MAINTENANCE RATION FOR CATTLE.—A bulletin from the Manhattan, Kan., station says: On account of the probable scarcity of feed during the fall and winter of 1901-02, the Kansas experiment station undertook an experiment in feeding wheat straw and adding enough ground wheat to secure a maintenance ration. Three dry cows, averaging 1226 pounds live weight, two two-year-old heifers, averaging 1059 pounds, and three calves, averaging 420 pounds, were selected for this test. The experiment began Aug. 1, when the average weight of the eight head amounted to 7327 pounds. As the cows came from good sorghum pasture and the heifers and calves from good prairie pasture, they did not relish the wheat straw for the first few days and only consumed about ten pounds daily per head. The cattle were fed four pounds of ground wheat daily per head throughout the experiment. By damping the grain on and through it, considerably more straw was consumed, the average for 31 days being 16 1/2 pounds daily per head. At the close of the first week every animal in the experiment lost in weight, the average being 62 pounds per head. During the second week they regained a considerable portion of the loss. At the close of the experiment, Sept. 1, the three cows weighed an average of 1172 pounds, a loss of 54 pounds per head for the 31 days under experiment, the heifers averaged 1067 pounds, a gain of 8 pounds per head, and the calves averaged 523 pounds, a gain of 13 pounds per head. The total weight of the eight of the experiment was 7217 pounds, a loss of 110 pounds for the lot, or 13 pounds per head, a small item when one considers that it all came in the first week of the experiment. The total feed consumed by the lot was 4232 pounds of wheat straw and 992 pounds of ground wheat for 31 days being 16 1/2 pounds of ground wheat and did not contain any chaff or refuse wheat. When the cattle have access to a straw stack they beef and utilizing the manure in keeping up and increasing the fertility of his soil.

In conclusion, let me state the two propositions clearly as follows:

1. A farmer should feed all his cotton seed either in the form of whole seed or in the form of meal and hulls to cattle on his own farm and save all the manure.
2. If he has more seed or meal than he can judiciously feed to his animals he should convert the seed into meal by exchange and use the meal, not the seed as a manure.

J. H. McDowell has sold his home section in Collingsworth county to J. W. Wells of Crofton, for $6500.

R. C. and Tol Ware of Fort Worth have sold to W. J. Turner their 45-section ranch in Borden county. The ranch is situated on the headwaters of the Colorado and has an abundant supply of surface water. The terms were as follows: 21 sections of patented land at $2 per acre cash; 24 sections of state school land for a bonus of $200 a section. Mr. Turner will move his cattle to the ranch as soon as the quarantine is raised.

Several sections of school land held by the Mill Irons company have been filed on by settlers and it is said the contest over the holdings will be carried into the courts.

That stock cattle have declined three or four dollars per head during the past two years is a fact which cannot be denied. That there may be a further decline is within the range of possibilities. But admitting all this, there is still a good profit in those who improve their cattle and raise good ones, and those who take the proper care of them, though it necessitates reducing their numbers, will find cattle raising a safe and profitable business, even though there should be a further decline in prices.—Hale County Herald.

Gus O'Keefe, of Mitchell county, has arranged to pasture 1600 head of cattle with Godair & Bishop in Dawson county.

Ison & Litsey of Harrodsburg, Ky., are stock breeders, write: "We are doing a nice business in Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, and some all through Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Virginia, West Virginia, Pennsylvania, New York, Illinois, Ohio, Indiana and Missouri. This is because we ship good stock at very reasonable prices, and most of our cattle go direct to the farmer—(no middle men)."

Persons who are in a position to know, inform us that it is probable that a large number of cattle will be shipped in here this fall as soon as quarantine opens. Feed is scarce in all parts of west Texas, and for that reason many cattle will have to be moved to winter them. With the beautiful crops raised in this locality it looks like there ought to be a ready sale for feed at a good round price.—Hall County Herald.

Overton Harris, a Hereford breeder and owner of Model Blue Grass farm in Harris, Mo., writes: "Last year was my first year in the show ring. In four shows last year I won $2100 and about twenty first ribbons. This year, at the four leading shows thus far, I Filipino Movement.—The military authorities at Manila have received word that General Miguel Malvar, the insurgent leader, is thought to have left the province of Batangas, Luzon, and to be planning an operation in the province of Bulacan, where insurgent conception has been progressing recently.

Against Re-Marriage.—At the triennial Episcopal convention at San Francisco last week the house of bishops passed a canon which says in part: "No minister shall solemnize a marriage between two persons until by inquiry he shall have satisfied himself that neither person has been or is the husband or wife of any other person then living, unless the former marriage was annulled by a decree of some civil court of competent jurisdiction for cause existing before such former marriage."

Two other methods of preventing the arrival of anarchists from abroad will be suggested. The first is to apply to cabin passengers the same rigorous rules of inspection to which steerage immigrants must submit on arrival at the port of embarkation in the United States. The second is to extend the period of possible deportation from one year to two or more years. Under the present law any alien who has resided in this country twelve months or longer is exempt from deportation.

On a Balloon Tour.—A report from Paris, dated Oct. 14, says: Considerable interest is manifested in the attempt of Comte de la Vaulx, the aeronaut, last night on a balloon voyage across the Mediterranean, with a view of testing the possibility of using balloons between France, Corsica and Algeria in time of war.

The aeronaut is accompanied by two other aeronauts and a naval lieutenant. He expects to reach Algeria Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

A report from Solomon, Kan., says: The Knollin sheep yards where 10,000 sheep have been fed each winter for ten years have been closed and the land sold.
