LEGISLATURE TO PASS NEW ROADBOND LAW

Mills County Gets Check for $3,708.37 For Lateral Roads

The Texas Legislature at Austin is expected to pass a new road bond law in the near future.

Under the old law, all of the surplus was appropriated to the use of the counties, first for the payment of debts incurred for the purchase of right-of-way for state highways, and second for improvement of lateral roads. The distribution of this surplus will continue under the old law during the year ending August 31, 1942. Mills County received yesterday credit with the State Treasurer for the sum of $3,939.60 to apply on bonds and warrants during the next year, and in addition a check on the State Treasury for the sum of $3,708.37 to be applied on lateral roads in Mills County during the next year.

The old law was quite beneficial to Mills County, and for this reason all members of the Commissioners' Court were in favor of re-enactment of it. However, the State Highway Department, feeling sorry for itself, has brought every kind of pressure on the Legislature to turn this fund over to it on the theory that they were the only people who were honest enough and wise enough to spend it.

Our Representative, Frank Howington, has consistently supported re-enactment of the old law from the beginning. All members of the Mills County Commissioners Court are delighted to learn from Senator Metcalfe that he has decided to support the House bill passed this week, which is decidedly more liberal with the counties than the bill passed by the Senate at about the same time. Senator Metcalfe is a very influential member of the Senate, and it is thought that his support will assure passage of the House bill by the Senate.

DEEP OIL TEST NEAR MILLS COUNTY LINE TO BE STARTED SOON

(From Hamilton County News) Just ten miles west of Hamilton on the crest of a high hill, an estate owned by J. H. Robertson but known as the L. E. Pierson farm and ranch in the Energy community, stands the powerful Bucyrus-Erie spudder, rigged and ready to spud in the Grady Wallace Robertson No. 1 deep oil test.

Grady Wallace, operator, was in Hamilton a few days ago, and completed arrangements for preliminary work which is under the supervision of Doc Jones. A water well is being drilled, slush pits dug and temporary housing constructed with the view, it is now reported, of spudding in within the next few days and starting the drill down.

The Grady Wallace Robertson No. 1 will be the first oil test drilled in that immediate section of Hamilton County, and oil men of Oklahoma and Louisiana are eyeing the prospects in a watchful way and also, geologists are most hopeful of pay production being brought in on that block.

Persistent rumors are that the Lone Star Gas Co. will bring into Hamilton early next week a force of some 40 to 60 men who will begin the work of preparation for laying a 6-inch gas line from Hamilton to the Pottsville gas wells, which will be used to supply Hamilton with natural gas. These rumors are not confirmed, except for the fact that the News learns that all transactions for some twelve miles of right of way have been completed, and the money and papers exchanged. It is also probable that the gathering in fields on the right fore beginning the laying of the pipeline.

CITY MUNICIPAL SYSTEM IS READY

W. C. BARNETT HEADS CITY UTILITY SYSTEM WHICH IS NOW SUPPLYING CUSTOMERS

New Manager Has Had Much Experience In Business

The City of Goldthwaite opens its electric distribution system for business with W. C. Barnett as manager. Mr. Barnett as a former resident of Goldthwaite is known by many people of this section and Goldthwaite is to be congratulated on having such a man to head the combined services now offered by the City—of water, sewer and electricity. It was after much careful investigation that the City Council employed Mr. Barnett and from their investigation they found him to be particularly well equipped by experience and training for the local position.

Mr. Barnett began his electrical training in the year 1923 in Corsicana, Texas, where he worked as a linesman. In 1927 he was employed by the Texas Louisiana Power Company, now known as the Community Public Service Company, and continued in the employ of this company for 14 years. About 12 years ago Mr. Barnett was sent to Goldthwaite as the local manager of the Community Public Service Company when that concern first built their system here and he opened business in Goldthwaite for them. Mr. Barnett remained in Goldthwaite for about two and a half years as manager of the Community Public Service Company. Since that time he has served as District Manager for the Community Public Service Company in the towns of Whitney, Clifton, Texas City and Fort Stockton. He has worked in practically every department of the utility business and has served as both manager of electric and water systems.

Mr. Barnett was, while he was employed with the Community Public Service Company, Safety Director of his district every year since the company was affiliated with the National Safety Council, and had during the 14 years of service with them a perfect "no accident" record. He taught several training courses with the Community Public Service Company, and while located here in Goldthwaite in 1929 held a record for the sale of electrical merchandise with his company.

Mr. Barnett knows Goldthwaite and Goldthwaite knows Mr. Barnett and such a combination should make for a most satisfactory and successful operation of this new enterprise.

