued at $1,207,655 and 92,618 thousand cubic feet of natural gas valued at $13,522. It ranked 167th in value of petroleum produced.

In addition, the county received the stimulation of $152,647 in royalty payments to land owners and others with mineral interests.

"Lynn was one of 187 Texas counties that had petroleum production valued at more than $125,000," says Kenneth E. Montague, Texas Mid-Continent president. "Its ability to produce helped Texas meet a record demand with record production of both oil and gas in 1970. This demand has again diminished Texas petroleum reserves as additions failed to offset withdrawals. In Texas, we only drilled 8,114 wells - the smallest number since 1946."

Texas state government benefited from the county's petroleum, receiving $55,552 in production taxes on crude oil and $1,014 on natural gas. Drilling expenditures in the county totaled $377,817 with $310,112 being lost on dry holes. Drillers completed one oil well and four dry holes. Three wildcats were drilled with all of them dry.

Harold Reynolds On 1971 Program of TSTA

Mr. Harold Reynolds, Superintendent of Schools Tahoka, has been selected as a program participant for the 1971 Joint Convention of the Texas Association of School Administrators and the Texas Association of School Boards in San Antonio on September 26 and 27. Reynolds' assignment will be to serve as member for the discussion group considering, Minimum Steps In Due Process."

The convention, which is expected to register 2500 school administrators and board members, has been planned to provide information and ideas that will be useful and beneficial in the operation of schools at the local level. The fact that the convention is jointly sponsored by the two associations is intended as a working example of the idea that the educational program in a community should develop from teamwork between the local citizenry and professional educators.

The program for the 1971 convention lists twenty-three different topics from which convention participants may choose. Program planners feel that the topic to be considered by this discussion group will be highly beneficial and informative to those who elect to attend this presentation.

C. R. Anthony Co. Begins 50th Year Celebration

The golden anniversary year of the founding of the C. R. Anthony Co., which began with a single store in Cushing, Okla., and is now one of the nation's larger department store chains, will be launched in Oklahoma City Friday, October 1.

The Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce will start the fiftieth birthday recognition with a special forum luncheon dedicated to C. R. Anthony, the 87-year-old merchant and longtime civic leader who launched his company in 1922. The story of the C. R. Anthony is more than a story of business acumen. It is the story of a young Tennessee farm boy who built a strong company creating jobs for thousands. And it is also the story of a man who had time to serve his fellow man in a larger sense.

Charles Ross Anthony was a Tennessee farm boy, the son of poor tenant farmers who moved to Missouri and then from farm to farm. He knew a life of grubbing, hard work before he even reached his teens. He was left without parents when he was twelve years old. First his mother died and then two years later, his father.

He hitched a ride with an uncle back to Tennessee where at 13 he was working in a stove bolt mill and later for a farmer grubbing sassafras sprouts. It was while working in that mill that he first showed his unusual trading ability. Young Ross bought a pair of heavy shoes he didn't need, but another boy who was working for a farmer wanted the shoes badly enough to trade for another pair plus $1. That trade was important for he saved that $1.00 and 24 more by splitting rails and picking cotton.

With this small stake he yielded to the lure of the West and took the "Home Seekers Special," a train, to the Indian Territory to what is now Holdenville, Oklahoma. He landed there in 1898 with a few cents in his pocket. Those pennies wouldn't go very far and he needed a job, badly. Someone told him to talk to Mrs. E. J. Scales, a widow who owned a general store. She needed someone to help her with the store and chores. It was the first job that launched the young Ross Anthony into the mercantile field.

"Ever since I can remember I've wanted to be a merchant," he admits, "of course, the towns in those days were little more than trading posts. The fellow that ran the country store was about the biggest man in town, which may be the reason I wanted to be a merchant instead of a policeman or a fireman."

Mrs. Scales was very influential in the young man's life. She had been a school teacher and was convinced that the boy needed more than the Fourth Reader. She financed his course at the Indianola Business College. After chopping wood, hauling feed and doing odd jobs in the daytime, he went to school at night. By 1906 his salary had been raised gradually from a start of $1 to $25 a month. He saved his money and bought 40 acres of land near Holdenville. That land made him a little money when he sold it for town lots. When Mrs. Scales decided to retire, she wanted the boy to buy her store.

Mr. Anthony was backed by a local banker, but he paid back the $6,000 he had borrowed within a year. The next year the floods came and he granted credit to his customers until he couldn't stand it any longer. He didn't go bankrupt, but he barely got out with his shirt. "That was one of the bad breaks that was about the best thing that ever happened," he says. "I've never done a credit business since. Of course, it can be done, but the customers have to pay for it through higher prices."

Then he went to work doing bookkeeping for the Wewoka Trading Co. It was there that he met and married Lottie Mauldin in 1910. Shortly after that, the company closed and he went to Muskogee to work for the Grand Leader store. Ross and his boss weren't compatible here, and he was about to be fired when he acquired a second-hand furniture store he had taken over for a bank. The bank had a mortgage on it, and when the owner died the bank let young Anthony buy it for $50 down. He "hooked" his wife's wedding ring to buy stock, searched the alleys for equipment, and ended up making money. But the dry goods business was his first love, and he took a job with the J. P. Martin Co. in Cleveland, Oklahoma. He stayed there for several years and then joined a chain department store organization in Idaho. He was interested in chain stores and wanted to learn.

But J. P. Martin kept after him to return to Oklahoma. Finally he agreed, if Martin would let him have a partnership and would agree to open more stores. Martin sold him a third interest, to be paid out of profits. Anthony worked so hard he paid for it the first year. Then according to the agreement, another store was opened out of the profits of the first, and the new manager got a third interest. Mr. Anthony a third and Mr. Martin a third.

