It all started several weeks ago when a California scientist announced he had frozen a monkey and would try it on a man.

LEAGUE AND EUROPE FACING GRAVE CRISIS

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Europe was confronted today with its gravest crisis in the 17 years since the World War ended.

Complete failure of negotiations by France, Britain and Italy to settle the Ethiopian dispute forced statesmen to envisage the possibility of not only war but of death of the League of Nations, of war in Europe and of outbreaks of the races of Africa and Asia.

For the moment hope of averting an Italian-Ethiopian war was laid aside, if not abandoned.

Governments of the three powers talked not of what to do to stop the trouble against Ethiopia, but of what to do when it begins.

There was not a country, large or small, in all Europe whose interests were not involved and considering what course would be best to pursue in national interests.

A move to remove the general, if unofficial arms embargo, imposed against Ethiopia, was expected in the next few days—the first declaration in effect that if there is a war Italy will be the aggressor.

Chicago Woman Burned to Death

CHICAGO, Aug. 19.—An unidentified woman was burned to death and her roommate seriously burned when fire swept the sixth floor of the St. Claire hotel. More than 100 guests were forced to flee in their night clothing.

Miss Sally Bruner was unconscious when carried from her room. She regained consciousness but was unable to give the name of her companion, so badly was she burned.

The fire was discovered by a bellboy, when he went to Miss Bruner's room after the switchboard operator reported the telephone receiver was off the hook.

When the new mill and half-cent coins appear, you'll have no excuse for not tipping a waiter on a dime sandwich.

"Money in Demand in Paris," reads a headline. Well, no city in the United States will turn it down either.

HONOLULU.—Honolulu, where outdoor advertising is unknown, gaped in amazement at its first sandwich man while police thumbed hurriedly through city ordinances and territorial laws searching in vain for a legal pretense to remove him from the streets.

The man, with signs advertising a shoe sale strapped to his back and chest, ambled calmly through downtown thoroughfares while crowds collected.

Someone called the Chamber of Commerce protesting the anti-billboard law was being violated. The chamber called police who worried over whether a billboard is still a billboard if it walks.

Finally they asked the sandwich man to get off the streets, charging he was obstructing traffic. He obliged but officials after further research admitted they could find no Hawaii law to prevent his return.

Once Paralyzed Youth Becomes A Good Athlete

MANCHESTER-BY-THE-SEA, Mass.—Seven years ago, a hopeless paralytic case, Joe Hyland, 18, today one of the most accomplished and versatile athletes in Manchester.

Joe was bedridden for a year. Nine operations were performed on his legs. Doctors said the best he could hope for would be a life on crutches with wheel braces on his legs.

Young Hyland lived across the street from a public playground, and during the early years of convalescence watched other boys and girls play tennis.

One day he hobbled over to the courts. His friend carried him to the center of the court, and he hit a few balls. A year later, he was able to discard his braces and use crutches only when tired.

Young Hyland also became interested in baseball. He first sat on the bench keeping score and learning the fundamentals of the game. Then he started catching.

Joe now is a normally formed youth.

Two Texans Have Worked For Years In AAA Export Bill

WASHINGTON.—The inclusion in the AAA amendments of the export provision, having for its purpose the expansion of foreign and domestic markets for farm products, is a personal tribute to Senator Tom Connally and Congressman Marvin Jones, of Texas.

Both of these gentlemen have been working for years to bring to the farmer this measure of equality in the operation of the tariff laws.

This particular part of the measure provides for allocating a sum equal to 30 per cent of the collections under the general tariff laws. This sum is to be used for the purpose of expanding domestic and foreign markets of farm commodities and the products thereof, in the payment of additional benefits and for the removal of surpluses. It is estimated that 30 per cent of the American people are engaged in farming. This is the reason for utilizing these funds for this purpose.

Senator Connally and Congressman Jones issued the following joint statement:

"The adoption of this provision marks the longest step forward that has ever been taken in securing the rights of agriculture. For more than a half century, the farmer has been pleading for equal rights. He has borne the burdens of the tariff without the corresponding advantages. Selling his surplus commodities in a free market, he has bought his supplies in a protected market.

"The regular farm program is important and has accomplished much. It will be continued. However, in its administration, the processing fee is paid by the product itself.

"To make the circle complete it must be supplemented. This is done by allocating 30 per cent of the customs receipts. For many years this has been advocated, but this is the first decided step which makes the accomplishments possible.

"The entire country will be benefited. While an adjustment program is necessary and will be carried on, the entire country is interested in the building of foreign markets. Looking down the long road to the future, our country cannot afford to surrender these markets. The prosperity, the happiness, the success of all of the people of America depend upon the maintenance of these markets.

"The use of this fund will do much to iron out the sore spots, to remove temporary gluts and to enable the products of the farm to flow into the markets of the world. It is an ideal supplement to the farm program. It will do much to strengthen that program and make it effective. There is no doubt of its legality. It will be national in scope and effective in operation."

Both Senator Connally and Congressman Jones are very much pleased at the success of their long fight.

Fall Maintains Defiant Attitude Regarding Ranch

THREE RIVERS, N. M., Aug. 19.—Albert Fall maintained his defiant attitude today to orders from the E. L. Doheny controlled Petroleum Securities company to move off the ranch Fall lost four years ago through foreclosure of a mortgage.

Fall will insist on his agreement at the time of the foreclosure to remain on the property. Fall and Doheny have been lifelong friends, and were once penniless prospectors in the southwest. A $100,000 loan from Doheny when Fall was secretary of the interior led to a prison sentence for the ex-cabinet member on charges of accepting a bribe.

Richetti Sentenced To Die On Oct. 4th

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 19.—Adam Richetti must die on the gallows Oct. 4 for his part in the Union Station massacre.

The swarthy confederate of the late Charles "Pretty Boy" Floyd was sentenced formally today.

Richetti, attired in striped overalls of county jail garb, merely blinked his eyes and made a hopeless gesture when he heard the sentence passed.

Five Cats Cause Queer Law Suit

DALLAS.—Five cats were the subject of a bitterly contested trial in corporation court here the other day as their pretty housewife owner defended their honor and actions against charges of neighbors that they were just plain alley cats which were never fed and worried the neighbors to death.

"Senator and Senator, Jr., two black cats, along with "Mitsi," the prettiest one in her owner's opinion, and two others are as nicely mannered, as well fed and as well loved as any five children, their owner said.

Starving, yowling, prowling beasts, "as thin as shadows," and want to climb over roof tops and dislodge bricks from the chimney was the description given them by the complaining neighbor.