Miss Bessie Crews as cashier of the new combined Electric, Water and Sewer Departments for the city needs no introduction to the people of Goldthwaite, as she has been active in the business life of this city for many years, and the city is fortunate to have Miss Crews serve in her present capacity.

Two other men make up the operating personnel at present—Sparks Bigham in the capacity of linesman, and Glenn Nickols as a service man on the water works. These two, being local men also who are efficient and desirous of giving Goldthwaite citizens the best service possible.

LCRA REDUCES ELECTRIC AND POWER RATES FOR SECOND TIME SINCE OPERATION BEGAN

Light And Power Costs Now One-Half Of Charges In 1939

Tennessee Valley Authority electric rates—the much-heralded power yardstick of the Roosevelt administration—have come, too, to Texas.

The TVA residential rates were ordered into effect by the Lower Colorado River Authority, trail blazer of public power and river development in the Southwest, in six of the remaining towns which the Authority operates directly.

Specifically, the new rates mean a total saving of $45,750 annually for the power users of Burnet, Lampasas, San Marcos, Sanaba, Kerrville, and Llano, principal distribution properties remaining unsold by the Authority to municipalities.

Residential rates in the six towns will be reduced approximately 13.6 per cent, bringing the reduction since advent of LCRA service to over 50 per cent. In addition to the TVA rates for residential consumers, substantial reductions also were made for commercial and industrial consumers.

Action of the Lower Colorado River Authority's board of directors in reducing the already low rates charged consumers by the LCRA was announced by Max Starcke, LCRA's general manager.

"The Lower Colorado River Authority," Mr. Starcke said, "by these reductions has demonstrated that a state agency under wise administration can equal the accomplishments of a federal agency, even one so efficient as the TVA, in bringing cheap electric power to the consumer."

"When these and other properties were acquired from the Texas Power and Light Company the Authority hesitated to put into effect the rates which had been adopted by TVA. While reducing the previous rates approximately 40 per cent it desired to observe the results of actual operation with the idea of finally making the rates at cost to the consumer.

"During the time the Authority has operated the system in these towns, it has kept an accounting record in accordance with the standard utility practice. After charging its debt service and all proper expense charges, including depreciation, necessary to efficiently operate its power facilities, including a just pro rata of the general administrative and office expense to each town and charging to the town the power consumed at the Authority's published wholesale rate, it found that it could make these reductions.

"The Authority is not giving away its power. It is not rendering any free service. It is simply supplying electricity at cost and without impairing its ability to pay out its investment in power facilities.

"The Authority's experience has proven the efficiency of low rates."

The Authority has been distributing power generated at its dams on the Colorado River west of Austin since 1939 when it purchased distribution facilities of the Texas Power and Light Company in a 16-county area adjacent to river development project.

A part of these properties however, have since been sold to municipalities.

The new rate reductions follow upon the drastic slices put into effect by the Authority when it began operations.

Under the new residential rate schedule, the minimum charges will remain at 75 cents per month but the kilowatt-hour allowance for that sum has been increased from 15 at present to 25 kwh under the new low price.

The two years of operation by the Authority under the rate reductions placed into effect in 1939 have brought about a tremendous increase in electricity in the area it serves. Mr. Starcke pointed out. In the six cities receiving the new reductions, the average kwh sales on residential service have increased 51.13 per cent since the last full year of operation under private ownership. The average residential kwh sales per customer have increased 31.08 per cent. The average residential monthly bill per customer has decreased 24.27 per cent, exclusive of the announced reduction. In other words, the average residential customer is getting more than 31 per cent more power at approximately 25 per cent less cost than under private ownership, Mr. Starcke said.

CITY ELECTRIC NEEDS TAKEN CARE OF FOR YEARS TO COME WITH NEW LINE

Facilities are now complete for serving electric energy to all Goldthwaite citizens, far superior to any such ever having been built in Mills County.

The hi-line from Lometa is set on 35-foot poles using No. 2 Amerduct wire, being 12,000 volts. This line has carrying ca-capacity to serve a much larger load than is present in Goldthwaite, and will take care of the city's needs for years to come. The distribution system is for most part on 40-foot poles, using copper conductor and the latest type of transformers, hardware and devices. The entire system is well balanced and constructed, and every part has been thoroughly tested at full voltage.

CAN USE ELECTRIC CLOCK

By connecting to your new electric system you can now use your electric clock and be assured the time is correct, as the cycle of current is controlled at the generating station thereby regulating your time-piece at all hours.

SOUTH DOES'NT LOOK FOR ANY EARLY U. S. WAR DECLARATION

(Brownwood Bulletin)

Congressman Charles L. South of Coleman, in a telephone interview granted the Bulletin Saturday night, said he did not look for any early declaration of war on the part of Congress.

