MARCH OF EVENTS

Two-Fold Plan Aimed To Get Ike to Run | Would Cut Job Burden, Refrain From Politics

Special to Central Press Association
WASHINGTON—The men close to President Eisenhower are working on a two-fold program which they hope will convince the President that he can serve a second term.

First, they are taking over a larger share of the work due to Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence. Second, they are refraining from discussing Republican politics with the "boss."

They reason that if the President sees that many of his duties can be adequately handled by his staff he will be less reluctant to run for re-election.

They feel that Mr. Eisenhower can then be persuaded to give more time to leadership and making final decisions on critical issues. According to this plan, he would receive complete briefings on all government matters and then set the course of administration policy.

● BENSON'S WOES—While the nation's farm problem has been treated primarily as a purely domestic matter, it has its international aspects, too. For one thing, there is the problem of how to dispose of United States food surpluses overseas without undercutting foreign producers.

The economics of many of America's allies depend to a large extent on their ability to sell agricultural products to other nations, and they would find it difficult, if not impossible, to compete with any glut of American foodstuffs.

Benson recently took note of another international factor. In a letter to the United Nations Food and Agricultural organization in Rome, he warned other nations not to increase food production now just because United States production is being cut back to reduce surplus stocks.

Benson pointed out that American output could be stepped up at any time.

● ECONOMY—Government economists are facing a dilemma, and this is one reason why confusing reports are coming out of Washington on whether credit controls will be relaxed or continued in force.

There has been fear that credit was in danger of being over-extended. So there came orders to make borrowing more difficult and hints to business to stop low down-payments and long-term installment sales of automobiles and other costly items.

However, there is also the fear that if brakes are applied too tightly, sales of cars and houses, important to the entire economy, might drop off. Long-term credit has become a part of such sales.

● TAX OUTLOOK—President Eisenhower is expected to hold out some hope for tax cuts in 1956 when he sends his State of the Union message to Congress in January.

However, there is expected to be no definite decision until April or May, by which time Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey will know how close the administration can come to a balanced budget.

Officially, the administration estimates a $1.7 billion deficit for fiscal 1956, which ends next June 30. However, this figure, according to private economists, is on the "high" side. They say the government is likely to net more revenue from taxes this year than ever before in peacetime.

If the deficit can be whittled close to the break-even point, the odds are that there will be an election-year tax slash. However, if it comes, it is not likely to be a big one.

There was a banquet and program last night at the Goldthwaite Inn, honoring Judge L.

VIC'S . . .
SOLILOQUY

Well here we go again off on a new year with big hopes that it will be a good year. By now folks have had time to start getting settled down to the regular routine after the Christmas and New Year's holidays with all the buzz that goes with them. Some might even have had time to stop and take stock of some of the New Year's resolutions that they made during the holiday season. Some may even have had time to get the idea that some of those resolutions weren't so good after all — just seemed good at the moment — and they are now coming to the time and place where some of them will have to be broken, well maybe not just exactly broken, just altered a bit.

Anyway we hope you had a wonderful holiday season and are off to a good start in the new year. We will go one more than that hope you will have one of the best years that you have ever experienced. Good health, happiness and all that goes with it to make it so.

During the past three weeks there has been considerable mail come across our desk with many friends extending greetings to friends here and other places that are readers of the Eagle.

E. Patterson. A number of his friends participated in the program which was outlined in advance.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Roberts of Rock Springs were called to Copperas Cove Wednesday of last week by a message announcing the serious illness of George Strickland, brother of Mrs. Roberts. His death occurred a short time after the arrival of the Roberts. His funeral was held at Pidcocke Cemetery, Christmas Day.

Judge Charles Edward Bull, the Abe Lincoln of the movies, came in Monday evening on his way to Los Angeles, California, expecting to stop for a short visit with G. M. Long and other former Mills County folks at Midland and other points in the west. He is well remembered and held in high esteem by the people of this county, among whom he spent his early life.

Miss Alta Dennis and J. T. Hart were united in the holy bonds of matrimony on Christmas Eve at the home of Rev. J. D. Long, who officiated, Mullin News.

The marriage of Denton Smith, formerly of Mullin and Miss Bernice Fanning of Carlsbad, New Mexico, took place in Carlsbad on Christmas Day, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Fanning.

