

VIC'S . . .

SOLILOQUY

THE NEW CENSORSHIP BUREAU!

All sorts of political attacks have been launched against the independent electric companies of the United States by advocates of Federal programs for development and distribution of electric power, financed by the taxpayers and free from taxation.

One of the most unfair examples of methods used to prevent private companies from protecting themselves against a Federal power monopoly is a ruling by the Bureau of Internal Revenue that to be deductible, advertising expenses must be ordinary and necessary and bear "a reasonable relationship to the business activities in which the enterprise is engaged." If advertising in opposition to socialized Federal power, to protect the savings of tens of thousands of stockholders from subsidized government competition, doesn't bear "a reasonable relationship to the business activities in which the enterprise is engaged" it would be hard to know what does.

Are the investigators of the Bureau of Internal Revenue to be censured to decide on the wording of each power company advertisement? Are they to be made part of the machine to advance socialism in the United States? If they are, this will be the biggest mass censorship of free speech ever attempted in a free nation. If electric power companies can be muzzled in this manner, the same rule can be applied to any other advertising that opposes government competition with private citizens. It is only a step further to penalize an editor for opposing editorially specified government policies.

The politicians who figured out Internal Revenue Bureau penalties for free expression of ideas on a public issue should be given a medal by Mr. Khrushchev.

LABOR IS RIGHT

In the view of the AFL-CIO Committee on Political Education, "Political Action and Political Education is a year-round job." Commenting on that, the president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States said: "I think they are right. If business men want public officials who are friendly to business—who are dedicated to the philosophy of limited government and the free market system—we must roll up our sleeves and get to work at the precinct and ward levels where political decisions are made and office holders chosen."

The AFL-CIO Committee works tirelessly and often effectively on behalf of candidates who share and support its political aims and views. If those who have other aims and views fail to provide a matching force to balance labor's political work, a government, socialistic in direction, is coming as surely as tomorrow morning.

SLAVES HAD "SECURITY"

The following editorial is reprinted from the New Plymouth, Idaho, Valley Sentinel:

"We used to put a pretty high price on freedom in this country. As the settlers headed west for the privations and hardships of months of crawling, dusty travel, all they asked of government was to keep foreigners out of their hair while they fought off the Indians, starvation and any other obstacle to their freedom to make and build a new life in a new land.

"Today we seem to be willing to piddle away this freedom for 'security,' security from hunger, want and hardship guaranteed by government.

"We forget that the plantation slaves of the south had all these things we prize so highly today as long as they had kind, benevolent masters. The only price they paid for it was their freedom.

"We, too, can have complete security at the same price but who can guarantee that our masters will always be kind and benevolent?"

FOLLOW THIS LEAD

Two top officials of this government have spoken out in favor of tax reform.

One is Secretary of the Treasury Anderson. In his opinion, anticipated economic growth eases the way for such reform. He added: "We are firmly convinced that the tax structure must be further improved so as to provide the minimum of interference with the incentive of individuals, which is so basically important to our free enterprise system."

The other is Vice President Nixon. He says that "our goal should be to fashion a tax structure which will create more jobs, more income and more genuine security."

The ways in which tax revenue is raised can be as important a matter as the volume of the revenue. Our tax system, which has been developed in a disordered and helter-skelter fashion, tends to discourage initiative. It is a massive obstacle in the way of the growth of the smaller businesses. It is a depressant on investment. It is a threat to the very foundations of representative government and personal liberty.

THE WRATH OF GOD

This is a term which has been almost completely rejected, but the consideration of which might help us to strengthen our stand for the standards of righteousness and of opposition to sin. Many have come to think of the wrath of God as belonging to an "old God" of the Old Testament, a God of anger, replaced by the God of love revealed by Jesus. There is but one God, revealed indeed by Jesus, "The same yesterday, today and forever."

The wrath of God is inseparable from the love of God, for God cannot be divided or separated from His nature and supreme motive, which is self-giving love. Let me give you my definition of the "Wrath of God." It is God's unchangeable and absolute love that will not condone our sin because He knows what it is and what it does to us. It is love standing firm for holiness and righteousness. It is the disciplinary love of God that loves his children so fully that He can correct and discipline them in love. It is not anger or revenge applied to them but to their sins. His discipline is for correction and redemption.

