

GAS COMPANY SUED, ASKED FOR $225,000

A suit involving $225,000 in asserted damages has been filed in 91st district court against Lone Star Gas company, Lone Star Gasoline company, R. F. Gilman, T. K. Simmons, J. H. Boyle and the Federal Land Bank of Houston by William Tilman Stubblefield, Eastland, and F. D. Wright, Cisco.

Basis of the complaint, according to plaintiff's petition, is the alleged non-development of oil and gas leases according to an agreement executed by the defendants in 1914 and 1927.

Nature of the plaintiffs' demands were briefed in citations as follows: "The lessees by accepting said lease... became bound as a matter of law to develop lands for the production of oil and gas... and to market the production therefrom with reasonable diligence."

Drake Fraud Stamps This A Sucker Era

When the history of these troubled times comes to be written—if a historian can be found who has the strength for the job—one of its verdicts probably will be that this was the blossoming time and the midsummer heyday of the great American sucker.

Evidence to support that verdict is swathing about all over the landscape. It makes the newspapers bulky and crowds the ads out of the magazines. But the keystone of the arch and the cap on the monument of it all is undoubtedly the Drake case.

This famous swindle has been aired in the courts and the newspapers over and over again. A city slicker ventured into the midwest some years ago announcing that the estate of Sir Francis Drake, Queen Elizabeth's famous old freebooter, had passed down through his male descendants and had grown prodigiously with the years.

Today, he said, it comprised practically all London and was worth untold billions; and he, the slicker, had the heirs under his thumb and was about to arrange a settlement of the estate; and all who contributed a dollar or so to defray the expenses would get their money back a thousandfold.

That anyone outside of an asylum would even listen to such a yarn is hardly credible. But the suckers came forward in droves and platoons to hand over their money to the slicker. No one knows how much he collected, but it kept him in luxury for years.

Uncle Sam's men finally caught up with the slicker and sent him to prison for 10 years. But did that stop the racket? Verily, it went on in a bigger way than ever.

People in poorhouses kicked in with their dimes and quarters; public meetings were held in small towns all up and down the Mississippi Valley; the tale grew, until the suckers were told that not only was London included in the Drake estate, but all of America as well.

It was the pending settlement of the estate, it was said, that forced England and America off the gold standard.

It would be hard to think of a dizzier swindle than this. If ever a yarn had "pipe dream" written on its face, this is it.

O'Brien Outlines His Qualifications

The formal announcement of H. O'Brien, candidate for tax assessor-collector, was made Wednesday as follows:

To the People of Eastland County: About 60 days ago I announced that I would be a candidate for tax assessor-collector of this county, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

Our family has resided in what is now Eastland county more than 60 years. My grandfather and grandmother, C. H. and C. B. O'Brien, with their first baby, came to this section in 1874. Here they reared a family of eight boys and three girls.

There have been no defaults in the county's obligations. "A clean and vigorous campaign" was announced by the candidate. His headquarters will be maintained in Eastland.

not making this race on the basis of my family relationships, but feel that the voters are entitled to this brief sketch.

I am 32 years of age and married. I was born near Gorman, and have lived my life in this county. I have lived in several towns and rural communities of the county. I received my education in the schools of Eastland county, the Metropolitan Business College of Dallas, and am just finishing a two-year course in auditing and higher accountancy, with the LaSalle School of Business Administration.

I shall make the race on my own merits, and will offer you my experience and qualifications in return for your support. I have served in every capacity of the office, from office boy to chief deputy, and am thoroughly familiar with all phases of the work in both the assessing and collecting divisions. In addition to other duties, I have for the past few years been chief clerk in the automobile division.

I shall endeavor to see and talk with every one personally, and I assure you now, that your consideration of my candidacy will be deeply appreciated.

If I am elected to this important office I will ever be mindful of the fact that the office belongs to the people, and that I am a servant of the people, hired to care for its duties in the most courteous and efficient manner possible.

Sincerely, C. H. O'BRIEN.

JUDGE GARRETT IS CANDIDATE FOR CONGRESS

Clyde L. Garrett, serving his fourth term as county judge, Wednesday announced officially his candidacy for the 17th Congressional District representative position. His formal announcement will be made later.

Judge Garrett is a native county resident, born 50 years ago between Gorman and Carbon. His father, who with Mrs. Garrett were Mississippiana, was a Confederate veteran. Judge Garrett is the youngest son of a family of 11 children.

In 1912 Judge Garrett was elected county clerk, served six years, not offering for re-election. He was city manager for Eastland several years. He was office deputy for John Hart when he was sheriff and in 1928 was elected county judge.

