Southwestern States Telephone Co. Plans $12 Million Improvements

Expansion and improvement projects planned for The Southwestern States Telephone Company and its subsidiary, Four States Telephone Company, for 1963 will total more than $12 million. The program is almost equal to the 1962 expansion program which was the highest in the history of the organization.

D. T. Strickland, vice president and general manager, said the 1963 program will include construction of new central office buildings, additions to existing buildings, converting exchanges from common battery to dial operation, replacement of existing dial exchanges, creation of new dial exchanges, and installation of additional central office equipment. Also included are expansion of the company's carrier and microwave systems, addition of trunk circuits for expanded long distance and extended area service, expansion of other outside plant facilities, and the purchase of operational supplies and equipment.

Two of the company's exchanges will be converted to dial operation during 1963, and 11 new dial exchanges will be established. Seven existing dial exchanges will be replaced with larger, more modern systems. All new exchanges, one dial conversion, and one replacement will be carried out under the program for Four States Telephone Co. This wholly owned subsidiary develops and expands telephone service in sparsely populated areas, contiguous to the parent company's operational area, under the REA's telephone program.

Southwestern States and its subsidiary now operate more than 173,000 stations through 163 central offices in Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Texas. By the end of 1963 the company will have 174 central offices, all but one of which will be dial operated.

More Support Needed For Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program

L. B. Burnham, Mills County chairman of the Animal Health Committee, this week announced that more support is needed in the Southwest Screwworm Eradication Program is to be carried out to a successful conclusion.

Contributions are still coming in, but the fund drive is still short of the goal needed.

Latest to join the drive with financial support is McCulloch County Electric Co-op., Inc., which sent a check to the Mills County committee.

Progress report from the program released the past week points out the following.

FLY PRODUCTION AND RELEASE

No one else was pleased with the freezing temperatures that swept through the Southwest last week, you can be sure that the Screwworm Eradication Program officials were delighted.

Weather of such nature is exactly what is needed to wipe out large numbers of native screwworm fly populations, and several more similar cold snaps will do much toward making eradication through fly dispersal easier. On Wednesday of last week, only limited airdrops were possible, while no releases at all were made on Thursday and Friday.

The pupae that were on hand were chilled back so they would not emerge as quickly as usual and could be held for release when the weather warmed up.

Despite the cold, 64,290,650 sterile flies were dispersed during the week of December 9-15.

The annual total is now 1,661,160,110 sterile flies released."

Cakes, Candles, Commemorations Light March of Dimes 25th Year

Throughout the nation this month, candles will be lit on birthday cakes to symbolize the 25th anniversary of the March of Dimes.

The cakes will range from real ones of conventional size to monster, multi-tiered models as much as 12 feet in height and 10 feet in diameter—the approximate dimensions of the one to be erected in New York City's famed Times Square. Guests at anniversary events around the country, where cakes will be of more modest proportions, will be invited to decorate them with coins for the March of Dimes.

Many "parties" commemorating a quarter of a century of disease fighting will be held at special treatment centers for birth defects, arthritis and polio which March of Dimes contributions are financing today in more than 40 cities across the U.S. Other gatherings will be held in county chapter offices of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, in the homes of volunteers and elsewhere.

In many instances, guests at these campaign "kickoffs" will include governors or their wives, mayors and outstanding authorities in health fields. Other guests will be Americans of all ages who received March of Dimes aid during and after polio epidemics and outbreaks. Also present will be children and adolescents with birth defects or arthritis who have been treated at these March of Dimes centers.

To raise the millions required every year for patient aid and research in birth defects, arthritis and polio, each March of Dimes campaign is carefully planned many months ahead. There are millions of contribution envelopes and coin collectors to be distributed around the nation; hundreds of thousands of posters to be erected in every hamlet, town and city; two million volunteers to be organized for the Mothers' March (the climax to the campaign at the end of January), and March of Dimes films to exhibit to explain the work of the voluntary health organization.

Arrangements must be completed for the visit in January of the National March of Dimes

Jimmy Boggess, 5, of Coy, Ark., the 1963 National March of Dimes Child, blows out candles on birthday cake symbolizing first 25 years of aid to the crippled by the health organization.

Child—who this year is Jimmy Boggess, 5, Coy, Ark.—with President Kennedy at the White House and with various Senators and Congressmen and other dignitaries as well as with personalities of the stage, screen and television.

Special events for the March of Dimes are staged in all the big cities, many lesser ones and in some small towns. These include March of Dimes bowling tournaments, with "roll-offs" to select a national man or woman champion, fashion shows, auctions, telegrams, Coffee Days, Tag Days and street sales, neighborhood bread sales, air-lifts and a long list of sports activities.

The theme of this 25th Anniversary March of Dimes which is "Give for the Life of a Child," will be stressed in all these special events, and the story told of the first 25 years of the organization. Highlights of that story are:

Patients aided, 338,000; expended for the medical care program, $385,500,000; for scientific research, $73,600,000; and for professional education, $38,000,000.

Basil O'Connor, president of The National Foundation-March of Dimes, referred in a recent speech to the 25th anniversary of the health agency. "Most certainly we take pride in our past 25 years, and we rejoice. But deep down we really think of that quarter of a century as only the springboard for our future."

"Dear Sir:

America's newspapers gave outstanding cooperation to the Treasury Department's Freedom Bond Drive this year. On behalf of Secretary Dillon, may I thank you in particular for the contribution your newspaper has made to the success of our sales efforts throughout the year.

You can take justifiable pride in having performed an important service for your country in these times when the economic and military strength of America have such an important role in the preservation of peace. Furthermore, I know the Savings Bonds ads you have published have had a part in starting many families among your readers on the way to financial security.

