Unshorn Lambs Eligible For Wool Payments

Producers should keep in mind that only unshorn lambs will be eligible for lamb payments under the wool program. E. L. Burkett, Chairman of Mills County Agricultural Extension and Conservation Committee, advised January 28.

Payments on lambs sold between April 1, 1958, and March 31, 1959, will be made this summer when the average yearly prices received by growers can be determined. Lambs sold after March 31, 1959, will be eligible for payment under the 1959 program which runs from April 1, 1959 through March 31, 1960.

"Paid Out" Burglars Hit Three Goldthwaite Firms Tuesday Night

Burglars with a "Paid Out" sense of humor hit three Goldthwaite firms Tuesday night, during the early Wednesday morning hours, taking cash and merchandise from two firms and damaging the door of a walk-in safe at the third.

Three effected were Southside Grocery, Mills County Location, and Duren Equipment Company.

All three places showed the same style or pattern of entering the buildings. Southside Grocery and Duren Equipment buildings were entered by prying open the back door. At the Southside Plant they tried gaining the same way and apparently gave it up and then entered through a south side window.

At Southside Grocery they made a haul amounting to several hundred dollars. Lee Long, owner of the firm, stated they opened the cash register by punching "$90.09 PAID OUT" and took $92 in cash. Merchandise consisted of approximately 30 cartons of cigarettes, fishing lures and supplies, 22 ammunition and about 50 pairs of ladies' nylon hose. Long stated that it would be hard to check and determine whether, or just how much, other merchandise may have been taken. Long estimated that the loot amounted to approximately $400.

Burglars left their sign at Mills County Locker plant where they opened the register by punching "$70.09 PAID OUT" and got $30 from the register, according to Joe S. Langford, manager of the plant. Langford stated from all indications no other merchandise was missing.

At Duren Equipment Company entrance was gained through the back door after it had apparently been pried open with a bar. At this firm the door was knocked from a large walk-in safe door and then a hole was drilled partially through the door when the job apparently was abandoned. According to reports from personnel no merchandise was missing.

Stall C. P. Stubblefield stated Wednesday morning that the local burglaries seemed to tie in with some that have been reported in other towns and it is quite possible that they were committed by the same person or persons. Stubblefield said that officers have some good leads and are working on the case.

Mrs. M. Y. Stokes Jr., Heads Heart Fund Drive

Throughout Texas and America this month a concerted drive is underway against the dread killer that is responsible for more than half of all deaths in the nation. Heart disease kills five times as many people each year as the next five diseases combined. In every age group, from babies to elderly men and women, heart disease takes a devastating toll, but its chief victims are active men and women in the prime of life, the breadwinners of every community. Many of the most tragic victims are little children with crippled hearts who, while appearing normal outwardly, are denied full participation in the rough and tumble activities so characteristic of childhood.

For the past ten years Texans through the Texas Heart Association, an affiliate of the American Heart Association, have been combatting this fearful menace to every home with programs of research, education and community service.

While the medical discoveries sponsored by the heart associations have already saved or prolonged thousands of lives, much work needs to be done to protect the one out of every 16 persons in the United States who is now suffering from heart disease.

At this time and at a given time in April the Baptists of the North American Continent are co-operating in a Simultaneous Revival Crusade. This will involve over 19,000,000 Baptists and 75,000 churches. All are invited to attend this Group Training School.

STREETS NEED PAVING—There is little question in the minds of city officials and property owners alike, but what many streets in Goldthwaite need paving.

The need for street paving has been with us a long time.

At the last meeting of the city council the matter was taken up and city officials are checking into the matter in earnest.

Property owners in various sections of the city have expressed their interest from time to time in having their streets paved and many have expressed their willingness to share in the cost of such a program.

As was reported in last week's issue of the Eagle city officials have announced that there are two courses that can be followed. One is for the job to be done by outside contractor and the other is for the city to secure the needed equipment and go into street paving.

Having the job done by outside contractor would be the best way if contractors were available for such jobs and if a large number of blocks, or streets, could be ready for paving at one time. Unfortunately to let the jobs to contractor in small portions would make the cost prohibitive, besides the fact that if and when the city got some streets ready there may not be a contractor available in the area who would be the least bit interested.

