3 Eastlandites Invited To SMU Homecoming Day

Dallas, Oct. 23. Three Eastland residents, active members of the SMU Alumni Association, have been extended personal invitations to attend Southern Methodist University's annual Homecoming celebration Oct. 28-30.

George E. Bushong, executive secretary of the SMU alumni, says that a record attendance is expected this year at reunion festivities. Active membership in the association totals more than 10,000, Bushong said. He predicts that some three thousand expect to be on the SMU campus for the three-day program.

Exas will begin to celebrate their SMU reunion Friday afternoon, Oct. 28, with traditional campus activities including students' contests, registration and open house at the SMU Student Union Building, and an evening bonfire and pep rally.

Highlight of the celebration will be the annual Homecoming football between the Mustangs and Texas University. Selection of the SMU Homecoming Queen, chosen from 15 beauties representing student organization, will be announced at the game Saturday afternoon. The queen will be crowned during half-time activities.

Saturday the alumni will view a pre-game parade of floats and student marchers in downtown Dallas, witness the Mustang-Steer game at the Cotton Bowl, and attend a Homecoming Dance in the huge Automobile Building at Dallas Fair Park.

The three-day program will close Sunday morning with a special nondenominational Homecoming service in McFarlin Memorial Auditorium on the SMU campus. Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of SMU, will deliver the sermon. The services will include a musical program by the SMU Choral Union, 200 voices under direction of Dr. Orville J. Borchers, dean of the SMU School of Music.

Active Eastland members of the SMU ALUMNI ASSOCIATION are: the Rev. J. Morris Bailey, Theo B. Lamb, and Mrs. Ed F. Willman.

Bette Davis Sues For A Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 22 (UP)—Actress Bette Davis holed up in a secret hideout today to get away from her husband whom she said had threatened her with bodily harm.

But her husband, William Grant Sherry, 34 year old painter, said he only wanted to find her so he could patch things up and stop a divorce action which she filed yesterday in nearby Santa Ana.

The popeyed 41-year old screen academy award winner also obtained a temporary order from authorities restraining Sherry from molesting her or their 2 1/2 year old daughter, Barbara.

"She went to one of the radio studios for a broadcast two nights ago and everything seemed all right," Sherry, a husky boxer said at their Laguna Beach studio home.

"She used to kid sometimes about getting a divorce but I always told her, 'Just try to get rid of me,'" Sherry said. "That girl and I were made for each other and I'm not going to let her go."

Superior Judge Robert Gardner granted her temporary custody of the little girl and ordered all principals back into court next Friday to settle the matter of the threats and custody of Barbara.

In her action, the star said she and the broad shouldered artist separated only two days. She used the old Hollywood excuse—mental cruelty—and asked for all community property.

Without power for an hour because of lightning striking a city Public Service Company substation and a similar bolt knocked out power in the northwest portion of the city for about an hour. Telephone service was disrupted and the Weather Bureau and airport without communication facilities with downtown San Antonio this morning.

The Southern Pacific Dispatchers' office at San Antonio said similar heavy rains were reported along its lines from Uvalde to Glidden in South-Central Texas.

Waco reported 2.34 inches, the heaviest there in two years, while Texarkana recorded 2.32 inches and Lufkin 1.14, all before midnight. Temperatures, which had been unseasonably sultry in north, east and south Texas and sharply cool in northwest Texas, dropped considerably as a stagnant cool front yesterday and last night.

At Dallas, for example, yesterday's high was 82 degrees, this morning's low 52 degrees.

HOUSTON, Tex., Oct. 22 (UP)—A verdict was withheld today in the death of a 44-year-old woman, whose body was found in a smoke-filled apartment here last night.

Mrs. Ethel Lee was dead when firemen broke in the room. A smoldering chair was the only object burning.

Fireman T. G. Green found Mrs. Lee's nude body on the floor of the bedroom. Emergency crews gave her artificial respiration for an hour.

