

MITCHELL COUNTY COTTON PRODUCERS LEND SUPPORT TO BETTER STAPLE DRIVE

Farmers Representing Every Section Of Territory To Attend Conference Friday Afternoon, Baskin States

Cotton producers in every part of the county are evidencing strong interest in drive to improve quality of the staple and will attend county-wide "Cotton Improvement" meeting at the district court room Friday afternoon, according to Ben J. Baskin, county farm agent. The conference is to be held at 2:30 o'clock with Baskin in the chair. The conference is of vital importance to all farmers, ginners, cotton buyers, bankers and other interested persons, the county agent suggested Tuesday morning as he again offered urge that the public attend. "Mitchell county is fortunate in having some of Texas' leading authorities on the cotton question scheduled to deliver addresses before this county gathering," he said. Four men prominently identified with the cotton industry in Texas are to speak. They are D. T. Killough, cotton breeder, Texas experiment station; Roy F. Saunders, bureau of plant industry, United States department of agriculture; E. A. Miller, agronomist, extension service, A. & M. College, and F. E. Lichte, gin specialist, extension service, A. & M. College.

Purpose of the meeting is two-fold, first to acquaint the farmer and the trade with the seriousness of the cotton situation due to short staple in Texas, and to offer the most practical solution to the problem. Reduced quotations on low staple cotton, together with trouble encountered by the producer of this commodity in obtaining Federal loans are among reasons assigned for calling upon the general public to support the campaign.

Business Better As Pickers Throng At Colorado Saturday

Mexicans and Negroes Here With Cash Earned In The Cotton Fields Of Area

For the second consecutive Saturday Colorado has gotten a taste of real autumn business. From Saturday noon until well after dark the streets and stores were literally thronged with pedestrian traffic. For the most part the visitors were Mexicans and negroes in town with cash in their pockets earned during the past week in cotton fields of the territory. They were here to do some shopping, too, as is being attested by practically every business concern in town.

The City National bank was not immune from the rush. Long lines of pickers, waiting to exchange their salary checks for cash, stood in the lobby facing each of the three paying teller windows. There were times when one or more of the lines reached from the Second street door entrance. The postoffice also came in for a share in the good business Saturday. Scores of the pickers called to inquire about mail from home, to purchase stamps and buy money orders for sending money elsewhere. Employees breathed a sigh of relief when the clock registered one in the afternoon and the place was closed for remainder of the day.

FEDERAL COTTON LOANS IN LINE FOR GREATER SPREAD UNDER REVISED SCHEDULES

More Liberalized Attitude Is Authorized After Mahon, Other Congress Leaders Detail Conditions

Marvin Jones of Amarillo, several years a leader in the lower house of congress and chairman of the house committee on agriculture, announced Monday that provisions for loans on government cotton had been changed to include all cotton tenderable as to grade and staple.

Strong representation that the government authorize a more liberalized attitude as to cotton eligible for benefits under the Federal law was made during the past week by Congressman George Mahon of Colorado and other National leaders identified with West Texas and the South Plains area. Mahon returned here a few days ago after a swing through his district to obtain first hand information as to merits of the proposed change.

The local congressman is expressing hope that consideration of the producer of short staple cotton in this area is to go even farther. While at Lubbock last week he conferred with government officials as to the needs of establishing and maintaining a government cotton grading office in that city. Cotton growers in this section of Texas seeking to obtain loans on the commodity are forced to send sample of the cotton to Dallas for classification under the present set-up.

Loans on the lower grades of cotton will be slightly below the 9 cents a pound allowed for the higher grades.

The change was made primarily in the interest of West Texas and Panhandle cotton growers, Jones stated. A large percentage of the cotton in those sections did not meet requirements under the original provisions. Under the new rules practically all cotton in Texas will be eligible for the loans, the Amarillo congressman said.

The liberalized loan program should give the farmers of West Texas a break, Mahon stated from his office here Tuesday. "The plan as announced in Amarillo by Marvin Jones is what we have been fighting for."

State Commissioner of Agriculture Bill McDonald was quoted in Abilene Tuesday as registering objection to the plan, however, and indicated in a press interview that he would outline his objections during an address at Abilene Free Fair later during the week.

The recently adopted Federal policy regarding cotton loans is very difficult of operation," charged the Texas legislature in resolution adopted Tuesday, calling upon President Roosevelt to convene congress in special session at once to relieve "serious and vexing" problems of the cotton farmer.

HENNIN' AROUND AT MAX'S

It's crossing my fingers I am as smart as mar. . . Some are fastened with hem-to-neckline zippers, others lap over comfortably and button. . . Some are belted, others fitted. . .

All the warm color of autumn and the thrill of snapping pigskin are expressed in the new spectator sports dresses at Max's, and in the new coats. . . And if you think a mention of winter coats is premature, then you haven't stayed on the grandstand at Cantrill field through any full game of the past two weeks. I betcha. . .

Soft as the "skin you love to touch" is the grey suede front of a two-piece grey wool suit-dress. . . (Chartreuse green and flame are mingled in the smart scarf and in the narrow belt. . .)

And here's another two-piece dress of red cedar and green wool—the skirt of Lanvin green, the coat of the red cedar. . . Brown and green in the scarf. . . Shut your eyes and picture this with a kidskin coat—nice picturing, isn't it?

Amazingly warm are the duvety dress. . . Warmer than wool, anybody who's worn one will tell you. . . Their utter softness gets you—they can be crushed in your hand and still look as smooth and rich as ever. . . Too soft to crinkle, too soft to scratch, too soft—well, there's nothing quite so soft unless it's a very new baby chick. . . One is in Lanvin green, one in rust, one in red currant. . .

For the nights—and afternoons, of course—when you don't go to football games there are the crepes and velvets. . . Don't hesitate to go all-black on your crepe dress. . . They tell me nothing is smarter than all-black with a touch of color in your corsage, in your handkerchief, or in a small gold ornament at the throat. . .

If your hostess-to-be has put you in rather an undecided spot by saying "Don't dress for dinner" when you particularly wanted to look "dressed up," then you can obey your hostess and at the same time please yourself by wearing a certain velvet number. . . It has all the rich, ineffable smartness of transparent velvet, yet it's a "shirtmaker's" model with the new elbow-length sleeves, covered buttons marching down the front to the waist-line, white lace collars and cuffs. . . Nobody could accuse you of "dressing," yet nobody could deny that you had achieved the same effect. . .

As for the coats—well, this year you can take your choice, even if that choice happens to be a long-despised-of fur coat, because Max has selected good furs for any size pocket-book. . . Kidskins and ponies, lapins and seals are favored. . . They're long, short, fitted, loose. . . You can't go wrong. The Rothmoors, Princesses, and Betty Roses come both fur-trimmed and plain. . .

Found: A happy solution for those winter evenings or afternoons when you long to lounge but don't dare undress for fear someone may call. . . The solution lies in these new Potter-Moss housecoats. . . Soft as only heavily-napped knit silk can be soft, they have a wrinkle-proof smartness that no amount of lounging can mar. . . Some are fastened with hem-to-neckline zippers, others lap over comfortably and button. . . Some are belted, others fitted. . .

"Dress Up and Live" . . . That's a fitting motto for the new hat mode. . . They flatter you and make a "lady" of you, these new hats. . . Crazy, some of them, but a lovely craziness. . . In case the veil which your hat will probably have makes you feel like something of a fool, just remember that the lady next to you is feeling the same way, and also remember that your veil is adding just as much to your appearance as her veil adds to hers, and so be happy. . .

Here are some tips about accessories from one who ought to know—and you can, of course, find all these "tips" at Max's: Choose gloves and hose to match, or hat and shoes to match, or get hose, handkerchief, bag, shoes, and hat all of the same color. . .

For practical work dresses or dresses to be worn for semi-dress-up every afternoon you can't beat the Nelly Dons, the Marcia Lees, the Annie Rooneys. . . They get better every year, offering tub silks (2.95) that really tub, smart numbers in prints, challies, crepes, and wools. . .

No need to say "Don't forget the very, very young ladies while dressing yourself up," because very few very young ladies will allow themselves to be forgotten. . . Smart ideas have worked their way into most young heads, so your young daughter or sister or friend will probably guide you unerringly to the newest new things. . .

Ballet ideas thrive in the imagination of the young lady attired in a 16-gored princes model of Tony Sarg spring or broadcloth. . . And she'll love the rustle of a fitted brown taffeta with tared hem and all over embroidered flower adornment. . . This model comes in sizes from 7 to 10. . .

"I want to take it home with me." . . That's what little girls were saying about the new coat outfits received at Max's Monday morning. . . Coats, both fitted and boxed, with matching leggings for winter walks and matching hats thrown in up to six years. . .

Rogers Ramblings
 The Sunday school met Sunday with 26 present and good lessons. We have our new literature and are now ready to do some good work during our next quarter. We expect our Sunday school to grow because we have developed competition among the classes. The adults feel quite confident of themselves but of course that's what one needs to do his work so here's "More power to them."
 The Senior class is doing good work and is quite sure that when the final report is read they will have the "leading role." The Seniors are looking forward to a Halloween barn party which will be given by the boys (the girls think!). But how about it, boys, are you??
 The Junior and Intermediate classes have been keeping their business all to themselves so perhaps they will "step out and fly the winning colors." Who knows?
 We had some visitors and new pupils Sunday and we hope that the will be with us again.
 An invitation to each and everyone to come and be with us Sunday at the Sunday school and then preaching services at 11 o'clock which will be conducted by B. O. ... Come and bring someone with you.

SCHOOL NEWS
Exams! "They aren't so bad after all especially when you have 70's to play with," says Linden Solomon. Poor Linden thinks that tests aren't the best of him, but when J. P. comes along with his intelligent answer to the difficult questions then everyone is happy again.
 Who can keep J. P. from thinking that he should have an "A" in art just because he "forgets" his assignments and "leaves" them at home?
 Why does Junior Hayes want to be the giant in "Jack and the Bean"? Is it because Miss Moore has the giant made or because the giant has such a "lovely figure"?
 We believe that Willie Ruth Howell wanted the part of Jack's mother because she will be of some assistance in breaking the giant's neck.
 Be sure and see the marionette show. Walking, talking performing dolls; just as lifelike as any member of your family. Yet they are only from 6 to 12 inches tall. Watch for the date! Don't miss it!
 Mr. Sweatt has discarded his cane and the boys have taken up "bow and arrow" play. We are wondering about the changes. We are glad to have Mr. Sweatt on "both legs" again and we are sure that he will help make our play periods more enjoyable.