Earl and Mina Summy who moved to their new home in Lufkin a short while before the holidays stated: "We are moved and settled—but, not straightened out yet." They report liking it in East Texas and have bought a new home in Lufkin.

From South Gate, California, comes a note from Mrs. Pearl Hunt. She writes: "Enclosed find money order for subscription for my brother, James R. Paine in Sacramento. He and I were long time residents of the Star Community and I believe it will be better for me to send him the paper than sending him clippings each week from mine. Best wishes to your entire staff for a happy holiday season."

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Callaway and Ted of Spearman, Texas, sent their subscription renewal and stated: "Best wishes to the staff and all your many readers. Wishing you and our many friends a happy holiday season. The Callaways moved to Spearman about a year ago.

Mrs. F. C. Gruner, Rt. 4, Amarillo, sent her subscription and one for Mrs. Claude A. Eacott of this city. She said: "I am always so glad to get the paper as I lived there for quite a few years."

From out at Roby, Texas comes a note from Virgie (Mrs. Bob) Johnson, stating in part: "Well, I still say folks should leave home once in a while and they will fine a lot more good in their home when they get back." She sent greetings to home town folks and also enclosed a copy of the Roby Star, weekly paper published there.

G. C. Price writing from Arlington, California: "Find enclosed money order for the Eagle another year. Don't want to miss a single copy. I wish to say to all of my Mills County friends, Hello, and Greetings for a happy holiday season."

We want to present a little bouquet this week on what we think was indeed a very fine job in decorating for Christmas, aside from the many hours of work that are customarily spent on commercial aspects that go with the season.

This job was done by Lucile Fairman, Goldthwaite Postmaster, and members of her staff on the post office building inside and out. While the office naturally receives more traffic, not only during the holiday season but, throughout the year, it is nevertheless not in the class of establishments that make a special bid for their merchandise. They would like their traffic regarding whether they did decorating or not.

We feel that it is certainly commendable for the post office staff to have enough pride to undertake a task such as they did in decorating the post office building for the benefit of the community and their many patrons. If you agree with us, let us know you appreciate it the next time you are in the post office.

This corner wouldn't be complete without extending our cordial invitation to everyone to be sure to attend the Eleventh Annual Mills County Stock Show in Goldthwaite on Monday and Tuesday, January 9 and 10.

Jesus Calls for Repentance

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Scripture—Luke 13:1-35.

By Alfred J. Buescher

Some listening to Jesus told Him that there were Galileans whose blood Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices. Jesus said, "Suppose ye that these Galileans were sinners because they suffered these things? I tell you, Nay, but except ye repent, ye shall likewise perish."

Jesus told a parable of a man whose fig tree bore no fruit for three years. He ordered it cut down. His gardener said to leave it; he would dig about it and fertilize the ground. If it did not bear fruit the next spring, then he would cut it down.

While Jesus was teaching in a synagogue on a Sabbath, He saw a woman bowed down, with an infirmity. Jesus called her to Him, and said, "Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity," and He laid His hands on her and she was made straight.

The ruler of the synagogue was angry because Jesus healed on the Sabbath. Jesus called him a hypocrite. If a man could care for his cattle on a Sabbath, why should not a woman be cured on that day?

Economist Takes A Look At Agriculture Picture For Year 1956

College Station, (Spec)— The cost-price squeeze on agricultural producers is expected to be even tighter in 1956, says John G. McHaney, agricultural economist for the Texas Extension Service.

Farm income for 1955 is now 10 percent under that for the year before and the trend downward is expected to continue into 1956. On the other hand, points out McHaney, production costs for the farmer will remain high and some may increase.

Too, income from crops will be smaller because of reductions brought on by controls and lower prices. Livestock receipts for 1956 could possibly equal those for 1955.

McHaney gives three main factors for the ever-widening gap between the national and farm income. They are the very high rate of agricultural production and the large carryovers of farm products; a considerable drop in farm exports and the inflexibility of cost of production and marketing which have failed to decrease with the farm prices.

The economist expects farm mortgage debts to rise again in 1956. Continued high volume of real estate loans to refinance existing debts in expected and non-real estate debts too are expected to increase. It could all add up to a decline in the liquid financial reserves of agriculturalists.

The international situation is classed as an unknown factor in the overall picture but one that could have tremendous influence. Watch it closely, advises McHaney.

