Valentines Retire From Lynn County News After Ten Years Of Service

CAROLYN'S CLATTER

by Carolyn Klaus

For nine months my column has been published and in all that time I still have not come up with a better name, not because I don't want to but mainly because after writing the paper my mind was blank. So, I thought if it has survived this long it will last a long time but not on the front page.

This is my last issue as editor of The News. I must admit I have enjoyed myself immensely and learned more than I could imagine. I thank each one of you for your support and for turning in your news so our paper would portray the lives of everyone in Lynn County. I will still be working for The News writing about the same thing but I'll just use my title.

Dalton Wood, the new owner of The News, will also assume the duties as editor. He has many years experience as a newspaperman and should be able to teach me quiet a lot about the business.

I'm not sure where my column will be in the future so you may have to play "hide 'n seek" if you're interested in reading Carolyn's column.

My life changed very drastically when I started to work 9 months ago after being a full time mother, wife and homemaker for over 10 years. Most people seem to look at changes as something that frequently have lost that fear or apprehension. Growing is changing and unless we learn to stay the same forever we must learn to change. The first and biggest step in changing with change is to look at it realistically. If you will spend more time in the future of the good in the next change you will encounter then you won't have as much of being apprehensive.

Implement Company Of Tahoka Begins Building Their New Facilities On U.S. Hwy. 380

By Dalton Wood

Behind this would be a major shop building large enough to accommodate 16 tractors at one time. Another section of the building at rear will include storage, mechanics' lounge and other facilities.

Wade said the shop would feature an overhead hoist "which will enable us to do a better, more efficient job of repairing farmers' tractors." He noted that the shop will allow the mechanics to work on self-propelled and tractor-mounted strippers inside. The present shop ceiling is not high enough to permit this type of inside work.

"We hope to provide facilities for farmers to mount and dismount their own strippers also," Wade said. He added that with a cyclone fence around the entire plant, the company will be able to offer annual storage for strippers and tractors.

LYNN COUNTY NEWS OWNERS RETIRE--Mr. and Mrs. John Valentine and their three daughters, Dene', age 8; Les'lie, age 12; and Jona, age 18, are shown ten years after their arrival in Tahoka. They have served the area by their publication of the Lynn County News during that time but now they have sold it to Dalton Wood who will take over May 1.

J. H. Lambright Breeds Cotton That Can Be Eaten

By Carolyn Klaus

Farmers have battled insects and weather since the dawn of the farming era. In recent years farmers have been almost forced, because of rising prices of labor, to rely more and more on chemicals to control insects and help their crop mature more rapidly.

Now J. H. Lambright, living east of Wilson, has engaged nature to help develop the kind of cotton needed in this area that would not need as many chemicals to protect it or mature it.

Mr. Lambright has been breeding cotton for approximately 25 years. About ten years ago during one of his trips across his field to eliminate unwanted cotton stalks, he came upon a stalk that did not meet the specifications of the plot. He was about to remove the stalk but when he reached down to pull it out, he felt the leaves were more rubbery feeling and it had some unusual qualities so he left it. After several more seasons he now has a seed that will be ready for the open market in 1980 that is a glandless cotton, insect resistant, storm proof, good producing and can be used for food.

O'Donnell Sets Annual Music Program May 1

The O'Donnell Schools will present their annual musical program Tuesday night, May 1, at 7:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria. There is no admission charge.

"Everyone is invited to share with us in song and dance the heritage that belongs to us," invited Mrs. Wood who wrote the program and directs the 90 students that will participate.

J. H. LAMBRIGHT

Mr. and Mrs. John Valentine bought The Lynn County News in 1969 and after ten years of service to the paper, town and county they are retiring from the newspaper business.

John started his career with newspapers in 1958 while he was attending South Plains College in Levelland. At that time he worked in the circulation department and only began to whet his appetite for the business. From that time on John moved around to a number of papers. He started with Levelland, Broken Arrow, Oklahoma, Lamesa, Brownfield, Hobbs, New Mexico.

During all this time John and D'Linda were married and she worked with him but never worked.

Then in 1967 they bought the Santa Anna News in Santa Anna. That was when D'Linda became a part of the working partnership and took over the ad department. After two years in Santa Anna they bought the Lynn County News and since 1969 they worked as a team with D'Linda selling ads and John doing the writing. Then John quit writing and there were a series of editors for The News.

The couple also ran a commercial printing shop at the news office until 1977 but since that time the printing is being sent elsewhere for printing.

