Wiley Mahan And Dick Scrivner Announce For Sheriff-Assessor And Collector; Walter A. Bryant For Clerk

The Eagle was authorized this week to announce the candidates of three citizens who are tossing their hat into the political ring seeking favor of the voters at the primary election in July. Wiley Mahan and Dick Scrivner have announced for the office of sheriff-tax assessor and collector and Walter A. "Toby" Bryant as announced for county clerk.

In announcing, Mr. Mahan issued the following statement: To the citizens of Mills County, in answer to requests from a number of citizens in various parts of Mills County I am announcing as a candidate for the office of sheriff-tax assessor and collector of Mills County. I am 53 years of age as most of you know, I served Mills County in this capacity from 1946 through 1950 and did not seek re-election to a third term. I feel that the record I made while serving as Sheriff-tax assessor and collector would merit your support at this time. I promise to continue my policy of staying on the job and performing the many duties of the office to the best of my ability, yet keeping my expenses minimum in order to save the county as much money as possible. I will try to see and talk with each of you before the primary — If I should receive your support please accept this solicitation of your vote with support. Sincerely, W. L. Mahan.

"Dick" Scrivner in making his announcement states he is a native of Mills County having lived at Cross Creek for twenty years while associated with the Genesee Oil Company, super-

J. H. Randolph Lumber Company Is Sold To M. F. Horton And Earl Summy

One of the oldest, if not the oldest, Goldthwaite business establishments from the point of ownership and management by the same family has changed hands this week in the sale of the Goldthwaite J. H. Lumber

M. F. HORTON

EARL SUMMY

Company by Mrs. J. H. Randolph and Neal Dickerson to M. F. Horton and Earl Summy. The change of ownership is effective as of Monday, February 1, and the firm name is being changed to Horton and Summy Lumber and Building Supplies. The sale includes all stock, fixtures and real estate of the Goldthwaite yard, but it does not include the J. H. Randolph Lumber Company property at Mullin, Texas. Mrs. Randolph retains ownership of the Mullin yard. The business was originally established as the J. I. Campbell and Company, with Mr. Randolph as owner, in 1890. In 1919 the present building was erected and the name was changed to J. H. Randolph Lumber Company. The late Mr. Randolph, pioneer resident of the community, remained active in the business for many years. Neal Dickerson who has been co-owner and manager of the firm for a number of years has been associated with the local yard for 52 years. The new owners are no strangers to the people of Goldthwaite, Mills County and surrounding area. Both are native sons who attended local schools and have lived here practically all their life. Mr. Horton has been in the construction business for the past thirty years and they have announced that construction business will continue to be carried on by him. "Mac", as he is known to most folks, has been a bit inactive for the past six months after he was injured in a fall on a job in June of last year. He is now able to go about and carry on his work and is again getting into the active field of construction work. He has concentrated most of his building activities to Mills and surrounding counties. Mr. Summy has spent his lifetime in Mills County, except for three years that he spent in military service with the army. He was employed with the First National Bank for thirteen years and two years with the Trent State Bank. He has served seven terms as Mills County Clerk with the exception of three years while he was in the Army when the office was held by Mrs. Summy. The new owners extend a cordial invitation to their friends and neighbors to call on them.

March Of Dimes Collections Reach $1,319.14 Tuesday

A number of communities reported their contributions to the March Of Dimes by Tuesday of this week and the Chairman announced that reports were still to come from some of the communities and activities which were staged to aid the drive. To be added to reports already published are Melba Theatre, $55.00; Ebony Community, $16.30; Caradan, $21.00; Collection Tubes, $197.38. Total reported to the treasurer by Tuesday afternoon amounted to $1,319.14. More reports are expected when community chairmen complete their work and collection tubes are picked up in the various parts of the county. Everyone connected with the drive is urged to get their report in so that final tabulations can be made.

Mrs. W. J. Weathers visited her son, L. W. Weathers and Mrs. Weathers in Brownwood the first of this week.

Fox Hunters Urged To Watch Livestock

Sheriff C. F. "Stub" Stubblefield announced this week that fox hunters are urged to watch out for livestock when out on their hunting trips. Farmers and ranchers appreciate hunters and their work in connection with killing foxes but it has been reported they should be extra cautious about livestock and also about leaving gates open.

Earl Summy Resigns As County Clerk

Earl Summy has resigned as Mills County Clerk, effective March 1. His resignation was presented to the board of county commissioners in a special call meeting Wednesday morning of this week. The board accepted his resignation with regrets.

