Get Your Farm Machinery In Good Condition

Enough Steel Has Been Set Aside For Farm Repair Needs

Get your farm machinery in A-1 condition now and be ready for this year's food production pledge. A. A. Downey, chairman of the Mills County USDA war board, said this week. "Getting farm machinery in good condition now will be a safeguard against unnecessary delays and breakdown of machinery during the busy farming season," Mr. Downey said in pointing out that defense production will probably overload railroads, truck lines, express companies and parcel post systems next spring.

OPM has asked for a drastic reduction of steel for civilian needs because of the unprecedented quantities needed in the manufacture of guns, planes, tanks and bombers. Sufficient steel has been set aside for repair parts of farm machinery, the chairman explained.

All farmers of Mills County are asked to check their machinery and order all necessary parts as soon as possible. By this method, manufacturers will have a sound, practical idea of the quantities needed for repair parts.

If parts are not available, farmers should notify the county war board, he said.

Clocks Of Nation Are To Be Set Up One Hour Monday

Jump At The Japs One Hour Earlier To Save Daylight

The United States and all its possessions will get a Jump at the Japs one hour earlier each day beginning Monday, Feb. 9, in accordance with the request of the President and an Act of Congress, to save daylight working hours. Monday morning at 1 o'clock, the clocks will be run up one hour—to 2—and business will go on as usual until after the war, with very little confusion, it is hoped.

Goldthwaite and Mills County will observe the new time. Clocks will be set up one hour Monday morning. Train and bus schedules will remain the same—observing the new time—the bank, courthouse, post office, schools and business houses will open and close at the same hours as before—but on the new time. Just run your clocks and watches up one hour Monday at 1 a. m., go back to bed, and get up and go about your business at the regular time—but on the new time.

Books for Buddies

Ten million books will be sought for men of the United States armed forces and Merchant Marine through this poster, designed by the Nationally known illustrator, C. B. Falls. Sponsors of the Victory Book Campaign are the American Red Cross, American Library Association and the United Service Organizations.

It is difficult to contact directly all potential donors who have books which they would gladly give if informed as to the great need for that morale-building force among Soldiers Sailors and Marines.

Such knowledge, relaxation, and information imparted by books are needed in the nation's camps, stations, and ships.

Every community in Mills County is urged to conduct the Victory Book Campaign.

Don't you see that the campaign is started at once in your community?

And bring the books collected to Red Cross headquarters in City Utilities building on west side of court house.

MRS. J. H. SAYLOR, Victory Book Chairman.

Bro. William Talley of Valley Springs, Texas, will preach at the Church of Christ Sunday, Feb. 8.

JAMES NICKOLS FOR COM. OF PRECINCT 4

The Eagle is this week authorized to announce the candidacy of James Nickols for Mills County Commissioner from Precinct No. 4, subject to action of the July 25 Democratic Primary. His name will be found listed in the political announcement column.

James Nickols needs no introduction to the voters of Precinct 4, as he was born and has lived all his life on the Nickols stock-farm five miles west of Goldthwaite. He is a son of Mrs. Eula Nickols and a grandson of the late Phil H. Clements.

Mr. Nickols is well acquainted with the roads in his precinct and with dirt road work, and feels he can give the people service on the roads of the precinct. He promises if elected to give his attention to the job and take care of the precinct business as well as co-operate with the other members of the Commissioners' Court in running the business of the county.

He says he hopes to see all the voters of the precinct before election day, but that he has to attend to his farming and ranching interests, and will appreciate the vote and influence of every voter, whether he gets to see them all personally or not.

CHURCH OF THE NAZARENE

F. P. SMITH, Pastor

It was my happy privilege to attend, as the guest of Dr. T. C. Graves, the Scout Executive's Annual Banquet of the Comanche Trail Council in the Hotel Brownwood last Friday night, Jan. 30.