The couple, with their family, Jona, 18 and a Freshman at South Plains College in Levelland, Les'lie, 12 and a seventh grader in Tahoka, and Dene', 8 and a second grader in Tahoka, plan to continue to live in Tahoka.

As for John, he is presently employed by A. B.

Dick Company and is working in the sales department.

"The most enjoyable part of the paper has been the weekly contact with so many wonderful people," D'Linda says. "I'll miss that weekly visit with so many people."

Cindy Slone, First Girl From Wilson In State Track Meet

Miss Slone placed first at district in the 800 meter dash with a time of 2:26.2 which was only one second short of setting a new regional record.

This is the third time for Cindy to qualify for regional. The first time was her Freshman year but she was unable to compete in the regional meet because of an injury; the second time was her Sophomore year and she placed 3rd in the meet; and now her Junior year she has won first place and proceeds to the state competition. Cindy competed in the 800 (see Slone, page 5) the restrictions on pesticide use, it has become very necessary that the cotton breeders re-evaluate their position, not only as just cotton breeders, but to take advantage of the germplasm available to help relieve the producers of the insect damage through breeding technology. In developing varieties of cotton with proven built in resistance to the most damaging insects, to help reduce the use of insecticides, making it more economical for production of cotton, and less use of pesticides, thus helping to reduce the danger of build up in the food grade products.

This variety of cotton is completely smooth from the stalk to the leaves to the fruit. In developing this and other varieties the girls that work his fields must carefully examine each plant for "specs" which are tiny dark spots on leaves, stalks, or bolls that look like tiny fleas. Each plant in the seed plot must be examined by hand during the growing season and each year the amount of specs on each stalk decreases until the successful stalk appears without any specs. By this same process he has eliminated the glands in the cotton.

Glands are where cotton stores nectar and the various insects, good and bad, come to feed. If the gland is missing the insect will not bother the stalk and thereby the plant can become more insect resistant. There is another reason for Mr. Lambricht's concern to develop a smooth stalk and boll and seed.

"A serious problem confronting cotton today is the amount of dust, trash, fungi, and bacteria, accompanying cotton fiber, in relation to the necessity of O.S.H.A.'s placing restrictions on the amount of dust, that is causing byssinosis and other respiratory ailments in the workers that are handling the cotton fiber. (Since synthetics do not have this problem, it has become very necessary for cotton breeders to develop varieties with genetic characteristics to help overcome these problems in cotton, thus reducing the cost to clean up the air, and aid in the elimination of the byssinosis and other respiratory ailments, also reducing boll weevils, boll worms and other insect damage," states Mr. Lambricht.

This cotton will be grown by contract only until enough seed is produced to provide cotton for waiting markets that will use it to make cottonseed flour and various other things to eat. Northern Star Seed Company will be handling the seed so if anyone is interested in growing cotton to eat they will have to contact this company.

P. R. Smith, assistant secretary of agriculture, said the certificate of protection was granted to Lambricht after a thorough check of the breeder's claim for the individual variety.

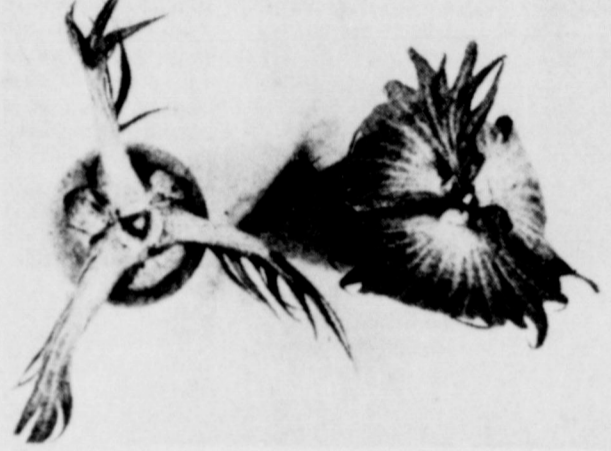

Under the Plant Variety Protection (PVP) Act, the owner will have the exclusive right to reproduce the variety in the United States for 17 years.

The PVP Act provides legal protection to developers of new and different seed-reproduced plants ranging from farm crops to flowers.

Slone Enters State Track Meet

This Saturday Cindy will compete in a state qualifiers meet which includes girls all over the state from all school classes, not only Class B.

"I felt like it was a dream," Cindy answered in response to the question of how she felt when she won. "I owe a lot of it to Coach Chisum because he helped me so much after school and even took his time to help me after regular track practice if I was ready to stay."