The former vied with each other in hurling a rolling pin at a scarecrow make-believe husband. Target practice at hitting the bull's eye and pitching horseshoes were indulged in.
 Prizes were awarded in all contests by Miss Gloria Martin, daughter of the hosts. Winners in the various games were: "42"—high score, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Williams, with all winners at tables being favored with carnival candy; bridge—Mrs. Harold Martin; rolling pin hurling, Mrs. John Mahon; target practice, Jack Walker; horseshoes, Harold Martin. In the Bingo games, each guest received an attractive prize.

Mitchell Cotton Is Estimated In State Figures At 31,000

Eighty Per Cent Of Staple Is Seven-Eighths Inch Staple Report Indicates

Cotton production in Mitchell county from the present crop is estimated at 31,000 bales in statement announced Monday by George G. White of Big Spring, district old age assistance commission supervisor. White stated that figures compiled by field representatives of the office indicated that 80 per cent of the crop would be 7-8 inch staple, or better. The report covered 14 counties of the area and showed an estimated total production of 361,500 bales, the largest in years. Bulk of the production comes from some 10 counties in the area, while two counties, Lynn and Dawson, have almost half of the anticipated harvest. Lynn county leads the field with an estimate of 90,000 bales, some 40 per cent of it possibly under 7-8 inch. Dawson county is next with estimated yield of 75,000 bales, with the dismal prospect that half of the crop may be under 7-8 inch staple. Production for the area affected is estimated to be from 1,068,000 base cotton acres. The figure, however, is doubtless much higher since the percentage of compliance in most of the counties ran from 33 to 65. This means that the remaining farmers in the various counties went in more heavily for cotton production. Estimated production and possible percentage of staple which will show 7-8 inch or better follows:

County	No. Bales	Pct. 7-8
Kent	12,000	75
Gaines	6,000	70
Dawson	75,000	50
Scurry	35,000	60
Lynn	90,000	60
Garza	25,000	75
Mitchell	31,000	80
Terry	30,000	95
Martin	20,000	95
Howard	27,500	88
Midland	5,000	90

THIRD GRADERS MAKE TRAIN TRIP AS PART OF CONVEYANCE STUDY

Three groups of third grade pupils were taken on train trips to Lorraine this week as the culmination of their study of transportation units this year.

Miss Hattie Tankersley and two mothers, Mrs. A. C. Benson and Mrs. H. I. Berman, took 34 to Lorraine on the 1:19 train Tuesday, visiting in the Lorraine school until time to return on the 3:15. They were met at the Lorraine station by the Lorraine school bus and Supt. Williams. A program had been prepared for their entertainment.

Twenty-six youngsters made the trip with Mrs. C. A. Wilkins Wednesday. This group was met in Lorraine by a group of parents and returned to Colorado by car. Seventeen of this group had never been on a train before.

Mrs. Floyd Quinney, Hutchinson school principal, took her third-graders on the trip Thursday.

In each group each child brought his or her own ticket.

The Lorainé Bulldogs are to play the Clyde eleven Friday afternoon at Lorainé in a non-conference affair. The Bulldogs will be handicapped due to absence of Al Simmons, quarterback, who is tied up with injuries. Robert James is to take Simmons' place in the Lorainé eleven.

Buick Advance Held To Minimum, States President Curtice

Hikes Over 1937 Prices Are From $7 To $97, Plant Chief Announces

FLINT, Mich.—Harlow H. Curtice, president of the Buick division of General Motors, announced today that increase in prices of all Buick priced cars have been kept to a maximum of 4.1 per cent.

The executive said that the new prices represent increases from $7 to $97 over 1937 prices, and are from less than one per cent to 4.1 per cent over last year. The larger increases, he said, are in the higher priced lines of cars. He added that the 1938 prices are lower than were generally anticipated.

The increase in price of the Series 40 Standard sedan with built-in trunk, one of the most popular models in the Buick line and the biggest seller in the 40 Series which represents 70 per cent of total Buick output, is $26, or 2.5 per cent over the 1937 price. The same model in the Series 60 group was raised $31 or an increase of 2.4 per cent.

In virtually all of the two lower-priced groups of cars, price increases have been held within a range of from $7 to $32, the smallest increase being on the Series 60 Opera coupe and the largest on the Series 60 four-door sport sedan.

Increases in Buick prices have been held to a minimum, Mr. Curtice said, in the face of higher manufacturing and material costs and the introduction of two outstanding engineering improvements, namely, the new and more powerful Dynaflex engine and coil spring rear suspension. In addition, the new cars have more major improvements than in any of the past five years, he said.

On two convertible models, the Series 60 Century sport phaeton, and the Series 80 Roadmaster sport phaeton, prices were raised $143 and $121 respectively, representing increases of 9.1 per cent and 6.4 per cent. According to the Buick management, these two models were underpriced in 1937.

Mr. Curtice said the new prices include standard accessories and federal tax and are quoted as the retail delivery price fully equipped at the factory in Flint. The only charges to be added are transportation and local taxes, if any.

NEW JERSEY WOMAN DIES HERE AS LONG PLANNED TRIP ENDS

Death came unexpectedly to Mrs. Anna V. Crumme, 77, of Union City, New Jersey, as she returned home after a California vacation for which she had saved and planned ten years. Mrs. Crumme died in Root hospital at 4:50 Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Crumme, traveling with a son, Thos. F. Crumme, first became ill at Midland, but was advised that she could continue traveling. Her condition became serious here and she was taken to the hospital Tuesday afternoon. Death was due to a heart ailment.

Palace—Friday and Saturday
October 8 and 9

Here is the ideal combination for the perfect Saturday matinee show—a Wild West picture with a kid star. Given this unbeatable formula, the film could not help but be outstanding boxoffice, but it has more to offer. The entire production is fast, exciting and entertaining—even to the eyes of adults. Jane Withers does all her tricks—tears, laughter, songs and dances. She is ably assisted in them by her stooge, "Alfalfa," whose own performance crowds Miss Withers for top honors. Walter Brennan and Berton Churchill, as a pair of feuding politicians, score heavily with swell comedy roles. Miss Withers elects her Grandpappy Sheriff and marries her school marm to the local editor. Directed by Alfred Werker. Players are Jane Withers, Walter Brennan, Pauline Moore, Alfalfa Switzer, Jack Searl, Berton Churchill, Douglas Powley.

