COMINFORM COUNTRIES HOLD MYSTERY MEETING

LONDON, Aug. 29 (UP)—Radio Moscow announced today that seven Cominform countries, including four bordering Yugoslavia, have met in Bulgaria and taken "necessary decisions."

Belgrade dispatches giving the Yugoslav side of the picture said that the Russians have shifted between 100 to 400 tanks from Romania to positions along the Hungarian border facing Yugoslavia.

Under terms of the Balkan treaties, Russia is entitled to maintain troops in the Balkan countries to protect line of communication with the Soviet garrison in Austria.

Yugoslav reports said the Cominform meeting in Sofia, capital of Bulgaria, included discussions by military chiefs of the Iron Curtain countries on what steps to take next against Marshal Tito.

The Moscow broadcast, however, said only that the meeting was attended by representatives of the Economic Council of Mutual Aid, the Soviet version of the Marshall plan for countries behind the Iron Curtain.

Top military men from Romania, Hungary, Poland and Russia were seen entering and leaving the hotel. None was identified by name but many were reported to be a rank associated with division commanders.

Although Yugoslav quarters took an exceedingly grave view of the reported Soviet troop movements, there were excellent reasons to believe that no new Yugoslav troops have been moved into the Hungarian border area, Belgrade dispatches said.

There was a great deal of diplomatic activity in the Yugoslav capital, matching that of June 28, 1948, when the Cominform announced its decision to expel Tito.

Heads of leading western embassies conferred repeatedly over the weekend after numerous visits to the Yugoslav foreign office.

Belgrade dispatches said more and more talk was being heard of possible steps to bring the dispute between Russia and Yugoslavia before the United Nations, which meets in General Assembly in New York next month.

These reports said telegrams were going back and forth among Belgrade, London, Paris and Washington.

According to Belgrade dispatches, however, the reported Soviet troop movements were believed to be only maneuvers in the Soviet war of nerves against Tito.

The Soviet tanks were reported concentrated in the area of Mohacs, about 10 miles inside Hungary and some 125 miles northwest of Belgrade.

Col. Gen. Kocba Popovik, Yugoslav chief of staff, was reported however to be on vacation in the Adriatic port of Dubrovnik on the opposite side of the country.

Cigaret Sets Off Houston Fire

HOUSTON, Tex., Aug. 29 (UP)—A watchman's cigaret was believed to have touched off a blaze that roared through a sporting goods firm here early today causing damages estimated at $7,000.

The fire started in the office of the Moreland Golf Bag Co. (1198 Van Buren), gutted the plant, and left 450 golf bags and other equipment in ashes.

Properties of the Petroleum Surveys, Inc., in the same building but separated from the Moreland Company by an iron partition, were damaged by water. E. E. Jones, Petroleum Surveys president, said sensitive electrical equipment suffered $2,000 damage.

The watchman was arrested held in city jail for questioning by arson investigators. He was not charged.

District Fire Chief P. J. Lowth said the alarm was turned in by a truck driver, who saw flames shooting from the Moreland offices.

SAYS EXPANDING WORLD ECONOMY IS NECESSARY

Skipped Lost Sub

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Reporter.

Philadelphia, Aug. 29 (UP)—President Truman today offered the free nations of the world a four-point program for combating Communist economic and political domination, warning that a "dog-eat-dog" policy between countries would destroy the chances for permanent peace.

The President's speech to the American Legion national convention here actually was a prelude to the coming British-American dollar talks which he said—"this country would approach" in a spirit of friendliness and helpfulness.

Although promising a continuing attitude of help, the President said the United States was not interested in "trick solutions to deep-seated problems."

The four principals to guide the Democratic nations in meeting their international economic problems were posed by the President in this manner:

- 1—"A sound and expanding world economy is essential to world peace."
- 2—"We are trying to expand the exchange of goods and services among nations."
- 3—"We cannot succeed in creating a sound and expanding world economy unless we keep everlastingly at it."
- 4—"The Democratic nations are not proposing to interfere with one another's international policies."

The President explained this last point by saying a "community of Democratic nations cannot insist on uniformity in matters of politics or business."

He added that the only point on which uniformity could be demanded was "firm adherence to Democracy."

The President arrived here from Washington by special train at mid-day and paraded to the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel for a luncheon.