Rep. South made the statement as he announced that he will leave Monday or Tuesday for Washington, accompanied by his family. They will drive through to the capital.

Discussing the international outlook in the light of President Roosevelt's Thursday night address the Congressman said:

"It (the President's speech) was a public announcement of a policy which was already pretty generally established, and would not necessarily make our chances for entry into the war much more certain.

"It is possible that any difficulty resulting from such a policy might begin and end with incidents at sea."

Mr. South explained the latter statement as meaning that if a submarine attacked an American vessel at sea, that vessel would now be expected to resist the attack. Thus each such incident might stand on its own footing, with a vessel defending itself against any attack.

Under such conditions, Congressman South said he did not see that such incidents would "necessarily" involve the necessity for a declaration of war.

He emphasized that he did not speak for the administration and spoke only as an individual member of Congress, expressing his own views.

In closing the interview, Mr. South authorized the following direct quotation:

"I do not look for any early declaration of war on the part of Congress."

In the event of a declaration of war against the United States by a foreign power, then this country would defend itself to the utmost, South added.

CAR BURNED

Last Tuesday afternoon the car in which Charley McLean and Miss Eloise Slaughter were returning from Fort Worth overturned several times just the other side of Comanche, when the car struck wet pavement.

The car was turned upright and they had driven for several miles when it burst into flames and was totally destroyed.

According to a government estimate, there are 17 per cent more cattle on feed for market in 11 Cornbelt states on August 1 than one year ago.

Pasture is the cheapest and best roughage for a dairy cow, and according to E. R. Eudaly, A. and M. College Extension Service dairyman, September is the time to plant oats, barley or wheat for fall and winter pastures.

PROPER CARE OF MINNOWS SHOWN

Many minnows are lost each season by improper methods of taking, handling and holding, according to Will J. Tucker, executive secretary of the Texas Game, Fish and Oyster Commission. When minnows are taken in seines or traps, the ones to be kept should be placed in water of the same temperature from which they are taken, and the ones to be returned should be handled with great care and placed in water of sufficient depth and not in the shallow waters or in the dense vegetation.

If ice is used in transporting minnows to the holding tank, the temperature of the water should be equalized.

When minnows are dipped from a tank, a small net should be used, handling only a few at a time. A great deal of harm is done when too many minnows are caught at one time in large dip nets. Fungus develops readily during the warm summer months when the slime is removed due to handling and results in a great loss.

The water in holding tanks should be free from chlorine or other chemicals that might be used in treating drinking water, and also well aerated. The water can be aerated by running it over a rough surface of fine screen, and also by spraying through the air. If city water that is treated is used, it should be filtered through a container or a regulation filter for this particular purpose.

A good filter can be made by using a container about the size of a thirty-gallon barrel, filled with one-third gravel in the bottom, and one-third sand and one-third fine charcoal on the top. A screen should be placed over the inside of the outlet at the bottom. It is better if the water is sprayed into the top of the barrel.

Albinos continue to appear in Texas, according to reports received by the game department. A few days ago a pure white humming bird was found near Brownwood. It was the first of the albino humming birds that the state game warden in that area has seen.

According to a government estimate, there are 17 per cent more cattle on feed for market in 11 Cornbelt states on August 1 than one year ago.

Pasture is the cheapest and best roughage for a dairy cow, and according to E. R. Eudaly, A. and M. College Extension Service dairyman, September is the time to plant oats, barley or wheat for fall and winter pastures.

FOUR HUGE GENERATING PLANTS NOW FURNISHING POWER TO GOLDTHWAITE

LCRA Supplies Wide Area With Low-Cost Hydro-Electricity

Power for Goldthwaite's new municipal electric system comes from the huge hydro-electric generating plants of the Lower Colorado River Authority, the largest public power project in the Southwest and one of the ranking projects of the nation.

These giant hydro-generators are located at the four large dams along the Colorado River above Austin. Now operating at full capacity, these plants are producing an abundance of low-cost electricity for a 25-county area of Central Texas, furnishing electric energy and power at rates lower than any that were previously in force in this section.

With a multiple purpose of flood control, soil and water conservation, recreation and the generation of hydro-electric power, the Authority was created as a state agency solely for the benefit of the people.

NON-PROFIT AGENCY

The Authority was created by an act of the Fourth Called Session of the 43rd Legislature in the fall of 1934, and as a governmental agency it operates much on the same basis that a county operates. Its governing body is composed of a board of nine directors, officially appointed, who in turn employ the operating executives and personnel. It has no power to ever levy taxes for payment of obligations, and no tax remissions were made, or have been made, to carry on any of the construction or operating program.

Operating as a non-profit agency, the Authority may charge only such rates for electric power as are necessary to meet its operating expenses, repairs, depreciation and fixed obligations. The project has been constructed from loans and grants received from the Federal Government.

