Murdocks Killed In Plane Accident

DeLeon, our Comanche County neighbor to the southeast, is making big plans for a Peach and Melon Festival to be held July 21-23, according to F. D. Hicks, DeLeon Free Press. Editor Hicks advised his readers last week that a motorcade will leave De Leon Friday, July 15, to visiting neighboring communities—including Eastland and distribute 1,000 of his papers telling about the festival. Now, that's all fine and dandy, but we had much rather have the motorcade drop by the TELEGRAM office with one of those super-size watermelons that DeLeon brags so much about. If there's anything this scribe likes better than watermelon, it's more watermelon. We're not planning on getting one of those DeLeon melons, 'cause everybody in this neck of the woods knows that the size and quality of Eastland County peanuts makes the De Leon melons look pale by comparison. Guess we'll just have to be satisfied with one of Editor Hicks' papers telling about what big melons they have over in De Leon, dog gone it!

Seems this column today is going to be devoted chiefly to comment about fellow members of the press. Next to come under "Going Forward's" microscope is of all things—a lady newspaper editor, being none other than our pal, Mrs. Ruth Ducker of the Ranger Daily Times.

Now this is a rare specimen indeed to consider under the microscope 'cause lady editors of daily newspapers are just about as scarce as the proverbial hen teeth. Mrs. Ducker started out as a respectable school teacher, somehow got sidetracked into newspaper work and has been editing the Times for a long, long time. Recently in her front page column, "Well... I Dunno, But" she took a fellow male member of the press to task for daring to start out on an attack about the "ladies of the press."

Seems this fellow didn't say near what he could have said about "the ladies" and Mrs. Ducker adds "that it was fortunate for him." "Whenever we come across one of the old school that still wants to look down his nose at the ladies of the press, we just bid our time, 'cause we know we'll get 'im," she declares confidently. She concludes that once the newsmen is stumped in his attempts to belittle the lady press, "they do the only thing left that a female reporter doesn't—(notice we say doesn't not can't) they rear back in their chairs, cock their feet on the desk and start puffing out clouds of smoke from a big black cigar. But that won't stop us either. If necessary, we'll don slacks, rear back in our chair, prop our feet on the desk and start puffing in—well, a cigaret, anyway."

Well, we've already stated that Mrs. Ducker is our pal and will add that she comes the closest we've ever seen to doing as good job as a man can in newspaper work. But, let us consider the facts that the microscope reveals. In the first place there should be a law against women even working in a newspaper office.

Now that the opening gun has been fired, we will rush in our reinforcements for the kill, and we're not going to mince any words. Women are emotionally, mentally, and physically unsuited for the work. Much of journalism is confidential and who ever heard of a woman that could keep a secret. Reporting should present the straight facts and who ever heard of a woman that could tell anything without "coloring it up." Speed is essential in newswork and what woman doesn't spend hours "keeping her face straight" and talking about fashions. After all, it's a man's world and the woman's place is in the home. There, that ought to hold these shemale journalists for awhile!

MINERS OBEY LEWIS, WALK OUT OF NATIONS' MINES

PITTSBURGH, June 13 (UP)—John L. Lewis' 450,000 United Mine Workers obediently closed the nation's coal mines today for a one-week shutdown ordered by their union boss to "stabilize" the industry.

The walkout, if it ends on schedule June 20, will have little effect on related industries, except coal-hauling railroads. They will be hit hard, although above-ground coal reserves are at a peak. Some coal operators and steel executives feared, however, that the walkout will extend into the miners' annual 10-day vacation, beginning June 25, and finally end up as a full-fledged strike. That could happen if the union and coal industry fail to sign new contracts by June 30, expiration date for the present agreements.

Lewis' call for the walkout was an admitted maneuver to reduce the country's fuel reserve and strengthen his hand in negotiations for new wage agreements. The mine chief today opens wage talks with U. S. Steel Corp., coal mining subsidiaries at Philadelphia. The three-week-old negotiations with southern operators at Bluefield, W. Va., resume tomorrow. Lewis also was considered ready to ask for negotiations with the northern commercial operators, the largest segment of the bituminous industry.

The one-week walkout—eighth major post-war work stoppage in the mines—went into effect last midnight. It will drain off about 10,500,000 tons of bituminous and 1,000,000 tons of anthracite coal from the country's near-record 70,000,000 ton stockpile.