After accepting the resignation the board appointed Raymond Summy to fill the unexpired term. Raymond accepted the appointment and will take office on March 1.

Mr. Summy has been county clerk for seven terms, except for three years while he was in military service when Mrs. Summy held the office.

In presenting his resignation he announced that he will be engaged in business with M. F. Horton in the Horton and Summy Lumber and Building Supplies. He further expressed his thanks and appreciation to officials and the public for their cooperation and support while he worked with them and served them.

With this resignation the question as to his future political plans is answered and the field is open for candidates to make their bid to voters, in their behalf, for this county office.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Evans and daughter, Peggy, were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Miller.

Miss Ann Dellis of Austin spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Dellis.

Volunteer Workers Are Named For Bloodmobile Visit Here February 12

Volunteer workers have been announced for the regular visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile here on February 12, it was announced this week by Mrs. W. P. Duren, county chairman.

The visit here will be for a one day operation. Donations will be taken from 9:00 a. m. until 12:00 noon and from 1:00 to 4:00 p. m., at the First Baptist Church.

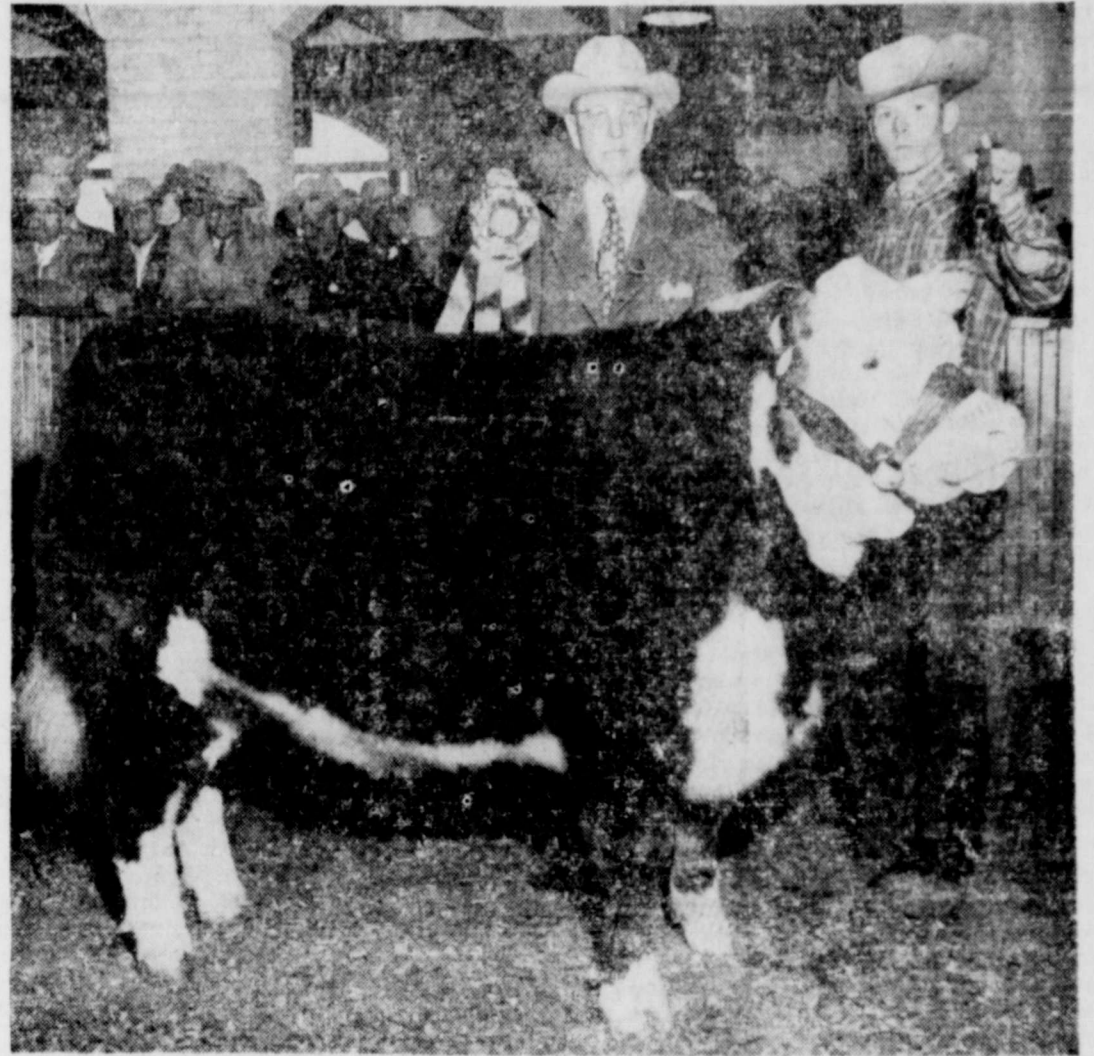

Pledge cards can be secured from any of the community chairmen that were announced last week or at the Mills County State Bank in Goldthwaite.

