STILL CALLED

The Brownfield Herald in a recent issue tries to explain just why Lynn county has them skinned in the number of poll tax receipts paid for 1919. Yes, Stricklin, Tahoka has a more civilized appearance, with her cement sidewalks and $100,000 court house building, than Brownfield can ever expect to have, and so far as that little burg ever advancing ahead of us within the next ten years we will call your wager of the best Stetson hat in Tahoka. Brownfield will have to undergo many changes about the square and residence section before she can ever hope to be in the same class with the Lynn county capitol. In the meantime Tahoka will be making rapid strides cityward. Come to Tahoka.—Lynn County News.

The Lynn County News is neither fair to itself or the Herald for the reason that it absolutely refuses to publish the proposition of the Herald, and therefore tries to make us appear in a bad light with their readers. We made no assertion that Terry county would have more people in ten years than Lynn county, or that Brownfield would have more people than Tahoka ten years from now. What we said was that Brownfield and Terry county would have more than 1000 voters ten years after receiving a railroad, and we stay with it. We have no way of computing the future growth of any town or county in advance, especially ten years, and any guess to that effect is hasardous. Lynn county has spent $100,000.00 of the peoples money trying to make the little city of Tahoka look good, and use it about six days in the year. They have roads that are a disgrace and the people use them every day in the year. Terry county is spending its money for the present on their roads to the tune of $30,000., and when that is gone she will get some more. As to the side walks, they are great things, providing you have population to use them. The census will show which place has the biggest gain in the past year. Also, the News' attention is called to the time honored expression "that the newspaper is the index to the business interests of a town or city"—we do not mean the reading matter—for Haynes stands with the best in that line, but we will submit a comparison of the number of inches of advertising carried by home firms in any similar issue of the two papers.

SPECIAL NOTES

Please take note of the change for the Easter Service, 11 o'clock Sunday morning. The school having been moved to the High school building, the service will be held at the Presbyterian church. A beautiful song service with brief discourse on Eastertide.

Rev. Bryant will occupy the pulpit in the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. A cordial invitation is given the public to enjoy our service. Come at 7:30 o'clock.

A splendid choir directed by Mr. Jno. Powell will render the music.

Contract Has Been Awarded for Deep Test Well in Hale County

Plainview, March 15.—J. J. Barton and associates of Bartonsite in the southwestern portion of Hale County have let a contract to New York and Denver parties for a deep test well for oil on a lease of 30,000 acres.

Mr. Barton says that the contract calls for a well to be drilled until oil is found in paying quantities or until it becomes impracticable to drill deeper.

SWELL hats now on display at the Brownfield Drug Store on the west side of the square. Mrs. T. A. Fancett.

Rev. J.F. Curry has bought the town home of Mrs. C.S. Cardwell and we understand that there is no sign of race suicide in this home as there are eleven children. They are coming to Terry, and they are as welcome as the flowers in May.

SCHOOL NOTES

Arrangements are being made for the annual meeting of the Terry County Interscholastic Association in Brownfield, for April 10th. The meeting will begin Friday evening with Oratorical Contest and other events and will continue until Saturday evening during which time athletic events will be staged. This program is expected to be the most successful that has ever been held in this country.

As in years past, the entire faculty and student body of all the schools of the country will be present at the meeting and a general good time will be in store for all who attend. Preparations are being made in the town of Brownfield schools, especially in the literature class of the Juniors and Seniors of the Brownfield High, as Miss. Hulsey is giving them a theme each day to write at least four or five hundred words on Thrift.

Friday afternoon at 4:30, March 19th a basket ball game was played between Brownfield and Gomez boys. The score being 10 to 14 in favor of Gomez. Although our boys met with a defeat and a lot of the bad luck, there is a great deal of praise due to our boys ball team. They have had very little time to practice together as they have not received their ball and have had to borrow the girls ball before and after school to get any practice at all.

Miss Anne Ivy of this place and Mr. Emmitt Williams of Brashear left Monday morning to be married. Miss Ivy was one of our most popular Freshmens this year. They will make Brashear their home.

F.E. Walters is building a nice little four room house for one of our new comers that purchased 200 acres off the south John Peters section.