Cindy is still working to shave seconds off her time because she knows the record time for Class B competition at the state meet is 2:19.2 and she will continue until the last minute so she can represent Wilson High School to her very best.

Good Luck Cindy!

Louise Wyatt was hostess when Past Noble Grand Club met Thursday night at 7:00 p.m. After the regular business session the group engaged in a study of the constitution and by-laws of Rebekah Lodges. A meal was served to the 10 members and one visitor present.

Forty visitors registered at the noon luncheon Friday at Lynn County Pioneer Club. Rev. Grover Hall was the guest speaker after the meal. Other guests included Walter Skiles and Essie Jobe of Brownfield; also Mary Cunningham of Anson and Mrs. Grover Hall of Tahoka. Mrs. Willie Childress and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stice are new members. Membership in the club now totals nearly 100 members. Regular meetings include noon luncheons on the first and third Fridays of each month, a "42" party each Monday night, and a birthday party once a month. The center is open each day, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Visitors are welcome at anytime.

Rev. John H. Johns filled the pulpit at First Baptist Church Sunday at both morning and evening services. In a church business meeting Wednesday night, the church decided to remodel and add two bedrooms to the "Melody House", which is the home of the music director and family and situated just north of the church. Construction will begin immediately.

Leona Waldrip was in Lamesa Saturday attending the "South Plains Association of I.O.O.F. and Rebekahs". The meeting was held at the high school student center and the session was attended by more than 100 persons.

Wilson Sewing Club met Monday at 2 p.m. in the Wilson Museum Building with Lucille Clary as hostess. There were 12 members present. Shorty Moore and Pat Campbell were visitors. Mrs. Elmer Rice, Cordie Swann and Mrs. Charlie Lichey attended from Tahoka. Next meeting will be in two weeks and Mrs. Covey will be hostess.

Elderly Or Handicapped Called Daily

Tahoka residents who are elderly or handicapped may now participate in a telephone reassurance program through which each may receive a call each day, a call that will confirm that each person is safe.

The program utilizes volunteers under the guidance of Laverne Howard, a social worker for the Texas Department of Human Resources (TDHR), and Nova Purdy, Volunteer Consultant for the Department.

Each volunteer will establish a regular time each day to call an elderly or handicapped person in the community to be sure that all is well and to visit briefly. Should the person being called need assistance of any type, the call can help. Or if the person being called doesn't answer the phone, then the volunteer will know something is wrong and further investigation is necessary.

Anyone who wishes to participate in the program or anyone who knows an elderly or handicapped person who could benefit from a daily phone call may contact the Tahoka TDHR office, 998-4553, and talk with Mrs. Howard.

Rev. Hamilton, Rotary Speaker

Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, retired Methodist minister, was the Rotary Club speaker last Thursday noon. Using the subject, "We Live in Circles," he brought an entertaining philosophical talk, mixed with humor, citing the circles he has lived in as a student, minister, country club member and golfer, Rotarian, etc.

Rev. Hamilton was reared at Wilson, and he and his wife, when he retired, returned to the family farm south of that town to make their home. The Rotarians seemed to enjoy his light-hearted presentation very much.

Clint Walker was in charge of the program. Jimmy Huckabee, new manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, was announced as a new member of the club.

President Monte Dodson announced Rotarians will honor their secretaries this Thursday noon, and that District 573 Rotary International conference will be held in Odessa this weekend, April 26-28. Several local members are expected to attend.

Dr. Richard White announced that the annual Boy Scout drive for Tahoka's share of the Council budget has reached the 60 percent mark. He hopes the remainder of pledges will be secured this week.

Sometimes when you're in a stressful situation your eyelid, mouth, or even your shoulder may start to twitch. These brief muscle contractions are known as "tics". Persistent sniffing and blinking are tics that are often seen in children. Worrying about a tic just makes it worse; worry causes more stress, stress aggravates the tic. The condition usually goes away if little attention is paid to it. Another type of twitch is the kind that suddenly makes your whole body jerk, just as you are about to drop off to sleep. This happens when your brain is "shutting" down but still receiving some stimuli. An incomplete response causes the sudden jerk. Relaxation and a good night's sleep can usually eliminate both "tics" and "twitches".

amount of specs on each stalk decreases until the successful stalk appears without any specs. By this same process he has eliminated the glands in the cotton.

Glands are where cotton stores nectar and the various insects, good and bad, come to feed. If the gland is missing the insect will not bother the stalk and thereby the plant can become more insect resistant. There is another reason for Mr. Lambright's concern to develop a smooth stalk and boll and seed.