Agricultural producers are advised to give more thought to the economic side of their operations. McHaney says falling farm prices have broke more producers than drouths or too much rain ever did. Net income to farmers and ranchmen fluctuates considerably over a long period and these changes must be considered in planning both short and long time operations.

McHaney is sure that farm families should give more consideration to economic conditions. For as he put it, national and world economic forces are today shaping the prices which will prevail tomorrow, next year and in the next decade.

Agriculture, he concludes, has had its ups and downs and will continue to do so. Plans should be made which allow for these changes.

ing children, Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Walston, (Willie) and Mr. and Mrs. Pat Bayless and Linda of Fort Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Mabry, (Orlene) and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Trumble, (Jerry) of Kempner; Mrs. Letha Cockrell of Texas City, and Mr. and Mrs. Bayless.

Chevrolet Introduces Restyled Corvette

Chevrolet adds another chapter to its pioneering achievements with a new Corvette in the sport car field. Among principal features are a power-actuated fabric top lift and a removable solid top, which like the body is built of reinforced glass fiber plastic. The car has been completely restyled and offers either a manual or Powerglide transmission coupled to a V8 engine of 225 horsepower. In appearance the latest Corvette may be readily distinguished from previous models. Rear fenders sweep downward and the sides of the body carry a sculptured depression. Exterior color choices list black, green, copper, red, blue and white, with the cockpit color-keyed in beige or red.

AIR FORCE JET PILOT KILLED AFTER HITTING AUTOS

FIREMEN PLAY HOSES on the smoldering wreckage of an Air Force T-33 jet trainer plane which over-shot a landing strip at the Los Angeles International Airport, exploded into flames and struck two cars on an adjacent six-lane highway. The woman driving one of the autos was injured, not seriously. The pilot of the jet, Air Force Capt. Dwight M. Cook of Niagara Falls, N.Y., died at a nearby hospital.

FOOT SOLDIER SUPREME

Wars may be fought in the future with applied science, but the infantryman is recognized as the backbone of the United States Army. The Army is built around him. Artillery and Armor support him, the services feed and supply him. No battle is won until he is there. His is the key combat role; in peace, his task is to train for his mission. Here, an infantryman checks the sights of a deadly M16 rifle, just one of the many weapons familiar to a trained United States Army infantry soldier.

Miss Marjorie Whitt Becomes Bride Of Billy Joe Gunter, December 31st.

Miss Marjorie Whitt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Austin Whitt of Goldthwaite, became the bride of Billy Joe Gunter, of Austin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gunter of San Saba, in a simple but impressive double ring ceremony held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Martin of Big Valley, December 31, 1955, at 6:00 o'clock in the evening.

Vows were exchanged before a mantle which was centered with an arrangement of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums, flanked by tall white candles. Mrs. Peggy Dickinson of Austin, sister of the groom lighted the candles, and Silas Shotwell, minister of the Big Valley Church of Christ performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a white fall dress fashioned with three quarter length sleeves, high neckline, with white velvet collar. The fitted waist pointed in front and had tiny white velvet buttons down the center. The full gathered skirt was ballerina length. She carried a white and pink carnation bouquet with white streamers, atop a white Bible. The traditional something old, new, borrowed and blue was carried out by the bride.

Mrs. Whitt, mother of the bride wore a brown suit with brown and white accessories and Mrs. Gunter, mother of the groom wore a rose beige suit with brown and beige accessories. Both wore pink carnation corsages.

Only members of the families and a few close friends attended the wedding. A reception and wedding trip were canceled due to the illness of the bride's father.

When the couple left for Austin the bride was wearing a golden brown frock with pink and white accessories.

Whitehead, publisher of the Brenham Banner-Press, is director of a statewide campaign for funds with which to finance the project.