So, it may very well turn out that the best route to follow is for the city to purchase some additional equipment to add to the equipment that is already on hand and do the job.

There are two main reasons why it would be best for the city to do the paving. First, is the fact that the job can be done in smaller packages of a block or two or a street at a time as the streets can be prepared and readied for paving. Secondly, is the fact that paving the streets isn't going to be all there is to it.

After the streets are paved there is the matter of constant maintenance which will be from now on. That is something that will have to be taken care of by the city.

So one might say if the city goes into the street paving business, with the help of property owners, it will also have to stay in the business and keep the streets maintained. Unless they are kept up they will soon be gone and have to be redone.

When you look at it from that standpoint it is easy to see that it might be the best route for the city to get necessary equipment and do the job to begin with.

There will be more discussion on the subject as city officials check into the matter in the weeks ahead.

Property owners who are interested in having their streets paved should talk to their neighbors, or property owners, on their blocks or streets and get ready for street paving. If it is to be done property owners will have to share in the cost. But, it will be worth it. Besides getting rid of muddy and dusty streets it will increase property values several times the cost involved.

THE NEW LEGION HALL—Sometime in the near future there will be an invitation to the public to come out and see the new Legion Hall in Goldthwaite.

Members of the Legion are making plans for open house as soon as the kitchen and hall can be furnished.

In the meantime the Lions Club has undertaken the project of furnishing the hall. When the job is completed the Lions Club will make the building its home, or meeting place.

It will take approximately $1,000 to do the furnishing job. Warren P. Duren is chairman of the Lions Club finance committee and heads the drive for cash and merchandise contributions.

When the building is completely furnished and equipped it will be a valuable asset to the whole county. It will be not only home for the Legion Post and Lions Club, it will also be available for other clubs, civic groups and family gatherings. So let's get behind the Lions Club and The Legionnaires to get the job done.

TODAY'S Menu

Vegetable Variations Perk Up Daily Menus

By ALICE DENHOFF
IT isn't difficult—in fact, it's downright easy—to dispel the dullness that overtakes routine meals at this time of year when all the holiday dolings are over and life is humdrum again. No need to splurge and serve fancy foods. Just try serving the same vegetables with a different twist.

French Touch
Haricots Verts En Salade is an entry on the vegetable list of one smart dining spot. Translated from the menu French, we know it as fresh snap beans in French dressing.

To serve 6, wash one pound fresh snap beans and remove tips. Leave whole if small, slice lengthwise if large. Place in saucepan with ½ in. boiling water and tsp. salt. Bring to boiling point and cook 5 minutes, uncovered. Continue cooking, covered, 10 minutes longer, or until tender. Drain if necessary. Add 2 tsp. French Dressing. Toss lightly. Serve hot or cold.

Another easy and delicious way to serve snap beans is a maitre d'hotel.

Prepare 1 lb. fresh snap beans and cook as above. Add 3 tsp. butter or margarine, 1½ tsp. chopped parsley, ½ tsp. sugar, ¼ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. black pepper. Toss lightly.

Onion Flavor
And what a difference a bit of onion gives to foods as the cooks of the French city of Lyons discovered long ago and which we know as a Lyon-naise! Here's how it's done with string beans:

Prepare 1 lb. fresh string beans as directed.
Scute Onion
While beans are cooking, saute ¼ c. sliced onion in 3 tsp. butter or margarine. Add drained, crisp-tender green beans, ½ tsp. salt and ¼ tsp. black pepper and cook until they begin to color slightly, about 1 minute. Serve immediately while hot. Serves 6.

these three Hebrew children denied the command. They were not afraid to go contrary to the king's commandment.

ARE YOU WALKING?
 We find people walking in different ways. Some in a life of confusion and unrest, others in fear of the day holds for them. Some of these people try to walk the way of worldliness. "Drink and be merry tomorrow you may die," they think they find no answer but try to end it all by their own means. All these people are in the way of the world, a walk of sight or things they can put their hands on.