The four dams comprising the project, at which are located the huge generating plants are: Buchanan, Inks, Mansfield and Austin.

First in the series to be completed and placed in operation was the Buchanan Dam. Originally this project was started strictly as an electric power project by the Insull utility interests before the depression. Before going into receivership, the project had been named Hamilton Dam by the utility interests. Upon acquisition by the Authority it was renamed for the late Congressman James P. Buchanan who served the Tenth Texas District for many years, and was instrumental in securing federal approval of the Authority's proposed operations.

With proceeds from the first loan and grant the Authority purchased the properties and took over construction of Buchanan Dam on July 1, 1936, at the same time contracting for the construction of Inks Dam three miles below Buchanan. In taking over the project at Buchanan, it was expanded to include flood control and water conservation, while the original plans of the Insull interests were directed principally toward power production. These properties cost the Authority less than half the actual cash which had been invested in them, exclusive of overhead expense, administrative engineering and interest.

PROVIDES FLOOD CONTROL

It is interesting to note that had power been the sole purpose for construction of the Authority's vast project, it could have been built at a far less cost. However, the Authority and the Federal Government wisely saw the need of combined flood control and water conservation with its power generation program and these additional benefits were included.

For the flood control benefits alone it is estimated that the series of dams in the LCRA project are saving the people of Texas at least four million dollars annually. The devastating and raging flood waters of the Colorado River which have written a destructive record in the past, are rapidly being harnessed and placed under control. When the last of the four dams, Mansfield, is completed late this year, it will be possible to control floods equal to any of past record occurring above Austin.

Where once the Colorado River became at times so narrow that it scarcely provided water in sufficient amounts for cities along its banks, the excess waters held in check by the dams can now be released at a continuous flow during dry seasons. This will provide sufficient water supply for irrigation along the lower reaches of the river where additional water is often needed for rice and other crops.

The longest of the four dams is Buchanan. It is over two miles in length, forms a lake 32 miles long with a maximum width of 8 miles.

The highest of the series is Mansfield Dam. When completed it will have a maximum height of 270 feet. Approval of this project was secured largely through the tireless efforts of Congressman Lyndon B. Johnson, who succeeded the late Congressman Buchanan. He has been one of America's outstanding congressmen active in behalf of public power and rural electrification projects.

SERVES WIDE AREA

Originally started as Marshall Ford Dam it has been re-named Mansfield Dam in honor of Congressman Joseph J. Mansfield of the Ninth Texas District, chairman of the Rivers and Harbors Committee of Congress.

The first active electric operations of the Authority were inaugurated in 1939 when it purchased the properties of the Texas Power and Light Company in a 16-county area.

DON'T WORRY ABOUT THE ARMY!

(Following are excerpts from a speech delivered by Under Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson at the National Encampment V.F.W. at Philadelphia)

You will hear a lot of crabbings about the Army, by soldiers and by civilians. You wouldn't hear that in Berlin or Rome or Tokyo. It is the American soldier's privilege, almost his duty, to crab You and I know that from our own experience. We remember, too that it was sometimes the man who crabbd hardest on Tuesday who was the first over the top at dawn on Wednesday.

The soldiers of our New Army have no top to go over. It is hard to dramatize a training period. In 1917 we knew what lay ahead. We had a goal before us—the goal of active service.

Most of us had no time for our spirits to flag in those eventful days. For too many of us the so-called training period was a matter of weeks or even of days. There were cases where men were inducted into service, given a smattering of the Infantry Drill Regulations, rushed overseas, thrown into action, wounded and invalided home to America, all within sixty days after their induction. There were cases of replacements moving up to the line in a lively sector and asking their new sergeants how to work their rifles.

We have nothing like that now. We are TRAINING this Army. We are equipping it, too, and with weapons which we are fashioning ourselves. In France, of 2,250 pieces of artillery manned by American soldiers at the front, only one hundred were American made. Up to the Armistice we had manufactured 64 small six-ton tanks in this country, but the burden of active service was borne by the 227 which we received from the French. We secured from the French and the British 5,300 heavy machine guns, and from the French 34,000 Chauchat automatic rifles.

Any American, soldier or civilian, it seems to me, should be willing to put up with a little lower morale in the Army if that is the price we must pay for an adequate training period and for adequate training equipment.

I say if that is the price we have to pay, because I am not at all convinced that there is much lowering of morale in our new Army. Morale, like charity, should begin at home. If civilian morale is high, soldier morale will look after itself. If civilian morale is low, all the needling in the world will not raise the level of soldier morale.