The wrath of God is seen in the judgment, that no matter who violates them God's standards of right and wrong will stand secure; "Whoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap." "You can't do wrong and get by." It is not anger, revenge or hate; rather it is love that never fails, that never ceases to be love. It is the father of the prodigal son who never ceases to love his son, but who would not turn his home into a ribald tavern of drunkenness and immorality in order to keep his son from leaving home when he had set his head on those things, but who was ever ready to forgive and restore the son upon his return in sincere penitence. Remember then, "The wrath of God is His unchangeable and absolute love that will not condone our sin because He knows what it is and what it does to us." It is love standing secure.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights

by Vern Sanford

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

BOTTLE BABY—Chardash, a motherly dog at the Birch Hill Game Park near Brewster, N. Y., takes over the feeding chores to make sure her friend is well fed. She is holding in her mouth a bottle of milk for a two-weeks-old fawn born at the park.

As Texas' "Budget" roars on in its 1959 climax, almost a new state-ment brings a new estimate of the probable size of the budget. Usually worse than last year's, $405,000,000, the amount being a balance sheet for the fiscal year.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert and Legislative Budget Director Vernon A. McGee combined to present a frankly pessimistic picture for the Texas Research League meeting in Austin.

McGee said the general revenue fund will need $279,000,000 during the next two years to keep things going as they are. Calvert estimated that the present tax structure would put $125,000,000 into general revenue during this period.

This leaves a gap of $154,000,000 between estimated income and outgo. In addition, Calvert estimated the general revenue fund will be $55,600,000 in arrears by the end of the present fiscal year in August, 1959.

Research League is composed of several hundred leaders in Texas business and professions whose private contributions support research in the interest of governmental efficiency. Much of the League staff's time during the past year has been devoted to assisting the State Tax Study Commission in a mammoth survey of Texas' revenue and tax problems.

CAN DO—Gov. Price Daniel took a "we can lick this thing" attitude in a press conference on taxes.

Daniel said he felt the deficit could be erased and new revenue needs met without a general sales tax or income tax. Taxes we have presently could be raised to the maximum level used in other states, said the governor. And other taxes—not sales or income—could be added.

Daniel also indicated that he was not fully convinced that the gap between income and needs would be as large as the $154,000,000 mentioned by the comptroller.

He would not definitely say now, said the governor, that he would or would not veto sales or income tax bills if passed by the Legislature. But he made it clear that he did not favor them, and that he thought there were better possibilities.

Daniel praised state agencies who reduced their budget requests a total of $1,490,631. Overall, the budget requests had run $272,000,000 higher than for the present biennium.

HOSPITAL SPENDING AXED—Possibility of more drastic cutting loomed when the Legislative Budget Board voted to reject some of the appropriations being sought by the State Hospital System.

It voted to lop $8,000,000 off the system's requested operating fund and disapprove spending $5,500,000 for a new mental hospital in the Gulf Coast area.

Budget Board recommended a slight increase in money for the Texas Youth Council. But it voiced a "thumbs down" attitude toward setting up a state-supported paid parole system for juvenile delinquents.

Legislative Budget Board is made up of 5 members from the House and 5 from the Senate who, with staff assistance, screen appropriation requests in advance and make recommendations to the Legislature.

PULLING UP—Two state agencies who've gotten blank marks in past years got basically good report cards in the summaries given by analysts for the Texas Research League meeting.

State Insurance Department has made many improvements in the year since its reorganization, said one researcher. He predicted that an era of better regulation would result in saving to policyholders and fewer company failures.

State Welfare Department was described as "basically well-administered" in comparison to some years ago when it was the source of dissatisfaction.

In the welfare field, the League was told, Texas can expect increased spending in the future. Texas now spends 18 per cent of its tax money or $173,000,000 a year on welfare. But other states are "more generous," observed the researcher.

SALARY FORMULA—Budget Board also is giving attention to drawing up a bill setting up a salary schedule for state employees.

Its purpose would be to guarantee "like pay for like work" throughout state departments. It would be based on a job classification study recently made by the Texas Employment Commission.

Public school and college teachers and persons in executive positions would not be included.

Budget Board members commented that in some departments a person doing stenographic work may be called an "administrative assistant" and get much more money than a person doing stenographic work in another department.

ANTI-CRIME LAWS—New laws and institutions to deal more forcefully with Texas' soaring crime rate may be a major topic for the next Legislature.