There has been a change in the quota for Mills County for this year from 314 to 270 pints of blood. This information was given the local committee last week.

According to last announcement, Tuesday of this week, only 65 pledges were made to donate a pint of blood. This is far short of the goal needed to fill the required number of donations that are scheduled for Mills County this trip. Folks are urged to contact their community chairman and sign their pledge card now.

The following is a run down of positions within the actual operation of the Blood Center which will be staffed by volunteers. Each of these positions is vitally important to the overall operation. The morning

RED CROSS BLOOD PROGRAM
(GUEST EDITORIAL)

There is always a certain satisfaction in dropping the roundabout, tactful approach to hit straight from the shoulder. It is, however, a departure so unpalatable to so many people that it is generally adopted only when the importance of the subject reduces the protests of damaged egos to the dimensions of a whimpering child who wanted his pill sugar-coated. It is a step not to be taken lightly or without due regard for the repercussions which usually follow unadorned truth. But certainly the safeguarding of human life justifies any unpleasant aftereffects.

For years, the Red Cross has pleaded and cajoled with the able-bodied adults of this and other communities to become blood donors. Their approach has been almost too tactful and unassuming, considering what it is they are asking and that they are not asking it for themselves. Fortunately, for those people who have a sense of responsibility toward their fellow man, no more direct approach is necessary. There are many of those people, but there are not enough to supply all the blood needed to carry out the merciful work of the blood program. There are just too many other people who follow the line of least resistance — let George do it. It is they who mumble excuses, or fail to appear at a bloodmobile at their appointed time. It is also they who denounce the Red Cross, the local hospital, and the world in general the most loudly if there were not blood on hand to save the life of a member of their family.

There are still others who can be labeled potential blood donors. They are the persons who need only to be made aware of the tremendous scope and great needs of the blood program to become regular blood donors. It is our purpose now to present some straight facts in an effort to promote understanding of the blood program on the part of the people it has been established to serve, and upon whom its success depends.

A certain amount of confusion exists because of the cease-fire order in Korea. Actually, that has not altered the present needs of the blood program as it affects us directly. Gamma globulin, the only protection available at present against crippling effects of polio, requires thousands of additional pints. Not only must a large quantity of blood be collected each month, but its collection must be geared to the continuous needs of blood. It defies the very purpose of the blood program if there is extra blood available one day and none for the next three days. In an effort to keep blood supplies steady, Red Cross bloodmobiles are scheduled well in advance and the collections at each, estimated wherever possible. It is quickly apparent what happens when a bloodmobile unit is cancelled, or a quota is not met. The entire region suffers a lack which must be measured in terms of human life and human suffering. The wailing of an ambulance siren in the middle of the night can be a dreadful sound when there is no blood on hand to meet the emergency.

There are 5,999 citizens residing in Mills County. The last time the Red Cross bloodmobile came here, only 97 pints of blood were donated. Was one of those pints yours, or did you let George do it?

The Red Cross Blood Program is your program. If you were asked if you would rather pay up to seventy-five dollar a pint for blood obtained from commercial sources, or whether you would rather have a pint of Red Cross blood without charges, what would your answer be? But unless you support the Red Cross Blood Program by donating blood yourself and encouraging others to do so, there may come a time when you have no choice. The future of the blood program is up to you. Are you up to the challenge? When the Red Cross bloodmobile comes here again on February 12, will you donate a pint of your blood? Or will George have to do it for you again?

Latin American Trade Boost Congress Aim | Capehart and Smathers Urge Business Drive

Special to Central Press

WASHINGTON—Be on the watch for stepped-up congressional action designed to boost United States trade with Latin America. Senator Homer E. Capehart (R), Indiana, chairman of the Senate banking committee, has just returned from an extensive tour of Latin America and is calling for increased trade with Central and South America.