Judge Garrett has attained state wide recognition as president of the West Texas County Judges' and Commissioners' association of Texas and the State Association of County Judges and Commissioners association. Judge Garrett is the present head of the state group.

During Garrett's years as county judge, Eastland county has been operated on a cash basis. There have been no defaults in the county's obligations.

"A clean and vigorous campaign" was announced by the candidate. His headquarters will be maintained in Eastland.

Countries in this congressional district are Eastland, Comanche, Hamilton, Erath, Palo Pinto, Stephens, Jones, Fisher, Callahan, Shackelford, Taylor and Nolan.

Turner Collie is Candidate for County Clerk's Job

To the Voters of Eastland County: I herewith announce my candidacy for the office of county clerk of Eastland County, subject to the action of the Democratic primaries.

I am very grateful to the people of this county for the confidence they have placed in me in electing me to a place of responsibility in the county, and it has ever been my aim to merit that confidence, and to render the very best service of which I am capable.

It has been my purpose to render the people of the county honest, efficient service, at the least possible cost to the county and if I have been successful in accomplishing this purpose it is not only because of my own efforts, but because of the whole hearted support and efficient and courteous service rendered by those whom I have selected to assist me in the discharge of the business of the office.

If you see fit to elect me to this office for another term, I shall continue to see that the affairs of the office are conducted in a courteous, business-like manner, and at the same nominal cost to the county.

Your vote and influence will be greatly appreciated.

Yours Sincerely, TURNER COLLIE.

T. L. Cooper to Be A Candidate For County Judgeship

T. L. Cooper, who served the county as treasurer for two terms 1927 to 1930 and tax collector for two terms 1931 to 1934 announces today for the office of county judge in this issue.

Mr. Cooper has been a resident of Eastland County since 1906, and was born on the Comanche county line. When time for reelection came up in 1934 Mr. Cooper voluntarily retired with the public statement that he would not be a candidate for reelection for the office of county tax collector.

Since retiring from public office Mr. Cooper has been selling life insurance and dealing in cattle. Mr. Cooper states that when it was announced by County Judge Clyde Garrett that he would not seek the office of county judge at would announce for Congress of the 17th District, that he definitely made up his mind to seek the office of county judge.

Mr. Cooper's varied experience as a county official as well as his general business experience fully qualifies him to fill the office of county judge subject to the will of the voters of Eastland county.

Cooper stated today he would have a statement to make to the voters soon.

History of Bull For Service At Eastland Given

Sire and dam of Design Wake Up Masterman, bull purchased for service for Eastland county cattle-men and farmers recently by the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, and their histories were announced Tuesday by Secretary H. C. Davis.

The animal which has been placed at Ernest Jones' place in Hillcrest in Eastland for service at a fee of $3 was dropped Feb. 1, 1934. H. N. Smith of Stephenville was the breeder. The Eastland registered Jersey bull has a black tongue and white switch.

Sire of Design Wake Up Masterman was Wake Up's Design, which is officially classified as "very good." The bull was the first prize senior yearling at the Dublin Fall Fair in 1932. Wake Up's Design's sire was Design's Fern Oxford, a gold and silver medal bull. The last animal's 30 tested daughters average 594.70 pounds of fat, 1,043 pounds of milk. It has been the sire of many grand champions. Wake Up's Design's dam was Xenia's Wake Up Imp, which is classified as very good. It was entered in register of merit twice. It made a record of 638 pounds of fat in 11 years.

Design Wake Up Masterman's dam was Masterman's Whitesocks, which was the first prize heifer calf at the Heart of Texas Jersey Show and the Lubbock South Plains Fair in 1931. The dam of the Eastland animal was announced as "Register of Merit Record 6,274 pounds milk, 365.88 pounds fat in 305 days, Class AAA at two years and three months. Mature equivalent record 572.24 pounds fat."

Masterman's Whitesocks sire is Double Beauty's Masterman. It was the junior champion bull at the Texas State Fair in 1928, and the winner of many first prizes. The animal was the sire of four daughters in register of merit and sire of many prize winners. Double Beauty's Masterman was sire by Masterman of Oakland, which sold for $30,000.

Masterman's Noble Spotty is the dam of Design Wake Up Masterman and is a silver medal cow. The animal was sired by a silver medal, son of Masterman of Oakland. Register of merit record 9,760 pounds of milk, 491.11 pounds of fat in 305 days at two years and two months of age.

No restriction is placed on type of animals serviced at present by the Eastland bull but later if the demand for service is greater, the better grade of stock will be desired. Secretary Davis stated at Eastland. It was purchased from a federal accredited herd of Rudy Copeland at Denton.