Lt. Col. A. K. Mathews spoke on the subject, "The Scout Oath and Law Is the Essence of American Citizenship." In his talk he told several humorous incidents, one of which I thought was rather amusing and so I'll pass it on to you. He said there was a certain man who never had much time for a little seven-year-old boy of his because he gave so much of his time to his work. Consequently the two never saw much of each other and had very little if any fellowship together. The boy had a little dog called Paddy which was his constant companion and which he loved as only a boy can love a dog. One evening as he came home from school his mother told him as carefully as she possibly could that Paddy had died. The boy only remarked, "Oh, he did," and went on out to play. The mother wondered at his attitude and why he didn't cry or show concern. In about an hour he came running in sobbing like his little heart would break. "Why didn't you tell me, mother? Why didn't you tell me?" "Tell you what?" asked his mother. "Why didn't you tell me that Paddy had died?" "Why, I did tell you and you didn't seem to care. Why didn't you cry when I told you?" "Well," sobbed the boy, "I thought you said Daddy."

Say, Dad, you probably don't work on Sunday, so why not spend some time with that boy of yours and come to Sunday School with him at 9:45. We will enjoy having you.

Worship Hour—11:30. Message to the Church.

NYPS and Junior Society—6:30 p. m.

Night Service—7:15 p. m. "Proof from the Bible that we are living in the last days."

STSTC To Give Youth Course In Work Instruction

Youths 16 to 24 Are Eligible For NYA San Marcos Project

W. J. Murphy of Waco, district representative of the National Youth Administration, will be in Goldthwaite at the County Judge's office next Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and every Monday thereafter, to interview youths desiring to take the NYA course. Application blanks and information can be secured at any time at County Judge R. J. Gerald's office.

Goldthwaite and Mills County youths who are eligible for employment in the NYA have an opportunity to take a nine-months' course at the Trades and Industries Resident Center at the Southwest Texas State Teachers' College, at San Marcos.

This project is open to young men between the ages of 16 and 24, inclusive, with at least two years (preferably four years) high school education, who are eligible for employment with the National Youth Administration. The project is designed to give youth an opportunity to obtain work experience in the fundamentals of auto mechanics, general metal and woodwork. An amateur radio transmitter and receiver is operated for those youths interested in radio.

Each youth will spend one-half day on work projects and one-half day in related information and training under instructors provided by the Southwest Texas State Teachers' College in co-operation with the Vocational Division of the State Department of Education.

Youth are paid $30 a month from which approximately $18 is deducted for lodging, food, laundry recreation and medical attention; therefore, each youth receives a check for approximately $12 for his own use. No money will be sent to boys' parents by the project officials.

Transportation will be furnished to the project by the National Youth Administration.

A physician will attend all youth workers for illness or injury. Hospitalization is provided for short-time sickness at no cost to the youth. Each youth must submit a doctor's statement.

Each youth worker will be responsible for keeping himself, his clothes and quarters in clean and sanitary condition and will be expected to contribute such time as is necessary to keep the project in good condition.

Each youth assigned will be treated as a gentleman, and, of course, will be expected to conduct himself as one.

The following will be issued soon after arrival at the San Marcos resident center: work shirt, work pants, bed linen and blanket.

Mills County H-D Council Meeting

The Mills County Home Demonstration Council will meet Saturday, Feb. 7, 1942, at 2 o'clock in the home demonstration agent's office. Mrs. E. D. Roberson will conduct a lesson on parliamentary procedure. Also many points of interest to all club members will be discussed. Please be present.

The Mattress and Comfort committee will meet at 1 o'clock before the Council meeting at 2 on February 7. The remaining supplies must be disposed of in some way.

Immediately after the Council meeting, a training school on Common Diseases of Poultry will be conducted in the home demonstration agent's office by County Agent Wright. One representative from each club is urged to stay for this meeting so she can conduct the same demonstration in her club for the other club members.

Food Supply Demonstration Clubs will meet Monday, Feb. 9, at 1:30 p. m. in the home demonstration agent's office for the purpose of making a garden plan that will provide the family with all its necessary vegetables to eat fresh, to can, to dry, and to store. At this meeting the amount of space and the number of seeds will be determined. Also, the variety of seeds suited to this locality will be discussed. All demonstrators are urged to be present.

J. F. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist, says: "The size of a garden should be determined by the size of the family. On one farm a half acre or more planted in vegetables will supply a family of five persons. A suburban or town garden must necessarily be limited to less space of fewer, but well chosen, vegetables. The plot of ground that is used for the garden should be fertile, well drained, and if possible protected by a fence."

"A garden is a magic spot . . . you plant a little, reap a lot."