County and district attorneys meeting in Austin were asked by Governor Daniel to help in the job of strengthening and plugging the loopholes in Texas' law enforcement structure.

Daniel said that at the present rate Texas will have a 28 per cent increase in crime in three years.

Too often, said the governor, criminals escape punishment through hairline technicalities in the laws. He also urged (1) state-paid parole supervisors for juveniles, (2) a second boys training school to separate serious offenders from those for whom there is more hope, and (3) stricter narcotics laws.

DON'T CUT OFF NOSE—U. S. Senator Ralph Yarborough is urging Texas liberal Democrats not to scratch Gov. Price Daniel's name on the general election ballot regardless of how they may feel about him.

Senator Yarborough warned delegates to the State AFL-CIO convention that each precinct gets one delegate for every 25 votes cast for the party's gubernatorial nominee. If a liberal area casts a small vote for governor, it will have a small delegation to the next party convention and less chance of gaining control.

If you scratch the governor's name, said Yarborough, who has been at odds with Daniel for years, "you'll be cutting off your nose to spite your face."

HE'S NO HELP—Texas Democratic Party leaders said National Chairman Paul Butler is deliberately destroying party unity efforts by stirring up integration issue.

Butler's statement: "There will be no compromise on the integration problem. The people of the South who are not deeply dedicated to the philosophy of the Democratic Party will have to go their own way."

Said Governor Daniel: "We have been doing our best to settle these conflicts within the party and keep it big and strong enough to include people who do not share the same view."

"Statements like Butler's," said the governor, "will make the task more difficult."

We have experienced some disagreeable weather the past week, heavy showers, mist and cooler weather. Several folks at Goldthwaite Saturday told of frost and seeing ice. A. L. Crawford reported frost at his farm. We did not see much sign of frost on the mountain. It was cooler and an inch of rain fell here during the week.

The Long Hunting Club members chased and killed a fox at the Jess Ivy farm Thursday night.

A large crowd attended the football game Thursday night and Hallowe'en Carnival Friday night. Priddy and Gustine played and the score was 33 and 26 in favor of Gustine.

On one of the warm afternoons the past week Mrs. Hugh Nowell went to the field to drive the cows in and she walked up on a big rattlesnake. She threw all the rocks she could find at the snake and called for help. She could not make Mr. Nowell hear her so she went to hunt more rocks. When she returned she did not find the snake.

William G. Crawford did a little hunting over the weekend and reported good luck.

Lou Stahnke was gathering wood Thursday afternoon and his grandson, Clinton Wesson, gave him a helping hand with the work.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

El Paso has been having rain. Rainfall for the year has passed the 17 inch mark at the most since 1881. For the year is 6.07. I remember Sunday as we went to church the sky was gray all day and it rained. Monday was a rainy day, and it rained all night. Tuesday was also rainy, but also miserably. Wednesday it rained and I was supposed to wash clothes and get them all done. The maid to come next day. It was impossible to get anything dry, but at last I got a happy thought. The car was busy and washed clothes. When Grace got into the car, we took her to a nearby dryer and she stayed.

Monday night about 700 people and civic leaders attended a dinner in the Austin

High School Cafeteria. It was sponsored by the El Paso Teachers Association. L. P. Sturgeon, director of public relations for the State Teachers Association, was the speaker of the evening. He discussed the studies of the Hale-Aiken Committee. Mr. Sturgeon said he had only been to El Paso once before, and that time he landed in a 9 inch snow storm. And now this time a cold rain storm.

A letter from Mrs. Edna Dwyer, dated Oct. 14, said it was cool and raining a little, but that it was dry and they needed a good rain. She had returned home from staying with Miss Cora Posey Oct. 4. Miss Cora was getting along fine. She could get in her wheel chair by herself and go all over the house. Mrs. Elmer Posey took Mrs. Dwyer to Brownwood and she spent the weekend with her friend, Mrs. Lena Crowder, and her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Wilmeth. Mrs. Dwyer attended church at Goldthwaite Sunday and had dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Charm Whittenburg.

The Mitchells write that it is cold and rainy at Beaumont. They called on some friends Sunday afternoon and got back home to find that the Austin Caywers had stopped by to see them on their way back to Victoria from Orange. Ruth said they were terribly disappointed to have missed them.