Actually the miners began leaving their jobs in 17 states Friday and the entire industry was virtually closed down by Saturday night. Coal production this week will be limited to pits in Illinois, manned by 9,000 members of the rival progressive mine workers, and scattered non-union strip mines. The miners, who will lose $12 a day per man in wages, were immediately joined in idleness by 31,000 railroad workers who were furloughed over the weekend because of the coal stoppage. Lay-offs were expected to mount steadily and overall traffic on the rail lines may drop 25 per cent. The steel industry was in good shape with at least 60 days supply of coal on hand. Steel-making operations, furthermore, have dropped to 87.5 per cent of capacity and may slide farther because of lack of new orders.

Luckies Launch Big Ad Campaign

Scheduling nearly 1600 daily newspapers in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii for twice-a-week insertions ranging from 1440 to 600 lines Lucky Strike has embarked on one of the greatest summer advertising campaigns in history. The ads which began appearing June 7, will run on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Theme of the campaign is that at auctions Luckies pay millions of dollars more than official parity prices for fine tobacco to provide finer cigarettes.

All the ads feature testimonials of independent tobacco experts—warehousemen, auctioneers, and buyers—with pictures of the men quoted.

The same theme will prevail in magazine advertising, with Lucky Strike using the publications on its schedule, and will be coordinated in radio commercials. "Your Hit Parade" will continue on Saturday nights over NBC, while "Your Hit Parade" will be heard on Sunday nights over CBS until Jack Benny's return to the air in the Fall.

A stepped-up merchandising program accompanies the huge advertising campaign.

Clay has finer particles than any other type of soil. The particles in one pound of clay have a total surface area of about one acre, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

PUBLIC NOTICES NOW MANDATORY—Governor Beusenate Bill No. 375. The Bill, known as the Mandatory for publication Law, requires that all public notices called for by Texas Statutes be published, or the official responsible for such publication suffer loss of salary, or removal from office for neglect of duty. Senator James E. Taylor of Kerens, pictured on Jester's left, sponsored the legislation through the Senate. House sponsor was Phillip L. Willis of Kaufman. Covered by the law are all public offices of the state, counties, and school districts. Governor Jester signed the bill into law June 8, and it became immediately effective.

"BUSINESS TRIP" TURN OUT TO BE ROBBING SPREES

HOUSTON, Tex., June 13 (UP)—A 38-year old Shreveport, La. man was at the end of his rope today, ready to let his wife and four children know he had been robbing banks the last five years—not making "business trips" out of town.

Sherman Godwin was arrested Saturday while he sun-bathed on the lawn of his newly-rented home in Baytown, where he fled after breaking jail in Texarkana Memorial Day.

From his cell in the city jail here, he admitted robbing three banks between 1944 and 1947, and told of escaping jail on four different occasions in Dallas, New Orleans, Texarkana and Pensacola, Fla. He refused to name the banks, but boasted, "in Dallas and Pensacola they still don't know how I got out."

Godwin's family lives in Shreveport, he told police, and knows nothing of his life of crime. "My wife is a civic leader and church worker," he said grimly.

"She and my sons believe I work for an oil company and just have to be out of town a lot."

The rocky path first began for Godwin in Dallas eight years ago, he recalled.

He was picked up in a store while trying to dispose of a $12 forged check. He entered the "big time," he continued, when "in 1944 ignorance and lack of money led me on a bank robbing spree."

He walked out of the Dallas

The Car and its Companion—
The automobile is useless and harmless without the driver. With the driver it may become most useful, but never harmless. No operator of a moving vehicle ever realizes his responsibility to the public until he has a wreck. Then it dawns on him that he is living in a world with other people, some very peculiar, who have plenty of personal and property rights. So if you drive, drive carefully, but never without adequate insurance protection.

FAMOUS DETECTIVE TO WORK ON COLORADO CASE

BOULDER, Colo., June 13 (UP)—A famous detective was enroute here today to track down the killer of college student Roy G. Spore, Jr., who died defending his girl friend in a campus lovers lane.

Two suspects were being held. They were Charles Cooper, 34, and Paul Colbert, 28.

Cooper was picked up by Laramie Wyo., police who said he matched description of the killer in jail, fled to New Orleans, and was arrested there a year later. Then, he sawed his way out of a second story cell.