Questions by attorneys as to how witnesses could tell the differences in tom cats and the other gender, how they could know the difference in alley cats and house cats and other questions concerning the felines' habits provided an hour's entertainment in the courtroom. Even Judge King Williamson could not restrain a smile when the complaining witness said, "Don't be a fool—I'm 75 years old and of course I can tell a tom cat when I see one."

"You teach voice lessons, don't you," the defense attorney parried in asking about the howling of the cats. "I don't suppose you could be mistaken in the source of the sounds?"

Judge Williamson dismissed the complaint.

There were 50 adults and a number of children present. Quite a number who could not attend sent gifts. The shower of gifts included all sorts of beautiful linens, two sets of dishes, a set of silverware and many other useful and pretty gifts. A short program consisted of a reading, "In the Usual Way," by Mrs. H. H. Nance, and a duet, "Mr. and Mrs. Is the Name," sung by Misses Edra Parks and Margaret Moore, with Miss Nell Robert at the piano. Another number was a reading, "Step and Fetch It," by Gwynell Parks. All of these numbers were well rendered and enjoyed. From a table decorated with roses the hostesses served delicious punch and cookies. The honoree was very attractive in a blue silk afternoon frock.

The monthly business meeting of the Methodist Missionary society was held at the church Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Charles Lee presiding. ### LAST FLIGHT

This map shows the route followed by Wiley Post, 'round-the-world flyer, and Will Rogers in their disastrous air-journey which began at Seattle, Aug. 6.

UNITED STATES MAY INVOKE PEACE PACT

PARIS, Aug. 20.—The United States may invoke the Kellogg peace pact, at least semi-officially, in an effort to avert the Italian-Ethiopian conflict.

This became evident as reports persisted that the League of Nations council, its peace efforts stalemated, may be called into session before Sept. 4, the date at which hostilities are expected to start.

Because the United States is a neutral nation it cannot formally invoke the pact, applicable in cases of aggression. It can, however, invoke clauses which give a neutral nation the right to express a desire for peace and call the attention of other world powers to impending conflicts.

Senator Sees Joke On Liquor Drinkers For Election Day

AUSTIN, Tex.—The fellow who likes his little nip of hard liquor will have the laugh on his friend who confines his drinking to 3.2, when August 24th rolls around. Legitimate places selling beer will close so far as the sale of beer is concerned on that day, for although that drink is a legal drink, its sale is prohibited during polling hours on election day. Thus the beer drinker must wait.

On the other hand the fellow who is looking for a drink of hard liquor won't notice the difference. Places selling hard liquor drinks operate without sanction of the law at all times, and election day really shows an increase in business for them, because the beer places which respect the laws are closed.

This is just another little "prohibition" joke, for on that particular election day "repeal of statewide prohibition" is one of the issues to be voted on. In the series of seven proposed changes to the state constitution.

"It is said that operators in many of these open saloons are calling attention to the fact in order to let their customers know that they will be open on Election Day," W. K. Hopkins, state senator from Gonzales said here today. "These saloons are well patronized and liquor to the extent of almost $100,000,000 each year is sold. They operate unhindered by regulations as to closing hours, to whom they might sell drinks, and pay no tax whatsoever to the State of Texas."

Roosevelt Will Go On the Air On Saturday Night

WASHINGTON, Aug. 19.—President Roosevelt will go on the air at 9 p. m. EST Saturday in a national address to the young democratic clubs of America in Milwaukee.

The president, who will speak from his study, will be introduced from Milwaukee and his remarks will be carried on a national hook-up.

Some time ago Mr. Roosevelt made plans to go to Milwaukee and address the young democrats, but engagements had to be cancelled because of the lateness of the adjournment of congress.

Observers have been waiting with interest his final plans on the Milwaukee speech and feel that the address will be the opening gun in his reply to new deal critics and it was believed he would review congressional activities and go broadly into the political situation.

"Popping Off" Gas Is Continued In Panhandle Area

AUSTIN, Aug. 20.—Natural gas still is "popping off" in the Texas Panhandle the state railroad commission learned today, but apparently there is no remedy until the anti-gas waste law is amended.

Phillips Petroleum company, made a granw avowal that it is popping about 10,000,000 cubic feet a day but insisted that in doing so they did not violate the law. Commission Chairman Ernest O. Thompson became alert to know how it is done. The allowances for "sweet" gas for plant fuel, it was explained, is co-mingled. The company said it was "sweet" gas they were popping off.

Revival of Blue Eagle Is Sought

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Efforts apparently coming from administration sources were made today to complete congressional action in the house on a bill to revive the NRA blue eagle.

The plan is contained in the Walsh bill, which stipulates that all government contracts must be awarded to firm that observe NRA standards of wages and working hours. The bill has passed the senate.

Service That Is COMPLETE

Even though the life of a dear one may be extinguished, yet its memory is like a light that shines forever. We, whose chosen duty it is to serve in the hour of sorrow, realize in a sympathetic manner, the desire of the family to perpetuate that memory with a final memory with a final ceremony that is dignified and beautiful. And it is the accomplishment of this organization to render that type of service—regardless of the sum expended.

DEAR WILL

By Olive Ford Stephens Olden, Texas

Dear Will, We can't hardly believe it yet, that you ain't comin' back. We jes keep awishin' that somehow it will all turn out to be a bad dream an' you'll come home, grinnin', chewin' gum an' crackin' jokes, like you allus have. It don't seem right, for you to go on and leave us this way. But Will, we know you never done it on purpose. We know you loved every inch of American soil, an' you loved your folks an' your friends an' your neighbors an' your countrymen and their neighbors too much to want to leave so soon. It wuz jes one of them things that happens once in awhile to let us folks here know we ain't runnin' the show. An' honest Will, we are a tryin' to be brave about it like you'd want us to be. We're tryin' to take it on the chin like you allus took things. But you see Will, it ain't such an easy job. We're kinda 'lost tryin' to tumble along without you the rest of the way. It's tough goin', Pardner.

There ain't an inch of American soil you didn't know and love Will. And knowin' this so well, jes made all us Americans feel sorta - yore kin folks. You know his it is Will. We kept up with you every day in the papers. You had such a great big, generous, understandin' heart Will, and it wuz allus shinin' thru your grinnin' and yore wise cracks. You that you had it covered up, but hehah you didn't have us folks fooled a bit. We know you wuz for your boots up. You pretended to be jes 'blown and kidded us right an' left but how about all the poor folks and the old folks and the kids you took care of? How about all the miles and miles o' flyin' and day and night shows you gave givin' the money to them hungry folks the drought had hit so hard. I ask you, how about all the good deeds you wuz allus doin' and then tryin' to cover up. How about all them old cowhands up around Kromore, Chelsea, Oolagah, Tallequah, Bartlesville, Dewey and Pawhuska? Say Will them old boys are shore missin' you. They are all sittin' round now thinkin' of the last time they saw you and recallin' what you said and rememberin' what all you have done for them. They are wonderin' why you had to leave like this so soon.