"One of the severest engagements participated in by Company L," according to Corporal Larson, "was when the 2d battalion stormed and captured the village of Fismes.

According to a "History of the 32nd Division," the outfit earned the nickname of "Les Terribles" (The Terrible) from the French General De Mondesir, and later by General Mangin, due to its terrific fighting north of the Ourq river.

On the reputation thus gained by the division, Gen. Mangin, corps commander, requested the 32nd to assist the French 10th army at Juvigny. Likewise on this sector, the advance of the Americans was tenaciously contested by the Boches, and quite a loss was sustained by Company L as well as others of the division.

Though fortunate for having received only a slight shrapnel scalp wound from the enemy's fire, it fell to Sergeant Larson's lot to lose his closest friend. It was early one morning at Juvigny. Some Germans had raised the white flag of surrender.

Brest, the gateway to France; the front lines; excitement; romance, could it be true? Danger of course, but what youth of America, bubbling with pent-up patriotism, would not have done the same? Only a few short months would bring the realism of the hell of war, but neither young Larson nor his comrades of Company L could foresee or foretell.

"40 Hommes and 8 Chevaux," the almost legendary term applied to the rickety old box cars of the French railway system, was the method of transporting the 32nd to Bordeaux in Southwestern France. Two weeks military police duty in this village for the boys; thence to a training area for four weeks in Central France; and at last, the front lines.

Being assigned 27 kilometers of front (one kilometer being approximately 5/8 of a mile) in Alsace near the Swiss border, the men of the 32nd Division were the first to set foot on German soil. Having in the meantime been promoted to corporal, May 18, 1918, found Larson and his squad of automatic riflemen employed in, outpost duty only a short distance separated from some of the crack units of the German army.

On July 15, the 32nd Division was relieved by the 29th from New England. A rest camp? No, not in this war to end wars. The 32nd, including Company L, moved to Chateau Thierry, which had just been taken at the expense of the sacrifice of thousands of American doughboys. "The stench of the dead," said Larson, "was something almost beyond conception." Hundreds of soldiers of both America and Imperial Germany, lay all about, not having yet been given the burial to which they were of course later accorded.

But the biggest moments were still ahead. On July 27th, the division lined up on the Paris-Metz road, relieving the 3rd and a part of the 28th divisions. Major action for these already seasoned veterans of the 32nd found them moving ahead in a drive with points beyond the Fismes and Vesle rivers, about eight miles distant, as the main objective. "One of the severest engagements participated in by Company L," according to Corporal Larson, "was when the 2d battalion stormed and captured the village of Fismes. Of 225 men of the company who participated in this battle, approximately 130 men, including all the officers, were casualties. Most of the fatalities in the company were occasioned in advances against incessant machine gun fire of the enemy. Said Larson, "it appeared as if every German soldier that had been left was armed with a machine gun." So intense was the action in and around Fismes, that only a few German prisoners were taken, as most of them died fighting.

According to a "History of the 32nd Division," the outfit earned the nickname of "Les Terribles" (The Terrible) from the French General De Mondesir, and later by General Mangin, due to its terrific fighting north of the Ourq river. It was during this drive that the division captured the territory in which Quentin Roosevelt was shot down and buried by the Germans. Major General Haan, commander of the division, had replaced the cross that was placed at the grave by the Germans as well as built a fence around the grave.

On the reputation thus gained by the division, Gen. Mangin, corps commander, requested the 32nd to assist the French 10th army at Juvigny. Likewise on this sector, the advance of the Americans was tenaciously contested by the Boches, and quite a loss was sustained by Company L as well as others of the division. It was here that Larson received a slight head wound, which no doubt would have otherwise proved fatal, except for the steel helmet he wore. Prior to this engagement, Corporal Larson was promoted to the rank of Sergeant. One of the saddest experiences of his army career, he said, was during the battle of Juvigny. There were three brothers in his outfit, all of Company L. The first day of the contest saw one brother killed by German machine gun fire; the second day found the second brother killed by shrapnel, and the third day found the third and youngest brother seriously wounded. But what a load for this young American soldier as he was carried by the stretcher bearers back to the first aid station. Incidentally, the widowed mother of these three gallant soldiers received a personal letter of consolation from President Woodrow Wilson.