Civilian morale must depend first of all on an awareness of what we are up against. We have not reached that stage yet. We have overold ourselves on the idea of a motorized and mechanized defense. We think, some of us, that machines can do everything—that all we need to do is to put up the money, push a button, and presto, we are ready for all comers. Any future war in which we might become involved would, on this basis, fight itself.

We are willing to do everything except go without something. We are willing to close our filling stations by night as long as we can continue to buy twice as much gas by day. The spots most dangerous to life and limb in America recently have been not the smokeless powder plants which the Army has put in operation, but the silk-stocking counters of our department stores.

We will begin to develop a national morale when we begin to appreciate the fact that our national existence is menaced and that we must pay a stiff price in money and comfort, if in nothing else, to assure its safety. We cannot put Hitler behind the eight points until we roll up our sleeves and tighten our belts, until labor and capital see this emergency as something more than a grab bag of higher wages and greater profits, until we awake from the day-dream that in donating a leaky percolator to the government we have done our bit for our country.

I am not trying to load the whole responsibility for this condition on the shoulders of the worker and the business man and the housewife. We cannot develop a national morale so long as local interests view this emergency solely as an opportunity to get a centonment for one community and a munitions plant for another. We cannot develop a national morale as long as office-holders and office-seekers try to capitalize the emergency in a desperate gamble for votes.

So let's stop worrying about the troops. Let's worry about the people who refuse to worry; about the business-as-usual, pleasure-as-usual crowd. You men of the Veterans of Foreign Wars know that in an emergency such as this it is by making the little sacrifices that we can best hope to avoid the greater. It is the men in the camps and on the ships who are bearing the brunt of the sacrifice today—sacrifice of time, of postponed educational and professional opportunities, of personal convenience and comfort.

Once we have established our national civilian morale, the problem of soldier morale will have cared for itself.

Limber Pine

ACCORDING TO a naturalist, with whom we talked in Bryce Canyon, Utah, those gallant lone pines, which we so frequently see pictured at the tops of mountains, are known as Limber Pines. It is because of their resiliency and flexibility that these trees withstand the winds and storms while other trees are being destroyed.

To prove his point the naturalist took a branch of a Limber Pine and tied it into a knot. The branch was so flexible that this was easy to do. When the knot was untied the branch straightened out to its original position.

Apparently it is not through strength alone that trees survive. It is not in never bending but in never failing to spring erect again, after the gale has passed, that victory is achieved.

Resiliency also is an important factor in triumphant living! The winds of life will bend us but if we have resiliency-of-the-spirit they cannot break us. To courageously straighten again, after our heads have been bowed by defeat, disappointment and suffering, is the supreme test of character. Such people will be found on the mountain-tops of life.

—The Silver Lining.

THE 'MINUTE MAN'

I wonder how many people know that the statue of the "Minute Man" which is used on our defense bonds posters, was done by the sculptor, Mr. Daniel Chester French, who did the great marble Lincoln statue in the Lincoln Memorial in Washington, D. C. Perhaps it would interest you to know a little about the making of this statue, since the story is told to me by the sculptor's daughter, Mrs. William Penn Cresson: "The young sculptor borrowed from the art museum a large plaster cast of the 'Apollo Belvedere,' which he set up on one side of his studio, and on the other side he placed a long full-length mirror, in which he surveyed his own not unattractive form. And there he made his 'Minute Man.'"

The dedication of the statue on the nineteenth of April, 1875, was a very great occasion in the little town of Concord, Mass. It was one of those bitterly cold days that we have so often in the New England spring. More people were said to have died from the effects of that cold, than had died on the day of the battle they were celebrating.

President Grant and all his cabinet came from Washington for the unveiling. Longfellow and Lowell marched in the procession. George William Curtis was the orator of the day, and orated for more than two hours in the cold. Emerson read his poem written for the occasion, the lines of which were cut on the pedestal of the statue.

WOMEN IN DEFENSE

I am shocked to find through some of the clippings which have come to me, that my answer to a press conference question last week, as to whether I was satisfied with the volunteer participation in civilian defense, seems to have caused a complete misunderstanding of my attitude. I answered truthfully, that I was not satisfied with the civilian defense participation. But that was no criticism, as it was apparently taken to be, of Mayor LaGuardia, because I am sure he is not satisfied either!

How could any of us be content when the organization is just beginning and will never be complete until every man, woman and child in every community throughout the nation, feels that in one way or another, they are contributing to national defense?

Secondly, I find that certain groups of women think that I do not believe in the participation of women in national defense. I can hardly understand how this misconception took place, because I have wanted women to take their place in national defense long before the government machinery was set up. I felt strongly that, while it was well to take up any training available, it was better not to set up programs which could not later be easily incorporated with whatever arrangements were made through government channels. I believe that there is work to be done by every man, woman and child in the country. Some of us can take training which will make us useful in ways that are closely related to military work. Others, many more probably, can devote themselves to improving the life in their own communities.