In Daniel 3:17 we see the reason they were not afraid. They had faith in God. Today the world commands us to walk in its way. It puts pressure on us if we do not walk hand in hand with its way. The king put pressure on these three men. He said he would heat the fiery furnace seven times as hot as it was ordinarily heated and then cast them in. This did not even phase these men of God, for they stood on their faith in God. Then they were cast into the flames that were so hot that they consumed the men that threw the three in. Now, the result of their faith is shown.

What people need today is to have their faith. You may ask, "What is it?" Faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. He is the only answer for the world. The Bible says in Ephesians 2:8 "For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves, it is a gift of God, the way to overcome the world and to gain eternal life is by faith in Christ." (I John 5:4-5).

In Daniel 3:25 King Nebuchadnezzar looks into the furnace and sees not three, but four men, and the king said the fourth man looks like the Son of God. Immediately they are called forth out of the flames and there is not even the smell of smoke on them (Daniel 3:27). We see here because of their faith that God walked with them in time of need.

I wonder how many of us today are walking by faith as we live this life. How many of us will stand contrary to the world when it commands us to serve its gods? God is the same God today that walked with the Hebrew children, and He will walk with all those that walk in faith.

There are those of you that cannot walk in the faith because of your unbelief. The Bible says in John 3:16 "For God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him shall not perish, but have everlasting life." Won't you believe today? Jesus said in Matthew 7:13-14 "Enter ye in at the strait gate; for wide is the gate and broad is the way that leadeth to destruction, but narrow is the way that leads to life." Which way are you on? How are you walking?

The Public Is Invited To Attend

TEXAS PUBLIC SCHOOLS WEEK has been proclaimed by Governor Price Daniel for March 2-7. Receiving the proclamation for the ninth annual statewide observance is John McKee of Dallas (right) who has served as state chairman of the Texas Citizens Committee for Public Schools Week since the week was inaugurated in 1950. Parents and other citizens are urged to visit their local schools during the week.

TEXAS SOILS AND CORN PRODUCTION

Although Texas is not commonly considered a major corn-producing state, soils and climate conditions over much of the state lend themselves favorably to corn raising. This is particularly true of certain corn hybrids which have been developed in recent years to perform under specific soil and climate conditions. Last year, Texas Agricultural Experiment Stations in each potential corn-producing region of the state conducted crop tests with such corn hybrids to determine which were best suited for each region.

Designated as "corn performance tests," these planting experiments were conducted at 21 locations under dryland conditions and at two locations under irrigation. Weather conditions during the growing season were highly favorable for corn production in most areas of the state with the estimated 1958 average yield of 26 bushels per acre the highest on record.

For crop-testing and other purposes, Texas land resource areas—areas having related soils and similar climate—are divided into 14 sections, including the East Texas Timberlands, Coast Marsh, Coast Prairie, Blackland Prairies, East Cross Timbers Plain, Edwards Plateau, Rolling Plains, High Plains and Trans-Pecos.

Corn performance tests were conducted in the Coast Prairie region at Angleton, Prairie View and Cleveland; the East Texas Timberlands at College Station, Kirbyville, Nacogdoches, Tyler, Mount Pleasant and New Boston; the Blackland and Grand Prairies at San Antonio, Martindale, Holland, Temple, McGregor, Waxahachie and Greenville; the East Cross Timbers at Denton, the Rio Grande Plain at Beeville (dryland) and Weslaco (irrigated), the North Central Prairies at Stephenville and the Rolling Plains at Chillicothe.

In the Coastal Prairie tests, yields and Angleton and Prairie View were curtailed somewhat because of lack of moisture during May and June and the test at Cleveland was seriously damaged by insects. However, corn hybrids named Texas 34, Asgrow 102 and Texas 30 produced the highest average yields in this section. Texas 34 and 30 are especially adapted to this area because of their superior resistance to insects and diseases.