Our job is to determine the best kinds and varieties of vegetables for this locality; go to our seedman and obtain these when they grow them into

Some of the most glorious things of life may become commonplace to us unless we guard against losing the spirit of appreciation. Emerson has somewhere said that if the stars came out only once in an age everyone would be gazing upon them, but because we can see them every night we seldom trouble to look at them. Beauty is all about us—in the natural world, in art and literature, in the lives of consecrated men and women; and happy is he who has the spirit of the Psalmist, to whom "The heavens declare the glory of God, and the firmament sheweth His handiwork." Let us keep alive in our souls the capacity for wonder and awe!

FOOD FOR VICTORY GARDENS FOR COUNTY

By Mrs. ORAN W. CAROTHERS Mills County Land Use Planning Committee Representative.

The "Live at Home" campaign has become an all-out "Food for Victory" effort. The goal calls for better gardens as well as more farm gardens. Each farm family must produce and conserve food for itself and help to supply others. Often garden shortages may be traced to an unsuitable variety as well as an insufficient quantity of seed planted.

The Mills County Land Use Planning Committee has recommended that a VICTORY LIST OF GARDEN SEED be made available to all farm families of the county. J. F. Rosborough, Extension Horticulturist of A. & M. College, has compiled a list of seeds in the varieties best suited to this area of Texas and in quantities sufficient for a family of four. The Farm Security Administration is requiring each of its clients to purchase a "garden unit" of these seeds. This garden unit contains five pounds of seeds and may be purchased for $1.70.

A grocery store at Goldthwaite has been appointed distributor for the Farm Security Borrowers. Anyone else interested may place an order for the seed unit.

This is the list of the varieties and quantities included in the garden unit of seed:

"WHAT TO FORGET"

- (Author Unknown)

 - II. If you know of a skeleton hidden away in a closet, And guarded from the day in the dark, And whose sudden display would Cause grief and sorrow and life-long dismay, It's a pretty good plan to forget it.
 - III. If you know of a thing that will Darken the joy of a man or a woman, a girl or a boy, That will wipe out a smile, or the least way annoy a fellow, Or cause a joy to clog, It's a pretty good plan to forget it.

Electrical "Hired Hands" Aid Farm Production for Defense

Yard lights and a portable motor pay big dividends in many ways.

By IRA MILLER
Farm Electrification Bureau

A VISIT to any group of electrified farms—whether they have enjoyed high-line service for a long or a short time—reveals that surprisingly few make as extensive use of this valuable "farm hand" outside the home as they do in it. Of course, it is only natural that the first use of electricity should be for household comforts and conveniences. But the profit-making and labor-saving applications of electricity in the business of farming are all too often entirely neglected or only partly exploited.

It costs only a few dollars to wire and light your poultry house. At comparatively small additional expense, you can install ultra-violet lamps and water warmers. The complete installation will not only maintain egg production during the fall and winter months (when prices are highest) but also will provide the necessary quantities of Vitamin D (an essential to strong, healthy birds and to a higher percentage of fertile and hatchable eggs).

For $15 or $20, probably the lower figure, you can install a yard light. This includes all material and an electrician's services but not a pole. If one is necessary, it will cost about $10 if put in by the power company or only your labor if you cut and set it yourself. Three lighting units—one each at the house, barn and garage—are essential for the proper lighting of the average farmyard. Such an installation will do much to lessen, if it does not entirely eliminate, two of the principal hazards of farming—accidents and thefts at night.

Motors of various sizes can save time, labor and money on many farm jobs. Small motors—less than one horsepower—cost only a few cents an hour to operate and eliminate the drudgery of milking a small dairy herd, separating cream, churning butter and shelling corn. In the workshop, they run the grinder, drill, forge and many other tools commonly operated by hand.

Larger motors (up to 7½ horsepower), portable wherever possible, have dozens of uses and will do the work of at least two farm hands at a cost that is measured in cents instead of dollars. They are used to drive the feed grinder and mixer, ensilage cutter, hay hoist and baler, pipe-line milking machine, threshing machine, wood saw, fruit and vegetable grader, grain cleaner and elevator, and practically all other stationary machines.