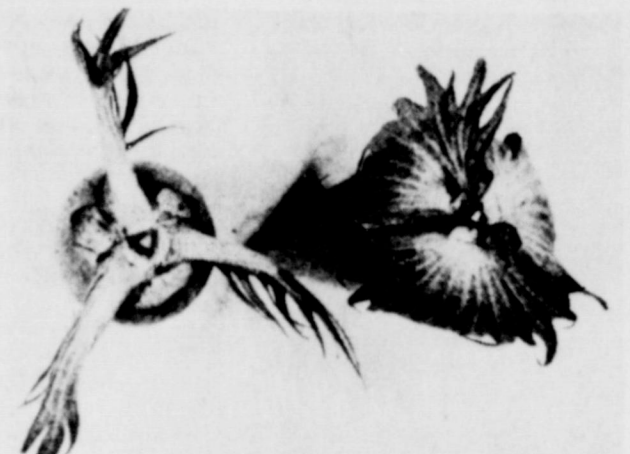

"A serious problem confronting cotton today is the amount of dust, trash, fungi, and bacteria, accompanying cotton fiber, in relation to the necessity of O.S.H.A.'s placing restrictions on the amount of dust, that is causing byssinosis and other respiratory ailments in the workers that are handling the cotton fiber. (Since synthetics do not have this problem, it has become very necessary for cotton breeders to develop varieties with genetic characteristics to help overcome these problems in cotton, thus reducing the cost to clean up the air, and aid in the elimination of the byssinosis and other respiratory ailments, also reducing boll weevils, boll worms and other insect damage," states Mr. Lambright.

This cotton will be grown by contract only until enough seed is produced to provide cotton for waiting markets that will use it to make cottonseed flour and various other things to eat. Northern Star Seed Company will be handling the seed so if anyone is interested in growing cotton to eat they will have to contact this company.

P. R. Smith, assistant secretary of agriculture, said the certificate of protection was granted to Lambright after a thorough check of the breeder's claim for the individual variety.

Under the Plant Variety Protection (PVP) Act, the owner will have the exclusive right to reproduce the variety in the United States for 17 years.

The PVP Act provides legal protection to developers of new and different seed-reproduced plants ranging from farm crops to flowers.

It is refreshing to know that not only are city dwellers making an effort to return to nature but so are farmers. If the environment can be used to better our product then we will be a step ahead of the crys of those that will accuse farmers of pollution and other such things. Farmers must learn to be conservationists if the land will continue to work with them and Lambright has taken the command literally when he started developing varieties of cotton that will use nature instead of foreign matter in its production and growth.

This Saturday Cindy will compete in a state qualifiers meet which includes girls all over the state from all school classes, not only Class B.

"I felt like it was a dream," Cindy answered in response to the question of how she felt when she won. "I owe a lot of it to Coach Chisum because he helped me so much after school and even took his time to help me after regular track practice if I was ready to stay."

Cindy is still working to shave seconds off her time because she knows the record time for Class B competition at the state meet is 2:19.2 and she will continue until the last minute so she can represent Wilson High School to her very best.

Good Luck Cindy!

Forty visitors registered at the noon luncheon Friday at Lynn County Pioneer Club. Rev. Grover Hall was the guest speaker after the meal. Other guests included Walter Skiles and Essie Jobe of Brownfield; also Mary Cunningham of Anson and Mrs. Willie Childress and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Stice are new members. Membership in the club now totals nearly 100 members. Regular meetings include noon luncheons on the first and third Fridays of each month, a "42" party each Monday night, and a birthday party once a month. The center is open each day, Monday through Friday, from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Visitors are welcome at anytime.

Rev. John H. Johns filled the pulpit at First Baptist Church Sunday at both morning and evening services. In a church business meeting Wednesday night, the church decided to remodel and add two bedrooms to the "Melody House", which is the home of the music director and family and situated just north of the church. Construction will begin immediately.

Elderly Or Handicapped Called Daily

Tahoka residents who are elderly or handicapped may now participate in a telephone reassurance program through which each may receive a call each day, a call that will confirm that each person is safe.

The program utilizes volunteers under the guidance of Laverne Howard, a social worker for the Texas Department of Human Resources (TDHR), and Nova Purdy, Volunteer Consultant for the Department.

Each volunteer will establish a regular time each day to call an elderly or handicapped person in the community to be sure that all is well and to visit briefly. Should the person being called need assistance of any type, the call can help. Or if the person being called doesn't answer the phone, then the volunteer will know something is wrong and further investigation is necessary.