In the East Texas Timberlands—which produce about one-fourth of all Texas corn—

Questions And Answers About Social Security

Question: I am age 56 and was recently laid off my job as a saleslady. I may not work anymore. Can I "freeze" my social security account so that the amount of my benefit at age 62 will not be affected because I didn't work the last few years?
Answer: No. Only disabled

Funk G710AA, Asgrow 102, Texas 28 and 30 produced highest average yields.

In the Blackland and Grand Prairies, where corn production is often limited by shortage of summer moisture, tests were irrigated once at San Antonio and Martindale to insure production. Asgrow 104, Texas 28 and 30 produced highest yields in this area. In the northern area of this section, the test at Greenville was lost by lack of moisture and yields at McGregor and Waxahachie were curtailed by insufficient moisture and at Denton by insect infestations. Asgrow 104 and Texas 28 were top-yielding hybrids in the area.

In the Rio Grande Plain section, corn is a relatively unimportant crop except for a small area. In the irrigated test at Weslaco, Dixie 82, Texas 28 and Texas 32 gave the highest yields. The Beeville dryland test showed Texas 28, Conrad 7 and Texas 36 to be highest yielding hybrids.

Although some corn in grown on the eastern edges of the West Cross Timbers and Rolling Plains, corn is of minor importance in these areas. Yields at Stephenville and Chillicothe were curtailed by insufficient moisture during May and June. Texas 28 and 32 produced highest yields in this region.

persons or persons age 65 or over may freeze their social security accounts. However, your social security benefits are based on your average earnings after 1958 or after 1950 whichever is to your advantage. In computing your average earnings, we may disregard 5 years of your lowest earnings. So even if you do not earn anything from 1959 to 1964 when you will be age 62, we may disregard those years and base your average on your years up to 1959. In effect, this will give you a freeze.

Question: I am a farm operator and my 16-year-old son has a 4-H project which will clear him about $600 this year. Is he self-employed?
Answer: Yes. If your son operates an activity such as a 4-H or F. F. A. project all by himself, he is self-employed. If his net earnings amount to $400 or more in year, he must file an income return and pay the social security self-employment tax regardless of his age.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights by Vern Sanford TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin, Texas—With committee hearings going full tilt, the Legislature has reached the rough and tumble stage. Committee hearings give everyone who has anything to say about a proposed measure a chance to come and speak up. It brings people to Austin in droves. And many speak up—very bluntly.

This year's lawmakers, particularly in the House, seem to be falling into an early pattern of much work, little play. In part, the shortage of sociability is attributed to the hard-fought speaker's race. It divided the House into two camps, whose members, for the most part, stayed aloof from each other during early weeks.

lobbying seem common-place, respectable. A total registration of some 700 indicated that just about everyone and his brother has a lobbyist.

But the law also requires that each lobbyist make a monthly report on the amount spent influencing legislation. Herein comes the reason for caution in entertainment. No one particularly minds being identified as a lobbyist, but too large expenses might incur the risk of being tagged a "rich lobbyist."

Rough Road—Toughest sledging continues to be over the money problem.

Gov. Price Daniel let go with both barrels at critics of his plan for clearing the state deficit and raising additional money for future state services.

Daniel's principal target is Rep. Frates Seeligson of San Antonio, whose 18 months' work with the State Tax Study Commission convinced him Texas' taxing had to branch out, partly through a 1.5 per cent sales tax.

Daniel's money program is based primarily on a natural gas severance tax and increases in a number of present taxes. He warned he'd fight for this program to the last ditch, even into a third term, if necessary.

Matter Of Math—First official consideration of a part of the governor's money program brought a real set-to.

It was a hearing on "the bookkeeping bill" by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee. This is a proposal, sponsored by Rep. James E. Bates of Edinburg, to credit to the general revenue fund $8,000,000 from the omnibus tax fund. Since the general revenue fund is expected to be $65,000,000 in the red by August 31, this would help to ease the pain in that area.

Representatives from the state comptroller's office called the plan unsound, declared such juggling around would just be "legalizing a false statement." Legislative critics labeled it "check lifting."

But members of the governor's office defended it stoutly as a means of giving a "true picture of financial condition."