The operating cost of any of the electrical "farm hands" previously mentioned is but a few cents per day, while the actual cash savings and profits that are measured in cents instead of dollars, are realized in a few months. Even where there is no direct savings or profits, the added safety, convenience and comfort will be worth much more than the cost.

SONG OF THE WEEK

WE'RE GOING OVER (Andrew Sterling)

The Major wrote the chorus but he fell down on the verse, The Colonel tried to write it but he only made it worse.

They called in Captain Cattle, but he missed it by a mile, So they left it to the Sergeant of the file.

Said he, "We need no verse at all to this little thing." So they went and taught the Sammies how to sing.

CHORUS: We're going over, we're going over, They want to settle up that fuss, and they put it up to us, So what do we care, so what do we care?

We'll go riding across the foam; And we'll show them what the Yankee Doodle boys can do, Then we'll all come marching home.

—2— The boys all sang the chorus to the leader of the band; He taught his men to play it and it sounded mighty grand.

Said he, "I'll write a part in for the fellow with the drum. So the boys in France can hear us when we come."

The orders came next morning and they yelled We're on our way, And they sang as they went sailing down the bay.

CHORUS: YOUNG PORTER TO FLY Acting Postmaster Lewis B. Porter received a telegram yesterday afternoon from his son, L. B. Porter, Jr., that he had passed every test at Tarleton in the Aviation Department, and was ready for training at an airfield.

RIDE HIM, COWBOY—Up in the air they go, but will they come down together? Action like this will be seen at the rodeo of the Houston Fat Stock Show & Livestock Exposition, to be held Feb. 6-15 in the Houston Coliseum. Gene Autry will produce the rodeo and appear in person at every performance.

Everybody Helps Mile 'O Dimes

Young and old, rich and poor are dropping their dimes into handy quart milk bottles these days as the nationwide Mile 'O Dimes drive gets under way. This pretty little contributor to the President's Birthday Fund for infantile paralysis victims was pictured cheerfully giving her dime as the drive began in New York City. Several thousand streamlined milk bottles for collecting dimes in all parts of the country were contributed by the Owens-Illinois Glass Company. Bottling bore the green President.

"Uncle Joeville," as some call the section of town just west of Badger Field, is growing. The owner of the land and houses, J. L. Mason, started construction this week and will erect three new stone buildings, he said Wednesday. There are five of the small stone structures already on these lots and the extra will bring the number to eight. The first class of the Red Cross Home Nursing Course will be held in the courthouse Tuesday evening, Feb. 3, at 7:30. This course will be conducted by Mrs. J. W. Heroic fighting by neighbors, the Lampasas Fire Department members, the Texas Defense Guard and others kept it from getting further and from burning a lot of livestock and buildings. The fire started about 2:30 and was not all extinguished until late at night. Robert Warren Jackson, who was nearing his 22nd birthday, was killed in an automobile accident Saturday morning, Jan. 24, about 4:15 o'clock, near Grand Prairie. The body was brought to Lometa and funeral services were held in the Old Senterfitt Cemetery Sunday afternoon. Repairing of the Lampasas County Welfare Office has just been completed, the location being the building across the street from the city hall.—Record.

Quality Baby Chicks Necessary For Good Results

County Agent Gives Some Pointers On Selection Of Chicks

County Agent John A. Wright offers the following information relative to securing quality baby chicks:

The United States is now involved in an all-out war. Food is going to play a vital part in the winning of this war. Eggs are one of the principal items needed, and a set-up of production is urgently requested. The outlook for poultry and poultry products is favorable to the producer for the next few years.

With these things in mind, it is extremely important that the poultrymen look forward toward securing chicks of high quality and known production ancestry. These are several very definite things that the poultryman should consider in the purchase of chicks this year.

1. Buy on quality and not on price—(a) Disease-free (pallorum tested); (b) Flocks that have been selected for vitality, type, production, uniformity, etc.; (c) Flocks that are mated to R.O.P. males or those of equal quality; (d) Preference on chicks from yearling or two-year-old hens.
2. Buy from reputable hatchery—(a) Hatchery that is carrying on a good sanitation breeding and feeding program with hatchery flocks as outlined under the National Poultry Improvement Plan.