They are thinkin' bout that time you came to Bartlesville to put on a show an' they drifted in from the outlying ranches to see how the show business and fame had affected you. Well you showed 'em Pardner. They talk about it every time they get together. How you called 'em out of the audience, you knew they'd be there. How you had 'm all doin' rope tricks an' spinnin' yarns and turned the whole thing into a regular reunion. You had eaten beans out of the same pot with them old boys an' you never forgot it. Boy, they loved you for that. You wuz allus referin' to them in such a proud and lovable way. Say how can you expect 'em to keep a stiff upper lip when they know you ain't comin' back no more? It's askin' too much Will. It jes ain't human. An' don't think we're a bunch of panics, jes because there ain't a dry eye in this whole land tonight. You taught us to laugh, Bill. You taught us a lot of good old American hoss sense. You tried to teach us to look thru the fog to the sun; but somehow Will, we jes can't see thru it now.

Why Will, we wuz all a flyin' an' here in Alaska with you an' Wiley. We wuz laughin' at your jokes and seein' Alaska with you. We wuz sailin' thru the blue over our last frontier an' thankin' our lucky stars we could do it. You didn't know we wuz with you Will but we wuz. Old boys followin' a plow, men in offices, in clubs, riding the range, on golf links and in flop houses, women standing on tired feet behind counters, or riding in limousines, little girls playing dolls, little boys in overalls and in Boy Scout uniforms. We wuz all a flyin' with you. Can't you see how it is now Will? All at once, a whisper coming down from the far north that it is all over. That there ain't goin' to be no more now or ever on this earth. That we ain't goin' to hear your lovable drawl on the radio or read your daily letter in the papers or see you at lucky times on the streets of our cities. That they are bringin' your and Wiley's broken bodies back to Juneau by plane and then either by plane or out to the States for burial. That you ain't goin' to be grinnin' along with us keepin' our old courage up, our shoulders squared, our tremblin' chins up. Well Will, you just can't do all this alone, that you've been helpin' us do for so long. We jes can't do it.

We know you and Wiley got a swell welcome over there. Any one that lived like you did Will, was bound to be greeted in Heaven with open arms. You wuz yuz livin' yore religion seven days every week fifty two weeks every year Will. It is bound to be a happier place with you there, but boy what a blue old world you left behind.

Course every one is tryin' to say, that maybe you'll like it better up there—that you are better off—that it may be all for the best—but they are all a sayin' it with a sob in their throat an' with tears runnin' down their faces. Cause, underneath it all, Will, we can't understand why it had to turn out like this. We know you will miss us folks back here too and we know you wuz gettin' more out o' livin' than most any one ever learned how to get. You wuz used to yore home range and you didn't change outfits on purpose. No sir. We ain't blamin' you Pardner. We know it wuz jes as much a shock to you as it wuz to us. None of us had time to even say "Goody-bye" did we?

That's why I'm writin' to you this way. We want you to know how we feel about you. We are thankin' God that you lived with us as long as you did. That we knew the depth of your soul and the warmth of your smile. That it was American soil that gave you birth an American blood wuz in your veins. You made this tough old world a better place by livin' in it Will, an teachin' us how to take the rough spots. And say, Pardner, if these is anything from over there that you can do to help us take this rough spot, lend a hand, Pardner, we need it. Our hearts are so heavy and we are blinded by tears and cannot see our way. Yours with love, America.

County Planning Boards Formed In Forty-One Counties

AUSTIN.—"Forty-one county planning boards have been formed at the joint request of the Works Progress Administration and the Texas Planning Board," according to W. M. Massie, chairman of the Texas Planning Board. "This is a very gratifying response to our request, but we do not want to stop with only 41 county planning boards," said Massie. "Texas has 254 counties, and 41 counties out of this number amounts to only 16 per cent. We should have a county planning board in at least half of our counties," said Mr. Massie. The following counties now have active county planning boards: Anderson, Brown, Camaron, Cass, Cherokee, Childress, Dallas, Dallam, Donley, Fannin, Fort Bend, Galveston, Gray, Gregg, Hale, Hall, Hays, Hidalgo, Howard, Kaufman, Lamar, Limestone, Mitchell, Montgomery, Morris, Motley, Nacogdoches, Nueces, Orange, Potter, Robertson, Rock, San Patricio, Shelby, Smith, Trinity, Tyler, Upshur, Waller, Washington and Willacy. The Works Progress Administration and the Texas Planning Board both agreed to sponsor county planning boards at a joint meeting held in San Antonio on July 22. "Counties should not delay the appointment of county planning boards," said Massie. "Now is the time to appoint these boards if they are to be helpful to the Works Progress Administration and the Texas Planning Board."

Branding Iron Maker Keeps Busy

KERRVILLE, Texas.—Contrary to a popular notion that the old to the scrap heap and to place as a mere symbol of the old west, Frank Krueger, local blacksmith, says he has done an increasing business in making brands during the past two years. The door of his blacksmith shop bears more than 1000 livestock brands, burned into the wood. Some of the brands burned into the shop door are 32 years old. They vary in size and include cattle, calf, sheep and goat brands. It takes from 15 minutes to a whole day to make a branding iron, Krueger says.

FARMERS TAKE FIRM STAND AGAINST SALES

MAYSVILLE, Mo., Aug. 17.—Northwestern Missouri farmers today promised further action to halt mortgage foreclosure sales if necessary, as federal officials conferred in Kansas City.

Federal Judge Merrill Otis whose orders for sales of farms Thursday and Friday led to violence, called the Kansas City meeting.

E. E. Conroy, special agent in charge of federal agents at Kansas City, and other federal officials were asked to meet with Judge Otis and discuss means of apprehending the protesters who participated in demonstrations at Maysville yesterday and at Plattburg Thursday.

Judge Otis also called for the April grand jury to reconvene on Aug. 26 to consider evidence in the assault on two federal agents Thursday.

The demonstrators at Maysville and Plattburg, members of the Farmers Protective association, said they would block scheduled sales of farm property to be held at Maysville later this month.

Native Texas Stone Urged For Building Projects In Texas

AUSTIN.—"There is only one day to sell native Texas building stone to Texas architects," said Wilbur C. Hawk, chairman of the Texas Planning Board's mineral resources committee, "and that is to get each architect to visit the native building stone exhibit on display at the bureau of economic geology at the University of Texas.