Senator Homer E. Capehart

Capehart may hold hearings this month on the steps the Export-Import and the World Banks have taken to make trading operations south of the border more attractive to buyers and sellers.

In another development, Senator George H. Smathers (D), Florida, says the United States "must cultivate more trade with Latin America." He comments: "We have got to get busy and trade more with them. Tax barriers also have to be reduced."

Most trade experts agree a substantial market for American goods can be opened up if the government moves to provide a certain amount of stimulation. The whole problem may get a thorough airing at the hearings Capehart is now planning.

● SIT OUT POSSIBILITY—Don't be surprised if Senate Democrats "sit out" some of the toughest legislative battles which come up in the new session of Congress.

Despite the fact they are leaving the Republicans in control of the Senate, they hold a 48 to 47 numerical advantage over the GOP and the one Independent, Senator Wayne Morse of Oregon, is expected to side with them on almost every issue.

However, prominent Democratic leaders favor a strategy in which they will leave it up to the Republicans to scrap over President Eisenhower's legislative program. They will sit by as silent observers so that any quarrels among the GOP will be fully spotlighted.

This will be particularly true when debate opens on reciprocal trade, foreign aid, taxation, boosting the debt limit and other measures where Republicans are divided among themselves.

These tactics may compel the President to exert his influence for harmony among the two wings of his party even more than anticipated and it may enable the Democrats to point to the GOP as a divided, undecided political faction when the 1954 congressional campaigns get underway.

VIC'S ...
SOLILOQUY

It was a joy for "Butch" Saylor to tell one on his little sister Stephanie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. "Spot" Saylor. "Stieff", who is seven months old, got herself into something that was quite a puzzle for her to try and untangle. She was visiting with grandpa and grandma, Kelly Saylor, at their house one day recently and happened in front of a large mirror which was close enough to the floor for her to see herself. So she started to flirt with "the other baby" in the mirror and after a while she maneuvered close and gave herself a kiss. This proved much fun and she decided to do it again and by this time it was really proving interesting and she went all out for it. This time she was so pepped up about the matter she was going to give the other baby a good one and she bumped her nose, but not against the mirror. A bit frightened she backed off a short distance and as grandma Saylor puts it: "Brother, did she ever give that other baby in the mirror a tough look?"

politics since this is naturally an election year and that always brings on more than usual talk about politics.

Alfred writes as follows: "Dear Vic: Enclosed find check for one year subscription to the sheet. Please send to above address but please hold Republican Propaganda to a minimum as I get enough of that from other periodicals and I don't worship Herbert Hoover, Ike, Benson or anyone of that class. This sure is a good country here—'Solid Democrat.' Yours truly, a Roosevelt and Truman Democrat, Alfred Carter." Being strictly independent when it comes to party politics leaves us in a position where we can take it like it comes and from wherever it comes. One note to our friend Alfred, tho, about the little matter of "Solid Democrat" country. You know there were a lot of "Solid Democrat" counties in Texas until the votes were tallied at the last General Election.

News notes from some of our readers here and there: Exa Sanders writes from Mullin: "I have been taking your paper about 40 years and don't see how I could do without it now. Keep my paper coming."

From down Eagle Pass way comes a note from L. S. Karnes which says: "I would like for you to send me a copy of last week's Eagle, I didn't get mine and we don't want to miss a single copy. We look forward to getting it every week."

"I certainly enjoy reading the Goldthwaite Eagle. About all of the activities of your little city and especially the livestock business, FFA and 4-H Club work. It is wonderful and something to be very proud of," writes J. Claude Fallon from Big Spring.

Now here is something new from none other than the one and only Alfred Carter up there in their new home at Texhoma, Oklahoma. Guess it's perfectly in order for a fellow to spice things a little with a bit of

One of our former local citizens, and while he has moved away he is still a local citizen at heart. C. O. Norton, writes from Weatherford, stating: "Enclosed check to keep your good paper coming. If it wasn't for the Eagle I wouldn't have any way of knowing what is going on down there. Bill, Bob, Puny, Earl, Jess, Everett, Dew, Charley, John and other good citizens used to keep me posted, but I guess they all have other things and people that keep them busy. But I will always have a warm spot in my heart for the good people of Mills County. They were such good neighbors and I only wish I could have the pleasure of a visit from each of them. But of course after spending the day with you good people last Tuesday and seeing one of the best 4-H and FFA shows in the State of Texas, I could see there was no place in that show for Dairy Cattle. But it was the best show and largest of its kind I ever attended. You people of Mills County should be proud of your show and the old boys who have done so much to keep it going. Any Social activities in Goldthwaite were replaced in a large measure during the holidays by the grim sway of the monster "Flu" but last week and the first part of this week has seen a revival of gaiety in the round of entertaining features in probably the most interesting single social event of the season, a party Tuesday evening, January 22 at Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fairman's.