This is a very important part of national defense, for it is this life in our own communities which makes national defense worth while. If it is a good life and meets our needs, and we know our neighbors are co-operating to achieve better conditions, then any sacrifices we make to preserve what we have and to attain what we hope for, are cheerfully made, and are part of the duty which we recognize as citizens in a free democracy.

'THE FORGOTTEN VILLAGE'

Last night we saw a very beautiful movie, a documentary film, "The Forgotten Village," written by John Steinbeck, with music by Hans Eisler. It is the story of a boy in a small village in Mexico and shows the life of the village, the superstitions which still exist, and the bad sanitation. It portrays the gathering of the family round the fire in the evening, the birth of a new baby, the selling of the corn which is the basis of life, a festival and a death in the family.

Finally, the young Mexican leaves his village, because the local schoolmaster has brought knowledge and inspiration to such of the youth of the community who are open to new ideas. The boy will return trained to lead his people to a better life. I was tremendously interested in the medical trucks which go over almost impassable roads to serve the people of these remote villages.

A HOUSING DEVELOPMENT

I want to mention a housing development for colored people in Pensacola, Fla., which pleased me very much.

I was not able to go out and look at it very carefully, but it seemed to be well planned, and considerable, attractive landscaping had been done. One of the ministers had written to me about it, and told me that the people living there were making every effort to provide opportunities for civic education and recreation.

LOOKING BACKWARD

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

(From the files of the Goldthwaite Eagle Sept. 16, 1916)

Miss Mamie Kelley left for Fort Worth Tuesday to resume her duties as teacher in the primary department in the public schools of that city.

Harry Martin and wife and Mrs. Henry Martin made an automobile trip to Denton the first of the week to accompany Miss Sophia Martin to that city, where she entered the College of Industrial Arts.

The teachers of the Goldthwaite school and a few of their friends were entertained with a lawn social at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Thos. E. Gay last evening.

HORSE DROWNED

Lucian Davis, whose home is on the Claude Wilson farm near Mullin, lost one of his horses in the flood of Mullin Creek Tuesday night and came near losing another horse and his life as well. He was en route home from Mullin and drove into the creek which was greatly swollen on account of the heavy rain that afternoon. His hack was turned over and his team became entangled in the harness and some brush and one horse drowned. Mr. Davis caught to an overhanging limb after being carried down the stream a considerable distance and by the help of John Calaway, J. D. Reynolds and others, one of his horses was saved.

Harmon Lowrie left the first of the week for Houston to resume his studies in college.

Dow Hudson expects to leave tomorrow for Galveston to resume his studies in pharmacy in the University.

State Department Health Notes

"The axiom, 'You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink' perhaps has no more striking parallel in human conduct than man's indifference or refusal to use the protective methods and preventive procedures that medical science has developed during the last forty years. Indeed, the lack of personal co-operation is the weak link in an otherwise strong chain against not only some of the infectious and influences that impair health or destroy life in middle-aged and older groups but against a number of the communicable childhood diseases, in which latter class diphtheria is an example," states Dr. George W. Cox, State Health Officer.

"Toxoid immunization is available in Texas practically to all children, either through the family physician or at clinics arranged by physicians for those who are unable to pay the usual fee for this service.

"While the number of Texas children who have the benefit of this protection is large, evidently there are many who, because of parental misconception or unconcern, have not been made invulnerable to an attack of diphtheria through this simple and practical procedure.

"Perhaps the decided drop shown in the diphtheria illnesses and death rates during the last 35 years has developed an unwarranted sense of security on the part of too trusting parents. Nevertheless whatever the cause the fact remains that diphtheria manages to continue a steady massacre of young lives, with ample weapons to prevent it; and these to be had only for the asking.

"Consequently, not only a large number of parents, but every parent should be acutely aware of diphtheria's potential killing power and take the necessary steps to eliminate it.

"Almost all diphtheria deaths that will occur in Texas during 1941 will have been preventable. With intelligent parental co-operation, most of these deaths even yet can be avoided. Science, through toxoid, eminently is fitted to afford this protection. But it is largely the parents' responsibility to see that the child obtains it."

WANT FARMERS INCREASE FOOD

Every farmer in Texas will be contacted before December 1 in a house-to-house survey on food production and a sign-up of pledges to increase the production of foods needed in this nation and in those nations resisting aggression. B. F. Vance, chairman of the Texas-USA Defense Board, has announced at College Station.