Parkhouse Vs. Labor—More

Muggs and Skeeter

By Wally Bishop

heat was generated when representatives of organized labor came up to protest Sen. George Parkhouse's union reporting bill. Briefly, the Parkhouse bill would prohibit use of union dues for political purposes, and require unions to file financial statements audited by a certified public accountant.

Labor officials protested that some phrasing in the bill was so broad as to limit union members from expressing opinions and, hence, free speech. They also said the CPA requirement would be too heavy an expense for small unions.

Parkhouse said many union members had asked him to sponsor such a bill so they could get an accounting of what goes with union funds. Some, he said, complained their dues money was used for purposes with which they did not agree.

School Bills—Committee hearings on higher education appropriations brought varied, but cautious, expressions on how these increasing costs might be met.

Before the House Appropriations panel, A. M. Muldrow, Higher Education Commission chairman, said that the commission was studying the question of asking for higher college tuition rates. State college tuition was doubled, from $50 to $100 a year, last session.

Before the Senate Finance Committee, most of a group of 18 junior college presidents said they would approve a general sales tax "if necessary."

By The Dozens—More and more bills keep pouring into the legislative mill daily. Among recent ones are those measures which would:

Protect Public Records by providing a three to seven year prison term for unlawful removal, by Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford.

Create A New Commission to regulate telephone, gas and electric power companies statewide, by Rep. Bill Kilgartin of Houston.

Keep Passenger Trains running longer after revenue declines, by Rep. Clyde Miller of Houston. Railroads cannot now be required to operate passenger service at a loss.

Increase Franchise Tax on corporations by 60 cents on each $1,000 capital, by Rep. J. E. Winfree of Houston. Part of the Daniel tax program, it would raise an estimated $14,000,000 this year, $15,000,000 next year, then expire.

Raise State Employee pay 5 to 20 per cent on salaries under $4,800, by Travis County legislators.

Permit Flexible Rates on automobile insurance, varying according to good and bad records of drivers, by Sen. Jarrard Secret of Temple. This is a highly controversial bill which was defeated last session.

Tax Trading Stamps by 10 per cent, by Rep. Joe Chapman of Sulphur Springs.

Regulate Boxing And Wrestling by a new commission

ted for that purpose, by Will Smith of Beaumont.

Abolish Aeronautics Board Rep. Bill Hollowell of Saline. He called it a "waste" of state money and CAA serving all useful functions. He said he is entering a similar bill to Good Neighbor Commission

IN PEACEFUL INTEGRATION—Two of the seven Negro students integrated into the Norview High School in Norfolk, Va., are shown as, for the first time in Virginia, Negroes entered a white school. Their admission was without incident, as were the arrivals of a total of 17 students at six Norfolk schools. Four others entered an Arlington, Va., junior high school.

Jesus Teaches the End of the Age ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 25:31-46; Mark 13:1-37.

As Christ and His disciples left the temple, one called His attention to the fine building. Jesus answered him, saying that of the great building "there shall not be left one stone upon another."—Mark 13:1-2.

Peter, James, John and Andrew asked Him: "Tell us, when shall these things be?" Jesus warned them against being deceived by false prophets, "for many shall come in My name, saying, I am Christ."—Mark 13:3-6.

Christ also told His disciples that they would be persecuted and brought before councils. When this happened they need not worry about what to say, for the Holy Ghost would speak through them.—Mark 13:9-11.

Watch and pray, Christ told them, "for ye know not when the time is . . . for ye know not when the Master of the house (Christ) cometh."—Mark 13:33-35.

If all the time spent on remodeling old guns could be put end to end it would reach from now until Kingdom Come! Right now there is a new rash of it, such as follows every war, or perhaps we might say with each new generation.

Much of our early day remodeling was done with guns made in America. The first one I ever undertook was a 30-40 Krag, one of those old magazine relics of the Spanish-American War. I bought it through the National Rifle Assn., from the Division of Civilian Marksmanship for $1.50. I sawed, hacked and worked on that gun so many hours I lost a lot of money neglecting my work.

Then as time went on I got one of the 30-06 Enfields, which was used in World War I. If I remember correctly this fowling piece cost me $7.50, plus the DCM packing charges and freight.