Johnny had a birthday Friday, Oct. 24. He was seven. His Mommy gave him a birthday party Saturday, just invited the children in our block and nearby. Some of the mothers came too. OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

Announcement of the lease of 30 acres of land at Port Mansfield by the State Parks Board is much more important to Texas' recreation program than the size of the property might indicate.

Port Mansfield isn't a new spot on the Texas coast. It's been there for years. But during the last year more people have come to know about it than for all the rest of the time it has been there.

Located at the end of a farm to market road, 25 miles east of Raymondville, it is one of the best fishing spots on the Texas coast. It can be reached over U. S. Highway 77 through Kingsville, south of Raymondville; or over U. S. Highway 181, south of Falfurrias to San Manuel, thence due east until paved State Highway 186 leads to the Gulf.

To give you a better idea, Port Mansfield is just 325 miles from Austin.

For a long time Port Mansfield has been a good fishing spot. But, it was hard to get to and had practically no accommodations. Today Port Mansfield has more covered modern boat stalls and better launching ramps than perhaps any other spot on the Texas coast. The boat stalls are on a basin provided by the Willacy County Navigation District.

Another important feature of going to Port Mansfield is the motel accommodations. Latest model is by Sid Wheless, who built the famous Bar-K ranch near Austin. He has just constructed a modern motel on the banks of the bay waters. It is a place where the entire family can go. It has comfortable beds, nice rooms, a good eating place and is less than one hundred feet from the water.

Recently a group of Texas newspaper men spent the weekend at Wheless' Red Fish Motel. It was just after the democratic convention. Their nerves were on edge and they wanted to get away from it all. So Wheless invited them to come to Port Mansfield and fish for a few days.

PICTURE OF DEATH—A police photographer's flash illuminates a scene that depicts the horrors of narcotic addiction. The body of Herbito Rodriguez, 19, was found under a railroad trestle in the Bronx, N. Y. There was no evidence of violence. An autopsy revealed cause of death—"overdose of narcotics."

Usually the best time to go fishing anywhere is just before you get there or just after you left. This case was the exception, however.

The scribes hit two wonderful days of fishing. Everyone hauled away an ice box filled with some of the most beautiful trout you ever saw. Out there in the waters of Laguna Madre they were so busy pulling in those yellowmouths and playing with skipjacks that they were able to forget completely for a few hours the political squabbles they had been sitting through for several weeks.

Wheless had several good boats. Some of the Valley people brought other boats, to provide ample boating facilities. The Raymondville Chamber of Commerce gave a barbecue on Saturday night. There the people of Raymondville, who have been promoting the sport project, told of their hopes and dreams of developing a real port at this location on the Texas coast.

People of Willacy County already have spent $2,500,000 on the project. This includes the dredging of a cut through Padre Island, to connect the Gulf of Mexico with the mainland. Unfortunately, the cut was completed last year just before a tropical disturbance hit, causing the cut to fill up too much for large boats.

Fishing boats still can go through the cut, however, to just about the finest fishing to be found anywhere.

Most of the fishing done by the newsmen was in Laguna Madre, only a short distance from the motel. Practically all the fish were caught by following the gulls.

There were two or three men to the boat. They would ride along the intra-coastal canal in a nice trout.

Most of our fishing was done on light tackle. I was using a Mitchell light action rod and an Ambassadeur reel. Another fellow in the boat with me had the same equipment, while the third was using a Mitchell 300. I am just mentioning this to show the type of equipment we had for fast fishing. Most of us were using either 8 or 10 pound monofilament line. It stood up well and we lost very few lures.

The specs hit on anything. One of our party had a home-made jig he used exclusively. Before we went out he offered to sell one to the lucky buyer for $5. "After I get started fishing the price will double," he said. He looked at a Bingo that L. A. Wilke was using and announced that Wilke couldn't catch a spec on it. But he did. Then he went to a Pico perch. It brought in a nice trout. Then he tried one of those Hump salt water lures. It landed a fish.

By this time Wilke (who is an expert fisherman) wanted to find out what they wouldn't hit on. So, he opened his tackle box and offered practically everything in it. Finally he settled on the Dixie Jet. He let it sink to the bottom to get away from the skipjacks. Then he'd jiggle it a little, about like fishing for sandies, and the next thing he knew he had a trout.

We quit fishing about 10:30 each morning and rested until mid-afternoon. Billy Disch, Austin marine dealer who fishes a lot, came in the second morning and announced that he had caught so many fish he never cared to catch another. He did, however, that very afternoon.