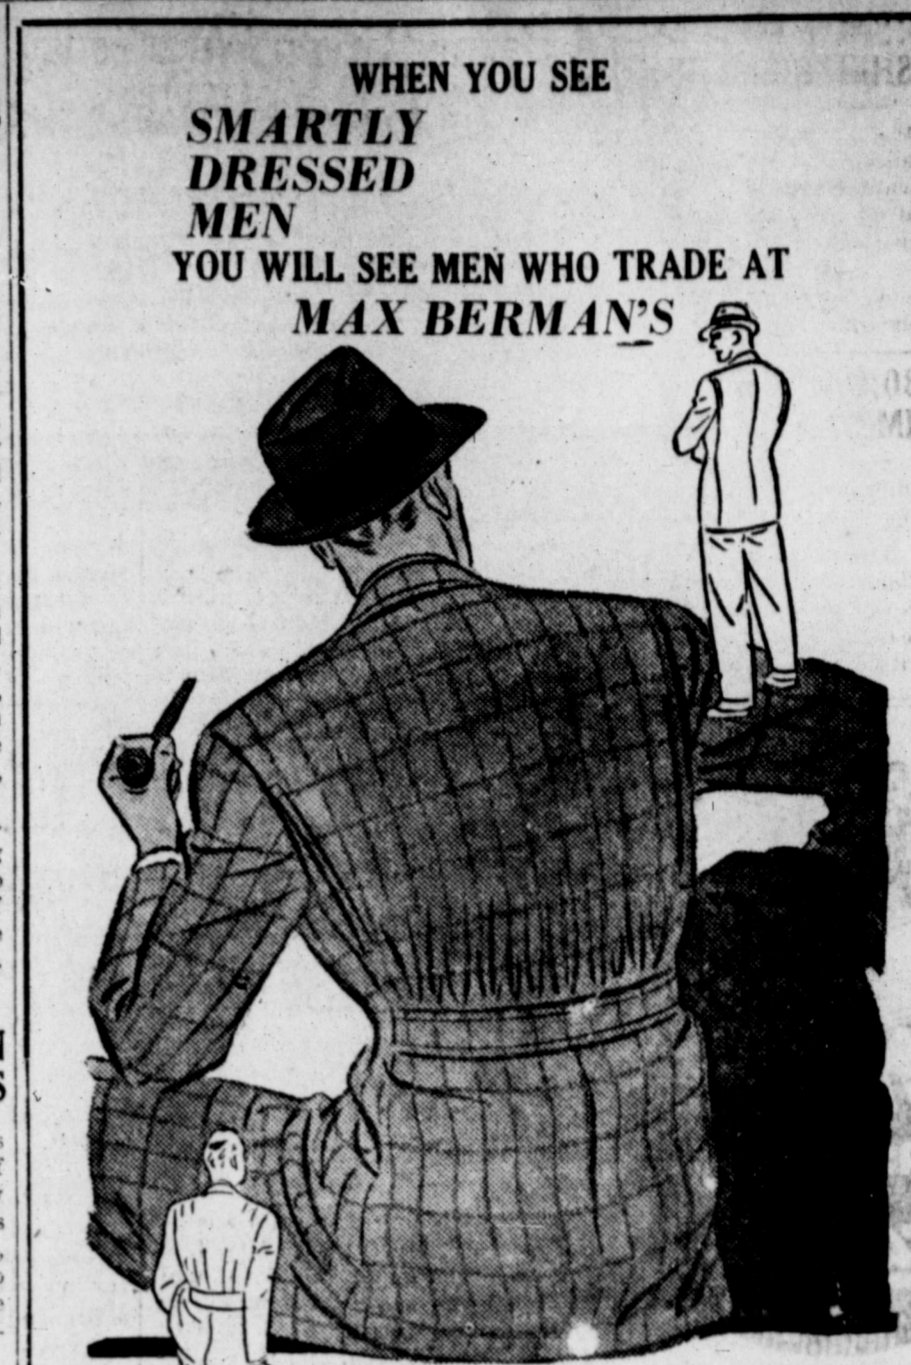

"BROADWAY MELODY OF 1938"
Palace—Saturday Midnight, Oct. 9
Sunday and Monday, Oct. 10 and 11
A cast loaded with established marquee names and the popularity of preceding "Melodies" guarantee that this one cannot miss scoring heavily at the turnstiles. It is a convincing, elaborate extravaganza and will deliver a full measure of entertainment to the cash customers. Many, however, will opine that it suffers in comparison with others in the series; such opinions being engendered because an effort was made—and with doubtful success—to bring more of story and less of production into its making than has been the case heretofore. Eleanor Powell performs and dances with her usual grace and charm and will prove the picture's greatest asset, while George Murphy is given a chance to deliver his best screen work to date. Robert Taylor is apparently in just to stay the ten rounds. Directed by Roy Del Ruth. Players are Robert Taylor, Eleanor Powell, George Murphy, Binnie Barnes, Buddy Ebsen, Sophie Tucker, Billy Gilbert.

Ritz—Sunday and Monday

Kay Francis' ability as an emotional actress has never been better demonstrated than in this, her strongest vehicle in many pictures. The feminine star's fans who may have been disappointed in her past few appearances will be overjoyed at this carefully made, splendidly presented story of mother-love, and their pleasure should be reflected in heavy boxoffice returns. Miss Francis is surprisingly effective in the singing

A passable duaner, geared to the routine action formula, this is competently acted and directed and will suffice as the melodramatic part of a balanced program. Chief among its assets are a sterling and unusual characterization by Irving Pichel as the "brains" of a tough bank-payroll bandit gang, and a virile performance by Robert Wilcox, who looks and acts like a second Cagney. Wilcox is in charge of an armored car used to transport huge sums of money. To attempt to round up Pichel's gang, the company "frames" Wilcox and supposedly discharges him, whereupon he eases his way into the gang, although his actions turn his sweetheart, Judith Barrett, against him. In the usual whirlwind finish he captures the crooks and saves the armored car. Directed by Lewis R. Foster. Players are Robert Wilcox, Judith Barrett, Irving Pichel, Cesar Romero, David Oliver, Inez Courtney, Paul Fix.

Alleged Drunks In Sensational Drive Along Rail Tracks

Pair Take To T-P After Cops Give Chase Friday Night; Arrested Near Refinery

Two citizens hailing from points further west gave members of the police and sheriff's departments and employees at Col-Tex refinery a "thrill" early Friday night, after the men had driven their motor car along tracks of the Texas & Pacific railway west from a point near the freight station to west of Col-Tex refinery.

The pair was sighted by officers in a police scout car a few minutes after eight o'clock. Actions of the driver and his companion suggested that they probably had been taking on a few drinks. The officers gave chase, only to be outdistanced. The fugitive car darted in among long strings of box cars in the railway yards and was lost.

The officers, after cruising in the vicinity a short time, drove back to the business district to wait. They presumed their prey would show up soon. One of them went into the downtown police and sheriff's office to answer the telephone.

"Hey, get out here quick," loudly exclaimed party at other end of the line. "A car has just passed here driving along the railroad tracks and went around the bend toward Westbrook." The call was from an employee at the refinery who had just seen an automobile bumping from cross tie to cross tie along the tracks.

The officers arrested the men near their abandoned car in the deep cut west of the city. The machine had stalled on a high center. One of the accused was hiding behind a small weed when invited to come along by a member of the arresting squad. The other remonstrated about the highway being so rough and full of holes. "Why, I almost shook my car to pieces in driving out here from town," he exclaimed heatedly. "I'm going to do something about that."

Men were called from yards of the refinery and lifted the car from its perch on tracks of the rail line a short time before a fast through freight rounded curve ahead and swooped down through the cut.

The alleged drunks were taken to county jail for the night and released the following afternoon after charges had been lodged against them.

Cotton Harvest In Texas Helped By Better Weather

Pickers Scarce In Several Localities; Insects Are Attacking Late Fruit

Ideal weather aided development of late cotton and favored gathering of the Texas crop during the week ended Friday as shown in The Dallas News summary. On account of lateness of season and steadily increasing insects only a slight increase in production is reported from parts of North, Northeast and East Texas. All other regions show the crop at a standstill. Absence of rains gave impetus to harvest, which is behind schedule in important areas of late cotton which could suffer heavy loss from a period of protracted fall storms. Scarcity of pickers is delaying gathering of the crop and drastic measures are being adopted to force hands into the fields in a number of counties. Because of widely prevalent insects, new fruit is being riddled by leafworms, bollworms and weevils. On the South Plains it is too late to count on open bolls from fruit now forming unless there should be no killing frost until well after the normal date about end of October. Cotton flea hoppers are preventing blooms in plants grown rank after recent heavy rains. South Plains reports 10 per cent of crop picked, mostly snapped; 40 per cent picked in North Texas, 55 to 60 per cent in East and Northeast Texas, 65 per cent in Central Texas, 25 per cent in West Central and 10 per cent in West Texas. In South Texas

95 per cent is gathered and in Southeast 75 per cent. Oklahoma cotton improved some during the week and with favorable weather the crop may still increase if frost holds off in western areas. Eastern counties report some bolls rotting, due to excessive rain. About 30 per cent of crop in southern counties is gathered 10 per cent in north-east and west. Weevils are taking late fruit and leafworms and bollworms are active. New Mexico cotton is not increasing owing to insects. Only 5 per cent is gathered and 15 to 25 per cent is open.

Snyder Pool Scene Of Large Activity, Big Spring Reports

Oil Territory Centering At Ranch Holdings Of Local Citizen Getting Play

BIG SPRING.—The sale of two Howard county oil leases this week was followed by the staking of one location by each of the new owners. Lloyd Noble staked No. 2 Chalk, 330 from the north, 990 feet from the west line of section 94-29-W&NW, on the 320-acre lease—the south half of section 94—which he purchased from Otis Chalk for a reported consideration of $100,000. On the tract is No. 1-C Chalk, which recently was completed at 2,981 feet with a daily potential of 545.28 barrels to effect a northeast extension to an area in which operations were begun 11 years ago.

Lorene & Bradstreet Co. staked a location 330 from the south, 250 feet from the east line of section 95-29-W&NW, on a 65-acre lease which it purchased from Continental Oil Co. Humble No. 1 Doubt, south offset to Noble (formerly Chalk) No. 1 Chalk, 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 115-29-W&NW, had drilled past 2,575 feet.

Six miles to the north, activity was booming in the Snyder pool. Magnolia finished cleaning out its No. 1 M. H. O'Daniel, 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 34-30-1s-T&P. Each time the well swabbed 500 feet off the column of oil, it started flowing at the rate of 100 barrels an hour and filled limited storage. An early test was scheduled with indications No. 1 O'Daniel may prove to be the largest of five producers in the new Magnolia No. 2 M. H. O'Daniel, south offset to the No. 1 well, drilled ahead to 1,005 feet. Iron Mountain officially completed its No. 1 Snyder, 330 feet out of the southeast corner of section 28-30-1s-T&P, for 552 barrels daily. Top of pay was 2,710 feet and total depth 2,900 feet in lime.

Ajax rigged for its No. 1 Snyder, 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 28-30-1s-T&P, and Shell was reported moving in material for its No. 1 TXL, 320 feet from the east and 1,650 feet from the north lines of section 33-30-1s-T&P, a south offset to Moore Bros. No. 2 TXL, which showed 631 barrels daily on test. The discovery Moore Bros. No. 1 TXL, 330 feet out of the northeast corner of section 33-30-1s-T&P, which was never shot but tested 213 barrels daily, is to be given a 750 quart shot soon.

Watson Pictures Texas Retirement Bill For Teachers

Ninety Five Per Cent Faculty Here Members Of Unit, Superintendent Notes

Highlights in the Texas teachers retirement system, patterned in many respects after the State and Federal social security laws, were detailed Wednesday morning by J. E. Watson, superintendent of the Colorado schools. The bill was enacted into law to provide assurance against dependency in old age for the school teachers of this State.

Watson stated that ninety-five per cent of the teachers here were members of the system. The association is open to any experienced teacher of the State, he said. All those starting teaching September 1 of this year automatically became members.

Some of the provisions under which the system operates were listed by Watson, as follows:

Each member contributes 5 per cent of his salary and a like amount is paid into the general fund by the State. These contributions, bearing an annual interest rate of 3 1/2 per cent, are placed to credit of the teacher.

Teachers with service prior to September 1 may take their average salary for ten years, immediately preceding that date, deduct one per cent from the average and multiply by the total number of years of service to arrive at their prior service account.

A teacher may retire at 60. At 70 the retirement provision becomes mandatory. A teacher may retire for disability after 20 years of active service. He will be paid an annuity on retirement composed of his prior service account and his active service account. If he leaves the profession he may withdraw his contribution, plus the 3 1/2 per cent interest accumulation.

HEARS FROM SHANGHAI

First word which Mrs. R. F. Garrard has had from her son, Garrard Hargrove of Shanghai, since the outbreak of Sino-Japanese hostilities in Shanghai came in a letter which she received from him last Friday morning.

The letter was written August 23, ten days after hostilities began but before the first big air raid on Shanghai. He wrote: "We're all well and fairly safe behind lines guarded by the Fourth U. S. Marines and the U. S. Naval landing party. . . . There has been no falling shrapnel here but we keep indoors during all air raids, and in fact most of the

THREE ALARMS IN CITY AS FIRE PREVENTION IS OBSERVED BY COLORADO

Up to Thursday morning three alarms had been received at the fire department as Colorado was observing annual Fire Prevention Week. All of the calls came from the Continental Oil-Cotton company plant.