Mr. Truman then went to Convention Hall where he was presented with the Legion's distinguished service medal by Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson.

In his address to the Legionnaires, the President promised all possible cooperation in helping world recovery, which, he said, would thwart Russia's aim of achieving world domination by prolonging "the distress and suffering of free nations."

"We are not engaged in a charitable enterprise," Mr. Truman said.

Licenses, Taxes Net Eastland County $242,062

AUSTIN, (Special)—The motor transportation industry was responsible for the expenditure of $242,062 in Eastland County in 1948 for highways, schools and other governmental functions.

"This was made possible by payment of license fees, motor fuel taxes and intangible tax," said Roy Sanderford, President of Texas Motor Transportation Association in releasing a statistical study of the motor transportation industry's share of the cost of state and local government.

Sanderford stated that these figures do not include city and district ad valorem taxes, franchise taxes and unemployment insurance taxes.

Total taxes and license fees paid by motor carriers for the entire state amounted to more than $50,000,000.

Eastland County's share of the industry's contribution to government was made up of the following: county portion of registration or license fees (commercial vehicles only), $49,946; State highway construction, $87,668; State highway maintenance $25,324; county and district road debt paid, $51,994; surplus in bond fund distributed to county, $9,988; per capita apportion to schools, $26,217; and intangible tax paid to county, $829.

The above facts and figures prove beyond doubt that the motor transportation industry is paying its full share of the cost of government.

HURRICANE HEADS FOR THE NEW ENGLAND AREA

NEW YORK, Aug. 29 (UP)—A dying hurricane lashed the metropolitan area with winds up to 70 miles per hour today and drove on toward New England.

Power lines were knocked down throughout New York, New Jersey and parts of Long Island.

Storm warnings were posted from Cape Hatteras, N. C., to Block Island, off the northern tip of Long Island. The Weather Bureau in New York said warnings probably will be put along the New England Coast to Eastport, Me.

The storm, which caused an estimated $60,000,000 damage in Florida, would give the entire eastern seaboard a taste of its fury, the Weather Bureau said.

The storm center reached a point just west of New York City shortly after day break and swept the Manhattan and Long Island areas with 70 mile an hour gusts and sustained winds of 55 to 60 miles an hour.

Power lines were reported down in numbers of New Jersey shore and Long Island communities. In the East Bronx, all available workmen of the Consolidated Edison Co., were summoned to repair a power break.

The gale picked up momentum near New York shortly before dawn. Witnesses reported a number of large wooden planks were blown like match sticks from the unfinished upper structure of the United Nations headquarters on Manhattan.

Guards and other workmen in the area huddled under cover as buckets, tools, and the planks toppled down from above. Some of the planks were carried several blocks.

The storm, which worked northward along inland areas after striking Florida last Friday, appeared to be abating as it moved at about 30 miles an hour.

The hurricane already had caused four deaths in Florida and Georgia, left hundreds homeless, and caused millions of dollars damage in its 1,200 mile drive from the south.

Last night it bore down on Charleston, S. C., causing a major power break, sped through North Carolina with driving winds and rain, and struck Washington D. C., Baltimore, and New York City early today.

Four persons were reported missing in Delaware Bay near Cape May, N. J., in the storm. The Coast Guard said the four were aboard a 28 foot fishing skiff.

Coast Guard vessels searched throughout the night for the craft.

The hurricane that roared out of the Caribbean to strike southern Florida was the most powerful storm ever recorded in that state. It packed a 162 mile per hour wallop when it struck the Coast Guard station at Jupiter, Fla.

Irate Neighbors Attack Carrier

Houston, Tex., Aug. 29 (UP)—Police rescued a 23-year-old mail carrier last night, after irate neighbors—many of them armed—complained that he indecently exposed himself to their wives.

Officers rushed to the scene, a veterans' housing addition, but were too late to halt minor gunplay.

A young railroad man, who said the mailman repeatedly made obscene gestures in the window of his home, has fired once with a shotgun. A single pellet struck the alleged offender in the left lung.

The crowd gathered quickly after the shooting police were told.

Homicide Detective Frank Murray said several men in the housing project complained that the mail carrier had annoyed and embarrassed other tenants the past two weeks.

No charges have been filed.