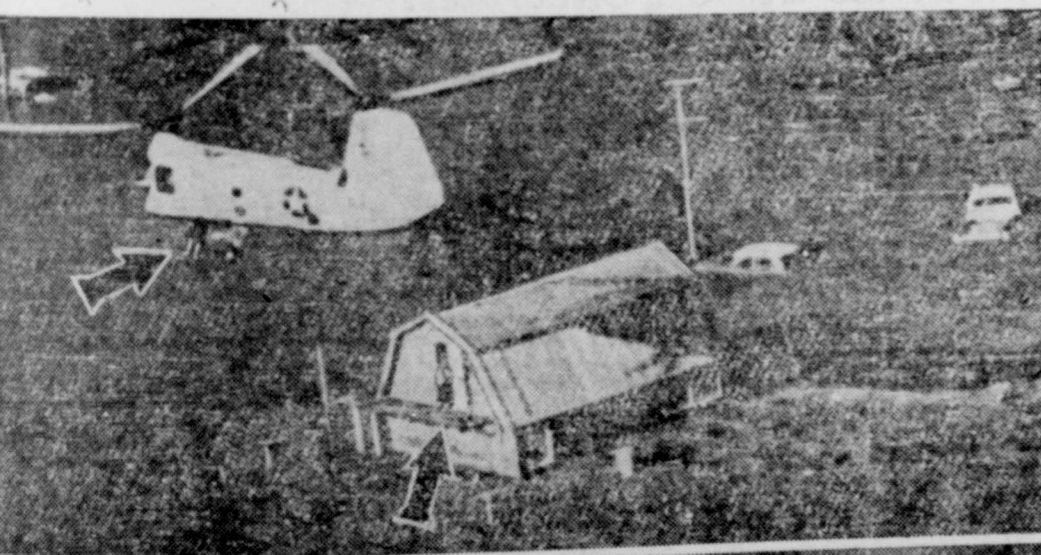

Draped Dress

By VERA WINSTON

CHIFFON is enjoying a brisk revival, as is red. Put 'em together and you come up with a devastating dress, as, for example, this charmer. It is draped over the bosom to the snug midriff which is done in zigzag tuckling. The skirt is pleated in narrow pleats from the waist and released into graceful folds for a full skirt. A most useful and attractive dinner dress, simple but most effective.

FLOODS REACH NEW CREST IN CALIFORNIA

A HELICOPTER HAULS Carol Ratliff (arrow, top) from a flooded barn in Yuba City, Calif., as her sister, Pat (arrow), waits at a window. Both girls had just seen their aunt slip from the helicopter sling and disappear into the flood waters. At least 35 persons are dead, scores are missing and 50,000 are homeless with new crests expected in the rich Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. At bottom, automobiles find the going rough just a few miles south of San Francisco. Days of torrential rains throughout the northern California area are blamed for the disaster. (International Soundphotos)

January 16 Is Important Date

Taxpayers making quarterly installments on individual estimated income tax should mark January 16 in their date book. This, according to Mr. Cheatham of the Brownwood office of the Revenue Service is the deadline for paying the final installment on 1955 estimated tax. January 16 is also the last day to amend a prior declaration of estimated tax return to avoid possible penalties for underestimation.

Farm And Ranch Operators Have Social Security Responsibility Now

BY JAMES B. MARLEY
District Manager of the Austin Social Security Office

Many operators of farms and ranches have a social security responsibility to meet for the first time in January. These are employers of farm or ranch labor who heretofore have not been required to report wages because their employees did not meet the regularity-of-work test which applied to farm labor before 1955.

In my next article, I shall describe Form 943 and explain the entries that must be made on this form by every farm or ranch operator who paid wages taxable for social security purposes in 1955.

THE NEW BEL AIR SPORT COUPE

Who wouldn't mistake this new Chevrolet for a high-priced car! It looks strictly "upper bracket" with its bold new Motoramic styling... its longer, lower hood... its proud new full-width grille. But, even beyond the costly appearance of its beautiful Body by Fisher, Chevy gives the high-priced cars a run for their money. It brings you lightning acceleration for safer passing. Horsepower ranges up to 205! All engines now have hydraulic-hushed valve lifters. Besides, you get safety door latches in all models. You can also have seat belts, with or without shoulder harness, and instrument panel padding at extra cost. Come highway-test a Chevrolet!