Mr. Anthony found out that Martin was through with the chain store business when he presented a lease for store number seven in Cushing, Oklahoma. Mr. Anthony had promised men stores... his life's ambition had to be satisfied, so he converted his J. P. Martin holdings into cash, personally signed the lease, and went into business for himself in Cushing in 1922. That's the system on which Anthony stores have been organized. Profits from one store build another. The manager of every Anthony store trains another manager to be ready to run a new store.

Mr. C. R. Anthony is still serving as a President and Chairman of the Board of the company he founded, although he devotes much of his time to community projects. He helped establish and was the first president of Oklahoma City's United Fund and still serves on the Board of trustees. He also serves as a trustee of the Oklahoma City University.

Presently he is Director Emeritus, Liberty National Bank and Trust Co., Oklahoma City Oklahoma, Chairman of the Board, Citizens National Bank Oklahoma City, and on the Board of Directors of the following: Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce, Frontiers of Science Foundation, Oklahoma Industries, Inc., Oklahoma State Fair Association, and the Water Development Foundation of Oklahoma. He is director of the Metropolitan Board, YMCA, a trustee of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame and Western Heritage Center, and the Lay Advisory Board, St. Anthony Hospital, Oklahoma City.

Recently, Mr. Anthony was awarded an honorary membership in the Telephone Pioneers of America in recognition of his 20 years on the Board of Directors of Southwestern Bell Telephone Company.

He is a recipient of the coveted Horation Alger award and has been cited by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He has received the annual Humanity Award from the Big Brothers of America, also an Honorary Degree of Law from the Oklahoma City University, and the Doctor of Humanities Degree presented by the Bethany Nazarene College, Bethany, Oklahoma.

The pattern of his work and personal commitment has sparked vital causes. C. R. Anthony has been an important factor in some capacity for the betterment of his community, and often on a state and national basis. He says, "My philosophy is that you get out of your work just what you put into it. You get out of your community just what you put into it, and you get out of life what you put into it."

Many People Using City-County Library Tahoka PTA To Meet Oct. 5

The Tahoka P.T.A. will meet Tuesday, Oct. 5 in the school cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. The program will be presented by Mr. Frank Hill on the "Progress of Lynn County." There will be an executive meeting at 7:00 p.m. preceding the regular meeting. We urge you to attend.

During the past six months there has been an increase in patronage of the City-County Library, according to Mrs. A. J. Kaddatz, the librarian. During the period ending with August, there had been a total of 3,593 books checked out by citizens of the county. Adults read a total of 2,119 books, and children checked out a total of 1,474. The increase in patronage over the same period last year was in spite of the fact that Wilson school library was kept open during the past summer. Mrs. Kaddatz reports the 62 children participated in the Summer Reading Program, and 43 of these qualified for certificates by reading 12 or more books. The library is constantly adding new books to its shelves, and also has many reference books that are available to the public.

Water Project Is Rotary Subject

Duncan Ellison of Water, Inc., presented a picture and talk on the California water project, now nearing completion, at the Rotary Club last Thursday.

The California project, the biggest in the history of the world, moves surplus water from northern California to the southern part of the state over mountain ranges and through valleys to irrigate thousands of acres of new land. State Representative E. L. Short, who recently made the tour of the project with a large group of Texans, introduced the speaker.

A number of Tahoka Rotarians attended the annual Lubbock inter-city meeting Thursday night.

LESSONS FROM THE BIBLE

'Like a fire and like a hammer that breaketh the rock into pieces' is the description God gives to His Word. (Jeremiah 23:29). The Word of God is represented as bread and water in Matthew 4:4; John 7:38; Revelation 22:17. Jesus said, "Heaven and earth shall pass away, but my Word will never pass away" (Matthew 24:35). "But the Word of the Lord abides forever" (1 Peter 1:25).

There is a tendency today for people to cry to preachers, "Make the Word of God relevant to our day." If by this they mean that sermons should be constructed in such a manner as to be persuasive and constructive, then I have no quarrel with them. If, however, they mean (as it seems they do) that the Word of God should be withheld, perverted, slanted, shaded, contaminated, added to, taken from, and compromised to accommodate the prejudices, theories, and think-so's of unregenerated men, or adjusted to the whims of the partially converted, then I wholeheartedly disagree because God has never allowed any such trifling with His Word. Along with the Giver of the Word - The Godhead - "it is the same yesterday, today, and forever."

Referring to the passages above, we see that God's Word is like a fire. Now, how does one make fire relevant? Should a water hose be turned upon it? Certainly not. If this was done it would no longer accomplish its purpose. How can one make a hammer relevant? Not by soft-soaping it or putting a cushion over it to soften the impact. And further - how does one make bread and water relevant? They have always been to sustain life and they are still for that purpose today. How can one make food any more relevant to the body than it was the day it was created? IT CANNOT BE DONE! For food to be relevant to the body - to meet the needs of the body - it must be taken into the body. Thus it is with the Word of God. It has always met the needs of man, and it will still meet the needs of man today. A man told me once that he hated the taste of water. Yet, he still had to drink it to live.

In looking back to the time when Jesus was on earth, the Master Teacher; the Master Preacher; the Perfect Son of God did many miracles and great works in Capernaum, yet He said "if these miracles had been done in Sodom which occurred in you, it would have remained to this day." (cf. Matthew 11:20-24). Why was it that the Master did not accomplish much in Capernaum? Because the Word He taught was not relevant? Absolutely not! You know His Word was relevant. His word failed because the people DID NOT WANT WHAT HE HAD TO OFFER.

Why the hue and cry today - "Make the Bible relevant?" Because people DO NOT want to conform to its teachings, and they want to try to change it instead of changing themselves to conform to its divine injunctions. There are many human beings who do not like the Word of God and will never like it; and there is no way to make the saving Word attractive to them that choose to reject the counsel of their Creator. The Word of God was relevant to man's needs when it was given and it is just as relevant today.

The total value of the 1971 tax roll is $17,132,643, which is slightly under last year's value.