Last Minute Touchdown By Eastland Decides Thrilling District 8-A Game

It couldn't be done, but they did it. In the last play of the ball game and trailing by one point the Eastland Mavericks scored to defeat the Dublin Lions, 19-14, in a District 8-A battle Friday night on Lion Field. It was a sweet victory for Coach Wendell Siebert's stalwart Mavericks, who had appeared headed for defeat before the thrilling touchdown climax.

While the Mavericks had outplayed the Lions throughout the game, a couple of fluke touchdowns had placed Dublin out in the lead. The Mavs kicked off to Dublin and held them for no yardage. Opening the offense like a house afire, the Mavericks quickly went to the double stripes with Fullback Roy Smith, who turned in an outstanding performance, running 55 yards down to the 10. Right Half Larry Falls, Eastland's potential All-District speed merchant, scampered over tackle for

New Turkey Variety Will Be Displayed

The first national show of a new breed of turkeys, Beltsville Whites, will be held as a feature of the 1950 Southwest Exposition and Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth.

At the same time, a meeting of the Texas Turkey Federation, of which Joe Fechtel of Dallas is president, will take place.

The new breed—a small white bird—derives its name from the United States Experiment Station at Beltsville, Md., where it was originated. Dr. Stanley Marsden, the originator has been invited to attend the show and to address the Texas Turkey Federation.

The initiative in getting recognition for the Beltsville Whites was taken by Mrs. Louise Roy Heckert of Fort Worth, a breeder of turkeys for 14 years before changing to the new variety a year ago. With the cooperation of other breeders, she petitioned the Committee of Standards at the convention of the American Poultry Association last June and the petition was accepted.

The next step is a qualifying meet and this will be held, Jan. 28 to 31, during the Fat Stock Show in Fort Worth, the general exhibition dates being Jan. 27 through Feb. 5. Judge Walter Burton of Arlington will be the judge. Requirements are a minimum of 50 entries, at least five exhibitors and three classes of birds; old, yearling and young.

Mrs. Heckert is confident that all requirements will be met and then will come the attainment of the goal: full recognition of the breed through acceptance in the Standard of Perfection.

UN TO SEND CHURCH LEADERS CASE TO INTERNATIONAL COURT

BY BRUCE W. MUNN UNITED PRESS STAFF CORRESPONDENT

FLUSHING, N. Y., Oct. 22 (UP)—The United Nations general assembly voted overwhelmingly today to send to the International Court of Justice western charges that the prosecution of Joseph Cardinal Mindszenty and other church leaders was a violation of peace treaties by Russia's Balkan satellites.

The vote was 47 to 5 with 7 abstentions. Yugoslavia abstained, with the negative votes coming from erst while Cominform partners.

The resolution introduced by the United States, Canada and Bolivia, asks the international court to decide whether a dispute exists between Russia and her Balkan partners, on one side, and Britain and the United States on the other.

Western power efforts to invoke the arbitration machinery provided in the peace treaties were frustrated when Russia refused to participate. Russia supported the Balkan countries' contention that no dispute existed and that any attempt to investigate the church trials would constitute interference in their internal affairs.

The international court was expected to hand down an advisory opinion—but not adjudicate the actual charges—before the next session of the general assembly, scheduled for next September. The Balkan human rights was continued on the assembly's agenda until that time.

THE STORY: Jenny is trying to convince herself that Tod Duncan did not marry her to spite his fiancée Liz Conover. They have gone to live with Tod's mother, brother Joe and sister Harriet who give Jenny a cool reception. While Tod is traveling on his job Jenny chums about with an old friend, Nina Conover. While dining out, Jenny sees Tod. Tod doesn't see Jenny but goes straight to a table where Liz sits.

JENNY tried to collect herself as the cab slipped through the rainy streets. Everything seemed to be spinning and crashing about her. She had thought that except for the fact that they were living with the Duncans, she and Tod were reasonably happy together.

"At least give Tod a chance to explain," Nina urged. The cab stopped in front of Nina's apartment and she handed the driver a bill as she got out. The rain had ceased.

"You're coming in, aren't you Jenny? You'll feel differently when you've had a cup of good strong coffee, and I'll whip up some tuna fish salad."