Mrs. George I. Lane, 806 West Moss Street, suffered a broken collarbone in an accident at the intersection of Patterson and Daugherty Streets Saturday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, during a rainstorm.

Mrs. Lane received emergency treatment at Caton and Cowan Clinic and is recuperating at the residence. She was reported to be resting comfortably this morning.

The accident occurred, according to reports, when a late model Ford operated by Betty Lane, daughter of Mrs. Lane, who was occupying the car, was involved in a collision with an automobile driven by Otis Knox of Eastland.

The impact threw Mrs. Lane against the right door, breaking the collarbone. Miss Lane and Knox were uninjured. A rear fender on the Lane car was damaged and the side of the other vehicle was damaged to some extent.

Mrs. Lane is the wife of the Farmer's Home Administration representative of Eastland County.

Department Finds Surplus Money

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 29 (UP)—At least one department of state government has found it had more money than it needed.

The joint legislative advisory committee, meeting today for the last time before bowing out to a new system under the Gilmer-Aikin school reform program, found it had a surplus in its rural aid fund of some $1,300,000 for the biennium ending Aug. 31.

Sen. G. C. Morris, chairman of the committee, said the money will be returned to the state's general revenue fund.

An original appropriation for rural aid was made by the 50th Legislature for $38,000,000. This sum, Morris said, was raised by an emergency appropriation of almost $10,000,000 passed by the 51st Legislature.

A balance of $610,869 was unused during the 1947-48 fiscal year and another $713,106 was left in the second half of the biennium, Morris said.

Cool Weather Due To Continue

By United Press
Texas had another 24 hours of "comfortable, late summer weather" in store today.

The U. S. Weather Bureau forecast clear skies, with the exception of a few widely scattered thundershowers, for the entire state with not much change in temperature.

Only a few very high clouds around Brownsville, Big Spring and Mineral Wells marred the blue sky this morning at temperatures ranged between 57 at Junction and 76 at Galveston and Laredo.

Laredo's 100-degree maximum was tops for the state yesterday among the stations reporting to the Weather Bureau early today, while most readings were in the 90's, ranging down to 83 at Dalhart.

Only precipitation of consequence reported in the state during the 24 hours ending at 6:30 A. M. was a shower measuring .61 inches at Brownsville. Clarendon, in the Panhandle, recorded a sprinkle.

Carbon Mail Carrier Hurt

A. C. Underwood, Carbon mail carrier received emergency treatment at Caton & Cowan Clinic in Eastland this morning for a minor head cut, after a 1948 Ford automobile he was operating was involved in a collision at 9 o'clock, five miles south of Eastland on State Highway 6.

The accident occurred after Underwood, who was going north on Highway 6, had stopped on the right side of the road to place mail in a rural box and started to turn left to go into a service station. A pick-up belonging to Southwest Equipment and operated by James S. Shelley of Fort Worth, going south, struck the right front of Underwood's car, as he started to make the turn, Avera stated.

Both men were badly damaged. The driver of the pick up was uninjured.

Man Taken From Train Dies In Jail

AMARILLO, Tex., Aug. 29 (UP)—Acel Kenney, 52, of Potham Point, O., died yesterday in the Potter County jail here, where he had been taken for observation after being removed from a passenger train.

Police men boarded the train at the Panhandle town of Canadian to quell Kenney, who became violent, train crewmen reported, and when he reached Amarillo his wife suggested that he be kept in jail until she could make arrangements to care for him.

Mrs. Kenney said her husband's health had become increasingly bad since he was injured three years ago in a coal mine accident.

INTERNATIONAL FORGERY RING HIDEOUT SOUGHT

LONDON, Aug. 29 (UP)—Scotland Yard is seeking the hideout of an international forgery ring flooding North and South America and Europe with counterfeit American bills believed to have been printed on plates prepared early in the war for Adolf Hitler, it was reported today.

More than $120,000 in forged United States currency has been recovered in little more than a week. Thirty thousand dollars was taken from the body of Frederick Oberdorfer, an Austrian antique dealer who committed suicide in Vienna and $80,000 was reported by a jeweller in Zurich who accepted the counterfeit money for a sale of diamonds.

Press reports said the police chiefs of eight European countries, including Britain, were engaged in hunting down the leaders of the counterfeit ring. It was understood they were working with American agents.