Anyone who wishes to participate in the program or anyone who knows an elderly or handicapped person who could benefit from a daily phone call may contact the Tahoka TDHR office, 998-4553, and talk with Mrs. Howard.

Rev. Hamilton, Rotary Speaker

Rev. Lloyd Hamilton, retired Methodist minister, was the Rotary Club speaker last Thursday noon. Using the subject, "We Live in Circles," he brought an entertaining philosophical talk, mixed with humor, citing the circles he has lived in as a student, minister, country club member and golfer, Rotarian, etc.

Rev. Hamilton was reared at Wilson, and he and his wife, when he retired, returned to the family farm south of that town to make their home. The Rotarians seemed to enjoy his light-hearted presentation very much.

Clint Walker was in charge of the program. Jimmy Huckabee, new manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Lumber Company, was announced as a new member of the club.

President Monte Dodson announced Rotarians will honor their secretaries this Thursday noon, and that District 573 Rotary International conference will be held in Odessa this weekend, April 26-28. Several local members are expected to attend.

Dr. Richard White announced that the annual Boy Scout drive for Tahoka's share of the Council budget has reached the 60 percent mark. He hopes the remainder of pledges will be secured this week.

Sometimes when you're in a stressful situation your eyelid, mouth, or even your shoulder may start to twitch. These brief muscle contractions are known as "tics". Persistent sniffing and blinking are tics that are often seen in children. Worrying about a tic just makes it worse; worry causes more stress, stress aggravates the tic. The condition usually goes away if little attention is paid to it. Another type of twitch is the kind that suddenly makes your whole body jerk, just as you are about to drop off to sleep. This happens when your brain is "shutting" down but still receiving some stimuli. An incomplete response causes the sudden jerk. Relaxation and a good night's sleep can usually eliminate both "tics" and twitches.

Dear Lynn County News:

I am writing in regards to this photograph that was in our morning paper. There has been some question as to how many tornadoes hit Wichita Falls. This picture shows at least 3 and what appears to be the fourth funnel.

My daughter Sharon and I live here in Wichita Falls. The tornado didn't reach us but was close. It uprooted big trees and blew out windows. We were so thankful we were spared. We used to live in the New Home area for several years and still get the Lynn County News. We also know how much the people of Lynn County did to help Wichita Falls. My heart was made happy when I read about how everyone helped Wichita but I already knew how good the people in Lynn County were. We want to thank everyone for what they did. We weren't hurt but we had lots of friends who were hurt in every way. Some were killed.

Yours truly, Lillian Todd 3201 Hollywood St. Wichita Falls, Tx 76309

Letters To The Editor Lynn County News

In reply to the letter of last week concerning our young people and law enforcement. I refer to one sentence, quote 'If Mr. Miller was to crack down, the jails would be full the next morning', unquote. What a sad commentary on us as parents and our City law enforcement as well if this is the true situation. I do know that we can tell our children until we are blue in the face not to break the law, but if they choose not to heed parents advice, then do we not have the right to expect our law enforcement to back us up with a little stronger measures. There is a big difference between almost complete disregard for what is happening, and cracking down to the extent that a young person ends up with a Court Record. We do have laws concerning driving without a drivers license, breaking speed limits, (and whatever happened to just plain ole rules of courteous

To the Editor: In a recent television broadcast, President Carter was very critical of hospitals for the rising cost of health care. It is true that hospital costs have risen 194% in the past ten years. However, President Carter failed to mention that during the same period of time, postal rates went up 226%, the federal budget went up 400% and the cost of operating the U.S. Congress rose 422%.

Recent studies have indicated that as much as 25% of each patient's bill can be charged to the cost of the hospital trying to comply with an excessive amount of government regulation.

VA Assists In Headstones

Under Federal Laws, the U.S. Veterans Administration can provide a headstone for the grave of most veterans whose military service was under honorable conditions. According to Sid A. Lowery, Service Officer for Lynn County, the families of some veterans not want the government to install a private marker, prefer to install a private marker of their own choice. Public Law 95-478, enacted during the 1978 session of the U.S. Congress, permits the Veterans Administration to pay an allowance toward the purchase of a non-government marker for the grave of eligible veterans. The allowance applies to cases where the burial of eligible veteran has taken place on or after October 1, 1978, the date the above law was approved.