In response to the Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard's setting of national food production goals, the Texas-USA Defense Board is laying plans for an intensive campaign to increase food production. Vance said. The board, working through the 254 county USDA Defense Boards in the state, probably will use the farm plan sign-up of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration during November as a means of reaching all the farmers in the state.

On September 8, Secretary Wickard proclaimed national production goals on milk, eggs, hogs, and other food products in order to meet the increased demand in this country and to feed the nations resisting aggression. Under authority granted by Congress, the Department of Agriculture will support prices of the needed foods at not less than 85 per cent of parity until December 31, 1941.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Lesson for September 21

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Religious Education, used by permission.

OVERCOMING THE ADVERSARY

LESSON TEXT—Revelation 12:7-13; 15:2-4.

GOLDEN TEXT—And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death.—Revelation 12:11.

War! What a familiar word! Men are saying we should put an end to war. We wish it were possible, but as long as sin rules in the hearts of men, there will be wars; in fact, our lesson tells us of a greater war which is to take place in the heavens. The devil is busy not only on earth, but in the heavenly places, and wherever he is there is war. Only when Christ, the Prince of Peace, comes to reign will peace come to all the earth.

Our lesson presents three scenes: Conflict in heaven, rejoicing over victory there, and a victory on earth which brought joy in heaven.

I. War in Heaven (12:7-9).

A clear, succinct, and helpful word on these verses is quoted from Dr. John R. Bradbury: "The dispensational interpretation of this passage is that during the period of tribulation, which follows the rapture of the saints, as described in I Thessalonians 4:15-18; I Corinthians 15:51, 52, and other passages, there will be a war in heaven between Michael and his angels and the devil and his. Satan is not in hell now. It is wrong to teach that he is there. He is the prince of the power of the air. He rules the darkness of this world. He inspires wickedness in his domain and on earth. Against these conditions the Christian is solemnly warned to prepare (Eph. 6:10-18). When we say that Satan is in heaven, we do not mean the heaven of the immediate presence of God. The Bible speaks of different heavens and there is even a 'heaven of heavens' (I Kings 8:27)."

"From whence come all the cross-currents of wickedness now sweeping over the world—many of them contrary to the wishes of the vast majority of the people? That there is a malevolent genius directing sinister operations to hinder and baffle God and to destroy mankind is easy to understand. Many people ask, 'Why does not God destroy him?' The answer to that is in this lesson. His hour is coming. He will be expelled from his domain by Michael and his angels. Then, because the people of this world have co-operated with Satan so willingly, he will be allowed to take refuge in the earth. He will come down (v. 12) in great wrath, 'because he knoweth that he hath but a short time.'"

II. Rejoicing in Heaven (12:10-12).

If we accept what seems to be the correct view; namely, that the woman of Revelation 12:1-5 is Israel, the nation in which the child (v. 5), who is Christ, was born, then it would appear that those who here rejoice in the victory over the dragon (Satan) would be the Jewish believers who will have come through great tribulation. At the same time it is quite appropriate to apply the truth of the passage to us who now find ourselves in conflict with Satanic powers.

The accuser does not hesitate to appear even in the presence of God to bring charges against us (see Job 1:6-12). But we need not fear him, for he is already judged (I John 3:10) and will (as we see in our lesson) one day be cast down to earth, and (as other Scripture reveals) will ultimately be cast into the lake of fire (Rev. 20:10).

But he is here now, a supernatural (but not divine) being, plaguing us, tempting us, accusing us. What shall we do about it? As to his accusation, we know we have a just and loving God and also have an Advocate to plead our causes before Him (I John 2:2). For his present attacks, our lesson gives the secret of spiritual victory in verse 11.

III. Victory on Earth (Rev. 15:2-4).

The scene of victorious rejoicing which we see here is evidently in heaven, but it is because of victory on earth. Here are those that have come through the horrible conditions described in Revelation 13, and have been victorious over the beast, in spite of his great powers.

They sing; that is the token of real victory, of a heart victory. Whatever loss they may have suffered, and whatever trials they have gone through, they have "gotten the victory" (v. 2). They sing the song of Moses and the Lamb (cf. Exod. 15:1-21 and Rev. 5:9-14).

It is right that the redeemed of the Lord should sing, glorifying the name of God (v. 4) and magnifying His great and marvelous works (v. 3). Let us remind ourselves again that, if we are Christians, we are on the victorious side. The glimpses into the heavens which we find in our lesson should give us the right perspective with which to view the troublesome experiences of life. God has a plan, and He will bring it to complete and victorious fruition in His own time and His own way.

GUIDE TO REAL BUILDING VALUE

The wise buyer is never fooled—The market today is flooded with countless lumber "bargains." To get business the appeal of tempting prices has been substituted for quality. You can see and feel a cut in lumber quality. The one way to be sure that you have invested your dollars wisely is to buy seasoned, dry and lumber cut from big timber—the lumber that you know has never tampered with quality.

