Petrolia Field Discovered Accidentally in 1901

Clay County continues to occupy the center of the spotlight and to attract nation-wide interest from the oil fraternity, as new blocks of acreage are being assembled in various parts of the country, and a number of deep tests are ready to begin drilling to the productive sands of Northwest Texas. The high rolling ranch country that has for years been one of the most productive counties in the South west for fine white-faced cattle and noted far and wide for its unusually fine type of grazing lands, appears now to take on the greatest play of oil activities of any county in the West Texas area. Practically all of the larger major and independent oil producing companies doing business in this territory, have acquired protective acreage for later exploration as time and tests prove up a productive area of potential oil and gas sands in the deeper stratas. Many of these concerns have acquired large blocks adjacent to or in vicinity of the deep tests now under way. These blocks have been selected carefully from both subsurface and geophysical information, and contracts will soon be completed for making thorough tests on the acquired acreage. Clay County claims the distinction of having the discovery well in this part of Texas, which is in the Henrietta-Petrolia Oil & Gas Field, located 8 miles North of Henrietta. This field was brought in during September 1901, and has been producing from shallow sands continuously since the first well was discovered by accident on old Lochridge farm in block 37, Parker County School Land. J. B. Lochridge was engaged in digging a well to provide water for his livestock, during an extremely dry summer in the year 1901. The well was being worked out with an old hand drill made by the nearby village blacksmith, and at a depth of 66 feet encountered a strong showing of black substance which made the well unfit for stock water. Mr. Lochridge was a stock farmer who wanted water but did not want it contaminated with anything else. He was sadly disappointed when after laboring some thirty days or more, to discover that his efforts had been in vain and the black substance found rendered the good showing of water unfit for his herd of cattle to drink, in fact the cattle although badly in need of water, passed the new well by and continued to bellow for water. The old stock farmer told about the occurrence to friends in the Worsham Bank at Henrietta where he transacted his banking business. Colonel W. B. Worsham had at the time a visitor from the East who was experienced in the oil business. The Colonel and his visitor went out to the well, took a sample and found the black substance was none other than crude oil, or black gold, of an exceedingly fine grade of lubricating variety. Colonel Worsham then interested himself and other capitalists of Henrietta in the enterprise and began development of the new oil field. The new field de-

County Supt. Office Making Reports For Transportation Aid

The County Superintendent and his aide are very busy making out applications for transportation aid.

Each district in the county that has high school students going out of the district to high school is to make a report listing the names of the students riding the school bus with the grade and months transported, whether they are to receive transportation aid or not. For these districts having a balance after their home school has run for eight months, a balance to be established after the expenses are paid, hence the necessity of these reports to determine the amount of tuition paid by such districts.

CONGRESSMAN W. D. McFARLANE

CAPITAL NEWS LETTER

BIG BUSINESS DEMANDS
Honorable Robert Jackson, Assistant Attorney General, speaking before the American Political Science Association, December 29, 1937 on the subject "The Menace to Free Enterprise," said:

"Certain groups of big business have now seized upon a recession in our prosperity to 'update the New Deal' and to throw off all governmental interference with their incorporation initiative and their 'aristocratic anarchy'."

One of the most informed and disinterested observers of big business life is Sir Arthur Salter who in the Yale Review, among other reasons for the recession, gave a reason in these words:

"There has been, among those who direct the movement of capital and the larger industries, an accumulating distrust and resentment of the policy of the Roosevelt Administration; this has been associated with political sentiments and magnified by everything that, in the American system, creates a mass psychology—so that in the result it is not fanciful to suggest that there is something like a 'strike of capital' against political action which it fears and dislikes."

If this is correct the government faces a general strike—the first general strike in America—a strike against the government—a strike to coerce political action. This is a new manifestation of 'aristocratic anarchy' for students of political science to ponder.

"My own disposition would be to dismiss Sir Arthur's statement as a picturesque figure of speech except for two facts. First, nowhere in the press that speaks for big business have I seen this analysis repudiated. Secondly, I have seen in Washington plenty of evidence that big business has seized this explanation of the recession as a cudgel to whack concessions out of government."