JENNY turned to face them. Her eyes brimmed with tears. "I'm leaving for good. I hope you'll be satisfied. You never wanted me here, or tried to make it easy for

Early Christmas For Ailing Boy

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 22.—(UP)—Today was the day after Christmas for two-year-old John "Buster" Evans, victim of an incurable illness.

All the weakening child had to do was turn his head to see that Santa Claus had trippily paid him a visit last night.

There was glittering Christmas tree near the couch where he rested, and under the tree was a heap of presents sent by friends and neighbors.

Santa Claus, a beard-wearing University of Texas student named Grady Robertson, had paid Buster a merry call. He trudged in laden with a bag full of toys and picture books that delighted the curly-headed blond boy.

Buster, despite his suffering from a malignant tumor, enjoyed old St. Nick's visit. He was too weak to walk, but he kept up a cheerful appearance as his friends, large and small, bade him "Merry Christmas."

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Echols, hovered in the background. They prayed that doctors' predictions that Buster had little chance of recovering were wrong.

Physicians told her that if Buster is still alive on the day most folks celebrate Christmas, he will not be strong enough to enjoy the festivities.

The tinsel-draped Christmas tree will stand, Mrs. Echols said, until Dec. 25—and longer, if necessary.

"I always hated to take the Christmas tree down," she confided.

Up in the heart of the Artic Ocean icebergs are never seen. Most bergs are "born" along the western coast of Greenland and are found in near-by waters.

FORT WORTH'S NEW SUPER THOROUGHFARE

Opening of this super thoroughfare in September marked the first step in the completion of Fort Worth's $30,000,000 double expressway program which will criss-cross the city with two of the finest arterial thoroughfares in America. Aimed at relieving one of its severest growing pains, traffic congestion, the superhighways will extend east and west and north and south across the city, intersecting near the downtown business district. The opening unit, two miles in length, is at the south end of the north-south expressway. It underpasses the railway bridge above and three street crossings, one of which is visible in the background. Structural steel for the four bridges was supplied by U. S. Steel's Virginia Bridge Co. General contractors for the initial section were Austin Road Co., Dallas, and Worth Construction Co., Fort Worth. Sub-contractor for the steel structures was F. M. Reeves & Sons, Austin. A second 3.4-mile unit under construction on the western leg of the east-west expressway is scheduled for opening early in 1951. Five major overpasses in this strip will be of steel, furnished by American Bridge Co., another U. S. Steel subsidiary. General contractors are Markham & Brown, Kearney-Crume & Co., Dallas; Austin Bridge Co., Dallas; Austin Road Co.; and F. M. Reeves & Sons. Reeves is handling construction of the five steel bridges.

Says Anti-Trust Suit Threat To A&P Employees

Current Anti-Trust action against the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company is a threat to the security of employees and to the living standards of consumers, John A. Hartford, company chairman, said this week in a personal letter to the firms 110,000 workers.

Pointing out that A&P "has never tried to get a monopoly, destroy competition or restrain trade," Mr. Hartford said that the company's only objective was "to make our operations as efficient as possible so that we can give the people the most good food for their money."

"This attack," the letter said, "is a serious threat to our company which you have all worked so hard and loyally to build. As such we must admit that it is also a threat to your job and your future."

Since 1917, A&P has been managed by Mr. Hartford and his brother George L. Hartford. The company was started in 1859 by their father, who opened the first store in downtown Manhattan. The firm rose to leadership in the Nations retail food business by selling quality food at low prices.

The Anti-Trust action filed in New York last month asks the court to order A&P to get rid of most of its stores and its manufacturing facilities.

Mr. Hartford referred to the suit as "Practically distressing to my brother George and me, for we have made every effort to insure the security of all company employees. I mean security, not just in terms of having you feel safe in your job, but by developing the pension program with which you are familiar - and by setting up the training program to help each employee fit himself for a better job. And now comes this attack which, if successful, will wipe out all these gains.

"Fortunately, over the years our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and thousands of suppliers. We do not believe that the American people will stand by and see this company, which has done perhaps more than others to lower living costs and raise living standards, destroyed."