MILLS BAPTIST MEET

The Mills County Baptist Association had a very successful meeting last week with the Big Valley Church. All the co-operating churches of the county were represented by letter and messengers, and high tide of spiritual fervor was evident throughout the session.

The moderator's term expiring by constitutional limitation, a new moderator was chosen in the person of Rev. C. K. Roberts. The retiring moderator, E. E. Dawson, was elected clerk; Frank Hines was re-elected treasurer, and Sam J. Fisher was named as corresponding secretary. Rev. Raymon Sims was chosen as the vice-moderator. The next session of the body will be held at Mullin, Aug. 27 and 28, 1942. There were three urgent invitations for the next meeting, the local Baptist Church being one of them.

The minutes of the recent session are to be published by the local print shop and will be distributed by the end of this month. High goals for the new year were set and a quickening of interest was manifest by the enthusiastic spirit of the whole membership of the association.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

E. E. DAWSON, Pastor

Three words need to be in every Christian's vocabulary: Forgetting, Reaching, Looking. They are all Pauline terms, and emphasize that men ought to forget many things of the past, and reach forward toward Christian perfection, and look to Jesus who is the author and finisher of faith. These three words wrought into human experience will produce spiritual success. Let's incorporate them in our religious thinking.

All services on schedule next Sunday. Despite the number of families carrying children away for college, a good attendance was had both hours last Sunday, and soul-warming services. Visitors were noted from as far away as Brownsville, and a number from outlying sections of the county.

"There's a place in the ranks for me" is a line from a song we sing. It is always true: there is a place in the ranks for every soul that desires to serve effectively.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

W. H. MARSHALL, Pastor

AS SEEN FROM THE STREET CORNER—

No man is any better than the way he makes good on his promises.

If I hate a man I sink below his level, whatever that is.

Learn to give the world as much as you expect from it.

No man is any better than he is when he is doing as he pleases. Just as long as we get more from the community than we are giving we are accepting charity.

The less one has of Christ the easier it is to set up divisions in the church.

Too many people are serving a religion about Jesus instead of the religion of Jesus.

An old sinner wants to know why it is so many church members don't go to church. It is a great sin to break a church vow.

A FEW NOTES ON THE GOVERNMENT HOSPITAL LOCATED AT LEGION

While in Kerrville yesterday on other business, in company with Ed Williams of Star, we had occasion to visit the Soldiers' Hospital, which is located near that city. After calling on the officer of the day at the Administrative building and finding Dr. Gains in charge, we were told that we were two hours early for visiting. However, he being a splendid fellow, a disabled World War veteran himself, we were allowed the privilege of visiting all the Mills County boys that we had time to see.

We first went to the surgery building where we found Pearl Petty from Goldthwaite, who had been in the hospital for less than a week and said that he was almost well and was proud that he was brought there. In building No. 10 we found Sam Perkins of Star, who has been a patient there since early in the year.

This hospital is run at the government's expense, exclusively for the benefit of the veterans of the wars we have had. There are now in this institution 369 patients, who are all receiving the best care that any hospital is capable of giving. It surely is an inspiration to an ex-service man or any person to visit there and see the interest that the employees are taking in the operation and care of the entire set-up.

We are reminded of the fact that this institution is made possible through the efforts of the American Legion, and we feel that every ex-service man in America should be a member of the American Legion and be a part of an organization that is the sponsor of every good legislation that has been passed to benefit the ex-service man and his family.

L. B. PORTER.

Capt. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., of Fort Sam Houston and son, Melmoth of Texas Military Institute at San Antonio, spent the week-end in Goldthwaite last week.

C. M. Thompson left by bus for Dallas Wednesday afternoon to visit his son and family.

Mrs. T. Robertson has been confined to her bed the past week caused by a fall last Sunday.

Aubrey Smith spent last week-end in San Antonio.

MILLS COUNTY NEEDS

A Life Insurance Company. We are now at work with the help of many of our good people of the county trying to organize an insurance company for Mills County. Many are signing for policies. You, too, will want to join when you find out what is being offered Mills County people.

Mills County needs a Community House where we can meet for meetings of importance, fellowship and other causes.

Mills County needs a Boys' and Dads' Club. Other towns and counties have them. Why not us? There is nothing finer to be had. Invest more in your boy and he will repay you in fine manhood when he grows up to be a man. Oh, yes, your boy is worth many times over what your cattle and sheep and lands are worth. Why not invest a little money in your boy? Why not give him more of your time? Today your boy is your opportunity. Tomorrow he may be. If neglected, the responsibility of the state.