It was too tempting to resist.

Also fishing with the newspaper men were Dave Hawk, who has won more championships this year than any other fisherman in Texas; Doug English, who makes the Old English lures; and Earl Humphries of El Campo, who makes the Hump lures. English and Hawk both live in Corpus Christi.

With this sort of fishing you can bet that the State Parks Board's new park will bring in many other people to Port Mansfield.

It's a beautiful drive. You see wild deer, turkey and javelina along the highway before you get there. And at the end of the road you find fabulous fishing.

Two Rifles In One—New dual-purpose "all around" rifles that handle either small game or deer, are attracting today's hunters. Savage 110, for example, is made for the versatile new .243 and .308 cartridges—as well as the long established 30/06 and .270. These new rifles are shorter, handier, lighter—yet pack slammung power, high accuracy and long range performance.

Esso Extra Out-performs many gasolines selling for 1¢ more!

Esso Extra sells for premium—not super-premium—price, but it out-performs many gasolines selling for 1c to 2c more.

Out-performs them in clean-burning characteristics: it burns so clean that spark-plugs last up to 50% longer.

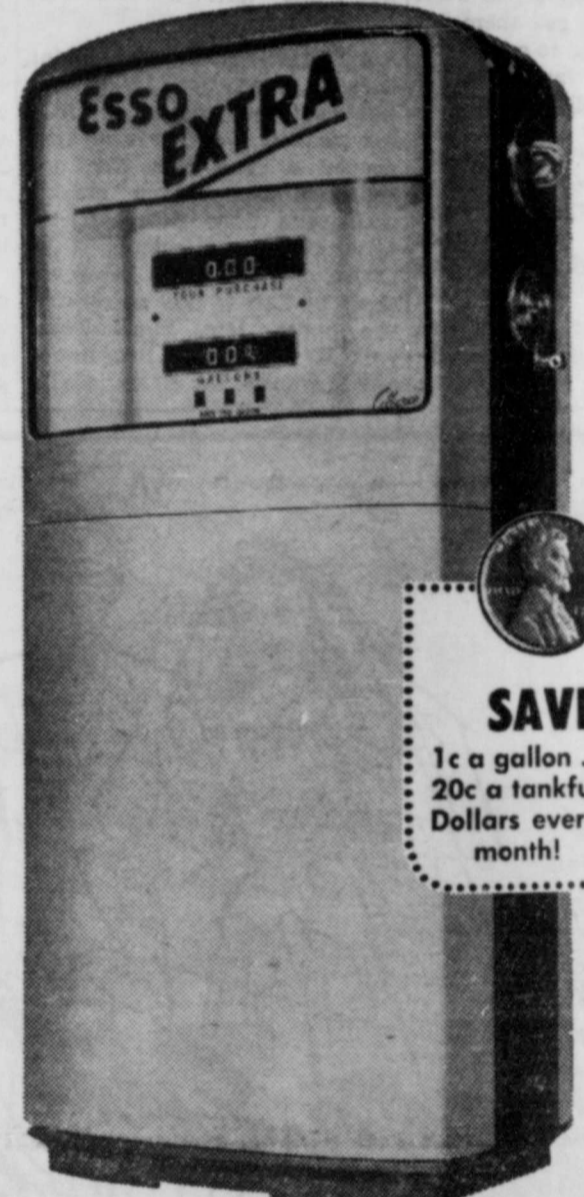

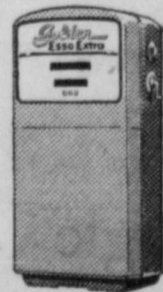

Out-performs them in anti-knock operation: its octane rating is high—higher, in fact, than the octane rating of many gasolines for which motorists pay a super-premium price.

Out-performs them in quick starting . . . in smooth, safe acceleration . . . in mileage.

Esso Extra is the No. 1 premium in Texas . . . first in premium sales . . . first in premium performance.

Golden Esso Extra in a quality class by itself

This superior gasoline stands out as the best gasoline to use in any car in any price class. It is the only gasoline that will give you all the performance you paid for when you bought your modern car. It has highest octane rating; it eliminates engine "bucking" as you start, engine "rumble" as you drive, and engine knock as you accelerate. A must for cars with air-conditioning, power brakes and power steering. It's the gasoline for the 1959 models.