"Once an architect sees this remarkable display," said Mr. Hawk, "no more salesmanship is necessary." Mr. Hawk's mineral resources committee is intent on getting Texas stone used in Texas buildings wherever stone is specified. This means new quarries and new finishing plants which also means employment for Texas citizens.

The Texas Planning Board is charged with the duty of ascertaining the amount of federal money to be expended in Texas and then making a plan for the expenditure of such funds that will put unemployed citizens back to work.

"If each of our committees will urge Texans to use Texas products," said Mr. Hawk. "I believe the depression would be over for Texas."

"The mineral resources committee's chief interest at present is to find out how neglected by the people these resources are," said Mr. Hawk. "To date we have discovered Indiana limestone being used in the construction of the new main building at the University of Texas and Arkansas asphalt being used for the construction of Texas highways." "We also find that Texans prefer monuments made from Vermont and Georgia granites," said Mr. Hawk, "notwithstanding the fact that recent investigations by the Bureau of Economic Geology lead this department to predict that the central mineral district of Texas (Llano, Mason, Gillespie, Blanco, Burnet, and San Saba counties) will ultimately become one of the largest centers of the stone industry on the continent."

Olden School to Receive Modern All Steel Bus

At a meeting of the Olden school board last Monday the trustees placed their order for a modern all-steel school bus for the benefit of high school students in rural districts who have transferred to Olden.

The chassis is the latest model six cylinder bus, which will provide ample power for the maximum load regardless of weather or roads.

The bus body is the "all-steel" superior which comprises the following features: An inner 14-gauge cold-rolled steel, riveted and welded frame combined with outer panels of 20 gauge auto body steel.

The latest type of safety glass for every window and windshield; complete visibility from the driver's seat; positively controlled folding entrance door; emergency rear exit with foolproof and child-proof opening mechanism; safety tread entrances and non-slip linoleum floor covering; heavy channel steel rear bumpers; proper ventilation; insulated against heat, cold and fumes; comfortable seats, and well-spaced dome lights.

The bus will be driven and cared for by an experienced man over 21 years of age and under bond as is required by law.

Anyway, the question isn't who burned up those utilities telegrams, as it is who would be burned up by them.

Driver's Licenses Urged As An End To Drunk Driving

AUSTIN, Aug. 13.—Gov. James V. Allred will be asked to submit a drivers licensing law as emergency legislation to the special session anticipated in September.

Rep. Fred Harris, of Dallas, author of the licensing bill which failed by only two votes at the regular session, said he would ask the governor this week to include the subject in his call for the extraordinary session. Harris is now lining up support for his measure and tightening its provisions.

Asked what effect repeal would have on the measure, Harris said: "I believe my bill will pass regardless of whether repeal passes or not, but a national survey I have made with Rep. Jim Young, chairman of the house liquor traffic committee, convinces me that a drivers licensing law has greatly decreased drunken driving in states both wet and legally dry."

Harris said replies had been received from officials of 47 of the 48 states in answer to an inquiry about drunken driving statistics after repeal and under drivers license laws. "There was no increase in any state and a decrease in many," Harris said.

Among other support lined up, Harris lists Representative Young whose committee will have much to say regarding liquor traffic regulation should repeal pass.

In Austin, the Cuero representative strongly favored both repeal and the license law. "We have no effective curb against drunkenness and drunken driving now," he said. Under repeal and under strict regulations which the legislature will pass, we can get rid of many of the evils of prohibition and the reign of the bootlegger. It will be easier to keep liquor out of the hand of the young people when the traffic is put the hands of law-abiding dealers who are paying a fair tax to the state."

Harris said under the terms of his bill, the drunken driver would forfeit his license and be subject to fine, imprisonment and suspension of driving privilege in degrees commensurate with his offense.

He said that such bills passed in 27 states had never been repealed and were reported working successfully at the present time. He said the governor favored his bill at the past session.

School Meetings Called Success By Superintendent

LUBBOCK, Tex.—Department of education officials have termed the statewide series of school officials conferences being held under the direction of State Superintendent L. A. Woods, as highly successful.

The conferences are an experiment in efficiency in acquainting Texas' 35,000 school officers and 60,000 school and academy instructors with new laws, proposed changes in administrative detail, and new regulations.

"The plan replaces our old hit or miss procedure of depending upon letters and random contacts," C. M. Ellwell, member of the state department of education staff said.

"In five meetings of this tour," Ellwell added, "we have contacted approximately 8,000 people, and indications are we will reach the greater part of those who train the state's more than 1,000,000 school children."

Among subjects under discussion this year are, the proposed teacher retirement fund; a "free text book" law, which would enable all students whether in public or private schools to have state textbooks; new high school tuition law; widened attendance schedules and ages, and Texas Centennial music plans.

"The coming year will be the biggest yet for music in Texas if present public school plans to that end are carried out," Superintendent Woods said here.

The meeting here was seventh of the series.

New York WPA Men Are Not Paid

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—More than 100,000 works progress administration employes faced an unpleasant week-end today because checks two days overdue for two weeks' pay have not been prepared. Relief bureau authorities said thousands of families were without food.

Gen. Hugh S. Johnson, New York WPA administrator, under whose direction the checks are prepared, disclaimed responsibility for the situation.

Rock Springs Man Killed In Battle

ROCK SPRINGS, Aug. 17.—John Smith of Junction, Texas, was shot five times and killed last night in front of a local cafe. Special Ranger Roscoe Morris surrendered after the shooting. He waived examining trial and was released on $5,000 bond.

Prison Manager Favors Probation For Adult Prisoners

HOUSTON, Aug. 16.—Lee Simmons, manager of the Texas prison system, favors passage of the amendment providing for adult probation, as a great aid in handling crime problems, he informed Judge Langston B. King in a recent letter.

"My experience, both as an officer and as general manager of the prison system," Simmons said, "convince me that there are many men who should be placed on probation by the district judge who tries the case, as the judge can learn practically all the facts from the various officials, the family and acquaintances of the man being tried."

"In my judgment," he said, "it would be better to parole certain prisoners, keeping them under the supervision of the court, the judge having authority to send them to the penitentiary when they fail to comply with the conditions set out by the district judge, keeping in mind, of course, always the interest of the citizenship."

The proposed amendment has been endorsed by the Texas Bar association and of the judicial section of the organization, which is composed of district judges.