Soon a Treasury Department representative will call on you to present the Savings Bond newspaper advertising campaign for 1963. In my opinion you will be seeing some of the finest ads we have ever offered. You'll find they combine informative messages with a strong patriotic appeal, and an attractive appearance to earn high readership.

I hope that we may continue to count on your newspaper's backing of the Savings Bonds program.

Sincerely,
William H. Neal,

MRS. SAMUEL JACKSON WHITTEN, JR.

Miss Alma Karen Kesler Becomes Bride Of Samuel Jackson Whitten, Jr.

Miss Alma Karen Kesler of Abilene became the bride of Samuel Jackson Whitten, Jr., of Troup, Saturday evening, December 29, at 7:00 o'clock, in the First Methodist Church of Abilene. The impressive double-ring ceremony was read by Dr. Hubert Thomson, pastor of the church.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Kesler of Abilene and Dr. and Mrs. S. J. Whitten of Troup.

Mrs. Art Jenke, organist, presented traditional wedding music and accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chalcraft, soloists.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a chapel length gown of silk organza and Alencon lace. The fitted bodice featured a rounded neckline accented with a Bertha collar and long fitted sleeves. Tiny French covered buttons extended down the back. The organza skirt fell in pleats, from a deep pointed waistline, over diamond white taffeta. Garlands of Alencon lace in the scalloped design were scattered over the entire skirt and extended through the chapel length train. A tier of seed pearls held her waist length veil of French illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Roger Enlow of Dallas was her sister's matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Wayland Kesler of Austin, sister-in-law of the bride, Mrs. Jerry Smith of Meridian, Miss. Barbara Bye of Dallas, Carol McDaniel of Dallas and Donna Kesler of Abilene, cousin of the bride. They wore Kelly green velvet sheath dresses designed with scoop necklines, elbow-length sleeves, and velvet bows in their hair. They carried white muffs centered with white gardenias.

Al Newman of Dallas served as best man. Mike Flowers and Mike Hall, both of Tyler, Roger Enlow of Dallas, brother-in-law of the bride, and Paul Davis of Denton seated the guests. Wayland Kesler of Austin, brother of the bride, Joe Gaston of Tyler, cousin of the bridegroom, Lynn Gorman of Dallas, Barry Jackson of Cleburne and John Young of Tyler were groomsmen.

After a wedding trip to Dallas the couple will be at home at 1800 Scripture, Apt. 3, Denton.

The new Mrs. Whitten is a graduate of Abilene High School and is now a junior at NTSU, Denton. She is a member of Chi Omega Sorority.

Mr. Whitten is a graduate of Troup High School. He is now a senior at NTSU, Denton, and a member of Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom McArthur of Mullin and Mrs. Lanie Kesler of Zephyr. Also the niece of Mrs. Lester Carter of Zephyr and great-niece of Mrs. Lula Payne of Goldthwaite.

March of Dimes Scientists Find Armadillo Helpful in Twin Study

An oddball research animal that looks like a cross between an anteater and an armored tank is causing scientists to wonder if "identical" human twins are so identical after all.

The nine-banded armadillo, which is a native of Texas and points south, has several child-bearing characteristics that are similar to those of humans.

For this reason, Dr. Kurt Benirschke and colleagues at Dartmouth Medical College, Hanover, N. H., are using armadillos for studies of pregnancy and birth defects under a National Foundation-March of Dimes research grant.

It takes about the same length of time—nine months—for baby armadillos or baby humans to develop in the womb. And in both species, the placentas are structurally similar.

But a quirk of nature has made this odd mammal even more useful for medical research. It always has a litter of four. The four baby armadillos come from the same egg and are therefore always of the same sex.

What has this to do with human twins?

For years, scientists have believed that identical twins—those who develop through division of the same egg—are exactly alike down to the very last gene. They've assumed that it was this genetic similarity that permits successful transplants of skin or of organs between identical twins.

If this theory were wholly correct, it should be easy to exchange skin grafts between identical young of the same armadillo litter since they all came from a single egg.

But Dr. Benirschke and his associates, Dr. Alastair H. Aire and Dr. John Anderson, have found that such grafts often fail to "take."

This paradox has led them to suspect that the answer to graft tolerance cannot be found solely in genetic make-up.

The March of Dimes researchers think the key may lie, at least in part, in the relationship of the embryo to the placenta—the material which nourishes the unborn infant.

Each armadillo quadruplet has its own isolated segment of placenta. This means that each gets a slightly different supply of nutrients, hormones and blood elements. While such differences are minute, they may be just enough to individualize each animal's development so he won't accept grafts and transplants from his own littermate.

Dr. Kurt Benirschke, March of Dimes grantee at Dartmouth Medical College, Hanover, N. H., studies the strange-looking armadillo.

Human twins, on the other hand, sometimes share a common placenta—each getting exactly the same nutrients for development. Thus they become favorable candidates for any necessary organ exchange or skin graft in later life.

If graft acceptance in twins is related to their sharing—or not sharing—the same placenta, some other puzzles of pregnancy may also be a little closer to solution.

Why, for example, doesn't a pregnant animal "reject" its own embryo, which is actually a "foreign" substance made up of cells quite different from her own?

Or does she, in some instances? Could such a reaction lead to spontaneous abortion or a defect in the offspring?

Or could it be that the exchange of substances through the placenta permits the mother to "accept" the embryo?

Does this exchange also make it possible for some mothers and children to tolerate each other's skin or organ grafts later in life?

These are questions which have stumped scientists for many years. The answers, though still to come, may throw a bright new light on many problems of pregnancy, the causes of certain birth defects, and the success or failure of organ transplants.

And it may be one of the nature's more incredible creatures—dasyypus novemcinctus (known familiarly as Mrs. Armadillo)—who will help turn the switch on this lamp of knowledge.