TODAY'S Menu

Recipes to Suit the Season

By ALICE DENHOFF
RECIPES geared to the season are always popular and a wise choice. Squash Pudding Pie is a good example, the recipe for 6.
Line a deep 8-in. pie plate with pastry. Scald 1 1/2 c. milk and pour over 12 old-fashioned gingersnap cookies, and let stand until softened. Then add 1/2 c. brown sugar (firmly packed), 1/2 tsp. salt and 1 1/2 c. cooked winter squash. Mix well and pour into pie shell. Bake at 450° F. for 30 min. Beat 2 egg whites until stiff, gradually adding 1/4 c. corn syrup and continuing to beat until stiff. Spread on top of filling and bake at 325° F. 20 min. Serve warm.

Breaded Squash
Here is a second squash dish you will like. To serve 6, wash 2 medium crook-necked squashes (2 lbs.), and cut into 1/4-in. cross-wise slices. Marinate 1 hr. in 1/2 c. French dressing. Beat 1 egg with 2 tsp. water. Sprinkle squash slices generously with salt and pepper.
Roll in 1 c. cracker meal, then beaten egg, then again in cracker meal. Fry slowly in a little hot fat until golden brown on both sides and tender. Serve with tomato sauce or condensed

"I start where the last man left off"

—Thomas A. Edison

Edison, to explain his incessant and tireless reading of scientific journals, technical papers, patents and books, said that he read to avoid useless repetition of old experiments. "I start where the last man left off."

What Edison knew, and perhaps said in an unquoted moment, is that thousands of men would be needed to "start where he left off."

"Just wait a little while," prophesied Edison, "and we'll make electric light so cheap that only the wealthy can afford to burn candles." Edison lived to see lamps that gave four times as much light and cost one-fifth as much to buy. And electric lighting has progressed far beyond that.

He recognized that an invention does not end a search. It begins a search.

The lamp was a beginning in forcing not only its own evolution but the evolution of meters, fuses, sockets, wiring, power distribution systems, transformers and generating stations.

He lived to see the company that was formed to carry on development of electric light and power evolve into one of the world's most important industrial research centers. Today General Electric laboratories employ several thousand men and women who are seeking new things on widely different fronts.

It is seventy-five years since Edison lit the first successful carbon lamp. He will be remembered for inventions that changed the world. But let him be remembered, too, for inspiring so many men to start where he left off.

WEEDING OUT ACCIDENTS

Ever stop to think how much time a farmer spends in weeding operations?

It's not just a question of getting rid of unwanted plant growths in the fields. It also involves weeding out inefficient farm methods, cutting down high production costs and eliminating unprofitable crops and livestock.

Right now, during the winter "slack season," another weeding job is in order. It is time to weed out accidents in the barnyard.

Many a farm barn is just one big Pandora's box full of accidents waiting to happen. When winter stops field work and the farmer spends most of his time attending to chores in the barn, these accidents begin to multiply. The newspapers report them every day.

The first job is to find these accident hazards. Some of them may have remained unnoticed for years. If so, then some house-cleaning is necessary.

If alleyways or work areas are obstructed with feed, stools, carts or other obstacles, locate a safe place for them. A "Bark-ed" shin is painful, but misplaced implements can lead to more serious accidents. A storage rack should be constructed for pitchforks, scrapers and other barn cleaning tools.

Loft doors, feed chutes, ladders and stairways can be real booby traps for the unwary. Ladders or stairwells should never be used as hay chutes. A well constructed, clean stairway with strong handrails provides the safest and easiest passage to hay mows. When it is necessary to use a ladder see that it extends well above the loft floor and that it is kept in good condition.

Another good rule is "Never Work In The Dark." Fumbling around in dimly lighted work areas is really asking for trouble. Good lights properly placed not only help prevent accidents but also speed up the work.

Finally, observe a "No Smoking" rule around the barn. And always be on guard for fires.

THE snug midriff reigns supreme in almost every phase of fashion. This means either exercise and dieting or an excellently fitted and made foundation garment. The taut midriff is the focal point of this handsome dress done in sheer black wool. A slit parts the high, round neckline. There are two up-curving bands, one below the bustline, the other below the waist, both buckled center front.