Early in 1947 the FBI hauled Godwin in on a fugitive warrant in Pensacola. He escaped five weeks later, and "led a respectable life" until last May 14.

"I was taking my family fishing Caddo Lake near Marshall. I had been drinking and the Texas Highway Patrol picked me up on a drunken driving charge," Godwin stated.

His fingerprints gave police the tip-off, and he was transferred to Texarkana to be held for the FBI. In a Memorial Day escape, Godwin and two other prisoners smashed through a plaster wall. Godwin slipped by writing a post card to one of his jail buddies from his Baytown home.

The buddy was arrested, the FBI found the card and sent agents to Baytown.

given by Doris Ann Weaver, Spore's companion in the secluded nook along Boulder Creek, a tumbling mountain stream.

Colbert was taken into custody as he tried to hitch a ride on the outskirts of Boulder. Miss Weaver was to view Cooper and Colbert at a show-up today.

Ace sleuth E. O. Heinrichs of Berkeley, Cal., was hired by Colorado University President Robert L. Stearns in an effort to crack the slaying, the second brutal murder of a university student here in seven months.

Heinrichs, who served as Boulder's first city manager in 1918-19, is internationally famous as a modern-type Sherlock Holmes. The campus was deserted today. More than 8,000 students hurried home for term-end vacations over the week-end. But the university still required the few remaining students to double-date when they went out to prevent the unknown killer from striking again.

The school's commencement exercises were held today amidst an atmosphere of fear and gloom.

Spore was clubbed to death Thursday evening. The killer struck first at Miss Weaver, sneaking up behind the couple to hit her several times with a length of pipe or metal rod.

Spore told Miss Weaver to run, then turned toward the "tall and blond" killer and bore the brunt of his attack although his leg was encased in a heavy plaster cast. Miss Weaver ran for help. Spore later was found dead in the creek, his head smashed by repeated blows.

Authorities said the case bore a close resemblance to the killing last November of Theresa Foster, 18-year old coed whose ravished and nearly-nude body was found in a nearby gulch.

A Boulder metalworker, Joe Sam Walker, 32, has been found guilty of second degree murder in connection with Miss Foster's death. He has claimed, however, that she was killed by a "blond, chubby" youth who knocked him out during the fight.

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

YOUR BODY

Your body is the most delicate and intricate piece of machinery known. Its functions are controlled by the massive nerves. The nerves serve as the transmission cables to carry the NERVE IMPULSE, just as lines carry electricity. Short circuit an electric wire and the object or area supplied by that line is out. The same thing happens within your body when pressure is exerted upon nerves due to misaligned vertebrae.

Chemists know that to change the flame heating a concentration, whereby he gets 85 or 95 degrees of heat, gives a different result than a 90 degree heat. Appropriate nourishment is split up through the gastric and intestinal juices and thus brought into solution. A colloidal substance is the result. This is concentrated under the influence of animal electricity (nerve impulse) in the nerves of the digestive tract. The electricity that is necessary for the concentration of these solutions must be quantitatively of a given degree, just as a chemist must have constant degrees of heat. In a similar way the cell products of the tissue solution will be abnormal if the nerve CURRENT is either too strong or too weak.

Normal nerve impulses beget normal tissue. Normal tissues perform normal functions. Normal function is the essence of health.

The miserable, spiritless dyspeptic knows this to be true. He has probably parted with his teeth or tonsils or other parts of his body hoping to obtain relief. Did YOU ever associate your condition with your nervous system?

CASE HISTORIES

Case No. 703—An elderly gentleman came to our office complaining of High Blood Pressure, Cardiac Asthma, nervousness, constipation, unable sleep on left side.

An examination was made which revealed a bad Misalignment of the vertebra. An adjustment was given to correct this condition. The patient has been coming to our office only a short time, but has made remarkable improvement. Blood pressure is lower, now able to sleep on left side and nervousness is greatly reduced. An indication that patient is on the road to complete recovery.

Case No. 557—A middle aged lady with severe headaches, had tried almost everything except Chiropractic before coming to our office. She has not had a severe headache since she began with us. Mild headaches have occurred, but was expected in this case as she had been bothered with severe headaches since childhood.

These cases are given to show that the Science of Chiropractic is not limited. Faith, massage or psychology are not a part of our work.