PURE Black Monarca eggs for sale at $2.00 per setting of 15. Mrs. Bob Snodgrass, City.

John Dennis is building a nice five room bungalow for Henry Franklin four miles north of town, this week.

WEATHER AND WIND

There was a quarter inch rainfall here one day last week, we have forgotten which day, for some weather followed that made us forget that we ever had a rain, and several readers said we would not report the fact, and we are not far from their benefit, we believe their memory has not failed them in this little time, and the fact that dust and sand and small rocks took the Tahoka road and near cuts last Sunday and Saturday, has not slipped their minds. You readers away back east that were in the tail end of a cyclone a day or so before that eventful occasion are reminded we western folks remembered you and sent you some air to fill your void, otherwise you might have smothered in the calm. We are better to the eastern folks, generally, than they are to us. We believe strong in reciprocity, if you understand what that means; that is, you sometimes send us rain, but we are always ready to supply you with plenty of fresh air.

Editor Dow of Lubbock Avalanche calls it Mr. HyWind, and always has a nice writeup of his visits to Lubbock, and wears waiting anxiously for his valuable paper to tell us how he acted in Lubbock, Saturday, but we have another name for him in Terry. Down here his only moniker is Dam Sand Storms.

Just few hen houses and things like that blown over, and one windmill tower down in town and that is all.

J. P. Kimbrell, local minister of the Church of Christ, will preach two sermons Sunday morning and night on the "Resurrection." You are cordially invited to hear him.

T. H. Green recently moved from near Gomez, to the Tom May farm north of town.

Cotton Seed: See Robt. Welch at Cicero Smith lumber yard.

Red Tudor went up to Lubbock Saturday after a Ford he received in a shipment.

The best available possibility for a foundation upon which to build a constructive program along health lines is the child and Texas proposes to be second to none in this important work.

The Child Health Center is the opening wedge for establishment of a complete health center, embracing the various clinics such as psychopathic, tuberculosis, dental, etc., and the result will be a better health standard for all the people of the state.

CHILD HEALTH CENTER

Austin, Texas. In order to prevent unnecessary deaths among the children of Texas and to raise the health standard so that many who escape actual death will not drag through a sickly childhood and an inefficient maturity. Dr. C. W. Goddard, State Health Officer, would establish a Child Health Center in every county in Texas.

As a step toward attaining this goal, Dr. Coddard is mailing out a bulletin outlining a practical working program, to all health officers in the state, branches of the Mothers Congress and Parent-Teacher Association. J. P. Kimbrell arrived Thursday of last week to make this his home and to minister to the Church of Christ at this place and possibly others near here. Owing to the inclemency of the weather he did not get to fill his appointment Sunday morning, but preached a splendid sermon to a fair crowd Sunday night.

ion, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, Red Cross Chapters, etc. This bulletin, which was compiled by the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Health Department, explains how to organize a Child Health Center and states its purposes.

"The essentials of a Child Health Center are: A good doctor, a good public health nurse, who understands children, a mother, a child and a room in which to meet."

There is no end to the good that may be accomplished and the extent to which they may be developed, declared Dr. C. W. Goddard, State Health Officer, in discussing his plan to establish a Child Health Center in every county in Texas.

The primary object is to safeguard the health of the children of Texas by making available knowledge of the best means to prevent needless sickness. This work begins with the expectant mother and the Child Health Center would instruct her on

TOKIO TALKINGS

By Grasshopper.

Mrs. John Scudday's Sr. mother is visiting at the home of Scudday and Lane.

The Toko Literary Society had another nice program last Friday night a large crowd and good time is reported by all that attended.

The boys intended to arrange their boys ball team last Saturday evening but we suppose the sand and sandstorm interfered to some extent.

Mrs. Castleberry of Meadow is visiting at the home of her father, Mr. McCullough.

Mrs. B.M. Wade returned last week from Planview New Mexico where she went to preach.

A. V. Taylor and wife went to Brownfield last Wednesday and the weather being so stormy, they stayed over Thursday morning and then had to face a sandstorm home, but such is life in West Texas.