All the police officials agreed the counterfeit money was being printed from the original plates made on order of the German high command in 1940 by expert engravers of the German mint, press reports said.

These accounts said Hitler intended to use the plates to finance his wartime sabotage and espionage rings in the western hemisphere.

The reports said many plates for counterfeiting other European currencies, including British five and 10 pound notes, have been found but that the American dollar plates still were missing.

The dollar plates were believed to have fallen into the hands of international racketeers based in the Paris area.

Sailors on American ships in the Mediterranean have been warned to beware of accepting counterfeit $10 and $20 bills, according to recent dispatches.

SIX VETERANS PRESENT FOR GAR'S LAST MEETING

By BOYD GILL
United Press Staff Correspondent
INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 29 (UP)

Six frail old veterans of the Civil War sat in their wheel chairs today and spun yarns of Antietam and Bull Run at the 83rd and last encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic.

The six men, all over 100, were the only men in condition to attend the GAR's last meeting.

Only 16 GAR members survive of the mighty armies that Gen. U. S. Grant led in the war between the states.

In the 1890's the Grand Army numbered more than 400,000 men. It was the first of the powerful veterans organizations founded to maintain the welfare of the men who fought for their country and their survivors.

During its peak of power, the GAR was influential in six presidential elections. Long parades of "Boys in Blue" marked memorial day celebrations in every town.

But every year since the turn of the century, their ranks thinned and today only the six had the strength to attend the meeting.

The Grand Army was being mustered out to eternity in the same city where it was founded 83 years ago.

The six veterans were bearing up well under the strain of travel and excitement. Four had traveled over the continent to attend.

Commander-in-chief Theodore A. Penland, 100, Portland, Ore., said he was having "a wonderful time."

But Charles L. Chappel, 102, Long Beach, Cal., fussed that he had "more bosses than I know what to do with" as women auxiliary members from his home state tried to make him comfortable.

Joseph Clovese, 105, of Pontiac Mich., the only surviving negro GAR veteran, said a good night's sleep had helped him recover from the shakiness he experienced on his trip.

Albert Woolson, 102, Duluth, Minn., felt "fine" when he arrived. He borrowed a guitar from the hillbilly band that greeted him and strummed a couple of bars from "Buffalo Gals, Are You

STAMFORD, Tex., Aug. 29 (UP)—A little boy whose pilot father was killed in World War II will be in St. Louis tomorrow to attend funeral services for him and ten of his B-29 Superfortress crewmen at Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery.

Earl A. Russell, III, was only a year old when his father, Capt. Earl A. Russell, of Stamford Tex. went down with his flaming ship near Yokohama, Japan on April 16, 1945.

Ten other crewmen and an observer were lost. The war department reported the men "missing in action" and said the plane was last seen diving toward the audience.

The widow of Capt. Russell and other immediate relatives of those aboard believed for three years the crew had perished at sea. Then last November, the war department notified survivors that the crewmen were buried in the United States Air Forces Cemetery, No. 1, at Yokohama.

Besides little Earl, those who will attend the services from here include Mrs. Russell, the widow, the parents of the pilot, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Russell; his brother, Norris Russell; Mrs. Russell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Byrant, and Russell's sister, Mrs. David Bunker and her husband, of San Antonio, Tex.

You're not going to pay more to buy from us ... and we don't blame you

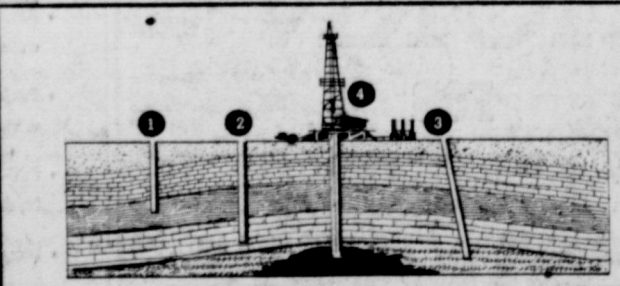

So, to get your business, we're going to try to supply you with all the petroleum products you need and with the best petroleum products we can make, at prices that are no higher than those of other companies. Every other oil company in the industry is trying to do the same.