Use this great gasoline in your car. You'll prefer its performance, you'll like its mileage, and most of all, you'll be pleased with its economy.

Fill up under the Humble sign in your neighborhood. Every time!

CARE OF LAWN

Grasses will go into the winter in a vigorous condition, when they are well nourished. When they go into the winter in a healthy vigorous condition, and spring weeds have less chance to grow and are less of a problem. Grasses will remain longer in the fall and grow off earlier in the spring.

COMPLETE FERTILIZER

should be applied to the lawn about a month before the first frost is expected. In Mills County there may not be time to do this job. Fertilizer should be applied at a rate to supply two pounds of actual nitrogen per square foot of lawn. The complete fertilizer contains some potash is good for lawns. The cost is low and the results may be expected.

APPLYING THE FERTILIZER

Divide the fertilizer, divide into equal parts, spread in one direction on the lawn and the remaining amount at right angles to the first direction.

THE EXTENSION SERVICE

The Extension Service Bulletin "Home Lawns," contains information on lawn establishment and maintenance available at my office.

caused by lice or the energy level of the diet and the form in which it is fed, may all be factors in causing the trouble.

At this season when pullets are being housed, a careful watch for feather-picking or for those being attacked should be kept. There are some management practices which will tend to keep the trouble at a minimum and these are a comfortable, well-ventilated house; plenty of well distributed feed and water space; no external parasites; feeding diets higher in fiber, and the feeding of mash instead of an all-pellet ration.

The surest way to combat the trouble is to debark the birds.

BROILERS

At the State Fair of Texas last month, the following Mills County 4-H broiler exhibitors had the following placings—Charles McCasland, 2 superior ratings; DeWayne McCasland, 2 superior ratings; Jackie McCasland, one superior and one excellent rating; Ella Ruth Clary, 2 superior ratings; Jimmy Soules, one superior rating. I believe that these boys and girls did an excellent job with their broilers. The superior rating is the highest classification that the broilers can win.

THE FANTASTIC STORY of MUSA-SHIYA THE SHIRTMAKER
(Also Sometimes Drygoods Selling)

If the shipping department of a factory had not made an error, the world would never have known of Musa-shiya the Shirtmaker and the most astounding advertising campaign in history would never have been launched.

Following World War I an English textile factory was getting back on a peacetime basis. In error it sent a full five year backorder of shirting material to Musa-shiya, a Japanese shirtmaker who operated a small shop in Honolulu. Business was poor and Musa-shiya was near bankruptcy, when the customs office informed him that certain bales of cloth and a fat bill for duties awaited his pleasure at the port of Honolulu.

When the little shirtmaker realized what had descended upon him, he asked for time and went into the silence for purpose of mental refreshment. Remembering a friend in a big mercantile establishment, he hid himself there and sought counsel. How in the name of the horned prophet of evil was he ever to get rid of all that English shirting? And in the meantime where was he to put it? His little box of a shop wouldn't hold one bale.

"You'll have to advertise," advised his friend. "Leave it to me. I'll have our advertising agents help you out."

This merely compounded the little Japanese shirtmaker's troubles. Advertising to him was an uncharted sea. The advertising agent called on Musa-shiya and suggested $300 as a modest starter. "Too-o-o much. Maybe I think thirty dollar plenty," said the shirtmaker. He was told that wouldn't even get him in print. The agent explained the costs of various advertisements and finally Musa-shiya agreed to try the plan and what was destined to be the most astounding and far reaching campaign in the history of advertising was launched.

Two column by five inch ads then started appearing regularly in the Saturday Honolulu Star-Bulletin. The ads were written just the way Musa-shiya talked—in colorful pidgen English which is used throughout the Orient. Here is an example of one of Musa-shiya's ads:

"Well here come storek again—but Musa-shiya, the shirtmaker, is able prepare. Wonderful accumulation of baby things in dry goods selling corner of Musa shop. Everything for the baby—especially diaper. Exclusive of storek, which find most easily, many persons not finding little shop of Musa-shiya the shirtmaker in King Street, Makai side, between fish market and river."

Tourists started sending copies of Musa-shiya's ads to their friends in many countries. Soon Musa-shiya was receiving orders from all over the world as well as doing a thriving business in Hawaii.

And that is the story of how a well planned, small advertising campaign made an unknown Japanese shirtmaker not only wealthy but world famous.