The Tokio people had planned for a good time Sunday with dinner on the ground, three preaching services, Sunday School and a large crowd, but the sandstorm intruded to such an extent we all had dinner at home. Had a small crowd at Sunday School and preaching in the evening and night.

The storm Saturday did considerable damage to farms and tore up several windmills in the community.

Mr. and Mrs. Pegues, of Odessa, Texas, accompanied by Mrs. Pegues' sister, Miss Maree Bell, of Silverton, passed through this week on their way to Odessa, after visiting in Silverton. Dr. Bell, father of these young ladies, formerly resided with his family at Brownfield.

BROTHERS & Brothers will appreciate your grocery orders.

We are selling Belle of Wichita Flour. Try a sack. A. B. Cook & Son.

The town was full of people Monday, owing to the fact that the big sandstorm kept them at home Saturday. N. W. Jones says that when one of them blows up he just does like he does when it rains—goes home and makes himself as comfortable as possible, and really that is the only sensible thing to do.

Bring in your cream on Monday and Friday. A. B. Cook & Son.

One day recently, our old friend A. L. Turner called us by the big wagon yard to see—so he said a Sheland pony and a burro, but when we got into the comfortable stalls we found instead that he had one of the best horses and one of the best jacks ever brought to this county. The horse is a standard American breed of the draft variety, weighs about 1800 pounds and is one of the prettiest pieces of horse flesh we ever saw. The jack was almost black in color, and his papers go way back to old Spain. When in town call at the Turner wagon yard and see them.

R.H. McCormack and wife are preparing to go to Balmorhea in Reeves county where they will visit his son, Editor C.B. McCormack and wife for a few weeks.

Floydada Man Ships Butter To English Customer Twice a Week

Floydada, March 15.—Floydada butter is becoming internationally famous. It is crossing the Atlantic ocean twice a week and providing the venter for the appetizing toast which Englishmen like at their tea, says the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. The Floydada pound brings 75c in the English capital, tho $1.25 is the customary price of home made butter. Butter is so scarce that users are restricted to two ounces a person a week. It is sent by parcel post from here by William Pern of this city. When shipped the mou'ds weighs 1-1.3 pounds and arrives in London with a net weight of one pound, the loss being from evaporation and shrinkage. A great parcel post trade can be worked up between West Texas dairy interests and English butter consumers it is declared.

There is considerable oil excitement in the Pecos country now, and they are bringing in some real producers. There are oil fields to the east of us, and there are oil fields to the west of us, and there are big gas fields to the north of us, and there may be oil or gas field to the north of us, and there may be oil or gas fields here, who knows? Come ripping to Terry.

John McCormack, the singer, is a naturalized citizen of the United States. This is the only land for him. He paid an income tax of $145,000 and during war year he handed over $100,000 to the war service boards. This was a free offering. Galli-Curei, born in Italy but a naturalized American, paid $75,000 income tax. Enrico Caruso, born in Naples, a naturalized American paid $100,000 income tax. Why shouldn't these foreign born singers pay? America welcomed them to these shores. America made them rich. There is no land like the old land and the old land is wherever Old Glory floats.—Fort Worth Record.

Terry county is in the corn-belt. Editor A. J. Stricklin of the Terry County Herald is responsible for the following: "Tom Woodward one of the successful farmers of the Union community, who recently sold out informed us that he is not entirely going to leave the country but had bought a place near Seagraves and was going to show the Gaines county people how to raise corn. In the three years that Tom has been a citizen of Old Terry he has probably raised 20000 bushels of corn. The figures in 1917 ran close to 10,000 bushels."—Fort Worth Record.

We will re-endorse the above if the Record linotype operator will just change the first figures in the last sentence and make it read 1919.

THE DOWN GRADE

A young fellow who was born in Jayville left his home town and went out into the world. Reports came from several large cities that he had become a sport, that he smoked cigars, played pool and drank beer. The people at home were horrified. Some years later the fellow died in New York and his body was shipped back to Jayville for burial. An old strait-laced preacher in Jayville was asked to say a few words over the grave. And this is what he said:

"Brethren: This man was born in Jayville. He went to San Francisco. Later he went to New Orleans. Later he went to Chicago. Later he went to New York city, where he died. His descent into hell was certain, but it was at least gradual."