Texas Ranges In Good Condition On First of Month

Texas cattle ranges usually decline 3 or 4 points during July but this year they showed no decline in condition. The condition on August 1, 1935, was 86 percent of normal compared with 50 percent a year ago and 78.4 percent the 10-year average on August 1. Prospects for fall and winter range feed and feed crops are good for the State as a whole. The north-west Panhandle and western Trans Pecos Texas are still dry and shortages of feed supplies are likely to exist there. Most of the 1934 drought areas have revived sufficiently that ranges can be restocked.

Sheep ranges declined only 2 points during July this year when ordinarily there is a decline of 4 points. The condition on August 1, 1935, was 87 percent of normal compared with 55 percent a year ago and 80.4 percent the 10-year average on August 1. The prospects for fall and winter range feed are good for most of the

3,000 Teachers Are Given Employment

AUSTIN, Tex.—Approximately 3,500 Texas teachers have been given jobs during the past 18 months in a statewide adult education program. University of Texas officials said today.

Two thousand of the 3,500 teachers are attending special training schools before beginning fall classes. They are receiving special instruction in adult teaching methods and psychology. Four state schools, including Prairie View State Normal for negroes, are offering the course.

BARNABAS, IN PARTNERSHIP WITH GOD
Acts 4:36, 37; 11:19-30
Golden Text: He was a good man, and full of the Holy Ghost and of faith.—Acts 11:24.
Barnabas is introduced in Acts 4 with the name Joseph or Joseph, which is changed to Barnabas, meaning son of consolation or prophecy. This was done to honor him for his full surrender of his life and means to the Lord. He was a man of wide connections, probably having studied in the schools of Tarsus, and of a great liberal spirit.

In Acts 11 a vivid picture is found of the preaching which had been only to the Jews being given to others. The persecution of the Christians had scattered them abroad and they preached with great success to the Greeks.
Paul was in Tarsus but many people did not trust his conversion and was still afraid of him, remembering how cruel he had been in his persecution of them.
Barnabas, a Greek-speaking Jew, was sent by the church at Jerusa-

ON TEXAS FARMS

Preparing for fall planting is another summer-time yard job commended by Miss Jacks. Planting peas to turn under, she recommends as a good way to get the ground in shape.

BRADY—Planting soy beans in every third row of cotton saved part of his cotton crop for Grover T. Gattis, McCulloch county farmer, according to J. D. Prewitt, county agricultural agent.
Thirty acres, of which every row was planted to cotton, has been completely destroyed by cut worms and grasshoppers.
The 16 acres of cotton that he interplanted with soy beans came up in good condition. The cut worms and grasshoppers fed entirely on the soy beans and did not touch the cotton. Gattis says that the soy beans are growing again now and that he expects to make a good crop out of them.

COTULLA — The past three years have proved the advantages of diversified farming, according to John Nagy, county agricultural agent from LaSalle county.
"Before this time," he said, "the farmers of this county depended on corn and cotton as their cash crops."
One farmer in this county changed his method of farming from planting corn altogether to diversifying with other crops for feed and cash. On his farm of 400 acres in cultivation he has 60 acres in corn as roasting ears, averaging $15.60 per acre; he gathered more than one-third of his corn crop as dry corn.
He sold 93,000 pounds of pop corn for $2,325. He has 60 acres of cotton on which he will harvest one-fourth of a bale per acre. He also has 100 acres of different kinds of grain sorghums, some of which will harvest three cuttings of feed. With this feed he will fatten his hogs and calves that he has raised, saving enough feed for his work stock.
On 80 acres, he has planted peas, picked them green and sold them at a profit. He then plowed under the pea vines and is keeping this piece of land in readiness for a fall crop of spinach and onions.

lem to inquire into the matter at Antioch. Barnabas had gained a great understanding of men through his full surrender to God. So when he found heathens being converted, he was glad and also began to preach to them.

The work grew and he felt the need of someone to help him. No doubt but that he had pondered and prayed over Paul's work in Tarsus. His understanding of men gave him the vision of what Paul, so learned and eloquent, could do with proper backing. He went to Tarsus seeking Saul.

Antioch, at that time was the metropolis of Syria, situated at the northeast corner of the Mediterranean sea, being the third largest city in the Roman Empire, with a population of 5,000 people.

It was connected with its seaport, Seleucia, by the River Orontes, a great road and a huge canal cut through masses of solid rock. In this great wealthy city, with its walls 50 feet high and so wide that two chariots could drive abreast on them, Christianity took a great forward step.

These two preachers did not have an easy road to proclaim the gospel in that city. Five miles out was the grove of Daphne, filled with shrines of Apollo, Venus, Iris, crowded theaters, baths, taverns and dancing saloons. This place was so infamous that if a sailor visited it he was dismissed from the imperial service.

Their labor together is a beautiful picture of service gained by a bond of faith and consecration common to each in love to "The Lord of Hosts."

Barnabas did three outstanding things that proved he was full of the Holy Ghost and faith. The first was his consecration of self and wealth to the service of God. The second when he went to Tarsus and took Paul under his protection, thus assuring all disciples that Paul was reliable and his conversion real.

Then later when they were joined by Mark, who faltered when the work was hard, Paul turned away from him. Barnabas understood that Mark, who was his nephew, might quit if he turned away from him. So in love for the cause of Christ he turned from his valued helper, Paul, and went with Mark. So there were two great missionary teams, Paul and Silas, Barnabas and Mark, taking different directions to proclaim the gospel.

The spirit that Barnabas expressed, love, sympathy and untiring labor is at variance with the spirit of the world today. It is often heard in the business world, "Show me what you can do in money results."

But happy are the people who vision Christ, who takes the love of sin, such as existed in the days of Antioch and today, in the saloon question out of the hearts of people. In the place of turbulent, stormy minds and hearts he brings peace and quietness, new visions of an eternal home where the weary can rest in a new and perfect world.

"And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it; for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof."
"And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it."—Rev. 21:23, 24.

Port Houston Is Still Leading In Exports of Cotton

By United Press
HOUSTON, Tex.—Port Houston retained the lead in cotton exports from the United States in spite of a big drop in total exports during the season closing July 31, according to J. F. Burwell, secretary of the Cotton Exchange and Board of Trade.

Cotton was loaded for 33 foreign ports, chiefly European. Loadings declined, but slight increases were taken by Spain, Finland, Greece, Sweden, Denmark, India and the Philippine Islands.

Russia bought 16,587 bales, the first since the 1930-31 season when 2,431 bales were shipped to the U. S. S. R. German exports declined last season to 102,464 bales, compared with 452,962 the previous season. Japan led by importing 493,127 bales.

ALL SINGERS FROM THIS PART OF STATE ARE INVITED TO BE IN RANGER FOR TWO-DAY EVENT

A real song festival is promised those who will attend the big singing convention which will be held in Ranger Saturday night, Aug. 24, and Sunday, Aug. 25.