I took on two or three of these at different times, remodeling them, cutting down the stocks, chopping off the barrels, grinding the ears off receivers and otherwise whipping them into the shape of a good sporter.

Finally DCM began offering Springfields. The rifle became fairly plentiful shortly after World War I and during the middle twenties and through the thirties I worked over quite a few. In the meantime I also tried my hand on a few Mausers, both 7 and 8 mms. A few rebarreled ones, with custom stocks, were good looking and effective guns.

Shortly after World War II, the DCM again made available a supply of Springfields. They were advertised as "unservicable." Buyers were warned that they might not get a good gun. They were good for remodeling or experimenting, but were not to be considered for use "as is." My memory is that they cost about $15 plus packing and freight. Anyway, I got one.

With the aid of a good gunsmith by the name of Davis out of Abilene way, I remodeled the gun entirely. The barrel was cut off. The bolt was turned down. A stock was built to fit my shoulders and put the trigger in reach of my short arms. We put on a ramp front sight and folding rear sight. In addition I installed a quick detachable Echo mount and a Weaver - 2.5 scope and a nice homemade narrow sling.

It was a thing of beauty. Davis let down light and my total bill was only about $100 for the work. The first man who saw it offered me $200 for it. I turned down the offer. It was right after the war and guns still weren't too plentiful.

They were coming on the market, however and I could have bought a brand new 30-06 in either Remington or Winchester for just a little more than half of what I paid for that remodeling, together with the gun.

It was a good gun, however, and I still have it, the only one of a dozen or more remodeling jobs I had done on discarded

A TEXAS PRIZE FIGHT

On the 25th ult., a prize fight took place on Point Island, Texas, between an American named Robert Carn, and a Spaniard named Tamandra Pordyer, for $1500 a side. A sporting friend has furnished us a full report of the battle, which was long and obstinately contested. They were both powerful men, Carn scaling 192 pounds and the Spaniard 216, and the "mill" was a very merry one indeed, both parties being delightfully punched and pummeled. They fought thirty-four rounds in two hours and ten minutes, when the stalwart Don succumbed to the superior pluck and science of Brother Jonathan. At the close of the entertainment all hands took to their boats and left for parts unknown.—Jefferson Gazette.

They were good guns, however, and reliable ordnance made by our own government.

Today the United States is being flooded with many unsafe and worthless imports from practically every foreign government. They are being advertised in all the gun magazines and many others at prices that might seem low. These imports tell you what wonderful sporting arms they are. They even offer a free box or two of ammunition to go with the gun. If you buy one of the pieces and it stands up through the free shells, you'll probably never be able to buy another commercial cartridge for it.

These guns are bought on the pound basis, as junk metal. They are imported into this country and sold to unsuspecting and beguiled gun remodelers for prices ranging from $10 up, depending upon how badly the would-be purchaser can be fooled.

As an example, the Italian Terni (Carcano) 38 carbine sells for 27 cents a pound as junk. The mauser 71/88 brings 19 cents per pound. Some of the old Ross straight pull rifles are being advertised. They are about the most dangerous guns ever made. They were abandoned by the Canadian Army during World War I, because they killed too many soldiers behind the stock. Now they are being offered in the United States as sporting arms.

These imports not only are unsafe, they are horrible looking guns, not adapted to worthwhile remodeling. They were made in a hurry for armies in countries where rulers didn't care too much about their soldiers.

In this, money-mad world there are many dealers selling these suicide specials. Even more tragic, however, is the fact that the editorial pages of some of our leading magazines point out the tremendous danger in shooting one of these obsolete, inefficient and unsafe guns. But the bells on their cash register jingle constantly with the sale of advertising space to these unscrupulous dealers.

So that leaves the situation squarely in your hands. If you want to buy one of these old guns and take a chance on it, don't blame anyone but yourself if it blows up in your face.

It will cost you far more in the long run than a standard American made gun, turned out by a responsible manufacturer.