When a veteran is buried in a private or family cemetery, other than National Cemetery, a family or next of kin may purchase a private marker, a claim can be made for the cash payment the VA Form 40 can be used for this purpose and must be supported by written proof of the purchase of the private grave marker. The VA, following the application and purchase, will pay a minimum of $50 to the family. This amount will be used to periodic change, enabling legislation that the payment be the same as what must pay for government headstones under the contracts. If the government increase, then the VA also increase the amount paid toward the purchase of the private headstone.

Persons who feel they might be eligible for reimbursement of a headstone for a should contact the Veterans Service Office assistance in making application for the payment.

Tahoka's Second Annual Science Fair Winners Announced

AUSTIN SIMPSON--1st place-Senior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Simpson. Bryan built a scale Nuclear reactor to see if such a power plant is safe for the living. His conclusion was that nuclear power is an easy way to produce electricity but if a serious radiation accident many lives would be lost, and many more would develop cancer.

TODD HENRY--2nd place-Senior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Henry. In Todd's project, he showed that the sun is very useful energy and it can be used in many different ways. He showed this in his solar water heater that he designed, which not only heats the water but keeps it heated.

JOHN HAWTHORNE--1st place-Junior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Hawthorne. John's project portrayed some very important findings. He experimented with solar heating on insulated and non-insulated boxes. In his graph of results, his findings proved what you all should listen to...Insulating your home really will save you time and money.

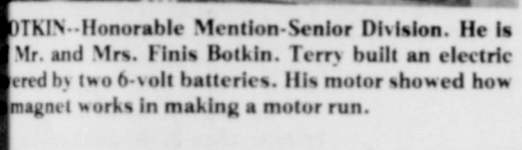

MARCI MILLER--2nd place-Junior Division. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Miller. Marci's project was the "tops" you might say as she did a study on the topsoils of Lynn County. In her project she included not only examples of the soils but a soil map and definitions of the soils she found. You would be surprised to see how many soil types are in Tahoka alone!

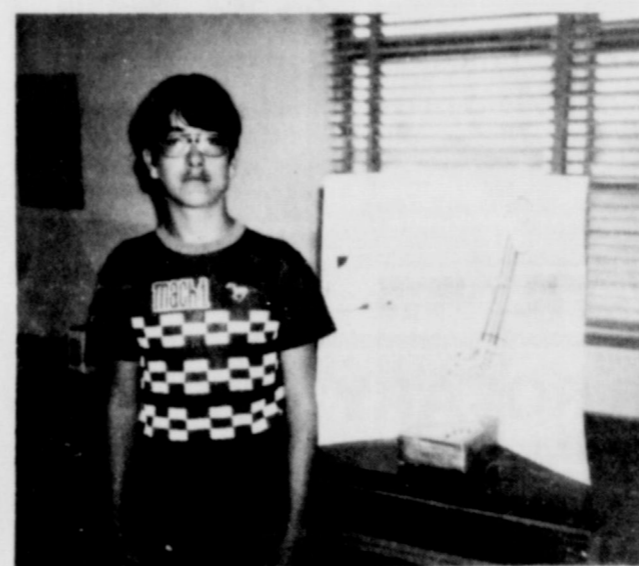

FREDDY THOMAS--3rd place-Senior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wood. Freddy's project portrayed a question that is often asked but never answered... "Which freezes faster, cold water or hot water?" Freddy showed this with his experiment on the freezing and boiling rate of water. (If you want to know, just ask Freddy!)

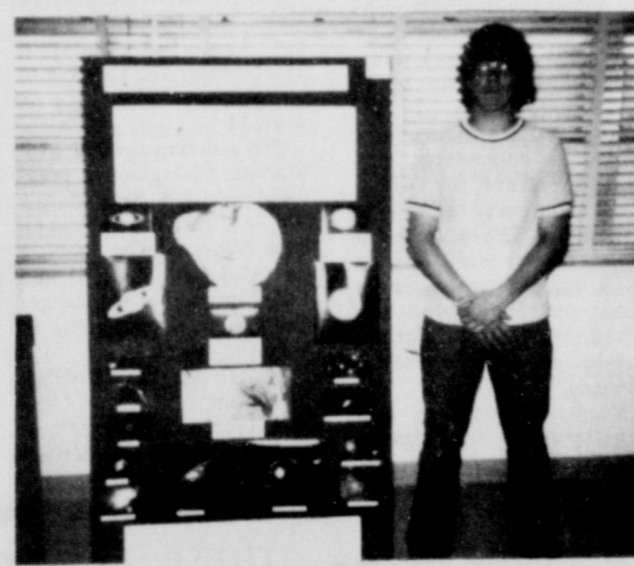

THOMAS YOUNG--3rd place-Junior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Young. Thomas had a "way out" project as he decided to investigate more about the solar system. In his project he decided to see for himself if the sun really pulled on the planets. Thomas also portrayed all the planets and their relation to the sun.