Though fortunate for having received only a slight shrapnel scalp wound from the enemy's fire, it fell to Sergeant Larson's lot to lose his closest friend. It was early one morning at Juvigny. Some Germans had raised the white flag of surrender. In the meantime, an exchange of rifle fire, between the Germans and members of Company L sent the fatal bullet that killed Sergeant Freddie Anderson. Freddie and his buddy, Sergeant Larson, had played together as boyhood friends in far-away Rhineland, Wis.; had gone to the same school; enlisted and served on the Mexican border together; overseas in mud and muck and the front lines together, and thus they parted. Somewhere there was written, "Greater friend hath no man than this." Out of respect to the best friend he ever had, Mr. Larson, in later years christened their son, "Freddie," in honor of a buddy left in Flanders Field.

"It was almost like a nightmare," said Mr. Larson. The worst problems that faced the American soldier overseas, with the exception of the front lines, were the lack of food and sleep. On numerous occasions, hunger and the lack of rest and sleep bore heavily on the men. Many tragic happenings were experienced daily and it was only a question of time when each man felt he might be the next; life hung on its thinnest thread.

But soon came November 11, 1918 and the end of the war. Prior to this, however, a selection was made on August 1 of two men from the Battalion for appointment to the Officers' Training School at Longres, and Sgt. Larson was one of the two selected. This was the first 45 day Officers Training School attempted by the United States Army; the others prior thereto had been a minimum of three months. (Incidentally, several veterans of this school have since lived in this community, among whom are B. S. Dudley and Fred Warren.) Upon graduation from the school, Larson was commissioned as 2nd Lieutenant, and transferred to the 3rd Division in the Army of Occupation at Mayen, Germany. It was here that Lieut. Larson served as Battalion Athletic Officer, in addition to his other duties.

Leaving Mayen, Germany for Brest and the States, Lieut. Larson arrived in New York exactly 17 1/2 months after sailing from America. Upon being discharged from Camp Grant, Illinois, on Aug. 20, 1919, he shortly thereafter returned to the then booming Ranger oil field, entering the employ of the Texas Electric Service Company, with which firm he is now employed. On April 14, 1922, he was married to Miss Hildegard Linloff of Waco, whom he met prior to going overseas. Lieut. Larson is now associated with the Texas Electric Service Company as local manager; has taken an active part in the Ameri-

ON TEXAS FARMS

From Brown county come reports that soil conservation work was carried on afforesting 417 acres on 11 farms in December. Road machinery built terraces 24 feet wide and 1 1/2 feet high on eight farms at a cost of $1.57 per acre. A tour was arranged on which 83 farmers and 4-H club boys visited four of these soil conservation demonstrations.

In Comanche county there is a 207-acre pasture demonstration which has been in progress for eight years, during which underbrush and weeds have been removed. A profit of $10 per acre from this pasture in 1935 was found after totaling the receipts from cattle, hogs, turkeys and peacocks and deducting the cost of maintaining the pasture.

A 4-H club boy of Mills county produced 210 pounds of lint per acre on his five-acre cotton demonstrations. The average for his community in 1935 was 120 pounds per acre.

Six terracing demonstrations totaling 110 acres were given in December in Palo Pinto county. Three of the terraced fields will be planted to orchards.

In Runnels county 4-H club boys are feeding 20 beef calves, 32 lambs, and 17 pigs for the March livestock shows. There are 150 club boys enrolled for 1936.

BAIRD—"On making my yearly report I found that I had canned 20,940 pints of food for myself and other people," says Mrs. H. S. Blalock, 4-H pantry demonstrator for the Clyde Progressive Home Demonstration Club in Callahan county.

In addition to canning more than 20,000 containers of food, Mrs. Blalock converted an unused room into a pantry by adding 160 feet of shelves and labeling each shelf, according to Miss Vida Moore, home demonstration agent. The pantry contains 860 pints of food for home use, as the other canned food has been sold.

GROVETON—Twenty-one buckets of fertilizer were added to the cutting bed of Mrs. B. J. Faulkner, yard demonstrator of the Woodlake Home Demonstration Club in Trinity county, as part of her yard improvement work, and the cutting bed has been spaded. She has also broken the plot for a rose garden, added 12 buckets of fertilizer and put out rose settings, according to her report to Miss Clara E. Rettiger, home demonstration agent.

Mrs. Faulkner went to the woods and gathered native shrubs and secured cutting of cultivated shrubs and roses from a nearby neighbor. She adds: "I have my yard sodded, my border beds and my plantings prepared."

BASTROP—From 103 chicks purchased from a hatchery on Oct. 8, Wynona Schutz, Bastrop county 4-H club girl, raised the whole number to frying size, according to Miss Audette McDonald, home demonstration agent. These fryers were ready for the Christmas market.

Wynona attributes here success in raising poultry to the fact that she buys strong healthy chicks, feeds them properly, keeps houses and feeding utensils clean and gives the chicks regular care.