GI WINS CAMPAIGN FOR KOREAN WAIFS

WPC. FRITZ MUELLER, 22, of South Bend, Ind., realizes his ambition of playing year-round Santa Claus (top) as he looks over some of the homeless and blind Korean waifs for whom he built an orphanage (bottom). He walked into considerable Army red tape, however, because he purchased Korean land in an off-limit area; used a jeep without permission and "borrowed" Army supplies for the home. For these "offenses," he has been forgiven by officers who decided to bend the rules.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Of all El Paso's many beautiful Christmas decorations, the Star on the mountain is the most unique and interesting to me. Every night before I go to bed, I can peep through my bedroom window and see it. I never thought of its being very large, but it is very bright and beautiful, perfectly symmetrical, and seems to lie flat on the mountain side. But the El Paso Herald Post says, "The giant star measures 459 feet from top to bottom, 278 feet from point to point, and is placed at a 30 degree tilt on the mountain side. The El Paso Electric Co., which set up the star, installed 459 day-light blue, 150-Watt-type globes placed 4 to 5 feet apart on steel cables hung from 6 to 30 feet above the mountain slope. The star is visible to the east some 35 miles, and can be seen by airline passengers 100 miles away."

El Paso went all out for Christmas, remembering generously the needy and the unfortunate. All the houses on our street had beautiful Christmas trees with lots of presents underneath. Christmas morning was very merry at our house. We each got presents that made us happy, and to cap everything off, there stood out front a brand new, turquoise and ivory Chevy.

John got an electric train, a doctor's kit, and a Joe Friday's outfit. He has been saying since that he is part doctor and part Joe Friday, but he finally de-Oxley, who is with the Armed Services in Europe.

He is survived also by his widow, Mrs. Isa Oxley; 15 grandchildren; 6 great-grandchildren; 1 sister, Mrs. Viola Andrews, Bellville, Texas and a host of nieces and nephews.

Six nephews acted as pallbearers. They were: Jack Warren, Ralph Warren, Edwin Henry, Orvin Neal Henry, Max Henry, Cody Davis Jr.

Deacons of the First Baptist Church, Mullin, were honorary pallbearers.

"Glad to get the news about the place. I always regarded it as a sort of spiritual home due to the few visits I had there—few but impressive on me during an impressionable time of life. I refer particularly to the trip we made in 1917. When Grandpa was still alive. It was the last time I ever saw him. We went through in a wagon, Eugenia, Florence (his sisters), and their husbands, Thelma (another sister), and my friend, Joe Ewing. Aunt Nellie Malone was along. She had been visiting us in Johnson County (Cleburne). When we arrived at the place there with its fishing, swimming, fruit, and good meals provided by Grandma, Aunt Callie, and Aunt Edna—it was a paradise to anyone my age (17). It will always be a high spot in my memory." At this point Billy left the table and went into the room where his Granddad was and said, "I wish those girls would quit talking about those good old times. It makes me feel left out."

I lament the passing of Mrs. E. J. Miller (Miss Willie Jenkins). Her father, the late Judge C. H. Jenkins, and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Spillers, were friends of my father. He had known them in the Blackland Country. It was to James H. Jenkins (I think a relative) of the law firm of Jenkins and Muse of McKinney that my father in 1884 traded 50 acres of Collin County land for a 3/4 interest in a 1357-acre tract along the Colorado River in what was then Brown County. The first time I ever got to go to Daniel Baker College (An Alu-mini program) there on the stage sat Miss Willie Jenkins, a dainty little figure in a beautiful white organdy dress. I could never forget her. I noticed the account of the funeral of Bud Lee at Regency. He was Ebony's last postmaster.

 Some Tempting Entrees For Informal Meals

By ALICE DENHOFF
 ONCE upon a time when dining was more formal than it is in this hurry-up age, the entree preceded the principal meat dish, but today's informal living accepts the entree as the main dish of the meal. So here are some entrees, main dishes as distinguished from roasts or fowl.

One really does a superb job of taking care of leftover turkey; another features oysters, which are in season again.

Oyster Casserole
 For Deviled Oysters to serve 4, have ready 2 1/2 c. toasted bread cubes, 1 pt. oysters and 3/4 c. chopped celery. Alternate layers of these in 4 greased individual casseroles.

Melt 2 tbs. butter in a saucepan. Blend in 3 tbs. flour, tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. pepper, 1/4 tsp. each paprika and dry mustard, 2 tbs. prepared horseradish, tsp. Worcestershire sauce and tsp. lemon juice. Add 1 1/2 c. milk and cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Pour the cream sauce over all. Bake in hot oven for 20 min. at 400° F.