Clementine Wilmeth Briley Writes From Temporary Home In El Paso

By CLEMENTINE WILMETH BRILEY

Winter really swept down on us Sunday, Feb. 1. We woke to gray skies and freezing cold outdoors, but in the house or in the car, snug as a bug in a rug. The day was hushed and beautiful with bare boughs so beautifully delineated against a soft gray sky. There was a feeling of excitement as if something wonderful might happen. The weather man said there might be snow. We hurried home from church and rushed through dinner and dishwashing to attend a church zone get-acquainted open house at the Sewells. Their home was beautiful, and the gray outside made it all the cosier on the inside. These people out here build to their houses, large roomy dens, doing all the work themselves. The Sewalls had a beautiful one. He had built it all by himself.

At night the radio said there would be snow in El Paso from two to four inches by morning. Billy and Johnny were jubilant, hoping there might be no school. Monday came, but not a snowflake. Billy was disgusted with the weather man. John and I decided it was too cold to hang out clothes. Tuesday the sun came out and John braved the hanging out. Wednesday was a better day, and today (Thursday) was warm enough to work out in the yard.

Last Saturday I got to go with my neighbor Garden Club president to the El Paso Rose Garden to see a famous expert demonstrate rose pruning. I had already pruned mine. I could see I had done it wrong, but there wasn't much I could do to correct it. He had expert tools as well as expert knowledge. Maybe next year I can do better.

Also last Saturday I was thrilled to get a good long letter from Mrs. W. L. Jackson of Lubbock. She is the daughter of the late Joe Burkett of Mullin. They are the family we stayed all night with when we came back from Arkansas in the fall of 1893. Mrs. Jackson remembers it. She says my father lived at their house many years and he preached at the house at Mullin before there were any churches. She said she couldn't remember hearing him talk about anything except the Bible, trees, pecans and schools.

Mrs. Jackson said she moved in 1901 and moved away in 1923, and they have attended the Broadway Church of Christ there. She now lives on a farm 7 miles from Mullin. They still go to the church. Her husband has died five years and she lives alone. Her children are scattered from South Texas to New York and to the State of Washington.

Mrs. Jackson says in her early days of Tech they lived right near the college, and decided to fulfill a life-long dream to go to college, taking a BA degree in Liberal Arts, majoring in History. At the same time a son took his MA majoring in Government. A daughter took her BA majoring in English. All children have degrees from Tech. One son has a law degree from Harvard. Another son is a professor in Tech.

This letter really made me happy. So long I have wanted to know which Burkett family stayed with in 1893. She says Jim Burkett, who originated Burkett pecan, is her uncle. He has met him several times and his wife stayed all night with my mother not long ago. We moved back home from Lubbock. The Burkett is my favorite of all the pecans. Mrs. Jackson says her brothers and she still live in or near Mills County.

Income TAX FAX

deducted expense has been reported.

Under the 1951 law, the regulations and the instructions provided that you must include the actual expense, not more than the amount, to arrive at our taxable income.

Under the new regulations, an employee who is required to account to his employer for his expenses will not be required to report such expenses on his tax return, either in total amount, or in broken down into travel, transportation, entertainment and other.

Under the new regulations an employee who is required to account to his employer for his expenses and does so account, will not ordinarily be called upon to substantiate expense account information unless:

of expenses for travel, transportation, entertainment and other purposes which he incurs under a reimbursement or other arrangement with his employer.

One important change in the final regulations is a clarification of the rules in cases where the employee's reimbursement is less than the amount of his business expenses and he wishes to claim a deduction for the excess. In such cases, the employee must furnish a statement showing the total advances, reimbursements, or charges and the total of his business expenses — broken down into travel, transportation, entertainment and other.

(1) His expenses exceed the total of the amounts charged to his employer and he claims a deduction on his return for such excess; or,

(2) He is related to his employer or is employed by a company in which he or his family owns more than 50 per cent of the stock; or,

(3) It is determined that the procedures used by the employer in accounting for these expenses are not adequate.

You should use form 2106 available at the nearest office of the Internal Revenue Service in reporting reimbursed expenses.

The Bible says: "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and the spirit of God dwelleth in you? If any man defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are." First Corinthians 3:16-17.