Your local newspaper doesn't promise to duplicate this story for its advertisers, but it does take your sales message into the homes of your customers where full and careful consideration is given your suggestions. Who knows, perhaps you too can be a Musa-shiya.

WARRIORS OF WHITTA BATTLE
 Nov. 2, 1858—On the morning of September, as we were camped on Otter Creek, near the base of the Comanches, our Indian brought word that a party of the Comanches, the noted chief, "Buffalo" were camped near the village. In an instant the scene of preparation for the march, orders were obeyed with a unanimity found among those accustomed to command. In an hour after the arrival of our little band was ready, and under the leadership of Brevet-Major Earl Van Dorn, we took our march. The exact position of the camp was not known, we moved forward at an easy gait, until the camp was seen by the two companies on the left who gave a loud shout and dashed forward at the charge, followed by the right companies. The prairie was burning and the ground broken up by deep and swampy ravines, notwithstanding these, they swept down upon the denoted camp like a terrific avalanche, cheering as they dashed along; officers and men exerting themselves to the utmost to gain the camp. The Indians stood fast and received us with a tremendous rally of arrows and balls, which was answered by a close fire of rifles and carbines, the fight then became general, and the Indians, being closely pursued, took refuge in a deep ravine, sheltered by a thick growth of brush wood.

Lieut. Van Camp while cheering the men to the attack, was shot through the heart and fell dead on the spot. The Indians at last were forced from the ravine and Major Van Dorn observing them retreating up the hill beyond, called on his men to follow and dashed forward in pursuit, when he received a severe wound in the arm, but by a well aimed shot he stretched the savage on the ground and continued on to the top of the hill, and when his men came up he was contending with three Indians, by one of whom he was shot through the body with an arrow, he fell from his horse; having nobly sustained the reputation gained on other fields.

Judging from the size of the camp, there must have been at least five hundred Indians, sixty of whom were found dead on the field; these were counted. The number wounded is not known, but must have been very considerable; not more than twenty or thirty could have escaped untouched.

There were three hundred animals (horses and mules) taken, besides many Buffalo Robes and a great deal of corn and other provisions. It was a great fight and a complete one.

One of the wounded has since died. Major Van Dorn and the other wounded are doing well. Lieut. Van Camp and the soldiers killed in the battle were buried on the field with the honors of war, regretted by all.

IMPORTANCE OF SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM IN TEXAS

Last year, a total of 87,376,816 meals were served to Texas school children at only a fraction of their normal cost or for many underprivileged children unable to pay—without cost whatsoever.

These meals, balanced and prepared with dietetic care, were served in the 2,844 school lunch rooms over the state which participate in the school lunch program sponsored jointly by individual schools, state and federal governments. Importance of the program can be partially determined by its wide acceptance in Texas and in other states.

With all except about 10 of Texas' 254 counties participating in the school lunch program, total program costs in Texas last year were $33,021,973.96, which included food, labor, donated services and equipment. The donated services and equipment were from the local school district, which is required to furnish these elements for participation. The money paid directly comes from government sources. Texas governments (county and state) spend about three dollars to the federal government's one dollar now toward operation of the program.

A major part of the federal government's aid in the school lunch operation comes in the form of food commodities purchased by the government to help relieve agricultural surpluses for specific application to the school lunch program. For many commodities at many times, school lunch foods purchased have helped relieve market pressures during seasonal supply gluts, helping strengthen our farm economy while furnishing wholesome food for our children.

In Texas alone, $9 million worth of agricultural surpluses are channeled through the school lunch program in one year.

The school lunch program is a composite blessing to us. First and foremost, it provides our children with health - giving foods far better than we with our sack lunches ever provided; it gives us the opportunity to give meaningful help to many underprivileged children; and it provides one of the best possible means for useful distribution of surplus foods.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—Texas' No. 1 industry is still "up against it." Oil industry leaders and state government officials are pressing harder for an effective federal plan to restrict oil imports.

Gen. Ernest O. Thompson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, has called for "positive action immediately."

"Oil and oil products imported into the United States continue to mount and absorb more and more of our domestic market demand," said Thompson.

"This restricts domestic exploration and development and continues to make the United States more and more dependent on foreign oil. Foreign oil cannot be counted as available in case of war."

Thompson implied that he thought mandatory limits on oil importing should be set. (At present only a voluntary limitation program is in effect.) Thompson noted that lead and zinc imports had been cut by presidential order and "some such action must be taken in regard to imports of oil and petroleum products."