Turkey Bechamel, for all its grand name, is a turkey leftover dish, but a superb one.
 To serve 6-8, melt 3 tbs. turkey fat or butter in a saucepan. Add 3/4 c. butter or chopped mushrooms and saute for 5 min.

 Blend in 3 tbs. flour, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg and tsp. minced onion. Add 1 c. turkey bouillon, 3/4 c. milk and 1/4 c. cream or evaporated milk; cook until thick, stirring constantly.

Have at hand, 3 1/2 c. baked stuffing and 1 1/2 c. sliced cooked turkey. Alternate these with the sauce in a greased 1 1/2 qt. casserole, using sauce as top layer. Sprinkle 1/2 tsp. paprika on top. Bake at 350° F. for 40 min.

Swiss Favorite
 Folks who go abroad, especially to Switzerland, invariably come home and rave about the superb cheese fondues served there. Here is a good fondue, one that uses tuna instead of cheese.

To serve 4, combine 1 c. milk and 1 pt. soft bread crumbs in a medium-sized bowl. Add tsp. salt and 1/4 tsp. curry powder to 4 egg yolks; beat until stiff.

Blend egg yolks with bread mixture and add a 7-oz. can tuna (flaked), tbs. chopped parsley and 2 tbs. chopped pimiento. Mix well.

Fold 4 stiffly beaten egg whites into fish mixture. Bake in 4 greased individual casseroles in a slow oven (325° F.) for 40 min. or until light and golden brown.

Farmers' Income Tax Service
 All self-employed farm operators were brought within the social security system for the first time January 1, 1955. Some farmers will have optional methods of computing their income on 1955 income tax returns that will result in an increase in the self-employment tax but will result in greater credit toward social security benefits.

Farmers who have not made declarations of estimated income tax must file returns between January 1, 1956 and February 15, 1956 for 1955 income tax.

Income Tax Reporting Information Farm And Ranch Operators

College Station, (Spec)—Farm operators should be aware of the fact that their income tax reports are not due until February 15, 1956. The deadline for filing the returns was January 31, 1955.

A ruling was made in 1955 but was not announced in time to affect many taxpayers, says C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist.

There is an exception, points out Bates. Every farm employer who owes the two percent employer tax and the two percent employee tax must file a return on Form 943, and pay the taxes, on or before January 31, 1956. Farm employers should file their returns on time in order to avoid the penalty which may be charged for late filing.

For the first time this year self employed farmers who net $400 or gross $800 or more annually are subject to reporting for social security benefits. The Act was amended by Congress in 1954 and applies to farm and ranch income for 1955.

Because of the possibility of retirement benefits and insurance features of the plan, farm

Adopts Kangaroo

A BABY kangaroo that was tossed out of its mother's pouch in the Baltimore zoo is tended by Mrs. Louella Earl. The parent, who appears to have no taste for carrying around her offspring, evicted another baby last April. Mrs. Earl tried to raise the previous castoff, but it died of pneumonia. Although the newcomer is supposed to stay in the mother's pouch for another two months, Mrs. Earl is making a second try at raising a kangaroo. (International)

Supplemental Feeding Of Protein Important To Next Year's Calf Crop

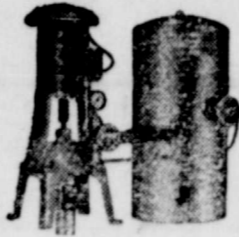

College Station, (Spec)—The amount of protein consumed by cows in the beef breeding herd has a strong bearing on the size of the next calf crop, Extension Animal Husbandman U. D. Thompson says research conducted at the Beltsville Research Center points up the importance of supplying supplemental protein to the cow herd.

The research showed that when only two-thirds of a cow's protein requirements are fed, a 64 percent calf crop was produced. When the cows received enough protein to meet their requirements, the calf crop rose to 93 percent.

Wintering cows, according to Thompson, each day need a total amount of protein equal to that provided by two and a half to three pounds of 41 percent protein cottonseed meal or cake.

The amount of supplemental protein needed, he adds, will depend upon the protein content of the roughages or pasture forage available. But generally, feeding the protein supplement at a rate of two pounds per head per day will supply the requirements for the beef cow herd.

and ranch operators should study the procedure for reporting. Each person will need a social security number before making report for benefits and paying the tax.