"Now the things they strike against are the things that won the increasing majorities in 1932-1934 and 1936. Do these big business men think they can strike down a whole program that so held the hopes of men without arousing bitter resentment? The wrath of the people has been rising as they have seen Uncle Sam told to stick up his hands and deliver over his tax program to one or another interested group."

The President has been called a demagog for saying that 1-3 of the nation is ill-clad, ill-shod and in-housed, yet, the best information we have is that although the consumer's income is about 1-3 less than it was in 1929, big business is asking the consumers to pay for their goods more than they paid in 1929. If the consumer wants to build a home, he must pay 11 per cent more for his cement, 5 per cent more for his steel, 4 per cent more for lumber and similiar increases for all services produced by the monopolistic groups.

COMPETITION

Competition is rapidly decreasing because of the monopolistic control of buying as well as selling. Take the Government as a purchaser, for example.

REMEDY

According to Mr. Jackson the remedy is "for big business deliberately and speedily to go to a policy of high volume production, low price, and the highest wage scale possible. As one industry has put the philosophy, we must have more goods, for more people at less cost".

Mr. Jackson states:

"Either we must get rid of monopoly pegged prices or we must find controls which will peg other prices in relation to them. I, for one, do not want to see the government go into the price fixing business. Neither do I want to see the farmer and those who can not fix their prices starved out of business by those who are better organized."

The theory of the Anti-Trust laws is that if the Government will keep open the channels of competition, business will regulate itself. The fight against monopoly is a fight to keep business in a position to regulate itself. The alternative of that fight, seems to be some clearly increased form of governmental regulation of industry, unless big business is to continue to control Government as well as business and thus continue to eliminate competition and destroy all independent enterprise.

THE CALENDAR

The House last week continued consideration of the District of Columbia Appropriations Bill from Monday through Thursday when it was passed by the House and sent to the Senate. Friday the House considered and passed the first deficiency appropriations bill.

The Senate temporarily laid aside the consideration of the anti-lynching bill long enough to approve the conference report on the Housing bill, last Tuesday and then immediately resumed the filibuster on the Anti-lynching bill and on Friday by a vote of 52 to 34, refused to lay same aside to consider important legislation piling up because of their four weeks' continuous filibuster. It is believed the Senate will agree this week in some manner to lay aside this bill.

The House this week will consider the Consent Calendar on Monday. The conference reports on the Farm Bill Tuesday and special order and conference reports the remainder of the week. It is believed the conference report on the farm bill, has ironed out most of the objectionable features contained in the measure when it left the House. While the bill promises parity payment for farm products, it fails to provide sufficient revenue for this purpose. The provisions concerning the small farmer are much more liberal and gives much more consideration than existing law. The bill anticipates the enactment of processing taxes which in the Senate when the long deferred conferees promise to offer a tax bill now pending in the House Committee reaches the Senate. Why the House Committee refuses to consider processing taxes is an interesting question. But many interesting questions are raised concerning the activities of the tax committee. For example, not being satisfied with having emasculated both the undistributed profits and capital gains provisions, with only a shell left, they are delaying further action even talking of throwing in a so-called codification of all tax laws bill ahead of the tax bill in order to give big business sufficient time to crystalize sentiment even against the third asked which is the only part of the shell left concerning the undistributed profits tax. Will big business go along if they get what they want in the next tax bill? I think their answer lies in their record of the past, which shows they are never satisfied with anything except continued domination and control.

U. of T. Maintains Oil Company Set-Up

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 10— In connection with the leasing of its land for oil and gas production, The University of Texas maintains a regular oil company set-up, with principal offices at Midland, Texas. The employes consist of scouts, petroleum engineers, geologists, surveyors and statisticians. It keeps in constant touch with drilling and leasing operations through West Texas upon University as well as privately-owned lands.