MRS. D. ALLEN DEAD.

A wire was received here Friday that Mrs. D. Allen, of Elberta, Texas, had passed away at Mineral Wells, at five o'clock Friday morning. Her son Harry of this place was at her bedside when death came, and a younger son, of this place, Clay left Sat. morning for Throckmorton county to attend the funeral. Mr. and Mrs. D. Allen will be remembered as the parents of Phillip and Terrell Allen of this county, who were killed in France while in action, and were cited by the governments of the United States and France for bravery. The Legion Post at Lubbock was named for them as they volunteered their services at Lubbock.

The Herald joins the many friends of the family here in sympathy with the bereft family.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly . . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three . . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children . . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

We, the undersigned Democrats, heartily approve the great achievements of our Democratic National Administration under the leadership of Woodrow Wilson, both at peace and at war, we favor its unqualified endorsement by the Democratic National Convention to be held at San Francisco, both in the platform it shall adopt and in the candidates for President and Vice-President it shall nominate.

We enroll our names as charter members of the Terry County Democratic Club to be formed for the purpose of aiding in the election of delegates from Texas to the Democratic National Convention of undoubted loyalty to the great principles and policies of our National Administration and of combating in all proper ways the foes of the Democratic Party, those within its rank as well as those without.

We further pledge ourselves to attend the Democratic Primary Mass Convention to be held in our respective voting precincts on Saturday, May 1, 1920, as provided by law, and to vote to instruct our delegates from this county to the State Convention to vote only for men and women who are Woodrow Wilson Democrats as delegates from Texas to the Democratic National Convention.

Every man and woman who approves the purpose herein expressed is eligible to membership in this organization and its officers shall be a president, a vice-president, a secretary, a treasurer and an executive committee of five members, all of whom shall be elected by the members and who shall perform the respective duties customarily developing upon such officers.

HOGVILLE LOCAL NEWS

By Dunk Botts.

Zero Peck dropped his good old Waterbury watch on the old rock door step at the postoffice yesterday morning and despite his various first aid tactics death was instantaneous. Zero has not decided what he will do about it.

Miss Lyda E. Peck says if she were to tell her age somebody would be ready to add something to it.

The Hogvill Postmaster has an idea. For several years he has had to contend with the members of the Hogville Loafers' Club spitting tobacco juice on the floor. He has written to one of the largest dealers in Chicago to ascertain if he can purchase a sponge as big as a molasses barrel. If a sponge of this size can be bought he will recommend to the postoffice department at Washington that it be bought. The sponge will be placed in the middle of the floor and each member of the Club must spit on it—the Club to see to squeezing the sponge out good each night at the close of business.

Zero Peck is afraid to go to Bear Ford any more. A fellow died over there a few weeks ago. He owed Zero fifty cents and what he said about the dead man has in some way reached the members of the family.

Miss Petunia Belcher says a man who is engaged has no more right to call on the girls than has a married man.

Zero Peck read in a newspaper of a fellow while engaged in tearing down an old house finding a pint of liquor supposed to be about fifty years old. He went at once and tore down the old tenant house that stood on the back of his lot. It is believed that he did not find anything as he had begun tearing down Alexander Moseley's house when he was stopped by the Hogville Constable.

Alexander Mosley for the past several days has been engaged in taking a last look for a good pocket knife he lost. He will make a thorough search before the weeds come up in the Hogville streets.

Gape Allsop says he's noticed that kinsfolk on Pa's side are generally on the wrong side.

STATE PRESS COMMENT.