They are our competitors; we are theirs. We compete in the search for oil, so that we can be in a better position to supply your demands. Our geological and geophysical crews are in the field 365 days a year seeking subsurface reservoirs which may contain oil. So are the crews of other oil companies. Sometimes we find oil where others couldn't; sometimes they get production where we have failed. Competition within the industry finds more oil than any other system.

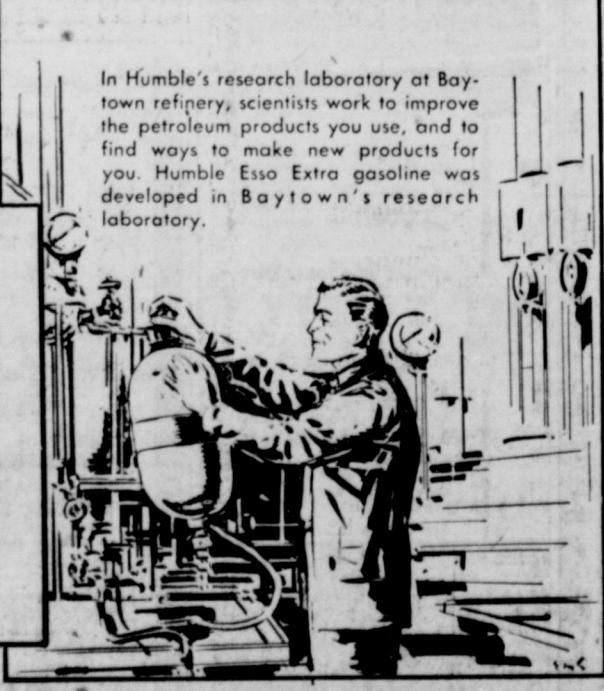

We compete in production, and the oil company with the most efficient production and conservation methods has more oil to sell.

And we compete in the manufacture of the petroleum products you use. In our laboratories, and in those of our competitors, some of the world's foremost scientists are working at a never-ending task of improving gasolines and motor oils for your car, and the other petroleum products you use every day; and to discover new oil products which will be equally as useful to you. A good many of these scientists only recently have returned to their peacetime laboratories; during the war, they were on loan to the government for important and secret wartime scientific tasks.

You are the beneficiary of this competition within the oil industry. It assures you the lowest possible price for petroleum products (the increase in the price you pay for gasoline is less than half the increase in the price of food and clothing); it gives you more and better gasolines and motor oils; it gives you improved service at retail outlets.

This diagram shows you how four oil companies may compete to find oil to supply your needs. Competitors 1, 2 and 3 lost out to Competitor 4, which found the oil in this particular "prospect."

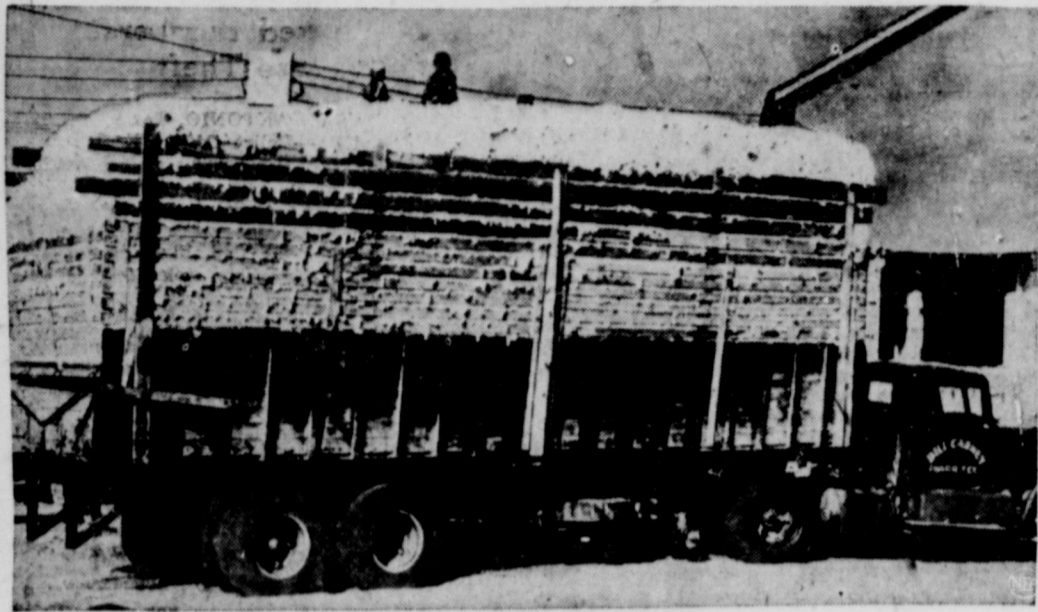

In Humble's research laboratory at Baytown refinery, scientists work to improve the petroleum products you use, and to find ways to make new products for you. Humble Esso Extra gasoline was developed in Baytown's research laboratory.