Two of the alarms—Monday and Tuesday afternoons—were timed by fate at the same hour. On Monday afternoon at 4:45 fire broke out in cotton linter bales on the yards. Tuesday afternoon at the same time the department was called back to the mill to check a blaze in the seed warehouse. The third alarm was given at 10 Wednesday night after fire broke out again in the cotton bales.

The cotton was considerably damaged, it was reported from the fire department Thursday morning. But little damage resulted from fire in the seed house.

SHADDAY INFANT BURIED
The stillborn infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Shadday was buried Sunday afternoon, the service being held by Dr. W. M. Elliott at 3:30. The mother is the former Irma Womack. The infant was born Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Womack are maternal grandparents. Kiker & Son made arrangements.

ALLIS-CHALMERS THE HOUSE OF POWER

If we are to raise cotton at the present prices, it seems that we must raise it cheaper—This can be done by farming with an ALLIS-CHALMERS W-C TRACTOR. It farms for less—it plows more acres in less time—and it sells for less. If you are planning on a method to cut farming cost on your next crop, look this ALLIS CHALMERS W-C TRACTOR over, and then talk with the man who owns one, and you will be surprised at the low first cost, and the operating cost. It produces a bale of cotton cheaper, and that is one of the things we must do to compete with the world cotton trade.

When you buy an ALLIS-CHALMERS TRACTOR, you get all the things you want in a Tractor—Namely, POWER—ECONOMY—SPEED—EASE OF HANDLING—QUICK DETACHABLE IMPLEMENTS—Every thing that makes for the 1938 modern farm tractor.

Come in and allow us to explain the superior features of this MODERN TRACTOR.

Wolf Eleven Given Praise As Mentor Talks Before Club

"Boys Are Putting Out All They Have For Colorado" Newby Pratt States

"I have never seen a finer eleven on the field nor a group of football players more deeply concerned about the responsibilities they face than is reflected in the Wolf line-up you Lions have seen during the two non-conference games we have played and are to see as we enter into conference contests," Newby Pratt, assistant coach, told the Lions Club Friday.

"Every one of those boys, whether he be in the line or warming the bench, is going to give out every bit of fight and technique he can muster in the drive to merit your continued enthusiastic support," he continued. Members of the club were thanked for their liberal cooperation already given the Wolves and their coaches.

Captain Charles Carter for that week and Boone Jackson, both important links in the Wolf first line, were present and spoke briefly. The boys, too, expressed appreciation of the support given them during the present season.

TEXAS HOUSE PETITIONS FDR TO CALL CONGRESS

The Texas house of representatives Wednesday appealed to President Roosevelt to call a special session of congress before Nov. 1 to relieve "serious" and "vexing" problems of the farmer due to low cotton prices.

It adopted a concurrent resolution to that effect by viva voce vote.

The resolution said the price of cotton was lower than it had been in four years and approaching the low price established in the depths of depression, while price of manufactured products which farmers had to buy were increasing.

The recently adopted federal policy regarding cotton loans was criticized as "very difficult of operation."

WILD DUCK CROP BEST IN YEARS, SAYS SURVEY

The largest migration of wild ducks in three years will be heading southward as duck hunting seasons open in northern states on October 9, according to a survey by the Mors Game Birds Foundation.

The webfoot increase, however, will be nothing for duck hunters to become excited about, the Foundation warns. America's wild ducks hit the bottom of the worst wildfowl depression in history in 1934 and almost any turn for the better can now be recorded as an increase.

Heavier rainfall in north central states which reflooded drought-stricken sections of the great mid-continental "duck factory" brought larger duck crops during the summer breeding season. Minnesota records a 50 per cent increase, mainly of teal; Nebraska and North Dakota, 25 per cent, and South Dakota 50 per cent.

Aiding the waterfowl comeback in this hard hit duck producing section have been $21,769,337 of federal funds and $1,248,851 of "Duck Stamp" fees used for waterfowl refuge establishment the past three years.

"However," the Foundation points out, "drought and agricultural reclamation of over 70,000,000 acres of wild duck areas have relegated the United States to a minor status as a duck producer. Eighty-five per cent of our waterfowl now have been driven into Canada to breed—principally in limited sections of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta."

In Manitoba, according to a survey by the Manitoba Fish and Game Association, of the 55 most important wildfowl breeding grounds, 21 areas produced more ducks than last year, 22 had approximately the same duck crops, while 12 had less ducks. Northern Saskatchewan and Alberta produced good crops the past summer but droughts again took toll of waterfowl in southern sections.

Despite the small increase this year, the waterfowl situation is still precarious, the Foundation believes. "Not until ruined portions of the Canadian 'duck factory' are restored can we again have really good duck shooting in the United States," the Foundation declares.

Six-Point Policy Offered By Wallace For Cotton Farmer

Moderate Adjustment In Its Production And Greater Consumption Advised

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Secretary Wallace placed before 3,000 Southern farmers and agricultural leaders Friday a six-point permanent cotton program steering a course midway between rigid curtailment and unlimited production.

He challenged his audience to array their forces in its defense to enable the Cotton Belt to earn a bigger income.

"The lines are already being drawn for and against the new farm legislation which will be needed to carry out the program," he said.

The Secretary advised the agricultural South to unite with farmers elsewhere in seeking a new farm bill that will serve the long-time welfare of agriculture and the Nation.

The ultimate solution of the complex cotton problem, he said, lies in a continuance of a moderate adjustment of production such as would preserve the fertility of the soil and still allow production of at least as much cotton as the markets of this and other countries have been accustomed to take.

"The United States intends to keep its place in the world cotton market," he said, "by supplementing the market price with payments to co-operating farmers on an allotted cotton production goal," probably financed by a moderate processing tax.

The Secretary said the administration-approved program to alleviate depressed social and economic conditions of the South would provide:

1. A moderate adjustment of production to preserve and build up the soil "and still allow production of at least as much cotton as the markets of this and other countries have been accustomed to take."
 2. Greater use of cotton through "national policies which increase business activity and employment and spread buying power," included in which is the Department of Agriculture's program of experiments to establish new uses for cotton.
 3. Diversified production of both home food and feed crops.
 4. Maintenance of United States' foreign cotton trade, supplementing the market price with "payments to co-operating farmers on an allotted cotton production goal."
 5. Loans as insurance against collapse of price. Wallace said such loans "might take the form of stop-loss loans, to be made when the cotton carry-over reaches such proportions as to threaten complete demoralization of prices."
 6. Authority to market quotas on the entire crop, to be imposed "only in an emergency and only after an overwhelming majority of the producers had expressed themselves in favor of such action."
- Other points in the program would provide: Encouragement of greater consumption of cotton, increased production of home food and feed crops; authority for loans to prevent price collapses; and finally, authority for marketing quotas on the entire crop. He described the processing tax as the farmer's tariff.
- Wallace took cognizance of a prospective 16,000,000-bale Southern crop, and 19,000,000-bale foreign crop, which he said would lead to a

DANGEROUS AIR RAID SEEN
AS COLORADO IS ATTACKED
HERE FRIDAY BY VISITORS

Rotan Gridsters Rout Snyder
Through That Offensive;
Second Conference Fight
To Open At 8 O'clock

An attack through the air that will be turned loose relentlessly in will to blast Colorado from her unbroken stride in District 6-B conference football is to be anticipated as the Wolves engage Rotan's Yellowhammers in another league argument at Cantrill Field Friday night. The Rotan schoolboys have developed a dangerous offensive under that department and plan giving their opponents the works.

In the four-way combination of Smith Brothers, Benny Hull and Howard Swann, the Yellowhammers are offering this district one of the best clicking passing machines developed in several seasons, according to version of dopsters who have witnessed the Fisher county lads in action. Rotan connected for a pair of long, bullet-like passes last Friday afternoon to down Snyder 6 to 12 in a game that presented the Tigers as the better club, in so far as playing usual technique was to be considered. Rotan made only 5 first downs while Snyder effected 12 of the ten-yard gains.

Wolf fans will recall that the Yellowhammers worried Colorado last year after bringing their aerial attack into play. There were three of the Smith boys on the visitor's eleven then, one of whom won distinction of being one of the best forward passers in the district. The elder Smith is out of play now, but his two brothers are ably supported by the Hull and Swann addition.

Colorado will have to bring up reinforcements to meet attack in this sector of the fight and watch out for

Friday Last Week

Members of the Lions Club are to visit the C. L. Root hospital in a body Friday afternoon, as their tribute to a fellow service member for having provided for the public of Mitchell county one of the best appointed hospitals in this section of the State.

Strong tribute to Dr. C. L. Root, builder and chief surgeon, was offered Friday by Walter Whipkey, former president of the Lions Club. Whipkey insisted that every member of the club visit the hospital at some time during the following week when open house was to have been observed. Motion that the club attend in a body prevailed after Tommy Dawes had proposed such a move. Usual entertainment program for this week will be dispensed with by the Lions in that they leave the hotel building immediately after having finished their lunch.

GOLDEN BADGERS HELD TO 7-39 SCOREBOARD RECORD
IN 1ST CONFERENCE FIGHT

Wolf Eleven Sets Initial Peg
In 'For-Keeps' Parade At Cantrill Field Friday In Argument With Merkel

The Merkel Golden Badgers met decisive defeat at hands of the Wolves as the two district 6-B conference schoolboy clubs met at Cantrill Field Friday night for their initial official contest. Merkel carried the ball over for her only touchdown late in the fourth to close a one-sided affair. The Wolves accounted for 39 points during the four periods.

And Colorado won her first pace in the 1937 district parade with the Wolf second string playing much of the game. After chalking up 13 points in the first period, Christian started his secondary men into play. The last half was fought with practically all first line men on the bench. Six reserves were sent in at one time after the Wolf mentor found that he had the argument iced down.