Seaman Denies Attack Charges

LA PORTE, Oct. 22 (UP) — A 38-year old merchant seaman insisted today he was innocent of charges that he criminally assaulted a La Porte school girl, who wandered hysterically to a nearby house Thursday night to tell of the attack.

The man, Allen Conway Williams was arrested last night and was identified by the 10-year old child as the man who sat next to her in a theater and then followed her outside.

The attacker had been sought by every available peace officer in Harris County. The girl, at first believed in serious condition, had recovered sufficiently Friday afternoon to make an ambulance tour of lonely roads near here in an effort to help officers trail the attacker.

Williams denied he coaxed the child into his car, and told officers he had a 10-year old daughter of his own in Murchison, Tex.

"If I had done a thing like that, I ought to be killed," he said.

Other witnesses said Williams was the man they saw riding with the little girl Thursday. He admitted he had visited several taverns that day, but said no one was with him.

Sheriff Buster Kern filed criminal assault charges against Williams before Justice Thomas I. Decker. Evidence found in his car a blue Kaiser sedan, was to be analyzed at state laboratories in Austin.

The girl told investigators she was assaulted twice on lonely country roads, and that as the man tried to assault her a third time she broke away and ran screaming to a nearby house.

Thank You, Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York

We're Sure That Millions of Farmers and Consumers Feel Just as You Do!

One of the wonderful things about Americans is their great sense of fair play. Ever since the anti-trust lawyers announced their intention of putting A&P out of business, tremendous numbers of people like Mr. & Mrs. N. M. Davies of Congers, New York, have deluged us with letters, wires and phone calls. These people are telling us, as Mr. & Mrs. Davies do in the following letter, why they like A&P and why they don't want to see this company destroyed.

FRUITS & VEGETABLES

The Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co.,
New York City, New York

Gentlemen:

We have been distressed by the possibility that the A. and P. stores, because of unfair accusations, may cease to exist. I wonder if you will see that our letter reaches the proper source, if there is one.

We are farmers, as you know, and not only sell our products, but buy necessary food from local A. and P. stores. We deliver farm produce, daily, to approximately eighteen stores in nearby villages. This includes two A. and P. markets, whose managers very wisely buy on-the-spot, thus saving deterioration due to excess handling, transportation and longer time from the farm to store. Our price to sixteen stores is the same as we get from the two A. and P. stores.

We wondered whether the low prices we see all the time in A. and P. stores might mean that sales people were underpaid. Evidently not, for we have noticed that the same employees stay on year after year, and we know high-school students in our town who have started at the bottom with A. and P. and risen to responsible positions.

Then what is this all about, if the consumers, the salespeople, those who manufacture your brands, the truckmen, the laborers and the farmers are ALL satisfied?

We believe the answer is simple. The A. and P. has developed an organization whose efficiency should be an example to all stores handling food. If this were so, independent grocers could well expect larger profits. The solution is not in destroying something that has taken years to build, but in encouraging all merchants to still further improve the efficiency of their operations.

Very sincerely,
Niles M. Davies
Eileen Davies

For 90 years this company has tried to build a sound business on the basis of giving consumers more good food for their money and giving farmers better markets for their products.

It is heartening to know that the public approves of the job we have done . . . to know that our policy of fair, honest dealing has won us the friendship of millions of consumers and farmers.

We will always be grateful to all our good friends who have offered us their help. We are proud to live in a country where such things can happen.

Sullivan Denies He Was Asked To Resign Post

BOSTON, Oct. 22 (UP)—Former secretary of Navy John L. Sullivan says neither defense secretary Louis Johnson "nor anyone else" asked him to resign his cabinet post.

Sullivan, who resigned April 26 after charging Johnson had scuttled the Navy's super-aircraft carrier without consulting him, last night denied a statement made earlier in the day by Johnson before the House Armed Services Committee in Washington, D. C.

Johnson had testified that Sullivan "was not for unification and would not support unification. I told him there was no room on my team on the civilian side of defense for any person who is not enthusiastically for unification."

"I worked hard for unification while I was Secretary of the Navy," he said. "From outward appearances it would seem unification made more progress while I was in the Navy Department than it has since I left."