Several noted quartettes and singers from over Texas have been invited to attend and take part, and some have already notified the local singing association of their intention of being present.

The convention is being sponsored by the local singing association, of which Dr. A. K. Wier is president, the trustees of the independent school district and the Chamber of Commerce.

The convention will be held in Ranger's new $40,000 auditorium, which is a recent addition to Ranger's school system.

Over 500 letters have gone out to singers of this section of the state inviting them to take part, and no doubt the seating capacity of the auditorium will be taxed to take care of the crowds.

Every singer in this section of the state is invited to attend, take part and enjoy this unusual treat of hearing noted singers and quartettes.

The three organizations sponsoring the convention have formed committees to do everything possible to make the meeting a big success, and they want everyone to feel welcome to be here and take part in this great song festival.

R. F. Holloway Is Rotary Speaker At Meet Wednesday

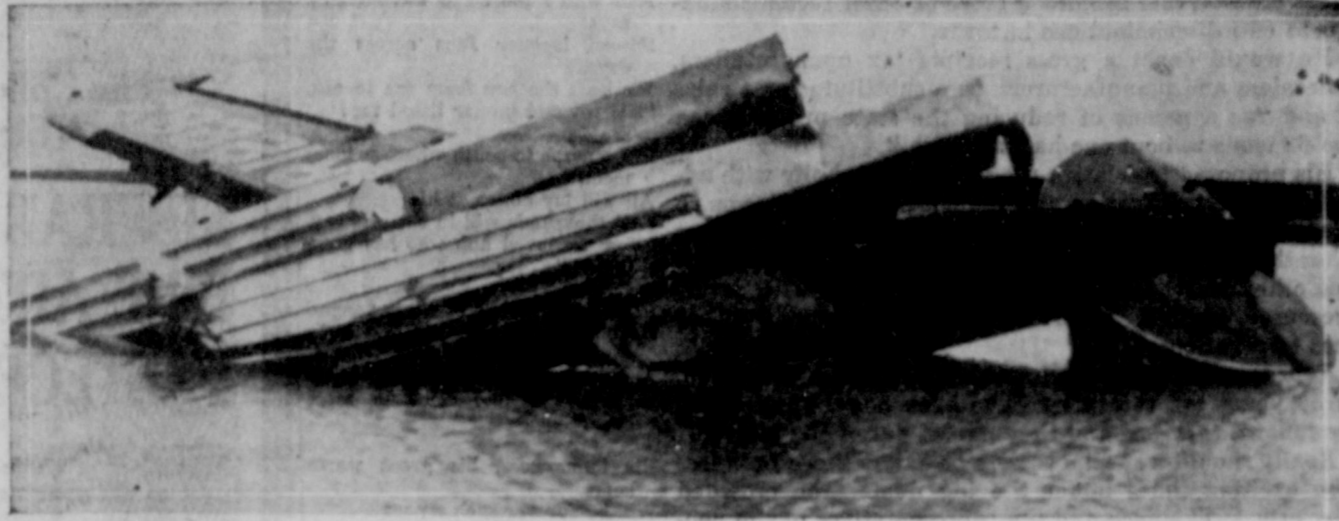

J. C. Smith had charge of the Rotary club program today and introduced R. F. Holloway, former superintendent of schools, who spoke on the subject, "Thrift Among Teachers."

He said that many people asked him why he quit the teaching profession after 40 years, but that he had not quit the profession, he was merely trying to aid the teachers in promoting thrift among their numbers.

He said that he resigned as superintendent to promote a bond company that would enable teachers to save part of their earnings to provide for themselves in old age.

He thanked the people of Ranger for the co-operation he has received during his long stay in the city and said that he had rather live in Ranger than any place he had ever lived, but that he believed he had an opportunity to enter a field of greater usefulness.

Tuition Reasonable At Junior College

Expenses at Ranger Junior College are unusually reasonable, and students can attend school much cheaper in Ranger than by attending many of the larger colleges in the larger towns.

Tuition for one or two courses, each, per semester, costs but $15, three courses per semester $40 and for each additional course a charge of $5 per semester is made.

Fees include $2.50 for first year science laboratory, per semester; second year science laboratory fee is $3.50 and the library fee per semester is $1 and the student activities fee is also $1.

Fines of $1 are made for late registration or for changing or dropping courses, while a fine of five cents per hour is made for keeping reserve books overtime and a charge of ten cents per day is made for books kept overtime.

Realizing that the students could more conveniently pay their tuition on the installment plan the board has devised a schedule for time payments.

All fees must be paid and tuition arranged for before a student is given an admit slip permitting him to enter classes. No tuition or fees are returnable except at the discretion of the finance committee of the board for valid reasons of withdrawal.

Letters Are Sent To Singers Over This Entire Area

Publicity has been mailed out to every singer in this section of the state, it was announced Monday, advertising the big singing convention, to be held in the recreation building auditorium on Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 24 and 25.

The letters were signed by Dr. A. K. Wier, president of the Ranger Singing association; J. E. Moneys, president of the Chamber of Commerce; L. H. Flewelin, president of the school board, and Dr. Harry A. Logsdon, mayor of Ranger. The convention is being sponsored by the four groups whose heads signed the letters.

The letters, which have already been placed in the mail, read as follows:

"The local singing association, Chamber of Commerce, and school board have united and are staging on Saturday evening and Sunday, Aug. 24 and 25, what we hope will be one of the greatest singing conventions ever held in this section of the state.

"The school board has tendered us their magnificent $40,000 auditorium for this occasion. We are assured of the co-operation of some of the outstanding music companies of the state in making this a great occasion for all lovers of music, which does and should include the entire population.

"Various committees have been appointed to look after the comfort and care of visitors during this convention. "The local singing association,

Chamber of Commerce, and local school board have resolved themselves into a committee of the whole to welcome you. A subcommittee from each of the above organizations will be designed as an entertainment committee.

"It is our intention to take care of all the representatives of various music companies, teachers, quartets, etc., from a distance.

"The school board has graciously tendered us their dormitories, basements, etc. The city its parks, swimming pool, etc., for the noon hour refreshments of Sunday.

"Some of our leading pastors have agreed to cut their 11 o'clock service that they might add their support to the success of this event.

"But dear singer, this event will not be what we would like for it to be unless you and your music loving friends are with us. "We will be expecting you. Please do not disappoint us."

When the sun is blazing hot, your motor heat goes up, too!

To protect your motor, use Germ Processed Oil, which has 2 to 4 times greater film strength and is less affected by extreme motor heat!