The Man Born Blind

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—John 9.

By Alfred J. Buescher

As Jesus passed by He saw a man who had been blind from birth. His disciples asked, "Who did sin, this man or his parents?" Jesus said, Neither sinned, "but that the works of God should be made manifest in him."

Jesus spat on the ground, made clay and anointed the man's eyes with it, then told him to wash in the pool of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent). The man went as Christ said, washed, "and came seeing."

The neighbors were amazed. Some said, "Is not this he that sat and begged?" Others thought it was not that man, but one like him. The man said, "I am he," and told them how his sight was given to him.

The Pharisees brought the man to them to hear of the miracle. They said Jesus was a sinner, but he said, "The man were not of God He could do nothing," which angered them.

MEMORY VERSE—John 9:25

Only 23 Per Cent Of Registered Mills County Vehicles Have Been Inspected

Captain Roy B. Butler, commanding officer of District Eight of the Texas Highway Patrol, with headquarters at San Angelo, announced today that Highway Patrolmen would begin issuing tickets to persons who operate an auto on the streets and highways after April 15 without a current inspection sticker.

The Patrol Captain said that the men in his command have all received orders to that effect as the result of a directive issued at Austin by Homer Garrison Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety. Butler said that Garrison's order was made following definite instructions from the State Public Safety Commission that enforcement of the modified motor vehicle inspection law which was enacted by the last Legislature would definitely begin following the April 15 inspection deadline.

Captain Butler also pointed out that local and county police officers are empowered to enforce the inspection law.

According to the Patrol commander, only about 18 per cent of the cars in the twenty-one county area have been inspected to date. This means, he said, that car owners who have not yet had their vehicles checked will run the risk of being caught in a last minute "log jam" at the inspection stations if they delay longer in complying with the law.

"Our Patrolmen will continue to issue warnings to motorists whose cars do not bear a current inspection sticker through April 15," Captain Butler said in a prepared statement for the press and radio. "After that date, offenders will face court action."

In Mills County there are 2,639 vehicles registered. Of this number, only 606 or 23%, have been inspected, according to the announcement. There are five official inspection stations in Mills County.

Household Hint

If brown stains show up on garments after they have been dry cleaned, they probably were caused by certain types of sugars commonly used in sweetening candies and beverages. Invisible when fresh, such stains become brown when heated in the cleaning process. Sugar stains on wool usually cannot be removed, once set by heat. However, sugar-alkali stains on linen, cotton, acetate, rayon and other cellulose materials may be removed by acid spotting formulas, such as those used by dry cleaners.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Home Experiences Help Girls Excel Boys in Early Learning

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.
AS most teachers know and as research shows, more boys than girls lag at learning to read in the primary and intermediate grades. In a conference on preventing and correcting poor readers, the cases presented are usually boys.

The chief reason is that, while children enter school at the same age, the average boy is from several months to a year younger in actual development than the average girl.

More Learning at Home
As a rule, little girls are usually more docile, more protected, and take better to learning home conformities than do boys of the same chronological age. Boys usually rove about outdoors more. Presumably, they are read to less in their earlier years than their sisters.

In the home of a girl and a boy who is one or two years her senior, the girl often overtakes the brother in reading, and even in other schoolwork. And when she tries to help him or "breaks in" when a parent helps him, much harm to his learning progress may ensue.

Hand Coordination
Usually, little girls also do better at drawing and writing by hand than boys of the same chronological age. In development and interest, during the early years, girls tend to be ahead of the boys in fine finger and hand coordinations—lots of exceptions, of course.

Many a teacher of the third or fourth grade is vexed over the messy handwriting of some of her boys. Parents may have complaints from a teacher over the bad handwriting of a son nine, ten, or twelve. We had such a complaint concerning one of our boys when he was about eleven. We suggested to him that he work out a kind of manuscript writing, and offered him some models. He was intrigued with the idea, worked at it, and soon learned to write neatly and legibly. Now in his early thirties, he still uses a similar system.

Write from a Model
Some other parents have helped the child who is very poor at handwriting by inducing him to write several lines a day from a good model. It's a good method to write the model on a heavy slip of paper or light cardboard so that by sliding it down the page, the child can always have this model directly above the line he is writing. If you use this plan, don't bother the child about his hand or arm movements or the way he holds his pencil. Just inspire him to learn to write neatly and legibly.

(My bulletin "Parents and the Child's Homework" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)