First counter of the affair was registered by the Wolves within a short time after the kick-off. Colorado took the ball on her own 25 yard stripe and staging successive line plunges and end plays behind a damaging blocking unit, soon pushed across the field and over the Merkel goal stripe. Another counter came a few minutes later after Carter, captain of the Wolves during the game, intercepted a Badger pass on his 40 yard line and raced through a broken field to carry the ball over. The period ended 13-0 for Colorado. Colorado threatened to score again under rapid fire order as the second period opened. A 40-yard pass was completed to place the ball on Merkel's 30 yard. Chadwick carried the ball for ten yards and a first down and on the next play the Wolves drew a fifteen yard penalty for holding. Merkel was meted a similar reverse on the next play and held with their backs to the wall. The ball went over on downs.

The Badgers failed to progress but rather sustained a damaging loss in yardage at this point and punted out from their goal line on the fourth. Glover took the ball on the 50-yard stripe. Colorado scored after pushing Merkel back in unbroken fashion. Colorado scored again in this period after Chadwick brushed around end for a gain of fifteen yards. Boone Jackson carried the ball across for the extra point. Score, Colorado 20; Merkel 0.

It was at this point that the visitors offered their first serious threat to stop march of the Wolves. Merkel completed a pass for eight yards and a second later repeated the trick, this time for a gain of 15 yards. Coach Christian was visibly nervous at about this juncture of the fight. He sent in substitutes to stay the Badger progress into Colorado territory. His orders evidently were effective, as tries for additional yardage by Merkel through the air proved futile.

The half ended after the Badgers rallied on their 15 yard stripe to check strides of the Wolves toward another counter. The Merkel boys held and the ball went over as the half ended. The score: Colorado, 26; Merkel 0. First downs for Colorado were 11 and for Merkel 2.

Colorado scored again in the third after completing a pass for 25 yards and negotiating a series of long plunges through center and around end. Chadwick carried the ball over for Colorado's final touchdown in the fourth.

Merkel came to Colorado with her pep squad and school band, each uniformed in attractive gold colors of the school. The two organizations were presented in formation between the halves and received rousing applause from the grandstand as the boys and girls came to attention in front of the Colorado section.

Colorado, too, had her band and pep squad out in uniform for the game. It was the first time for the latter organization to be seen this season wearing their red and black uniforms. The band, led by Nina Katherine Quinney as drum major, did some high-stepping rhythm marching on the field.

Progress of the game was announced over the public address system with Superintendent J. E. Watson at the mike.

Every boy on the Wolf squad, including two on the third string, saw action in the contest. Starting for Colorado were Burl Ballard, re; Captain Charles Carter, le; Boone Jackson, fb; Curtis Wood, c; Van King, rg; Dale Simpson, lt; Tommy Chadwick, q; G. W. Hodges, t; Jack Smith, rh; Rhudeale Glover, q, and Joe

Lorraine Bulldogs, Too, Push Ahead In District Through Defeat Of Roby Lions

The Rotan Yellowhammers Friday afternoon overturned the district 6-B dope bucket completely, in so far as the Snyder Tigers were reckoned, by downing the Seurry county schoolboys 12 to 6 before an enthused fan aggregation at Rotan.

Passes led to both of Rotan's touchdowns. Tate of Snyder plunged over the line for the only counter for his teammates late in the fourth quarter after the Tigers had carried the ball to within three yards of the pay stripe. Snyder led in first downs, 12 to 5.

At the same time the Lorraine Bulldogs, a team that during late contests of the 1936 season developed considerable power, nosed out the Roby Lions 13-12 in a hard fought engagement at Roby. This was the third consecutive win for Lorraine during the season.

Baird and Simmons stood out in the Lorraine offensive attack. The former took a long pass to make the first touchdown and Simmons reeled 75 yards across the field to place the ball behind enemy goal stripe for the second counter.

FARM SECURITY EXECUTIVE BOARD FOR COUNTY TO BE DESIGNATED IN NOVEMBER

Three Farmers Will Direct
Projected Purchase Act
Supervisor States While In Colorado Tuesday

A county committee for loans under the Bankhead-Jones Farm Tenant Act will be named in November, it was reported here Tuesday by Vernon Slocomb, county supervisor for the Farm Security Administration, formerly Resettlement Administration, who has been receiving numerous inquiries from farmers wanting to buy land under this new act.

"As only ten million dollars was appropriated for such loans during the remainder of 1937 and the first half of 1938, less than one farm to the county, on the average, will be financed during this period," the supervisor said. "However, the appropriation authorized for the second year is twenty five million and the appropriation for the third year is fifty million."

A state committee will be named within the next week or two, and the county committees will be named soon thereafter. It is expected that the first applications can be acted upon by November 30, Slocomb advises.

The county committee will be composed of three farmers. Their duty will be to receive and pass upon applications, and also to pass upon the value of the farms which the applicants propose to purchase. No land owned by a committee member or a relative of his may be approved. Those eligible for loans include only tenants, farm laborers, share croppers and others who earn, or who recently earned the major portion of their income from farming. Preference is to be given to married persons, or to those having dependent families. Wherever practicable, persons who can make a down payment, or who own livestock and machinery to carry on farming operations, will receive first consideration when other factors are equal. Only citizens of the United States are eligible.

Farms shall be of such size as to enable a diligent farm family to carry on successfully the type of farming operations recommended for that particular locality.

Loans may be of sufficient amount to enable the borrower to acquire the farm and make necessary repairs and improvements, but shall not exceed the value of the farm as determined by the committee. Each loan will bear 3 per cent interest on the unpaid balance for a period not to exceed forty years. Loans may be retired at any time, but special consent of the Secretary of Agriculture must be secured to retire the loan in less than five years from the date it is made.

Payments will be arranged so that heavier payments in good crop years may be made to offset smaller payments when crops or prices are poor.

To avoid production expansion, Soil Conservation and Domestic Allotment Acts and amendments must receive due consideration in making loans. The Secretary is instructed, so far as practicable, to limit land purchases to areas already in cultivation.

The FSA supervisor said that as soon as the committee for this county is named, it will be published, and further details given as to making applications. Until that time, no action can be taken on would-be applicants.

"Because of the small number of loans that can be made for the purchase of land the chief work of the FSA will continue to be the making of supervised Rehabilitation loans to low-income farmers who are unable to obtain the necessary financing elsewhere. These people must meet certain requirements, of course."

CURTIS WOOD WILL LEAD WOLVES IN BATTLE WITH INVADING TROUP FRIDAY

Curtis Wood, 152-pound center who during games of the recent past had turned in good work for the Wolves, is to lead his teammates in battle with the Rotan Yellowhammers Friday night. Wood has been elected captain of the Wolf pack for this week.

Starting for Colorado will be the following:

That benevolences of the Lions Club is being continued without interruption was shown Friday as letters from three indigent school students were read by the club secretary, Jake Merritt.

While probably tagging in its air efficiency, the Wolves will offer a stronger blocking and line plunging machine than that claimed by the visitors. Colorado has the best blocking unit in the district and if she can muster needed support in other details of the battle, the second conference results should not be entertained with worry.

Whether it be through the air, around end or through the line, the Wolves are facing a crucial fight. To win over Rotan would place Colorado well along in the "for-keeps" parade. To lose would be a reversal of one of the most colorful beginnings ever credited a football eleven representing this community.

Rotan expects to send a large delegation of fans here for the game and local fans should not forget that the enemy will have ample support from the sidelines. Six hundred witnessed the Rotan-Snyder game in Rotan last Friday afternoon.

The Wolves and their coaches are promising to put out all they possess in the game. Newby Pratt, assistant mentor, stated Saturday afternoon as he discussed the game with a group of fans, that one of the hardest contests of the schedule was anticipated as Rotan assays to defeat the local eleven. "Our boys are going to meet the attack under an inspired determination to win, if at all within their power to do so," he concluded.

Pratt outlined during an address at the Lions Club Friday that moral support went a long way in a football game. It is accepted that Colorado appreciates that fact and will turn out Friday night in such number as to shatter all previous high attendance records at the local stadium.

ROSCOE AND COLORADO

BOUT HERE OCTOBER 29

The Record was in error in reporting that the Roscoe-Colorado conference game, set for Friday night, October 29, would be played at Roscoe, Principal C. A. Wilkins states. The game is to be played at Cantrill Field "and such has been the schedule all the while," the boss up at high school charged.

The Wolf-Plowboy fight will probably be of greater concern to Colorado than any other game of the year, due to fact the Roscoe club is being heralded by sports writers and other proponents as potential district champions.

Bill Dawson, former Roscoe night-watchman, was assessed 14 years in the State penitentiary by a jury in 32nd district court at Sweetwater Friday morning, following his conviction on charges of killing Mayor A. J. Parker of Roscoe on June 4 of this year.

The jury received the case Thursday afternoon and deliberated 17 hours before reporting verdict to Judge A. S. Manzey.

Attorneys for Dawson immediately filed motion for a new trial and indicated the case would be carried up on appeal.

DRUGGISTS ENTHUSED AS WOLVES CONTINUE PACE

Colorado drug store managers and their employees are going to do all within their power to witness the Wolves continue their pace through the district schedule, one of the business men stated Tuesday morning.

They have been closing for all games yet played and plan to continue that program, it was stated. The stores are closed at 7:30, giving employees and the druggists thirty minutes to take up their positions along the side lines and in the grandstand.

Sweetwater fans plan operating a special train to the Concho City for the game.

PIONEER COUPLE HONOR GUESTS AT CELEBRATION HELD NEAR WESTBROOK

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Davis of near Westbrook were honored by members of their family Sunday, the occasion being 70th anniversary of Mrs. Davis. Fifty relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Davis gathered at their farm home, prepared a bounteous turkey dinner and otherwise enjoyed the day.

QUARTERBACK HUFFMAN IS SEVEN LETTER MAN

Many athletes succeed in becoming three-letter-men at college, but few win seven letters as did the Indiana University star, Vernon Huffman. Not content with being one of the country's greatest passers, kickers and carriers in football, Huffman was also a star basketball player.