FRANKLIN—"The best investment on my farm," is the term applied to a sweet potato curing house built by Frank James of the Camp Creek community in Robertson county, according to V. L. Sandlin, county agricultural agent. James built the house of scrap lumber bought at a local sawmill and used one side of a barn for part of one wall and built a shed roof. The total cost of the shed was less than $10 and it holds 100 bushels of potatoes which James states have double in value from being kiln cured.

MOUNT VERNON—Even a small flock of hens is worth keeping, according to Neil Peterson of the Cypress community in Franklin county. "My 55 white leghorn hens made enough profit during three months of the year to feed themselves, 45 baby chicks, two mules and the four members of my family," he reported to W. N. Williamson, county agricultural agent. "I have to have 100 producing hens next year," he added.

CUERO—More than 2,370 acres of land were terraced on 58 De Witt county farms during 1935, according to J. A. Oswalt, county agricultural agent. Using the conservative figure of $8 per acre, the terraces constructed during the year are worth $18,960 to the farmers who did the terracing, Oswalt estimates. Since 1929, more than 400 farmers in the county have terraced 16,759 acres. At present, 240 requests are on file in the agent's office for assistance in running terrace lines on approximately 20,000 acres of land. Through the efforts of the county farm demonstration council the commissioners' court has agreed to build terraces for the farmers at actual cost of operation of the road machinery. Requests for this service are so numerous that each applicant is limited to two days' work with the machinery.

Two Courses Are Open In Orient

By United Press
HOUSTON, Tex.—The United States has only two courses to follow in the Orient—"a choice of two evils," according to Nathaniel Peffer, lecturer who has spent a large part of his life in the Far East.

The United States either must declare war and drive Japan out of China or must get out itself and lose a lucrative trade, Peffer said. "There is no middle ground," he said. "I have sought some other solution that would satisfy me, but I can't find one."

"If you decide to drive out the Japanese," he said, "then don't get sentimental about it. Get down to business and build a navy. If you decide you do not want war then get out of China.

"For my part, I favor getting out although it is a rotten choice," Peffer said.

Peffer predicted that the London naval conference would fail, resulting in a ship-building race between Japan, the United States and England—finally culminating in a war.

WINNIPEG Man.—Digging operations are under way near here to excavate a meteor believed to have sunk itself deep in the earth during an electrical storm. Residents heard a "great rushing noise" and later located a hole in the ground 12 inches in diameter.

Montgomery Ward Catalogs Mailed

CHICAGO.—Montgomery Ward has announced the release of its spring and summer catalog. More than six million copies are now being distributed to as many families throughout the United States. The average price level in this catalog shows about 2-10 of 1 per cent increase over the corresponding catalog of a year ago and actually a slight decrease from the current winter catalog.

The book contains 100 more pages than last year's spring and summer catalog. So large is the number of copies that the shipment would fill six freight trains of the average length, 50 cars. About one half a million pounds of ink and enough paper to cover the United States are being used in making up the book.

In addition to the United States distribution the catalog goes to remote sections of the world, sometimes mountainous and snow-bound, where transportation must be accomplished by primitive methods and where the catalog is one of the very few means by which inhabitants can purchase modern articles of commerce.

Earl Conner, Jr., Is Attorney Aspirant

Earl Conner, Jr., Thursday formally announced his candidacy for the criminal district attorney post of Eastland county, subject to the Democratic primary election in July, 1936.

Conner is associated with his father, Earl Conner, Sr., in the practice of law at Eastland.

He is executive Democratic chairman for Eastland county. Conner's announcement follows:

I am today making a public announcement of my candidacy for the office of criminal district attorney for Eastland county. I am a native of Eastland county, and received my education in the public schools of this county and in the State University. Since completion of my academic and legal education I have been actively engaged in the practice of law for nearly six years. I believe that I am qualified to hold the office I am seeking, and if elected every effort will be exerted by me in working hand in hand with the various peace officers of the county to render the people good, conscientious and efficient service. It is my desire to personally contact as many of the citizens of Eastland county as possible, and should I fail to see you it will be the result of circumstances over which I had no control. I assure you that I am intensely interested in being elected and will appreciate, for all time to come, your personal support, influence and vote. Sincerely yours, EARL CONNER, Jr.

FUEL RUNNING SHORT OVER COLD AREAS

A break in the week-long cold wave which has taken more than 250 lives throughout the nation was seen today as the only hope of preventing widespread suffering in homes without fuel.

Kitchen gas stoves provided the only warmth in many Iowa homes and an acute statewide fuel shortage was reported. Retail and wholesale coal dealers said their yards were empty.