In meetings over the state, industry spokesmen talked in equally urgent terms. Lester Clark, Breckenridge producer, told the Independent Petroleum Association of America that the oil business is "sick."

"Since 1955, total well completions are off 21 per cent, exploratory crews have fallen 25 per cent, wildcatting is down 28 per cent and rotary rigs are off 33 per cent," reported Clark.

At another meeting the Gulf Coast Association of Geological Societies was told that during the first half of this year total oil imports increased 5.3 per cent while domestic demand slumped 4.7 per cent below the 1957 average. Impact of this on the domestic industry was a 13.7 per cent cutback and a $3,000,000 a day loss in income.

Foreign oil production is increasing faster than foreign demand, Jerome J. O'Brien of Monterey Oil Co. told the geological group. Foreign oil interests, therefore, are dependent on getting a share of American buying—the one big oil market in the world. Biggest question in the industry, said O'Brien, is who will get this American market.

Undersecretary of the Interior Elmer F. Bennett told Texans the President's special cabinet committee on fuels is studying proposed plans to cut back imports. But, he said, the administration would not be "stampeded into mandatory controls."

TOUCHY TOPIC—Next legislature is forewarned of the difficulties that will be involved in passing any law on industrial safety.

A meeting of the Joint Commission on Industrial Safety developed into heated disagreement and ended in a deadlock. Commission Chairman M. B. Blair wanted the group to approve and recommend to the legislature a plan for a state system of safety regulation and inspection in industry. Rep. Joe Pool of Dallas urged that no recommendation be made until public hearings had been held to get labor and employer views.

Blair's proposal was rejected. Pool's was approved by a 4-3 vote, but Chairman Blair ruled the motion out of order. It ended with agreement to send the Commission's collected data to the governor and legislature with no recommendation.

Commission is a nine-member group authorized by the last legislature to study and make suggestions on industrial safety laws to the upcoming session.

END OF ROAD—Former Rep. James E. Cox of Conroe has lost what apparently is the last battle in his fight against a two-year prison sentence.

Court of Criminal Appeals slammed the door when it refused Cox a re-hearing. Cox was convicted in a Travis County Court last fall. In June the Appeals Court, by a 2-1 decision, upheld the conviction.

Cox was charged with agreeing to accept a $5,000 bribe in return for killing a bill to outlaw practice of naturopathy. He withdrew from the Legislature after the difficulty developed but has steadfastly maintained his innocence.

DIABLO DAM PUSHED—Both Gov. Price Daniel and the State Board of Water Engineers have given their official approval to plans for construction of Diablo Dam on the Rio Grande River.

Need for the dam was dramatically illustrated by the recent heavy floods on the Rio Grande, said J. T. Ellis Jr., the governor's aide in water matters. Rampant waters caused an estimated $7,000,000 property damage, and about $31,900,000 worth of water was lost for useful purposes.

HAPPY ENDING—Mrs. Margaret Edwards, of East Meadow, L. L. New York, is happily reunited with her husband, Thomas, and son, Thomas Jr., 9, at the Rockaway Point, N. Y., Coast Guard Station. Father and son were picked up by a freighter after spending two days adrift in their boat in the stormy Atlantic. Engine failure caused near-tragic mishap.

Next step toward getting the dam is for the International Boundary and Water Commission to prepare final plans and go to Congress for an appropriation. Diablo will be a joint project of the U. S. and Mexico with this country putting up $48,600,000 of the $80,000,000 cost.

LOAN PLAN CHALLENGED—Atty. Gen. Will Wilson has filed suit to test the constitutionality of a law permitting "certificate plan" loans.

Three nationwide finance companies are defendants in the suit. Wilson contends the certificate plan, though permitted by law, violates the constitutional prohibition against charging more than 10 per cent interest.

Under the plan a borrower may get a sum of money for a year and agree to pay 10 per cent interest on the total amount. But he is required to repay the money in monthly installments. Hence, except for the first month he is paying interest on money he does not have.

NO BRANCH BANKS—In other action, Attorney General Wilson stuck to his ruling last spring that Texas banks may not set up "little banks" at nearby military installations.

In numerous cities downtown banks have set up special facilities at nearby air bases, army posts, vet hospitals, etc.

This clearly violates the Texas Constitution's ban on branch