As co-captain of the I. U. 1936-37 basketball team he led them to a championship of the Big Ten. In 1936 he was named on the All-Conference basketball team and was named guard on the mythical All-American team. During the same year he was named to many All-American football eleven and before his graduation was presented by the University with the Big Ten medal which is given annually to the Senior ranking the highest in athletics and scholarship.

Huffman was also presented by the University with the Balfour award, given annually to the outstanding athlete for the distinction he brought the University in basketball in 1935-36 and again in 1936 for football. His most recent honor came when he was voted on the College All-Star lineup which met the professional Green Bay Packers September 1.

Huffman, voted the most valuable Big Ten player in 1936, likes a hot Quaker Oats breakfast with sugar and cream. Quaker Oats contains an abundance of Vitamin B for combating nervousness, indigestion and poor appetite—a fact which is very important to athletes like Huffman.

Interest Grows In Picture Contest Of Lone Star Gas Co.

Camera Fans Here Entering Unique Affair, Manager Of District Reports

"See the pretty birdie," time worn slogan of photographers, is no help at all in catching the glowing personality of a radiant gas heater, declare prospective entrants in Lone Star Gas System's ten-week contest for amateur photographers.

Interested camera fans are already lining up pictures of gas heating equipment with which they hope to capture the ten $10 prizes which will be awarded each week by the gas company in its contest which will open October 11 and close December 18. They are taking their cue on the type of pictures wanted from the company's newspaper advertisements, one of which appears in this issue, and from a folder on the contest furnished by the gas companies participating in the contest. These include Community Natural Gas Co., Lone Star Gas Co., The Dallas Gas Co., County Gas Co., and the Texas Cities Gas Co. In addition to the weekly prizes of $10 for the ten best pictures, at the close of the contest the gas system will award grand prizes of $100, $75, $50 and $25 for the four best pictures submitted during the entire ten-week period.

"I've had several people ask me whether a picture of a living room would be better than a bedroom showing gas heating equipment," said the district manager of the gas company in talking about the contest. "That is something each contestant will have to decide for himself, because as far as the company is concerned a picture of any room in the house is acceptable if it shows gas heating equipment."

"What we hope to obtain through the contest are some good, clear pictures showing various types of gas heating equipment used in homes of this section. Customers who come to our display floors to buy heating equipment find it difficult to visualize just how the appliance they are considering will fit into their home. With the wide selection of photographs we hope to receive during the contest, we can show them that in addition to furnishing a comfortable, healthy heat throughout the house, modern gas heating equipment is available in styles varied enough to fit into any decorative plan."

F. F. A. BOYS SHOW MUCH INTEREST

The F. F. A. boys of the Colorado High school are showing much interest in their F. F. A. work. They are showing the cooperative spirit which is necessary for the success of any club or organization. Last Thursday, September 30, the agriculture boys stayed out of school in order to pick cotton and do other jobs on the farm to get money to send the four boys to the National Convention in Kansas City. All of the boys cooperated in this effort to get money to send the delegates, and around sixty dollars was made. These boys who won the trip to Kansas City certainly deserve it and the boys as a whole are taking the responsibility to send them.

The members of the agriculture class were highly complimented by their district supervisor, Mr. A. J. Bierschwale, of Alpine. Not only did he compliment the day's work but the wonderful cooperative spirit of the entire agriculture class.

CONDITION IMPROVED

E. H. Burnett who during the past several days has been confined to his home with illness, was downtown for a time Monday afternoon. Burnett said that he was improving and expected to be back at his place in the Broadway Cafe soon.

GOES TO CIA

Miss Laura McKinney of Iatan left Monday night to re-enter C.I.A. (T.S.C.W.) at Denton, where she will receive her degree next spring.

IMPROVING HOME

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. T. Johnson, who returned recently after spending an extended visit in California and other Pacific Coast states, have again occupied their residence at Elm and East Fourth. Johnson states that he plans making considerable improvement to the place.

The Wolf Pack again worked in perfect timing and made many good plays.

C.H.S. hopes to beat Rotan by a big margin in the next game.

VOCATIONAL CLASSES PROGRAM

The Colorado school system, under the supervision of Charles Brazil commercial teacher, has started a new vocational course for the young people of Colorado. This course is an opportunity for those people who have not had a chance to take commercial work or go to business college to learn this type of work. The schedule runs as follows:
 2:15 to 3:00, Shorthand;
 3:00 to 4:00, Typing;
 4:00 to 5:00, Bookkeeping.

STATION C.H.S.

The well known celebrity, Mr. C. A. Wilkins, was presented to the students of the Colorado High school Monday afternoon in assembly by Superintendent J. E. Watson over the loud speaker. Announcements took on new life as Mr. Wilkins performed. It grew so interesting to him that he wanted the rest of the teachers to take part. The only fortunate participant in the practice happened to be the innocent-minded Miss Cole who really showed the others the real art of announcing.

MR. W. A. WHEELER AN ASSET TO COMMERCIAL DEPARTMENT

This year's typing classes are progressing rapidly under the instruction of Mr. Wheeler, a graduate of Hardin-Simmons. Coming from Albany where he taught in the public schools last year, he succeeds Miss Nora Clemens in this work. He stated that he is pleased with his position here and that he is looking forward to a very enjoyable year with the students of Colorado High.

BAND NEWS

The band is now working on one of the contest numbers, "Spiritual Rivers." The contest is to be held in San Angelo the last week-end in April.

Members of the band who did not get to march last Friday are very happy as twenty new uniforms have been ordered.

Two members of the band, Jack Long, cornet, and Virgil Easterwood, baritone saxophone, are going to Kansas City on October 14 to play with the State F. F. A. band.

TOAST TO YOU

Inexperienced housewives all over the world have used the old-fashioned recipe for making toast for a long time. First, put the bread in a hot oven, forget it and let it burn black, then scrape it.

Miss Cole is teaching the Home Economics girls of Colorado High school a more modern method. Cinnamon and buttered toast and cocoa were made by the first year girls recently. Although this was their first laboratory, it was a success.

Appointed reporters are: Class IA, Joy Levens and Jo Nell Thorpe; Class IA2, Phyllis Berman and Ruth Griffith; IB, Agnes Thompson and Oatherine Reese; II A, Nancy Price and Freddie Watson.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The most prevalent sentence on Sophomore's tongues generally is this: "Last year were we as dumb as these Freshmen this year?" Thirty-seven is no exception, and last year's greenest greenhorns are busily lording it over the newest crop of Fish—species: suckers. Don't let it worry you, class of '41—there is a new batch coming up next year!

Friday's football game brought out the fact that the Sophomore class has members of which to be proud. Nina Katherine Quinney pranced and twirled and whistled the band to one of its best showings during the half. Emma Jean Morrison is an assistant pep squad leader, and does her part well, though as yet she hasn't been called Martha Raye.

Burl Ballard, Jack Smith, Sam Majors, Junior Cox, Merle Blassingame, Paul Boyd Hunter, and Ross Glover are members of the Wolf pack, so it is not unusual that the Sophs yell so loudly for the Wolves. And have you noticed the large number of Sophs in the band and pep squad? We thought so!

CHADWICK BLUSHES

In Civics class a few days ago Thomas Earl Chadwick's face reddened a slight bit when Mr. Cline asked him how old a man should be before he could become president of the United States. Thomas told him he should be thirty-five years old. Mr. Cline said in a joking way, "Well, they allow no kids then," and Thomas Earl immediately spoke up and said, "Oh, yes, Mr. Cline, the president is allowed to be married." Ask Thomas how red his face got then.

SPEAK FOR YOURSELF!

Honest! The Public Speaking class has started off with a - - - well, a lot of exercising and memorizing. Nevertheless, some of the work is "quite humorous." You just ask Miss Miller, if you don't believe these "future speakers" are endeavoring to overcome some of the—shall I say—bad habits that they have unknowingly formed. They are learning to "step lively," speak distinctly, sit erect—and to do numerous other things that an interesting speaker must know.

Lions Will Attend Parley At Snyder On Tuesday Night

Quarterly District Gathering Called By Frank Farmer, Zone Chairman

A delegation of Colorado Lions will attend quarterly zone conference at Snyder Tuesday night. President Jack Helton of the local club plans concluding details for the trip during meeting of the club Friday. He expects to send several cars loaded with delegates to the meeting. Call for the meeting was announced recently by Frank Farmer of Snyder, zone chairman. Last of the quarterly meetings was held at Anson. Lions Clubs at Colorado, Big Spring, Midland, Snyder, Hamlin, and Anson are members of the district organization.

WE WONDER WHY?

Archie Mohler came into band rehearsal the other night with lipstick on his face. Archie, do you reckon that could have been tobacco-juice?

Freddie Watson got such a kick out of the show Thursday night. Maybe Alfred Rhodes would know the details, or would he?

Mr. Wilkins is so crazy about his Physics class. He has 15 of the best boys in high school in his class. Ask Mr. Wilkins; he will agree.

Leroy Witten is called the one bashful boy. Now Leroy, come on and snap out of it. You don't know what you're missing.

FRESHMAN NEWS

This year the Colorado High school has one hundred and fifty-one Freshmen, largest enrollment of beginners in the history of the high school. This class is proud of the facts that ten members of the high school band are Freshmen; they are coming out for the football games as well as any other class and boosting the players; Clifton Caffey, a Freshman, will be likely to play sometime this year and the Fish hope he will make a success.

As an example of the Fish brilliance the following is given:
 Mr. Mason: "Name an abstract noun."
 Irva Lynn: "Would personality be one?"
 Mr. Mason: "Yes, but I don't believe you know what that word means."
 Irva Lynn: "Well, I've got one."

AN IDEAL LEADER

Being a good mixer is perhaps one of the highest goals a student can reach in high school. In order to reach this goal there are many steps to climb; the principal one being the capability of participation as a conversationalist and public speaker. A chief requirement in this participation must be alertness and the power of observation on order to put life and color into talking, thus creating interest.

Most students today do not realize the advantage of speaking well. But I'm sure most of you have noticed that a student who can talk without self-consciousness is always among the popular students of the school.