State tax will amount to $45,709.49, County Tax - $179,901.75, High Plains Water Dist. Tax - $2,744.38, and the Hospital District Tax will amount to $127,673.29, which makes total taxes for 1971 $356,028.91.

HOMINY GRITS

By CORNBALL BLEVINS

WE'D THINK THAT if any people could be sold on the idea that "You Can't Take It With You" it should be those that proclaim the name of Christ. To what purpose are they amassing their wealth?

Is this the reason they stand in the pulpit and wheedle and coax their members to "Give 'Til It Hurts!"—In order to have more to invest in stocks?

IS IT A MARK of prestige for a religious body to have a large bank balance, while there is so much ignorance of Christ in the world?—While there is so much starvation and nakedness around us?

These people are concerned about such questions as: "Should they withdraw their money from such firms as breweries, tobacco companies, those who don't have fair employment practices, those that aren't trying to preserve the ecology, and the like?"

WHILE I'M TRYING to give their concern some serious thought, I keep seeing, in my minds eye, the sacrifice of conscientious church members. Some even deny themselves and families, in order to pour more money into the coffers of these institutions.

Until there are no people that haven't heard the Gospel, and, until there is no starvation and nakedness, I can find no justification for any religious group having any sizable bank account, much less, money with which to play the stock market!

I INVITE your attention to an article in the Sept. 20th issue of "U. S. News and World Report."

The question raised, Page 71, is: "Should churches use their funds to force social change?"

WHILE I PLEAD complete ignorance to the proper answer of the question asked, I stand amazed at the information given in this article.

In the first place, I take a dim view of the church name being used any place in political questions. I have trouble seeing a religious "Bloc" being used as a threat to any candidate or "movement."

THE THING THAT'S amazing, is: That religious groups and big wheels have the presumption to take "The Widows Mite" and use it to play the stock market, invest in bonds, and the like.

Someone needs to tell us again, just what purpose we make our contribution to the church!

It is estimated that somewhere between 11 and 20 BILLIONS of church money is being circulated in such investments!

THIS, WE THOUGHT, was to be used in "The Spreading Of The Gospel", and "Care Of The Widows And The Orphans". We remember that Christ drove to "Money Changers" from the temple. Now we find that the same old clan is operating "In His Name"!

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

In this era of booming outdoors adventures, newspapers—weeklies as well as dailies—seek good photographs of their readers and their outstanding catches. Editors are just as anxious as the hunters or fishermen to see these pictures printed.

Unfortunately, a goodly number of such photos, often taken of truly outstanding fish or game, are rejected. In most instances rejection was due to the poor quality of the pictures.

Most newspapers prefer photos taken by their own staff photographers. But fishing and hunting are sports of unusual hours, to say the least, so staff photos are impractical. Outdoorsmen, proud of their trophy fish and game, usually have a buddy take a pix of them or have a commercial photographer do the job.

Problem with many commercial photographers is that they usually don't have prints ready for a week, perhaps even longer, unless a premium fee is paid. Unfortunately, the news value of a picture lessens with the passage of each day.

The buddy-snapped photo, rushed to the corner drug store, can be back in your hands in 24 to 36 hours. This is not enough time loss to kill the news value of the picture. Even so, the photo may still be rejected.

Usually the reason for rejection is the matter of a photo lacking contrast, being out of focus, or being taken from too great a distance.

If you have a buddy take the picture, keep the following points in mind:

1. Have him move in close so that you and your trophy fill the view finder on the camera. Too much background and extraneous scenery only detract.
2. Have him focus the camera sharply. If the camera is a fixed-focus model, step off a distance of about nine or 10 feet and you will be in reasonably good focus.
3. Avoid cluttered backgrounds. Preferably use a cloudy sky or water.
4. Trophy catches and kills usually come once in a lifetime. Treat the occasion as such by keeping in mind that film is inexpensive. To be sure, shoot up the whole roll of film at different exposures. Better still, make it two rolls . . . at different distances, with different exposures (both lens openings and shutter speeds).
5. When you take the picture to the newspaper office, take the negatives, too. A good newspaper photographer often can do some "doctoring" in the darkroom and come up with a print that's excellent for publication.

A Pinch Of Garlic

You've heard it said that if you feed a dog garlic with his food it will rid him of fleas. There may be something to this axiom.

A University of California scientist has discovered that garlic contains a powerful natural insecticide—powerful enough to have killed 100 per cent of five species of mosquitoes in laboratory tests.

Dr. Eldon L. Reeves, of the university's division of biological control here, said that garlic was strong enough even to destroy the tough pasture mosquito of the San Joaquin Valley.

The investigation began because Reeves said, garlic smelled like certain algae he and graduate student S. V. Amonkar were studying as a possible biological control of mosquitoes.

The studies, Reeves said, consisted of exposing minute doses of garlic extract to five species of young mosquitoes. The results were so convincing, he said, that the herb may become the source of a potent new mosquito larvacide.

"Garlic was used in ancient China and India as a spice and as a folk medicine," Reeves said. "And it's known to be useful in counteracting worms, protozoa, bacteria, flatulence and urinary troubles."

Its active ingredient, allicin, has been used against a number of human diseases, Reeves said, and dehydrated garlic has been found active against certain cases of food poisoning, especially salmonella.

The active principle responsible for the larvicidal activity is present in the oil of garlic, Reeves said. "The oil fraction, even though not pure, showed 12 times as much power to kill mosquito larvae as the crude extract of garlic."

Soon sweet essence of garlic may pervade the alleys of an evening, replacing sweet essence of malathion.

Hornets Beat Eagles, 12-8

Conference Play Friday Night

The Fighting Tahoka Bulldogs, in probably their best performance of the season, edged the Olton Mustangs last Friday night 14-12. The Bulldogs played without two of their starters, John Thomas and Phil McClendon who were sidelined by injuries.