YOUR MOTOR runs lots hotter in Summer. That's why you must have oil that maintains high film strength under extreme temperatures to get safe lubrication. Otherwise, the lubricating film ruptures and the bearings and cylinders suffer damaging wear.

Plain mineral oils have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing methods have even less. As motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

You'll get better motor protection with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Timken machine tests prove that it has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil and that heat above 225° does not lessen this advantage.

More proof—supervised road tests were made in identical cars fitted with the new alloy metal bearings used in many 1935 cars. The bearings lubricated with a high-quality plain mineral oil showed 45% more wear than those lubricated with Conoco Germ Processed, the first alloyed oil.

You'll be certain your motor is safely lubricated even at high temperatures if you say "O. K.—Drain" and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—the oil with the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away.

Tired Congress Sees End of Long Grind

Congress, like a tired horse after a long day's drive, is breaking into a beated trot as it sees the home barn just ahead.

It has been a long session, probably almost eight months by the time adjournment finally comes.

To many it will have seemed a disappointing session, because it failed to pile up tangible results in the fast, impressive manner of its predecessor.

To others it will mark the resumption by Congress of its power to legislate after a period of near-dictation.

To still others, adjournment will simply be a relief, a chance to back off and see where we are, a chance to re-adjust things on a basis that should remain the same of least until mid-winter.

It is the first Congress to have met under the Norris amendment to the Constitution, providing that congressmen elected in November take their seats immediately in January instead of waiting until the following December, as used to be the case.

The increased outspokenness of several new members this session was one of its outstanding characteristics. Coming direct from the electorate with public feeling still fresh in their minds, new members have not fainted the "freshman" silence that has been customary in the past.

But the general feeling weariness with continued congressional wrangling is well-marked. You can feel it all over the country.

There is a lag in enthusiasm in any military campaign. When a major crisis is at hand, soldiers rally to it. But when the battle settles down to a long siege of trench warfare, the soldiers grow tired and listless, begin grumbling.

So it is today. The first fine enthusiasm of a united frontal attack on the depression has passed. It has settled down to a grinding warfare for the present of trench raids and fitful sniping and cannonading. People have sustained themselves at high pitch for as long as they can. Now they want rest, a breathing space.

It does not mean that we have given up in the battle against unemployment, insecurity, and want. The battle must be resumed if the war is to be won. But for the moment the troops are tired (and that's all of us, from Congress down to just us folks), and we all want to rest a spell before pushing on.

WPA Will Give Jobs to Artists and Dramatists

Henry P. Drought is state administrator of the WPA. Now artists, musicians, dramatists and writers who are on relief will be given employment through the Works Progress Administration. Washington superiors have instructed Drought to include projects in these fields to permit the transfer from Texas relief commission rolls of those qualified "for such activity." There is said to be an army of artists, musicians, dramatists and writers in Texas who are unemployed as well as on the relief rolls and they are to be cared for.

There is a Centennial commission appointed by the congress. There is a state commission. There is a Dallas Centennial commission and there are hundreds of municipal and county commissions either on paper or organized. Just now the Texas Relief commission has laid down stringent rules to conserve dwindling state funds by eliminating "unworthy recipients from the relief rolls." Tenant farmers actually growing or harvesting a crop are ordered stricken from the rolls. Officials said the responsibility of subsistence of tenants would fall upon landlords. Thousands of landlords have been on the ragged edge for years meeting the local and state tax demands as well as carrying croppers and laborers "on their landed possessions."

Howard C. Hopson

As a witness before two congressional investigating committees Howard C. Hopson employed a sharp tongue and mercilessly scored the house and senate probes. He declared the representatives of the government were prying into his personal affairs and indicated he would refuse to surrender records pertaining to his annual income. He was very cocksure. He was very jaunty, and he snapped his fingers, so to speak, at the venerable senators and the gentlemen of the lower house.

Hopson is the main who created the billion dollar Associated Gas and Electric system and is said to be "master mind" of the holding companies of America. He speaks for the utilities and their holding companies, "having a value of $11,000,000,000," according to President Gadsden, who is said to be the real master mind of the companies. Gadsden has invited the President of the United States to carry the issue to the voters of the country. Hopson wraps the flag of the republic about his fat form and relies upon "the constitution of the United States to protect him from all harm and all inquisitions." Of course the government (federal and state), is the creator of all holding companies and all corporations. Just now the creatures are on trial and the creator is invited to "do its damndest." This is a merry old world and there are times when the people take the bit in their mouth and do their "damndest" at the ballot box.

Missouri is seeking its most cussed mate, but is confining its search to those with long ears.

Rep. MacFarland and Full Rendition Act

Texas has a fullrendition statute. It was enacted by the lawmakers "to end discriminations in taxation which robbed the state treasury and robbed or penalized the taxpayers of many counties," Rep. C. M. MacFarland of Wichita county has been at work for weeks on a tax report, tax recommendations and "the draft of bills to be considered in a special session." He makes the bold charge that 245 Texas tax assessors are violating the full rendition law. He insists that the attorney general bring ouster suits against the tax assessor, and submits a score of other recommendations to end discriminations in taxes.

He would enact a gross receipts tax upon retailers, wholesalers and manufacturers, as a substitute for a sales tax and "as a means of reducing the state property tax from 62 cents to about one-half as much."

His proposed legislative program deals wholly with adjusting property taxation and reducing the ad valorem in certain counties "where it runs as much as 1700 per cent higher than in other counties on certain types of property." From other sources recommendations will deal with natural resource, income, inheritance, intangible and other forms of taxation.

Representative MacFarland has tackled a huge job. For 50 years tax reformers have been busy. They came, they fought, they lost and they passed out of the picture.

Really should a special session be called there promises to be exciting times under the big dome—the crowded lobby ever in evidence and the representatives of the people and the tax assessors and their friends and their backers making life interesting for all concerned.

Herbert Hoover As the Defender of the Constitution

Herbert Hoover hopes to score a comeback in 1936. His latest is a demand that President Roosevelt tell the administration's plans to "change the constitution of the United States." Well the constitution has been changed many times. Many amendments have been added to the sacred document of the fathers of the revolution. Many have been made in the 159 years of American history. Students of government are aware of the act that the makers or drafters of the constitution paved the way for changes or additions.

The bill of rights of the constitution remains intact. The American people enjoy freedom of the press. They enjoy freedom of conscience. They enjoy freedom of the free ballot. They make and unmake constitutions and they make and unmake administrations, federal or state. They have not been robbed of their constitutional privileges. All the power of constitutional government rests in their own hands and their own ballots. Herbert Hoover was president four years. He was picked by a democratic president, Woodrow Wilson for many important missions and posts. In those days he did not know whether he was a "democrat or a republican." He just kept sawing wood and said nothing.