Every available pound of coal was exhausted in Bedford, Iowa, last night with the temperatures far below zero. Dealers were promising no deliveries before next week.

Consumption of coal and oil has doubled in the past seven days of intense cold in central and northwestern states. Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin dealers reported deliveries slow and were uncertain of filling all orders if sub-zero temperatures continue.

The cold wave that swept over Texas last Saturday sending the thermometer to sub-freezing, subsided somewhat Tuesday, with warmer weather forecast for Wednesday.

Temperatures dropped again Monday night to 18 above zero in the Panhandle and the whole of Texas shivered in freezing weather that extended to the coast.

1. The first shot for the Independence of Texas was fired in the Battle of Gonzales, Texas.
2. The first battle flag of Texas Revolution was made and unfurled at Gonzales, Texas.
3. A new battle cry was given to the world when the Texans defied the Mexicans with the cry, "Come and take it."
4. Thirty-two men from Gonzales responded to the call of Travis and perished in the Alamo.
5. The first Texas army was organized at Gonzales with Stephen F. Austin in command.

The second army of volunteers, the one which conquered Santa Anna at San Jacinto, was organized at Gonzales under General Sam Houston.

The new stamps will be the same size as the current special delivery stamp, arranged horizontally, printed in purple ink and enclosed in a double oval at the left and right and a reproduction of the Alamo at the center will be central designs.

17-Foot Lens will Be Shipped Soon

CORNING, N. Y.—Astronomy's $6,000,000 "dream eye" will begin its journey to the West Coast, where it will be mounted in the world's largest telescope, about the middle of February.

Scientists at the Corning glass works where the 17-foot lens was cast more than a year ago have nearly completed the work of removing the cores from the huge piece of glass and have started checking over the crate and car in which the mirror will be shipped.

The crate, lined with cork, will protect the entire mirror. The railroad car is nothing more than a flat car with a sunken "well" in the center to permit the 200-inch disc to slip under tunnels and bridges.

When crated, the mirror will be placed on edge, braced and counter-braced against vibration or shock en route.

Three railroad lines will be used in shipping the mirror to Pasadena, Cal. The number of lines became necessary in order to provide ample clearance for the "eye" expected to reveal objects more than a billion light years distant.

At the California Institute of Technology the mirror will be ground to perfection, a process which will require between three and four years. Then it will be mounted in a telescope on Mount Wilson.

Sweet Potatoes Are Growing Too Large

FORT WORTH, Tex.—G. B. Priddy is worried about his sweet potatoes. They just won't stop growing.

The tubers are growing steadily, and some of them now measure from a foot to a yard and a half in length.

"Somebody must have crossed them potatoes with a pumpkin vine," Priddy said.

IMMEDIATE SESSION NOT EXPECTED NOW

AUSTIN, Jan. 27.—There will be no immediate session of the Texas legislature, Gov. Allred said today.

Allred declined to define what the term "immediate" indicated. In a statement he made in plain there will be none before Feb. 14 when the old age pension law takes effect and probably not for some time after that.

"There will be no immediate session," he said. "If it becomes necessary to call one later I shall do so."

"The old age pension law did not receive sufficient votes to go into effect immediately. It will become effective Feb. 14. Notwithstanding it has had no legal status the old age assistance commission has been working without compensation. This is a large task but application blanks will be ready Feb. 14."

"The law requires payment to start not later than July 1. Liquor tax collections have placed enough money on hand to start paying the pensions as soon as the requirements of the law can be met. The state auditor advises that even if the legislature were called to provide additional financial aid it would not expedite administration of the law because of the requirements made as to detailed investigation of each application."

Townsendites May Form Own Party

AUSTIN.—Those of the "Ins" among the state's politicians are hoping fervently that the Townsendites will decide to launch their own party with separate candidates in the 1936 state elections.

The decision likely will be made at a state-wide meeting of Townsend Club representatives arranged to be held in Austin next week. If the Townsend plan supporters should decide to fight inside the Democratic Party, there will be much consternation among prospective primary candidates.

How ambitious are the plans of the new voting group was indicated this week when they launched a candidate in opposition to Congressman James P. Buchanan of the Tenth Texas District, who happens to be chairman of the appropriations committee of the House of Representatives—the man who holds the money bags.

The national aspect of this race may easily lead to the Townsend Plan leaders furnishing sinews of war for the campaign.

If the Townsendites decide to stay out of the Democratic primary, many prospective candidates will breathe more freely.