The University's corps of surveyors has been making a re-survey of the more than 3,170 each of 640 acres, the land endowment institution. There are more than three hundred sections to be surveyed to complete the enormous job, which includes the erection of markers. This survey has been in progress for the last nine years. One of the interesting discoveries which has been brought to light was that the Texas and Pacific Railroad had a mile of its own measurement. In making the survey of the thousands of acres granted it by the legislature as a subsidy for constructing the railroad, the chain used by the engineers had an extra link on it, which made the Texas and Pacific mile longer than the usual mile, thereby giving it more land, it has been revealed.

COCA COLA FOR 45¢ A BOTTLE IN SOUTH AMERICA

Jesse Cunningham, local Jeweler is in receipt of a letter from his friend, Lee Mitchell, who is a steam shovel operator for the Standard Oil Company in Caripito, Venezuela, South America.

Lee states among other things that Coca Cola sells for 45c a bottle, American beer at 45c and native beer at 35c a bottle, he also states that American cigarettes sell for 50c a package and that native cigarettes smell so bad that a person cannot carry them in his pocket. Lee tells us that a good meal costs $1.75, he is under contract and gets his meals free however.

The same letter tells of a hunting trip which Lee and some friends took on Christmas day, they traveled a hundred miles from camp and arrived at their destination late that night, made a temporary camp, and the next morning discovered a fox's den right under one man's bed, and that there were five monkeys in sight at

Candidate
Speakers
Down To Four

(From Dallas Morning News)
AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 4 — Another prospective candidate for speaker of the House, Representative Alf Roark of Saratoga, has removed himself from the race with a decision not to seek re-election, it was learned last Thursday.

With the decision of Charles Tennyson of Wichita Falls to be a candidate for the Senate from the Twenty-Third District, this narrows the field of candidates for whom much background work had been done. Now in the running are Bob Alexander of Childress, Emmett Morse of Houston, Fred Mauritz of Ganado and Ross Hardin of Prairie Hill. Possibility arises that Homer Leonard of McAllen, a candidate two years ago who withdrew in favor of speaker R. W. Calvert, may figure in the race, especially if a deadlock should occur. Although not now an avowed candidate, he recently let it be known he has not been counted out yet. Morse was another candidate who withdrew to permit Calvert's unanimous election.

Friends of Roark had hoped to rally around him much of the bloc which brought the election of Calvert, under whom he was chairman of the powerful Revenue and Taxation Committee. Tennyson was chairman of the Educational Committee and several of the bloc teachers had been active in his behalf. He and Representative George Moffett of Chillicothe will seek the seat held by Senator Ben G. Ornel

Dispelling The Fog

By Charles Michelson

About twenty years ago Senator "Jim" Reed of Missouri, exasperated at what he considered the hypocrisy of his Congressional colleagues in both Houses, loosed a measure forbidding the transportation of alcoholic liquors from wet territory into dry.

National Prohibition had not yet been enacted, but the reign of terror was on. A bibulous Congress was passing everything the Drys demanded, while taking care of their individual appetites by bringing the banned sunshine, and moonshine, from wet Baltimore to arid Washington. The Congressmen realized that they had to vote for the Reed amendment, but found comfort in the thought that the President would veto it. But the cynical Reed took care of that. He offered his amendment as a rider to the Post Office Appropriation bill. Woodrow Wilson had to take the wet Senator's dry rebuke to his colleagues or veto a bill necessary to the conduct of the Government. So the satiric rider became the law of the land.

That happening was one of the picturesque examples of the dangers of a system that gives the President of the United States the hard dilemma of veto-

Payable Cash in Advance

February 22nd is the birthday of "The Father of His Country," Geo. Washington. He was a farmer, surveyor, statesman and President of the United States.

Tomorrow, Feb. 12th, is the birthday of that great man who said—"You can fool some of the people, some of the time, and ALL the people ALL the time, but you can not fool ALL the people ALL the time."—Abraham Lincoln. While we celebrate the event of dedicating our new Agricultural Building let us be mindful of the birthday of that great and good man who did so much for America. Rail-Splitter, Surveyor, School Teacher, Lawyer, and President of the United States, who rose amid apparent unsurmountable obstacles to the highest office within the gift of the people of the United States, and met his death at the hands of a cowardly assassin. Long live the memory of that great man.