Service attracts customers, and retail outlets displaying the Humble sign strive to give you service that is complete, courteous and prompt. Most of them are operated by independent business men.

Anti-Communist Rioters Sought

PEEFKILL, N. Y., Aug. 29 (UP)—State police sought today the assailants of 11 persons injured in an anti-Communist riot that broke up a scheduled Paul Robeson concert Saturday night. Detectives had lists of names of persons reportedly involved in the fist fighting, stone and bottle throwing between 500 to 400 war veterans and the 150 persons assembled to hear the negro baritone. However, no one had been brought in for questioning, troopers said. Robeson, who never reached the concert because the fighting began before his arrival, demanded yesterday an investigation to determine who gives "orders" to the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars. "I am not going to be frightened by any legionnaires," he said at press conference in New York. "They had better be careful." Robeson said state and federal officials should look carefully into the activities of the Legion, VFW and Ku Klux Klan. The justice department, he said should "find out from whom these legionnaires take their orders. I also think it's about time for Dewey (Gov. Thomas E. Dewey) to give up to the people of the state the registration list of the Ku Klux Klan which he has buried." Members of the Legion, VFW and two other veterans organizations staged an anti-Communist demonstration near the picnic grove scene of the Saturday night concert. The riot flared before the concert got under way and in the fighting that followed, several automobiles were damaged and overturned, and 11 persons injured. One veteran was stabbed in the stomach and was hospitalized in serious condition. The concert was sponsored by a Harlem section of the Civil Rights Congress, and organization on the justice department's subversive list. State police were delayed by automobiles and some 4,000 spectators on roads leading to the picnic grounds in efforts to break up the riot. Robeson described the riot as part of a nationwide "campaign of terror" against progressive forces.

The Montgomery County chamber of commerce said it would underwrite the cost of office rent for the first year, and the county agreed to pay for rental expenses for the second year. He graduated in 1926 from the University of Texas school of dentistry. Surviving are his wife, one son and two daughters, all of Houston. WHARTON, Aug. 29 (UP)—Wharton County gins were virtually idle today because of a scarcity of cotton pickers. The Wharton Spectator noted that the combined efforts of loca

CLEVELAND, Aug. 29 (UP)—The last clump of last winter's heavy snow has finally disappeared from Cleveland. An enterprising couple had stored a bin-ful in deep freeze since January. # ISLAND OF ESCAPE

By Hugh Lawrence Nelson

XLII

THE second night out, Bea Cosgrove and Henry Gough Harding sat together on the afterdeck. From amidships the occasional opening and closing of the galley door let light out into the dark night and brought the sounds of Nona McGuire, Agnes Firth and George Bascombe wrangling amiably at three-handed bridge. From far forward, Mollie's laughter told of her amusement with a member of the crew.

The sea had subsided into long, black swells which the Simpatico alternately climbed and slid down.

Henry Harding broke a long silence. "You knew," he said, "you knew the sort of woman Miss Stark is. Why didn't you tell me?"

"There are some things it is better for a man to find out for himself," Bea said.

Harding thought that over, then nodded. "You're right. And it's a strange thing, but Mother used to say the identical thing to me. Of course, I knew Mother well enough to get the idea as to whether she really approved or not. You know, Miss Cosgrove—Bea if I may—you are like Mother in so many ways."

She shivered.

He took no notice, went on. "You're trustworthy. So trustworthy. That's a major thing. And you're understanding. You can look ahead and realize the right path a man must follow to be true to himself. To his past and his future. I can understand what you meant back there on the island now. I couldn't then. I can understand my Island Memorial to Mother could not become a fact as long as it was based on a partial wrong. It must be entirely above reproach."

Bea Cosgrove reached out, touched him to make him stop talking. He seized her hand and went on eagerly.