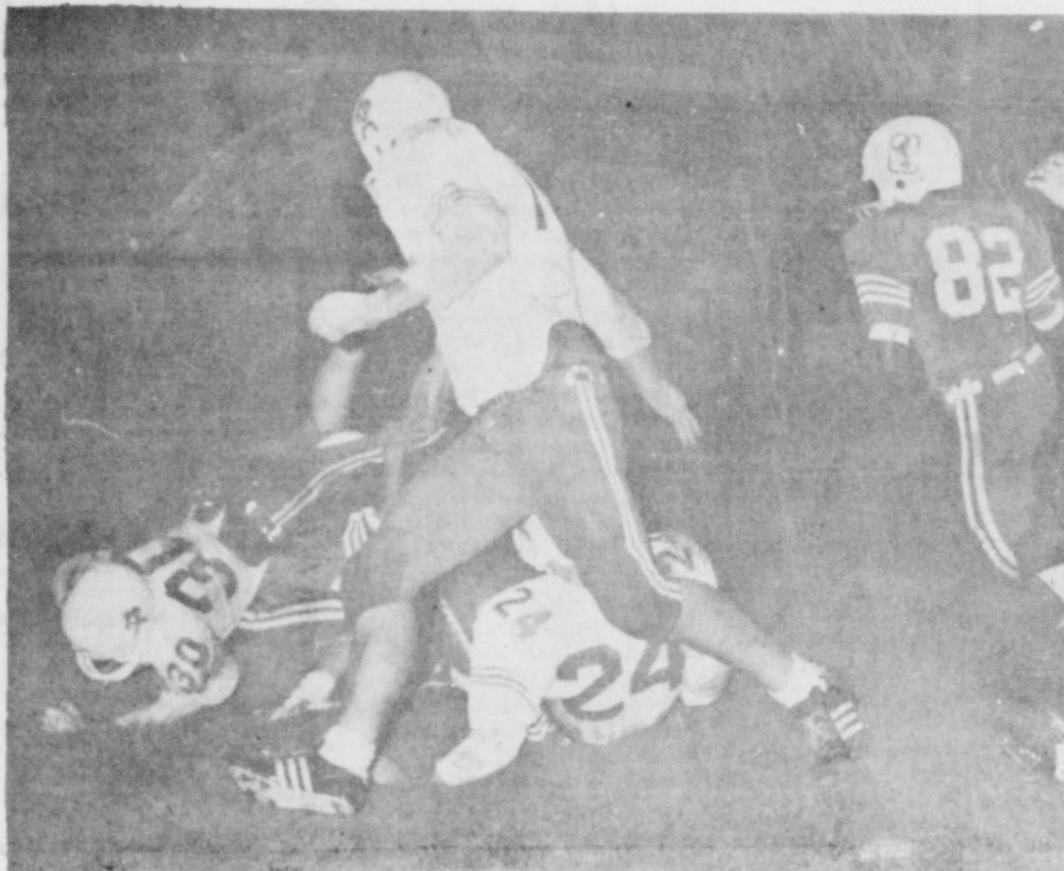

DEFENSIVE ACTION—Jeff Atwell is shown here on one of his many tackles last Friday night against the Olton Mustangs. Jeff also did some pinpoint passing to lead the Bulldogs to a 14-12 victory over the Mustangs. Ladd Roberts and Gary McCord are shown in the background.

Tahoka took the lead in the second quarter on a 1-yard play by fullback Ladd Roberts. Zedlitz kicked the extra point and it was 7-0. The Bulldogs extended their lead to 14-0 in the fourth quarter when quarterback Jeff Atwell found Zedlitz again connected.

Flag Football

The Cowboys on route to their second loss of the season had six passes drop as well as a few bad throws with the game in the open. New Home Draft Dodgers beat the Tahoka Vikings with a score of TD's in the second quarter. Steve Alexander pass to L. Martin put the Vikings on the scoreboard with 6 points. Under intercepted and ran again to make it 12-0. In the second half Jim Martin raced 53 yards to put the Raiders at six points back. Jimmy Armes hit Dan Nettleton to tie the score and the game ended with New Home on the march again only to fall short of time.

SHORT YARDAGE—Ladd Roberts, No. 30 is shown hitting the ground after a short gain against the Olton Mustangs. Gary McCord and Clifford Laws are shown leading interference for Ladd. Ladd has been a good yard gainer for the Bulldogs all season.

Gus Mutscher Indicted On Bribery Charges

AUSTIN—House Speaker Gus Mutscher and two of his chief lieutenants have been indicted on bribery charges arising out of the Texas stock scandal.

Mutscher, the highest state official to face criminal charges since Gov. James W. Ferguson was impeached in 1917, told newsmen Thursday after being fingerprinted: "the big fish are still swimming."

"I think it's a politically motivated thing, designed to destroy me politically and completely destroy my future," Mutscher said.

Four Are Indicted

The Travis County Grand Jury Thursday indicted Mutscher on charges of accepting a bribe and conspiring to accept a bribe.

The grand jury indicted Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, speaker pro tempore, and Mutscher's chief administrative assistant, Rush McGinty, on charges of conspiring to accept a bribe.

John Osorio, former State Insurance Commissioner and president in 1969 of National Bankers Life Insurance Co., now in receivership, was indicted on a charge of filing a false report with the State Board of Insurance.

Slaps At Others

The grand jury also took a swipe at other "high state officials" for their "questionable practices." Some Texas lawmakers have been "too busy granting political favors and being influenced in exchange for 'turning a fast buck,' the jury said in a special report.

Mutscher posted $20,000 bond on his two charges. McGinty posted $10,000 bond on his charge.

Shannon reportedly was prepared to post $10,000 bond in Fort Worth, to where Travis County Sheriff T. O. Long mailed an arrest warrant.