"The Demands of the West is the captain of an interesting editorial in the current number of the Texas Monthly Review. The Record reproduces this tale of the demands of the West. While the demands of West Texas are some what political as regards certain matters, there are others which are not and which the legislature must consider from a non-political viewpoint. Lee Satterwhite, a member of the Thirty-sixth and also of Thirty-seventh in prospect, brings the clear view of the news paper man to one of the things—the demand for an agricultural and mechanical college which shall have the viewpoint of West Texas wholly in its course of study. One of the points made by Mr. Satterwhite is of special significance. He declares that the people of that section, which is to be benefited by the location of the new school should get together and decide upon the location and in presenting their bill to the legislature should name therein the location. That is a point which would prevent a lot of wire-pulling and log-rolling which might be detrimental to the interest to the bill, the settlement of that one point before presentation would enable the members from the West Texas counties to stand together instead of falling out over the possibility of enrichment of their district as a result of the location, and it would further have the effect of preventing action by a small committee after the legislature which created the committee had ceased to exist—a locating committee. That West Texas is to have an agricultural and mechanical college is an assured fact. Remains only the legislative vote and the matter of an appropriation. The West Texans might as well get busy with their plans and figure out what it is going to cost the state to establish the school. The matter of maintenance need not yet be figured, as that will be a matter for future legislature to wrestle with. West Texas is as large as two ordinary states, and has problems all of its own for solution. True, there are some experiment stations located in that section, but they can be resigned to the new school. Nor should there be parsimony in the matter of location. The most available site with a view strictly to the interest of the school should be chosen and that without regard to the ambitions and the selfishness of any particular point. Broad acres there is need for. The school should not be camped into narrow quarters with the idea that as need develops additional land can be secured. The foundation should be as broad as the ambition of the founders. The land will never be cheaper than it is now. And there should be care that as many different varieties of soil as possible be included to the end that every section of the West be directly benefited as a result thereof. The complaint now is that the present school is located in the rich Brazos valley and that the things that do well there are not calculated to be of benefit to the West Texans." —Ft. Worth Record.

BETTER SCHOOLS TAG DAY

An organization for a state-wide Better Schools Campaign is now in progress. To provide funds for a great campaign for education, to be carried on next October in every county of Texas, a Better Schools Tag Day will be held in every part of the state on the first day of May. Supplies and circulars will be distributed through county chairman to rural and town Tag-Day Chairman. One-half of the amount raised in each county will remain in the county as a county campaign fund; the remaining half will be assigned to the State Campaign Fund. The request is to be made of those who will carry on this work, to render to their state this service, with the same patriotic motives that prompted those who in the army drafts responded to the Nation's call. Those who will make the small contribution asked for the May Day Tag are expected to respond as readily as they did to the Nation's appeal in the war drives which saved democracy. This campaign will be a great movement for the preservation in our state of the "guardian-genius of democracy" education.

America's Internal Foes—Who Are They? What Are They?

Unpatriotic and ungodly men are clamoring for a hearing in our political and social life.

Sensuality, selfishness and profanity are rampant. There is abundant evidence that we are relaxing the discipline, effort and sacrifice of the war and are going astray in the paths of extravagance and other form of out-breaking sin. Neglect of the church and bible have resulted in spiritual starvation. Our homes are endangered. We have been too busy making up time lost during the war to pay much attention to our world record on divorce. These and kindred sins are a much greater menace to our national life than German ambition and intrigue ever were.

George Adams Smith once said: "Men who will uncover the secret sin, however loathsome, and declare the hypocrisies, however powerful, of the social life of the people, are the patriots we need in the time of peace; it is more difficult to rouse a torpid people to their sins than to lead a roused one against their enemies, and harder to face a whole people with the support only of conscience than to defy many nations, if you but have your own at your back."—Ex.

HISTORY OF DEMOCRATIC NATIONAL CONVENTIONS FROM 1832 TO 1920

(By Henry C. Fuller.)

January 8th, of the present year, the Democratic National Executive Committee met in Washington City and decided that the next National Democratic Convention should be held in San Francisco California and the date was set for June 28th. The Republican National Convention will be held in Chicago, June 8th, so when the Democrats hosts meet they will have the advantage of knowing who their opponent is on the national ticket and also the platform upon which their opponents stand.

Texas will send forty delegates to San Francisco and one feature of the great contest now in Texas is to see whether Wilson or anti-Wilson men be sent as delegates. Prohibition Woman Suffrage and League of Nations will also figure largely in the convention whic beyond doubt promises to be one of the greatest and most momentous ever held by the democratic party, not excepting that held at Charleston, South Carolina, just before the breaking out of the Civil War. It is therefore, timely to review in brief the history of national democratic conventions.