"I've been thinking, trying to figure out what I did that was wrong. There could only be one thing. Of course, even that was a clean-cut business deal. But it did have an unfortunate aftermath. It was perfectly legal. A man killed himself when he found out the worthless property he thought he was foisting on me was rich in oil. A weakening of course. He could not abide by the rules, or play the game. But I do remember he had a wife. That's it! That's the way I can make it right, so the new Spare Island will be a success."

Bea Cosgrove said hoarsely. "Make it right? How could you ever make it right?"

HARDING said impatiently. "Why, I'll give her a part of the money I have left, of course. There's no legal claim, but some might think there's a moral one. So that's what I'll do. And afterward, I, that is we, can start again."

"Mrs. Martin won't be hard to find."

"You don't think so?" He got it suddenly. "The name! How did you know? How?"

"It's my name," she said clearly. "Bea Cosgrove Martin. Mrs. Jim Martin. If you want it that way. One time wife of—the weakening. The man you meant."

Henry Harding released her hand, jumped to his feet. He flung an arm in front of his eyes as if to shield them from the gleam of light from the wheelhouse.

"Not Not you! Not you too!" He whirled then on his heel, took the few steps to the splintered rail. His white-clad body caught light as it hurtled far out into the darkness.

Bea screamed. She heard shouts, orders.

The engines of the Simpatico slowed, she heeled over as the wheel went down hard. A searchlight snapped on.

THE END

His eyes were glued on the compass. "So. You told him."

"I told him."

"I was watching. He ran away again." Oak reached out, pulled the indicator to dead slow.

"Can you find him?" Bea asked. Oak spun the wheel. "I can put the Simpatico on about the spot where he went over. He can see the lights. If that is what he wishes. He can come to us."

THE man at the searchlight swiveled it across the prow. The dark surface of the water was streaked with white foam in the circle of the spotlight.

The first cry was faint, barely distinguishable above the lonely sound of water.

Miguel Oak rang again. The engines stopped their lowest throb. The Simpatico lay dead and silent.

The cry was repeated. Louder. Henry Gough Harding moved into the circle of light. He was swimming strongly.

In a few moments he was helped over the rail. The time in the sea had healed the breach in his shell.

He pushed away helping hands, strode toward the wheelhouse.

"Captain Oak! Ah, Captain Oak, I must compliment you on your seamanship and fast thinking. But that does not excuse you for the negligence in not repairing that broken rail. Someone not as strong a swimmer as myself might have fallen overboard."

Miguel Oak gave the signal and the Simpatico came to life. "I'll have the rail repaired," he said.

"See that you do. I may not feel it necessary to report your negligence," he appeared to notice Bea for the first time. "And as for you, Mrs. Martin, if you will get in touch with my attorneys, they will pay you for your trouble."

He strode away, slammed the galley door behind him.

Captain Oak put the Simpatico back on her course toward the mainland, turned the wheel over to the man who had worked the searchlight. He took Bea Cosgrove by the arm.

"Come," he said.

wood plead guilty and was fined $50 and costs this morning before County Judge Lewis Crossley on a complaint of driving while intoxicated.

The charge was filed after an accident early Sunday morning on U. S. Highway 80, between Eastland and Ranger, when a 1940 Ford operated by Gutierrez left the pavement, went over a bar ditch, knocked down a fence and telephone post, plowed across a pasture and finally stopped after wrapping around a tree.

The Highway Patrol investigated the mishap. The driver suffered scratches. The car was demolished.

Boy Hangs By Foot From Cliff

ENGLEWOOD, Colo., Aug. 29 (UP)—Eighteen year old James L. Naudak, was recovering today from a mountain-climbing accident in which he spent 12 terrified hours hanging upside down on a steep cliff.

footing and slid over the edge of the cliff.

His life was saved when his foot wedged in a crevice of the rock. But he was out of reach of his friends, and afraid to move for fear he would loosen his foot and plunge the remaining 100 feet to the bottom of the cliff.

Forest Rangers rescued Naudak yesterday. He was able to wriggle his foot out of his shoe when rescuers threw him a rope. He was rushed to his home in Englewood by state patrolmen, who said he was near collapse.

Naudak said he never again would "climb anything bigger than an ant hill."