With the Townsendites in a separate party, they would not have to be reckoned with until November. There will be a division of the present pressure being exerted. As a result, there are apparent signs that the legislators are "breaking" under Gov. James V. Allred's failure to convene a special session of the state legislature.

G-S-T-L and C Men Operate In Texas

AUSTIN.—Initial men have given an alphabetical turn to state activities. The G-men have their counterpart in the S-men of the state's safety department.

Tick eradicators now go popularly by the designation of T-men. The new liquor law enforcement staff probably will be dubbed L-men. Cigarette tax enforcers, of course, are C-men.

Major Walton Hood's group of motor truck law enforcers cannot be designated as T-men, that initial having been pre-empted by the tick eradicators. "Hood's Brigade" probably will be known as the M-men. The O-men are the oil law enforcers and it is possible to go through the alphabet to the end if state bank examiners are given the initial of State Banking Commissioner Xeta Gossett.

Former State Senator George C. Purl, Dallas, an be counted upon to make the remembered remark of any formal dinner at which he is a guest. He apologized at the recent inaugural dinner for "governor" Wilbourne Collie for not wearing a tuxedo.

"I loaned it to a state ranger," Purl explained.
Rangers in evening clothes had been appearing at popular night spots. Some of them really wore borrowed clothes. One handsome young S-man included in his expense account from Houston:

Southwest will be Known Over Nation For Grid Contests

By JAY WELLS United Press Staff Correspondent

DALLAS.—Football teams in the Southwest conference, raised from comparative obscurity to national prominence by the sensational showings of Southern Methodist and Texas Christian last fall, will be familiar to spectators in all parts of the nation next season. The seven teams in the conference have booked a total of 20 inter-sectional games definitely, with one other tentatively scheduled.

Since the conference has recently set a 10-game limit, the teams sacrificed warm-up games in order to play inter-sectional opponents. League officials decided that last year's programs, which gave practically every team 12 games, and two of them 13, was too hard on the players.

Rice Institute has arranged the toughest schedule for 1936. Besides meeting the other six league members, Rice will play Louisiana State at Baton Rouge on Sept. 26; Duquesne at Pittsburgh Oct. 3; Georgia at Athens Oct. 17; and George Washington at Houston on Oct. 31.

Southern Methodist, which won 12 games in 1935 before losing to Stanford in the Rose Bowl contest, will play Fordham at New York City Oct. 10, and Vanderbilt at Dallas, Oct. 17. The latter game will be interesting from a personal angle, as Ray Morrison, the Vandy coach, was chief mentor at S. M. U. for several years, while Matty Bell, his successor, was his assistant at the Methodist school.

Texas Christian, which received a Sugar Bowl bid last season and made good by defeating Louisiana State, will have inter-sectional games with Mississippi State at Dallas on Oct. 24, in connection with the Texas Centennial celebration; Centenary at Fort Worth Nov. 14; and Santa Clara at San Francisco Dec. 12 subject to official approval.

The University of Texas will play Louisiana State at Austin Oct. 3; Oklahoma at Dallas Oct. 10; and top off its inter-sectional program by meeting Minnesota's iron men at Minneapolis Nov. 24.

Arkansas will play George Washington Oct. 17; Louisiana State at Shreveport Oct. 24, and Tulsa at Tulsa Nov. 28.

Baylor has booked games with Centenary at Waco Oct. 3; Oklahoma City at Oklahoma City Nov. 7; and the Oklahoma Aggies at Stillwater Nov. 14.

The Texas Aggies, which promise to have one of their strongest teams in years, will play San Francisco University at San Francisco Nov. 11; Centenary site undecided, on Nov. 21, and Manhattan at Dallas Dec. 5.

Not a member of the Southwest Conference but surpassing any of the circuit teams in scheduling games with far-away schools is Texas Tech. The Lubbock institution has booked nine games with schools outside of Texas. It will play George Washington at Dallas Oct. 3; Wichita University at Wichita Oct. 10; Oklahoma Aggies at Lubbock Oct. 17; Detroit at Detroit Oct. 25; Loyola at Los Angeles Oct. 31; Centenary at Lubbock Nov. 7; Arizona at Tucson Nov. 14; North Dakota at Lubbock Nov. 21; and Loyola at New Orleans Nov. 26.

Another Texas school, Hardin-Simmons, also is going in for inter-sectional play. The Cowboys will meet Creighton at Omaha Oct. 24; Kansas Wesleyan at Abilene Nov. 7; Morningside at Abilene Nov. 26; and Fresno State at Abilene Dec. 5.