Shannon's Austin office issued a statement saying he was certain he would be cleared in court.

Osorio reportedly would post $10,000 bond later.

Call For Resignation

Seven members of the "Dirty 30," a coalition of Republicans and liberal Democrats that has fought Mutscher's team in the House, issued a statement calling for Mutscher and Shannon to resign.

"When individuals have been indicted for abusing their powerful political positions and the public trust they should not serve in such positions," said Reps. Frances Farthenhold, Corpus Christi; Lane Denton, Waco; Ben Grant Marshall; and Tom Bass, R. C. Nichols, Curtis Graves and Walter Mengden, all of Houston.

Mutscher and McGinty were taken to the jail floor of the county courthouse for fingerprinting and photographs "just like everyone else" said Chief Sheriff's Deputy George Pope. They were released after posting the bonds.

Get Good Lawyer

They are represented by Frank Maloney, prominent Austin criminal attorney who defended James C. Cross and Clyde Durbin in two sensational murder trials in 1966 and 1969.

The Associated Press reported Sept. 2 that drafts of indictments against the four men had been made by Dist. Atty. Bob Smith's office.

Smith said Thursday no trial would take place until December at least and perhaps not until June 1972, depending on motions for delay and how many cases involving defendants in jail were on the docket.

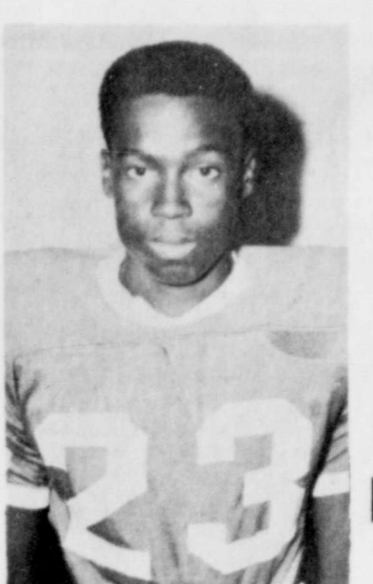

According to E. L. Short, State Representative from the 73rd district he was one of forty - two of the Conservative Democrats that attended a meeting in Dallas concerning the Bribery indictment concerning Mutscher.

Short said that seven names were selected from the group and that Mutscher had agreed to select one of them as speaker protem. If Mutscher is convicted of the charges he will be either forced to resign or be impeached by the House. None of the seven names that were selected will run for speaker if Mutscher resigns. Another meeting has been scheduled for the group on or before October 20.

The Wilson Mustangs took the second half kickoff and marched 60 yards to earn a 6-6 tie with the Forsan Buffaloes. The two teams battled up and down the field for the remainder of the half. Darrow Talkmitt, in the third quarter, capped the opening drive with a one-yard dive for the tying touchdown. The running try for the winning points failed.

Linebackers Talkmitt and Danny Crowson were defensive standouts for Wilson.

Mrs. Hegi Presents Program On Consumer Affairs

The Phebe K. Warner Club met Tuesday, September 28, in the home of Mrs. Truett Smith with Mrs. Oscar Rutledge as co-hostess.

Mrs. J. D. Atwell, President, presided at the meeting and announced the District Board Meeting in Levelland at South Plains College on Saturday, October 16. Several members plan to attend. A report was given on the District Reports and Department Workshop in Lubbock. All members were urged to participate in a card-writing campaign to "Save the Big Thicket." The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs is endeavoring to have this area in Southeast Texas preserved as a National Park.

Mrs. Ray Adams, Parliamentarian, presented a clever reminder of the correct procedure for motions. Mrs. G. M. Stewart, Membership Chairman, stated that the Constitution limits the club membership to thirty-two active members. We now have thirty-two active members, so can take in only two more new ones.

"Your Rights As A Consumer" was the title of a most interesting and informative program by Mrs. F. B. Hegi, Home Life Chairman. She elaborated on these four consumer rights on responsibilities: (1) Right to be informed, (2) Right to choose, (3) Right to safety and protection, (4) Right to be heard.

The meeting closed with the members repeating "The Lord's Prayer" in unison.

Something totally new and different in foods is expected for the future. In fact, food industries estimate that in only 10 years nearly half of the foods we'll be eating haven't been invented yet.

Most of tomorrow's foods, however, will be modifications and improvements on today's staples. Natural farm products, for example, will be used as building blocks for these foods.

One innovation planned for the future is production of air-tight packaged meals. Each course is sealed in disposable dishes, lithographed to look like fine china.

Foods for special age groups are particularly being studied. Orange juice without acid and cholesterol-free eggs, for example are two food items being developed for the elderly. Other food projects underway include potato chips with crunchiness but with less fat and carbohydrates, and chewing gum with nutritional and dental value.

Increasing attention is also being paid to food packaging. Bull-in-the-bag vegetables of the 1960's are just forerunners to the "roast in the pouch" meats, casseroles and convenience foods developed in the 70's. Also on the market will be edible packages that flavor their contents. More packages will be used as serving dishes, and better package disposability will be highlights of the years to come.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK:
Cheesy Beef Turnovers:
 Filling:
 1/2 pound ground beef
 1/4 cup chopped onion
 2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
 1/2 cup shredded sharp cheddar cheese
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 1 egg slightly beaten
 Pastry:
 1 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 1/2 cup corn meal
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 cup cold water

For filling, cook beef, onion and green pepper in small amount of hot shortening in skillet until beef is browned. Pour off excess fat. Add cheese, salt, pepper and egg. Mix well. For pastry, sift together flour, corn meal and salt. Cut in butter until mixture resembles coarse crumbs. Add water and mix lightly only until mixture is dampened. (If necessary add an additional tablespoon water to make dough hold together.) Form into ball. Roll out on lightly floured board or canvas to form an 18 X 12 inch rectangle. Cut into six 6-inch squares.