KURT McMILLIAN--Honorable Mention-Senior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McMillan. If you have ever been afraid of burglaries, then you need to see Kurt. He designed a burglar alarm quarenteed to scare off any intruder or wake the heaviest sleeper. In his design, Kurt hooked a mouse trap up to a door. When the door was opened, the mouse trap was released, setting off an electronic horn. (You should have seen the judge when he tried it.)

GERALD CRAIG--Honorable Mention-Junior Division. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Winford Craig. Gerald built his project to show how a solar heat collector works. Not only did he build one, but he showed how to build one as well as how well these work.

DENNIS GROCKE--Honorable Mention. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Pierce. Dennis also experimented with the solar system but in his project, he investigated planets as well as nebulae and galaxies. He also showed how the planets rotated as well as their diameter.

PROTECT CHILDREN FROM CHOKING ACCIDENTS

Be especially cautious to keep objects small enough to be swallowed away from infants and children. For they do not expectorate, but attempt to swallow and inhale them into the lungs. Teach them to spit anything out.

Do not stimulate a child to laugh or cry while food is in his mouth. Physicians advise it is not wise to reach into an infant's mouth to remove an impacted foreign object. Place the victim face down across a bed or chair and call a physician. For choking is the leading cause of accidental death in the home to children under five.

A Visit With Your County Agent

Caged Tomatoes For Greater Use

Instead of staking and pruning tomatoes this year, use wire cages to support plants.

Caging rather than staking and pruning offers home gardeners in Lynn County several advantages, including sunburn of the fruit, fewer disease problems, and higher yields, all with much less work.

Cages can be constructed from concrete reinforcing wire, hog wire or any other sturdy wire mesh that has openings of at least four to six inches and is three-and-a-half to five feet tall. Cut and bend the mesh material into cylinders 16 to 20 inches in diameter, fasten ends together, and snip off the bottom ring so that the cages can be pushed into the ground about six inches deep for support.

When using wire cages for growing tomatoes, space plants about two-and-a-half to three feet apart in the row and allow four to five feet between rows.

Plant a vining or semi-vining type tomato variety when using cages although bush-types can also be used.

After setting tomato plants in the garden, place a wire cage over each plant and make sure it is well anchored in the ground. The plant will grow up through the cage and the wire mesh will support it. No suckering, pruning or training will be necessary. Ripe fruit can be picked through cage openings.

Cost of cages will vary from 30 to 50 cents each, but they can be stored and used for several years. Certain other crops such as cucumbers and pole beans can also be grown using the wire cage method.

Controlling Weeds In Home Gardens

Weed control in the home garden depends on garden size, kinds of vegetables being grown, and types of weeds.

Weeds (any unwanted plants) compete with vegetables for soil moisture and nutrients. They have extensive root systems and flourish under a variety of conditions.

Effective control of weeds depends on how they spread. Crabgrass and other annual weeds survive by seeds. Perennial weeds such as bermudagrass and johnsongrass survive both by seeds and underground plant parts.

Seeds are transmitted by wind, water or animals. They may also reach the garden in improperly prepared compost, manure or other organic matter added to the soil.

Some weed seeds remain viable in the soil for years. They and underground storage parts contain stored food reserves to support weed seedlings until they emerge and are exposed to sunlight.

Herbicides or chemical weed killers are the least desirable home garden weed control. While they are a necessity in commercial crop production to reduce labor and achieve maximum yield, there are not enough chemicals with a wide enough margin of error to be used safely and successfully in home gardens. Also, most herbicides are effective on specific weeds in specific crops, and most gardens contain a variety of vegetables. Furthermore, herbicides are expensive; a gallon can cost $70 or more.

The best method is "hoeing", or using a sharp hoe. Most gardens are small enough to be weeded with a hoe or by hand pulling. This is most effective when done regularly and when weeds are small.

Mulching makes weed control easier. A three-inch mulch layer (after it settles) controls annual weeds from seed and preventing many weed seedlings from reaching light. Also, those that do push through are easier to pull.

Several types of mulches can be used. Grass clippings work well but make sure they do not include seeds. Paper can also be used effectively. Black plastic is effective except against nutgrass which readily penetrates it. Clear plastic is ineffective since it allows light to reach the soil.