He was ousted from the presidency by a tremendous vote in the electoral college and a popular vote at the polling places by a tremendous majority of the men and women who should be the masters and are when they take sufficient interest to assume the responsibility vested in them by the federal constitution.

Grover Cleveland was defeated for a second term. Four years later he was renominated by the democrats and independents of the republic and gave to the American people an administration of public affairs that had not been surpassed by his immediate predecessors. Really, the democrats and liberals of "America would welcome the California "defender of the constitution" as the republican nominee for the presidency next year. He represents a dead age and a dead civilization. He represents the reactionaries of a party and dead administrations that ever placed property rights above human rights.

Chairman Marvin Jones As a Critic

Marvin Jones is the congressional representative from the Panhandle district. He is chairman of the powerful house agricultural committee. He never goes to sleep at the switch. His forebears were among the pioneers of Texas. They were farmers and ranchmen. He was born on a farm. As a youth he worked on a farm. He knows all about the economic ills of the farmer.

A new organization has appeared on the surface. It is known as the "Farmers' Independent Council of America." This is the slogan of the group: "The Farmer Should Be Left Alone." Jones hit the slogan with his sledge hammer. He branded it as "another fallacy." This is what he placed in the record for all legitimate farmers to read:

"If there had been no trade barriers, nor monopolies, no group legislation and no tariffs, the farmers would have needed no legislation."

The makers of things have been the beneficiaries of all high tariff legislation for 60 years. They have been responsible for all the monopolies created. Their slogan was that the tariff was for "the protection of American labor." Well, the slogan and the makers of the tariff laws left the American laborer without a job and on the dole.

American Eagles to Support Child Labor Amendments

Delegates to the 37th annual convention of the Order of American Eagles in session in the city of Dayton adopted a unanimous resolution pledging continued support of the order's campaign against child labor. There is a constitutional amendment pending in the legislatures of many states. And its backers in all the states are hopeful of winning the requisite number of state ratifications the coming winter in order to make success possible. They have won many victories in recent years. They need 10 additional votes by states. They lost in New York and Texas in 1935 although the President and Governor Lehman battled for ratification at Albany and many of the New Deal strongest supporters, including the governor, championed the cause of ratification in Texas. Now the battle is on again, and unless the signs of the times are misleading, regardless of Herbert Hoover, the federal constitution may carry another addition before the coming of 1940.

POET'S CORNER

A TRIBUTE TO THE WEST'S OWN WILL ROGERS

By PHYLLIS D. ROGERS
Throughout this land he called his own,
No name was ever better known;
And rising to the sky of blue,
The cry rings out, "We loved him, too!"

And where the sun's red burning rays
Spread lacquer fans across the days,
We hear the cry from sea to sea,
"His wit and humor lifted me!"

From north to south where princes meet,
All will lay honor at his feet;
And thousands will in sadness say,
"How we loved him who has gone today"

People and realms of every tongue
Have known his humor, have shared his fun;
And every place we go, we'll hear,
"I feel I've lost someone most dear!"

His humanness, his great warm heart,
Will be forever such a part
Of this great land that knew him best,
That we can say, "He loved the West!"

You ride in safety with the Ford V-8

SAFETY comes first in designing a Ford car. The people look to us to make the safest car it is possible to make. Cost doesn't enter into that.

Long ago we decided that the all-steel body was the safest type of automobile body. It cost us more, but it was the right thing to do. So we put it into production.

Safety Glass was another important step forward. As far back as 1927 we began using it for the windshields of the Ford. Now all Ford body types are equipped with Safety Glass throughout. It costs us more to provide this extra protection, but you do not pay extra for it.

Ford brakes are another important safety feature. They are powerful and quick-stopping and we believe they are the safest and most dependable type of brakes for motor cars. Cost isn't a factor here—Ford brakes are the same design as those used on the most expensive automobiles.

The idea behind the Ford V-8 is to bring a constantly higher standard of motor car value within reach of every one who drives. That applies to safety as well as performance, comfort, beauty and convenience.

They lead the "life of Riley." World War veterans assigned to the Federal relief camps in the south admit, even though they have to do some work in return for their $30 to $45 a month and keep. The veterans' "heaven" has been established to prevent a recurrence of the Hoover bonus snafu.

collect fees from dealers. These fees are not included in the figures given above. In at least a few of the states they run to about half as much as the state collects itself.

Legions Memorial Coins May Be Lost Issued in the U. S.

AUSTIN.—In view of the fact that President Franklin D. Roosevelt recently sent a message to the congress urging that it approve no more memorial coin issues, the American Legion's Centennial coin sale to raise funds for the construction of a Texas Memorial Museum on the campus of the University of Texas may provide one of the few remaining, if not the last, opportunities for collectors to buy a Garland Adair, chairman of the American Legion Centennial committee. President Roosevelt, however, not only approved the purpose for which the Texas Centennial coin was issued, but has given the Legion the pen with which he signed the bill authorizing the issue, to be placed in the museum.

of 1,500,000 of the 50-cent memorial coins, which will sell for $1. In designing the coin, the Legion marked it "1836-1836" to enhance its sale value and to advertise Texas regardless of what year in which it is sold.

Additional funds for the museum are expected to be provided by the federal government. The state's Centennial appropriation bill set aside $250,000 for the structure. Following the 1936 celebration, the museum will be maintained under the administration of the University's board of regents. J. Frank Dobie, professor of English at the university, predicts that the museum very likely will prove to be the most popular building on the campus, among both students and visitors.

France Erects Total Of 40,000 Statues To Joan of Arc

PARIS, Fr. — Forty thousand statues to a single individual breaks the record in France. The individual is Joan of Arc, the girl warrior who was burned at the stake in Rouen 504 years ago, and who was made a saint 15 years ago.

young French heroine. Orleans, which Joan of Arc delivered from the English in 1429 and where a "procession of gratitude" is held every year, has more statues than any other city. There are more than 200 there in the Joan of Arc Museum alone which vary in size from one or two feet in height to life-size statues. Some are of granite, marble and bronze; others are in glass, china and wood. There are monuments to the Maid of Orleans in Rouen, where she died, and others at Domremy, her birthplace.

In all, there are a minimum of 40,000, and according to a Paris bronze founder the number of statues is constantly increasing. This artisan says he produces at least one statue of Joan of Arc every week. The next French person to be so honored is Napoleon Bonaparte, who according to statistics runs a close second to Joan of Arc in the number of statues erected in his honor.