Information on various phases of tax reporting says Bates, may be obtained either from county extension agents or the Social Security and Internal Revenue offices. Even if copies are available only for study, persons interested will find the reference covers the self-employment phases in some detail. A helpful booklet, "Farmers' Tax Guide for 1955", is available in limited quantity from county extension service offices.

PARENT PROBLEMS

Don't Be A Child's Toy

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

VERY often, a parent is a plaything which the child operates. The youngster may use this toy longer than any other, beginning in his early months and continuing until the toy is worn out or disappears.

Trial and Error

Nobody had to teach him how to run it. Through random manipulation or trial and error, he hit on the way by accident. Observing his successes, he repeats them just as an infant does with his other playthings.

With added experience and increasing age, he has accumulated rich resources on which he can draw at any time. Before long, he begins to plan, to think and reason. Who can doubt that he therefore acquires a great deal of skill in influencing people, for the rest of his life?

Educational Toys

When he operates his parents as playthings, they are surely toys which educate. From operating them he might acquire more education, indeed, than from all the toys taken together that they have purchased for him.

He might, of course, become the most famous leader in the underworld. By and by, he might excel as a hold-up man, bank robber or murderer and evade the law for years, even all his life, thanks to the education he has received, operating his parents as playthings. We can't deny that he's been educated. Yet, from the experiences of the human race and our ideals of social values, his education can hardly be called good and useful.

Robot Parents

Before he is many weeks old, he may wind up his father and mother as robots to carry or teeter him for hours and hours, night after night. At one, two or four he may press a button that makes his mother take him into bed with her at any time in the night. So good may this gadget be, that he can use it for years and years.

After he goes to bed when he is two, five or eight, he may operate his parents as a toy to keep running to his bedside for an hour or more to minister to his whims. If this toy gets a little hard to operate, his creative mind invents accessories and attaches a few other accessories.

By the trial and error methods, he may have learned at one, two or three to operate his parents by means of crying, screaming or going into violent rage. Indeed, he may continue for years and years to use a tantrum so well as to operate the whole family as though they were puppets.

(My bulletin "Tantrums" may be had by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to me in care of this newspaper.)

Crop Rotation Checks Plant Disease

College Station.— Plant diseases common to a particular area are greatly reduced by growing different crop varieties and using proper crop rotation methods, says Harlan E. Smith, extension plant pathologist. While one variety in a community is desirable from certain marketing viewpoints, it usually sets up ideal conditions for development and increase of disease.

Farmers growing principally one field crop variety are apt to find diseases more widespread and severe. By interspersing varieties in a community, such widespread diseases are likely to be checked. Varieties often differ in susceptibility and resistance to disease, thus disease producing spores from one variety may not easily infect another.

A community having one variety of cotton is not likely to have the disease damage that may be found in a one-variety community of oats, wheat, barley, rye, corn, sorghum, or rice. This depends upon whether the proper crop-rotation practices have been followed.

One variety of cotton grown continuously on one field, however, increases soil-borne disease organisms, as well as those carried through the air. Therefore, there is the possibility of greater disease damage. This may be lessened by growing first one variety of cotton and then another on the land, or by the use of other preventive measures. This principle applies equally to most crops, but it is not as effective as a disease control measure as crop rotation.

Some of the many diseases made worse by one-variety communities are leaf rust, smuts on oats, leaf spot diseases on rice and covered kernel smut sorghum. If crop rotations are not used in cotton, angular leaf spot, boll rots and seedling blight disease are more severe.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Gallo-way and son Stevie of Searcy, Arkansas and Mrs. Otis Johnston and son of Lubbock were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Dellis.

John Deere Day Show Is Monday Night

Pictured here is a typical scene from the picture "Tim's Choice" which will be the feature film in the annual John Deere Day Show to be presented by Harper Implement Company at the Melba Theatre here this coming Monday night. According to announcement by J. D. Harper the six full-color film program will start at 7:00 o'clock p.m. The feature picture is built around the activities of our modern rural youngsters. Their hopes, and anxieties and lovable antics as they vie with one another for youth activity honors give the picture a home-like atmosphere and makes the viewer feel that he is part of the picture. There are plenty of humorous episodes and just enough tense moments to suit the realistic setting in the home life of typical farm family. Threaded throughout the story is a philosophy which all will find to their liking. It's a swiftly moving, happy-type of movie that thrills by its very simplicity.