We see Harry, a Freshman, timid, and scared to get up even before his English class and say a poem of any length. Then in his Sophomore year he becomes more self-confident, and is elected to write on his school paper. He develops an ability to use his words and soon is able to speak anywhere in the school with force and confidence.

In his Junior year he is elected president of the class because he can express the viewpoints of the class so clearly. Also the banquet for the Seniors requires the Junior class president to be toastmaster and it must be someone who is able to speak well and fluently.

Harry's Senior year is his greatest. He enters declamation, takes public speaking, and is considered the most popular student with the students and teachers. He is elected editor of the school paper and also edits a Junior magazine.

Remember to attain this accomplishment, you must be alert, observant, a good listener, know something on many subjects, have excellent manners and always speak distinctly and pleasantly.

Strength During MIDDLE LIFE

Strength is extra-important for women going through the change of life. Then the body needs the very best nourishment to fortify it against the changes that are taking place.

In such cases, Cardul has proved helpful to many women. It increases the appetite and aids digestion, favoring more complete transformation of food into living tissue, resulting in improved nutrition and building up and strengthening of the whole system.

OLD TIMERS

We older people like to dwell in and write about the past. My parents migrated from Pennsylvania way back in 1824 in an ox covered wagon and settled in Southern Illinois 60 miles north of where Cairo now is, 20 miles from the Mississippi river in a very heavily timbered country. Homesteaded 160 acres and hewed out his farm home where I was born and lived to 16 years of age when I came to Texas in 1880.

Father was known as what we call now a cabinet-maker and he brought with him a complete set of tools, cross-cut saw, foot adz, froe, broadax, drawing knife, augers, etc., the first to be introduced in that country. With these tools he hewed out the farm, barns, houses, etc. He made his own wagons, moldboard plows, sleds and sleighs, wagon wheels, sawed from Blackgum trees and rolled on wooden axles. He made a wooden sorghum mill from which lasses was made. He ripped out oak boards for all roofing.

They raised and made everything at home except coffee; this was bought in sacks, green pea, was parched and ground at home. Mother spun and wove and made all the clothing, made sugar from the maple trees, jellies and fruits from the wild-woods. Father supplied the meats and skins from the forest. Father made all our shoes and boots and can remember well the old coffee mill nailed up on the outside corner of the house and the old crooked handle gourd dipper that was kept at the well. Yet no water out of a faucet—or even from one of the newfangled coolers—ever tastes quite as good as that we used to drink from gourd cups dipped into the old oaken bucket, pulled up by hand from the cold depths of the well on the shady side of the house. If everybody had a well like that right handy there wouldn't be any market for bottled drinks.

There were ten children and Bro. A. L. and myself are the only survivors. This I could go on and write a volume of my boyhood days. Old-time lamps and candles were in demand here during the recent nights of darkness, and it was pitiful to have to hover around these makeshifts and try to read, or otherwise pass the time away. All the stores and cafes in town closed at night and the town was in darkness. Just a reminder of what conditions were in the good old days.

By the time I was 9-years-old we had in about two miles of us a one-room, one-teacher school. I attended three terms of about 7 months each and graduated in Webster's blue-back speller, getting as far as "baker." In McGuffey's third reader going as far as the "Boy Stood on the Burning Deck" and Ray's arithmetic, mastering the multiplication table.

Living anywhere these times is a risk reluctantly to be undertaken. Some valiant man, some he-man whose name we disremember, told his contemporaries to "Live dangerously!" Another rugged male declared literature the most dangerous of all professions. He probably knew that litterateurs were always in danger of starving to death. But the old-timers really knew little about danger. They didn't travel much, didn't go up in the air, didn't drive trucks or collide with them, didn't insure against accidents, didn't ride in rumble seats, didn't stake their lives against the workings of a brake on a decrepit oxcart, didn't shoot aerods a public road, didn't dread germs—in fact the old-timers had all kinds of security except social security. They kept what they earned or spent it as they wished, and didn't lay up treasure in Washington where Congress and the appropriation boys looked at it and hoped. Living in the old times was like a grand sweet song. It is different now. He who keeps his life shall lose. His streets are no longer safe for him. His house is no longer fearless of thieves. His health is no longer safe from microbes. He fleeth from the dust bowl and is drowned in a flooded river. He fleeth from the flood and suffocates in the dust bowl. He works hard and saves $30, which the tax collector taketh.

Do you remember way back when Friday afternoons in schools were given over to "saying speeches" and sometimes the parents would come at that time to hear the children recite? School did not turn out a minute earlier—even if the usual recitations were not heard during the afternoon.

I remember well one Friday afternoon I was called on to recite. One of the favorite poems in those days "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" by Will Carleton, an American minor poet, who was noted for that and another poem, "Over the Hill from the Poorhouse." Those poems were popular, about as much so as was "Darius Green and His Flying Ship" which was also "spoken" on many Friday afternoons in those days. This flying ship has come into its own, an every-day part of the busy world. Has the sentiment of "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse" become a reality more so today than a generation ago, especially during the 1931 depression which we have just passed?

Anyway, we saw the picture "Over the Hill" during the holidays when it was first released, based on Will Carleton's poem, and the mingling of tears and laughter of the capacity audience was an unusual experience in the theater. Possibly there were more tears than laughs because the production was a reality in the minds of many. A poor old mother is forgotten by her children and forced into a charity institute. Her youngest boy makes good in the financial world and rescues his mother with much emotion. Through all the vicissitudes of life, the rearing of her children, the taunts of the lazy husband, the living with her married children, and all the other details of a complex life, the audience was in sympathy with the theme, and at times could not suppress the flow of tears. The climax came when the son recognized his mother as the scrub woman at the county poor farm.

In this day, when so much charity is being dispensed, especially as being done in the cities, doubtless many of the recipients remember when as children they recited the opening lines of "Over the Hill to the Poorhouse."

The poem, itself, does not have much value from a literary standpoint, yet its sentiment makes it one of the immortal poems. Its rhyme-making written of the people and for the people deals with a topic that might touch one in any station of life. A wealthy man and his wife in Chicago once gave out of their riches money to establish a home for the poor and penniless aged; before they died, they each entered the home as receivers of the charity for which they had given their wealth of other days!

Will Carleton wrote in the people's own language; dirt roads, white steeples, country scenes were his themes which abounded in other days surrounding a great philosophy of life, and doubtless will survive the onslaught of the new age of air transportation, the radio, and even the talkies, which are evaluating his ideas.

For the benefit of the younger set we here reproduce the poem: "Over the hill to the poorhouse,
I'm trudging my weary way—
I, a woman of seventy, and only a trifle gray—
I, who am smart an' chipper, for all the years I've told,
As many another woman that's only half as old.
"Over the hill to the poorhouse—"

I can't quite make it clear!
Over the hill to the poorhouse—
It seems so horrid queer!
Many a step I've taken a-toilin' to and fro,
But this a sort of journey I never thought to go.

"What is the use of heapin' on me a pauper's shame?
Am I lazy or crazy? Am I blind or lame?
True, I am not so supple, nor yet so awful stout;
But charity ain't no favor, if one can live without."

THAT SUPREME COURT

A letter sent into this column about Roosevelt, among a lot of other things says, "People of these days are no longer plastic." This is wrong, we have seen with our own eyes some men pretty well plastered. Some were so plastic indeed you could bend them backward and forward and sideways. Limp, you might call them. If Mr. Fan thinks the Supreme Court should be composed of plastics, or if the lady syndicator thinks the Supreme Justices should be malleable, manipulatable, ductilatory and doughiferous, then he and she seem to want the very same kind of court the President does.

Speaking of Roosevelt they all say he is the shrewdest politician this country has ever produced, and when he throws our dollars at the birds, he just shuts his political eye and let's 'er fling—while Farley smiles, as do the birds also.

All of which reminds me of a little money-tossing incident connected with the Passamaquoddy brain trust dream. When that impractical thing was started Mr. Roosevelt saw that food for the fellows on the pay roll would be needed to keep them contented, and a long-time contract was made by the Government with a baking house at Bangor, Maine, for 800 loaves of bread and—since he was a better dollar thrower than Washington—500 pies a day, too. Constitutionality of the whole adventure. What could that have to do with pie? And wasn't Maine a doubtful State, or even worse than doubtful? So there must be plenty pie.

This column the past week has quite a number of letters all criticizing us, some of them severely, one even going so far as to say we better discontinue the column as it is injuring the paper. They are all ginks. A gink if we understand the slang dictionary, is a person of frivolous mind or one of deficient understanding.

A book agent knocked at the door of our neighbor Dr. Ratliff and said, "This book of Universal Knowledge will tell you everything you ought to know." The reply was, "Don't need it. My wife tells me all that and a lot more besides."

TO THE SHAKESPEARE CLUB

We are told by ichthyologists that fish act somewhat like men. Shakespeare makes two of his characters converse thusly: "Master I marvel how the fish live in the sea." The reply was, "Like they do a-land, the great ones eat up the little ones." Fishologists say there is a fish called the sucker that attaches itself to a shark and is carried about by him. We in Colorado are better acquainted with the human shark than with his prototype in the sea. The human shark does not act as host to the sucker fishes like the sea shark does. On the contrary, he makes the sucker carry him. Who among us are suckers.

A DRUNKEN MAN IS A FOOL

A sober taxicabably driving an intoxicated passenger is a sight for men but not for gods. The gods pity but men more often laugh. One of the strangest things in this world is why it is common to think a drunken man is funny. There are some drinkers who crave to be comic, therefore drink to attract attention. An inferior complex leads some men to intoxication. They court notice and seem to arrive at it by making themselves fools with the assistance of old Barleycorn. Old Barley tells them they are making a hit with his help, but in reality they are making monkeys of themselves. No monkey will like this comparison, but we owe the monkey no apology.

Horseback riding since the rodeo seems to be gaining in popularity with quite a few of our younger set. You may not like it at first, but it gets you in the end. O-o-o which end?