Planning garden crops so as to avoid excessive space between plants also helps control weeds. Open areas readily become infested with weeds.

Good management, prior planning and a little hard work all add up to an effective weed control program. The fewer the weeds, the better the yield.

to think about. Fifteen cents will still carry a letter anywhere in America. Another is Lemonade Cheesecake baked in the microwave oven and refrigerated till serving. For your recipe copy, call your local office or write: Vivian Line, Box 631, Lubbock, Tx 79408.

Microwave ovens are still the most talked about appliance and now more than ever they are being sold to consumers so fast the demand can hardly be met. Two fairly new microwave ovens on the market are Quasar and Hardwick. There are around 38 makes of microwave ovens on the market; so this is indication more microwave ovens will be in the homes. Are you getting the most from your microwave oven? Microwave ovens with variable power features affords flexibility and wonder cooking for practically all foods. Cream cheese may be softened for 45 seconds at 20 to 30% power. Cakes may be baked at 50% power.

Do not try to can high or low acid foods in the microwave oven. There is no way to determine if the contents are evenly heated throughout. Low acid and non-acid require a pressure cooker. The microwave is great for blanching vegetables and making jams and jellies. Know the instruction book, is the best guide and if you have questions concerning your specific microwave oven, write the manufacturer or contact your local office and direct your questions to Vivian Liner, Home Service Advisor.

For browned chicken cooked in the microwave, brush with equal parts butter and kitchen bouquet. Butter and paprika may be used. Experience combination cooking to save time and energy. Microwave cooking schools will be held in Crosbyton on April 24th at 1:30 p.m., also one on May 10th at 1:30 p.m. Both will be at the Senior Citizen Center. Another school will be in Lubbock on May 3rd at the Downtown Reddy Room at 1120 Main, at 7:30 p.m. Still another will be in Tahoka on May 16 at 1:30 p.m. in the Reddy Room at Southwestern Public Service. Others will be announced later.

A different kind of table top range may be on the market soon. It is one using induction heating to give it several important advantages over conventional range cooking. The range will cook faster and will be more energy efficient as the heat is produced directly within the cookware or utensil.

Basic questions to ask yourself before buying a freezer: Size of family? Growing families? Location planned for kitchen or elsewhere? Do you entertain often? Do you have a garden?

Size of freezer depends on shopping and cooking habits; also food rotation practices. Know that frostless or no frost freezers cost one third to one half more per month to operate.

Exporters use them in planning and promoting the sale of agricultural products abroad. Prompt and accurate completion of the survey forms provides for more reliable estimates and helps to reduce survey costs.

All individual farm and ranch information is kept confidential, and only state and county summaries become part of the final published estimate. This is a cooperative effort of the USDA's Economics, Statistics, and Cooperatives Service and the Texas Department of Agriculture.

establishing the various government program acreage and payment levels to farmers for the state and county.

Extension economists and private farm and ranch management consultants use them as a basis for advising farmers and ranchers.

Leaders attending will be able to choose training in 4-H shooting sports or in such county camp activities as outdoor cookery, hiking and backpacking, planning day camps, bicycle rodeos and other events designed to make county camps better for 4-H members. There will also be a special training session on canoeing.

Census Bureau Begins List Of Addresses

Workers for the U.S. Census Bureau will begin compiling house-by-house address lists within the next few days in Lynn County.

"The purpose of the address listing program is to compile a complete list of households in the county for use next year when the 1980 census questionnaire will be mailed to each residence," said Ms. Kelly Epperson, census office manager in Dallas.

Census workers will be walking or driving on streets and roads in the county to prepare the address lists. They will be knocking on doors and asking householders for a correct mailing address.

Ms. Epperson said residents can identify the census employees by a red, white, and blue census identification card which all will carry. Census workers also will carry 11" by 16" books, or addresses registers, in which the addresses are written.

These address lists will play a vital role in the nationwide 1980 census. They will be used to produce mailing labels for the census questionnaires. Census Day is April 1, 1980.

Farm & Ranch Reports Issued In May & June

During late May and June, many Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service's field staff. The information gathered through the questionnaires and interviews provides the basis for determining the acreage devoted to the various crops and midyear livestock numbers for the state of Texas and for each county.

Crop and livestock reports provide a dependable, unbiased picture of Texas' most important industry--agriculture. The estimates in these reports are tools to help farmers and ranchers work out their planting, breeding, feeding, storing, producing and marketing plans.

Farm organizations and legislatures use them in planning programs. The estimates are also used in