PUPILS OF MRS. NUTTER PRESENT RECITAL

Voice pupils of Mrs. Earl Nutter will be presented in a recital Tuesday evening, Feb. 15, at the Baptist church at 7:30. They will be assisted by some pupils from the piano department.

Those who will appear on the program are: Frances Culwell, Lilly Wiist, Mary Beth Stine, Betty Gant, Leah Belle Pope, Billy Evelyn Hays, Doris Childs, Tommy Howard, Nancy Jean Karsteter, Lorene Brown, Betty Prewitt, Jim Ansley, Billy Jean Glasgow, James Parrish, Raymond Glasgow, Mary Nell Milner, and Naomi Kimbrough. The public is cordially invited.

Mrs. Thelma Watson from Petrolia, Miss Etta Maddox of K. M. A. and M. and Mrs. Lewis Quick and Charles of Iowa Park were week-end guests of Mrs. Theronne Thompson.

DANGEROUS

It is dangerous to sell a SUBSTITUTE for 666 just to make three or four cents more. Customers are your best assets; lose them and you lose your business. 666 is worth three or four times as much as a SUBSTITUTE.

Livestock Catalogs Being Distributed By The Committee

The catalogs for the coming Livestock Show on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Feb. 15, 16 and 17th have been printed and are being distributed by the Livestock committee in charge.

The catalog carries some sixty pages, including the cover and is liberally patronized by advertisers both in Clay county as well as in all other livestock marketing centers. Cattle raisers in the county will note that those who are in the market for their surplus livestock are willing to make possible this splendid show by lending their financial support to the committee in this most substantial way and extend them an invitation to call on them when they have surplus stock to market.

Some few errors were made by the printers in getting this rush order out in time for the mailing, but these were corrected by an "Errata" slip which is placed in the front of the catalog.

The Show promises to far exceed all former exhibitions, and the exhibits in the several divisions will cover all the usual and leading breeds in each division.

J. E. McDonald is Agricultural commissioner.

Many people are being confused because Texas has a land commissioner McDonald and an Agricultural commissioner McDonald. W. H. McDonald is land commissioner. The offices are not connected in any way.

It has been only through the fine cooperation of the people and merchants of this area that we are able to publish such an edition—one that will be a credit to our town as our oil edition is to be. We have concentrated our efforts on neighboring cities and communities up to this time. And we are now ready for the cooperation of Henrietta.

Few local merchants have been contacted up to-date. To be offered representation in this wonderful edition is a great privilege and everyone will be given an opportunity to be assured representation next week. If you have been overlooked, we suggest you call The Leader office and a representative will call.

This is our first real chance to do justice to Henrietta, and one in which all will be proud to have a part in—one that will give us an opportunity to show the oil fraternity just what the possibilities are in Clay County.

Many of you will want to mail copies to friends and business associates in other towns—We suggest you place your order now for extra copies as the supply will be limited.

JUST CRUISING

(By the Captain)

One thing is certain,—and that is that all Henrietta and Clay County are and should be rightfully proud of the New Agricultural building, which has been secured and built at approximately $7,000, while under the former plan of WPA those in position to know state that it would have cost something over $15,000, or more than double the amount actually expended for the splendid building. And, now that it is completed, the new home of the County Agent, County Home Demonstration Agent, and all future livestock shows and exhibits will be dedicated to its worthy purpose tomorrow, February 12th, at which time some fine music by the visiting North Texas Aggie Band from Arlington, and of which our own young Claude G. McKinney is a member, and the local high school band under the direction of Paul J. Merrill will be heard, beginning at 10 or 10:30 a. m., while at the noon hour the ladies of the American Auxiliary will serve hot coffee, sandwiches and other good things to eat, and beginning at 2:30 o'clock the dedication program will be given. Judge Vincent Stine will speak for the County Commissioners, and Mayor Frank Bunting will deliver an address for the city of Henrietta, since all three organizations have had a part in making possible this worthy project. Make your plans to be here, and if you desire, you might return Sunday afternoon at which time the Automobile Show will be open for inspection.