Requirements of the National Poultry Improvement Plan and Official Poultry Improvement Work in Texas:

A. All official poultry improvement work in Texas is in conformity with the National Poultry Improvement Plan as administered by the Texas Baby Chick Association. The Texas Baby Chick Association, with the co-operation of the State Department of Agriculture and the A. and M. College of Texas, has complete supervision of this work.

B. The poultry improvement work in Texas is divided into three classifications:

- 1.—Texas-U.S. Approved.
 - 2.—Texas-U.S. Certified.
 - 3.—Texas-U.S. R.O.P.
- Texas-U.S. Approved—(a) Females shall be rigidly and thoroughly selected for constitutional vigor and egg production, such selected females to combine standardbred and production qualities to a reasonably high degree. (b) Males shall be selected especially for constitutional vigor and standardbred qualities. All selection work must be handled by an official flock selecting and testing agent. (c) All birds selected shall be pullorum tested and banded. All reactors or culls must be sold so that they cannot be placed back in the flock. (d) Texas-U.S. Approved hatcheries and their flocks shall be inspected by an official state inspector. All eggs that come from Texas-U.S. Approved flocks shall weigh at least 23 ounces per dozen. Only Texas-U.S. Approved chicks can be hatched in Texas-U.S. Approved hatcheries.

Texas-U.S. Certified—These flocks shall fulfill all requirements of the Texas-U.S. Approved flocks and shall be mated to Texas-U.S. R.O.P. males. (For Texas-U.S. R.O.P. classification, see following explanation).

Texas-U.S. Record of Performance—In order to classify as a Texas-U.S. R.O.P. female, pullets must lay at least 200 or more eggs during the first laying year. The eggs of each pullet must have an average weight of at least 24 ounces per dozen. Breeders are required to weigh their eggs three consecutive days each month. All females shall be of at least qualifying body weight for hens as designated by the American Standard of Perfection.

U.S.-R.O.P. Males—Males produced from Texas-U.S. R.O.P. chicks shall qualify as Texas-U.S. R.O.P. males, provided that they can pass an individual inspection by the state inspector not earlier than six months of age. Males must have strong constitutional vigor, and be representative of the breed.

2.—WHO'S WHO IN EMERGENCY

The odd and unpredictable reactions of individuals in the face of emergency would often be laughable if the results were not so frequently tragic.

There is the legendary one about Pat, found weeping beside the body of strangled Mike. He explained that Mike cut himself while shaving and that he had put a tourniquet around Mike's neck to keep him from bleeding to death.

A bit far-fetched, perhaps. But a friend of mine, who once thought the Pat-and-Mike anecdote laughable, was recently one of a group who looked on helplessly while the victim of an automobile accident quickly bled to death from a gashed throat. Wishing desperately that he knew what to do, my friend reported that the only thing he could think of at the moment of crisis was that impossible yarn about Pat and Mike. Yet the life of that individual might have been saved had my friend or any one of that handful of ignorant onlookers known what to do pending medical aid.

Automobile and other types of accident are so prevalent in this country today that someone is injured every three and one-third seconds and someone is killed every five and one-third minutes. At this rate, which means accidental death or injury to one out of every 14 persons during the year, the chances are that even the unscathed will be confronted with some kind of accident emergency.

The majority of those who have faced some kind of test will readily admit their ineffectiveness, though it is usually to their chagrin and sorrow. Yet those who have not proved themselves are generally overconfident of their ability to cope with a crisis, and it is possible they will be surprised to know, as a result of psychological tests, that:

Out of 100 individuals confronted with an emergency, 95 can neither think nor act correctly, three can think correctly but cannot act, and only two can both think and act correctly.

Each of us, whether he likes it or not, is faced with the question: How will you react in an emergency? And the chances apparently are 98 to two that unless you have taken the slight trouble to acquire a knowledge of First Aid, you will be just about as helpful and effective as Pat or my friend whose ignorance was almost equally as great.

Fortunately, the American Red Cross conducts First Aid training courses which make it possible for virtually everyone to take his place in the ranks of "Who's Who in An Emergency." By means of such knowledge and the training that establishes correct patterns of reaction, the surprise element present in every emergency is largely eliminated and sure, controlled action may become easy. Psychologically speaking, the stimulus is short-circuited through the reflexes and reaction time is greatly speeded up.

When confronted with an emergency you need ask yourself only two questions: "Have