COMPLIMENTARY

Judge Templeton met up with an old friend and in an excited conversation was elucidating, expostulating and enunciating the profundity of the law. When he had reached the climax he discovered his friend was hard of hearing and asked him how he lost his hearing? The friend said by drinking whiskey. The Judge said, "Why did you keep on drinking when you knew it was affecting your hearing?" The friend replied, "Well, the whiskey was much better than what I have been hearing so I kept it up."

IN THE SCHOOLROOM

This writer spent a day this week in our schools and heard the following questions and answers:
Pupil: What effect does the moon have on the tide?
Teacher: Not any, my son. Only on the untied.
Teacher: Correct this sentence: "It was me that spilt the ink."
Pupil: "It wasn't me that spilt the ink."
Teacher: Examining the pupils home work said, I don't see how it is possible for a single person to make so many mistakes.
Pupil: It isn't a single person, teacher. Father helped me for three hours.
Teacher: What lesson is learned from the bee?
Pupil: Not to get stung.
Pupil: Do they raise political plums from seeds?
Teacher (who never had one): No young man. Political plums are more often the result of a bit of clever grafting.

MUCH TALK

One day this week we spent an hour on the Oswald Drug corner listening to the everyday sit-downers rabble and this is about what I heard. One of the regular attendants on the corner said: "Nothing is astonishing these days, however. With so much talk all over the country and so little being said, it may be that a dog could converse with as much abandon as do many of these corner habits who daily emit self-distilled profundities. There are some who declare the earth is going to the dogs and some who to believe it will be better off when it gets there. It would be interesting to know what the dogs think about it."

We note where a fundamentalist preacher over at Ft. Worth has declared that heaven has been built to hold only 32,000,000 people. Of course he doesn't know anything about it, and even if the statement was true, there would probably be plenty of front seats left anyway as our church members always sit on the back seats.

The girl at the necking party said—You had no business kissing me like that to which he replied, that wasn't business, I assure you. It was a pleasure.

Judge Templeton had a divorce case in the court and the Judge said: So you've a divorce. Aren't your relations pleasant? The client said, Mine are pleasant enough, but hers are terrible.

Comparatively few people who live to celebrate their one hundredth birthday have enough left to do or enjoy much. However, Dr. Marie De Gouere Bayenport of Boston, who claims to be 109 years of age, is still filled with what the French call "joie de vivre"—the joy of living. And one of her greatest pleasures is smoking a cigarette—with no qualm that it will stunt her growth or shorten her years. No, we don't know what brand she uses.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

"This," announced Bobby Lee at the passenger depot Wednesday noon, "is something you can put in the paper." And Bobby, sparkling-eyed son of Bob and Marcella Lee, was right. The occasion was "big news" to the 26 third graders gathered in the depot around their teacher, Mrs. C. A. Williams. The youngsters were going to Lorraine by train as the culmination of their transportation unit study. For 17 of the 26 it was to be their first train trip. Miss Hattie Tankersley took 24 third graders to Lorraine Tuesday, and Mrs. Floyd Quinney took her third graders over Thursday.

Fitting gesture: The purchase of Dixon Vector's "Saga of American Society" for the Colorado High school library. The author is perhaps the most famous person ever graduated from the high school, also its most outstanding honor student. All that is needed to complete the gesture is to get the author to autograph the book. He should be willing to remembering that Colorado High school considered him quite remarkable before the rest of the world had even heard of him. But of course he made Colorado High consider him that way by making a scholastic record that has never been quite equalled.

Nice to see Mrs. N. H. White of the Kiker Funeral home back in her white working uniform again. She never completely gave up her work, but for a few weeks she wasn't able to devote all her time to it, as she plans to do from here on.

A talented person is Mrs. F. C. Chekal of Vivian, Louisiana, who has been visiting her daughter, queenly Mrs. W. E. Martin of Lorraine. Mrs. Chekal writes for the Caddo Citizen, which she and her husband own, and also for the Shreveport paper. She will be remembered here as Minnie Myers, for she taught here before marrying the late W. T. Mullin. For several years before Mr. Mullin's death she helped him publish the Lorraine paper. Mrs. Chekal's book reviews in the Caddo Citizen are widely read.

It's World Series time again and Col. C. M. Adams is happy. The Colonel is Colorado's very baseball fan. He's "betting" on the Yanks, he says. He saw the Yanks beat the St. Louis Cardinals four straight in 1929 in the Yankee Stadium in New York, and he was betting on them then, even as now.

Jack Hayes, that very-much-alive-and-every-itch-a-bow-yeungster of Jack and Reba's Mayes, had his first "Choo-choo" trip last Thursday. It was all the way to Lorraine for a visit with Mr. Mayes' folks. Reba and Jackie went over on the train.

CIRCUS STARS OF EVERY NATION BROUGHT TOGETHER BY CIRCUS

Arthur Burson, one of the famous international clowns and Amerika, Europe's sensational trapeze artist, both members of the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus stop talking about old days long enough to pose for the camera.

On the giant program of the great Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus performers, from all corners of the globe are to be found. Truthfully, behind-the-scenes at this circus the term "cross roads of the nation" can be applied, and of course, just as in any community, reminiscences are always in order, especially when the stellar artists of every nation often meet again after years of separation.

It may have been years since they were in the same show at the La Scala in Berlin, at the Cirque Medrano in Paris, in Copenhagen, Moscow, London, or Madrid. Anyway there is much to recall, much to laugh over, much to evoke sighs. You may see Arthur Burson, the famous international clown, and one of the big circus' sixty funsters, reminding Amerika, who has just come to Amerika from European triumphs for her breath-taking swinging trapeze work of the lovely Mies in Munich. You may see the Cristian troupe recalling a gay birthday party meal in Madrid to the Flying Artonys, the family who perform amazing feats high in the roof of the "big-top." Or you may hear Louise Schroeder, exotic queen of the air, delighting in memories of their school days in Riga with lovely Chita Cristiani, blonde star of the bareback riding troupe. As there are hundreds upon hundreds of the world's leading arenic stars with the Al G. Barnes and Sells Floto Combined Circus coming to Colorado Wednesday, October 20th, one can imagine the number of "Do you remember" and "what become of?" lines.

While the human element is large with this huge untied circus there are five herds of elephants, and one of the most complete traveling menageries ever to tour this country. One of the extraordinary features, and only one of the vast program, is the largest group of ferocious jungle beasts ever assembled. Despite they have never been tamed they are made to perform twice daily. The trained horses this season number 400 and the colossal opening spectacle "Old Mexico" uses, in its presentation, hundreds of gorgeous costumes, two years in the making. Scores of richly caparisoned animals also take part in this pageant of beauty.

Performances, replete with countless new and amazing features, never before seen in America will be given at 2:00 and 8:00 P. M. The doors will open one hour earlier, in each instance, to permit leisurely inspection of the mammoth new menagerie, which this season includes some 800 furred and feathered creatures, many of them rare.

SENIOR NEWS

The Seniors are working very hard on the carnival they are to give the 23rd of this month. It will be different from any that have been given before and everyone of you who come will be assured of a good time and lots of fun. When it is further advanced we will tell you more about it, but right now all that we can say is, "Be sure to come."

The Seniors are glad that we have three new members in our class. They are Dorothy and Alfred Taylor, and Leona Moon. We are also glad to see some of the ones who have been absent back in school.

Billy Waters and Leslie Bassinger spent the week-end and the first part of this week in Fort Worth.

JUNIOR NEWS

The Junior reporter was partly out this week, and we regret to say that due to her ability to play volleyball and take it, we have no Junior news this week.

SOPHOMORE REPORT

Shooting paper wads seems to be the chief hobby in high school now, and naturally the Sophomores have to defend themselves, so that means no studying in the study hall. This even causes some people to get kicked out of our History class.

We are proud to say that we have some students who are good enough to be in the high school play, which will be given later on.

FISHES FUN

The bus driver is going to have to start a little later from now on to get all the Fish to school. Ansell, Kenneth and B. B. missed the bus the other morning. Ansell's best excuse was that he had too much worry to do.

John Millard Conaway was operated on for appendicitis and had his tonsils removed lately. He was back at school one day this week, but is absent today.

Louise Schafer has gone to the Exposition in Dallas this week. She is one of our former pupils.

SEVENTH GRADE

At our class meeting October 4th we elected Ruby Berry as our librarian. Dick Wynne, who for the past month has served as librarian has been very successful.

We have planned a skating party in the near future. By the looks of those English grades, seventh graders, we will remain seventh graders for a few years.

We are glad to have Jessie Mae Taylor back with us.

Next week is exams! Oh! Seventh graders, what does that mean? More grief. Ho-hum... your reporter, Joan Hines.

HAPPENINGS AROUND W. H. S.

School has been going along in about the same routine. The Senior class has enrolled two new pupils, making about twenty-two in the Senior class. That is about the largest graduating class in the history of W. H. S.

Hoyt Andrews, ex-Senior, visited school Tuesday. We were all glad to have him back.

The geometry class seems to have a lot of trouble drawing figures. What is the matter, can't you students use a compass?

The school play, "The Tumbler," is well under way. It will be given soon, so everyone watch out for the date.

I hear there is going to be a new teacher around here soon! Coach is going to hire one to sit in here (the office) and worry for him. He seems to be going distracted!

If everything goes along nicely, as it is now, the Senior carnival will be given on the 23rd. It is guaranteed to be exciting, surprising and different from any other carnival given here before. Save those nickels for they will go a long way on that carnival!

The Junior reporter, Iris Costin, ran into a post Tuesday, playing volleyball. But after much pouring of water in her face she seems bright and healthy once again.

Two of our Seniors were visitors in Fort Worth this week-end. They reported a nice time even if they did hate to miss school! (?)

That is all for this week, but be sure and be back with your old reporter next week for more news.

FUTURE FARMER'S ASSOCIATION NEWS

The Westbrook Future Farmers are beginning to get organized. As it is the first year Westbrook has offered Agriculture in their school they are getting a late start with their projects. Several of the boys have dropped out, but the ones still in the class are taking an interest in their work. It seems that Mr. Cox was right when he said the boys were having the hard part now, he has already started the boys digging a silo, OCTOBER 8—IMPORTANT DATE, WE REPEAT. WATCH OCT. 8TH!