Place about 1/4 cup filling on diagonal half of each square. Moisten edges of pastry; fold to form triangle. With floured fork seal edges firmly and prick tops. Wrap carefully in freezer paper of aluminum foil and freeze until ready to use.

Bake, unthawed, on ungreased cookie sheet in preheated hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 30 minutes or until lightly browned.

Highlights AND Sidelights
 by Vern Sanford
 TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Gov. Preston Smith and the State Comptroller's office hold different views on timing of a special session of the Legislature to pass the second half of the 1972-73 budget.

Smith apparently wants to wait until next June -- when primary elections are over and a longer-range look at possible tax revenue is available.

Comptroller's aides voiced concern that a session delayed that long could not produce needed new revenue by September 1, start of the state's fiscal year. A sales tax increase, for example, in April would not produce money until the state from merchants until the end of July or early August.

Smith was unimpressed: "He (Comptroller Robert S. Calvert) is not the governor," Smith noted.

Smith's veto of the second year of the biennial spending bill necessitates a complete rewrite in special session sometime within the next year. A special session would have been required, anyway, since the 1971 Legislature did not pass a 1973 welfare appropriation.

"The people are not too anxious to have the legislature in special session," Smith said. "The longer we can delay, the better position we will be in for the Comptroller to give an accurate revenue estimate (for the next year) and to determine revenue needs of the state."

The Governor indicated strongly, however, that if a special session is necessary to redistrict the House of Representatives, budgeting and re-apportionment probably will be considered at the same time. He controls the timing and subject matter of special sessions.

"If we can get by with one special session, we sure don't want to have two," Smith said. COURT REVIEWS DISTRICTS TANGLE -- The State Supreme Court heard a barrage of conflicting arguments as to what should be done about House of Representatives redistricting before the High Court:

+ That it should order a five-member Legislative Redistricting Board to perform "its constitutional duty" and reapportion the House in line with the 1970 census.

+ That it should prohibit the Board from reapportioning either House or Senate on grounds that the new census has not been completely published and that redistricting thus should be delayed until 1973.

+ That 150 single-member House districts are required.

+ That single-member districts are not required as long as they do not cause discrimination against any group.

APPOINTMENTS -- Governor Smith named three new members of the Parks and Wildlife Commission under the 1971 act expanding the agency to six commissioners. New members are Max L. Thomas of Dallas, Joe K. Fulton of Lubbock and Robert Bursleson of Temple.

Smith also announced these recent appointments:

- + Doug Toole Sr. of Houston to Texas Water Quality Board.
- + Howard B. Boswell to the State Board of Control.

+ Robert C. Kepler of Dallas to the State Board of Pharmacy.

+ Lynn B. Griffith of Waxahatchie to the Trinity River Authority.

+ Louis F. Shanks of Austin (reappointment) to the School Land Board.

Reps. Richard Slack of Pecos and James L. Slider of Naples were reappointed by House Speaker Gus Mutscher to the Texas Legislative Budget Board.

LAND BIDS TAKEN -- Bonus bids totaling nearly $4.8 million were paid for oil and gas leases on 68,867 acres of University of Texas land at public auction last week.

Bids brought the Permanent University Fund to a record of $579.8 million. Average $69.26 per acre price was the highest the University has received at lease auctions since 1965. Highest bidders for a single tract were Allied Chemical Corporation and Champion Petroleum Company in a joint offer of $260,000 for a 320-acre tract in Ward County. If oil or gas production is realized, the permanent University Fund will receive a one-sixth royalty payment in addition to the bonus bid.

The School Land Board will meet October 5 to consider a rule regulating the use of water on state-owned land under oil and gas leases.

VERNON SITE SELECTED -- Vernon Center South was selected by the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation as the site for the state's first comprehensive treatment and rehabilitation center for hard core, juvenile drug addicts.

The drug center will contain facilities for housing, education, treating and training about 350 juveniles 14-21 years of age.

MH - MR Commissioner Dr. David Wade said the proposed program will push Texas into national leadership in treating and rehabilitating young drug users.

GRANTS APPROVED -- Texas will get $411,675 in new federal grants to fund two Office of Economic Opportunity programs this fiscal year.

One of the grants provides $237,700 in new funds and $22,300 in carryover money for state agency assistance. A second for $96,000 (including $12,025 in carry-over cash) will finance a state special technical assistance program.

OEO will use the money to provide technical aid to 47 Texas community action agencies and nine limited purpose agencies representing 75 percent of the population.

AG OPINIONS -- A state agency which prior to the presidential wage-price freeze order paid insurance premiums for individual employees in excess of $12.50 a month can continue to do so, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a recent opinion.

Newly-employed persons are entitled to the same coverage provided prior to the August 15 freeze for other employees similarly situated, Martin said.

In a separate new opinion, Martin said a county auditor is not authorized to require as a prerequisite to his approval of a claim or items of expense that a requisition be signed and approved by him at the time a purchase is made or expense incurred.

CARS IMPORTANT TO TEXAS TOWNS -- About 2,600 Texas communities have no other mode of transportation available other than highways, Texas Highway Commission Chairman DeWitt C. Greer noted in a recent speech.

While the population of the state has increased an average of 162,000 a year for the last decade, Greer pointed out that motor vehicle registrations jumped by 284,000 last year. Unless the highway system is continually expanded and modernized, warned Greer, Texas will face a "crisis in mobility."

SHORT SNORTS: Sen. Ralph Hall of Rockwall entered the lieutenant governor's race last week.

Supreme Court Chief Justice Robert W. Calvert announced he will not be a candidate for re-election next year, and Associate Justice Joe Greenhill said he will seek the chief justice's post.

Texas Research League will make a new study of major alternatives in state-local financing of public school education.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department has available for distribution a new 40-page magazine - size bulletin on "Freshwater Fishes of Texas."

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert is requiring certification on every state voucher that the purchase is in compliance with the wage-price freeze-in spite of some protests.