Japan has hinted they would not disclose plans for future navy increases, as to size of warships, etc. But it isn't likely they will "catch Uncle Sam napping" for the grand old man has determined to keep pace with the building programs of other nations. And, this is as it should be, we are of the belief, since it is certain that when we are prepared for all eventualities new nations,—no matter how aggressive they might appear on the surface to be,—will be able to tackle our country,—and gain it is also far more

...ation, are not even thinking of wanting to worry other nations by going to war with them. A navy, air force and army second to none, with sufficient submarines to back up the navy is about the cheapest insurance our government can carry at this stage of the world's history!

With the oil leasing and drilling operations, the livestock show, the dedication service already planned, and with a full-fledged primary campaign getting down to a good start, our city and county seems in for a good lively season for the next several months. And, in the meantime plans are being laid for the coming Pioneer Reunion the dates to soon be set by the committee in charge. There will be "plenty doing" in old Clay county during the year 1938!

Bill Hightower of the WFAA Dallas News-Dallas Journal Radio Station gives the "News of the World" in his early morning broadcasts each morning, and if one is fortunate enough to hear him, he gets a mighty good idea as to what is going on throughout the entire world, as well as at home. His broadcast surely serves a mighty good purpose and doubtless is heard each day by a vast radio audience, as it is given at the breakfast hour.

Already candidates with their specially equipped loud-speaker cars are beginning to drive into town and give their accustomed broadcasts. We heard one about noon Tuesday and his music was very good. It is a fine way in which to attract attention while at the same time it gives the candidates a good opportunity to get a crowd together. There will be plenty of such programs, most likely, throughout the campaign.

3198 poll tax receipts were issued by the collector's force this year as against something near 200 less two years ago. With the overs and unders it will give Clay County a good showing during the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Felix Watson and daughter, Mary Anna, and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Graham were guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Graham in Nocona.

IN THE CAPITOL

The man had a three-days' stubble and he shivered in the wind that whistled around the corner of the Driskell Hotel late on a February night. He appealed to a passerby for a dime and, when the coin was given, he added, in a brave effort at pride: "My cousin's picture hangs on the wall in there," motioning toward the lobby where the are displayed. "I could get appointed likenesses of statesmen pointed to a job in Washington but I'd rather make my living automatically." And, come to think of it, who wouldn't?

Shakespeare once said,— "What's in a name?" But he never ran for office in Texas. A name that is distinctive, easily remembered and friendly-sounding is worth a lot when one is trying to make an impression on a million voters in an empire nearly a thousand miles across. Ralph Yarborough used a middle initial—"W"—but, since deciding to enter the race for Attorney General, he has dropped the initial. When one remembers that Yarborough is ranked as one of the best speakers in Texas and that the "W" stands for "Webster", it can be seen that he made a real sacrifice.

REST OF THE RECORD"

BY JAMES V. ALLRED
Governor of Texas

enlarged picture of the Commissioner's policies emerged last week from the maze of testimony developed before the Senate Investigating Committee.

Evidence was brought out to show that one group, which has been very successful with their bids before the Land Department, had secured leases for small sums of money, usually a dollar an acre, with an agreement from an oil operator to pay three dollars an acre interest where they state only one dollar whole. This group of leases was headed by two men, Markburnett, another was in Oklahoma City, and several others from various parts of Texas.

These successful bidders got out of their own employees a man in the office during the time the bids were being received and granted; in fact, he was the receiving clerk. After it was over, he quit and went back to work for the bidders. They cut him in on a hundred thousand dollar oil deal.

One of this group of bidders admitted that they were carrying somebody on their books for a 25 per cent interest. He testified the party was a man by the name of Dawson, but the Senate committee never has been able to locate Dawson. No written record has been introduced, however, to show that this interest was carried for Dawson.