The first democratic convention was held at Baltimore in 1832, and Andrew Jackson was nominated and elected president.

No convention was held in 1836 Martin Van Buren, being nominated in a caucus under the whip hand of President Jackson. Van Buren was elected.

In 1840 there was no convention Van Buren again being chosen by caucus and was defeated by General Wm Henry Harrison, a Wig.

In 1844 the democratic national convention was held in Baltimore and James K. Polk nominated and subsequently elected.

In 1848 the convention was held in Baltimore and Lewis Cass, nominated He was defeated by General Taylor, Whig, the hero of the Mexican War.

In 1852, the national democratic convention was held in Baltimore and Franklin Pierce was nominated on the ninth ballot. Pierce was elected.

In 1856 the democrat national convention met in Cincinnati and nominated James Buchanan on the seven teenth ballot. Buchannan was elected.

In 1860 the democrats held their national convention in Charleston South Carolina and the convention split on the slavery question, Stephen A. Douglass was nominated by one fraction and John C. Breckinridge, by the other. Still another nominated John Bell and Lincoln was elected.

In 1864 the convention met in Chicago and nominated Hoato, Seymour on the first and only ballot, and he was defeated by Grant.

In 1868 the national convention was held in New York City and Seymour was again nominated and again defeated by Grant.

In 1872 the democrats held their convention in Baltimore and nominated Horace Greeley on the first and only ballot. Greeley was defeated only and died of a broken heart.

In 1876 the national democratic convention was held in St. Louis, June 28th and Samuel J. Tilden was nominated. In the national election he tied Rutherford B. Hayes and an Electoral Commission, appointed by Republican congress, decided in favor of Hayes.

In 1880 the national convention met in Cincinnati, June 23rd and 24th and nominated Winfield Scott Hancock who was defeated by Jame R. Garfield.

In 1884 the convention met in Chicago, July 11th and nominated Grover Cleveland, who was elected, defeating James G. Blane and being the first democratic president since Buchanan.

In 1888 the national convention was held in St. Louis, June 8th and Cleveland renominated. He was defeated by Benjamin Harison.

In 1892 the national convention was held in Chicago, June 23rd and Cleveland was nominated the third time and was elected defeating Harrison.

In 1896 the convention was held in Chicago, July 10th and split on Free Silver, the silver wing nominating W. J. Bryan and the gold wing nominating Gen. S. B. Buckner. McKinley, republican, was elected.

In 1900 the national convention was held in Kansas City, July 5th and Bryan was again nominated and defeated by McKinley.

In 1904 the national democratic convention was held in St. Louis, July 7th and Alton B. Parker was nominated and defeated by Theodore Roosevelt who had succeeded to the presidency on the death of McKinley.

In 1908 the national convention met in Denver July 7-10 and Bryan rominated for the third time and again defeated, this time by Taft.

In 1912 the national convention was held in Baltimore June 25th to July 2nd and Woodrow Wilson nominated on the forty-sixth ballot. Camp Clark led up to the forty-second ballot.

In 1916 the national convention met in St. Louis, June 14th to 16th, and Wilson and Marshall were nominated by acclamation.

In democratic national conventions it takes a two-third vote to nominate The Republicans require a majority only.

The convntion that meets in San Francisco will have about 1,000 delegates. Cleveland and Bryan are the only candidates nominated the third time.

ABILENE A SPLENDID SCHOOL TOWN

According to the action of the Board of Education of the Northwest Texas Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, in session at Abilene last week, Abilene is to receive one of the three Class A senior co-educational colleges that denomination in Texas, Abilene and Stamford were the only contestants for the location of the college. Abilene's bid for the institution totalled $450,000. Of this amount $200,000 was pledged by Abilene Methodist, $250,000 by Abilene Chamber of Commerce including a $50,000 building site of twenty-five acres. The location of this college will make that city one of the leading educational centers in Texas. Besides the fine public school system Abilene will boast of three colleges, Abilene Christian College, Simmons College, which is to become Simmons University in September 1921, and the new Methodist College and a Catholic Academy.