Hunter participation in the white-winged dove hunts in the Lower Rio Grande Valley was said to be the lowest in years due to Hurricane Fern.

The boys began workouts each week-day morning on August 15, under direction of Coach Jim Foust.

Wednesday, they scrimmaged the ex-Bulldogs, with latter showing the school boys a few pointers by scoring three touchdowns.

Charles Verner, accompanied by Mrs. J. K. Applewhite, sang "Because," Mrs. Applewhite played traditional wedding music throughout the ceremony.

Mrs. M. M. Hall entered the Tahoka Hospital early last week as a patient suffering from a spider bite. While she was slowly recovering from the effects of the venom injected by the vicious insect, Mr. Hall called often to see her and one day this week as he was about to enter the hospital he fell on the Clinic steps and fractured his knee cap.

Thereupon, he too became a patient in the hospital, underwent surgery, and had his leg placed in a cast. His injury was probably worse than the spider's bite.

Mrs. Beula Atkins was recently a patient for several days in the Tahoka Hospital but was released before the close of last week.

On Sunday she had as her guests Hubert Davis and family of Folydada, he being a brother, E. D. Duncan and family, Mrs. O. R. Issacs and daughters, all of Brownfield, and Mrs. Alline Jones a nurse at the Treadway-Daniell Hospital, Brownfield.

A new scoreboard was installed this week on the Tahoka Bulldogs' Foust Field by the Lions Club.

The old board erected by the FFA boys was replaced by a larger and more elaborate one. The new board is 8 by 16 feet in size and its bottom is five feet from the ground. The background is white, with the border and lettering in blue. Members of the club did the work of erecting the board.

A tractor sales and service department has been added to Winston C. Wharton's business on North Main. The Ferguson system implements and parts will be handled.

Ernest Walker, Manager of the service station, has been named as manager of the Wharton Tractor Co., which is located in the building immediately north of and adjoining the Wharton Motor Co. shop.

Walker recently attended a six-day school for dealers held at the Grand Prairie plant of the Ferguson company.

Things are really happening at the Nursing Home this week. First we want to thank each friend who brought us gifts. Mrs. Stone baked a delicious orange cake to be enjoyed by the staff and Mrs. Kaddatz brought a home baked Lemon pie and some brownies for us all to enjoy. Mrs. Pauline Walters brought cantalopes - enough for everyone and Mrs. C. E. Short came with radishes and hot peppers.

The lovely flowers were sent to the home by Mr. and Mrs. Reddell in memory of Grady Groves.

Another nice thing was done for us by Mr. Garland Pennington. Somehow or another he found out we only get 2 Sunday morning papers and that is just not enough to go around to 37 people. He brought us over some more. Thank you sir!

Four or five patients receive the Tahoka Paper each week in their mail but if you have an extra lying around your house you might bring it over so more of us could enjoy reading it.

Mrs. Autry, who has been working as an aide on the eleven to seven shift took over part of the housekeeping chores this week. The hours are more compatible to her home life and she filled a void here at work left when Mrs. Bales entered nursing school in Brownfield.

Mrs. Bales and Claudia Cawman are still working weekends at the home and both report they certainly enjoy nursing school!

Corine Izard had lots of visitors this week. Raymond and Dottie Ashbrook were in Saturday night, Ruby Harvick was in, too, and Mr. and Mrs. Willis Pennington came Sunday.

We've a new aide. Diani Minoz from Wilson. We hope she enjoys working at the home.

Mrs. Cunningham had lots of visitors this week. Her daughter and granddaughter were here Tuesday and then Saturday she had a whole room full of company to enjoy when all the following folks were in. Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth W. Cunningham, Kristy Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Norval Cunningham, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith and Perry. They were here about 2 hours and she sure enjoyed their visit.

We have three of our patients in the Lynn County Hospital and we know they are getting excellent care but we sure miss them. They are Bonnie Smith who is in poor condition, Mr. John Slover who had another stroke, and Mrs. Hill who hasn't been well at all since she entered the home several weeks ago. Let's continue to remember the people and their families in our prayers.

ers each day. The good Lord can handle problems we of the medical profession can't touch.

Bonnie's step-sister, Mrs. Lucy Clevenger was in to visit with her before she got so very sick.

Mrs. McCords children and grandchildren are in to visit her almost every day and Mr. Inklebarger's folks are very faithful to see to him. He was visited by his mother and sister this past week.

Valeta Burks is in Lubbock with her mother for the weekend. We miss her when she's gone. She shares a room with Corine Izard and we don't know if Corine snores at night if Valeta doesn't report to us. But, I bet she snores even when Valeta is gone!

Mrs. Harter had a nice outing Saturday when Rallegna and Rose Mary Harter took her out to supper and for a nice drive. Nell Connel, Mr. Rary and Linda B. Malouf took Mrs. Connel out for a drive, too.

Mrs. Reid got to go home with the Pebsworths' Sunday for dinner. We know she enjoyed her outing. She sure looked pretty when she left the home.

Mr. Stanley came down and brought Mrs. Stone to visit Mr. Stone. Mrs. Stone doesn't drive and appreciates it when she can get a ride with someone coming this way.

Other visitors signing our register not mentioned above are Mr. and Mrs. Darnell Boyd, Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Proffitt, Miss O. Z. Harris, Mrs. Lela Wood, Mrs. Pauline Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Pierce, Mr. and Mrs. Reddell, Leona Waldrip, Mrs. Doyle Terry, Mrs. J. M. Inklebarger, Mr. and Mrs. Luther Forester, Tome Alvarada, Mrs. Leo Dulin, Mr. and Mrs. Monk and Mrs. Walker.

Thank you everyone!

Mr. and Mrs. Dewayne Jolly are the parents of a daughter born at 1:50 a.m. Thursday, Sept. 23 in the Lynn County Hospital.