Some of the newspapers have editorialized that perhaps after the award of these leases was just a question of judgment; that is, whether high cash bids should be accepted, or bids calling for high royalty. These editorials have missed the point entirely.

In private oil business, no one ever turns down high cash payments in favor of high royalties except where it is known positively that oil is present and there is an agreement for immediate development. In nearly all the leases made by the Land Commissioner neither of these elements has existed. That is, we have not known whether or not there was oil; and, with one exception there has been no immediate drilling and development. As pointed out before, only one well has been commenced on State land although some of these leases are over a year old. Thousands of acres have been leased in a number of counties.

It is only necessary to look at a map to see what has been done with these leases. For ex-veloped slowly, but thoroughly, and is now one of the main shallow producing fields of Texas, having produced a high grade variety of oil for more than 36 years. This field is also one of the largest gas fields in the United States, with large areas underlaid with helium gas, which is found in few parts of the world. Experienced geologists and oilmen believe that on the flank of this large oil and gas field will be encountered and developed one of the largest big deep oil pools that has ever been found in the oil producing areas of this country. They believe that from the shallow oil and gas sands which cover such a wide and varied territory in the Henrietta-Petrolia Oil & Gas Field, a resultant accumulation of deeper productive stratas must necessarily be discovered in nearby areas which have remained dormant to date. Clay County up to this immediate time, has received few deep tests, hence the various tests now under way, most of which will be drilling within the next 30 days, will cause much attraction and speculation as to their expected outcome from the oil scouts and others interested in the development of Texas.

Walter Gant and associates have practically completed their 120 ft. derrick, Bryant Edwards ranch, S. W. corner block 10, Marion County School Land, abstract 308, located six miles directly East of Henrietta and adjoining State Highway No. 5. This well is a 6000 ft. test, and is being drilled on the Northwest extension of the Worsham pool, in a Northwesterly direction between the Worsham well and the Henrietta-Petrolia Oil & Gas field. The Worsham pool has three large producers, with three new locations, one now drilling at 3940 feet and coring ahead carefully for the sand. The new deep test is located about 3 miles from the former wells, and due to its location will be scouted with much interest by the large oil companies.

Healdton Petroleum Corporation, Wallace No. 1, block 34, J. H. Belcher subdivision, located 12 miles South of Henrietta, is now engaged in coring hard ample, one tract which was leased for $310 (and on which a well has never been drilled) is offset on one side by actual oil wells and circled on other sides by leases which the Land Commissioner turned down over a thousand dollars an acre cash for this one tract of land in favor of a bid for $310 and three-sixteenth royalty.

Thus has the picture emerged from the testimony, with further enlargement due as the committee continues its investigation.

of those expected to be developed of productive sands in this area, predict that pay sand will be found in this well, immediately following penetration of this hard lime formation. This company has a large block of acreage in the vicinity and if pay is found, they are prepared to rapidly develop the immediate territory.

Barnett Petroleum Corporation, Nutter Estate lands, N. W. corner of block 30 Grayson Co. School Land, abstract 156, located 8 miles south of Henrietta, is drilling ahead carefully, having reached the 3460 foot level. Barnett is coring each formation very carefully and making a thorough test. This well is running several feet higher than the Golding & Cochran well which was drilled about a year ago on the same block to 2400 ft. contract depth, and for this and other reasons, the well is attracting unusual interest from the oil fraternity.

Wirt Franklin Drilling Company have spudded in their A. B. Staggs deep test on block 34, Angelina County School Land, abstract 3, located 4 miles north of Henrietta. This is to be a 4200 ft. test, and if favorable showings are found, will penetrate to 5000 feet in order to make a thorough search for productive sands on the South flank of the Henrietta-Petrolia Oil & Gas Field. This area has been carefully worked out with geophysical instruments by several of the large companies who have had crews in Clay County during the past few months, and the immediate area has been favorably reported upon both from subsurface and seismicographic data. Due to its close proximity to Henrietta, this well if productive, will prove of inestimable value to the city and its trade territory.

Go to church Sunday!