WARSHIP'S FILMS ENJOYED

CANTON, China.—The chief movies enjoyed by the European dwellers in Canton are those provided by the Flagship U. S. S. Mindanao, due to the general prohibition against American films by the Canton municipal government.

While 1936 may be a break for the girls, it's just another leap year for pedestrians.

Heads Cast in New M-G-M Laugh Hit

Jack Benny

The critics raved about him in "Broadway Melody of 1936," and now he's back again in M-G-M's new comedy hit, "It's in the Air," coming to the Arcadia Theatre Saturday. This time Jack Benny plays the role of a Broadway "chisler" who becomes a national hero as the result of an incredible stratosphere flight in a balloon. Una Merkel plays his wife, and the cast also features such first-line comedians as Ted Healy, Nat Pendleton and Mary Carlisle.

SHIRLEY DARLING OF DIXIE IN "THE LITTLEST REBEL"

As the sweetheart of the south—and the darling of the north—Shirley Temple is starred in her first big dramatic role in "The Littlest Rebel," the Fox picture coming Sunday to the Arcadia Theatre.

The locale of the picture is old Virginia at the height of the Civil War, with Shirley and her parents loyal supporters of the losing Confederacy.

Much of the pathos and tenderness of the picture centers about Shirley and her mother, Karen Morley, who finally succumbs to the hardship of the war.

There are adventures in her scrapes with the Yankees, and a thrilling flight as Shirley's father, John Boles, attempts to smuggle her through the Yankee lines, only to be captured and held as a spy.

The closing sequences are devoted to showing how this dimpled darling manages to win President Lincoln to her cause and saves her father and the Yankee officer who befriended them.

That lovely song, "If All Thy Endearing Young Charms," is sung by Shirley and John Boles in the picture. Another song, "Polly Wolly Doodle," was especially composed for the little star by R. G. DeSylva, associate producer of the picture, and Sidney Clare.

Direction of the Darryl F. Zanuck picture was done by David Butler, who formerly directed "Bright Eyes". Prominent in the supporting cast of "The Littlest Rebel" are Guinn Williams, Willie Best and Frank McGlynn, Sr., who plays the role of Lincoln.

Retail Sales In Texas Were Good During December

Retail sales of 576 independent stores in Texas reporting to the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, Department of Commerce, in cooperation with the Bureau of Business Research, University of Texas, increased about 21 per cent in dollar volume for December 1935 as compared with December 1934. Excluding sales by motor vehicle dealers an increase of approximately 8.5 per cent would be shown. The large increase in dollar sales by these dealers reflects the early introduction of new models. This report, in the main, does not cover stores doing a sales volume of less than $20,000 annually and excludes department stores. Twenty kinds of businesses are represented, nine of which, due to an insufficient number of reports, are contained in miscellaneous or group totals.

PREPARE TO SURRENDER YOUR HEART

Out of the Southland's colorful past comes the story for Shirley Temple's new dramatic triumph. It is the Fox picture, "The Littlest Rebel," and she plays a spunky little Confederate in pantaloons—singing, laughing, dancing as she tries her hardest to be brave. John Boles, Karen Morley and Bill Robinson are prominently featured in the supporting cast. Opening Sunday at the Arcadia Theatre.

Without adjustment for seasonal influences, December sales showed an increase of 15.3 per cent from November of this year. There were a like number of working days in both months.

All of the kinds of business represented, except grocery stores that do not handle meats, showed an increase from last year. The greatest were those of 69 per cent shown by motor vehicle dealers; and 28 per cent by lumber and building material dealers.

Without adjustment for seasonal variations, the greatest gains from November to December were in apparel group. Whereas the group total showed an increase of 46 per cent, men's and boys' clothing increased approximately 54 per cent and women's specialty shops had a gain of about 38 per cent. Losses were shown for December as compared with November by the following kinds of business: a 2 per cent decline in both lumber and building material dealers and country general stores and about a 3 per cent decline in combination grocery stores.

Of the 576 firms reporting for December 335 (58.2 per cent) reported an increase over December a year ago; 219 (38.0 per cent) percent had less than 1 per cent change in sales volume.

'CHUTE JUMPERS QUALIFY

MOSCOW.—More than 18,000 men and women have passed their examinations in parachute jumping since aviation became a sport in the Soviet Union. Innumerable parachute towers for training dot the grounds surrounding the flying fields.

Japan evidently is willing to sacrifice a few friendships to have enough ships to fight enemy ships.

PUPPETEERING PAYS

BEEKLEY, Calif.—Edgar M. Taftan is believed to be the only student in the world who is working his way through a university by means of puppeteering. Taftan gave his first Punch and Judy show at the age of 10. Now he stages original puppet shows.