The baby weighed 7 lbs. 9 1/2 ozs. and has been named A'Leeta Kaye. Mr. Jolly is a farmer.

Deliberations of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., aimed at formulating legislative policy to be used in securing an acceptable government cotton program to succeed present law, officially began in Lubbock September 22 with a meeting of the 25-county cotton producer association's 11-man Legislative Committee. J. D. Smith of Littlefield is committee chairman.

The present cotton program expires with the 1973 crop, so the development of a new program must begin in 1972, Smith told the committee.

"And whatever success we may have in getting the best program for High Plains cotton will depend a great deal on how well we do our advance homework," he said.

Meeting with the committee at Smith's request was one of the nation's most respected cotton economists, Dr. M. K. Horne of Memphis, Tenn. Dr. Horne retired last year from the staff of the National Cotton Council, but at the request of the Council's Producer Steering Committee is now directing an in-depth study of cotton's economic position and point of cotton producers.

PCG President Donnell Echols of Lamesa is Vice Chairman of the Producer Steering Committee and PCG Board Chairman Don Anderson of Crosbyton is a member.

Smith invited Dr. Horne, he said, "because I believe his knowledge and the eventual results of the study he is directing can increase our understanding of the economic factors affecting cotton production, prices and markets, both in this country and abroad.

And the better we understand these things the better position we will be in determining the kind of government program needed."

Dr. Horne's study, slated for completion in December of this year, is divided into five "work projects," utilizing the expertise of nine well-known cotton economists. From these separate works Dr. Horne is assigned the task of putting together a single, comprehensive report for the Producer Steering Committee.

Two of the projects, Horne said, are assigned to marketing research economists with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. One will address itself to the supply situation, primarily to examine the size cotton carryover that is required each year to assure cotton's efficient movement into marketing channels. The other will consist of a "balance measurement" of off-farm costs in the cotton system by areas of production and by the function of each cost-producing operation.

Project number three, headed by Gaylon Barker of the NCC staff, is an intensive study of consumption volumes that could be expected at three different price levels for cotton, 23, 28, and 33 cents per pound. This information will be compiled for each of the 20 leading cotton areas.

Current production costs, the outlook for production costs and possibilities for actions to reduce production costs over the next few years is the subject of the fifth study, directed by George Townsend, also of the NCC.

The other four economists selected from universities located in four different sections of the cotton belt, are "looking over the shoulder" of their project leaders to assure that their individual reports don't conflict with regional considerations in cotton's economic picture. Dr. T. R. Timm of Texas A&M was chosen from the Southwest area.

Dr. Horne emphasized that his job was not to propose a specific program or program for cotton, but to "submit the Producer Steering Committee an economic appraisal of various alternatives that may be available to the industry."

"And of course it will be up to the Producer Steering Committee and others in the industry as to what use is made of the report," he said.

Smith said other meetings of the PCG Legislative Committee will be called to evaluate Dr. Horne's report when it comes available and to assess the legislative climate and other factors that will influence future government programs.

Fertilizer Will Boost Fall Forage

Prospects for good grazing and hay from recent rains should please stockmen over the state. And they can boost forage production even more by applying fertilizer, says Al Novosad, pasture specialist with the Texas Extension Service.

Perennial grass pastures should be fertilizer now for increased fall production and quality. If pastures have not been fertilized since spring, plant nutrients—especially nitrogen -- have been depleted, and an application now will correct this situation.

Soil moisture must be available for top production and at present is adequate over most counties.

With the improved moisture situation this year, the specialist believes that fall pasture fertilization will be a good practice. Most of the state enjoys a long growing season for perennial warm-season grasses, but lack of fertilization usually limits the production of quality forage in the fall.

In many areas, annual "all pasture fertilization should prove profitable. It is especially important this year, Novosad emphasizes, because of the short forage situation.

Refusal to Work
Out of work? To millions of people in that predicament, unemployment compensation has been a Godsend. But in order to collect those weekly checks, you have to be willing to take another job if one turns up.

Booster Club To Meet Monday

The Bulldog Booster Club met at 7:30 p.m. in the School Cafeteria with President, J. D. Atwell presiding.

The film of the seventh and eighth grade games with French will be shown next meeting.

The Booster Club will be selling windbreakers for $7.25 T-Shirts for children $2.00, and snugg bugs $12.50.

The film of the Tahoka - Olton game was shown.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 in the School Cafeteria on October 4.

This raises problems. How willing do you have to be? If the job is good but the hours are bad, must you accept anyhow—or lose your right to compensation?

Generally speaking, the law makes reasonable allowance for hardship cases. For example: An unemployed woman was offered a job on the night shift at a nearby factory. When she refused to take it, her unemployment compensation was cut off.

But in a court hearing, she told the judge that she would have had to walk home in the dark through a tough neighborhood—and that she had been terrorized twice by nocturnal assailants.

The judge decided that her refusal to take the job was justified, and ordered her compensation payments reinstated.

That does not mean, however, that you can wait serenely until the perfect job comes along. Another case involved a restaurant worker who, accustomed to working from 6 a.m. to 3 p.m., turned down a job that started two hours later in the day.

"Frankly," he explained, "it's just too hard for me to change my hours. I'm used to the old way."

But this time, a court denied his right to unemployment compensation. He was out of work, noted the court, more by choice than by necessity.

Suppose a job that is offered would create religious conflicts. A number of cases have arisen involving Seventh-Day Adventists who were not willing to work on Saturday.

Almost invariably, the courts have accepted this as a legitimate reason for rejecting a job, with no effect on the person's right to collect unemployment compensation.

"Work which requires one to violate his moral standards," said one court, "is not suitable work."

What's one life to a guy who thinks he has nine.
You only have one life to live. Don't treat it lightly. Annual checkups are the first line of defense against cancer. It's nice to find out you're as healthy as you feel.
